Hi feems (a) not to be very well fatisfied with Mr Amyraut on that Account, for he adds, "If Mr Amyraut raut on that Account, for he adds, "If Mr Amyraut" will be pleased to give himself the trouble to An" twer that Book, he is a Man that can say fine things wer that Book, he is a Man that can fay fine things upon it, that Lussand does not know, and that are not in his Book. I have suggested some of them to him, says he, and among others, fine Passages, and good Authorities, but he did not value them. It is likely this wext him, for here is what he says afterwards. And indeed he is in a Pro-"vince, that is not far from Gascogne, where they are commonly more vain than learned, & " I don't fet down the whole Passage as it is in Mr Ancillon, and which is very disobliging, but I must inform my Readers that the Person so much abus'd by Patin is the Physician of Niore, and not the Divine who makes the Subject of his Article I must also acquaint them that the Treatise of Religious against these who think them indifferent, is not Mr Amyraus's only (b) Book, of which there have been two (c) Lditions I am very certain that the Apology for the Protestants was printed more than once, that (1) As the the Treatife of Piedestination, printed in 1634, Author was reprinted at Saumur in the Year 1658, with the Pattern of Calvin's Doctrine, and the reply to Mr dela Milletiere, about his offer of a Friendly Conference to examine his Method for procuring a Re-union, that these Two last Treatiles had been published in the Year 1638 and that the Bookseller who reprinted them in 1658, with the Treatife of Predefination declares (d), that he publishes those Three Books again, because they were not to be had I know also that Eleven of Amyraus s Sermons on several Texts of the Scripture were reprinted in the Year 1653, that the Life of la Noue was reprinted at Lepdon, that the These of that Professor and those of his Collegues were reprinted at Generola, and that his Treatise of the State of the Father was, and that his Treatise of the State of the Father. ful after Death, was printed at London in English, and at Utrecht in Dutch

(A) For the Protouchtary of the Emperor of Trabifonds.] Alletius in the 916 page of the perpetuus sensensus spoke only by Conjecture of the Book, whigh that Amyruizes composed against the Council of Florence, but in the Additions he tells us that percenten who informs us of the many many of them who informs us of the Lloyd affirms.

hur

the Work it self was sent him from the Isle of Chia Afterwards he fays that Derotheus Archbishop of Monembasa discovers that Man's (1) Condition, cujus nam conditionis vis istefuerit He inserts the Passage of Derotheus in Greek and Latin The Greek imports that Mahemes caus'd the Emperor David, and some other Persons to embark for Constantinople, and among others τον φιλόσφον Αμυράτ (πν τον πράθως Εξιπαείον, Philosophum Amyrutzium Protovestiarium Thus Allatius Translates and Points And there can be no doubt that he believ'd that Amyrutzia and the Protovestiarium protovestiarium that Amyrutzia and the Protovestiarium protovestiariu rutzes and the Protovestiary were both one and the same Person, and that he attributed to him the sequel of the Passage of Dorotheus, wherein we see that that Man was first Cousin of Machinest Bassa, that he had betrayed the Emperor David, and that after the taking of Trabizonda he received great Honours from his Cousin, and from Sultan Mahomet, that he was Cunning, Tall, Well-shaped, a good Archer, and sit for every thing His Relation to Machomet awas grounded on his Mother's being Machomet's Mother's Suster, those two Sisters were Daughters of Jagai, rui I give no great Credit to this Discouse, spain see that Mr. Guillet (e) citing the Turce-Gradinal let, Hist the Emperor of Trabizonda was George, that he had an advantageous Mien, and such a great Skill in Archery, that he out-did all the Greeks and the Turks in it, that he was the Son of a Daughter of a Christian Prince call'd Jagarus, who had married his other Daughter in Servia, where she had a Son who was the Renegado Machmut I could willingly place a Comma in the Passage of Deretheus after Apuret Cour, to make Two Persons of that Philosopher, and of taking of Trabizonda he received great Honours from to make Two Persons of that Philosopher, and of the Protovestiary, whom Allatim confounds toge-

(A) Currenant of Athens] Those who in these latter times have writ Books entimiled the Horistry of Rome, or of some other great City, was no original Authors Antiquity had seen many Works of that Nature, that are happily loss. None of them

(1) In Swnopsi hiftoriarum.

pag 59

often. See Particularly the 70th and the 387th Pages of his Moral Works in the Edition of Pransfer 1620. But it is failly said in Morer's Dictionary, that (C) he spoke of him with Praise, chiefly thewards the end of Aristotle's Life. Moreri is not more exact (D) in what he says of AMMONIUS the Son of Hermeas, to whom he attributes among other Works a Book composed in the Reign of Valentinian. That a Ammonius was Son and Brother of a Philosopher. The Learned believe that he sources in the Reign of Anastasius, in the beginning of the VIth Century; and that it is the who composed the Commentaries we have under the Name of Ammonius on some Treatises of Aristotle, and particularly on the Book de & interpretatione. The Author of this last Commentary should be supported to the Source of Proclus. It is to him that a some ascribe of Vossius. fays at the beginning, that he was Disciple of Proclus It is to him that y some ascribe the Life of Aristotle, that goes under the Name of Ammonius It is he doubtless who de Philowas refuted by Zacharius Mitylenensis: See the Remark H of the following Article He dis, p. 90. is likewife the same, of whom sa Passage of Photons e is understood, wherein mention is made of one Ammonius, who took great delight in explaining the Old Poets, and making critical Remarks on the Greek Language. This makes & some believe, that the Treatise we have of the difference of Greek words, ought to be ascribed to him But Treatile we have of the difference of Gieen words, ought to be discontinuous of whom Menage n fays, Herennius Philo was the Author of it The same Ammonius of whom plantius fays what I have related, had an As of a wonderful Taste for Poetry, for he pag 300 pag 300 pag she Mear that he had before him, and suffer Hunger, than of id ibid Photius says what I have related, had an Als of a wonderful and suffer Hunger, than had rather forbear eating the Meat that he had before him, and suffer Hunger, than had rather forbear eating the Meat that he had before him, and suffer Hunger, than had rather forbear eating of a Poem of The third AMMONIUS of Bibl whom I intend to speak, was a Poet who liv'd in the Vth Century. He compos'd a n 242 Poem on the War that was made against Gainas King of the Goths, and having repeated pag 1040.

Poem on the War that was made against Gainas King of the Goths, and having repeated pag 1040. it before the Emperor Theodofins the Younger, he was very much applauded for it I design some separate Articles not only for some Moderns who had the Name of Ammonius, but also for an ancient Philosopher, who has been more Illustrious than all the I and Photius

A M M O N I U S, Sirnamed (A) Saccas, was one of the most famous Philoso- 1b ex Daphers of his time He flourish'd about the beginning of the Third Century He was massion of Alexandria, and as he was bred up in the Christian Faith from his Infancy, he per-ri Philoof Alexandria, and as ne was ored up in the Common who fays this, accuses Porphirius sophi sever'd in it to the last, as his Works testify Ensebine a who says this, accuses Porphirius sophi fever'd in it to the last, as his Works testify that Ammonius for social socia he had been Educated, and embraced the publick Religion as foon as Age permitted him Hift Ec toPhilosophize That greatPhilosopher gave a wonderful lustre to theSchool of Alexandria, cief and put the Science he profest in an honourable Condition. He found it miserably depravid by the vain Subtilities of the Disputants We have seen in Christendom what they cephor I are able to do, I say, we have seen it by the Controversies of the Thomists and Scotists, 13 c 6 and of the Realists and Nominalists. They all profess d to follow Aristotle, and yet they Hist scmultiplied clef 1 6.

> of Ammonius at the end of the Life of Themistocles, but it is not true that he praises him. He ipeaks neither well nor ill of him

(D) Is not more exact in what he fays of Ammonius (D) Inner more exact in what he fays of Ammonius the Son of Hermeas] He has committed at least 3 or 4 gross Faults I He is ignorant that Proclus flourish'd in the Reign of Theodofius the Younger, and a long time after; for the had known it, would he have taid that Ammonius, Disciple of Proclus, wrote a Book in the Reign of Valentinian? Would he have been such a faithful Transcriber of Father Rapin's Errors (e)? II How does he denote that Emperor? There were Three of that Name, and the fift is to be understood when we say only Van the first is to be understood when we say only Valentinian The First Valentinian died in the Year 375, judge whether the Disciple of Proclus could write in that Emperor's Reign III If Morers had understood the Author that he made use of, I mean Father Labbe, he would have learn'd that the Disciple of Proclus, and the Son of Hermeas flourish'd in the Reign of the Emperor Anaskasiu, who did not begin to reign till above 35 Years after the Death of Valentinian the Third IV Father Labbe observes, that mention is often made of one Ammonius in the Catona of the Greek Fathers on St John's Gospel and other Books of the Scripture, and he believes that Ammonius the Son of Hermen; 15 different from him Instead of this, Mr Moreri tells us, that some Authors ascribe the Explication of the Greek Fathers on the Gospel of St John, to Ammonius the Son of Hermone, or the Abbreviatiors, which I have to often mention'd Vossius having said as far as the word hadea, what I have just now quoted out of Lloyd, adds (a) or seporto after dunion ab Ammonio lib de differ voc in Coulos Was & nauteurs suffer dicitur, ut Gesnerus falso Alexandrium vocets Lloyd being unwilling to transcribe the whole Passage of Vossius, and (1) Voffi de Histor Græcis, Pag 502

(A) Sirnamed Saccas] Ammianus (f) Marcellinus and Sandas (g) witness that he had that Sirname It is commonly believ'd that by his first Trade he was a Carrier of Sacks, and Suidas is alleged for it Here are the words of the Learned Henricus Valefint & (h) Saccas videtur en co diffus Ammonius quod lescus 3 (h) Succes videtur en es ditus Ammonius quod moresbus un portu Alexandrino comportandis victium sibi quagivists, cujusmodi homines Succerios antiqui vocabans; út videre est in Codice Th tit de Sacravius portus urbis Rome. Suides, arhassiv G., inquis, μαληθές Αμφανίν το αφών γιο γιο το μικόφορ με (ΔΔ) Thus Ammonius forfook Christianity.] Let us see the Original Words. (a) "Οτο το φερούν κ) το φιλοσορίος δίματο, ενών αφών την μεριλοσορίος δίματο, ενών αφών την μεριλοσορίος δίματο, ενών αφών την μεριλοσορίος δίματο.

(b) Poce 3620

(c) Henr. Valetius Notes M Nocas Manifres. Per sis.

4) Thid.

(C) the se faifty faced in Mosteri's Differency that Plu-turch. That Life of Aristotle is a Chimera. Me-rer should have faced Themsforder, and not Aristotle Now at as true andeed that Physics makes meation but he that compos'd the Book De differ entirs vo um'

Voffius and feveral others call him Ammonius It Mr Lloyd had translated Vossius right, he would not have said, Ammonius historicus on the soil Bouth's of Invoca Equipa ab Happocratione in 'Auasovior', usi on in voca Equipa

Ex quo essum discimus Lampriensem suise, us Gesnerus fulso Alexandrinum voces Here's one of the Faults of the Abbreviatiors, which I have so often mentihaving skipt a Line of it, fell into a great mistake, for it is not true that Harpocration informs us that

Ammonius whom he cites, was a Native of Lampria If he had a mind to skip any thing, he should have left out the last Line, in which Vossus tells a Falsity

Gefuer dues not lay that Ammonius the Author of the Book, concerning Sacrifices, was an Alexandrian There is a third Passage (b) of Harpotrasion wherein our Ammonius is cited, 'AppaviG or grangly new Bayan yeages ravia, Ammonius libro quarto de aris isasferibis. The Learned Maussach has thus corrected the Tent of Harpotrasion, he puts Capair instead of the thus Author whose a Book. De conditioned that that this Author wrote a Book, De oppidir wel pager

Valefius (c) approves this Correction. One might guels that fince Ammenius wrote a Book concerning the Curretans of Athens, he also made one about wanton Feafts, and notices, and then it would not be necessary to prevent that according to the common reading of Harperatien, the Book of Ammenia concern a the Towns or the People of Action.

Yet I find nothing more likely than Manfac's Correction. It feem'd to to Poffins, who mentions it as if it washing own Valefins (d) quotes a Pullage of the Scholast upon Hernigenes, wherein the Author of the Book of opening Altars is call'd Ammenius of Lam-

One might

(c) Rapin compai de Platon 8 d'Au. flote pm-ex co Ni-

Hift Ic-

(f)Amm. Marcell 116 22 (g) Suidas in 12 eize-(h) Henr Valei in Amm Marcell 1 22 (a) Porphyr 1 3 adversus Christianos apud Fufeb Hist Eca

C 19

(b) Tes

opas au-

ava ser as கம் நிழ் கைவர்

4) aus 314 ins Alios fua sponte contendendi ftu-dio atque velimi 1cfe uddicentes, ilios praopinione

atque iniperitia

ubactos

Photius

n. 214 Yig 549

Shid ta) Hierocles apud Photium, n 251 pag

1,81

Ac) Hicrocles apud Photium

inultiplied Disputes in infinitum. Whet can me think then of the Disputation are affected in ancient times, when the Philosophers being divided into several Sects under different Heads, some condemn'd Plato, and others Archively, &c. ? It was a Chaos of meet rent Heads, some condemn'd Plato, and others Archively, &c. ? It was a Chaos of meet rent Heads, some condemn'd Plato, and others Archively, &c. ? It was a Chaos of meet rent Heads, some condemn'd Plato, and to keep to the Doctrines wherein Plato and he was to suppress all useless Disputes, and to keep to the Doctrines wherein Plato and he Disciple were agreed. Doubtless they were the most certain, and consequently the Disciple were agreed. Doubtless they were the most certain, and consequently the most important Doctrines. This is the Reason why Annuous made it his chief Duty to (B) reconcile those Two Heads of Sects, and to explain the Misunderstanding on to (B) reconcile those Two Heads of Sects, and to explain the Misunderstanding on which their pretended Oppositions were built, and one can hardly express the Glory which their pretended Oppositions were built, and one can hardly express the Glory which their pretended Oppositions were built, and one can hardly express the Glory which their pretended Oppositions were built, and one can hardly express the Glory which their pretended Oppositions were built, and one can hardly express the Glory which their pretended Oppositions were built, and one can hardly express the Glory which their pretended Oppositions were built, and one can hardly express the Glory which their pretended Oppositions were built and one can hardly express the Glory which their pretended Oppositions were built and one can hardly express the Glory which their pretended Oppositions were built and one can hardly express the Glory which their pretended Oppositions were built and one can hardly express the Glory which their pretended Oppositions were built and one can hardly express the Glory which their pretended Oppositions were built and (D) and many others did not know the grounds of those Francs of the mistaken, when they say that Ammonius taught (E) his Disciples the Mysteries of the mistaken, when they say that Ammonius taught (E) his Disciples the Mysteries of the mistaken, when they say that Ammonius taught (E) his Disciples the Mysteries of the mistaken, when they say that Ammonius taught (E) his Disciples the Mysteries of the mistaken, when they say that Ammonius taught (E) his Disciples the Mysteries of the mistaken, when they say that Ammonius taught (E) his Disciples the Mysteries of the mistaken, when they say that Ammonius taught (E) his Disciples the Mysteries of the mistaken, when they say that Ammonius taught (E) his Disciples the Mysteries of the mistaken, when they say that Ammonius taught (E) his Disciples the Mysteries of the mistaken, when they say that Ammonius taught (E) his Disciples the Mysteries of the mistaken, when they say that Ammonius taught (E) his Disciples the Mysteries of the mistaken, when they say that Ammonius taught (E) his Disciples the Mysteries of the mistaken, when they say that a say the say that the say the say that the say that the guish'd. He had among other Scholars Plotinus and Origen. a the pulleCalero Simul atque per atarem fapere potuit & philosophia limen attingere, statim ad vivendi rationem legibus consentientem descivit, Porphyrius in saying this, was animated by the Spirit, which I have mention'd in the Remark & of the Article of Abalpha-learn this from Hierocles, Author of a Book concerning Providence, of which we have fome Extracts in the Bibliotheque of Photius According to that Author, none but Men govern'd (b) by a Spirit of Contradiction, and the itching defire of Disputing, or by their Prejudices, and the Darkness of their Minds, found any Disagreement between the Doctrines of Plate and Aristotle The first of those kind of Disputants were very numerous, before the Light of Ammonius came to calighten the World Dones Ammonius aliquando sapientia orbi illusis, quene etiam divinitus edoctum appellari prædicat Hunc enim veter um philosophorum opiniombus perpurgatu, & researche que attrimque excreverant augis, in pracipuis quiich inoviat Estifixi aπονοία

vete: am phitojophorum opiniomous perpurgatu, e refe-Eis qua atrimque excreverant nugis, in pracipuis qui-busque e maxime necessarie dogmatibus concordem esta Platonis e Aristotelis sententiam demonstrasse (c) (c) Hi was praised as a man taught by God, and whom a Divine Institi | I have iet down a Passage of Hierocles, wherein these Words are to be found, Or n. Sood do now dinancies o piete, quem estado divinitus edoctum appellari pradicas. Here is another, wherein the fame Author relates that Mate's and Arifiotle's Disciples were so fond of perpetukting their Quarels, that they corrupted the I ext of those their Quarters, that they corrupted the Lext or those two great Philosophers, to shew more easily that one was opposite to the other. This Disorder, continues he, lasted till the time of Ammenius, the Disciple of the great God, for being rais'd by Raptures to the Philosophical Truth, he dived into the bottom of both baths and recognised shows and recognised shows. tom of both Sects, and reconciled them together, and gave his Auditors a System of Philosophy freed THE THE STOP OVERS OF PROCEEDING THE STOP SHE AS THE NAS THE RESTREPS, HE CHINDRAY HE GIVE HE DIS MITTON YES HE ASSESSED THE STOP SHE WITH A S asiu quedam raptus ad Philosophia verstatem, multoajiu queam rapius au knisopona veritatem, mutte-rumque opiniones, qui magnum dedecus Philosophia attu-lerunt, contemneus, utramque sessam probe calluit, & in concordiam addukit, & a contentionibus liberam Philoso-phiam tradicis omnibus suits auditoribus, & muxime do-Etiffmis aqualibus fuis Platino & Origens & Successori-

(D) Morers and many others did not know the grounds (D) Morers and many others did not know the grounds of those Praises] According to Morers, Ammonius applied himself more particularly to the Divine Philosophy of JESUS CHRIST He acquired such an esteem by it, that he was looked upon as a Man, who had been particularly instructed by God, and for that Reason he had the Name of THEODIDAGTUS given him? He is missale I will not dispute about Ammonius's Theological Learning by containly it was not upon that militaken I will not dispute about Ammunia,'s Theological Learning, but certainly it was not upon that account that he was called Ebendidation. He was honoured with that Title by Reason of his Rhilosophical Lectures, wherein he spoke only of Plato and Aristotle, and no ways of JESUS CHRAST and the Goipel. His Auditors were divided; some profess'd Paganism, and caheris Christiality; and shortsfore he must needs have fee Matters of Religious.

on afide, and chiefly those that related to Piety Would Hierocles, who was a Pagan Philosopher, have spoken as he did, if the Knowledge of the Gospel had procur'd to Ammonius the Praise we speak of ? I could easily believe that Ammonius was not accounted a Christian among the Pagans, and that it is the Reason that mov'd Porphyrius to say, that Ammonius forsook Christianity, as soon as he could handle Philosophy He was known to be a Christian among his Brethren, and testified his Faith by some Williams that were in all likelihood lively because of tings that were in all likelihood little known to the Pagans. Would Pletinus have applied himself so long to Ammonius, if he had believed him to be an Enemy to the Predominant Religion? The Christian firms were not yet so considerable

(E) Thus Ammonius aught his Disciples the Mission ries of the Gospel] I am iurprized to find very great Haults in their Words of I ather Labbe Idem Port phyrias, fays he (c), in vita Plotini Platonica feet in Labbe Philosophi narrat Ammonium Religionis Christiana and de script Control of the filmen religionis Christiana and Control Control of the Gospel of the Control Control of the Control Control

Control of the Control
Control of na discipulis suis sub silentis religione communicasse, . Eccles Herennium, Origenem aeque Pletinum obstrinzisse, cumque Herennius primus eam fregisse, nec Origenem nec Pletinum promissis stetisse First of all it is not true, that Ammonius made his Disciples swear not to imthat Ammonius made his Disciples swear not to impart to any body what they learn'd of him. In the second Place it is false that Perplyrius speaks of any thing else but of the Doctrine of Philotophy. All that he says many swindone'd to this Erennius, Origen and Pleisinally beard ammonius say, and which phyrius in seem'd to them exquisite and extraordinary. Pleis vita Plot nus kept his word, but Erennius not having kept has, (g) Lucas, was soon imitated by Origen. This is not a proper Holsten place to shew that this Origen is not he that writ io de vita & place to shew that this Origen is not he that writ io de vita & place to shew that this Origen is not he that writ so de vita & many Books, and did so much allegorize the Scripture, but because most of my Readers may not be Porphyr in a Condition to have a Plotinus at hand, I shall set p m 28 down his own words (f) Epevilop 3 m Ωρισμού (h) Cap 5.

Πλωτίνο στω πικών γλρουιών μισθην απαλιτίκω τος Αμμωνίω δογματών & δυ ων ταις εὐρουσών ωυ τος Αστριακόν τος Αμμωνίω δογματών & δυ πικών τος Αμμωνίω τις ρετίχεδα δογματών τηρών β ἀνεπτυσα τος Ερωνιών πικολώδει τος Ερωνιών πικολώδει τος Ερωνιών τις ρετίχεδα τος Ωρισμού τις μετίχεδα τος Ωρισμού τις Αμμωνίως τος Ωρισμού τις Αμμωνίως τος Ωρισμού τις Αμμωνίως τος Ωρισμού τις Αμμωνίως τος Ωρισμού τις Ερωνιών τις ρετίχεδα τος Ωρισμού τος Ωρισμού τος Εναμφείδεσα που μετίχεδα τος Εναμφείδεσα που μετίχεδα τος Εναμφείδεσα που μετίχεδα τος Εναμφείδεσα many Books, and did fo much allegorize the Scrip- script cribes to him among other Works, the Invention of the Gospel-Canons, and adds that Eugebien made affer of that Model upon a like design. If this were true, Englisher would be a great Impostor, finde he affirms an a Letter (1), wherein he explains the Nature and Use of his Ten Canons upon this remony of the Gospels, that he inventored them design and of a Book of Ammentia. That Book as a filled, Montessam, or Distissam Its difference in the Gospel-Canons lies in this Those Canons are only indemness the Passes of the Gospels, that a construction is the Passes of the Gospels, that a construction is the passes of the Gospels, that a construction is the passes of the Gospels, that a construction is the passes of the Gospels, that a construction is the passes of the Gospels, that a construction is the passes of the Gospels, that a construction is the passes of the Gospels, that a construction is the passes of the Gospels of the Canons are the construction of the construction of *the Year 250. Indicate he ought (G) to be distinguish'd from the Peripatetick A M M O- a Justa N I U S, who was, according to Philofratus, the most Learned, and the best read Man Cave History Lies of his Age.

I find a very groß Mistake in one of the Commentators upon Boethus He says our Ammonius corrupted Plato's Doctrine about the Eternity of the World more than any body else nothing can be (H) more false

A M M O N I U S (Andrew) born at Lucca, went to seek his Fortune in England towards the beginning of the XVIth Century, and would probably have advanc'd (A) himself there, if Death had not cut him off

He applied himself to Philological Learning

ron or Monot-staron) contagned the whole Tent of the four Evangelist, that Eulebius had made use of to compile his Canons, which referred to that Harmony, and were in a manner the Index of it. 'Tis therefore a Mistake to say, as Morer: does, that the Gospel-Canons and the Harmony of the Gospel are the same thing "Vision Bishop of Capua, Zacharias Bishop of Chrisopolis, Trishemius, and several modern Authors, relying upon St Jerom's Authority, and not thinking of the abovemention d Letter of Eusebius, say in that Ammonius invented the Gospel Canons Here ron or Monot faron) contained the whole Tent of the four that Ammonius invented the Gospel Canons is another confusion There are in the Bibliothica Patrum two Harmonies of the four Gospels One of 'em was ascribed to Tation by Victor Bishop of Capua, who translated it into Latin about the Year (d) 545 and added (e) a Preface to it Hence it came to pais that the other Harmony was airribed to Ammonius But the Harmony father'd upon Tatian by the Bishop of Capua, cannot be that Author's, since it contains all the Genealogies of Jk-SUS (HRIST mentioned by the Evangelists, whereas Tation (f) left out of his Harmony all the Passages of the Gospels, which shew that JESUS CHRIST sprung from David On the other hand, the Haimony ascribed to Ammonius (g) wants those Passages Sixtus Senensis, George Ederus, and several others have followed Vistor's Error But Zucheries. But the Company of Charles and Tacheries. Zacharias, Bishop of Chrisopolis, made it appear above 500 Years ago (h) that Ammonius is the Author of that Hirmony, which is Baronius's Opinion We ought to take notice of a thing, whereof we are informed by Father Oudin, viz (i) that the Harmony with Ammonius s Name prefixed to it, which is in the Bibliotheca patrum, printed in the Year 1575 and which has been translated into Latin by Or omarus Lulcinius, is neither Ammonius's nor Tatian's We have lost Ammonius's Book, de consciela Meste of tesu If we believe Henricus Valesus, all his other Books are also lost Hujus Ammonii, quad fe am, hodie nihil extat, Cays he, in his Comn entiry upon the last Chapter of the 22d Book of Ammianus Marcellinus Had he forgot the Harmony of the Golpels, that is to be found in the Bibliomen patium, or did he believe that Ammon as is not the Author of it? Hadrian Valefius, having made no Observation upon this in the 2d I dition, plainly shews that he is of his Brother's Opinion

(G) That he ought to be distinguished from the Peri-patetick Ammonius] There is a very learned Man, who does not feem inclined to make fuch a diffin-Etion Hic effe videsur, fays he (k), Ammonius Peripateticus Philosophus, quem madoge tutua es ratro fuesse seculi sus testatur Philostratus in Sephista H ppodromi cita, quo qui plura legiste neminem se vidisse. But if he had minded the words of Longinu interted in Platinus's Life, he would have made no scruple to diffinguish those two Philosophers one from another Longinus observes that some Philosophers composed Books, and others taught only viva voce He names some of each of those two Classes, some He names some of each of those two Classes, some are Platonists, others are Stoicks or Peripareticks. He reckons Ammonius and Origen among those of the second Class, and says they followed Plato's Philosophy He adds that he knew them (1), and that they surpassed all the Philosophers of their time. Afterwards he names some Stoicks, who time Afterwards he names some Stoicks, who made also part of that second Class of Philosophers, viz of those who writ little ornothing at all Lastly, he names two Peripateticks of the same Class, viz Ammonius and Ptolemy, who exceeded all the philos on their Age in Philology This he telligentia fays particularly of Ammonius "Aμμωνι Φ κ Ππ superanti
λεμαί Φ φιλολογωπίοι μέρ πεθ εαιθές αμφο γεοί bus μένοι, κ μαλισα ο Αμμώνι Φ κ δεν οστο απόν γερο Longinus αρμά Ρον
Protessaus, disciplinarum ambo prefetto maxime omnium

phyr in superanden, prosertim Ammonius nullus enim ad fuo tempore plens, presertim Ammenius nullus enim ad disciplinarum illius copiam prope accessisse videtur Here we have the Philosopher Ammenius mentioned by Philoftratus, he is therefore a very different Man from him who taught Philosophy at Alexandria, and who was Plotinus's and Origen's Master It ap pears from Longinus's Letter, that those learned Pearspateticks writ only some Poems and some Speeches That great Critick supposes they did not design those Pieces for Posterity, for, says he, if they had, they would have been more exact in their Composures

(H) Nothing can be more fals. I shall set down the Words of the Commentator somewhat at large that the Reader may the better understand his Fault (n) Nulls autem Platonis sententia est, quam sædius corruperint, & obstinatius desenderint veteres Platonis (n) Renainterpretes seu quia eorum ali: ita sentirent, seu ut tus Valli-Christianam sidem impugnarent Eorum signific Amnus not monius suit, sidus alioquin ac illustr s dostrinæ Platonicæ ad lib 5 monius fuit, fidus aliaguin actiluser s doctrine Platonice ad lib 5 assertor, quem Zacharias dialogo cui Ammonius ittu- Boetii de lus est, consutavit Mox ejus discipuli, Plotinus passim (onsolut libr suis, & quod mirum est, ne a magistro de structet, Philos pfax illa sidei Origenes, cujus errorem & Mathodius lib 96 arei สับ ระหารับ, ut est apud Photium, redarquit You may plainly see that he ipeaks of Ammon us, who was Origen's Master Hid he been guilty of such an Oversight, if he hid consulted the Original, and if he had not quoted the Treatile of Zacharias upon the Credit of others? For we real at the very upon the Credit of others? For we read at the very beginning of that Treatise, that Ammonius, against whom it was written, was still living, and taught at Alexandria with great Ostentation, after he had been Alexandria with great Oftentation, after he had been Proclus's Disciple at Athens The Author, I main Zacharias Bishop of Mitylene lived in the VIth Contury, for he affisted at the Council of Constantinople in the Year 536, and therefore 'tis not true that he confuted Origen's Master But it is true that the Philosopher Armonius, whom he refuted, trught that God and the World were and would always be Eternal That Book of Za harias was translated out of Greek into Latin by Genebard, and inserted (a) in the Ribbiotheca patrum Possevin (b) observes. (o) in the Bibliotheca patrum Possevin (p) observes, that Canissius censures Gesner for laying that Zachani- (o) It is in as's Book de mundi Aternitate was different from the Alth that which is entituled Ammonius This Centure Volum of would be very well grounded with respect to s m. the Bibli-ler, who abridged Gesner, but it is unjust with respect to Gesner himself, who says in express words, trum, pag that the Dialogue entituled, Ammonus, feeins to 331, & him to be the same with the Treatise de roum seq of s I must observe that I have been fur. Paris i diprized that a Heathen Philosopher should have been fon 1644 permit ed to be a Professor at Alexandria in the (p) Posso-VIth Century, and to teach openly the Eternity of vin Apthe World in opposition to the Doctrine of the Par tom Christians He was so far from concealing his Opi-Christians He was fo far from concealing his Opinion, that he publickly maintained it in his Lectures, and no body could be ignorant that many of his Scholars imbibed that Doctrine One (q) of 'em who was afterwards the chief Professor of Physick in that City, warmly maintained the same Opinion This appears from the Treatise of Zacharias Mity-

(A) And would probably have advanced himself ca Patium there | These are not my Conjectures, it is the ubi supra, Opinion of Erasmus Perist, says he, (r) & apud P 339 Gallos Faustus, & apud Bistannos Andreas Ammonius, (r)Erasm quorum alter diu regnavis Lutesia, alter ad jummam epist 24 diamitation emerssiance exercisione and proposed in 2 D 132 dignitatem emersurus erat, si vita diuturnior contigisset He pass'd this Judgment upon him not only whilf feither the Wound was fresh, that is to say, when a little and is after the death of Ammonius his Affliction moved him to commend him, but also when a considerable number of Yearshad defaced the first Impressions of Grief and Sorrow Quam multor, fays he in a Letter which he wrote in the (a) Year 1524 bic ex vetere sodalitie desidere Primum Andream Ammonium (a) Id Ep Lucensem Deum immortalem quanta ingenii dexteritate, Lucensem Deum immortalem quanta ingenii dexteritate, quam sideli memoria praditum! Tum animus quam erat excelsus, quam alienus a livore, quam alienus a sordibus! Hunc & suis dotibus & omni principum applausus storentem maximis rebus destinatum, subita mors intercepis natu minorem annis quadraginta. Cujus equidem decessum non possum non delere, quoties in mantem venit quam mihi sueris jucunda ejus familiaritas.

Dd 2 (B) Tis

icq of the 2 p m

Name was Ribliothe. ann 1518

(d) Oudin iupplem de icript Lcclef pag 15 (1) Labbe, pag 57 (f) Lufehous & Theodo-Tet affirm apud Phil Labbe , de fcript Ec-cluf t 1 P 57 (g) Caves Histor literar p (b) Commentai ın eam Humomam a-pud I ibbe, 1b (1) Oudin i bi lupi i (k) Tien V den 15 in Amer Marel 1 2 pig cdit 344 in tolio มนูเรีย 70 พงคุณ ห 28 15 STEP TETO!a'vd; anv em ge eje an kar. ex es is en Jiereyke-

> Quibufcum nos diu versatı fumus,

Viris pro-

non parvo

fui faculi

fecto in-tervallo

• Philosophyr in WILL Plan tins (m) Id.

pid.

& Erafm epist 2 1 8 pag 408 yIb epift 23 P 424

NIb epift 25 P 426 item epist 11 p 413 11 b epist 22 p 422 C Balæus apud Simlerum, Epit Gesneri n Andreas Annmonius tur Sančtitatis aglos Nunins literis fignificabit Erasm ep o l'a pag 104 3 Fpist pag 434 Se Erafmus calls Valerius Andreas Jays Lavi ditione juxta ac piet itcinfignis Irdin epift 23 1 28 pag 2 I 10 94th of the

i) Tre tle 8th Rook () Sec the Article Carmilianus (d) Id Fp 13 1 8 P 414

(f) Tom. He anotes Goodwin

(g) See the 3d Tome of his History of the Du vorce of Henry VIII pag

Learning and Latin Poetry: 'Tis chiefly for his Latin Verses (B) that erves to be " reckon'd among the Authors. He kept up by Letters an intimate correspondence Ammonius lodged some time a with Sir Thomas Moor, and afterwards with Erasmus in & St Thomas's Hospital, for he wanted Money to hire and keep a House He declar'd to Erasmus & that he repented of having lest Rome, and that he was not well pleased with his Condition in England. The Advice Erasmus gave him was very conformable. to the (C) fraudulent ways, which are necessary to be us'd to advance ones self in the World, but it is to be supposed that Erasmus did it only in Jest He made e very sine. Iambick Verses in his Praise, which shew that Ammonsus had a great many Persections both of Body and Mind But one cannot much rely upon Poetical Elogies Erasmus's Prose will be a greater confirmation of the Worth of his Friend Fortune turning more savourable to Ammonsus, he was made Secretary to & Henry VIII and had also a publick Character " bestowed upon him with that Prince by Pope Leo X and if he had not died before the Age of 40 Years he might have been advanced higher He was in the died before the Age of 40 Years he might have been advanced higher. He was in the Army & in the Year 1513 when the English gain'd the Battel of the Spurrs, and took Terouenne and Tournay, and he made Verses on those Victories, and also on that which they obtained over James IV King of Scotland. He (D) died of the Sweating Sickness in England in the Year (E) 1517. One of the greatest pieces of Service he did Erasmus, was to supply him constantly with (F) the best Wines at Cambridge. He has an Hyperbolical Expression in one of his Letters, wherein he (G) says that so many Hereticks were daily burnt that it rais'd the price of Wood.

A M M O N I U S (Livinus*) made himself Eminent among the Caribusians in Flanders, not only by the Character of Procurator, wherewith he was honour'd in Ghent, the Place of his Birth, but also by his Learning a and Piety. Erasmus had in Ghent, the Place of his Birth, but also by his Learning a and Piety Era/mus had a great Esteem for him, and it appears by two Letters a which he wrote to him that he thought

(B) 'Tis chiefly for his Latin Verses that he deserves]
The Abridgment of Gesner's Bibliotheque gives us this Catalogue of Ammonius s Poems Scotici constitue historia lib 1 Bucolica, seu Ecloga lib 1 De rebu. nihili lib 1 Panegyricus quidam lib 1 Epigramma. De rebus Ammonitor it What is call'd here Panegyricus quidam, is sis vireruPoem on the Victories which the English obtain d in the Year 1513 at the Battel of the Spurrs, at the taking of Terouenne, Tournay, &c Erasmus gives his Judgment upon this Poem in a Letter (b) which is dated on St Thomas's Day 1510 This is an undeniable Proof, that iometimes they have added the date of his Letters without any care, besides they are misplaced. The Answer precedes sometimes by several Piges the Letter which is the Subject of the Answer (c) 94th of the (C) To the fraudulent ways, which are necessary to be 20th hook, used to advance ones self in the World Be assumed and the of nothing, said he to him, (d) thrust your self in-20th of the to every body's Business, turn out whom you can, make your Interest the rule of your Love and Hatred, give nothing but to those that will return it with usury, be complaisant to every body in all Things, have two Strings in your Bow, suborn some to court you, say you are going, and put your self in a posture to do it, shew some Letters, wherein you are promised a Thousand Advantages Principle perfects frontem, ne quid usquam pudeat Denied computus commun negocial te misse, protude quemeuminde omnibus omnium negociis te misce, protiude quemeunque potes cubito. Nem n mec ames nec oderis ex animo, lea omnia tuo compendio metiare. Ad hunc scopum omnic vite ratio [pedit Ne quid des nisi unde speics fænus assentare omnibus omnia Atista vulgaria sunt, inquis Age quando ita vic, accipe peculiare confilium, sid heus in autem Nosti & Beltuvilun (nholotica, halin tuum tonum abutore Duabus sedeto sellis Suberna diver-sos precos qui te ambiant Minare & appara diseessum of precor qui te ambiant Minare & appara diseffum Offende literas quibus magnis pollicitis avocaris Subducito te nonnunquam, ut subtratta copia desiderium acuat Alciatius made use of this Artifice

(D) He died of the Sweating-Sickness in England Consult the History of the Divorce of Henry VIII composed by Mr le Grand, and you'll find there what manner of Sickness that was It was called the "Sweat, (f) Because People died Sweating This kind of Plague began to be felt the first time in "1486 and was not known before All the Remedies that were used for it were in vain, and it "dies that were used for it were in vain, and it carried off a great many before the Physitians' knew how to cure it It was a Scourge wherewith God was pleased at first to punish the English only In what place soever they were, they were intested with it, without affecting the Strangers "with whom they conveiled Among the Proofs which Mr leGrand his produced, there are (g) some Letters from the Bishop of Bayonne, the French Am-bassador in Ergland which speak of this Disease Anne Bullen was infected with it, as also that Ambas-fador. This Distemper had already infected for some time others besides the English, for our Italian

Ammonius died of it in the Year 1517 notwithstanding the hopes he had conceived of preserving himself from it by his great Sobriety Sir Thomas Moor wrote to Erasmus about it in these terms (h) In hu, that is, among the great number of People that are dead, (quod tibi quoque dolori esse dolor) Andrea nostro.

Ammonio, in quo & litera & omnes boni magnam seccie gaturam Is valde sibi videbatus adversus contagiones. victus moderatione munitus qua factum putavit quum in nullum pene incideret cujus non tota familia boraverat, neminem adbuc è Juis id malum attigerit, id quod & mihi & multis praterea jactavit non admodum multu horis antequam extinctus est, nam hoc sudore nemo nisi primo die perit Ego uxorque ac liberi adhuc nemo nisi primo die peris Ego uxorque ac liberi adhuc intacti, reliqua familia tota revaluit Hoc tibi affirmo, minus periculi in acie quam in urbe esse (E) In the Year 1517] Sir Thomas Moor's Letter, out of which I have just now cited a large Passage, is dated the 19th of Jugust 1520 It seems then that Ammonius and the in the Year 1517 for how unlikely is it that Sir Thomas Moor should let three Years passe, without saying any three Years passe, without saying any three years. three Years pass without saying any thing of it to Erasmus? I answer, that this Objection can be of no force against the Letters wherein Erasmus himno force against the Letters wherein Erasmus himfelf mentions the death of Anhmonius He observes (1) Amin the 24th Letter of the second Book, and in the monii 20th of the third Book, both dated in the Year mortem 1518 that that Year was fatal to learned Men, as accrission Musurus, Paleotius, Faustus, Andrelius and Anmon su me fero,

In the 31st Letter of the 3d Book, dated the 9th of P 198 Softember 1517 he mentions (1) Anmanus dates September 1517 he mentions (1) Ammonius s death This Letter is dated right, for Erasmu mentions the departure of the King of Spain as News Now it is well known that that King sailed in the begin-the departure of the King of Spain as News Now it is well known that that King sailed in the beginning of September 1517 Let us say then that Balew is mistaken by one Year, when (k) he placed the death of Ammonius in the Year 1518 Erasure Men died that Year One of his Letters wherein he says so, is dated in March, when he said this Year, he meant the 10 or 12 preceding Months. This is confirm'd by a Letter (l) of Bombassius relationship in the second of the se

Bassares commissionem, qui in summo persculo ducem des sercre nolueris. Tis what Ammonius writes to E asmus (G) That so many Hereticks were daily burnt.] They iquight (A) he rather from the Prejudices and Passions of Men of his Rank Ammoni-imparted to him the Trouble he was in, and the Resolution he had taken to submit the Hardship of his Condition. It is no hard matter to guess that he would have thed for more leisure to improve his Mind and Studies. But his Superiors were not neas'd with it; they would rather have him to be Ignorant and only to mind the outward Observances of the Order Nevertheless he attain'd to the Quality of an Au- in the Prihor The Titles of his Works are to be seen in Moreri, but there is no trusting (B) o the Citation of Vander Linden.

A M P H A R E S one of the Lacedemonian Ephori, was the chief Instrument 6'A mospeof the Tragical Death of King Agis We have faid elsewhere that after his possibles in Collegue Leonidas was re established, that Prince took Sanctuary in a Temple Am- esuperras phares was one of those who samiliarly visited him there, and accompanied him when the same he went from thence to the Bath, and back again to the Temple Returning one day to the same he went from the same he we were the in this manner from the Bath, Amphares laid hold on him to oblige him to appear before the Ephors, and give them an account of his Conduct he forced him into a Carinens Prison, the Eppers and their Assistants went immediately thither to try the repeat King He declarated to them that he had no other design than to settle Matters on the fame soot as Lycangus had less them, and that he would never repent of so good a Design Whereupon he was condemned to Death, and the Officers were commanded to Avertenhigh Whereupon he was condemned to Death, and the Officers were commanded to Averten conduct him to the a Place of Execution The Officers thought it fuch a firange and tes fe & refugier hat Order, and Demochares a I riend of Amphares was obliged in Person to person nusut nethat Office Agesistrata the Mother of Agis, and her Mother Archidemia, came to the farium & Pisson Gate, and requested that that Prince might be permitted to plead his Cause ut corpose before the People, which caus'd the Execution to be hasten'd As soon as Agis was in regis Strangled, Amphares came out and affured Agesistrata that no Harm should be done to her quisad-Son, and that if the pleas'd the might go in and fee him, the like leave was given to moveret the Grand-Mother, and both went into the Prison Amphares caus d Arch demia immediately to be Hang'd, and then caus'd Agesistrata to come into the Place where the Execution was made. The first thing that presented it self to the view of this Lidy, was the tion was made dead Corps of her Son laid at length on the Ground, and then that of her Mother yet hanging She helped the Excutioners to take her down, and laid her near the Body then kissing her Son, she cry'd out, That he had undone himself, and drawn them then kissing her Son, she cry'd out, That he had undone himself, and drawn them then kissing her Son, she cry'd out, That he had undone himself, and drawn them the Town the That the approved the Conduct of Agis, she should be treated like him Agesistrata Tantum without being surprized, held out her Neck to the Executioner to be hang'd, saving the conduct of the push'd all things might turn to the Good and Weltare of her Country. The only 2, That she wish'd all things might turn to the Good and Welfare of her Country only 7, That she wished all things might turn to the Good and Welfare of her Country. The usures People were incensed at such an extraordinary piece of Cruelty, and murmur'd at it, but nothing surther came of it. Then was verified the Truth of a Maxim, which may be applied on several Occasions, People make a Noise, and then grow easy. Nothing drove Amphires so much upon this Crime, as the desire of not returning what Agisstrata had lent him. Plutareh, from which I have this Article, tells us what was said (1) of the Execution of King Agis, which I shall set down as I have shoromised.

A M P H I A R A U S, one of the greatest Prophets of Paginssm, was the Son of Oicles, and Great Grand child of (A) Melampus, who had received part of the Melampus as a Gist for having done a great piece of Service s to the Women of that were none of those Papists or Protestants, who ran equal hazard of being punished in England under the Kings of Sparta, and when they saw them comwere none or those rapits or Protestants, who ran equal hazard of being punished in England under King Henry VIII after he had renounced the Pope's Supremacy, but others, fince the Letter which makes mention of those Executions is dated in the Month of Navimber 1511 The Hames could not extirpate those Opinions See the Margin (a)

(A) Thought he was free from the Prejudices Otherwise he would not have taken the Liberty to tell him that the Borny of Mankind had a share in the institution of monasteries, but he might have told him that in those Places Men of no Parts are more mei Tho.

Lifteemed by placing their Merit in the exact Obverius

verius

me meeum reputo. Ammoni charistime emantur ac sipeliantur in istis ceremoniis, inter-dum ubit animum cogitatio tortassis humana, istiusmodi vite ergastula non sine instinctu satane fuisse industa

Ac fere sit ut quo quisque indostior supraiorque est, hoc in isto vite instituto pluris habeatur, tumidus fiducia ceremoniarum, & alieni Spiritiu iniquus afti-

(B) To the citation of Vander Linden | This Author did not write the Bibliotheca Belgica; he has been put there for Valerius Indreas It was the Bibliotheca Medicirum which he composed

(C) What was faid of the Execution of King Agis]
Those three Executions did not put the People into such a Confernation, but that they durst make it appears that they were extraordinarily Afflicted at it, whated Leonidas and Amphares for it. It was thereved that nothing more Cruel or Abominable had been done at Lacedamon fince the Dores came to inhabit the Pelopounesus. For the Enemies them-or Veneration for their Majesty and from them, out is, that in so many Battels which the Spantans fought with the other Inhabitants of Greece, before the Reign of Phil p the Father of Alexandor the Great, there was but one King (i) of Sparta killed I he Missinane were not allowed to fay that Anishodomus had killed Theepompus, but only that he had wounded him Agu is the first King of I accdemon that was put to death in the (ity A Prince who had a very good design, and most worthy of his Country, and in in Age which causes those that commit Lirors to be excused His Friends blamed him more justly than his Enemies, his Friends, I say, who upbraided than his Enemies, his Friends, I fay, who upbraided him for being too good Naturd, and for having faved Leonidas, and truffing too much to others. His Mother's words are remarkable H TDA? II TO W παι εθλαβεια κ) το πράου κ) φιλάν θεωπον α πώλεπ μ σ πμών Nimis tus te, fili, modesiia, lenitss, & huma-nitas nobiscum perdidie This is what Plutarch in forms us of in the Life of Agus I have related it forms us of in the Life of Agu 1 nave related without adding or leaving out any thing but at prefent I shall add this Observation, That by a careful reading of History it would appear that more Princes have been Dethroned for being too Good, or Wash than for being too Wicked The latter too Weak, than for being too Wicked The latter find more Strength in their own Wickedness against the Plots of their Inemies, than the former do 11 the Justice of their Cause, and the Fidelity of their People See one of the Remarks of the Article of Edward IV

(A) Oreas Grand Child of Melampus] This is the

was call d The inquit, ex iple in-fiituit. & disciplina habet Ammonius epist 8 1 8 interErafmianas pag 410 (b) Eraim cpift 26 25 pag

(1) I 1gnorum pretourn effe non miroi multi-que tidie

haretici

holocaustum nobis pra-bent, plufuccrefcunt

Quin &

mo, fectam (fi dus pla-Cet) &

trater ger-

This Man had caused & Talaus the Father of Adrastus to be put to Death, and seized of a Pindarus that Country. This Division of the Kingdom was a Seed of Discord, whose dismal Od 9 Ne- Effects appear d in the time of Adrastus King of Arges, who found himself forc'd to meor p leave his Dominions, a not being able to make head against the Faction of Amphiarant. meor p m 608 6 See Benedictus upon Pindar ib p 6-8, 609 3 In the Romark F of the Aticle Adia flus J See the Article of Alcincon Sin of Am-(harles Stephens and Lloyd in their Dictiona-Oliverius upon Val

Max lib

() Ib 1d

(i) Apol-Jod lib r

P 7 4, pro 43

p g 48 (CPinder

Nement

Od 9 p 611, 612 a Apol-

Iodorus 7 , p 193 (/)Id Pind Od 6

Olymp pig 98

Diodorus Siculus, 1

4 ch 68 () Straho

1 9 p

the Crown This Quarrel was made up by the Marriage of Amphiaraus with Erophyle the Sister of Adrastus, so that the latter was Re-ostablish'd I speak of it > elsewhere, and without forgetting the new Broils, wherein Eriphyle being made Judge of the Cause, decided it in Favour of Adrastus to the Prejudice of her Husband The Trick which she put upon her Husband in the time of the Preparations for the Expedition of Thebes, was a villanous Action. Amphiaraus being inform'd by his Prophetick Spirit, that he should perish in that War, hid himself and would not go to it but his Wife being bitbed by a Present, discovered where he was & So that against his Will he was forced to accompany the other Princes to the Expedition of Thebes, which proved unhappy, and he perished there in a very extraordinary manner, for the Earth having been opened by a Thunder-bolt, he was swallowed up in that (B) Abyss with his Chariot Those who e say that this Misfortune happen'd to him the same day the Army drew near Trebes, are mistaken, for he died not till the day of the Retreat, and the Siege had continued for some time. This Tragical Adventure has been the Subject of many Witters, from whence it comes to pass that the Circumstances have not been related all alike Genealogy of Amphiaraus His Father Oicles was the Son of Antiphates, Son of Melampus, Son of Amithaen, Son of Cretheus and Tyro, who was the Daughter of Salmoneus, whose Great Grand-father by his Father's side was Deucalion (a) This you'll find in Diodorus Siculus If you consult (b) Homer, he will carry you no farther than to Melampus, I ather of Antiphates, Father of Oicles, I ather of Amphiaraus Tach of those two Authors makes Melampus to be the Great Grand-Father of Amphiaraus, but he is only his Grand I ather in the Scholiast up-

nem, and ot hers but he is only his Grand Lather in the Scholiast upon A schylus, who reckons the Descent thus (c) Amphiaraus the Son of Oicles, Son of Melampus, Son (a) Tilen Ins 1 4 Amphiaraus the Son of Oicles, Son of Melampus, Son of Amythaon, Son of Cretheus, Son of Aeolus, Son of Hillen, Son of Jupiter Let us remember that (d) Hypermussira, Daughter (e) of Thessius, was the Mother of Amphiaraus, it d that some Authors six (f) he was the Son of spollo Note, That we red in (g) Apollodorus, as also in the Scholias six of the son of Acolumn as the Son of Foundation of Foundation of Foundation of Scholar six of the son of Foundation of the son of th c 7 p m 57, ()Home ius Odyff 1 15 p m 460, aft upon A schylus, that Cresheus wisthe Son of Elus, and therefore he was the Brother of Salmoneus and of Sifeh is &c Before he married his succe I)ro, she had had I wins, (h) Pelias and Neleus by N pture He had () three Sons by ha, Æton, Impelias and Ph res The Eldest was the Father of 461 ' Schol of tchyli Amythaon and Ph res The Eldest was the Father of Jajon Consult Apollodorus who will inform you in feptem ad Thebas, v 575 (d) Paufin 1 2 p 6, ()Hygin that it was a merciful Stroke from Jupiter, for without this impliant and would have had the Earth, and that it was a merciful Stroke from Jupiter, for without this implications would have had the Dishonour of being kill d by Periclymenus who purfued him

(k) ο δ Αμφιαρηι 1 τοι κα αυιώ παμεία 1 ις ταν εσθυσείνου χθενα, puter of all stross. dive) I consumbe wer I W THE TO TEV THE MED SETTEN ' שנא וול שפעם שושי

Amphisma autem d fills fulmine adversus omnia vio-linio Jupiter lato pellore terram, occultavitque illum com cause, hasta Periclymeni priusquam terga percussus, pugnacem an mum puliseres. You lee by this and ano-thei (1) Passage of the same Poet, that Amphianaus and his Chiriot fell both together into the Precipice. This is the most common (m) Tradition. Pur same This is the most common (m) Tradition But some (n) faid that he fell from his Chariot during the Battel, and that afterwards the Chariot was transporbecause the Temple of Amphia aus was a little distant from a certain Village which was call d Harma, and bore that Name because of his Chariot They pretended that the Temple was built where the Prophet died, and that the Village Harma was built where the Chariot was transported (s) Paulanias (p) calls it a Town, and fays precisely that it was built where it is pretended that the Earth had swallowed up seek server and his Chariot. The lowed up Amphiaraus and his Chariot the Pretention of the Tanagrians, for those of Thebes (9) shewed another place situate on the great Road from Pornia to Thebes, and encompass with Columns, of which they related two pleasant Miracles One is that the Birds never perched on those Columns, and the other, that no Beast touched the Grass that grew in that place Stephanus Byzansinus mentioning the Town of Harms, tays a thing altogether opposite to Tradition, and to (r) the very Author he (r) He cites, for he allerts (s) that that Town was fo call'd guetes the because it was faid that Amphiaraus retreated thither in his Chariot, and that the Inhabitants would not Paulanias deliver him us to those who pursued him. Is not (a) form in his Chariot, and that the Inhabitants would not deliver him up to those who pursued him. Is not (1) Steph this to pretend that he saved his Lise, and to give the Byzintin Lye to a great many Authors who say that he was voce swallowed up in the Bowels of the Earth? The a pa great Salmassius imagined (1) that there wants two (1) See or three Words in this Atticle of Stephanus, that is Berkelito say, that after having made mention of the Chais's Notes riot of Amphiaram he had mention d that of Adraupon thes study, so that what concerns the resultant of the Inhaplace of the Inhaplace of the Inhaplace of the Inhaplace of (2) Strabo, where it is said that the Inhaplace of (2) Strabo, where it is said that the Inhaplace of (2) Strabo, where it is said that the Inhaplace of (2) Strabo bitants of Harma in Baotia saved the Lise of Adraubi suprassibility, after his Chariot was broke in that place. The flus, after his Chariot was broke in that place The like Conjecture cannot be made in Favour of Euflathins It ought to be faid without any Helitation, (x) Euflathat he has (x) written, that he whom the Inhabitants thins in Il of Harma lav'd, was Amphiaraus, and not Adra- 1 2 p

Note, That Strabe has committed a Mistake which Salmasius has consurd (y) Ένταν θα ή πε, κή το Αμφιαράθου όξι τεπιμιώνου ποτέ μαντώου, όπε φιρο: 15 p 275 τα τον Αμριάς εων, ως φποί Σοφοκλίις, Εθεξαπ ραγώσα Θηθαία κοις

'Αυτίσιν οπλοις, κ) τεξεσείς ω διορω Circa quem locum oraculum fuit Amphiarai,olim cultum ubi fug entem Amphiaraum, ut ait Sophocles, I hebanus haulit pulvis hiatu præpete,

Arma & quadrigas absorbens simul & virum Strabe would prove that the Oracle of Amphiaraus Exercit in the Territory of Oropus, was situate in the same Plin pag place where that Prophet was swallowed up by the 167 Farth, and for a Proof thereof he brings two (a) If Vos Verifes of sophocies, which testify that the Earth of us in pen'd it self in the Territory of Thebes to swallow Pompon up Amphiaraus and his Chariot (x) This Salmass. Melam us ceniures with a great deal of Reason Isaac Vos-pag 152 sius has taken Strabo s part, but on the conformal to the conformal and the conformal to the confo made it appear that too eager a desire to find Faults 1 i pag in the Writings of an Adversary, is a dangerous 33 Seein guide Desinat quoque mirari, says the (a), quad mul. Pinedo's it Oropum urbim in regione sive agro Thebano collocarine Notes upon Resteenim how on the fastum, cum Oropus non suggesties, Stephanus sid propria fuerit Thebanorum Hoc manif ste Dicear-Byzantichus docet, η 3 πόλις τη Ωρωπων οικεία. Θποων δετ In nus voce the sirst place what is advanced by Dicearchus being σ'estits. the first place, what is advanced by Dicemehus, being weets taken in general Terms, and so as to suit to all times, some Passas is not true Oropus was a long time a Matter of dif- ges which pute between the Athenians and the Thebans. At shew that last the former obtain'd a full Possession of it (b) that Town after Philip of Massdonia had taken the City of Thebes belong the In the second place, because Orepus belonged to the the Athe-Thebans, it does not follow that it was in the Terrininans tory of Thebes, in agre Thebane. An Author (c) Triliquoted by Plutarch, affirms that the Town of Harmachus I ma was built where the Battel was fought between 3 de conthe Argivi and the Thebans, and where Ambhiaraus ditis urbit was swallowed up It is a fault of Geography, bus apud but much less ridiculous than what the same Author Plut in Description. relates, that on the day which preceded the Battel, Paralle-an Eagle carried away the Lance of Amphiarous, his p 30%

(z)Salmaf

while

(i) ld ib (p Paufin 19 p 96 (1) Id 1b

flections have been made on this kind of Death. come had the inflications have been made on this kind of Death. It was a see Beateliev'd that implicances ascended from Hell (D), and the Scene of his Refurned this can have been described: He was placed among the Gods Temples were confected at Odynor of him. His Oracle (E) was very famous The Games that were inflituted a in Olymp. The conour of him, were notifed abroad. 'Tis thought that he excelled chiefly in Divining P 141

(ee) Tà 5 mayer co ya dagun eyéveto ha terra mfixa in Jaurum est mutata Id ib (ff)Barthis in Stat Theb 18 V 207 p 831

(bb) Vel alium ergo autoiem nominavit intrufo nunc Homeri titulo Lutatius, vel errorem erravit nec ipli nec aling paris me menti aučioral us intrequentem Barthius (a) "OLT"

v 499 (6) Barth in 7 lib Thebaid Statil v 784 pag 773 tom αμφ α',-

Ma $10μον το, quique

circum

Harmaha-

bitabant

Iliad 1 2

Homer

Thebaid] 8 v 323 (d)Barth us in Statum tom 662

zach कार्ग के वे-कार्र प्रश्न है-कार्र में री habmus, changen, inquit, fuit & discretum est, redittque nde venerale ra-deorsum, spiritus sursum. Quid ex his minibus hasquem est Nihil. Piut. 14 Conf p 1 10 (1) See Harthius ho quetes many of em in his Communestry upon Statius, rom, 2.

284 (2) in one of the Remarks of the Article Psychentius.

Whilst the Generals were at dinner together, and having carried it aloft let it fall again. It got into the (e) Farth and became a Tree. The following Words of the Scholiast upon Statius have been cenfur'd Civitas in ille loce poft eft condita in que hiatus terra Amphiaraum recepit, qua Amphiarma vocatur ut Homerus ait, quod illic currus quem Graci deua vocant deciderit, in quo etiam Oraculum est quod Graci Amphideciderit, in que etiam Oraculum est quod Graci Amphiarann vocatur Barthius (ff) pretends that this Scholiast alledges improperly the Testimony of Homer, since nothing like as to be found in the (gg) Book of the Odyssey, amention is made of Amphiaraus Headdy that perhaps the Name of Homer crept in by the Rault of the Copists, and that is this be not supposed, it must be said that the Scholiast has fail'd in his Memory, to which he is requently subject as well as others. This Criticism is not just, it should have been applied another way surrebium should have said in the first place, that the Town built where Amphiaraus perished, was called Harma, and not Amphiarma. Secondly, that Homer has only named it (a) without making any Etymohas only named it (a) without making any Etymological Remark In the third place, that the Oracle that Prophet was not at Harma

I shall conclude this Remark with a Passage of Barthius, who informs us that it is thought the Pagans made an Allusion here to the Story of Korah and Abiram Placet (b) non plane absurdam conjecturam veteris adnota oris proponere, per hunc casum alludi a paganis scriptoribus vindictam divinam in Sacerdotes Hebras populs, Datamum nimisum, & Abiramum, quos non rite rebus facris ministrantes, Deus Omnipotens emamomni illa gente vivos ad inferos per biatum terra tum dejecerit Ei sei respondere nonnihil etiam poste ti vocabulum, facile enim ex Abitamo gentilium ta Amphiaraum siciss, quim, Israelita gente jam eo loco remo a, quo loco sta absorptio acciderit, consceras te nosmadum. Secana infiliante avaculum. se postmodum, Satana instituente oraculum kt inde cultum impir hominis aliorsum longe lateque propagatum

(C) Some bad Reflections have been made on this kind Death] It has been thought that the Order of of Death 1 It has been thought that the Order of Nature had been overturn d by it, that Order, I fay, according to which the Parts of a Compound that is dissolved, ought to return with to their proper place. For Lxample, when the Man dies his Soul ought to fly up to Heaven from whence it came, and his Body taken from the Earth ought to return thither Amphiaraus did not enjoy this benefit, for the Earth iwallow'd him up Body and Soul, it was not fatisfied to retake what belong'd to it, but de-tain'd also what did not belong to it. The Southfayer Theodamas feems to complain of it

(c) Liceat, precor, ordine belli Pugnaces effia c animas, & readere calo Ne rape tam subitis spirantia corpora bustii Ne propera veniemus enim quo limite cunti: Qua licet ire via

(c) Statius A (d) Commentator fays thereupon, iniquitai mani-A (d) Commentator fays thereupon, iniquitai manifesta Telluti bic exprebatur, qua animam Amphiarai corpore egerit deorsum. He had mention'd an extra Doctrine of Epicharmus (e) Man was made Union of Two Parts, they separate, and cach returns from whence it came, the Earth to the Earth, and the Spiris on high There is nothing amiss in this This Thought is found in the Writings (f) of several again, and even in the Verses of Lucretius, as I had (g) elsewhere. This was at least to know the in general. But those who imagin'd that the soul of Amphiaraus did not enjoy the Liberty of re-uniting it self to its Principle, were grossy missaken. Although it had not been sumaterial, but of the Nature of the Stars, it would gasily have militaken Although it had not been immaterial, but of the Nature of the Stars, it would easily have found a way to rife again. The Poets whio faid that he was yet alive, when he came into Hell, made the return of his Soul to the Celestial Regions more difficult; for it feens, to be more easy to mount unwards, if one begins to endeavour, it when but a little under the Surface of the Earth, harms than if one finks to the Center of it, before one begins his Flight towards Heaven. But these Poetical Fancies are not ferious enough to be minded, and I fear my Readers will take it ill if I infert the following

(b) Ecce alte præceps humus, ore profundo Diffilit, inque vicem timucrunt sidera, & umbra Illum ingens haurit specus, & transire parantes Mergit equos non arma manu, nonfrena remisit Sicus crat, rectos defert in Tartara currus

He was yet living (1) when the Definies faw him, prenfa co-they did not cut the Thred of his Life, till after they lus visowere put into a fright to see that Prophet in his Chariot within the Infernal Mansions It will not seem so strange, if I observe the contradiction of this Po-He supposes that a little before Amphia aus was fwallow'd up, he restored to Phabus the Prophetick Ensigns, as things that could not be carried to Pluto s Kingdom

Accipe 'k) commissum capiti decus, accipe laurus Quas Erebo deferre nefas

Elsewhere he supposes that Phabus confess'd that his Prophet descended into Hell with all the Enligns of his Office

(l) Utinam inaulgere piccanti Fata darent ' en ipse mei (pidet) irritus arma Cultoris, frondesque facras, ad inania vidi Tartara, & in memet versos descendere vu'tus Barthius who has taken notice of this mistake, obierves that there are ieveral (m) of the same Nature in the Thebaid of this Poet

(D) It was believ'd that Amphiaraus aftenced from Hell] Some Authors affect to fly that he difference in magnant peared (n) 'Αμφιάεσ Ο χανεσις τ η τι εμποω εις mus hic χασμα μετά τε αρμί σ αρανις ε βυτι Απρί ατικι vates, &ς vero debiscente terra cadens in biatum cum curiu incon-Spicuus evasit Apollodorus adds this Reason, because tamen an Jupicer had immortalized him (0) O 3 our To a year norum licapuo In, a, Ldis a Sava Tov au rov e Toinos Ir von mam ie absorp us est or postea nunquam visus illum enim jupi- feire vult ter immortalitate donavit. This is sufficient to mike suam I had I his is sufficient to mike fuam I ha fome fay that the Pagans have alluded to the Haftory baidem of Fnoch Some other Authors are politive in the Birth in matter. They suppose that Ariphiaraus died, and that he actually descended into their Skingdom, 3 pag 77, 3 p but that afterwards he ascended again to the upper Regrons may they pointed out the place through which dor Sieu-he ascended, which was a I ountain near the Tem-ple, which the Inhabitants (p) of Oropus built in (o) Apol-The Devotion paid to this I oun- lodor 1 3 honour of him The Devotion paid to this I oun-tain was remarkable No Sacrifices were offer d there, the Water of it was not used for runneautons, not to wash ones Hands, only those that were heal'd of any Disease by means of the Oracle, cast a piece of Gold or Silver into it (g) 'I sty algorithms and street Attice and miss may in that or see that, in Appliate, a register, the Buotia distinct of the second of the matter and second of the second of the matter and second of the second of the second of the matter and second of the sec there, the Water of it was not used for Purificati-Tuot Tee Boen es au thu, Bo ching Sa otole in Repulli Rinds (q Pruromi outer Norus anesteione aide haut dual Gos in lib voudue, na sestand appuesu a peri ai his Rossou onismuou es thu maynu tuuth 3 anesh seiv teu America ou hey sou ush seou Est eliam apud Oropios sons templo proximus, quem Amphiarai muncupant ad quem nique divinam rem faciunt, neque aut ad luttrandum, aut ad manus lavandas, aqua ea uti sas putant iolum, qui morbo oraculi monitu levati fuerint, fignatum auium argentumve more majorum in fontem abjiciunt. Hinc enim jam deum Amphiaraum ascend se tradunt. Note, that jam deum Amphiaraum ascend se tradunt Note, that every body did not believe the Resurrection of Amphiaraus, and that there were those who durst denv it upon the Stage Witness this Verse quoted by

(r) Audisne hat Amphiarae sub terram abdite? (r) Audine has Amphiarae jub terram abdite

(E) Temples were conscerated to him H.s Oracle was (r) Cicero famous] The Inhabitants of Oropu were the first Tuicul who Dessed Amphiarass. They built him a Temquast 12 ple 12 Stadia from their Town, in the place where sub-fin the Earth opened and swallow'd him and his Charital (s) Pausactor (s). We have already seen (s) that there were missless the true Struction of the page 1. ot (s). We have already seen (s) that there were mas 1 s divers Opinions about the true Situation of the pag 33 place where he was swallow'd up However it be, (s) In the all Greece joined (v) with the Orapians, as to the Remark B Apotheosis of that Prophet They agreed that the (v) Pau-Oracle of that new God was to be consulted in the fan ibid |
Temple which they had built him Paulanias informs us that a Collection of Oracles an Hexameter Verse

(b) Stati-us Theb lib 7. v. 816 (1) Quin cominus ipfa Fatoque paventes Augure, tum demum rumpebant stamina Pare Сæ 14 1b lib 8 (k) Id 1b lib 7 v 784 (/) Id 1b. 191 (m) Hoc genus duodecim (n) Diolus lib 4 P 193 (p'A Fown in lib to executed by Aicmar. bit Mrticle

(a) Pauf ibid
(b) Vigenere upon Amphiaraus mention'd by Philoitratus,p 40 tom 1 (e) Philostratus, vita Apollon 1 2 ch 11 p m 476 (d) Plutarch de Oraculor defectu pag 411 (e) He cxof Leba-(f) See Paulanias]1b 1 p 3, a Strabo, lib 9 p 275 (1) Clcmens Alexandim in protreptico pag 9 INDIAGE-01 76 V OW 1116 ETTE माइ ०के U. Cas oi mã 78 65 3 IXIS EXA-CEWS TOPFO-(UTEVOI PEc which Aut Anti hisraum. qui cum ici tem qui adverfus lhehis bellum getdepunt,tertur Itoja capta una generatione fuifle posterior (I should be prior) Id Strom lıb ı p 3,4 (Baithius in Stat tom 2 p 138 auopi ins faul of the Iranflator, and imputes it te Clemens Alexandrinus. (1) Herodot lib r сар 46 & leq (k) Id ib C3p 5.

This was by (F) Dreams; but that was not all, for he was the Inventor of the Divinations that wild I a secured by are made by Fire. He conceived such an inveterate hatred against his Wife, that he (m) Bar. order'd the Children which he had by her to kill her as soon as their Age would think ub.

Verse contributed much to give the People a great Notion of Amphiaraus, because the Author of that Collection inserted the Answer which that Diviner had given concerning the War of Thebes This was much to his Reputation; for People were possess with this Opinion, that in former times they were only Persons inspired by Apollo, who answerd vives voce, I mean in the Nature of an Oracle. Other Southsavers were only taken up with explaining the Southfayers were only taken up with explaining the Presages of Birds, and Victims, or Dreams But whatever advantage this gave to our Amphiaraus above other Diviners, yet People were not perfuaded that his true Function was like that of the God of Delphi, for he was only confulted to have An-Iwers from him by Dreams which is an Argument that during his Life he chiefly applied himself to the interpreting of Dreams. This feems to me to be the Substance of Pausania's (a) Narrative I do not find that Romulus Amasaus has rightly translated it, and I had rather trust to the Version of Vigenere, tho it is not perfectly exact Here it is (b) Jophon of Choius, one of the Interpreters of Oracles, published those of Amphianaus in Hexameter Virse, which had such an Instrumence upon the People, that they stock d to them on a sudden from all Parts For none of the Southsayers, except those who formerly were inspired by the Enthusiasm of Apollo, pronounced any Oracles, but were all Inter-preters of Dreams, or forctold things to come by the Flight of Birds, or by the Entrails of Sacrificed Beasts Wherefore it seems that Amphiataus addicted himself Weerefore it sums that Amphiataus addited himself chiefly to the Interpretation of Dreams, which we infer from hence, that after his Dessitation be instituted this manner of Divination And in the sieft place, those that go to his () racle must be well and duly purified Which Purgation or cleansing consists in orderly savisficing to that God, and performing the requisite exemonies as well towards him, as towards all the rest whose Names are written there. After this, having offer an Skeep they stretch the Skin on the Ground and skeep upon it, expecting the Answertotheir requisitions us of some other Ceremonies, which were observed in that place. The Gods, says he (c), are used to grant Oracles to those that are sober, so there was once a Prophet in Greece whose Name was Amphiataus. I believe (interrupted the king) you Amphiaraus I believe (interrupted the Ang) you mean him that was the Son of locles, who in his return from The bes was swallow dup by the Earth H.m, and none elfe, sulue d Apollonius, who to this day pronounces Oracles in the Athenian Territory, and fends thofe that require it of him, an Answer to their Demands by Drams But the Prufts of the Place enjoyn those that come that is to conful him, to abstain a whole day from all manner of Ilelh, and three days from W ue, to the end they may the better conceive and preserve in their pure Houghts the Reasons of the things that shall be declared to them in Dicems If Wine was a proper means to cause suce, the wise Amphiaiaus would without doubt have ordered it to the Dieamers, that being fill'd with Meat and Drink they might descend into the most private pur of tre lemple, where fuch Oracles were given lake notice that Philofraius affures us that in the time of Apollonius the Oracle of Amphiaraus was full in Reputation, and yet Plutarch confeiles (d) that all (1) the Oracles of Beerra, among which he reckons this, had ceas'd Let us lay no ftress upon Apollonews this, had ceased Let us lay no stress upon Appllenius s placing this Oracle in Attica, and not as Placarch does in Baotia. They speak both of the same place, but the Country of Oropas being contested between the Athenians and the Thebans, the former pretending it belong'd to Attica, and the latter that it belong'd to Baot a (f), inade some Authors say that the Temple of Amphiaraus was in Baotia, and others that it was in Actica Clemens Alexandricus (a) child thing so the Pagant the Colleges of these others that it was in Actica Clemens Alexandri-nus (g) objecting to the Pagans the Cessation of their Oracles, mentions that of amphiarans by Name, thus here is a second Witness against the Hero of Philostratus He makes mention of it in (b) another place, which the Translator has perverted See the Margin

Margin

Hirodotus can inform its how thich that Oracle's was efterm'd, for he fays, that of all those which Crafus, King of Lydia, caus'd to be consulted, there was only this, and that of Delbas, that gave good Answers, and received noble Crifts from that Monarch (1) I wonder at what he observes, (2) that the Presents sent by Crasus to the Oracle of Ansphiaraus were deposited in the Temple of smile Ismaille in the City of Thebes Why were they not confecrated in Amphiaraus's own Temple? Or why in default of this, were they not rather carried into fupra, p. another City than Thebes, whose Inhabitants were fupra, p. Difgraced with respect to that Oracle is a the contest of the were forbidden to fleep in the Temple of Amphia were forbidden to ileep in the Temple of Amphinrans, which was the only way to be informed of things to come in that place? The Reason of this Prohibition was, that Amphiarans having offered the Thebans to be their Southlayer or their Fellow-Soldier, they made choice of the latter You'll find all these things in Herodosus (1) with so clear a distinction between the Temple of Apello Ismanus and that of Amphiarans, that I wonder how Barthins (m) could say there was no difference between them Herodosus relates this, speaking of an Emphian who Heredoins relates this, speaking of an European who was ient by Mardonius to consule the Oracles of Greece He could not tell by what Dream Amphiarans made known to that General of the King of Persis the ill Destiny that attended him Plusarch was (n) better informed of it, for he relates that Dream Some Authors say, (s) that Amphiaraus appear'd to those who consulted him, I believe they mean that he appeared to them in a Dream However it be, his Oracle was no less esteem'd than that of Delphi, or that of Dodona, or that of Jupiter Hammon Valerius Meximus faith to 19) Ladem gens Jummo confinsu ad Amphiaraum decorandum incubais, locum in que bumatus est, in formam conditionemque tem-Pli redigendo, atque inde oracula capi inflituendo jus cineres idem honoris possident, quod Pyrbica Cortina, quod aheno Dodona, quid Hammonis fonti datur Cicero does not say so much of it, yet he praises it Amphiai aum (q) sic honorav t sama Gracia, deus ur haberesur, atqu ut ab ejus folo in q to est humatus , eracula pe- nat l' r fol, terentur

Note, That there was at Corinth (r) a Temple of Amphiaraus, but give no credit (1) to Pomponius Mela, nor to (t) Solinus, who lay there was one at Rhammus, for they are mustaken it was not there but near Orepus, as I have already faid, and as may be prov'd by Dicearchus, Strabe and Pausamat, &c See Isaac Vossius, page 151 of his Commentary on

Pomponi is Mela
(I) He excell'd chiefly in divining by Dreams but he was the Inventer of the Divinations that are made niuslib 7.

by Fire] As to this Invention I can only cite these c 56 pm

Words of Pliny (w Arufpicium Delphus (invenit) 101, 102 ignispicia Amphiaraus, aspicia avium Tirestas Thebanut, interpretationem offentorum & fomniorum Amphicipon Statius makes no mention of this, though he is pleas d frequently to take notice of the Ability of (y Id ib Amph. areas in prophetying by feveral Methods His 1 7 v 7 c6 (z) In the

Quis (x) mibi sidereos lapsus, mentemque sini fire Fulguris, aut casis saliat quod numen in extis Quando iter, unde mora, qua sevis utilis armis, Qua pacem magis hora velit, quis jam omne sutu-

Proferet? aut cum que volucres mea fata loquentur ?

Thus he expresses the Greef of the whole Army for the Death of that Prophet He lays in another Geopo-

(y) Quantum subito diversus ab illo Qui tripodus laurusque sequi, qui destus in omni Nube salutato volucrem cognoscere Phabo omit several other Passages of the same Nature, chiling rather to observe that this Poet does not (#) Seeshe insist on the chief Property of this Prophet, which Remark I. was to forestell by Dreams, as I have (z) ilready said of she Ar-He was the first that abstant d (z) from Beans, as be size Pying obstructive (b) to that Science It will not be thagonas amis to take norce here between the factor of Banding. amis to take notice here how he became a Prophet (c) Nec in He went into a House as ignorant of future Things as any body else; but the next day he came out of it formits as any body else; but the next day he came out of it formits as any body else; but the next day he came out of it formits for the very capable of foretelling them. This House was partially that up ever fince, and was called the Potetelling memint. House It had with respect to Predictions or Division ur site denations, the same Virtue which the Poets attributed repente to Parasifier, with respect to Poetry (c) It made Poets propose a Propher in one a Propher in one Night, and it might then be diremted, that Good comes by Sleeping You'll see the Poets at the amiss to take notice here how he became a Prophet part. Supra, p. 412 (4) 'Agu PIE CE G Properio CH BEINTA zi Apeçi AUTUALL क्यां: करीया इस्ता की א און און לא אין אין אין אין אין אין אין Arifides Orat in Afclepiadas, apud Barthium ubi fupra, p 138. (p) Valer Maximus 18 fub fin (q) Cicero de divigin C (r)Paufan 1 2 p 65. 1 2 p 65. ponius' Mela, I 2. c 3 (r) Solin. cap 7 (v) Pin 101, 102 (x) Statius Theb Remark E (a) । १५ जे स्ट्रह 5 वे स्ट्राइट्री xux kear Aup aca overpan

> nic Ì apud Barthium ph fupry tom thagoras

Promit them. Great Prailes (G) have been bestowed upon him; and this among others, Apollo-That he endeavourd to be an honest Man, and not to appear so A Noble Subject p m 53 (H) for Reflections. If I am not mistaken, * Apollodorus is the only Man who has inferted him in the Catalogue of the Argonaute, for neither Apollonius, nor Hyginus, nor I a-

^ Apolio-

(a) Pin dar Ods6 Olymp pag 95 (b) Statius ubi lupra, 1.7 V 703 (c) What is wanting here, bas been cited in the fore going Re-(d) Id 1b 18 v 206 (e) Apollodor lib 3 p 189. (f/Athen. l 4 c 21. pag 172 (g) Pag 303 Of Julian s Works, Edit Lipf 1696 (b) Plut Aristidis, P 320 See also Plutarch audiendis Poetis p (1)Hire are the Words of Æichy-Jus in praise of Amphintaus in the I age dy entituled, Lनीके ठीनो UnGas, lept m contra I hebas, V 498 'OU w Sokery α ; 15τος, αλ ;) Θελω, ζαduw alcza dia ppe-805 x20 พยนใบ 🕒

resvai CARSQUES

GENEUMATR Non
enim op.
timus vie

deri,fed

effe volet.

Profundo

fulco frumentis.

ens, ex

germiquo fans

nant con-

νων λόγφ, εδιώτης τε κ' α μαίντε κ' το οίκημα καθ τύ-τε συγκεκλεισαι τον πάντα πόπ χεόνον. In postica for: parte domus est, quam Phiasis Fatidicam nuncupant in eam enim ingressus Amphiaraus (quemadmodum ipsi nar-rànt Phiasis) cum noticimum and obsermisset, statim di-vinare capit, cum ante indostius plane fusset. Id cum ita evenisset, in reliquem omne tempus occlusa ille edes fuc-phiaraus declares, that he had loft the Eye of his Army, a Prophet and a good Soldier

Ποθεω (a) દિલ્લાવેંદ 'Οφθαλμόν εμάς, ἀμφότειον, Μαστιτ' ἀγαθόν Καὶ δυελμάςναδζ Desidero exercitus oculum mes

Usrumque vatem bonum & ad pugnandum hasta Indeed he had not only a very active Mind, but also a formidable Valour, and he excell d in the Exercises of the Body It is faid that he made a great Slaughter of the Enemies the day on which he died Ardet (b) inexpleto favi Mavoitis amore Et fruitur dextra, atque anima flagrante superbit Hic hominum casus lenire & demcre fatis Jura frequens, quantum subito diversus ab illo (c) .

Innumeram ferro plebem ceu letifer annus, Aut Juhar adversi grave sideru immolat umbru Ipse suu

Plutarch in Apopha In a word, he was a valiant Prophet, and fuch as he them prophet to be, fince he was a King, and had the Knowledge of things to come Statius calls him the audiendis

Jamque (d) erit ille dies que te queque conscia fati Templa colant, reddatque tuus responsa sacerdos, Talia FATIDICO peragunt solemna REGI
As for what concerns his dexterity in the Exercises in which the Greeks strove so much to obtain the Vi-Story, I need only observe, that our Amphiaraus (e) obtain'd the Prize of the Race, and that of the Discus in the Nemean Games, which the Generals celebrated in their March against the City of Thebes Take notice of these Words of Stefichorus

Θρωσκων (f) μβο 35 'Αμφια εσιθ "Ακονπ η είκοσεν Μολένος Θ Saltu quidem me Amphiaraus Jaculo vero superat Meleager

As to the rare Qualities of his Soul, see the 8th Book of the Thebaid, and the Tragedy of A.S. hylus, Littuled en ma on Oneat, septem contra Thebas, out of which I will cite a Passage in the Remark I, and three fine Verses in the following Remark See also how he is commended for his Modesty, in a

Fragment of the Emperor Julian (g)
(H) A Noble Subject for Reflections | The Matter of Fact is this "In any Alteration of Affairs his Constancy was admirable, as not being puff'd up with Honour, and demeaning himself undisturb'd and sedately in Adversity, and also of Opinion that he ought to offer himself to the Service of his Counor trey unmercenary, and without the Reward not only of Riches but even of Glory it self Whence it is likely, at the recital of these Verses of Eschylus in the Theatre relating to Amphiarans,

He aims at being Just, not seeming so, Prosound of Mind the Fruit thereof to show, Where sage Advice and prudent Counsels grow

The Lyes of all the Spectators were converted on Arifides, as if this Virtue did in a most especial manner appertain unto him For he was a most strong Champion for Justice, not only against 66 "most strong Champion for Justice, not only against Friendship and Favour, but Wrath and Malice" This is the single Encomium in the World Amphiaraus was worthy of Admiration if he deserved it Aristida, who seem'd to deserve it, is an incomparable Man.

This is Subject that will afford a great many Resestions; but I shall be contented with few. I observe, I. That if the Pagans did not practice true Virtue, they knew it well at least; for they prairie those who in doing a good Action did not propose to themselves a pecuniary Interest, nor the publication themselves a pecuniary Interest, nor the publication.

Approbation, and they despited those whose End in the Lxercite of Virtue was Reputation, Glory, or the Applause of their Neighbours Though you be never so much uninterested with respect to Riches and Offices at low one for with respect ches and Offices, if you are not so with respect to Praise, you ast still meanly you are not secreted from the Disease of Self love; you are only got out of the grossest sources, you are only got out of the grossest snares, you only wear siner Chains. In a word, you will find your Picture drawn in the Treatile of Mr. 1/prit, concerning the Deceitfulness of human Virtues. Apply to all Virtues the excellent Rule which senece has picterib'd concerning Liberality, and then they will be some that without that they will not be so. That Philosopher answers this Objection; Must not he to whom I have done good, know of whom he has receiv'd it? (k) Quid ergo? ille nost et a quo a copeit? Primum nesciat, si hoc ipsum benessici pars est de-lo, inquis, seat dibitorim queris. Folo utique seitat quid seilli utilius est nescire? si honestius, se gratius? non in aliam partem abibis? Volo seitat ta tu hom nem non servabis in tenebris? Non nego, quoties pat ti r s, percipiendum gaudium ex accipientis voluntate fin adjuvari illum & oportit, & pudet, si quod præstamus, offendit, nisi abscond tur veneficium in alla non mitro Quidni? ego illi non sum indicatur is me dedisse cum inter prima pracepta ac maxime nec flavia fi, n' unquam exprobrem, imo ne a imoneam quidem (Hac crim bineficis inter duos len eft, alter statim oblivisci debet dati, alter accepts numquam Ild Reflection is, That it feldom happens that the delign of being praifed is the only Lnd of those who are not istished with the Testimony of their Consciences Observe the Persons who aspire to these Two things, the one to be Virtuous, and the other to seem to be so, and you Il find that their Ambition is not contented with the Reality and the Appearances of Virtue Meer Praises do not satisfication. fy their Desires, they wish iomething else may go along with them Reputation alone icems to them a Reward too Spiritual, they endeavour to incorporate it with the Conveniences of Life. They quickly mike Praises and Approbation seive to acquire Credit with those that distribute Offices, and then they make use of that Credit to enrich themselves, or to satisfy all their Passions. So that the surest way to preserve the Punity of the Soul, is to do what has been faid of Amphiaraus and Aistides Lndeavour to be a Virtuous Man, let it be your chief End, feek not to appear fo, for such an endeavour is attended with more dangerous Confequences than

you think of

you think of

III I his Saying, (1) is affilibed to Socia cr., That there is no shorter why to attain to Virtue, than to endeavour to be such as one would appear to be This Counsel is very Judicious, for the desire of enjoying a glorious Appearance, and of ob aining publick Applauses, is so strong and common, even among those who have no great Mind to be inwardly Virtuous, that a great Progress in Virtue may be expected from every one, who will endeavour to be expected from every one, who will endeavour to produce a perfect Conformity between the real State of his Soul, and the Opinion he would have others entertain of him But it must be confess d that there is less uninterestedness in that way than in that of Amphiaraus Seem to be an honest Man, and be to Enjoy a fair Reputation, but deserve it, do not usurp the Esteem of your Neighbour. This is the Counsel of Socrates. He would not deprive any one of the Vanity of Praises. Amphiaraus would have faid, be an honest Man, and don't trouble your ielf appurere whether it will be known to others, or whether in eodem efficience.

you'll be praifed for it

IV. You may fay that one of those two things does not go without the other, and that fince a good bonus CoReputation may be acquired by false Virtues, that is to say, by the art of covering an ill Soul with the apparance of Honesty, it may be more certainly following that Virtues You will conclude from the control of the therics that Amphiaraus, and others like him, valued them-

ac Bcn-fic lib 2 CIP 10 () Simper idegifti ur quil hi-Beir veiles talis effes quam viim ad gloman Gro-Vimam & qualicom pendicrates elle dicebat Petrus Alcyoniusin Medice legato puole culca nnem Here are the Words of Socrates, apud Xenophone memorab 1 2 p m 47

-100 10 M 1-לי שרי וודוייי a 1917 -SOLTH N, Ya XXI SH is , 200 i KS1706 8X8 OTI a.v Cirn do-Kill did-(13 300 2870 X 10 201 TCI-Velim, O (ritobule, feras hand effe brevifimm lecurifimam, optim imq, ad hæc omnia vique volueris bonus lerius Flaccus have done it. He is reckon'd among the wise Men what have had the missortune to be engaged in Undertakings directed by hot-headed Mar. This is without doubt a very deplorable Case, and it is but too common. The manner (K) how he themselves for despising a thing, which they very well knew they could not want. But I'll answer you, that oftentimes it is easier to be an honest Man than to be accounted fo, and that there is no neeeffary Confequence from one of those things to the other, wherever you begin To become a Virtuous Man, you have nothing to do but to con-quer your Passions, but to appear so, you must con-quer those of others, and triumph over them You have cunning and violent Enemies, who foread many ill Reports of you Those who hear them give credit to em, and become new Spreaders of Calumnies If they are incredulous, they form Difficulties, by which they teach your Enemies how to propose the Calumnies to make them more plausible Sometimes you are ignorant of all those Contrivances, and if you knew them, can you go from place to place to justify your felf? If you are an honest Man, as I suppose you to be, are you able to know the Tricks of your Enemies, and the oblique ways that may work upon the Mindsof the Vulgar? Had you not rather leave the Vulgar in an Eiror, than ipend all your Leifure time in disputing the ground with Calumniators? Will your Vigilance be suffient to remove the Impressions which their Maligni-ty has made upon credulous Men, who are infinite ly more susceptible of Calumnies than of the best Reasons you can alledge in your tion ?

You may fee in the Remark L of the Article Cefar, that the same Commendation which Aschilus bestows upon our Amphiaraus, was bestowed by

Sallust upon Cate Uticensis

(1) Among the wife Men who have had the Misfortune to be engaged in Undertakings directed by hot-headed Men] I shall fet down the Words of an old French Commentator upon Philographia (a) Here we have an infince of our Wretchean, f. and Misery, since prudent and good Men are obliged to suffer for the fools fine for fine foothings of those who are inconsider ate and wicked Is it not a strange thing that Tideus a hot headed pecuish quarrelsome and brainless Fool, a disturber of the publick Quiet, though a Stranger, and notwithstanding all the Remonstrances, Predictions and Admonitions of the wifest Man of Circece, who was also accounted a Prophet, should have a Voice in the Council, and be so far credited, as to cause a War to be undertaken which is no way necessary, and will turn to the Ruin and Destruction of them all? Nay, those who oppose the same with the most likely and best Reasons, must be Partakers of, and even have a greater share in the Danger of those giddy headed Men So true it is that bad and pernicious Counsels have always prevailed over good and wholesome on s' Wherefore not without Reason or at Random the Poet Afchylus in the Tragedy entituled Septem contra I hebas, laments under the Person of Eteocles, the good and wife Amphiaraus in this manner

Φεῦ το ξωαλλασοντος οςνίδος βροτοις Δικαιον αι δρα πίσι δυανεθερίεροις Lν ταντι προγει δ' εδ ομιλιακακίκ fet mee Itaque vel officio vel fama bonorum vel pudore victus ut in fabulis Amphiaraus, sic ego prudens & sciens ad pestem aute oculos positam sum prosessus. To conclude, there is some Reason to upbraid that Prophec for the Imperfection of his Knowledge, and to (e) jest upon him on that Account He foresaw that if he went to the War he should be kill'd, but he did not foresee that he should go, and that notwith-standing his Precautions, he should be forc'd to engage in the Undertaking (R) The manner how he comforted a Woman.

requires a Remark | Plutarch having mention'd the Reasons which ought to be us'd month of their Children, adds, (f)' And Amphiaraus the Part doth not do amiss, "when he concluse the Mathewall Amphiaraus and the concluse the Mathewall American Mathewall when he consoles the Mother of Archemorus, who was even sick with Grief for the Loss of her Son He speaks who died unexpectedly

There's no Man lives whom forrow doth not feize, Whose Body is not subject to disease, Our Children must be buried in the Earth,

There are materials to give others birth Tis Death at last that must wind up our Fate, And free us from a m ferable State

Our native Dust doth claim in asits own , Inevitable Time will mow us down

Necessi y doth all our Lots bestom , Determines whether we should live or no

Those sufferings don't deserve an Elegy, Which we by Nature's Laws established see Nothing should grieve, that can't avoided be "In the general, every one should meditate outly with himself, and have the concurrence other Men's Opinions with his own, that "longest Life is not the best, but that which is the most virtuous" It seems to me that Plutarch has ill plac'd those Verses, seeing they contain nothing that relates more to the Deith of Young People than of others I may say likewise, that the Comparison of Ears of Corn would be absurd, if the question was to moderate an Affliction grounded on the Youth of the Person that is bewald for according to the the Person that is bewald for according to the the course of things, the Coin Harvest is not made all the Lars are ripe. It were better to make the thicked Person consider the State of the Fruit of the First of them every Week afterwards, and you'll find that the Number of them is always decreating. It is much it one half of them he were decreating It is much if one half of em be pre-terved till the time of gathering. As for the other ferv d till the time of gathering. As for the other Reasons of Amphiarans, they are good enough, but they have nothing but what is common, nay, he concludes with a Maxim which in one Sense (g) is shall see by and by how the Philosopher Carneades Criticized upon them

Amyor has not well rendred this Place of Plu + b, ο τω ποιητή Αμο αρεως, by Amphia aus in a Po-This Vertion manifestly infinuates that Amphiaraus compos'd a Poem, but Plutarch means that there was a Poet who introduced Amphiarain hing use of those Reasons It was Earspider cuntur nounulli in mærore, quum de hac communamentum um conditione audivissent, ea lege nos esse natos, at nemo in perpetuum esse posset expers mals, gravius etiam tulisse Quo circa Carneades, ut video nostrum scribere tiochum, reprehendere Chrysppum solebat laudant

Nemo mortalis est, quem non attingat dolo Morbusque multi sunt humandi liberi, Rursus creandi, morsque est finita omnibus Qua generi humano angorem nequicquam afferunt Reddenda est (1) terræ terra Tum vita omnibus Metenda ut fruges, sic jubet necessitas

Negabat gemus hoc erationis quicquam omnino ad levan-dam agritudinem pertinere. Id enim ipfum delendum ese dicebat, quod in tam crudelem necessitatem incidissem mus Nam illam quidem orationem en commencatione mus Nom illom quidem orationem ex commemo-altenorum malorum ad malevolos confolandos esse accommo-datam Here follows the Answer that variable to this Criticism of Carneades (k) Mihi vero detur secus Namo or necessitas ferenda conditiona manusta, quasi cum des pugnare cohibet, admonet que esse hominem, qua cogitatio magnopere lustum levat : O enumeratio exem-

(e) See the Commenta. ry upon the Life Apollonius,tran/la-French by Vigenere, Book 2 Ch 11 9 488 (f) Plutarch de post ad A polloni ŭm,p 110,

111

Vol edit m 4to

(4)Vige-

nere upon Amphiaraus 198

Philostra

tus, p m 403, 404 of the 1st

hansov, & dev nat Tos & noustos And what follows What an unhappy thing is it (lays he,) that a good Man should be associated with impious and detestable People. Certainly there is nothing worse 11 all the World than bad Company, from whence no good can come -This Southfayer (I mean the Son of Oicleur) a prudent, just, sincere and devout Man, Foreteller of things to come, for (6) The Thebans and devout Min, Foretener or things to come, for having kept Company with Men wicked and pre-iumptuous, and deprived of all Sense and Reason, who endeavour to come against us with a great Army, (Jupiter permitting it to be so) shall be drawn in with them to his sinal Perdition and Ruin. This were wholripideum carmen illud is what Vigenere says It ought not to be thought that Amphiarasis hoped the Faults of the Directors would be repaired by the (b) Justice of the Caule, he was too knowing a Man to believe that he knew that a just War does no less stand in need of human Assistance (c) than an unjust one, and that those, who are not very near as strong as the Defenders of Injustice, are commonly worsted He is therefore most justly alledged as an Example of the Sacrifice, which upon fome Occasions ought to be made of ones Life or Prudence to some other epist 6 lib 6 ad Considerations Read these Words of Ciero Familiar (d) Valuit apud me plus pudor meus quam timor Veritus p m 319. Sum decfle Pompeis faluti, cum ille aliquando non defuif-

(z) s ... Art de Foulques Remark (b) Cice. ro Tufcu lan lib fol 26, verfo (1) Ti Greel Versens 1tron d b. ubi fupra, which answap'dibis way yn yn N'acra-Y MOLENS Yχeι Barthius in Stati um, tom should be read, ess Jarge , 725 ym (F) C ceto

ıb

plorum

ly in the wrong, and yet shey Littorious awth Bat-(4) Sect1 Remark (of the Arsicle Brutus (Marcus (d) Cicero comforted a Woman that bewailed the Death of her Son, requires a Remark. I would willingly fee the Particulars of the Action (L) which the the Farmers of the Taxes brought against his Priess I have shewed a elsewhere the Invalidity of an Argument, whereby they pretended to prove the Certainty of his Prophecies. He lest many Children, one whereof was the Founder pus of Tibur in Italy Pliny makes this Remark in a Passage, wherein he relates feveral curious things concerning the long Life of Trees.

AMPHILOCHUS the Son of Amphiaraus and Exphyle, was a famous Southsayer. He paccompanied his Brother Alemaon to the second War of lod his Thebes, and some say he helped him in making away with Exphyle, but most Authors are of another Opinion. The Altar that was Consecrated to him a in Athens contributed much less to the Glory of his Name, than the Oracle (A) Pausan which he had at Mallus in Cisesa. He and Mopsus (Tounded that City after his the Trojan War, afterwards they quarrell'd and kill'd each other in a Duel, as I have page 33 Said elsewhere. Some affirm that a Amphilochus was kill'd by Apollo. He was both a King and a Prophet a, for he reigned at Argos It is true he could not passage. maintain himself in that Kingdom, but lest it discontented, and (B) built a City

plorum, non ut animum malevolum oblectet, affertur, sed out ille qui moret, ferendum sibi id censeat, quod videat multis moderate & tranquille tulisse

(L) Which the Farmers of the Taxes brought against his Priests] There was a Law which exempted the Lands confectated to the immortal Gods from all

Lands confecrated to the immortal Gods from all Taxes, upon which Amphiaraus's Priests pretended to that Exemption, and maintain'd that the Lands, which belong'd to that Deity, were not subject to any Taxes, and without doubt they said that the Text of the Law was clear and plain in their Freuer of the Farmers made answer, that those Lands were no ways meant by the Law, since they were consecrated to a dead Man, and that it is plain that a Person who is dead as none of the immortal that a Person who is dead is none of the immertal Gods Though this Argument was fuggested to them by Coverousness, and not by a Zeal for Religion, which such Men seldom mind when their gion, which fuch Men feldom mind when their Interest is concern'd in the matter, yet it was so demonstrative that they should have carried the Cause But I believe they lost it. 'Tis pity all the Pieces of that I rial are not extant. We know nothing of it but this, (a) An Amphiaraus Deui erit & Trophonito the this, (a) An Amphiaraus Deui erit & Trophonical are not extant. We know nothing of it but this, (a) An Amphiaraus Deui erit & Trophonical are Nostri quidem tublicani cum essentia grin Baotia deorum immortalium excepti lege censoria, negabant immortales esse ullos, qui aliquando homines fuissent. If they had been suffered to go on, they would have effected most of the Gods, and made a great many m 631
(b) In one of the Remaiks upagainst their Exceptions? What would they not on the Article Trophonius (c) Pausawere ordered to make an Enquiry into false Worstage in the word of the Gods, and made a great many facred Lands hable to Taxes, for what Titles of Divinity or Immortality would have been Proof maiks upagainst their Exceptions? What would they not have obtain'd at the Tribunal of an Intendant, ticle Trophonius
(c) Pausawere ordered to make an Enquiry into false Worstage is any Farmers of the Publick Revenues were ordered to make an Enquiry into false Worstage is any Farmers of the Publick Revenues
the page is any Farmers of the Publick Revenues
the page is any Farmers of the Publick Revenues
the page is a page in the page is any farmer of the public Revenues
the page is a page in the page in the page is a page in the page is a page in the page in the page is a page in the page is a page in the page in the page is a page in the page in the pag But it would be a hard matter for them to be fife We shall see in another place (b) how folid this Argument appeared to many Heathens, He is dead,

(M) He left many Chilaren] I have composed the Ar ticles of Alemeon and Amplifochus, who were his Sons I don't find that any Greek Author now extant ment ons Tiburtus, who was also his Son, but they mention (c) Euridice, Dimonassa, and Alemena, Daughters of Amphiaraus and Eriphyle Pliny speaks of Tiburtus thus (d) Tiburtes originem multo ante urbem Romam habent Apud AppiroAppirocos exstant ilices tres, etiam Tiburto conditore corum vexu zonatustiores, apud quas inauguratus traditur Fuisse auciov zonationement tradunt filium Amphiarat, qui apud Thebas obiedi overeirituma atate ante Iliacum bellum I faincy Pliny tells row Ist us an untruth on this Subject How could the three Oaks under which Tiburtus, Founder of Tibur and Son of Amphiarais, was Inaugurated, have remained till the time of Vespasian? Note that Solinus says that Tiburius was Grandson, and not Son of I shall fet down his words in the Ar-1 mphiaraus ticle Tibur therefore he ought not to be worshipped as a

(A) The Oracle which he had at Mallus in Cilicia] Pausanias affirms, that in his time there was no Ora-From whence we may infer, cle fo true as that cle 10 true as that From whence we may inter, that all the Pagan Oracles did not cease upon the plantang of Christianity (e) Τω ο ᾿Αμφιλόχω τὰ παρ' Αθημαίοις όζεν εν τη πολει δωμός, τὰ Κιλικίως εν Μαλλώ κανθίνον αἰψευδεσίον τῆ επ' εμε Amphilocho in ipfa urba apud Asheninenses ara sua est in Cilicia vero urba Mallo ejustem oraculum quod omnum est, qua atate mea extant minime fallax The Answers of that Oracle (f) were given by Dreams, those who consulted them spent the Night in the Temple, and what they dream'd, was to clear the Question Dion Cassius (g) mentions a Picture, wherein Sextus Condianus caus'd the Answer which he had receiv'd from that Oracle, under the Empire of Commodus, to be repre-fented Here is a Passage of Lucian, which makes fented Here is a Passage of Lucian, which makes me believe that Amphilochias was accounted a great Prophet at that time (b) Όποτε γο εξ Αιγνήνε επαινών οικαλέ, αλκων το εν Μαλλώ τατο μαμί τον οτηφανεσατόν τε, κι αλκιθεί του οικαλές τος είναι, κι χεαι ενιγγώς ωρος επος εποκρινόν ωον, οις αὶ εγγεί μας τις είς το γραμματικόν παρακρινόν ων σερφήτη, καλως αν εχείν πγησαμιν THOO MERGED TO ERROPHTH, RANGE AV EXECUTY NOTION AND (b) Lucinary outself the series of the Cum ex Agree rediction of the Cum ex Agree rediction of the confidence of the Circumstance of the Circ fince it is certain he would not have faid that that Oracle was famous, if it had not been confulted by any body for the space of One Hundred Year Thus Mr I an Dale (1) tolves this Objection He (1) Van cites another Passage taken out of the History of Dale de the falle Prophet Alexander, wherein Lucian testifics Ornculis that the Oracle at Mallus was famous A third Pai pig, 98 fage might have been cited, which I find so favour (1) I uciiage might have been cited, which I find so favour? (1) I ucible to this Observation, that I will give it at an in Delength (1) I do I eo quovior ω είνο, κ) ο μαλίσα με or concibrophic, τον Αμφίλογον ος εναγκς α'νθρώτε, κ) lio p 957 μησελοίκ μός ων, θεστιωθία ο γενναι Θ εν Κιλικί, τομ 2 φοδοβιβν Θ τον πολλα, κ) γοητά ων τοιν δυείν οδογοίν (1) έξπ είναι De Trophonio, jupiter, quodque me poi ssimini δ΄ πκμααπιστ, di Amphilocho qui quamquam sciles hominis ενν εμέ στον καθαστικών καθείνων καθείνα καθείνα καθείνων καθείνα καθείνα καθείνα καθείνα καθείνα καθείνα καθείνα καθείνα καθείνα & matricide oft filius, in Cilicia preclarus illi vaticina-in Plutarel's time

(B) He left Argos discontented, and built a City in (B) He left Argos discontented, and built a Gity in in present the Gulph of Ambracia] We have this from a grave florebant Historian (m) Αργ (Φ τὸ ᾿Αμφιλοχικον κ) Αμφιλοχιαν αλόμα απόμα τα λλίην εκπισε μετά τὰ τρωτα οικι δε αναγωρισα, κ Μορίι &ς ακ αρεσκόμλο (Φ τῆ εν "Αργ εν κολπω, δμωνυμων τῖ chi Ora-Αμφιαρεα, εν τω ᾿Αμπεσκικω κολπω, δμωνυμων τῖ chi Ora-εαυτα παθείδι "Αργ (Φ) ονομασας Καὶ ην η πολις άντη cula Plut μεγεπ τ Αμφιλοχίας, κὶ τὰς διωατωπίτης είχεν οικη de Oracu-πρας Argos Amphilechicum (Φ τεliquam Amphilor defettu lochiam Amphilochia Amphilarai filius post bellum Troja- P 434 C nous Argos Amphilochicum & icliquam Amphi. lor defectu lochiam Amphilochius Amphilarai filius post bellum Troja- p 434. C num, domum reversus cum rerum status qui Argus erat (m) Thuei non placeret, condidit in sinu Ambracico, urbem de cydides eodem patria sua nomine Argos nominans, & erat hac lib 2 urbs omnium Amphilochia regionu maxima, & potentissi. (n) Strabo mos habebat incolas Strabo alledges (n) this Testilib 7 mony of Thucydides, but adds something to it, to p 225 wit, that Amphilochus being dissassied with the (o) Berke-Government establish'd in Argos, went into Acarnalius in in, where he took possession of his Brother's Estate Steph Thucydides does not say this. and consequently Strabo Byzant Thueydides does not fay this, and consequently Straho Byzant as in the wrong to afcribe it to him They who P 124 pretend (e) that he follows the Opinion of Thucy-

divinat lib r fol 310 C & In the Article Mopfus 1b p 46¢ ıbıdı

Im ibid

tem effem,

Pag 165 (d) Plinius 1 16 cap 44 P m 308 (e) Pausamas l 1 Pag 33 (f) 'Equ ον Μαλλω TO NH T kilina quod est oppidum Cilicire Oračulum Am-philochi, quod per fomnia confulentibus respondet Xiphilin ın epitome Dienn p m 285,

Mallı

a Except, one, who bind for the Securisy of the poliodor lib 2 p m 97 B Except (p) Ms702

Co a xuas To Aryo οξί 10 Aμ-QIX O XIXOV Divine Axaua. שנים לענים מור לענים Au Poft

Ambraciam Argos Amphilochicum Alemxone eiulque libe-Ca Strabo (a) Epho-rus apud Strabonem ibid Berkelius ubi supra Sa) + 10 (c) Apollodor 13 prg 201 (d) Thu-201 cy did ubi funra (c) Strabo lib 14 p 484, 485 (f) Euri-pudApol-Jodorum

ubi fupra

(g) In the foregoing Kemark

Letter K (b)Strabo lib 7
pag 2_5
(i) Apollodorus lib 3 pag ac i 2(1 fan lib 2 рад бо (') 'Ато 5 Μελαμ-708 () Zevear Te d +5 1001 μέχεις Αμριλόχετε Αμolapás A Melampode fex per totidem ætates usque ad Amphiloin the Gulph of Ambracia. Livy has taken this Man for (C) mother, in a Parfage which I will quote. Something (D) may be censur'd in Morer: Our Southfayer ought not to be conseunded with one AMPHILOCHUS, whom Goole (E) fell in Love with.

A MPHITRYON, the Son of Altens (A) Son of Perfens, is less known by his Exploits than by the Adventure of his Wise Alemena, who (B) afforded a Subject to the Comick Poets She was the Daughter of Electron King of Mycena. The Sons of Pterelans had made an Incursion into the Territories of that Mycenæ. The Sons of Pierelam had made an incurion into the Territories of that Bexcept Prince, which prov'd fatal to them, for they all a perish'd in it, but they had also destroyed B all the Sons of Electryon The latter making the necessary Preparations to revenge the death of his Sons, left his Kingdom and his Daughter Alemana in the hands of Ampbitryon, and made him promise with an Oath, not to lie with his Daughter Those who attended the Sons of Pterelaus, had brought the Flocks of Electryon into the Country of Elis Those Flocks were redeem'd by Coayang To Ampbitryon but by delivering them into their Master, he had the Missorium. Amphitryon, but by delivering them up to their Master, he had the Missortune to dides are mistaken, for he seems to (p) preser to him the Historian Ephorus (a), who said that the City of Argos Amphilochium was built by Alemann, and that its Founder cause it to be call'd by the name of his Brother It cannot be faid (b) that Apollodorus has neither follow'd Thucydides nor any It cannot be faid (b) that Aother Writer, when he fays that Amphilochus was the Son of Alemaon, for he (c) reports this only on the Credit of Euripides Note, That he observes that this Amphiloshus went by the Advice of Apollo

to live at Argos Amphilochium

I must take notice of a great difference between Thucydides and Straho The (d) one says, that Amphilochus being return d to Argos after the taking of Trey and not finding matters in fuch a condition as he with d they had been in, retired towards the Gulph The other of Ambracia, where he built a Town (e) tells us, that Amphilochus having built Mallus in Cilicia after the taking of Frey, return d to Argos, and being displeased with the posture of Affairs there, went back into Cilicia, where he was kill'd and buried But there are other difficulties still behind Euripides (f) lays, that Alemeen being grown Mad, lay with Manto the Daughter of Tirefies, by whom he had a Son and a Daughter, the Son was call d Amphilochus, and the Daughter Tisiphone This call d Amphilochus, and the Daughter Tisiphone This Amphilochus, in Obedience to an Oracle, settled himiles in Argos Amphilochum We have seen that (g) Lucian says, that Amphilochus, whose Oracle was to samous at Mallus, was the Son of Aleman Others say that he was the Son of Amphiaram So that amidst all these Consusions two things are to be chosen The one is, to say that there has been but one Amphilochus, whose History has only been related by Piece-meals, that is, by Authors who have omitby Piece-meals, that is, by Authors who have omitted part of his Adventures The other is to affert, that there have been two Amphilochus's, one the Son of Amphiaraus, and the other the Son of Aleman, and that Authors have fometimes aferibed to one what belong d to the other I could easily believe that Amphilochus, who had an Oracle in Cilicia, is the Son of Amphiaram, and that he who fettled in Acaramia is the Son of Alemen The City of Argos in that Country was built by Alemen and his Sons Talih) des Or manufactors by Alemen and Acaramian Oracle in the Country was built by Alemen and his Sons Talih) des Oracle in authors by Alemen and Acaramian Oracle in the Country was built by Alemen and Manufactors in Sons To (h) asy & To augino Mundr ulitua annual wo on the mulder Argus Amphilocicum urbrab Alemaone ejufque liberis condita This is my first Argument Amphilocicum urbrab. chus the Son of Alemen was advised by the Oracle
(1) to go and live in that City of Argos This is my fecond Argument Paulanias (k) observes that the Posterity of Melampus reign d in Argos till Amphilochus, after the taking of Troy, retired into the Country, which was call d by his Name Amphilochia This is Argo: Amphilochiam and the adjacent Country Now there are fix (1) Generations from Melampus to this Amphilechus, and therefore the latter cannot be the Son of Amphiarans, as Paulanias affirms, but of Alcmaon And indeed Melampus was the Father of Antiphates, who was the Father of Oiles, who was the Father of Alcmaon, who was the Father of Alcmaon, who was the Father of Amphilechus lf you end with Amphilechus the lecond Son of Amphilaraus you will not find the fix Descents which Paula-" " mentions This is my third Argument

(C) Livy has taken this Man for another | He has taken the Son for the Father, in these words of the 4sth Book (m) Ind. Oropum Attica veneum est, ubi pro Deovates Amphilochus colitur, templumque vetufium est fontibus rivis que cirea amenum It is certain that the chief Deity of the Temple, which that Historian mentions, was Amphiaraus, he should therefore have said

Amphiarae filium. Id. ib. (m) Titus Livius lib. 45. p. m. 882.

ubi pre Des vates Amphiaraus, & non pas Amphilechus celitur Paulanias who made these things his partiticular Study, and had a good Genius to succeed therein, is much more credible than Livy Now he not only affirms, (n) that the Inhabitants of Orm pus built a Temple to the Southsayer Amphiaraus, but seems also to say, that Amphilechus had no share in the Altar that was divided into five Portions, each of which belong'd to some Hero, or God Indeed, we find in that partition the Children of Amphilochus, but not Amphilochus himself I consess the Words that the sequel of the Reasoning may make one be- of Paulani-lieve that Paulanias has not omitted him I could as should be lieve that Pausanias has not omitted him I could as should be willingly make a Correction in the Greek Text of rendred that Author, I would read, we read do: Aμφιλόχα, thus, & ex & filio Amphilocho, & non pas α, and παίδωι Αμφιλόχα, thus, & ex & filio Amphilocho, fee the Margin But after all, phiarai) this is no Proof that Amphilochus was the God of the Amphilochus is no Proof that Amphilochus was the God of the Amphilochus is no Proof that Amphilochus was the God of the Amphilochus is not a certain Greek Captain, when the Comer mentions in his Odyssey, for Homer (a) say only dyss lib that Alemaon and Amphilochus were the Sons of Amphilochus is not a certain Greek Captain, when the Alemaon and Amphilochus were the Sons of Amphilochus is not a certain Greek Captain, when the Alemaon and Amphilochus were the Sons of Amphilochus is not a certain Greek Captain, when the Amphilochus were the Sons of Amphilochus and of Eriphyle He should Fault has have had more regard for the Authority of Homer, been mendand no Author never so little acquainted with the ed in the Ancients, would have made use of an, it is said Dutch III. Ancients, would have made use of an, it is said Dutch III Amphilochus mention d by Plutarch is not a dif- Edition. ferent Man from him who is mention'd by Homer (q) PluIt was he whose was consulted at Mallus in tarch de Cilicia IV Himmon These was consulted at Mallus in tarch de carried the Oracle to one These fins of Solos This is to change a God into a Messenger V He has vindista, omitted a Circumstance which should have been pag 563 expressed, viz That this These fins led a good Life & see feq (r) Plinius

(E) One AMPHILOCHUS, whome Goose I 10 cap.
fell in Love with Rinn makes mention of this (r) 22 p. m.

fell in Love with Pliny makes mention of this, (r) 22 p m quin & fame amoru (anser) Egit dilette forme pueri 408 Olenii 'Tis thus that Father Hardouin has corrected (s) Situathis Passage In the other Editions it run thus, Argis ted in A-diletta forma pueri nomine Oleni So that two Faults Chaia near had crept into the Text of Pluny, one concerning Sicyon the place where the Goole was in love, and the other See Paula-concerning the name of the beloved Youth Thursmas 1 7 concerning the name of the beloved Youth

The nias 1 7

did not happen at Argos, but in the Town pag 230

Ægium He who was beloved by a Goole, was called (1) Ælia Amphilochus, and not Olenus, but because he was born nus Ha-Amphilochus, and not Olenus, out because he was well at Olenus he had the firname of Olenus given him A. Rome and Olenus at Olenus he had the firname of Olenus given him A. Rome and Olenus he had been the Hardaum to correct the first her hardaum to correct the fir Passage of Elian enabled Father Hardourn to correct the same of Analage of Passage of Analage of Passage of Analage of An Passage of Elian enabled Tather Hardouin to correct the Passage of Pliny (t) Ev Aryeiφ τ Αχαίας παρά 129 Ωλειία χώθ ονομα 'Αμφιλόχα negism γι Stock Father 5 Φ λεγει τετο Apud Egium Achaia oppidum and Hardouin amavit puerum Olonium gento, Amphilochum nomine cmendat Theophrassus hac narrat Athenaus relates the same 21... n lib Story, and quotes Clearchus and Theophrassus, but 10 Pliniz correct a Fault which has crept into his Book Read P 474 it might be faid that Father Hardouin is too bold in these words, (v) Neque emm Argu sed Agri propo Suyonemer res gesta narratur Don't we find in the Transland on of Athenaus, (n) apud Argives purum amavit and in the Greek, ev' Appelw de maid is negation of Alexus de Appelw de maid is negation (y) Apoll Hipponome the Daughter of Memaceus, was the state of Amphitypen Others make him the Lysidice the Daughter of Polane Lagrange who I have the Lagrange who I ha ther of amphitryon Others make him the fact m 97 Lysidice the Daughter of Pelops, and others say that (2) PauLaonome the Daughter of Gunens (2) was his Motan lib 8 ther Note, That he was Uncle to his Wite, for pag 248 his Sister Anexo (as) was the Mother of Alemens (as) Id

(B) Who afforded a Subjett to the Comick Poets] ibid

(n) Pauian lib z Pag 33 I could as should be

Editions

be (C) the innocent Cause of the Death of that Prince This opportunity was made a and use of to oblige a him to leave the Country of the Argivi, so that he went with therefore what is Creon King of Thebes, and received from him the Ceremonies of Expiation After which he prepared himself to make War against (D) the Teleboes, to supplement revenue the death of Alemena's Brothers, a Condition (E) which she required from so Morerevenge the death of Alemena's Brothers, a Condition (E) which the requir'd from the line that would be her Husband In order to engage Creon to follow him, he agreed to free him from a Fox that did him a great deal of Mischief Which he did by means of Cephalus, who lent him the Dog which Procris had brought from the Isle of Crete Amphitryon being assisted by several Nations, entred into the Territories of Pterelaus, and ravaged them, but the great success of this War was an effect of the Persidiousness of Cometha, the Daughter of Pterelaus This Maid fell in Love with Amphitryon, for whose sake she pluck'd off the Golden Locks from her Father's Head, on which his Life depended, that unhappy Father dy'd immediately, and Amphitryon took possession of all his Dominions He caus'd Cometha to be put to death, and return'd to Thebes loaded with Booty The first News wherewell was entertain'd, was that he had spent the last Night with Alemena, though he knew it to be a Lie At last it was known that Jupiter had play'd that Trick, by taking upon him the Shape of Amphitryon The latter without any Concern lay with Alemena, and made her an instance of Superfetation, which has been a puoted a thousand times She had already conceived Hercules, and he made her in Prolog Service another Son But to discern which was his Son, and which was Jupiter's, in Amend teonceive another Son But to discern which was his Son, and which was fupiter's, in Eneid he threw two Snakes on their Beds Hercules was not afraid of them, but the other fled 18 v 103 There needed no other Proof to know that Hercules was not the Son of Amphitryon It is & faid that Alemena put (F) an Ornament on her Head, which made the World know that Jupiter had trebled the length of the Night to carefs her the longer It is not true that Amphitryon taught Men (G) to put Water in their Wine allemena survived her y Husband The Ruins of their House were still to be seen at Thebes in the time of & Paulanius We must remember that Amphitryon was born at Argos Some Authors call him & King of Thebes

A N A C R E O N, a Greek Poet born at Tios (A) a Town of Ionia, flou-

sished when (B) Polycrates reignd in Samos, and when Hipparchus enjoyed at A-from 15 one of the best Comedies of Plantus in the Judgment of Mis le Fevre, who translated it into French with excellent Notes See the last Remarks in the Article Telebest Moliere composed a Comedy with the same Title, which is one of his best Pieces He has borrowed many things from Plautus, but gives them another turn And were those two Pieces to be compared one with another, in order to put an end to the Dispute, which has been rais do flate Years about the Superiority or Inferiority of the Actients, I believe Mr Perrault would soon carry the Cause There are many fine turns in the Amphitryon of Moliere, which years much exceed the leste of the Latin Amphility was a mich exceed the leste of the Latin Amphility was a mich exceed the leste of the Latin Amphility was a mich exceed the leste of the Latin Amphility was a mich exceed the leste of the Latin Amphility and the lest of the Latin Amphility and the lest of the Latin Amphility and the leste of the Latin Amphility and the latin and the lest of the Latin Amphility and the latin and t which very much exceed the Jests of the Latin Amphitryon How many things have been lest out of the Comedy of Plantus, which would not have succeeded on the Fench Stage? And how many fine Stroaks of a new Invention has not Moliere been obliged to insert in his Work, to procure it the Applauses which it has received? The bare comparing of the Prologues is sufficient to adjudge the Advantage to the Modern Author Lucian has afforded the Matter on which the Prologue of Moliere runs, but not the Thoughts A good Judge will never Lay upon this occasion,

Qui bene (bb) versendo, & eas describendo male, ex

Graces bonis Latinas fecit non bonas

I define the Reader not to take me wrong I grant not that the Amphiryon of Plautu is one of his befores, but also that it is most excellent in some Respects It seems it was still Acted (a) in the Respects It seem I wish we had the Amphitry on time or Arnovius I will we had the Lamphity of Archip-be the innocent Cause] The thing fell out thus (b) Cum bes una aufugeret in issam Amphitrye tum quam manibus force clavam gestabat immist, qua de bevus cornibus repulsain Electryonu caput resilient issum vita privavit In the Supplement to Mereri's Dictionary, instead of a Club there is a Stone

(D) To make War against the Teleboes] I Observe elsewhere (c), what People they were, and wherein Apolloderus, whom I follow, differs from the Scho-

Apolloderus, whom I tollow, differs from the Schollast on Apollonius

(In addition which she requir'd] We shall see in the to which I refer the Reader in the fore-gotten mark, that Alemena did chiefly require that the dath of her Father should be reveng'd

(F) Put an Ornament on her Head] This is very singular She should have been contented to see the Head of her Husband loaded with Horn-works and half Moons, which might have vy'd with (d) the half Moons, which might have vy'd with (d) the Towers of the Goddeis Cybele What made her wear three half Moons (e) on her Forehead A fine Trophy for poor Amphitryon' Would the have every one that look'd on her Head-dress to remember the triple Night which her Charms had produced Once again, her Husband could not be well pleas'd with such a Dress Moliere makes him approve the Reslections of his Servant Amphirryon's I riends being inform d that Jupiter was willing to make amends for the Injury, began to express to him their Joy for it. But Sefa interrupted them Mefficures, voulez-vous bien (uivre mon Sentiment? Ne vous embarquez nullement, Dans ces douceurs congratulantes

Dans ces douceurs congratulantes C'est un mauvau embarquement, Et d'une O'd' autre part, pour un tel compliment, Les phrases sont embarrassantes Le grand Dieu Jupiter nous fait beaucoup d'honneur, Et sa bonte saus doute est pour nous sans seconde, Il nous promet l'infaillible bonheur, D'une fortune en mille biens seconde,

Et chez nous il doit naitre un fils d'un tres-grand cour, Tout cela vale mieux du monde

Mass enfin coupons aux discours, Et que chacun chez soi doucement se retire Sur telles affaires toujours

Le meilleur est de ne vien dire Amphistyon tound this 10 reasonable, that by his Silence he gave full confent to it

(G) He taught Mento put Water in their Wine] If Athenaus(f) may be believ d, this was invented by another But because that other's Name was Amphiliyon, hib 4 cap a learned Critick has confounded him with the Hufband of Alemena I make no doubt that the like Mistakes are often the cause of the various Opini-Mistakes are often the cause of the various Opinions that are to be found among Authors Read Athenaus, and you'll say that Amphistyon, King of Athenaus, and you'll say that Amphistyon, King of Amphystrions, invented the mixing of Water with Wine Read Casaubon (g) and you'll ascribe this Secret to Amphistryon, King of Thebes From whence it will nake nake two Opinions Some, will they say, ascribe this invention in the Opinions Some, will they say, ascribe this invention of the Mistage and others to Amphistyon (A) Teos a Town of Ionia In the Atticle Teos I consute those, who say that Anacreon was a Native of Teium on the Euxine Sea

Terum on the Euxine Se

(B) Flourished when Polycrates, Oc] I have not randi vi-

Alemena fuperbit Hercule. tergemina crinena cucumdata luna Stat Ibeb 160 -88 Several Commentators are of Opinion, three Moons mere a Monurrent of the three Nights which Jupiter fpins with Ainphitry-on s U sfe 27 Pag (g) Quod phy of these quitur quo pertineat subobscurum est Spestar autem eo ne quis miretur quod postea dicit Homeium varia temperamenta vini habuisse nota Cur enim hoc miremur, cum or the core expansas inventor sit Amphitryo, quem ante Iliaca tempora Thebis regnasse nemo dubitat a Casaus in Athen pag 323,

Jupiter fi Amphitryo fuesit actus pronun-Ctar Pla Arno 7 psg 238
(b) Apoll
1 2 p 99
(c) In the Article
1 classification in maver Invehitur curru Phry-Kias turrita per urbes. kirgi!

rent Prol

(a) Ponit

I unuch

ı, p 2 ∠ Paufan ibid p 23

Plato in thems the Dominion which his Father Pifferatus had usurped Which cannot be Hippart doubted of, if we tead Plato and Herodotus, for we find in Plato that Hipparcho Elicatory of Country and Chamber of (D) Polycrates, whilst Audience was given to an Envoy of Oretes, Governor of Sardes. Cambys was then King of Persua This I observe, that all my Readers may more readily apprehend the Time in which Anacreon lived This Poet had a delicate Genius, and there are inexpressible Graces and Charms in his Poetry but he was too fond of Pleasures, and of such an amorous Temper, that he had occasion for Bovs (E) as well as Girls, and besides he rous Temper, that he had occasion for Boys (E) as well as Girls, and besides he was addicted to Drinking Doubtless this last Fault made him very remarkable Athens, fince his Statue that was there, represented him as a drunken Man Singing 6 If we had all his Poems, we should find in them many (F) Strokes of his voluptuous Humour, but the few Remains we have of them thew it suffi-

(h) Calvifius makes him Say that Anacreon flou-11/b'd 111 the 25th Olympiad I don't find Fufebrus s Chronicon, pub-Scaliger des Poetes Grecs (L)Herod 1 3 c 120 & seq

OBSER-

VAIL ONS

upon Ia-

nay ullus

I aver

us de Po-

P 22 Hofmin says

the same

TI more

tranfer bes bim like-

of 61

(b) See

Calvifius

(c) Petav

Ration

temporum, part 1 1 3 c 2 & part 21309

(a) Sec the end of the

Profa e

wisc, says 60 instead after him , be More-fet down the Olympiad, for it seems to me that the time ought not to be so exactly minded for a Man wholiv'd 85 Years, and those who go about to fix it, do very much differ from one another Eusch'ss (b) who pitched upon the 62d Olympiad, could not hinder Suidus from chusing rather the 32d and Ts-naquillus Faber (1) from pitching upon the 72d But I shall decide nothing as to Suidus for his Tad But I shall decide nothing as to Suidas, for his Text is certainly corrupted, and his Translators are unpardonable, for having suffer'd the horid Blunder, that is found in his Book, to passuncorrected It is said there that Anacreon lived in the time of Polyerates, Tyiant of Samos, in the 52d Olympiad, or according to others, in the time of Cyrus and Cambyses in the 25th Olympiad. It appears from Herodotus (k) that Polyerates and Cambyses died much about the fame time Institute makes them Contemporaties under the 63d Olympiad, and he is in the right And therefore it is not true that we ought to reck-And therefore it is not true that we ought to reckon 27 Olympiads between them two, and bring back Cyrus from the 55th Olympiad, wherein the Lpoch of the Persian Monaichy is generally fix'd, to the 25th Possius (a) makes suidas say, that Anacrion lived in the 61st or 62d Olympiad, which is not to be found in the printed Suidas As for Tanaquillus Faler, who pitched upon the 72d Olympiad for the exact time of the Life of Anacreon, it is eatier to constitute his Arguments, than so the wither our fier to confute his Arguments, than to shew that our Poet did not live in that time That Critick argues thus Anacreon came to Athens in the time of Hip-parchies The latter had a Brother whose Name was Hippias, who follicited Darius the Son of Hylaipes to Informale the Expedition which he made against the Atherians Inviteing so, tays he, you see exactly the year 489 before the SUS CHRIST, and the 72d Olympiad I contess that the Expedition of the Perfians against the Athensans spoken of here, in which Darius was not in Person, although the Expression of Fanaquillus Faber implies that he was, belongs to (b) the 72d Olympiad and the Year 489 before JES US CHRIST But we must know that this pretended Lapedition of Darius was not made till Twenty Years after (c) Hippias was expelled out of Athens, and that he was expelled from thence the fourth Year after the death of Hypparchus, and the 18th after the death of Pififi atus, from whence it must be concluded that H pparchus had reign'd 14 or 15 Years It is therefore very possible, 1 I hat he should have caused inacreon to come to Athens 30 Years before Daons of Hippias against the Athenians 2 That the death of Anacreon should have happened some Years before the 72d Olympiad, and the 489th Year before Jesus Christ, which is so set down by Tanaquillus Faber as the time in which anacron liv'd Here follows another Remark He wrote his Lives Here follows another Remark He wrote his Lives of the Greek Poets (d) in 1659 Now in his Anatreon Printed in 1660 he makes this Poet flourish 555 Years, of thereabouts before JESUS CHRIST, and he agrees with Suidas that Anatreon might have lived in the 52d Olympiad, Since, 133 she, he liv'd very familiarly with Polycrate, 133 she, he fame time that Amasis reign'd in Italia. The Carriel has been therefore a little too. This Critick has been therefore a little too wavering in his Chronology about Anacreen It can never be faid, without a Mistake, of a Man who might have sources of the said Olympiad, that he liv'd precitely in the 72d Olympiad Besides, it is a wrong way of proving that a Man might have liv'd in the 5 d Olympiad, because he was a good Friend to Polymates, who was contemporary with Amasis For the latter dyed (e) at the end of the 64th Quypiad, and the sirst, two Years after

(C) Plipparchus caus d'Anacreon to come] I don't pretend to Criticise upon Tanaguillus Faber for what he says, That Hipparchus the Son of (f) Pisistratus Sent a Ship of 50 Oars to Teos with very civil and oblisint a Ship of 50 Oars to Teos with very civil and obliging Letters, wherein he invited Anacteon to cross the Ægean Sea and make a Voyage to Athens, assuring him that he would find there some Admirers of his Virtue, who were good Judges of the value of noble Composures, and of the Mirit of excellent Persons I will not criticate these words under pretence that I find nothing in Plate but this, he (g) caused Anacreon, born at Teos, to come to our city, by sending a Visit of 50 Oars for him, nor under pretence (h) that Ælian vies the same general Expression For besides that Faber might have learn'd in Books unknown to me, the Patticuhave learn'd in Books unknown to me, the Particulars which he relates, the Rules of Probability will allow that Hipparchus did write or cause obliging Letters to be written to Anacreon and then one may suppose what has been supposed by that Critick, I fay, it may be supposed with the less scruple, because a Narrative would be most times jejune and ungrateful, if the Originals were literally translated. But I confess I connot forbear blaming him when he alledges Plate for his Author

(D) In the Chamber of Polycrates] This is all the account Herodotus gives us of it, nevertheless I am very fure that Tanaquillus Faber might fay, as he did, That Polycrates I3 and of Samos, generally kept Anacicon near his Person, and would have him bear a share both in his Assaurant of Pleasures. I or it being certain on the one hand, that Anacreon (1) was cherished by Polycrates, and on the other that the chief Business of that Turnet was (1) each to mind here. finess of that Tyrant was (1) only to mind his Diversions, there is no great hazard in believing all (k) Athen that I have cited out of Faber 2 ou know it (adds he) for tus not Two Years ago since Herodotus was read at your Fathers I able This to me does not seem exact, fince there is nothing in Merodotus from whence we may reasonably infer that Anacreon had any hind in the Affairs of Polycrates I am forry that some Men of good Parts and great Learning, should believe, without examining the Matter, that Plate and Herodotas have faid all that this learned Criticl has father d upon them. They should have distinguished the Text from the Flourishes and Glosles of the Author who quotes it

(E) For Boys as well as Girls Besides Ba h, llus and Smed is, of whom more by and by (1), he was in love with the fair Gleobulus. He had like to have kill'd him in the Arms of his Nuise, by rudely justling her as he reel'd one day through the Streets when he was in his Cups, and not content with that, he abused the Child with railing I anguage (m) The Nurse wished that he might one day praise him more than he had chused him then Her Wishes were fulfill'd, for Cleobilus grew to be a beautiful Youth, Anacreon fell in love with him, and wrote several Verses (n) in his Commendation. Here was a prestry fort of Punishment and Here was a pretty fort of Punishment, and a Nurse finely reveng d'

(F) Many Strokes of his voluptuous Humour] See here some Passages among others, wherein mention is made of what is contain'd in his Poems "Anox G 18 made of what is contain'd in his Poems "Ατοπ Θο 'Ανακρεων ο πάσαν αυτά η ποίπου ζαρτητικ μεθτε Incptus Anacreon qui totam Suam pocsin ebrictatu mentione contexuerit (ο) 'Ανακρεων ο Τηί Θαρφτ Θυμαπά Σαπφω την Λοσδιαν τη πολλά ων έχει εν ερωτικα ποίησας Anacreon Teius qui primus post Lesham Sapp'no magnam carminum suorum partem in exprimendus amonibus consumpsis (p) Let us hear what Horace tays of the Amours of Anacreon,

Non (q) aliter Samio dicunt arsisse Bathyllo Anacreonta Teium,

Anacreonta Teium,

Qui persape cava testudine sevet amorem See also Cicero in the 4th Book of his Institutora Quefliones, and Suides (G) Where-

(f)More:i and Hofman ∫ay Philostratus

(ς) Έπ' 'Ανακρεο -100 Tei Inκόι το εον 561X4 CX6. MOSV CIS וואפר וווז Plat in Hippaicho (b)Ælian Var Hift 19 C 2 (1) Paufamias / i pag 2 Ælian ubi fupra, 19 c Strabo I 1 12 C 9.

he (1) In the Remark

> (m) Maximus Tyr Orat 11 Circa init (n) Dion Chrysoftom ment lun forme of (a) Athen 1 10 C 7 pag 429 nias, 1 i pag 23 (9) Horat Lyod 14-

(4) See

find his violent Passion (G) for Batbyllus; and if, because that fort of Love was not then branded with Infamy, as it is among Christians, he does not be deserve to be so much abhorred as a Christian Poet would be in the like Case, the Age treen treen the liv'd in ought to suffer for him I mean, That the Indignation of the Readers Mrs leFe-ought to fall on those Times, when it does not vent it self on every private Man. A- vice his nacreon, notwithstanding his Debaucheries, lived 85 Years, if we believe Lucian, who desinot alphaces him among the long Livers. It is said that he supported himself in that great mays agree Age by eating dry Grapes, and that a Grape Stone which stuck in his Throat choakmith his ed him Valerius Maximus (H) ascribes such an easy Death to a particular Favour of See her the Gods I know not any Person that has either noted the Time or Place (I) of See her Prehis Death, or decided what (K) was his Father's Name There are several Translatinacreon

One (I) of his Poems. But some Criticle will not allow that all the Verson translations. ons (L) of his Poems But some Criticks will not allow that all the Verses, which are t at this day extant under his Name, are * his They who have mention'd his Love to Sappho, have not consulted Chronology, as I will make it appear when I come to speak of that Woman It is said that a Present of Money, which Polycrates sent him, troubled have so much that he could not sleep for several Nights, and that he return'd it to the Prince This is not very likely, although Stobaus has given WHE-us Aristotle for his Voucher. Gyraldus † Quotes only the Greek Collections of Ar-Anacreon Jenius for it

ANAXA- great birth

(r) Ælian var Hift

1964 (a) Minzap TIS new diαβαλλέ τω ಹ್ಲಾಂ ನೀಪಿಗ Tov Thior, wit of axoraser Grae λεγέτω Nema gat Tero Poetx,neq, eumin-

Athenœus l 12 c 9 (c) Tetw ow Gra-σεν 'Aναxpeou o μικλοποιδς, Ki on Ki जावीत्व भ 780611776 जार n ns हिने י שנג מני-

(d)Vos de Poet Grac

745.22 Marker 1 9 12 Seealfo Pliny 1 7 (f) Herod lib 1 lib 1 c 168 (E) Strabo

14

(G) His violent Paffion for Bathyllus] This Example confounds the excessive Charity of Alian (r), who cannot suffer any ill Suspicions should be entertained of the Love of our Poet for Smerdies one of Polycrates's Minions What is most to be admir'd is, that Elian goes upon this general Reason, that (a) none ought to accuse Anacreon of Incontinency and Intemperance Polycrates became very jealous when he perceived that Poet had infinuated himself very far into the Favour of Sme dias by the flattering Verses he made on him And his Jealousy went to far that he caus'd that Boy to be (b) shaved The Rival apprehending very well the meaning of this, made use of his Subtilty, and wrote Verses upon it, made the of his Subtrity, and wide Veries upon hymnim part wherein he took all care not to displease Polycrates

Deos have the who remember these 4 Verses of Petronius, calumniam impinam imp Arisq, attritis rites adulta pilis will conclude from the Action of Polycrates, that he rantiwaut fee him unfaithul Strabo observes (c) that Anamicontinentiwarnentiwarpuat conclude, that 'tis no wonder he was beloved by him Polycrati, says he, carms, fust Quod mirum?

(b) Id ib cum veribus sus cum celebraret? It should he quid mirum, cum versibus sus eum celebraret? We shall see Athenwus in the Article Ba by llus, how Tanaquillus Falar him had rather his Minion should lose his Beauty, than in the Article Ba hyllus, how Tanaquillus Faber has justified the Amours of Anacreon

(H) Valerius Maximus ascribes] His Words are these (e) Gui quidem (Pindaro) crediderim eadem benignitate Deoi um & tantum poetica sacundia, & iam placidum vita sinem attributum, sicut Anacreenti quoq, quimos statum humana vita modum supergresso, quem 10... rassa succo tenues & exiles virtum reliquias soventem units grant pertinacior in aridis faucibus humor ab-

(1) The Time or Place of his Death] It is true that Suidas lays, that Anacreon being forc'd from Tees by TRAINCHAS

TRAINCHAS the after Anacien had lett Ainens, whither hipparam had caus'd him to come, he ratired to Tees, which makes it probable that he retired also to Tees after the Ruin of Polycrates, and that Hipparchus fent him thither the Vessel of Fifty Oars, as Tanaquillus Faber asserts. We need not wonder that Anacress made afferts We need not wonder that Anderson made choice of Abders for his Retirement, it being a Town which those of Tess (f) had built after they had left their Houses, when Harpagus the Lieutenant of Gyrus made himself Master of Issues (g) Strabe does not feeak of their Transingration in that manner, but has being able to endure the Insults of the left of the does not feeak of their Transingration in that manner, but has being able to endure the Insults of the left of the does not mention'd by Heredors, for Harpagus invaded Issues in the 50th Olympiad, at which time Anacrees made some Figure in the World

(K) Or decided what was his Father's Name 1

(E) Or decided what was his Father's Name]

Suidas mentions Four Persons who have been accounted the Father of Anacreon If it be a Diminutive of the Honour paid to Homer, who was faid to have been born in several different Towns, it must be confess d to be but a very imall one, for in short, this shews the Obscurity of his Family rather than any thing else. For if his Father had been a noted Man in Tees, Authors would not so easily have confounded him with others Nevertheless I perceive that Mrs le Feure Quotes Plato to prove, That Anacreon was a Man of great Birth and related to Solon, whose Father was of the Ancient Family of King Codrus, and his Mother Cousin German to the Mother of She pretends to prove this by a Passage in the Dialogue of Temperan e, where the has found that the Father of Charmindas deicended from the Ancient Family of Dropidas, and of Anacreon, and Solon, which had been always distinguished from others by their Beauty, Virtue and Riches Now being perduided as I am of the Learning of this I ady, I and my talk obliged to believe one of these three things my felf obliged to believe one of these three things Lither that her Plate is very different from mine, Or that she has not taken this Passage from the Original, or that she has too closely tollow'd the ill sage is ac-I ranslation of Serranus I find only in my Plate that cording to the Paternal Family of Chermidas had been praised the rancf by (1) Solon, Anacron and feveral other Poets, as Pdit 16: being remarkably endowed with the Advantages of Serranus Beauty, Virtue, & I omit faying, that one might Fdit difbe descended on the Father's side from Solon and A-fers from nacreen, without either of them being related to it only as each other. Lach Person has two sorts of Paternal to the word. Relations, the Family of his Father's Father, and symptogof his I ather's Mother

(L) There are several Translations of his Poems]
I'll mention those which Mis le Fewre takes notice of The Reader will be well pleas d to know the Lianctort Judgment she passes on them It is a long time since, Printers lays the, tha Anacreon has been translated into I rench by Remi Bellcau, but besides that his Translation is in our n-Fense, and consequently very unsaithful, it is in such ola stead of Language that it is impossible to find any Peasure in excess it It has been also translated into Italian Some Years since, Masside but the Translator has no more kept to the Greek than Remi Belleau, nevertheless his Translation its pleasant enough, tho it be sometimes very different from the sense of Anacreon, and the betakes at every moment le great a Liberty, that it ought rather to be accounted a Para-nus stransphrase than a Translation. The Latin Varion, part flation is whereof was done by Honry Stophens, and the other much betby Elias Andreas, which is generally used, seems to me ter, the to be the best, jet it is not without Faults, and being also not perhaps in Verse it is often very obscure, and says in several so good as Places what Anacreon never thoughs of This is this that what Mrs le Feure says in the Pretace of her macre-follows en, publish'd at Paris in the Fretace of her Ametre Julius's en, publish'd at Paris in the Year 168s, with the here Greek Text on one side, and the Translation in Nam que Franch Prose on the other, and some Remarks on paternum each Poem of Anacrem I will add something to vobis gethe Passage which I have Quoted The Translation nus est,

Of domus

Critic fili Dropidz, tum ab Anacreonte, tum à Solone, multilq, alus Poetis laudata nobis tradita fuit ut præcellens forma, virtute,ceterisq, que fœlicitatis nomine veniant Serranus renders 15-1801 Nam paternum quidem genus quod cum istoCritiacom-mune habes à Dropida & Anacreonte & Solone & alus multis ce-leberrimis Poetis deducitur, & vobis traditur veluti & robore & virtute & alio omni genere sælicitatis instructissimum

with him

Anacreon wasamanof (1) "H 7E של את אנים של UMP CINIZ n keitib 18 120ms x) 2000 'A-1 axproves K LOTO Ea-New O Ky W dani 770λλών วาบเทาเอีเ. μιασμέρη mapaledo-7 au nuis ws Siape-682x /4y-Act TE Y a peli y' Th when difacuo: ia MUDDATEIN mbich by a Fault ofthe that is in Serranus Faition But Ficis > nus sTranmuch betaEx Diog Laert lib 2 n 6, 7 BId ibn 10 2 Clem Alexandrin Stromat lib 2 P 416 Lacit 1b n 7 e Plutar in Themiffocl Pag 112 ∠Id in Pericle, p n See the Remark (of the Arend & See the RemarksA and B of the fame Article ANAXGORAS, one of the most illustrious Philosophers of Antiquity, was born at Clazomene in Ionia, about the 70th Olympiad, and was a Disciple of Anakimenes. His Noble Extraction, his Riches, and the Generosity which moved him to refign (A) all his Patrimony to his Relations, made him very confiderable. He applied himself wholly to the Search of Nature, without concerning himself with any publick Affairs, which was the Reason why he was ask'd if he had no Care at all of his Country His answer was admirable, and a Christian Philosopher could have given no better, Yes, fild he, stretching his hands towards Heaven, I bave an extraordinary care of my Country a He was ask'd another time, wherefore are you Born, he made answer, To contemplate the Sun, the Moon, and the Heavens C. Accordingly he placed the Supreme Good, or the End of Human Life, in Contemplation, and the freedom of Life which it produces He was but 20 Years of Age when he began to & Philosophize in Athens. Some Authors say he was the first that removed the Philosophical School thither, which had flourished in Ioma ever since its Founder Thales, which I shall examine in the Article of the Philosopher Archelaus It is certain he had several Noted Disciples in Athens, and particularly Pericles and Euripides, and some add Themistocles and Socrates But Chronology is against them as to Themsfocles There is scarce any thing that can give a greater Notion of his Ability, than the Nature of the Progress which Pericles made under him, for he inspired & him with that Grave and Majestical Way which enabled him to govern the Republick, he qualified him " for that fublime and victorious Eloquence which made him so powerful, and he taught him so to fear the Gods with-It has

(k) Colomies Opulcul p m 108 (1) See the lct, Lnfans celebres,pag 359

(a):See the Nouvelles de la Republique des Lettres, for November, 1684. Art 2

of Remi Balleau appeared in the Year 1556 been reported that Daurat was the true Author of the Translation which Henry Stephens ascribed to himfelt Colomies (k) says that Isaac I office told him, That he had an Anacreon in his Possession in which Scaliger had noted with his own hand, that Henry Stephens was not the Author of the Latin Version of the Odes of that Poet, but John Dorat The Italian Franslation which Mrs le Feure mentions, is that of Bartholomew Corsini (1), which Mr Regnier des Marais caus'd to be printed at Paris in the Year 1672 I do not wonder that Mrs leFeure does not mention the Translation of Ana-(1) See the creen done by a Boy, who is fince become very famous Acta Lru-under the Name of Abbot OF LATRAPPE, dit 1693 for I don't believe that Translation was every many things a fine Bail-but it He knew so well (says he (m) speaking of the control of the line of the ArmandBouthillier deRance) how to improve under his Masters by his Assiduity and Application to his Studies, that at ten Years of Age he understood the Greek Poets very well, and Homer above all the rest, and he had scarce attain'd to the Age of 12 or 13 Years when he published a new Edition of the Poems of Anacreon with Greek Remarks, which were admired by the Learned This Edition appear'd in 8vo at Paris in the Year 1639 And time has not in the least diminished to this day the Astonishment, which those Remarks give still daily to those who compare them swith the tender Age the Author was then of I say nothing of a French Translation which he made then of the same Poet, tho it pleased very much those who at that time were perfecting our Lan-guage, and show a that he could write as politely in French, as he under flood Greek and Latin Mr Bailest does not mention the Place nor the Year of the Impression, and does not io much as fay in general, that this Work has been published; which makes me believe that it has only appeared in Manuscript I am the more confirm d in this Thought, when I fee that Mr de confirm d in this Thought, when I fee that Mr de Longe-Pierre says not a word of this Translation, tho he takes notice that Henry Stephens render'd the same Odes of Anacreon into French Verse, which he afterwards then'd site Latin. He observes also that Ronfard has translated many of them, he says this in the Preside to his Version. His Work was publish'd in the Year 1684. The (a) Greek is on one side, and the Poemb Translation in Verse on the others. And there are several Critical Observations at the End of each Piece. Mr Regner des Marsis perpetual Secretary to the Preside Academy, gave in the Year 1693 a Version of Anacress in Italian Verse, with Regnarks upon the same with Remarks upon the same

Here follows a very fine Addition, which I take word for word out of a Letter that I have received from Mr de la Mounte "No care has been taken hitherto to collect and examine several cu-"rious Particulars concerning the Poems which are extract of Anacrem It has been faid that Hen"ry Stephens first brought them to light, but where, or how, few Persons know He found the Ode or how, few Perions know are round the sale

Mayons at paralles, on the cover of an old Book, as we read in Villerius, who inferted it in the sych Chapter of the actingook of his Paria La different Tail then, nothing had been feet of Autoress, but what Anim Gelling and the Animalians

Mayons and the Animalians and the Animalians. " gis had prefered By chance Two Manuferipes

" containing feveral Pieces of that Poet, fell into the hands of the same Henry Stephens He was oblig'd for the first to John Clement an Englishman, Servant to Sir Thomas Moon, and after a long Journey he brought the Second from Italy into Journey he brought the Second from Italy into France And having carefully compared the one with the other, he form'd the Edition which he publish'd the first time at Paris in the Year 1554. This Book met with a Reception attended with different Opinions Most of the Learned look & upon it as a happy Discovery, some mistrusted it Robertel in his Dissertation concerning the Art of Correcting Books, did not acknowledge it to be genuine Fulvius Ut finus inferted no other Poems of Anacreon in his Edition of the Greek Lyticks, but those which he found mention'd by the Ancient Authors, as suspecting the rest It were to be wished that the two Manuscripts before meation'd, and which are the only ones that have been feen, had been preferv'd But Hemy Scephens being unhappily fallen into a kind of Distraction about the latter end of his days, suffered them to perish with several others which he communicated to no body, not so much as to his Son-in-Law Ca-saubon. He translated into French Verse the same Odes of Anacreon, which he rendred into Latin Verse. For Anacreon of the Son in the Branch Course of the Son in Verse Eas Anacreontis Odas, fays he in the Preface to his Annotations upon Anacreon of the Pares Edition in 410, 1554 quas sam ante Gallicas secram, in aliquot amicorum graciam Latine quoque aggressus sum vertere What has been reported of Isac Vossus, who said that he had had an analyse. on in his Possession, wherein Scaliger had sitted with his own hand that John Dorat was the Author of the Latin Translation of that Poet, aferibed to Henry Stephens, ought not to be minded Either Vossius was mistaken, or Scaligir was misin-form'd Henry Stephens, who was no Plagiary was very capable of making such a Version as that, and if it had been Dorats, he would not have fail'd to have laid a claim to it. It was from this that Remi Belleau made his in French Verke, which perhaps appear'd so fine to Henry Stephens, that after he had read at he durst not publish that which he had made in the same Language Richard Removes sy, Master of the Singing Boys of the Holy Chappel at Dijen, made, according to the Testic Chappel at Dijen, made, according to the Testion mony of Antony du Verdier, page 34. of his Bibliotheque, another French Version of the Odes of Anscreen. In which probably du Verdier is missay, which Renvessy set to Musick in the Year 1558, or 1559 which du Verdier himself gives us sufficiently to understand, when an the Page 1222 he quotes this Renvessy only as a Musician. As for the French Version of the same Poet made by Mr. Beathillier de Rense at the Age of 12 or 13 Years, it was never Printed; and it is very likely that if there were any such, it was in Prose, though those who made mention of it did not pusitively for " fo

(d) To refer all his Patrimony to his Relations Before the Gotpel had taught Men to renounce the World and its Riches, in order to make a swift Propress sowards Petitedian, four Philosophers

"

out Superstition. Add to this that his Counsels thelped him very much * to bear the * See the heavy Burthen of the Government He signalized himself by the Novelty and Singu-Letter (f) larity of his Doctrine. He faid that there are Hills, Valleys and Inhabitants in the inthis Moon Page. Moon, were sensible of this, and parted with their earthly Goods to attend more freely on the Study of Wisdom, and the fearch of Truth They believ'd that the Cares of a Family, and an Inheritance, were Clogs that hinder'd our Advancement towards the End which is most worthy of our Esteem Anaxagers and Democritus (b) were of this Opinion Quid (b) SeeDemocritus, Remark B Remark B

(c) Cicero

Tusculan

lib 5 circa finem

(d) Valer

Max lib

8 c 7 n

World that Anaxagoras thought himself indebted for his Learning of to use his own Expression, for 8 c 7 n 6 in ext world that Anaxagoras thought himself indebted for his Learning, or to use his own Expression, for his Salvation Quali porrossiudio Anaxagoram stagrafse credimus? Qui cum è diutina preregrinatione patriam repetiisse, possessiones que descreas vidisses, non essem, inquit, ego salvus, nisi ista periissent (d) Socrates making use of his usual Irony, shews that the Sophists of his time were wifer than Anaxagoras, for instead of leaving their Patrimony as he had done they are (e) Plato in Hippy majore, (and not mPhædro, at Mena. gius quotes of leaving their Patrimony as he had done, they endeavour'd might and main to enrich themselves, being convinced of the Folly of the old Times and persuaded that the chief Wisdom consists in promoting one's own Interest, that is to say, in the Art of setting a great deal of Money (e) Tuvavito, the Austaist patrimonian to enrich themselves, being convinced of the Folly of the old Times and persuaded that the chief Wissom consists in promoting one's own Interest, that is to say, in the Art of setting a great deal of Money (e) Tuvavito, the Art of setting and the Art of setting a great deal of Money (e) Tuvavito, the Art of setting and the Art of leaving their Patrimony as he had done, they engius quotes losophatus est de vic cateris illorum temporum sapientibus alia quadam hujusmodi tradunt Quapropeter optimam hanc actulisse conjecturam videris, quad sapientes nostrisunt in primis shi ipsi sapere oportere Hujus autem hac est summa, ut argentum plurimum acquiratur. This puts me in Mind of a Distinction which I have read in Aristotle. We find, says he (f), that Anaxagoras and Thales, and such like Philosophers have been (g) wise Men, but not prudent, because they were ignorant of what was necessary for them. They knew Abstruce, Losty, Admirable and Divine Things, but they were of no vie to them, for they did not mind the good Things and Advantages of this Life. This is the Sense of a great many Men, they condemn all the Employments that are not proper to de ue cateris illorum temporum sapientibus autois Sapientes quidem esse dicunt, prudentes vero nequaquam cum Videant eos quæ fibi utilia fint ignoraie Idib demn all the Employments that are not proper to (b) See the make one's Fortune Whatever does not (b) treat de pane lucrando, or is of no use wes rai a piras, Project of this Dittithat is, to make the Pot boil, as it is now express'd, feems to them vain and superfluous Anaxagerar had quite another Notion He lest his Lands to onary, Paragraph VIII the Mercy of the Cartel, that he might apply him-felf wholly to Astronomy and Physick (1) Philo, Plutarch (k), Philostratus (l), Himerius (m), and Sui-dus speak of it Democritus and Crates are seldom (1) Philo de vita contempl (k) I quote bis Words das speak of it Democritus and Crates are seldom forgot upon this occasion The Fathers of the Church (n) do also mention it But St Chrysestem

(e) declares, that the Conduct of those Philosophers in the Remark B of the Article was a meer folly, and not a contempt of Riches
The Devil, fays he, has always studied to cry down and defame God's Creatures, because Men have not Democriand defame God's Creatures, because Men have not been able to make a right use of Money This is paying the Heathens in their own Coin, (a) who accounted all the Christians, who parted with what they had, and retir'd into Solitudes, Fools and Madmen Thus things are praised or blamed according to the different Prejudices of Men I observe that Analysius Turness blamed the (h) Condust of (4) Philo& In Vita Apollon 1 1 c 8 (m) H₁mer apud Phot p that Apollonius Tyanew blamed the (b) Conduct of Anaxagoras, as the Action of a Philosopher who minded more the Advantage of Beasts than that of Men This Censure looks like a Cavil, for to say nothing of the Profit which publick Pastures bring to Men, is it not plain that Anaxagoras had reason to 1088 (n) Lat 1 f c 12 Origenes contra Celfum, lib 2 (e) See his 7th Hemily upon the Alls of the Apoliles, p 67 Edit Paril 1636. (a) See Rutilius Numatianus in his Itinerarium (b) Philostr in vita Apollonii, l i c 8 This Passage has been ill rendred by Khinuccinus, Azebat Clazomenium Anaxagoram gregibus & camelorum armentis nutriendis intentum personum gratia massis much hastigues philosophesium elle.

corum gratia megis quam hominum philosophatum esse.

think that those Lands which he forfook would be cultivated by his Relations? The four Verses in the Life of Virgil, which begin thus, Sie vos non wobis, contain a great Truth, which is, that the Care that is taken of Sheep, Oxen, Or redounds to the good is taken of Sheep, Oxen, Ore redounds to the good of Men Eusebius has been more just to Anaxagoras than Apollonius Tyaneus, for he mentions the forfaking of his Lands as a greater Proof of an Application to Philosophy, than that of all the other Philosophies had yet been 4 Lon yev w. deg & To puddish word in the word with the other Philosophies had yet been 4 Lon yev w. deg & To puddish word in the word with the control of the word of the the word with the feature of the seriores omnes quantum is Physiological studios subgraphs. periores omnes quantum is Physiologia studio superarit, periores omnes quantum is Physiologia studio superarir, vel an eo intelligi, quod agros ipse suomagnisudine pastionis uberrimos esus amore reliquerit (c). I inske use of the vulgar Version, which is that of so an is V gerus, () Eusebut I observe that it is faulty as to undo so to not contain proper which ought to be rendred argos outsins depastendos, Lvang lib. 14

and not agree magnitudine passionis ubirrimos lib 14
There remains still behind some Observations to Cap 14 be made on the Uninterestedneis of Ananagoras He was a Man who would have very well discharged the Was a Man who would have very well discharged the Duties of Publick Offices, for his Counsels were not only very serviceable to him who governed the Athenians, but also (a) necessary, and yet he never cared to meddle with the Governy and (redit of Perioles to raise himself, but confin'd himself to Philosophical Speculations, being altogether free from an Ambition which many other learned Men are incapable to subdue, even when they have not like him an insight into Matwhen they have not like him an inlight into Marwhen they have not like him an inlight into Matters of State, nor the Protestion and Favour of those in Authority I don't question but that Cicero had particularly an Eye upon him, when speaking of several great Men, he says, That it was a great Missortune to the Commonwealths, that they had wholly applied themselves to the Study of Nature His words are the Edden with an an inlight into Matwholly applied themselves to the Study of Nature His words are, (c) Fadem autem alis prudentia, sed (c) Ciceto consisto ad vira studia dispari, quietem, atque otium sed de Oraquuti, ut Pythagoras, Democritus, Anaxagoras, a retore lib gendis civitatibus totos se ad cognitionem rerum transsum 3 (and not lerunt, qua vita propter tranquillitatem, & propter ipsilib 2 as us seemita suavitatem, and nibil est hominibus sucundia Mr Meu: scientia suavitatem, qua nibil est hominibus sucundia Mr Me-us, plures quam utile suit rebus publicis, delettavit nage He not only slighted all Honours, but did not so queces it, He not only flighted all Honours, but did not fo quotes is, much as take care to procure to himself what was ubi supra necessary for his Subsistence. He did not mind n 7) fol how easy it was for him to heap up Riches by the Credit and Friendship of Pericles, nor did he consider the Necessities of Old Age. His Enquiries into the Secrets of Nature swallow d up all his other Passions. He found at last that his Contempt of Riches should not have been so great, for in his Old Age he was reduc'd to want, and in this Necessities. Old Age he was reduc'd to want, and in this Necelfity he took up a calm Resolution to starve himself to death, but Perules having notice of it, preventto death, but Perceles having notice of it, prevented it Let us hear Plutarch, Perceles, lays he (f), assisted several poor People with his Riches, and among others Anaxagoras Of whom it is said, That Pericles being so buly that he had no leisure to think of him, he found himself for an his Head, laid himself down with a Resolution to starve with Hunger Pericles being inform a thereof, went immediately to him in great Fear, and begg'd of him most earnestly, that he would alter his Mind and live, bemoaning himself that he should life such a feathful and wise Counselder in the Occurrences of Publick Assairs Then Anaxagoras uncovered his Face, fuch a festiful and wife Counjeuer in the Occurrences of Publick Affairs Then Anaxagoras uncovered his Face, and sold him, Pericles, those who want the Light of a Lamp, put cylinto it to keep it up Here is another Proof of the little Ambition of this Philosopher, reip general him to his Memory all the Ho they offered him to pay to his Memory all the Horiente they offered him to pay to his Memory all the Ho nours he could desire, but he rejected that Favour, and desired nothing but, that the Day of his Death might be a Play-day for Scholars (g) Ta's didoctory at ages nuite, nth man the numerous entire of a no all actions the transfer of made, agreem males of good and a no all actions pelularus ut en qua decessififes e vivis die, puerit scholarum macatio & discendi concederetur From whence it appears, that he wish'd his Death might be a Subject of Pleasure to many, and not an Afficient as the asset of the subject of Pleasure to many, and not an Afficient as the asset of every thing that flatters most the Vanity of Mortalis.

tarch in Vita Peris clis p

cle

a Diog Laert ibid p & Cicero, Acad quæst 12 fol m 207 C Lactant lib 5 c 3 o Diog Laert ib I 2 JId ib n 9 2 See 1/e Remark G

Moon; and that the Sun was (B) a flery Mais of Matter, and bight the Relations refus a He said 6 that the Snow is black, and y that in the beginning Antimals were form'd out of the Earth, and a warm Moustness, and that askerwards they engendred each other, the Males on the right side, and the Females on the lest of He admitted as many forts of Principles as compound Bodies, for he supposed that each Kind of Body was made up of many similar Particles, which he call'd Homocomeriae, by reason of that conformity. But this engaged him to acknowledge a thing that a perplex'd his System, which is, that the Seeds, or Principles of all Species are found in each Body. Morari has misrepresented (C) that Opinion, though Lucretius has very well expounded, and solidly consuted it. This will give us an occasion of making some Resections on this Doctrine. That which will give us an occasion of making some Reslections on this Doctrine. That which was most considerable in his System was, that whereas till then they had Reasoned

(b)Ælian Var Hist 1 4 C 14 Kuhnius's Notes upon that Pal-Sage of (k) Alius igitur fuerit ab Anaxagora nostro &c Menag in Laert 1 2 n 7 He draws this consiquence from A naxagoran's refu-fing to have a hand in the Governmen (/) Ovidius, Fastor lib r pag

(1) Diog

(b) II Ca-

faub in hunc locum Diog

I aertu

noph

memora-

bil lib 4

(e) Tdv

ridov on-

(L) In the

Remark I (d) Xe-

I shall make two short Resections on the Passage I shall make two short Resections on the Passage of the Life of Pericles. It informs us that Anaxagosas was very well skill'd in Politicks, though he only made Profession of speculative Philosophy Why then should we not believe that he composed the Treatise de Regue, out of which Elian (b) alledges a Sentence of Granting it to be the Why of ledges a Sentence of Granting it to be the Work of another Anausgoras, as (1) Meursus and Menage suppose it to be, yet the Reason which (k) Menage gives for it is not solid. He himself would have been sensible of it, if he had thought of that Passage in Plutarch. This is my first Resection. The other is, that the Old Age ascribed to our Philosopher, does not agree with those who say that he came to Athens at Twenty Years of Age, and that he lived there Thirty Years. He must then have received Pericles's Visit, mentioned by Plutarch, before he was above Fifty Years of Age. I shall conclude with a Passage in Ovid. which says that the first Astroabove Fifty Years of Age I shall conclude with a Passage in Ovid, which says that the first Astronomers must needs have been free from Sensuality, and from the Care of attaining to Honours and iches Ananageras is a pregnant Inftance of it Felices (l) animos, quibus hac cognoscere primus, Inque domos superas scandere cura fuit !

Credibile oft illes pariter vitisque locifque Altius humanu enscrussse caput Non Venus & vinum sublimia pectora fregit, Officiumque fori, militiavo labor Nec levu ambitio perfulaque gloria fuco , Magnarumve fames follicitavio opum, Admovere oculu diftantia fidera nostris , A ther aque ingenio supposuire suo Sic petitur celum non ut ferat Offan Olympus 3 Summaque Peliacus sidera tangat apex Nos quoque sub ducibus calum metabimur illis,

Powerusque suos ad stata signa dies
(B) That the Sun was a story Mass of Matter] I make use of this generally xpression, because the Interpreters do not agree about the true sense of these Words of Diogenes Laertius (a) Tor naive suid for it of burning Iron, others would rather have it a flaming Stone, and others, a fiery Globe neither of Iron nor of Stone Videtur mihi Anauageras, (thus speaks Casauben) (b), per uvidior did nuegy non tam lapidem aut ferrum, quam globum quendam igneum, hidud & Casuv ut ait Plutarchus, intelligere voluisse Most of those who have mentioned this Doctrine Most of those who have mentioned this Doctrine of Auszagorsi, have fixed on the second Explanation, which agrees perfectly with the Hypothesis of that Philosopher, as will appear (ε) hereafter I begin with Xenophon's Words (d) Φάσκων β τον βίλιον λίδον διάπνεςν είναι, η τάντο πρού οπ λίδος μέψες πυνεί ων, επιλείμαται, λιπ πολύν χόνον εντίχει δ βίλιος τον πανται χόνον πανται χόνον πανται χόνον πανται χόνον διαμβρεί That is, according to Mr Charpentier's Translation, Sa) ne also. That the Sun was only a fier Some Sa) ng also, That the Sun was only a fiery Spone, te did not consider that a Stone does not shine in the Fire, neither can it continue long there without being consumed, neither can it continue long there without being confirmed, on viewar, whereas the Sun continues always, and is an inexhaustrative of or ble sources the Sun continues always, and is an inexhaustrative of or ble sources to that I be my second Witness, the introduces Secrates, who sinding himself charged with saying that the Sun (e) was a Stone, and the Moon an Earth, aniwers, They take me for anaxageras, whose Books are full of such Discourses, and they fancy that I am so soolish as to each young People those Absurdates They would Laugh at me if I should ascribe to my self a roterram Platewish would Laugh at me if I should ascribe to my self a roterram platewish given a general Notion of the Works of another Man, which are sold very cheep. I have only given a general Notion of the Words of Place, and therefore I shall set down the very words of that the refore I shall set down the very words of that not contented with the substance of a Testimony tis state.

A surresponded to the surrey words of that the substance of a Testimony tis state.

A surresponded to the surrey words of that the substance of a Testimony tis state.

A surresponded to the surrey words of that the substance of a Testimony tis state.

A surresponded to the surrey words of that the substance of a Testimony tis state.

TON el sau, ως e un el divau on τ' Avalante alla continu το κλα ομθρίε γίμει τό των τη λόγων α δι α δι α δι εξετίν διοίτη, εί παις δια μαν παις δια μαν παιστιν το δια το δια καιστικού είνει, είνει αποιαμθρίες, Σωκράτεις καταγλάζει, είν αποσσποιήται εσυτε είναι, είνλως το κριτικού του Αποιασσταπο τι quidem, δ amice Melite, accusare tibi videris, acquaita hos parus facis, existimans cos literarum ignares este, quas nescita libros Anaxagora Clanomenti ejusmedi opaniembus este plemos Juvines verb hac à me discant quibus liceret inverdum etiam simulta sint, unius drachma presio ementibus ex evelostra Socracem devidere, si sua este singeres, prasersim quim tam absurda sine You'll find in Plutareh, s) that Anaxagoras was Condemn'd as an impious Man, for having said that the Sun was a Stone. (b) St Opris of Alexandria, and St Augustin, s) are to be rockon'd among those who have said, that according to Amaxagoras the Sun was a stery stone. Suidas renders μύσρον Sun was a fiery Stone Suidas renders Mudoov didriegy, in Diagenes Laertius, rulesvov riser And therefore I wonder that Mr Charpentier had rather fay (k), that Anaxagorus maintain'd that the Sun was only a fiery Lump of Iron

(C) Moreri has mifrepresented that Opinion, thought Lucretius has very well expounded, and folidly constit! I shall sum up in this Remark all the Might of Moreri Sun was a fiery Stone Suides renders widpor

of Moreri

I He supposes that Anaxagoras taught, That the first Causes of Things had in their the Characters of the Parts, for as Gold is composed of small Particles united together, so likewise all this great World is composed of like Particles, which make up the whole, and are the first Mover of Things. What Nonsence! What Obscurity is here! Did ever Heraclitus express himself so obscurely? To what purpose is the example of Gold composed of small Particles united together? Does this belong to Gold more than to any other mixt Body? He should have added, that those little Particles that composed Gold, are also Gold themselves. This Anaxagoras taught. He believ'd that a visible Bone was composed of several invisible Bones, and that the Blood which we see, was composed of divers small Drops, each whereof was Blood, and therefore he call'd his Principles (!) openingeing, similarizates. Read these Verses of Lucresius. Lucretius

urreins Nunc (m) & Anaxagora scrutemur, Hommomerian, Quam Graci momorant, nec nostrò dicere linguà Concedit nobs patrii sermonis egestàs.
Sed tamen ipsam rem facile est exponere virbis, Principium rerum quam dicit hommomerian Ossa videlicet è pauxillis atque minutes Ossobue, sic & de pauxillis atque minutes Visceribus viscus gigni, sanguénque creari, Sanguinis inter se multis cocuntibus guttis,

Sanguins inter so multis cocuntibus guitis,

Ex aurique putat micis consistere posse.

Aurum, & de terris terram concrescere parvisi

Ignibus ex ignem, humorem ex humoribus esse

Catera consimili fingit ratione, putateque

I will not mention all the Reasons alledged by Lucresius against that Doctrine, I shall only insist on the first He she with that if it were so, the first Principles of Things would be as corruptible as the most compounded Bodies themselves This Consequence draws two great Inconveniences after it most compounded Bodies themselves. This Consequence draws two great Inconveniences after it, one is, that the difference which ought to be between the Principles and the Compounds, is not to be found in Anangara's Hypothesis. The difference I speak of is, that the first Principles (n) ought always to remain the same, though mixt Bodies be never so often destroyd. Mixt, Bodies only, are born, and die, and go through thousand Vision tudes of Generation and Corruption, but The ciples retain their Nature unchangeably under all the Forms that are successively produced.

Ananagers could not by this of his Principles, for to give

(g) Plut de Superftit p 169 R (b) Cyril-lus lib 6 contra Julian (1) August de 10 (Charpentier, Vie de Socrate pag mi y.

(1) Plut. de placit. Philosop. lib i c a pag, 876 Diog. Lapre lib. 2 n 8. (m) Lu cret lib 1. #W 820 pag.m.45 w.) (秦) -

(n) I was derstand by the Master or Subre-Crum ex-about the Pornistion of the World, by admitting only on one fide a shapeless Matter, and on the action meer Chance, or a blind Farality that put it in order; he was the firft give an Example of ir, if those of Flesh had the Nagive an example of R, it mole of Field had the Nature of Flesh, they were no less subject to destruction than a great lump of Flesh; and so likewise with the rest, for he admitted (0) no indivisible Parts in Matter We shall see (p) hereafter, whether he could have supposed that the Principles being Eterral and Uncreated, ought to be Incorruptible other Inconveniency is, That the destruction of the Principles is nothing different from what is call'd Annibilation, for when they cease to be, they are not dissolved into other Things whereof they are composed, since the Simplicity that is peculiar to them will not admit of any Composit on They perish then entirely, and are annihilated Now the Light of Nature (q) cannot conceive that such a change is possible. The destruction of compound Bodies is not subject to this difficulty, they subsist always in their Principles, as for Example, Wood that is destroyed by Fire, ceases not to exist as Marter, or extended Substance. Thus there is a great desect in the System of Anaxagoras. The Principles are composed of Matter and Form, and have not consequently the Simplicity and Immutability which Order requires. This detect could not be removed, by supposing that the Intelligence which are composed, since the Simplicity that is peculiar to moved, by supposing that the Intelligence which presides over Generations, does never suffer them to be destroy'd Was it not a sufficient Inconveniency, that of their own Nature they were subject to cy, that of their own Nature they were subject to Corruption, and could not be preserved from it but by a Priviledge, or to say better, by a Miracle? I say nothing of their great number which is also a notable Defect, for it is essential to a good System, that a very small quantity of Causes should produce a vast many Fifects.

(a) Nach tamen elieullaparte idem ın rebus inane Concedit, neque corporibus finem effe fecandis Id 1b V 843 (p) In the Remark G (q) At neque recinthilum res posse, sem Cref cere ex nihilo. teffor res ante pro-batas Id 1b. v 857

Lucretius did not think of an Objection which might have ruin'd the whole Foundation of Amaxagoras's Hypothesis. This Philosopher's Motive in the supposition of his Homeomerie, or Homeomeries, was, (1) that no Being is made out

(r) Plutarch ubi fupra See also Aristorie Phylicol libit C4 Pag m 256

(a) Plut

(b) 1 will not take notice of his wrong Quotat :quotes Plutasch only in vica Nicias, (11 should be Niciz) Sur he mentions noth ng of what Plutareh Jays shere. and there are Some other Tracts of Plutarch which is bad bem more proper to quote of nothing, or induced to nothing. Now if the Earth for Frample, was formed of Things that were not Earth, it would be made of nothing, and if hiving been Farth, it flouid cease to be Earth, it would be apprinted. Earth, it would be annihilated It must then be made of what is Earth, and in that, which is call'd Destruction or Corruption, it must needs reduce or dissolve it self into Parts that are Earth According to this, there was no Generation, nor According to this, there was no Generation, nor Corruption, properly so call'd, no Birth, nor Death. The production of a Herb was nothing else but the putting together several small Herbs. The destruction of a Tree was nothing but the separation and dispersion of several Trees. We see, added he, a) that the simplest Food, as Bread and Water, is converted into Hair, Veins, Aiteries, Neives, Bones, &c these must be therefore little Hairs, Veins, and Arteries, &c in Bread and Water, which indeed our Senses do not discover, but they are not invisible to our Reason of Understanding. It is evident that he went upon a salfe Supposition, to wit, that something would be made out of nothing, if the parts of the Bread that supplies the Bones with Nourishment, hid not the nature of Bones in the Bread it selfhid not the nature of Bones in the Bread it felf I wonder that fo great a Genius fhould argue in fuch a manner Could he not perceive that a House is not made out of nothing, tho' it be built with Materials that are not a House? Do not four Lines, none of which is a Square, make a Square? Is it not sufficient that they should be placed in a certain manner? Is not a Doublet made of several Pleces of Cloth, none of which is a Doublet?

Is there any Creation in this? Since then in attificial Things the bare changing of the Figure, and fituation of Parts, is sufficient to form a Whole, which as to its Species and Properties differs from each of its Parts. Could not be apprehended. each of its Parts, Could not he apprehend that Nature, which infinitely exceeds human Art, can form Bones and Veins without putting together Parts that are already Bones and Veins, and that it needs only work upon such Particles as are able to receive only work upon such Particles as are able to receive such or such a Situation or Figure? By this means without any Creation, properly so call'd, that which was no Flesh will become Flesh, &c. This what Lucretius might have objected against our supporting of the Homasomeria. I proceed to the other Faults (b) of Morers.

If Ananageras, says he, was summed is, er the Mind, by reason of the Subtrity of his Doctrine Diogenes Lacritus says nothing of this Reason, he on-ly tells us that he had such a Sirname given him (c), because he taught that an Intelligent Being had cleared the Chaos (*) Timon and Harpecration (†) fay the same I do not deny that Plurarch mentions the Reason alledged by Morers, but since he alledges also (d) that which we find in Diogenes Laereius, and which is more likely, Morers should not have suppress'd it

III He falfly imputes (c) to our Anaxagoras the aving admitted of Atoms This Error is so much having admitted of Atoms This Error is so much the gioslei, because he had been saying, that Anaxagorar admitted of infin to Parts in all Bodies These two Opinions destroy each other, for generally the Remark peaking the System of Atoms may indeed admit of an infinity of Corpuscles, but it requires also that their number should be determinate in each Body, the standard part of the Atoms is to avoid fince one of the Reasons of the Atomists, is to avoid the Abfurdities of divisibility, in infinitum, which necessarily follows from the supposition, that each Body is composed of an infinite number of Parts dy is composed of an infinite number of Parts IV It is not true that I ucian feighs that Jupiter kill'd Anaxagoras with a Thunder-bolt We shall see hereafter (f) the Words of Lucian V I don't know upon what ground Moreri says, that Anaxagoras travell'd into I gypt, where he learn d the Secrets and Mysteries of the Learned Men of that Country I don't remember to have read this in any ancient Author For I desire I may be allowed to place Theodorer among the Moderns in this request place Theodores among the Moderns in this respect He mentions (g) this Journey of Anaxagoras, but he is otherwise mistaken in making that Philo fopher contemporary with Pythagoras However, I shall have still occasion to censure Morers, since he has not quoted Theodoret, nor any Author who mentions that Journey

VI He believed that the Stars, they are Moreris was comwords, had at he beginning a confused motion, which posed, and This was not at all the Opithe Larth had produwords, had at he beginning a confused motion, which posed, and was at last regulated. This was not at all the Opinion of Anaxagoras. According to Diogenes Laertine, he believ'd (h) that in the beginning the Stars moved in such a manner, that Heaven having the Greatures, form of a Vault, the Pole, which never tets, was the Farth, vertical to the Farth, but inclined it self afterwards. He must needs have had a very imperfect Knowledge of the Sphere. He was ignorant that the North Pole inclined on the Horizon of Ionia, and of several other Countries, is no less vertical to the touerth learth, with respect to a certain place, than it could made an Earth, with respect to a certain place, than it could made an have been in the beginning. If Anaxagoras meant, inclination that this Pole being formerly in the Zenith of Jonia, towards did afterward decline towards the Horizon, he the South, express'd himself very ill, and must have believed which perthat Ionia was formerly a very miserable and unhappy Country Plutar h (1) relates this somewhat may b atdifferently

VII It is not true that D ogenes Laertins mentions a wife Pro-an Orator, whose Name was Anaxaporas, and Diffundence, ciple of Socrates He (k) makes him a Disciple of (1000 care)

VIII Ir is more false still, that our Anaxagoras that theretaught that the similar Parts were the first Nover of by some all Things. We shall see in the following Remark, parts of the that according to his Opinion, the first Mover World mas a Spirit distinct from the Homasomeria. If No- be habitated had understood the Author of the Life of that ble, and on the see that the similar of the see that the see t Philosopher, he would not have committed that theisinha Mistake (!) En The oposiouses muxper auparai to bitable, acnav συγκαριος, η ιθν μίν αξχήν κινήσως Εκραινικ si- cording as milium partium corporibus hoc totum esse compositum, the various MENTEMQUE INITIUM ESSE Climates MOTUS

IX Morers has not well represented the Sense of ed with a the first part of those Greek words of Diogenes Laer-rigorous tius All this great World, fays he, is made up of fimi- Cold, or a lar Parts, which conflictute the whole I have already feorching complain'd of the Nonfense of these Words, but Heat, or a now I shall dwell upon 'em, to shew in what man- just temperature of the conflictude of th now I shall dwell upon 'em, to shew in what manner a French Author ought to avoid Equivocations, rament of into which he may fall, when he does not remember Gold and that an Expression which was clear to the Greeks, is Heat Plut very obscure in this Age, if one does not use a Circumlocution I say this without intending to justify good Diogenes Laertius, who most times did not c 8 p 887 know what he said, when he Abridged the Opinions (L) Id Laof the Philosophers I wish Morri had made use of e t ib n these words, The World is the effect or result of the choice of the small similar Parts. As he expresses himself, (1) Id ib Ff 2 one n 8

(') TimonPhliasius in Sillie apudLacrt (t) Harpocrat voce Arαξαδόρας (c) Diog

Lacrt 1 2 (d) Plutarch's Lulisof Luciet Kemark K (g) Theo-Græc affett Seim (b) Diog Laert lib 2 n 9 (1) He fays that Anaxagoras believed.

> tributed to bitable ac-

. ils 111

" See the Remark C # II

full who supposed (D) that an Intelligence produced the matign; cleared the Chaos. This was without doubt the true Reason why it.

Matter, and great Philofopher

(m) That is, according to Anaxagoras's Opi-

(n) Mr Arnauld in his Dif-ficultez

Proposces a Mr

Steyacit,

6 pari p 122 &c makes

Some Remarks upon those

the word

Whole

I VPLI-CATI-

ON of

Anaxago-

(=) I udo-

VIII Ves

in August

18 c 2

baving ob-Grueithat theje words of St Augustin, Anaxagodixit ex

infinita materia quæ con-fimilibus

read in the old Manu-Scripts 11milibus inter fe particu-

lis, adds,

recte

utrumque inter fe particulis Or are de civ Der

Etrine

AN

swo lign fications of one would take the World (m) to be a Whole, each part whereof has the same Name and Quality with all the rest. This is so false, that the but opening ones Eyes to be convinced of at. The very Blind may know it, and cannot be ignorant of it, for they know that they are composed of Flesh and Bones, and that their Hair is not like their Nails Those who have the least Tincture of School-Philosophy, know that an Homogeneous Compound, is that whose Parts have the same Name and Qualities with the whole, and that an Heterogeneous Compound, is that whose Parts are not named as their whole is, and have not each the fame Properties as the others have Water, Milk, Wine, Flesh, Bones, are Horrogeneous Compounds, as for Example each drop of the Liquid that composes a River, is call'd Water, and has the Essence of it But it is quite otherwise with an Heserogeneous Compound, its Parts have not its Name nor its Nature, neither the Name and Qualities of each other. Such for Example is the Body of an Ox, it is composed of Blood, Fiesh and Bones, and of several other Parts, which have each their Names and Qualities. This being so, no Body can say that the Universe is an Homogeneous Compound. Some of its Parts are opake, and others transparent, some liquid, and others hard Here is Larth, there Air and Water, here a Meadow, and there a Wood. Anaxagoras would have been wife with an Heterogeneous Compound, its Parts have and there a Wood Anaxagoras would have been more extravagant than the most absurd Visionary that ever was put into a Mad-House, had he had any doubts about it, and yet Moreri's Expressions signify clearly that he taught that the Universe was Homogeneous, and therefore he fally imputes to him an abominable Absurdity He should have made use of another Phrase to describe his Opinion, and pitched upon such terms as did not confound the collective sinfe of the word (n) Whole with the distributive I will explain my felf by an Lxample Let us suppose that all the Citizens of a great City are divided into ten Classes, and that those who have Twenty Thousand Livres are plac'd in the first, and those who have I ifteen Thousand in the next, and the rest accordingly Now whoever should say, That rest accordingly Now whoever should say, That Town is composed of Inhabitants equally Rich, would have no reason for it, but in a distributive Sense, which the French Language could have no reason for in which the Irench Language could hardly admit of in this case. His meaning would be, that the ten Parts which make up all that People, are each of 'em composed of Men equally Rich, but his Thought would be involved in improper, obscure and intricate Words, and to make himself understood, he should add. That the consistence Richard State of the consistence of the consistenc flould add, That the equality of Ruhes is only to be found, by comparing the People of the same Class with each other, for if those of the tenth Class be compared with those of the first, there will be a great inequality. This is the ill Office which those do our Anaxago-This is the ill Office which those do our Anaxagoras, who maintain that he said, that the Universe is altogether composed of similar Parts They make the Readers suspect that he advanced a ridiculous Lingm, and if the Writer does not add, that us to say, &c they are at a loss, and rage against him To free them from such a Perplexity, I will unfold the Opinion of that Philosopher

It feems to me that his meaning as sheets I

It feems to me that his meaning is, that the Intelligence which had form'd the World, had in an infinite Matter found infinite forts of very small Corpuscles which resembled each other, and by a consused Mixture were surrounded with other Dy a contuied Mixture were jurrounded with other Corpufeles, or small Bodies, that did not resemble them It join'd together the Corpuseles of the same Species, and by that means made here a Planet, there a Stone, elsewhere Water, Air, Wood, Or This action caus'd the Universe to be divided into several Masses of similar Parts, but in such a manner, that the Particles of one Mass did not resemble these of another. resemble those of another And therefore the Word All or Whole must not be taken in a Collettive, but in a Distributive Sense, otherwise you would have as much reason to say that the World is made of Dissimilar Particles, as to say that it is made of Similarones Read the Remark (a)of Ludevicus Vives

As to the Objections which Anauagers had to at I shall say something of them in the Re-

(D) He was the full who supposed that an Intelligence produced the motion of Matter, and cleared the Chao:

These are Fasts well attested (b). Howers of Un viv emicnous, actadopol erw es expresquent of the name of the party of the Primus hie materie mentem adjecit, in principio operio 1 in in full savi ac magnifica oratione fie feribens, omnia imul erant, deinde accessit mens, caque composuit. I thought fit to begin with this Passage of Diogenes Lagritus, because it contains Anguagements aertius, because it contains Ananagerai's (c) own

Let us see what Aristotle observes on this subject He condemns the Philosophers, who treating of the Principles, stopt at the material Cause, without Principles, stopt at the material Cause, without fearching for the efficient Cause of Generation and Coriuption The material Cause, says he, does not alter it felf, Copper does not Change it felf into a Statue, nor Wood into a Bester, there is another Principle of this change Principle, is to ascend to the Mover His Words are so remarkable, that it is proper to rehearse them. are so remarkable, that it is proper to rehearse them.

(d) Le 2 λ όπ μαλικα πάπα φθορά χι βμεσις έκ πν Θτ ως ένδς η χι πλειδνων όζιν, διά π παπο συμβαίνω, χι πι το αιπον , ε λο δω το γε ΄απακείμθον αὐτο ποιεί μας παβαλλειν εαυπο λόγω δ οίον, επε το ξυλον έπε ο χαιμένου κλίνην, δ λ χαλκὸς ανόμαντα, αλλί επερν πι πλιαπαβαλής το αίπον το λ πάπο ζηθέν, όὰ ποιεί το μα πλιαπαβαλής το αίπον το λ πάπο ζηθέν, όὰ τὸ τὴν επέραν ἀρχὴν ζηθέν, ώς αν ήμεσε φαίνημεν, ώθεν η αλχὴ το κινήσεως Ναπ ets quam maxime omnis corruptio, & generatio ex aliquo ut ex uno aut ex pluribus sit, cur hoc accidit, & qua causa est Non enim ipsum subjectum sele mutani facit, utputa, dico quod neque lignum, neque as causa est, ut utrunque eorum mutetur Neque lignum quidem lestum, as vero statuam facit, sed aliud quippiam mutationus causa est. Hoc autem quarere, alud quippiam mutationu causa est Hoc autem quærere, aliud principium quærere est, perinde atque id, quod non unde principium motius dicimus He adds, i That when the insufficiency of the Elements came be known, the force of Truth obliged the P phers to look for another Mover 2 That likely that Fire and Earth, &c are the cause the Beautiful State of certain Beings, and the Generation of others, nor that those ancient Philosophers believ'd it 3 That it would be unreasonasophers believ'd it 3 That it would be unreasonable (e) to attribute such a great effect to Chance and Tortune I hat for this reason Anaxagoras, who faid that there is a Spirit in Nature, as well as in Animals, which is the Author of the World and of Order, feem d to perfon of good Sense, in comparison of the Philaphers his Predecessor. There is more force in the Original, than in the Idea which I was of the All show who are table to understand give of it All those who are able to understand I give of it All those who are able to understand the Greek which I am going to set down, will find my Confession sincere, (g) Νου δέ τις είπων είναι, καθάπες ου τοῖς (ωοις λ) ου τοῦ φυσει τον αίπου κ) το κοσμε, κ) τ τάξεως πάσης, οιον νήφων εφανη πας είνδη λεροντας τοῦ περίτερον φανερώς κ) δύν 'Αναξαρέσαν ισωθο αξάμθου τέπων την λόγων Quare qui ut animalibu, ita in natura insellestum inesse causam Mundi, totiusque ordinus dixerat, quasi sobrius, causam Mundi, totiusque ordinus dixerat, quasi sobrius, comparatiu ad antiquiores wana dicentese apparuit Islas autem rationes qui palam attigit, Anamagoram fuisse scienus If these Testimonies are farmal, that of Plutarch is perhaps still more Let its see the Words of that Author (b) "Ον ('Anagasogue') δι τότ ανθεωπεί νῶν σεροπγοερίον, είτε πλιο σωίο στιν αυτά μεγαλιν είς ουσιολογίαν κι σεπίνιν δεαφανεί η Βαυμάντες, είθο στι τοις δλείς πρώτη Θ' κ τίχην κο διακοσμήσεως αρχλίν, αλλά νῶν επίτησε και καρατον, εμμερική μότις πῶσι τοις αλλοίς, αποκούνονται τοις ομοιομερείας Quem (Anaxagoram) illus temporu aquales Memem appellavere, vel quid penales ıllım temporu aqualet Mentem appellavere, vel qued per Spicaciam ejme singularem in matura perscrutanda, en Incaciam ejus singularem in natura perscrutanda, en lentemque admirarentur, vel quod universitati, non tunam neque fatum ordinata descriptionis principium, su mentem princepi puram ac sinceram prafecerit, cum omnibus consusas alus secruentem particulas similes. This Passage is quoted by some Authors as if it ought to be read equequi papor instead of equequi papor, but I had rather reject both these Readings, and substitute had rather reject both these Readings, and substitute had rather reject both these readings.

inusury where So the Author of the Latin Translation which I produce supposes it ought to be read Tho Vostim quotes this Pallage in Greek with the word έμμεμιβιθρο, yet he renders it as if it was έμμεμιβνένοις Here is his Translation, (i) Non fortunam nequestum ordinata descriptionis principium, sed menteram aan ac synceram prasecerit, ab aliss emnibus A D link

(c) They are also to be found m Plutarch de pacitis Philofophor 1 r. c 3 pag 876 D (e) Aria p m 645.

HE MEXES Nec rurfus cafui & fortu næ tantam attri buere rena probe fe habet Id 1 bid p 646 C (g) Id 1b (b) Plut in Pericle P 154 B

(c) O. N

MAT D X

OUTE ALT

שעאו זוסצ-

201 6 JULES Las ma

us de origine & progressus Lectololatrig I i c. 1 p.m. 5

BRBBBBBBBBBB that is to fay, The Mind or Understanding. But his Ortional only

TIS milles particulas fatmentem Within a few Pages after he makes tile of the fame Passage, ro Pages after he makes tife of the fame Passage, re rever that Anaxageras taught that God is intermix'd with the whole Matter Quare (k) exerus senencia opises mundi Deus est, ut an Plutarcho ancea monitum, is easters & Expassages & expassages at superior and intermediate parmixia. I do not believe that Plutarch means any mixture of the Divine Nature with the parts of Matter, this would be inconsistent with the Epithets nases & expassages which he had just before made use of, and by which he clearly shews that Anaxageras believed that God is a pure and unmix'd Spirit, distinct and separate de Anima Chapter of is a pure and unmix'd Spirit, diffinct and separate the 3d Book from Matter In my mind his meaning is, that this immaterial Spirit separated the Homomeriae that were jumbled with all the other Bodies. Thus we see how difficult for the most Learned Men, such as Vossius has been on the most learned men, and they forget in one place what they have said in another. Naw sometimes what they have said in naxagoras another Nay, sometimes what they say in the be-ginning of a Period, does not well agree with the and of it the Under-

(k) I

(1) In the

Remark E (m) Arist

P 479 D See also the 4th

pag 503 G where we find that A-

Jaid, that

All mixture to be Master

Amyn Avariva

प्रकृत्म गृहeva Srwei-

C» Non m:-

ftum effe. ut fupe-ret atque vincat, a est us cognos-cat

(n)Onoi (Avagaeusur vac ידעו דע, דאווע דא μόνον κ ra Jacky

Ait autem (A-

MAXASOras) om-

nia effe milla, intellectu excepto:

hunc vero folum.

ımpermıflum &

purum Aristotel Metaphys 1 1 67 p 651 E (0) Plut fop

7 p881 A

cap 3
Pag 876
(b) Tas

I have a fresh Reason to believe, that Plutarch meant what I attribute to him, for besides what I shall (1) alledge out of Tertullian, I find in Aristotle that Anaxageras said that the Spirit which The Arifeste that Anaxagoras land that the Spirit Which had put Matter into motion, was free from all mixture Πλήν (m) άρχην γι τὸν νῶν τίθο μαλιςα πανΠων μόνον γῶν φησεν αυτὸν τίθο οντων απλεν είται, κὸ αμιγή τε κὸ καθερέν Αποδιδωσι δ άμφω τη αυτα αρχή, το, τε χνωσκειν κὸ τὸ κινείι, λεγων νῶν κινήσαι το αρχή, το, τε χνωσκειν κὸ τὸ κινείι, λεγων νῶν κινήσαι το mus Verum mentem principium maxime omnium ponit folam namque rerum omnium ipsam, simplicem O non missam O puram esse sinceramque dixit Atque eidem principio hac utraque tribuit, cognitionem inquam O motum, dicens universum mentem movisse This is more clear in the words which I fet down in the Margin ματα, νές δ ου τὰ διεκοσμησε διε κ τας χρεσοις τρ δλων εποιησεν ο $ 11λάτων εχ ες ηκοτα πεθθετο τὰ τερου τα σωματα, ατακτως δ κινεμθρα διό κ βολός (φησίν) επιςκους ως τάξις α ταξιας οδι δελίων, διεμβρατικός ταῦτα (ο) Anaxagoras dist initio confittificorpora, dei autem mentam car diesflife, itaque omnium rerum ortus effecife Plato το prima corporanon stetific, sed abjue ordine fuissant prima corporanon fetific, sed abjue ordine fuissant prima corporanon, ordinen animaduretens to the prima corporanon fetific, sed abjue ordine fuissant prastare, ca οίναι henon stetisse, sed any suc manner, and prastare, ea composure. You see here an extraordinary difference.

Anaxagoras and Plato. The sust supposes. that God found the Bodies at rest The second on the contrary, that God found them in motion I am amazed at the Reflection which Plutareh makes upon those two Doctrines, it does not only contain an horrible Impiety, but also a very gross Contradiction He had blamed the Philosophers who tradiction He had blamed the Philosophers who acknowledged but one Principle. He had faid (a), that it is impossible, that Matter should be the only Principle of all things, and that an efficient Cause must be added to it, for silver alone is not sufficient to produce a Vessel, unless there be a Workman to make that Vessel The same ought to be said of Brass, Wood, and of all other Materials. In the same, Page he had commended Anaxageras (b) for having additional to the passive support of the passive subject, and the Particles together, (c) that is, for having addition the efficient Caule to the passive Subject, and the Artiscer to the Matter What does he mean then, when sive Pages after he censures Anaxagoras and Ordering of the Bodies, and the later was always attributed to him the Ordering of them? Their common Error, says he are a strong them? ter to that a ving attributed to him the Ordering of them? Their common Error, fays he, is to think that God takes care of Human Things, and that he has fram'd a World to that end (d) Κοινῶς ἐν ἐμαρταίνεπν ανφότεροι, όπ τ βεὸν επείνος ὁπισρεφολίλου το ανθρωπίνων, η κ) τατε χαρίν τ κοσμον κατασκολάζοντα Communis ambobus bic Pag 87-(b) Ta; uW byoto-unch "סט וצע דעל อโรรณรัสมมัยอง Homoomerias statuit materiam, causam verò efficientem, mentem que disponeret universa id ib (c) 'Amosun' (Φ δζίν δη ην ΰλη τὸν Τεχιίπιν περσίζων Ηις approbandus est qui materiæ artisicem administration (d) Id ib cap γ p 881 A

est error, quod deum faciunt res humanas curantem, ac ea de causa mundam adornantem. After which he lays down the most specious Reasons that in Atheist could alledge against those, who attribute to God the Greation and Government of the World He approves Anaxagoras for admitting an In-telligence, which has been the first Mover of Matter, and the efficient Cause of the World, and blames him for taking this first Mover to be God Can a Man argue in a more pitiful and incoherent man-ner than he does? And if it should be suppos'd that there is no contradiction in this, it must be confets'd ar least, that he has confuted in this place a great many other Passages in his Books, in which he supposes a Providence?

I should be too tedious if I should set down all the Testimonies which prove one of these Truths, or both of 'em 1 That Anaxagoras admitted an Intelligence, which had moved Matter and form d the World by the choice of the Homogenities 2 That he was the sirst Philosopher who advanced that Sustain Lance Sustain to mention (c) Plate System Let it suffice then to mention (e) Plato, (f) Tertullian, (g) Clemens Alexandrinus (h), Enseti-(f) Tertulian, (g) Clemens Alexandrinus (h), Enfetius, (i) Themsfius, (k) St Augustin, (*) Theodores, (l) Proclus, and (m) Simplicius I will not do the same with respect to Cicero, but I shall set down his words, because they afford a thing, which oug't to be examined Indi Anaxagoras, tys he (n), qui accept ab Anaximene descriptionam, PRIMUS omnium rerum descriptionemer roadium, menticipisment and continue and continu rerum descriptionem & modum, mentis infinitæ vi ac ra-tione designari ac consici voli it In quo non vidit, neque motum sensus gunetum & con inentem in nfinito ulliem este fosse, neque sensum omn no quo non ipsa natura puls s sentiret Deinde si mentem istam quasi animal aliquod esse voluit, erit aliquid interius er quo illud animal aliquod (/) I useb esse voluit, erit aliquid interius er quo illud animal node preminetur. Quid aut minterius menti l' Gingitur ig tur par corpore externo. Quod quoniam non placet, aperta simplexque mens nullare adjuncta que sontire possit, sugere l'i4c 14 intelligentie nostre vim l' notionem videtur. It is pag 750 intelligentia nostra vim O notionem viactur. It is somewhat surprizing that Givero should say that Anaxagoras was the first Philosopher who acknowledged such a Doctrine, since he had said before, that (o) Thales had acknowledged a Mind, of a God who had form dall things out of Water (p) Trales Minds and the sales when one that the sales were less qui primus de talibus rebus questoit, aquam dixit civit Describingum rerum deum autem, can mentern que er lib 8 c aqua cuntt a singiret How could Cero so so so no so ger (') I his own words? Can it be imagin'd that he meant down his that Thales afcribed only to God the Power of converge at verting Water into other Bodies, but that Anaxago the consideration of the Order and noble Symmetry of the Parts of the World? This mail F does not feem to me to be likely, and I had rather fuf- (1) Propest that this Passage is corrupted The Confusion clus in and Obscurity that are to be found in the words Timeu that follow it, may confirm this Conjecture However it be, I would not have this Testimony of (m) Sim and celebrated Writers, who unanimously assume that Anaxagaras is the first who added the essential that the first who added the essential the first who added the essential the first who added the essential the first who added t Cause to the material, that is to say, who acknowledged auscult an Understanding to be the Author of the Ococonomy, or Architecture of the Universe St Augustin takes so little notice of this Festimony of Cicero, takes to little notice of this Teltimony of Cicero, Deorum that in the very place wherein he mentions the Opinion of the Philosophers of the Ionian Sect, agreeably to Cicero as to the rest, he formally contradicts (Hind as to what concerns Thales (q) life anten the 4th Thales, at successor estam propagaret rerum naturam Preaectsor forutatus, suasque disputation s literis mandans eminuit of Anna and the contradicts of the contra bine omnia elementa mundi ipfumque mundum, & que in eo gignuntur existere NIHIL autem huic operi, quod mundo considerato, tam admis abile aspicimus, EXDIVINA MENTE præposuse Observe that Cicero himself in another Book denies that Thales was the first who taught the Doctrine I speak of, and lib 8 c 2 that he ascribes it only and absolutely to the Philoso p m 71 in pher Anaxagoras I shall set down his Words in (1) Lescathe Remark F

The Jefuit Lescaloperius (r) endeavours to reconcile this Contradiction, by supposing that Anaxago-Philosophers who lived before him having only taught it in their Auditories This is no very goodSolution, for fince the Doctrines of the Predecessor of Anaxagorus were known, and wherein they difficial

(c) Plato, done,pag (7) Tertull de Anıma (c) (.lem Alexind Strom it 1 p ,64 It is pig 750 Anaxa- () Themiff Orat 10 (/) August de civit Der lib 8 c 2 Limæum (1) (11 C Deorum (p) ld 1b pag 36 (9) August de p m 711 (1) Lescalop in Cicer de nat Deut

thodoxy was not (F) found enough, and there remain'd still many themselfections in it; which is less to be wonder'd at than to see, that the Philosophers who lived before him were (F) ignorant of the Truth which he discovered, and which was so easy to be perceived, and so often Sung by the Poets I must enquire whether the

from each other, I say since this was known, the Anaxagoras was the first who publish'd Books, one might as well have known what they taught concerning the efficient Cause of this World As to the Objections against the Doctrine of this Philosopher, contain d in the before quoted Passage of Ciero, I refer you to St Augustin, (s) who consutes them folidly

(s) See tle 56th I ct-Augustin p m 271 (1) Tei-Anıma (v)Austotel de anima lib I C 2 P 478 G

(r) Id

Metaphyf

hb 1 C 4 p 646 H (3) (lem

Stromat

lib 2 pag

364 (a) 10 6) IY RENTE *T (6717) DUNATOU TO ABJ Ma

E TOHTOU

14 31 TV

70201, HYETT

x, x 713-(9) T wi

שלע סעדמע

DIDS H at ? のよめし入りょト

Verum-

timen ne iple quidem fa-num illud

firum dogma retinu-

Mentem

étis ita ut tamen enim cun-

de rerum natara ex mentis ration i-que regula minime disputa-1et F /10

Prapar

Evang 7 14 1. 5% 750

(E) His Orthodoxy was not found enough] Tertulli-am blames him for it, for on the one hand he faid, that God was a pure and simple Intelligence, and on the other he mixed and confounded him with the Soul (t) Quam Anaxagora turbata sententia est ! initium enim omnium commentatus animum, univerlitatus oscillum de illius axe suspendens, purumque eum adsirmans, & simplicem & incommissibilem, hot vel maxime titulo segregat ab anima commissione, & tamen eundem alibi anima addicit Aristotle had made that Remark before Teriullian (υ) Αναξαρόςαι η ήπου ελασαφεί πει αυτών πολλαχε μιβ μο το αυτών το καλως κη ορθώς, τον νέν λεγει ετερωθή η, τον νέν εί) το υυτόν τη «Ι η αν α ταση χαταρχει αυτών τος ξαροίς, κη μικροίς, κη πιωοίς κη αυτό τος ξουίς, κη μεριλοίς, κη μικροίς, κη πιωοίς κη αυτό νέος καιν οιοίως απαχεί τίες ζώοις, αλλ κοι ιδικάν ηρώποις τω τη Απαχαρίας απατεπ minus de insis explanat multis enim in locis boni restique mentem causam isso dicit alibi auoscillum de illeus axe suspendens, purumque eum adfirmans, in locis boni rectique mentem causam effe dicit alibi ausem animam ipfam mentem effi affirit nam animalibus universis, tam parvis quam magnis, tam prastab libus quam minus etiam prastabilibus, mentim inesse dicis Acca mens tamin, & intellectus, cui prudentia tribuseur, non universit similiter animalibus, quin ctiam neque cunctis hominibus in se videtir This Passage of Arifietle informs us, that Anaxagoras admitted of a Soul in all Beaft, to which he gave the fame name of Understanding which he had given to the first Mover of Matter and tothel nector of the Fabrick of the World The same Aristotle observes, that Anaxagerar admitted an Intelligence for the production of mens lexandrimes, that Anaxagoras has not maintrined the Rights and Dignity of the efficient Caule, whose Functions he had attributed to a Mind, for he mention'd several Revolutions that were made without the Knowledge or Co operation of that Spiof the Greek Words of that I ather of the Church Αιανσρομα ανώτ Τε fays he (y', ετεςκος τον γεν τοις απ τρμασιν αιν εθε ετ Επι(πος ταξιαμ τ ποιππκή, θυνς πιας αιοήτες αναζορχάρων, ουι τη To the arterie To Ravola. Primis Anaxagoras men-tem rebus adbibuit. Sed nec ille dignitatem servavit efficientem, nescio quas amentes describens revolutiones cum mensis ab agendo tessatione & amentia Without doubt Fusebius transcribed this Passage, when giving it another turn he faid, that Anaxagorus (a) did not keep fafe and found the Doctrine which teaches that things have been produced by an Intelligence Which he proves by this Reason, that Anaxagor as Philosophiz'd upon Nature, and explain'd the Phanomens without supposing that Intelligence I know it may be faid that Eusebius does not mean fo, and only declares that Anaxagoras gave Physical Reasons that were contrary to good Senie But three things that were contrary to good Senie But three things periuade me that my Interpretation of Clemens Alexisalin nois and Eujebine's Words, is better than that In the first place it is a very ill Proof that a Philosopher son fakes or enervates the Hypothesis of Providence, and of the universal Activity of God, to it, that he argues sometimes Impertanently, Foolishly, or Irregularly All the Sects of Philosophy among the Christians reproach each other after the same of the many and yet they don't accuse one another tame + 11 mm, and yet they don't accuse one another of Heterodoxy, with respect to the universal Con-course of God, the first Cause of all Beings Wherefore it no other Complaint could have been made against Anaxagoras, but that in explaining several effects of Nature he argued ill, and without Sense, it had been an unjust thing to pretend that he forsook or spoiled the Supposition, whereby he admitted of an Intelligence which presided over the production of the World This Reproach must therefore have been grounded not upon the impertinent Explications which he gave, but upon those which he gave to the Prejudice and Exclusion of that Intelligence. In the second place Eusebus altherefore have been shall be considered in the factor of that Intelligence. In the fecond place Eusebius alledges a long Passage of Plate, which contains a Complaint (b) that Anaxageras explain'd Matters without having recourse to an Intelligence, or to (b) See the Causes of the Beauty and Order of the Universe, but that he went no farther than the Air, say upon the Æther, the Water, &c as the Causes of Beings who does not perceive from hence that 'tis very probable Eusebius meant the same defect? I say in (c) A page that Anaxageras, as Plusarch informs that (c) certain things came to pass by every now. Necessity, others by Destiny, others by Desiberation, others by Fortune, and others by Chance There is no question, but that in the particulars of those unexplicable Distinctions, he deprived the Divine Intelligence of several Events, and that this was the Reason of the Complaint of Clemens Alexandrinus, transcribed by Eusehim

I know not whether what Anaxagoras said of our

I know not whether what Anaxagoras faid of our Hands ought to be plac'd among his Frrors ferted that they have been the cause of the Wisdom and Industry of Man Plutarch takes him to task cided whether he gave occasion for this Centure, tuna, alia but I cannot believe he deserves it. His System encasus Plus gaged him to think quite otherwise upon this, than deplacit those Philosophers did who attributed to Chance Philosophers all the Beings whereof the World is composed. Lib t cap This impious Doctrine moved them to maintain, ult p 886 that Organs were not given to Man to make use See also the of 'em, but that finding them sit for certain Fun-Passage thions he employ'd them for that use See the 4th quoted by

Book of Lucretius (e)

Monagius Mind these words of a Father of the Church (f) in Diog Anaxagoras autem qui & ATHEUS cognominatus Laert libes, dogmatizavit fasta animalia decidentibus e calo in 2 n 6 and terram seminibus, quod & bi ipsi in matrix sua transsustatent famina, & essential est in seminal semina, & essential est in seminal semina, & essential est in seminal semina, & essential est in seminal semina alook faisty apud eos qui sensum habent, & ipsos essential anaxagoras was simani seminal you see here, Galonoo'ou that Anaxagoras was simani seminal proposed to seminal Ireneus calls him an impious Man Voffius (g) does not complain of it, he only fays, That Jufin Marsyr in the Exhortation to the Greeks, calls that Phi- tarch de losopher an Atheist, and he makes some Residentions amicitia I have found nothing like it in that Book fraterna of Justin Martyr, and I think Vossius had done better init page to keep his Excuses for St. Irenaus If Justin Martyr 478 tyr stands in need of 'em, 'tis only for having misrepresented the Dostrine of Anaxagorus He suppresses I 4 v 821

the beautiful part of it (b), and says nothing of & seq
the Understanding that was the first Mover, but only speaks of his Homeomeria

18 The Philiphene Medical Anaxagorus Land 18 Land

The Philiphene Medical Land Medical Land

The Philiphene Medical Land Medical Land

The Philiphene Medical Land

(F) The Philosophers who lived before him were igno rant of the Truth—— and so often Sung by the Poets. C. 19
A Crowd of Witnesses is the first Philosopher who us de originate the ordering of Matter to the Wildom & prografic the ordering of Matter to the Wildom & programmer. Fact, that Anaxagoras is the first Philosopher who us de orig ascribed the ordering of Matter to the Wissom & progr of a first Moven Thales, Anaximander and Anavidolol lib menes, who preceded him in the School of Ionia, endeavour d to explain every thing without it (k) pag m 5 Princeps Thales, unus e septem, cui sex reliquos concessions for primas firunt, ex aqua dixist constant on persuasit Orat at serim infinitatem natura dixist esse è qua omnia gignetre un post ejus audito Anaximents infinitum aera, section aquam, originem, tum ex his omna gignia auténièrram, (i) Section aquam, originem, tum ex his omna Anaxagoras ma-Remark D. fed ea qua ex eo orirentur definita gigni autém terram, (1) Sectif aquam, & ignem, tum ex. his omnia Anaxagoras materiam infinitam, sed ex ea particulas similes importante acuma confusas, postea in ordinam tatibas mente divina Who can forbear wondring that such quantitation (2) follows the confusation of section of of greatMen should have been guilty of such a groß Ig- m 2 fol norance? This Restection has not been neglected 211, B by the Jefuit Pererius Ferunt primos Philosophorum, d 5 xa.3 भूग कल्ला -दुश्याम, से कु אליו דע אויע מ ל אל הל au Toua Tou necessario, cafu Plur ult p 885 quoted by Menagius ાજાભાંત્ર (d) Plutarch de verfeHær us de orig

Docume of the phase does not imply many (G) Contradictions - It feems to me that it is and that generally the Ideas of the Ancients who have mention'd the Chaos, were no less consased than the Chaos it self. I may say at least, not to niùm rerum nátůrèlium principiis, 4 pag m (m) Thomaffin, Methode d'Arndier & d' enfergner lå Philofophie, Book 1 alfo page

(%) Attagust de

See allo Cicero lib i de nat Deo-civit Del 11b 8 c ≥ rum, p m 38 where he says,

(1) Paus, fays the (1), Pherseystein Sylvain & Aniskingorian, itain commu-commu-nibus oft-in, quem isse Mensem del Insellectum vocabiat, esse man-nibus oft-ion, quem isse Mensem del Insellectum vocabiat, esse manben, quem ipse Menrem vel Insellectum vocabat, esse mandi, cunstarunque veruin opisicem, Gracos docusse at permissam set, priores Philosophos que hac s'gnorarunt, supiensum nomen, & homerem habusse; & dum hac res, quarum cognitie cunstu morabibne optatissima est, & ad bene proque vivendam maniste necessaria, tam sero ad Gracorum noticiam pervenisse Father Thomessin has a remarkable Thought upon it All the Po-ts, says ho (m), " who had been the most ancient Philoso
" phera, and all the Sages of the fabulous Times,
" as they are call'd, not having mention'd or ce" lebrated in their Writings any other Cause than " the sirst, and supreme Deity, how could it be, the first, and supreme Deity, how could it be, that presently after Tholes and his next Successors should be Ignorant of, or pass over in Silence that which had been the Occupation of all the Sages, and of all Ages till then? It is therefore likely, that those first simular Philosophers presupposing what was incontestable, and till then uncontested, concerning the first efficient Cause of all Things, did only theak of the second Causes. all Things, did only ipeak of the fecond Caufes, which had been unknown till then, and had not been so much as look d after They were affaid that if they should refer all the particular effects to God, Men would fall again into the old custom of neglecting to enquire into the lecond Caufes, and refting contented with the first The same may be said of Angels. Homer and the other ancient Poets or Philosophers, made 'em the only Authors of all Things under the Orders of God The Disciples of Theless to set up the Power of corporal or immediate Causes, passed by the naming of Angels.—But at last Anaxygo as the top has not been alless of the property of the same of the property of the same of the property of the same of the s budged that in his time the World was able to ap-Angelical Subfrances, and of both to the Momand Power of God Thales and Meta-thales and Institute of the Thales and Meta-thales and Institute of Phylicks, to the end, that fuppoling the truth of those parts of Philosophy, in which every body was sufficiently instructed, that which had not yet been cultivated, should particularly be minded But when it came to be perceived that the knowledge of the indeautosufficients and that it was or the 21m Gaures was very uncertain, and that it was to be fear'd, that it would make Men forget the knowledge of God, and of finels, and Morality, which was more confirmed field, and necessary, Amazagoras, Socrates, find Plate, restored Theology and Morality, to their ancient Lustre

"and Credit
This is a fine Thought and an ingemous Notion But perhaps it has more Brightness than Solidity in it, for we fee that Anaximenes, the Master of Anaxingoras, did not treat of Philosophy as a Man who supposed, that the Existence of God in the quality of first Cause, was so well known, that there was no riced to speak of it. He mention of the Gods; but she was so far from considering them as Principles, that he maintain of that they themselves owed their Existence to the Principle which se establish (a) This (Amaximenes) owner rerum causes infinite at the distribute dress negative aut racuse. and Credit Existence to the Principle which he established (n) rum, p in 38 where discovered as a sequent and tactus non tanish ab issue be says, Anaxumenes aera discovered he Opinion to Anaximander, Master of nes aera discovered he Opinion to Anaximander, Master of nes aera discovered he Opinion to Anaximander, Master of nes aera discovered he Opinion to Anaximander, Master of nes aera discovered he Opinion to Anaximander, Master of nes aera discovered he Opinion to Anaximander, Master of nes aera discovered he Opinion of nativity essentiation of nes aera discovered the Opinion of the results of their
(a) Viz.

Anaxagoras, & Diogenes of Apolloposterio de discovered the Principle of all Things, was only a Principle; mr as shuch as it was endowed with a Divine Sprit This first of their two Supposteriors is that of Anaxagorae, and the other is that of Biographs of Apolloms (b) Diogenes given master rations, she que milit en es strip poster All this conrations, she que milit en es strip poster All this conrations, she que milit en es strip poster All this conrations, she que milit en es strip poster All this conrations, she que milit en es strip poster All this conrations, she que milit en es strip poster All this conrations, she que milit en es strip poster All this conrations, she que milit en es strip poster All this conrations, she que milit en es strip poster all this conrations, she que milit en es strip poster all this conrations, she que milit en es strip poster all this conrations, she que milit en es strip poster all this conrations, she que milit en es strip poster all this conrations, she contrary to that of the Poets, and of AApollonia des utitur prove very milith; for mi those Times the Fulloso-bhers went back as far as the Chaos, and the (c) (c) See Cafirst Original of all Things. It was therefore necelfary for them to explain themselves about the Nature of God, and to exhaust the whole Doctrine of the first Principles. ture of God, and to exhaust the whole Doctrine of the first Principles, after which they might very well be permitted to account for the particular and daily Effects of Nature, without going back to the first Cause At present the Philosophers consider only the second Causes, the Matter and Form, second God as the first Cause, is infficiently established. It is because they suppose, that the knowledge of God as the first Cause, is infficiently established. It is because they treat of it it large in a part all of their Courses of Philosophy distinct from Physicks However it be, we may be sure that those ancient Philosophers were not ignorant of what the sure of smany absurd so that the first those had said of Cond. White there is the first those sured the sure of the sured so that the sured so the sured so that the sured so that the sured so the sured so that the sured so that the sured so that the sured so that the sured so the sured so that the sured so that the sured so that the sured so that the sured so the sure a part a) of their Courses of Philosophy distinct from Physicks However it be, we may be sure that those ancient Philosophers were not ignorant of what the Poets had said of God. Why then did they not imitate them? Was it because they liv no great thress on Poems in which they found so many Trises (e), and so many popular Opinions, that were not proof against a Philosophical Enquiry? Arisotle (f) institutes this Reason Did they judge of it as Socrates did, when he said that Fanaticks resemble the Poets, and that neither of them understand what they assert "Ey: wi (g) Ev au y we will not the Chaot rountwo as olives two many popular Opinions, that we chem as Lactantius of the Chaot rountwo and they assert they are a sopical provided the Chaot rountwo which they are a sopical rountwo, and a quotes the Chaot rountwo which are they as a sopical rountwo, and a quotes resemble the Poets, and that neither of them understand what they assert is a sopical rountwo, and a gust with a sopical rountwo, and they are they assert they are a sopical rountwo, and they are they are they are the country of the Chaot rountwo which they are the are they are t both of all Creatures, and says that the Air was his father, (b) Hebropol Deserver measuring needs if Lact 11 c s if Diogenes Latrius (i) pretends that Anaxagoras took one of his Tenets from the Poet Linus, but it was not with respect to the Understanding that was the first Mover Note on this Head, that Aristonste (k) makes a great deal of disterence between Anaxagoras and Thales I shall conclude with a fine Passagoras and Thales I shall conclude with a fine Passagoras and Thouses I shall conclude with a fine Passagoras and Thouses I shall conclude with a fine Phisolophers who lived before Anaxagoras, were altogether ignorant of the first Cause (1) Avakation of the first Cause (1) Ava element a disposus se Deceripe of the Homocomeria deci not cost ain many Contradictions] I will not make the of (m) Arifosis a Arguments, the they be never so fubtil and solid, and it it be found that my Resiections agree with his, it will be a mee' Chance

I We have seen highly Anexagoras taught that every thing was composed of similar Patricles. This he afferted, to shew that Bodies were not made out of mothing. Now, as the simplest Food may be the Matter wherewith all the Parts of an Animal are manifely they are necessarily obliged to acknow.

Book of his Book of his Book of his afferted, to shew that Bodies were not made out of optining Now, as the simplest Food may be the Matter wherewith all the Parts of an Animal are noutsined, he was necessarily obliged to acknowledge, that the Grass of a Meadow contains Bones, Physicks Rails, Horns, Blood, Flesh, Skin, Hair, &c. (n) In the It is not therefore composed of similar Particles, it is rather a heap of all forts of Heterogeneties. To what purpose then was the Doctrine of the Homavimeria? Was he not obliged to depart from it in all particular Cases, after having supposed it in general? What I have said of Grass, may be said like wife of Milk, Wine, Water, Bread, and many other things, Is there any Body that does not serve for Matter to several others, in the changes that are called Generation and Corruption? Wherefore these first Frinciples are and are not Homogeneous. They are Homogeneous according to the supposition of Anaxageria, but really they are not so, for since mix'd Bodies, according to his Opinion, ought to be of the same Nature with their Principles, and are only a mixture of dissimilar Parts at follows that the Principles are Historyanous. I'll touch upon this again in the Vth Paragraph appear hyperbolical, that they were unexact, and that those Philippear's could not

(o) See Ariffotle

874

II Besides, it will be found that all Names have been ill imposed, for to give an instance of it, if all the Blood of the Animals had been in the Grass which they have eat, it would better deserve the name of Blood than that of Hay Anaxagoras answer'd, that certain Particles being more numerous in a mix'd Body, or placed on the Surface, made it appear uniform, and procur'd it a specifick name (s). Lucretium has consulted this An-Surface, made it appear unitorm, and procur'd it a specifick name (e), Lucretim has consulted this Answer by the salie Consequences that arise from it It would result from thence, says he, that whin Corn w bruised, some Particles of Blood might be drawn from it, or of some other Organs whereof our Body w compos'd. But this is contrary to Experience

Linquitur (p) hic tenuu latitandi copia quadam, Id quod anaxagoras sibi sumit, ut omnibus omnes.

Res putet immissas rebus latiture. Sed illud. Physic lib
I cap 4
pag 456
(p)Lucret
lb I v
874

Res putet immistas rebus latitare, Sed illud Apparere unum, cujus fint pluris mixta Apparere unum, cujus jine piuria misem, Et magu in promitu, primaque in fronte locata Quod tamen à vera longe ratione repulsum est Quod tamen à vera longe ratione repullum est Conveniebat enim fruges quoque sape minutas, Robore cum saxi franguntur, mittere signum Sanguinis, aut alium, nostro qua corpore aluntur Consimiliratione herbas quo que sape decebat, Et laticis dulles guttas, similique sapore Mittere, lanigera quali sunt ubera lastis Scilicet & glebis terrai um sape friatis Herbarum genera, & fruges, siondesque videri, Dispertica, ac in terris latiture minute Postremo in lignis cinerem sumumque videri, Cum prafrasta forent, ignesque latere minutos Cum prafracta forent, ignesque latere minutos Quorum nil fieri quoniam manifesta docet res, Scire licet non esse in rebus res ta mintas

This Confutation is notamis, for in short, mix several Sorts of Grains together as you please, take an hundred times more Wheat than Barly, put as manufactures. ny Grains of Barley as you can in an inclosure of Wheat, what will you get by it? Will you make People believe that there is nothing but Wheat there? Will any body remain in that Error, even after your Heap is scattered? Will no Grain of Barley ever Affertion Anagagores could not have folv'd this Objection, but by supposing that each sensible part of a Grain of Corn is so qualify d, that the Heterogenesis are there in a less number, and wrapt up in the Particles of Corn, and that this is the reason why, when Corn is brussed between two Millstones, we never discover the heterogeneous Parts, but that if we should proceed in the division as far as the insensible Particles, then the Blood, the Flesh, the Bones, &c would appear to Eyes sharper than ours. In a word, he cannot get out of this diffiours In a word, he cannot get out of this diffi-culty, but by the divisibility of Matter in Infinitum, which is to imitate a Man, who to avoid the thrust of a Sword, throws himself headlong into a Preci-pice of an unconceivable depth But I will insist only on the difficulties which imply some fort of Contradiction

III I Say in the third place, that Anaxageras ought to suppose that the similar Particles are found both to suppose that the similar Particles are found both in greater and lesser numbers in Bread In a greater number, because the Compound is call'd Bread, in a lesser number, because a few Hours after the Bread is eat, it is call'd Chyle, and discovers nothing in all its sensible Particles but the Qualities of Chyle This Objection will be more easily apprehended, if Dough be compared with Corn, or Bread with Dough It will appear that this Philosopher must own, that the Homogeneities are both more and less numerous in the same mix'd Body In the Dough for Example, for while it is Dough it contains more Corpuscles of Dough than of another Species of Body But when it is converted into Bread, it contains sewer Corpuscles of Dough than of Bread, and yet the Corpuscles of Bread are only derived from the Dough

IV Here is another Contradiction It is contradicting one's self to lay down an Hypothesis, which brings back on one side the same Inconveniency it removes on the other This is the Missortune of Maxageras's System That Philosopher having supposed that the Parts of Matter had eternally been in a State of Consusion, that is to say, that the simalless themselves Particles had been every where surrounded with Heterogeneous Ones, supposed that at last an intelligent Being put an end to that Disor-furrounded with Heterogeneous Ones, supposed that at last an intelligent Being put an end to that Disorder, by separating the similar Particles from those that were difficular But he himself overthrew his own Supposition, being obliged to own that all forts of Homomeria were mix d together in all Bodies, and that even with respect to insensible Particles. According to his Opinion, there was an infinity of small Bones, and little drops of Blood, & in each Grass, and in each bit of Bread (a) (a) Did The whole was mix'd with the whole, since every ordinary thing was made of every thing. Can there be a consuming greater State of Consusion? It was Plate's Opinion well Surposition of it, for more than once he alledges the Doctrine of the may of Anaxagoras as a Symbol of a Chaos (b) Kar in murice of ordinary provided navial for may be allegar to the Doctrine of the margoras as a Symbol of a Chaos (b) Kar in murice of ordinary provided navial for margoras and provided navial for the first provided navial first provid ci συγκρινοιτο κίδο παντα, διακρίνοιτο ή μιλ, ταγεί αν εδέρων το τε Αναξαρόρε γλρονός είν, διε πάντα χεήματα Pro- γιούσθουν inde si confunderentur quidem omnia, nunquam vero dis- Quaproparentur, Anaxagora illud repente contingeret, mni- ter inquiversa videlicet esse simul. He says in another place, unt quod- (c) Το τε Αναξαρομε αν πολί πν, δι φίλε Πόλε — que in διε αν παντα χεήματα έφύρετο εν τω αιτώ, εκρίτων quolibet το όντων τήν τε ύρεινων κι κατικών κι ο φασιπτιών είse mis- lillud Anaxagora profius accideret, amice Pole——omina videlicet in codem indiscreta commissionerentur, σ qua quodlibet riam attinent Menage (d) says that Lutber call'd oritivide ex quovis those Divines Anaxagorists, who find every thing in each Text of the Scripture

V His sirst Principles were and were not so Physic 1, 1. They were first Principles according to his Supposi-

They were first Principles according to his Supposite 4 pag tion, and were not really so, since they were as 256 G much Compounded and Corruptible as any other Aναξαρο-Body He admitted of the Divisibility in Infinitum, ραι μεμίχα and therefore he must have believed that there is an δαι των συστείου of Small Redes in the least there is an δαι των συστείου of Small Redes in the least there is an δαι των συστείου. infinity of small Bodies in the least diop of Water, main enois and consequently that it contains as many of 'em as Anaxagoall the Earth Moreover, this infinite number of Corras omne all the Earth Moreover, this infinite number of Corpositions of the Earth Moreover, this infinite number of Corpositions are all forts of Heterogeneities. It in omner than a Tree, and in that militaring respect it did only differ from mix'd Bodies, all Id in as much as the Eyes of Man could not Metaploy have discover'd the dissimilar Parts, as they be 3 c 5 discover them in a Tree Lastly, the Intelligence $671 C which moved Matter, could as easily have divided those pretended first Principles, as Fire divides (b) Plate Wood. They were then as perishable as Wood, in Phadone from whence it follows, that if they existed in the page 54 Nature of things, it was not in the quality of first Principles. Besides, can any thing be more absurd, (c) Id in than to lay down for Principles what has no ex-Gorgia istence at all? Now according to the Hypothesis of page 317 istence at all? Now according to the Hypothesis of pag 317 Anaxagoras it is certain there was no Homasmeria in the Universe

Let us enquire into an Answer which he might inde est have made. He might have supposed that the Estaqued Lussence of the Homasmeria does not consist in the Rether of their Parts, but in the Conformity ologis Athat is found between the Contexture of the Heiseron maxagorigenessies of a imall Bone, for instance, and the Con- cus dicitur texture of the Heterogenessies of any other Bone. He is qui might have said, I do not pietend that a Bone of quodlibet. Ten Inches divided into an Hundred Thousand in quoli-Parts, or which is the fame thing in my Hypothesis, bet loco into an Hundred Thousand Bones, does not abso-Scripture lutely contain any Particle but what is like all the Sacre ininto an Hundred Thouland Bones, does not ablolutely contain any Particle but what is like all the rest, I own that each of those small Bones is a mixrest, I own that each of those small Bones is a mixture of all forts of Principles, it contains Flesh, it possit contains Blood and Membranes, or But because Menag in those different Matters are ordered according to the Lacre 1 2.
same Symmetry in each of those small Bones, I p m 73.
have reason to maintain that the Collection of an hundred thousand of those small Bones is an Emegenesis Compound, or a Heap of Hemaemeria, and whereas I suppose that the Understanding which made a Choice of them, found them ready made, I may very well maintain that each of them taken assunder is uncapable of Destruction, for they ways existed of themselves

This Answer consists of two Heads one is the Explication of the Hypothesis with respect to the Sense of the Word Hemaemeria, the other concerns the Incorruptibility of those Hemaemeria. I am going to clear the first by an Example Put all the Copies of the same Book, bound in the same manner, into a Library it will be a Collection of Booksthat are all alike, an Hemagenesis Collection; not because each of those Volumes is composed of parts that are perfectly alike, but because the White and the Black, the Spaces, Letters, Accents, Points, Comma's, and the other Heteregeness Parts base, the same Symmetry in the one as in all the rest same assume the second part of his Answer

VI I don't

VI I don't

124; with with place of Reason, that that State of Confusion fishing a

VI. I don't ask him why the Intelligence, which he acknowledged, before the minimum in Confusion, during all Evernity, nor how it came to think so like of moving and uniting them, nor why he denies that Something may be made out of Northing, fines he was that Motion had a beginning? There Three Objections, and some others, do strangely puzzle all those who admit of a Matter eternal, uncreated, and dilling from the Divine Being, but because the Configuration which is a well as weight against other Philosophers as well as weight analysis. loss phere as well as against Anamagerae, it would not be proper to insist upon them I will only clear the last It is certain that the Production of a Quality distinct from its Subject, does not differ from a true Creation This the Modern (e) Philosophere true Creation This the Modern (e) Philosophers prove demonstratively against the Aristotelians, who admit an Instinct of Substantial and Accidental Forms, distinct from Matter; for since they are not composed of any pre-existent Subject, it follows that they are made out of Nothing. The best Answer that the Followers of Aristote can make, is to retort this Objection, and to say that the Carresians are obliged to acknowledge that Motion cashing be produced but by Creation. The Carresians own this Consequence, and attribute the Production of Motion only to God; and they say, that to move Matter is to create it at every Moment in different Places. Let us conclude from all this, that Anaxa-Places Let us conclude from all this, that Anaxa-goras and several others contradicted themselves, when goras and several others contradicted themselves, when on the one side they would not acknowledge that Something might be made out of Nothing, and owned on the other side that Motion or some other Modification had a beginning in the Eternal (f) Chaos But waving this, I shall only insist on the Difficulties which concern none but Anaxagoras VII I alledge this Maxim against him All things that are distinct among themselves, may be separated or divided from each other, and from thence I conclude that each Homesmaria may

(f) See Methodius apud Photium cod 236

See

Gassendus

Phyl fest

1 17 C3

p m 943 be divided into leveral Parts in infinitum, for it is composed of all manner of Principles jumbled together. And therefore fince Motion is a necessary from thence I conclude that each Homasmeria may gether And therefore fince Motion is a necessary Principle of Division, and God has produc'd Mo-tion in Matter, it follows that by that moving Force he might divide each Part of the Universe, and break in pieces any Homeomeria whatfoever, which you would take for an Unity If it was an Epicurean Atom, a Body perfectly simple, single, and free from all Composition, I own that nothing could divide it But Anaxagoras does not acknowledge any fuch Bodies, nor any Homesmeria, be it never to Intele, but what contains an Infinity of diffine Corpuscles, and even different from each other in their Qualities It is therefore true, that what he calls First Principles is a thing as subject to Destruction, as the most compounded Bodies, for instance, an Ox, this I say is very true, even when it is suppo-ted that the Homeomerie exist eternally of themselves, for it fuffices that an external Cause can make them pass from Morion to Rest, though it has not the Power to cause them to exist, nor to annihilate them A Progress in infinitum would be a needless shift upon this occasion Ir cannot be faid in answer to this Objection, that the Homeomeria being com-pos'd of an Infinity of Corpuscles, those which make a small Bone may be divided in infinitum, withmake a small Bone may be divided in infinitum, without ceasing to be a little Bone, they only become a leffer Bone after each Division. This is no good Reply, for there are two things to be considered in each Homeomeria. I That it contains an Infinity of Particles; and this is common to it with others.

That the Particles are ordered after a certain management of the properties of the second of the certain management. her, which is peculiar to it, it is its specifick Form, it is its Essence, by that it is either a little Bone, or a little drop of Blood, rather than any other Species of the first Principles. And therefore in order to take from the Hometmerie of a Bone ies Essence, and its Species, it suffices to order the Particles, which compose the same, after another manner. Now if it be admitted that the Intelligence, which was the First Mover, could divide the Bodies, and dischrangle them from each other, it might also have divided the Corpuscles of each particular Homanneris, and give them another Combination, it could therefore change their Species, as Flower changes its Species when 'tis Kneaded', that is, when its Particles are jumbled and combined in a different manner

I do not object against this Philosopher, That he acknowledged a difference between the Parts of Matter before they were moved. This Objection did always appear to me very weak I conceive very clearly, that a Division supposes a Distinction, and that an from Pin fix'd into a piece of Wood, and perfectly at rest, is as different from the Wood, as if it moved together with the Wood VIII I proceed to the last Objection What would have the conference of the Philosophia.

be the confequence of granting to this Philosopher, That the same Necessity which causes the Bodies to exist, causes them to exist distinct in an infinite Number of Hommomerie, each whereof ought necessarily to remain always entire, the Nature of things being such, that there ought to be fixed Bounds in each Species, as it is generally said that there is a (a) minimum qued sic, in each Species of living Bodies? Would this Concession prove very beneficial to the Hypothesis of Anaxagoras? Would have have the Local Property of the Local Proper he not have thereby the Incorruptibility and the internal Immurability of his First Principles? Would they not be so imail a Bone, that becoming which somewhat less by the actual Division of their Parts, such an therefore would be no longer aBone, and so with the other hards and an analysis of Nature made them Indivisible? I would forinfian cessity of Nature made them Indivisible? I would forinstance, agree to it, but it were only avoiding one incon could not veniency by another I should afterwards find this be an Anea Fault in the System, that the Nes, or Understanding, would come in, against the Rules, to understake the easiest Task after the most difficult was performed by a blind Necessity Absolutely speaking, it is most true, that every Philosopher who will give good Reafons of the Order that is feen in the leveral Parts of the Universe, must suppose an Intelligence which has produced that sine Order. He ought not to fear that any reasonable Men will tell him, that he imitates certain Poets, who bring a God ex machina, upon the Stage to unfold Difficulties that are not worth his Tenthla. But if four houses for a fear had worth his Trouble But if after having supposed, that the Homeomeria were form'd without the direftion of an Intelligent Cause, he supposes that such a Cause disentangled and put them in order, it might be faid to him that he imitates those Poets, contrary(b) to all Rules To be sensible of the Stiength of this Objection, we need only take notice that it is much more difficult to make good Warches, than to pick them out of a parcel of Medals and Shells wherewith they are intermixed, and then to put them in order, and mix them in a better manner A young Prentice, a Child, could make this choice, and produce this new order. Every body will grant me, that the forming (c) of Men is a work that requires more Direction and Ability than the Art of placing them according to Military Lvolutions. The greatest part of the Modern Philosophers suppose that the general Laws of Nature are sufficient to make a Fatter grown provided in her than the control of the Modern Philosophers. to make a Fattus grow, provided it has been well form'd, and well organiz'd in the Seed, but they suppose that those little Animals that are Organized in the Seed are the Work of a most wise and migh.

Material

They believe therefore that the but the principal Difficulty, which most requires the Dire first principal Difficulty, which most requires the Direction of an Intelligence, consists in the first forming of an organized Machine, that is to say, in the framing of those little Animals which they suppose to be in the Seed. To speak properly, each of those little Animals is an Homeomeria of Anaxagoras It is therefore more difficult to form that adHomaomeria, than to cause Animals to grow by means of Nourishment 'Tis therefore in order to explain the Formation of the Homaomeria, that the Direction of an Intelligent Being is chiefly requisite, for every Homaomeria is a corresponding. requilite, for every Homasmeria is a certain Colle-tion of infinite forts of Bodies And this Col-Proportions and Situations The Collection necessary for the Homeomerica of a Bone, is different from that which is necessary for the Homeomerica of Flesh; and if you had not exactly followed that Symmetry, you would not have had the first Principles of Blood or Marrow, but those of iome other mixt Body Now Anaxagoras did not suppose the Necessary of an Intelligence to form infinite Species of Homeomerica, each whereof is a finite Species of Homasmerie, each whereof is a certain Conjunction of all forts of Bodies, mixed together in fuch a manner, that those of one Species must prevail in Number and be placed rather in a certain manner than in another, and that in general a certain Proportion and Symmetry must prevail more than another He has therefore assign'd a blind Necessity for the Caule of what was most difficult And therefore he did not argue right when he believ d an Intelligence was necessary for what was less dis-ficult According to his Doctrine, all the Fun-

Gg

(a) That us A Degree of Smallness.below Animal, an Ant

(b) Nec deus interfit ni nodus vindice di gnus Inciderit Horat de arte Post

(c) I don't mean what Parents towards is I don's mean the but the Ef-CAUSE the Coetus. and forms

234 Remark I 6 Proclus Diadochus, 1 2 in I librum Euclidis y Plu-tarch de exilio, p 607 √ Diog Lacrt ubi supra, n o Diodor Siculus,I cap 38 Diog Laert 1b x06015 -שר עוב ד Tackiúci. export motive 781 0 185 , 19 670 21110 kg 10 10 11 or aur, x)

(d) NaEa-

MTELXTOIS, א, אנו מסוי

μεμιγμι-

1015,X, XOTz rozpois Anwigo-

ris hac docet, mens omnium est

mutium, fa & omnium domina est.

& ordihem contulis pra-bet, &

motionem im-bas, & difciimen commixtis, & ornatum mornatis H rmiasis

p. lofoph

1"1 1/10ne 1 1 Hook

100

אבי אנו שלבוע שונג

a Seethe no longer (H). It is reported that Anaxagoras had foreto the Stone which fell from Heaven into the River Agos, and was reved and ho noured as a Holy Relick, (I) should fall from the Body of the Sun. Some of the Prophecies a are also attributed to him. He applied himself very much to B Geometry; and it was found that in his Prison he had writ γ on the Quadratus fved and ho-Sun. Some o of the Circle His vast Genius was sufficient for every thing; the most difficult Phanomena of Nature, Comets, the Milky-way, Earthquakes, Winds, Thunder Lightning A, the Overslowing of the Nile 4, the Eclipses, and such like Things which he accounted for, and his Astronomical and Geometrical Speculations, did not prevent his reading the Poems of Homer, with the attention of a Man who defigns to discover Secrets and improve Learning. He was the first & that supposed them to be Moral Books, in which Virtue and Justice are explained by Allegorical Narrations. The Circumstances and Issue of the Action that was brought against him at Athens

Stions of the Intelligence consist (d) in placing in Order what was not, in moving what was at Rest, in separating such things as were mixed, and adorning those that wanted to be adorned. He might have been attack'd both in Front and Rear It might have been faid to him, You fay too much or too lit-tle If you believe that Nature without any Direction or knowledge form'd all the Homeomeria, you ought to believe that she could have moved, separated and distributed them And therefore the Understanding is superfluous. But if you believe it necessary for the Separation and Distribution of those Homaomeria, you ought also to ascribe their Forma-Homeomerie, you ought allo to alcribe their Formation to it, you do not extend its Influence wherever it is wanting So that one part of your Syftem destroys the other. It is not made up of well suited and well * compasted Pieces. If we had his Writings, or all those of (c) Theophrassus, we might perhaps see that he answered some of the Distinctives which I have just now started, and that he owned which I have just now started, and that he owned that he was not satisfied with his own Hypothesis, and that he sunk under the weight of the Mysteries of Nature He faid that every thing (f) was full of Darkness Several other Philosophers make the same Darkness Several other Philosophers make the same Complaints, so far as to imagine that the Darkness mention'd by Moses (g), which was upon the Deep before God created the Light, was only removed with respect to the Eyes, for, say they, the Darkness of the Mind covers full the upper part of the Deep The Light of Truth concentred in that A-TUS ARIVÍ -7016, xy ola-Reitil Tole byss, never comes out of it, but sends only some Rays, which reach our Mind after so many Resections and Refractions, and after having mixed their Brightness with so many obscure Corpuscles in the dark Spaces which they go through, that they are only proper to form falle Images
(H) That the Notions of the Ancients who ment on'd

the Class were unexact, and that they could not far that that State of Confusion subsified no longer] I had retolv'd to make here some Reslections on this Subject, but ince the foregoing Remarks, and those that remain to be made, will sufficiently, if not too much, enlarge this Article, I have alter'd my Resolution to avoid Prolixity I shall not want an Oclution to avoid Prolixity I shall not want an Oc-casion to give in another Article what I suppress

(1) That Anaxagoras had forceold that the Stone fhould fall from the Body of the Sun] This is related (h) by Diogenes Lacreius, and Plutarch menrelated (h) by Diogenes Laertius, and Plutarch mentions this Prodigy in these Words (i) 'Others fan"cied that a Stone, which seem'd to fall from

"Heaver, was an Omen of this (k) Overthrow
"Twas of a vast bigness, and it fell by the River
"Agos The Pelopomessans esteem it very much,
"and shew it among their Curiosities to this day
"And it is said that the Philosopher Anaxagoras fore—told, that one of the Bodies fasten d to the Vault
"of Heaven would fall mon the Farth by a Slidere "of Heaven would fall upon the Earth by a Sliding "and Shaking that was to happen I or he faid that the Stars were not in the very places wherein they were formed, feeing they were heavy Bodies " and of the Nature of Stones, and that they shone "and of the Nature of Stolles, and that they mone by the Reflection of the Elementary Fire, and had been drawn up by force, and were kept there by the impetuolity and Violence of the Circular Motrum and tion of the Heavens, as they had been placed there of Justin Martyr's Works, Paris, 1636, and Cologne, 1686 (') S. a Passage of Aristotle in the Remark R

we ca Book ever the Avazayops, de Anaxagoræ decretis

Diog

I airt in Theophr I e n 4

(f) Anaxagoras pronunci-Latinnt 1 3 c 28 p m 217 is (b) Diog Lacrt at circumfula esse tenebi is omnia (e) See the fift Chapter of Gen-sis (b) Diog Laert lib 2 n 10 (1) Plut in Lyfandro, pag 439
(l) Viz The Distruttion of the Athenian Fleet by Lyfan-

"at the beginning of the World, and hinder'd from falling upon the Earth, when cold and heavy Bo." dies were separated from the other Substances of the World." I have set down this whole Passage "the World I have fet down this whole Passage that the Tradition of this Prodigy and the Singulathe World "I have set down this whole Paliage that the Tradition of this Prodigy and the Singularity of the Doctrine of Ansagors; may be seen at one and the same time. The Words of Pliny deferve no less to be quoted. Celebrant Graci, says he sees as one and the same time. The Words of Pliny deferve no less to be quoted. Celebrant Graci, says he sees are seen as one and the same, pradixiffe calestium literarum scientia, quibus diebus saxum casurum esset e Sole. Idque factum interdiu in Thracia parte ad Agos slumen. Qui lapis etiam nunc ossenditur, magnitudine webis, colore adulto, comete quoque illis noccibus flagrante. Quod si quu spradictum credat, simul faceatur nucesse est, colore adulto, comete quoque illis noccibus flagrante. Quod si quu spradictum credat, simul faceatur nucesse est, majoris miraculi divinitatem Anaxagora fuisse solique rerum natura intellectum, & confundi omnia, si sui ipse Sol lapis esset canca celitur, & confundi omnia, si sui ipse Sol lapis esset canca celitur bedieque, modicus quidem, sed quem in medio terrarum casurum idem Anaxagoras pradixisse narratur. Colitur & Cassandica, qua Potidas vocitata est ob id deducta. You see by this that Anaxagoras colitur bedieque, modicus quidem, sed quem in medio terrarum casurum idem Anaxagoras pradixisse narratur. Colitur & Cassandica, qua Potidas vocitata est ob id deducta. You see by this that Anaxagoras colitur positium con the falling of those mare than once foretold the falling of those mare than once of the Plural Number concerning the Product of the Plural Number and that the Worship of 'em increased proposition of the Plural Number concerning the Prodigy of the River Egos They pretend (b) that Anaxagoras foretold that Stones would fall from Heaven Philostratus has express himself after the same manner I shall set down his Words at length, because they will afford Matter for Criticism das do allocated they will afford Matter for Criticism das do allocated an Impiety and Egos, of the have been unjustly taxed with such an Impiety and Egos, of the having foreseen several things, and foresteld there, after the same manner as Society and the such as the same to pass. And Anaxagoras also, for who is signorant, that once upon a time being gone to the Olymbic Structus as allocated as a such as pick Games with a Gabardine on to foretell (d) that it would Rain, although the Day was sollear and Serene that there was no likelihood of Rain, yet a little while after it rain'd apace? Having another time foresold that a House would fall in a few Days, it fell soon after Again baving foretold that the Day at Noon would in an instant become as dark as Night And another time that great Words astones would fall from Heaven into the River Agos, bove Lettame so to pass Now if it be acknowledged that those Things and others of the like Nature, foreseen () There by Anaxagoras, were only a Sign of a very great Skill, us an interthat these Things and others of the like Nature, fereseen () There by Anaxagoras, were only a Sign of a very great Skill, us an interhow can they be imputed to Apollonius for Magiche val of alous Note (e) There is no Astrologers at present that Anaxagoras did, in foretelling Rain, and that time about a Stone should fall from Heagen, and other such like things. What an Absurdity is this As great Fooler as the Astrologers of our Days may be, they not the Rashness to foretell that Stones will fall Heaven Our Almanack-Makers, and our most she time nowned Calculators of Horoscopes, take more care when it was sulfil-

Apollon: P 91 (f) See his than to hazard their Reputation fo impudently They was fulfilthan to hazard their Reputation so impudently They know too well that the Foresight of such Falls surpasses all their Skill Pliny (f) had Reason to say ing method that the Prediction of Anaxageras would have been a greater Miracle than to see a Stone fall from the (g) Photis another Observation (g) Photis in his Abstract of the Life of Apollonius pretends, that Anaxageras was accounted a great Prophet for having predictably magick, that it would Rain I cannot believed the Photis did so little understand Photography 1017

Magick, that it would Rain I cannot believed the photography in this Work has been put in by the Transcraphy dreas Schottus stater could have the Heart to get that Passage prinflator could have the Heart to get that Paffage prinfor Impiety, are ariously reported: Some say that he was Condemn'd (K), and others in the that he was acquirted. Pericles who protected him on this occasion, was suspected of Remarks Athersm, for having been Instructed by such a Master I have spoke of it in another of the Arest place. Diogenes Lacrius mentioning a witty saying of Anaxagoras, has committed a full Peric Blunder tles

His Translation is a Series of fuch groß Impertinences, and Monstrous Reasonings, and with-al so expressy contrary to the Original of Philostrasur, that nothing can be comprehended in his Conduct Did he believe that the Text of Photias was correct? He must then have dreamt of something else Did he believe the Readers wouldbe so stupid as to like it his Performance? He was then in a Prodi-giousSecurity I exhort those who are qualified for it, to examine this Place of Photius, they will find fuch Wounds in it as require the Dexierity of the best Hands, and perhaps they will heal them by the Affiftance of the Manuscripts compared with the Text of Philofiratus

(K) Some fay that he was condemned, and others that he was acquirted] He was accused of Impiety by Cleon, for having faid that the Sun was a Mais of inflamed Matter, and notwithstanding Pericles's Prote-Chion he was condemn'd to Banishment, and fined five Talents, as Sotion (1) related the Matter But others said that Thucydides accus'd him, and not only charg d him withImpiety, butalfo withTreafon, and that the Accus'd was condemn'd to (k) Death for Contumacy Others faid that he was in Prison when the Sentence of Death was pronounc'd against him They add also, that Pericles askt the Judges, Do You find that he has committed any Crime? And perceiving that none was imputed to him, he faid, I am his Disciple, destroy him not therefore, being preposses with Galumnies, believe merather, and give him his Liberty. He obtain'd his Request, but the Accused took this Trial so much to heart, that he resolved to die (!) Others reported that he was brought before the Judges by Pericles, and that his Melanchofy had made him so lean that he could hardly go, so that he was discharg'd, not because he was found Innocent, but because of the Compassion which he rais'd (m) I have said eliewhere (n) that Pericles found no better means to fave that Philosopher than to cause him to leave Athens Take notice of Four Things 1 The Accusers of Anaxagoras were Men of a contrary Faction to Pericles It was not therefore out of Zeal for Religion that they persecuted that Philosopher, but with a Design to maintain their Cabal, and weaken the Authority of Pericles, by maliciously causing the Suspicion of Irreligion to fall upon him In which they could not better fucceed than by accu-fing A-axagoras of Impiety This is generally the first Cause of this fort of Accusations when Men will be reveng'd of any Body, or remove an Obstacle to Authority, and Fortune, they call the Passions of the People to their Assistance, pretending that the Honour of God is concern'd in it 2 It is not true that the Accusers of Anaxagorus grounded their true that the Acculers of Anaxagoras grounded their accusations on his Acknowledging that the Divine Intelligence made the World, they went upon this, That by saying that the Sun was a Stone, he deprived it of its Divinity which was also the (p) Ground of the Sentence of Condemnation And therefore Vossius has committed a Fult in these Words (q) Lastin industria nobis ips Anaxagora verba conservation Sunt anten hujus mode is a Naxagora verba conservation sunt anten hujus mode is deven supposed Omnia simule earned dende accessive Mens. eague composition. Quam apert. de accessit Mens, eaque composuit Quam aperto bic opificem ab opificio distinguit! Hoc ferre non potuere Athenienses, ac a Sionna vil a siscessi vocarunt Awas not meerly condemn d because of the Distinction which he made between God and his Works, but because he did not teach as the Poets did, that the Sun was both the Work of God, and a God For according to the Belief of the People, grounded upon the Writings of the Poets, the Sun was Apollo the Son of Jupiter, and one of the great Destrey Vossius's Fault is like that of one who should fay, That the Inquistion has caus'da Man to be put to Death for having taught, that there is none but God the Author, Preserver, and Sovereign Lord of all Things, that deserves the Supreme Worship of Latria, and that no Creature that is in Paradile de-This Doctrine comprehends two Points, and a Man would be punished in Salamanca only for the Second Would not a Protestant be in the Wrong to say.

That that Man was punished for the first Point of Honeyer. Exclude the reasons to shark it Presses. However, Eusebish has reason to think it strange, that maxageras should have been like to be ston d as an Atherst, notwithstanding his Orthodoxy as to the Existence of a God, the Author of this World, a Existence of a God, the Author of this World, a Doctrone which he taught sirst of all among the Greeks (a) Gaugasca I ber ws ETG ment (a) Euseb. Tap Exham ture Seologinsa t resolve, to liepath Administic and Delta ber at Halin tolerate, to Lvang l. Halin mointhe, wings deiv rathad deis édule. In 14 c. 14 quo sane permirum illud est, qui princeps apua Gra os p. 750 C cam Theologia rationem intulcrat, cum Asheniensibus, (b) Oi quad non jam Solem, at Solis ipsus essectorem Deum sia-weight turret, atheum esse visium, ac propterea parum absusse; esseuments qued non jam Solem, at Solis ipfius effectorem Deum flatueret, atheum effe visum, ac propteres parum abfuisse, quin ab its lapidibus necaretur. This, I iay, is an amazing thing, for in short, (which is my 3d Remark) one can hardly conceive that in so Learned a Town as Athens, a Philosopher might not explain the Properties of the Stars by Physical Reasons, without running the Harard of his Life Is it not a deplorable thing for a Man, to be more knowing than a Superstitious Mob, guided by Senseles Men? To what purpose serves this Superiority of Genius and Knowledge among such People? Is it not rather a Crime? does it not expose a Man to a thousand document of the superiority of Genius and Knowledge among such People? Is it not rather a Crime? does it not expose a Man to a thousand a Crime? does it not expose a Man to a thousand Infamies and Dangers (b)? And would not one enjoy the Conveniencies of Life much better by following the Current of Ignorance and Superstiting on? I say in the 4th Place, that one ought to won der that such a remarkable Trial as that of Anexago ras, in which Perieles the Chief Man of Athens was so far concernd, has not been better Known to Historians. For they mention it with a I housand

Variations, nay, some of 'em offirm on the chief Point the quite contrary to what others deny, which is not for the Honour of Antiquity I must not forget a fine Passage of Lucian, where it is suppos'd that the greatest of all the God, en deavour'd to crush Anavagoras to pieces, but that he miss'd him, and that the Thunderbolt, being turn'd off by Pencles, burnt a Temple, and was like to break against a Rock (ε) Δικην δώσεσην ετειδών τ καταινών οποκάσοω κατεαιωνίαι ο αιπ κ) αποςομωμέναι εισί δυο ακτίνες αι μεγιςαι, ετο το φιλοτιμοτεςον ηκόιτισα αρωην όδι τ σορικήν Αναθηγό-Τε φιλοτιμότεςον ηκόιτισκ σρωην ότι το σοις ήν Αναστοροξείν, δε επείθε του ομιλητας μηθε ολως είναι τη ας ημάς του θεές αλλ εκείνε μθι διήμαςτεν λορο θε γλ αιπί τ χείς Περικλής ο β κες αιλ ός, εις το ανακρίον συστοι μας, εκείνό τε ημιτορλέζει κὶ αυτος ολίγε δείν στινε τει κας το πάτραν Ραπας dabunt simul atque fulmen praparavero Nam fracti sunt, τ retusa cuspida duo radis ejus maximi, quum nuper acrius in Sophisam A naxagoram jacularer, qui suis familiaribus persuadebat, nullos esse nos qui Dis vocamur At ab illo aberravi, nam obtenta manu Pericles eum protexit Fulmen vero in Castoris τ Pollucis templum detortum, tum illud exussit, tum ipsum ad saxum pene est comminutum Vossiu (d), tum ipsum ad saxum pene est comminutum Vossius (d), who only says that Jupiter darted his Thunderbolt against that Philosopher, gave Moreri Occasion de Philosopher to say, that Anaxagoras was crusht to pieces soph section with it. It was very natural to believe it, for it cannot easily be thought that a Thursday design. edfor the Death of any Person, should not kill him But this ought to teach us to have Recourse to the Originals, and not to mind the Modern Authors who only mention such Circumstances of a Fact as they stand in need of Vossius, for Example, who had no occasion in that Place to say whether Jupiter fucceeded or not, suppress'd Lucian's Rallery I his gorx Omission has been a Trap to Morers, which he might non ablihave avoided, if he had only translated the Latin of Vossius Why did he act the part of a Paraphrast? Lumbert Barleus commenting on this Place of Lucian, nofter, afferts(e) that Anaxagoras was accused of Athessa po on the Account of his Doctrine concerning the Divine Intelligence, which was the first Mover, or This is an untruth which he had from Vossius, and I have already constructed it He says also (f) that a Talent was promised to any one that should kill that Philosopher This seems to me to consound Anaxagoras with the Athess Diagoras, Lastly, (g) in point of Orthodoxy, he compares Anaxagoras with Lucian, and complains that pares Anaxagoras with Lucian, and complains that Gracos Justin Martyr places Lucian among the Athersts But Idibp 6, his comparison is as false as his Complaint, here (h) I off us is the Occasion of his Error He had read in Vossims, de ones (h) Lucianus in Timone sit Jovem in Anamagora capprog Idol put —— sed Lucianum quid dico? Ecce Justimus Martyr 1 1 c 1 p c oratione ad Graces cum Leon vocat, and he did not G g 2 appre-

Qui Chultum

inte fuere. ouod rat one pro captu humano innixi res contemplan, explorare,& contenderint, tanquim imrioli adiudicumtri-Funalia trı&i Tuft Martyr Apol () Lucian in Limon pag 65 to Oper 1 Oper (d) Vossius Barleus in > quem imat Justinus Martyr in 6contra

Timon P

(r)Araxa-

I ucianus

62

(1) Sotion in Succeffionibus Philofophorum apudLaer ubi lupra (k) Satyrus in vit apudLaer 1bid (1) Hervitis apud eumd ib n 13 (m) Hieronymus ın 2 lıbro commentor Viti-

or apud cumd ib

(n) In the Remark M

of the Article Pericles or Thucydes See Plutarch en the Life of Pericles p1g 170 Ø 155 (p) See Josephus lib 2 contra Appıon p 1079

St Cyril lib 2 contiaJulian
(2) Voffius de orig & progr Idol 277. 5

Var Hift 18 c 13 the end

(i) Diog Laert 1 2

10 (k) Menag

in Dieg

in fine (q) Plut

Apolica

quoses as

Treatife de cohi-

& ver # of ynorac (r)Simplic in Epiclet Enchired C 22

(:).A.lian

Var Hift 2 3 6 2 (t) Plut

de Confol ad Appoll

Supra, Stop, 118 Alian ubi

306 (v) Litero Iulculan Quaft 12

252 D

(x) Diog

Lacre 1 # 11

Confol ad

Blunder in Chronology, and (L) I wonder it has been to long uncollered. The Remark Constancy of that Philosopher at the News of his (M) Condemnation, and of the Death of his Sons, was wonderful. He reckon'd it a very small thing a to live die out of one's Country; and he could very well discern (N) what Conditions Stations are most happy Some Authors B have said that he was never seen to Laugh, Last about or even to Smile He died at Lampsacus, where he had an honourable Burial, and (O) a very glorious Epitaph Nay, they went to far as to build him an Altar. A literate the before his Death 2 the Chief Persons of the City gave him a Visit, and asked him towards if he had any Commands for them, to which he answer'd, That he only desired, that the cond Children might be permitted to Play every Year in the Month in which he should die. Children might be permitted to Play every Year in the Month in which he should die. This was perform'd, and that Custom continued still in the time of Diogenes Lacreius. It is faid he lived 72 Years S. We are not fure that he maintain'd the (P) Doctrine of Predeftination.

apprehend that eum refers to the Philosopher Anaxa-goras, and not to Lucian

(L) A Blunder in Chronology | He fays that Anakagoras feeing the Tomb of Maufalus, cried out, it is a Monument of the Conversion of Gold into Stone
I don't confine my self to a literal Translation, but I don't comment.

I aert p here are the Greek Words (1) 1 may 77 col 2 λελίθωμβοης δείν υσιας είδωλου Monumentum pretio(1) Phat is, sum in lapides conversarum divitisarum imago est It against his may be supposed that he really expressed himself stussarthe Sight of a Sumptuous Sepulchre, but it was not at the Sight of that of Mausolus, for his Leert ubi Death preceded the Building of that Monument by supran 13 several Olympiads (k) Anaxagoras.—Olymp (n) ld ib LXXXVIII mortuus est Mausoli autem sepulchrum (0) Cicero ante Olymp Cvii conditum non est Aut igitur hae Tusul verba Philosophus ille non dixit aut alia certe occassione dixit Mausoleum enim nunquam vidit quod ab illustratura in libro fol 261 teribus Laertii nondum opinor objervaium oj.

(p) Valer sunt joannus Pearsonii viri undecunque dottissimi, in libro de epistolu Santti Ignatii pag 9 secunda partu, quibus ego asentior Id ipsum observatum a Gisberto Cupero in antiquis numi fmatibus explicates, viro elegantifimi ingegenis police (M) The Constancy of the Philosopher at the News of 118 de his Condimnation, and of the Death of his Sons, was won-hib 1ra, dirful] On the first News, he said, Nature has long p 463 d. ago pronounced her Sentence as well against (1) them as tranquill against me, and on the second, I knew very well that animi p I had begot them Mortal Men (m) Diogenes Laertius Intimutes that he lost them all, and adds (n), that Mr Menage in him with their own Hands, which would be a lacrot. Contradiction among Authors But it may be cleared, if it be supposed that after he had shew'd that Constancy, he had other Children, or that he swoTrestimade this Answer only when he heard of the Death of one of his Sons Cicero makes use of the singuof one of his sons Gierro makes the of the high-lar Number (*) Quem (Anaxagoram) ferunt nuncia-ta morte filit, dixisse, sciebam me genusse mortalem (p) Valerius Maximus, (q) Plutarch, and (r) Simplicius use the same Number, but Elian (r) observes that benda ira Anaxagoras had only two Sons, and that he spoke those Words at the hearing of the Death of both Note that he received that News whilst he was (t)

reading a Lecture in Philosophy I shall place here what he answer'd to his Friends who askt him at Lampicaus, if he would after his Death be carried to Clazomene, where he was born That is not necessary, laid he to them, the Way to the Elysian Fields is not farther from one Place than from another (v) Practare Annuagoras, qui quum Lampfaci moreretur, quarentibus amilis velletni Clazomenas in patriam, si quid et accidisti asse ri, nibil necesse est, inquit, undique enim ad infires tantundem via est Diegenes Laertius (x) supposes that he faid this to a Perion who was vex d to die out of his Countrey I have often wonder'd that the fine Sayings of the Ancients are fo variously reported, and I have enquired into the Reason of it what follows, seems to me to be most likely. The Readers retain the Substance of a Fast better than the Circumstances, and therefore, if they have a mind to relate it, they fupply what they have forgotten, in the best manner they can, and as their Taftes are different, it happens they can, and as their I aires are different, it nappens that some supply one thing, and some another. I say nothing of the Supplements that are designedly made to fit things better to the Subject that is treated of They are Artificial Variations, which proceed from Insincerity I say nothing of 'em. What I say of Readers ought to be extended to all manner of People. Men are still more apt to falsify what they have than what they read. hear than what they read hear than what they read

(N) What Conditions, or Stations are most happy]

He believed the most happy are those, which seem less to be so, and that those who enjoy the greatest

Happinels, are not Rich Month or those who are surrounded with Honour those who manure their Ground, or apply elves to the Sciences Valertin Maximus will tell it without Ambition Valerius Maximus will tell it better than I Nec (a) parum pradenter Anaxugeras interrogant: cuidam, quifnam esset beatus Neme, inquit, (a) Valai, ex hu quos tu selices existimae sed cum in illo numiro reperiar, qui à te ex miseris constare creditur. Numero ille divitiis de honoribus abundans sed aut exigui variar ille divitiis de honoribus abundans sed aut exigui variar aut non ambitiosa destrina sidelis ac pertinax cultiv, in p. m. 604 secossu quam in fronte beatior

(O) And a very glorious Epitaph. Alian and Laerius mention this Epitaph, which consists of these two Verses. without Ambition of these two Verses.

Ένθαθε (b) πλούσον αληθείας δτί τέρμα περίσας Ουρανία κόσμα, κοιται Αναξαρόρας Hie situs ille est, cui rerum patuere recessus, Atque arcana poli, magnus Anaxagoras There is as much Energy in this Distichas in these

Seven French Verses, which contain a like Encomi-

Descartes (c), dont tu vois icy la sepulture, A defille les yeux des aveugles morrels,

Et gardant le respect que l'on doit aux Autelt

Leur a du monde entrer demontre la fruiture

Son nom non multi-accite s'annie le l'accite le l'a

Leur a du monde entier aemonire in jirnum.

Son nom par mille coriti se rendit glorieux,

Son esprit mesurant & la terre & les cicux

En penetra l'abine, & perca les nuages

Diegenes l'aertisus says nothing of the Altar of Anausageras

But Alian (d) makes mention of it, and (d) Aliani En penetra l'abime, & perca les nuages

Diogenes I aertius says nothing of the Altar of Anakageras

But Alian (d) makes mention of it, and (d) Alian seems to say that two were consecrated to him, one under the Title of Understanding, the other under 1 8 c 19 that of Truth But a very Learned Critick (e) does (e) Kuhninot understand the Passage so, he says it signifies us in bunc that, according to the Altar was dedicated to leaun Ente Understanding and according to others, to the lians Truth Aristole (f) observes, that the Inhabitants (f) Arist of Lampsacus continued to honour Anaxageras I Reservices must observe, that in St Augustin's time the Authorities 2 c. 23 ty of that Philosopher was still very considerable page 445 Quam (veritatem) si sinsit Anaxageras, eamque Deum (g) August esse vide, mentemque appellavit, non solum nomen Appis 36.

naxagera quod propter liter atam vesustatem, onnies, ut pm 272 militarite loquar, literations libenter suffant, nos dossos & pm 272 militarite loquar, literations libenter suffant, nos dossos & pm 272 militarite loquar, literations libenter suffant, nos dossos & pm 272 militarite loquar, literations libenter suffant, nos dossos & pm 272 militarite loquar, literations libenter suffant, nos dossos & pm 272 militarite loquar, literations libenter suffant, nos dossos & pm 272 militarite loquar, literations libenter suffant, nos dossos & pm 272 militarite loquar, literations libenter suffant, nos dossos & pm 272 militarite loquar, literations libenter suffant, nos dossos & pm 272 militarite loquar, literations libenter suffant, nos dossos & pm 272 militarite loquar, literations libenter suffant, nos dossos & pm 272 militarite loquar, literations libenter suffant, nos dossos & pm 272 militarite loquar, literations libenter suffant, nos dossos & pm 272 militarite loquar, literations libenter suffant, nos dossos & pm 272 militarite loquar, literations libenter suffant pm 272 militarite loquar libenter suffant loguar libenter suffant loguar libenter suffant loguar libenter suffant l

(b) Dieg. Laert I 2 # 15,

Predestination. He is the first w Philosopher that (2) published Books Societes, who wis in hopes to fillid certain Things in them, was not fatisfied with the Reading of them, " " (R) which probably was his Fault, as I will show in the Restections I am to make on who affert that Ananageres Was against Predestination, do not quote any Ancient Author who speak of it. He had said also that Diegenes Lastine, Cicero, Galen, Platarch, and Origen, make no mention of

(Q) The first Philosophir issue published Books] Diogenes Lacretus says to positively (k) How & Bankandopas as Bishir Stadens or proceedings. PRIMUS autem Anamagorus librum d sessent same edust. But because he seems to declare in another Place (l) for Phavorimus, who had faid that Alemson the Disciple of Pythagorus, was distributed that Memoen the Disciple of Pythagorus, was distributed that wrote upon Physicks, he makes his Talkhony very doubtful Glemens Alexandrimus leaves the thing undecided, he only says (m), that some ascribe to Alemson the first Work that was published concerning Nature, and that others pretend that Anaxagorus was the first that others pretend that Anaxageras was the first who presented a Book to the Publick These two Opinions would be false, if These had writ Books, Opinions would be false, if Thales had writ Books, as St Augustin asserts; and if the Greek Tradition mention'd by Saidas (0) was true, viz that the Philosopher Phiretydes was the first that wrote Books Note that Aristoile (p) observes, that the Writings of Augustus came out after those of Empedocles, tho' the latter was younger than Augustus.

(R) Socrates was not fatisfied with the reading of them, which probably was his Fault] I will here lay before youtwo things, an Abridgment of Socrutes's Complaint, and afterwards some Reflections

(k) Ding Lacrt 1 2 7 11 (1) Id 1 8 n 83 (m) Clem Alexand. Stromat

7010

(p) Arift Metuphy

1163 See bertup-on Fonfeca's Comment ary ,p m 218 (q) Piato an Phadone upon it

When I came to know, (q) fays he, that Anauagogas laid down in one of his Books that (r) an Unthat down in the or in social things, I was the start of the start of Caufe, and imagin'd that the thence it would result that each Being was qualified and situated after the most excellent manner I hop'd then with great Joy to find at last in that Book of Anaxagoras, a Master who would instruct me in the Causes of each thing, and inform me whether the Earth is round or flat, and then exornare, omniumque caufame este la ibid

(1) 'Ope Carro and as I believ'd that this Reason would be grounded upon the Idea of the highest Errection, I was in hopes he would have shew'd that the State the coupon, who we have told us why that Situation was the best warra airmas in the coupon with the placed it in the Center he would have told us why that Situation was the best of all I resolved to look for no other Cause, provided he made that clear to me, and onmora airmas in the Cause of each thing, and inform me whether the Earth is round or situation of what he state the State the State the State the State the Center he would have told us why that Situation was the best of all I resolved to look for no other Cause, provided he made that clear to me, and onmora airmas in truct me in the Cause of what he had determin'd and as I believ'd that this Reason would be grounded upon the Idea of the highest Errection, I was in hopes he would have shew'd that the State the State the State the State the State the State the Cause, which a clear to me, and onmora airmas in the Cause of each thing, and inform me whether the Earth is round or site, and then give me the Reason of what he had determin'd and as I believ'd that this Reason would be grounded upon the Idea of the highest Errection, I was in hopes he would have shew'd that the State the State the Cause, provided he made that clear to me, and onmora airmas in the Center he would be placed, and that if he placed it in the Center he would be placed, and that if he placed it in the Center he would be placed, and that if he placed it in the Center he would be placed, and that if he placed it in the Center he would be placed, and that if he placed it in the Center he would be placed, and that if he placed it in the Center he would be placed, and that if he placed it in the Center he would be placed, and that if he placed it in the Center he would be placed, and that if he placed it in the Center he would be placed, and that if he placed it in the Cente manner explain'd the particular Nature of each Botomare the manner explain'd the particular Nature of each Botomare the manner explain'd the particular Nature of each Botomare the manner explain'd the particular Nature of each Botomare the manner explain'd the with the greatest Eagernes to the reading of his Writings, that I might speedily know what is most excellent, and what is very bad, but I found this Philosopher (r) does not alledge the Suting and the Cause of the Ordering Quam ut, for the Water, and such other impertinent Subjects, as to their Original 'Tis just as if any one after having said that whatever I do, I do it by the Understanding, should afterwards account for all my particular Actions after this manner Secretes is sitting, because his Body is composed of Bones and Nerves, which by the Rules of Mechanism are the Cause that he can bend his Members He speaks, because the Motion of his Tongue moves the Air, and conveys its Impression to the Ear, Or speaks, because the Motion of his Tongue moves the Air, and conveys its Impression to the Ear, &c. Such a Man would forget the true Cause, to wit, this the Athenism having judged it best to condemn me, and that was more just that I should suffer the Punishment which they have order'd Now if any Body objects that without my Bones and Nerves, &c I cannot perform what I would, he judges right, but if he pretends that I perform to because of my Bones furda pro caufis af-

and Nerves, &c and not by the Choice of what is belt, fince he supposes that I all by Understanding, (a) Ticking best, since he supposes that I at by Understanding,

(a) his Discourse is very absurd

You plainly see the Opinion of Secreter He had forsaken the Study of Natural Philosophy, and applied himself whosly to the Moral, wherefore he required that all Natural Things should be explained by Moral Reasons, and by the Ideas of Order, and Perfection I dare say that he censured Anaxage as improperly Every Philosopher who has once supposed that an Intelligence has moved Matter, and placed the Parts of the Universe in order, is no longer obliged to have recourse to that Cause when he's to give a Reason for each Effect of Nature, he ought to explain by the Action and Re action of Bodies, by the Qualities of the Elements, by the Consiguration of the Parts of Matter, or the Vegetation of Plants, the Meteors, the Light, Gravity, Opacity, Fluidity, or Such is the Method of the Christian Philosophers whatever Sect they may be of The Schoolmen have an Axiom, That a Philosopher ought not to have recourse to God, Philosopher ought not to have recourse to God, Philosopher ought not to have recourse to God, Non est Philosophi recurrers ad Deum. They call that Recourse the Sanctuary of Ignorance. And indeed what could you say more absurd in a Piece of Physicks than this, Stones are hard, Fire is hot, and Cold freezes the Rivers, because God has order'd it so. The Cartesans themselves, who make God not only the first Mover, but also the only, constituted and perpetual Mover of Matter, make continual, and perpetual Mover of Matter, make no use of his Will and Actions to explain the Ef-fects of Fire, the Properties of the Loadstone, Cono use of his Will and Actions to explain the Effects of Fire, the Properties of the Loadstone, Colours, Smells, &c they only consider the Second Causes, the Motion, Figure, and Situation of the small Bodies So that if the Remark of Clemens Alexandrinus, mention'd (b) above, was only ground. (b) In the ed on the Discourse of Socrates, it would be very Remark & unjust We should know in order to approve it, not that Anaxageras explain'd many Things without mentioning the Divine Understanding, but that he wholly excluded it when he explain'd part of the Phanomens of Nature Perhaps he said in some Parts of his Writings what his Disciple Europides said since, viz that God (c) concerns himself only (c) Tai danisting with great Things, and leaves the lesser to Fortune, 2017 Dai 3706, deminimu non curat Prator We have observed a number of the World was like the Tribunal of the Prætors, that 3706, deminimu non curat Prator We have observed a number of the Survey and that he only call'd the Supreme Intelligence to ea, xt his Assistance when he could not make it appear to Europe that Necessity had produced a Thing It may be mode to suffer the unimars of much, when he speaks of the mode December of System, and that he had less than Pieces in it ill joyn'd procurat Aristicale intimates so much, when he speaks of the modo Desirit Philosophers who acknowledg'd two Causes, the us, inque Material, and the Efficient He compar'd them fortunin

I would not blame Socrates for defiring such an Explication of the Universe as he mentions, for could any thing be more excellent or curious than to know distinctly and particularly, why the Perfection of the Machine of the World requir'd that each Planet should have the Figure, Magnitude, Situation and Swiftness which it has, and so of all the Rest? But that Science does not belong to Mannrit Philotophers who acknowledged two Causes, the us, inque Material, and the Efficient. He compared them fortuning with Men that have not learned the Art of Fight-minora ing, and yet do often wound their Enemies, which rejicit, ut they do without following the Rules of that Art air luri-In like manner those Philosophers were not Masters pides of their Subjects. Out of his are not Masters pides of their Subjects. Out of his are not Masters pides of their Subjects. Out of his are not markers pides of their Subjects. Out of his are not also present ud arises and the transfer of the his arises are also arises and the first markers are soing on sides and are not are perfectly and the first markers and the motion obscure tamen, or non flot Michael sed quemadmodum inexercitati in praiso faciunt taphy selection illi circumeuntes, agregias plerumque plagas in-lice facilit exflicint Sed necilli exflicints, necisti videntur scire p 146 G quid dicant. You will see essewhere (g) that (g) Id is there are some Things which Anaxagoras did not c 7.9 651 explain, and which he would infallibly have C admitted, if any one had made the Discovery to him, and lastly, that many sine Dostrines would result from his Principles, if they were cleared and unfolded.

I would not blame Socrates for desiring such an

p 72 &.

∫eq
(r) Ω4 बेहद गरी. KOTHON TE RE HELTON omnia exornare. multa abrerum

fignare
Id 16 p

6 Philyfr. what he fays One of the Reasons why he slighted Astronomy, was, because Anana-Apollon y See the Remark G towards the end & Ariftot Mitaphy? lib 3 c 5 p 671 G n Theo dor de Grac aftect Serm 5 Pag 547 0 Id 16 pag 548 x See the Islusts of Combi in A) iftot l 1 de calo e 3 p m 65 h Diog Lacrt ubi Supran 10 u In the

WIIY w canno d mor fliate to particular I ca Jons, that each Body in the Univofers in S ateit coul i possillybein

Romark E

of the Art Pereira

v Lacri

16 # 14

goras who had extraordinarily applied himself to it (S), was very much mistaken in it. What is observed concerning the Treatise in which he reason'd about Eclipses, is a very curious thing You'll find it at the End of the Remark B of the Article Pericles. I must not forget that & Mount Mimas near Clazomena, was a Place from whence he took a View of the Stars. Much less must we forget that the Strength and Sublimity of his Genius, his Labour, his Application, and his many Discoveries, led him only to Uncertainties, for he complain'd y that every thing was full of Darkness. This was it perhaps which oblig'd him to say that all things consist in Opinion, and that a the Objects are such as we would have them, that is to say, such or such, according as they feem to us Tho' he taught , that the Soul of Man was an Aereal Being; yet he thought it & Immortal He honour'd it more than the World, for he was one of x those who judged that Heaven and Earth would perish; and when he was askt, If the Mountains of Lampsacus should one day be part of the Sea, he answer'd, Yes, provided Time should not fail them A. I have observed u elsewhere, what his Opinion was concerning the Souls of Beasts 'Tis pity that he was not a Friend of Democratal, and that those two great Men did not concert together about their Hypotheles; the Defects of the one (b) See the might have been mended by the Perfections of the other, but there was no Familiari-Discours ty between them Anaxagoras bore Democritus an ill Will, because the Visit which he

Mankind, and it was a piece of Injustice to expect it from Anaxagora: And unless one had the Idea which God followed in making the World, it would be impossible to give the Explications which Socrates desired All that the greatest Philosophers can say thereupon amounts to this. That since the Earth is round, and situated at such a Distance from the Sun, that I igure and Situation were requisite for the Beauty and Symmetry of the Universe, the Author of that vast Machine having an infinite Intelligence and Wisdom Whereby we know in General, that every thing goes well in that Machine, undertake to make it appear by Piece-meal, that e-very thing is in the best Condition it can possibly bein, we should infallibly give very wrong Reasons for it. We should do like a Peasant who having no Notion of a Clock, should undertake to prove that the Wheel which he lees through a Chink was to be of such a Thickness, and Buggest, and president be of fuch a Thickness, and Bigness, and precisely placed there, because if it had been less, thinner, and let in another Place, greatInconveniences would have hap'ned by it He would judge of this Machine, as a blind Man of Colours, and without doubt he would argue pitifully The Philosophers are not in a much better Condition to judge of the Machine of the World, than that Pealant of a Clock They know but a small part of it, and are ignorant of the Model of the Artist, of his Design, his Ends, and the Reciprocal Relation of all the Pieces If you say that the Earth ought to be round that it may turn the easier on its Axis, you'll be answer'd, That it would be bettter if it were fquare, that it might turn more leifurely, and give us longer days. What could you reasonably answer, if you was obliged to specify the Inconveniences the World would meet with, if Mercury was greater, or nearer the Larth? Would Mr. Newton, who has discovered fo many Mathematical and Mechanical Beauties in the Heavens, a firm that if Things were not such as he supposes them, as to Magnitude, Distances, and Velocities, the World would be an irregular Work, ill built, or ill contrived? Is not the Divine Understanding Infinite? God has therefore the Ideas of an Infinity of Worlds, different from each other, all of them Ine, Regular, and Mathematical to the last Degree Do you think that he could not draw from an Larth of a Square Figure, and nearer Sasturn, such Uses as would be answerable to those of our Earth Let us conclude then, that Santas Gentland Let us conclude then, that Socrates should not have imagin'd that Anax agoras would prove to him by a Particular Deduction, that the present State of every thing is the best it can be in There is none but

God that can prove it in that manner

How should we do what Socrates required concerning the Machine of the World, since we can't do it with respect to the Machine of an Animal, after so many Dissections, and so many Lectures of Anatomy which have taught us the Number, Situation, and Use, Ge of its chief Organs? By what particular Reasons can it be prov d, that the Perfection of Man and these Sections of the Provided Herical Section of Man and the Section of the Provided Herical Section of Man and the Section of the Provided Herical Section of Man and the Section of the Provided Herical Section of the Pr on of Man, and that of the Universe, require that our two Fyes be situated as they are, and that six Eyes placed round the Head would occasion a Diforder in our Body, and in the Universe? It may be reasonably pretended, that in order to give a Man six Eyes round his Head, without departing from the general Laws of Mechanicks, the other Organs should have been so altered, that a Man's Body would have been form'd after another Model, and had been another fort of Machine but no parameter of the state o and had been another fort or iviacnine but no particular Reasons can be given for this, for all that (b) Xenoyou could say would be opposed with Objections as phon, desoprobable as your Proofs We must keep to this crast megeneral Reason The Wisdom of the Author is infinite, and therefore the Work is such as it ought pm 384

The world not restend to come to particulare the says. finite, and therefore the Work is such as it ought to be, we must not pretend to come to particulars those who will engage in a Detail about it, do some (c) Ones times expose themselves to be ridicul'd (h) I will see the can prove by this Discourse of Socrates that he was not the Disciple of Anaxageras, for if he had been, would he have stood in need of Learning of Large from a Man (a) who read the Books of Anaxageras. VETML.

from a Man (a) who read the Books of Anaxageras, varue, that according to that Philosopher, the Divine Understanding was the Cause of all things

(S) Because Anaxagoras who had extraordinarily ap- divingement plied himself to Astronomy, was very much mistaken in it] To the end that Socrates's Thoughts upon this supposed may more clearly appear, I shall set down service somewhat at length the Words of his Historian diving or the He (h) was a Convent that for his Historian diving or the He (h) was a Convent that for his Historian diving or his He (h) was a Convent that for his Historian diving or his He (h) was a Convent that for his Historian diving or historian diving or his historian diving or his historian diving or his historian diving or his historian diving or historian divin (S) Because Anaxagoras who had entraordinarily ap-He (b) was of Opinion that some time should migraff, be spent in Astronomy, that one might know were recommendated what a Clock it is by the Stars, and in what Day (2007) Species of the Month, and in what Season of the Year are in the Night, when it is proper to travel by Sea a season and he Night, when it is proper to travel by Sea a season and he first the world are since the season and he first the world are since the season and he first the world are since the season and he first the world are since the season and he first the world are since the season and he first the world are since the season and he first the world are since the season and he first the world are since the season and he first the season are since the season and he first the season are season as the season are seaso in the Night, when it is proper to travel by Sea and by Land, and he faid this would easily be learn'd in Discoursing with Seamen or Nighthunters. But to endeavour to dive deeper, fo far as to know what Planets are not in the same Declination, to Endeavour the explaining of all the different Motions of the Planets, and to know their distance from the Earth, in what time they make their Revolutions, and what their Influendistinguished the very much distinguished others, for those Sciences seem'd quite useles to him, not because he was Ignorant of them, but because they requir'd the whole Man, and divertedhim from leveral other good Octupa-tions In a word, he would not have any body to Search too Curiously into the Admirable Art wherewith the Gods have Disposed all the Universe, because it is a Secret which the Mind of Man cannot Comprehend And the Gods are not well pleafed that any one should endeavour to discover what they will conceal from us He believed moreover, that there was Danger of fal-ling into Error by those High Speculations, as Anaxagoras did, who Boasted to be very well skilled in them For teaching that the Sun is the fame thing with Fire, he did not consider that fame thing with Fire, he did not communities in I are does not dazzle the Eyes, and that it is impossible to bear the Brightness of the Sun, I do not mention two other Reasons alledged by the Historian against this Doctrine of Ananageras. They are not better than the first, and deserve not so die in much Attention as the Idea which Secrates formed of the Gods. He believed them to be a manufactured their Curiosity so far. I place the Words of runter the Margin.

Nenophon (c) in the Margin

Note that Ariffeele had a more Advantageous O. dmu Pinion of the Deity, he does not deny that if God 1 4 9

Anatomioffered Wil Lami a Paris Physics at (a)SeePla to . ubi Supra p 72 ouphvisas EX EGEAN-Ut una Omnia complecflum unum. quodque quomodo du machifcrutari dehortabatur Neque cnum ho-minibus facile effe ea adınvenire eos facere grataarbıqui ex quærant Renoph

239

placit Philof 1

offered to me was refused. Servius, and Sidonius (T) Apollinaris, were ignorant of a Tothe the Opinions of Anaxagoras. There will be many Greek Passages in the Commentary of this Article, which ought to please such Persons as understand that sick of the Anaxagoras and are minded to judge of a thing by the very Terms of the Anaxagoras hors that are alledged for it, and ought not to displease those that are ignorant of the same, for besides that my Pages will be the shorter for it with pher respect to them, they will find there a general Notion of what is in the Greek C Sextus Let this beside once for all Less I should be too tedious in this Article, I have respected to another place some Chronological Discussions. NOTE. That the Printers can Pyreser's a proposer place some Chronological Discussions. ferr'd & to another place some Chronological Discussions NOTE, That the Printers cus Pyrhaving skip d some Periods that should have been in another Page, they have been inferred here out of their place. He said that Snow was black, and gave but a forry 1 1 c 13 Reason for it, for on the one side he went upon this, c that Snow is condensed Water, y Id adv and on the other, he supposed that black is the proper Colour of Water. He believ'd Mathematical Mathematical Research in general y, that the Eves are not capable to discern the true Colour of Objects, and 1,7 p 153. that our Senses are decentful, and that therefore it is Reason, and not they, that is to Remarks judge of things He said also that the Heavens were I made of Stone, and that the Diog Swiftness of their Motion kept them from falling Others affert & that he believed, Laert ubit that as to sts Essence, Heaven is of the Nature of Fire, but that by the vibemence of sts supra n Revolution it Snatch'd Stones from the Earth, and having set them on Fire they became & Plut de ANABAPTISTS, a Sect which sprung up quickly after the Rise of Luthe ranssm. Nicolas Storeb, Mark Stubner, and Thomas Munzer, laid the Foundation of it in 2 cip 13 the Year 1521. They made an ill use of a Doctrine which they had read in the Book, de libertate Christiana, which Luther had published in the Year 1520 This Proposition, which they found in it, A Christian is Master of all Things, and is subject to no Body, and which Luther (A) took in a very good Sense, seem'd proper to them to gain the common People. Each of them went about it according to his Talent Storeh having no Learning, boasted of Inspirations Stubner who had Wit and Learning, look'd for cristty Explications of the Word of God And Muntzer a bold and passionate Man, made use of Impudence, and gave a full Scope to the most restless Passions They were not contented to cry down the Ecclesiastical Tyranny of the Court of Rome, and the Authority of Consistories, but taught also, that the Power of Princes was an Usurpation, and that Men under the Gospel ought to enjoy a perfect Liberty They rebaptized in Followers, and to make this Practice the more current, they taught that Infant im was Null But they insisted much on rigid Morality, they recommended Martifications, Fastings, and Plainness in Cloaths, by which means they seduced a vast "See his number of People After these successful Beginnings, Munzer became so bold as to 6 Moreri exhort the People publickly to oppose the Magistrates, and force Sovereigns to lay unit the down their Authority Such a Gospel proved so acceptable to the German Peasants, who wrong to found the Yoke of their Masters a little too heavy, that they rebell d in several Places, fay that they rebell d in several Places, this Hereand committed abundance of Violences Troops were rais'd against them, which easily this Heredescated them, and a great Number of them were put to Death. Munzer who had imposed sted about upon them, and who brage to much of Enthusiasm, was taken and Beheaded in the Year, 1525. The Disciples he had not in Swifferland, multiplied the Seat there, and occasion'd many Troubles, so that the Mignistrates were forced to have recourse to the most severe Pe Chost renal Laws, in order to stop the Progress of Anabaptism There was a necessity to do the vealed to

(d) Ari-ftor Metaphyi 1 cap 2 p 644 E. Bessarion renders જ્યાં જે ક Argyro-pylus renders if,qui hæc fu-perflua Carata ca apua this place of Aristotle, p m 130 (f) Sor-

(g) Sidon Apollin Carm 15 v 81 pm 151, 152 (h) That is, Thales

was capable of Jealousy, he would chiefly envy Man the Knowledge of the Sublimest Science, but Man the Knowledge of the Sublimest Science, but he denies what the Poets affirm'd of the pretended Envy of the Gods His Words are very remarkable (d) his I reput to the time of the many of the Gods His Words are very remarkable (d) his I reput to the time of the many of the time of the many of the time of mentiuntur poéta

The other pretends that like Theles he afferted that Water was the Principle of all Bodies, and that he added an Intelligence to this Principle This is to take from him the Doctrine of the Homeomeric, which was not unknown to Sidenius Apellinaris, but he afcribed it without Reason to the Philosopher Anaximander He attributed to him also the mayourspmer, that is to say, That the Seeds of all things were every where, a Doctine that belonged to the Philosoper Anaxagoras It was also Democritus & Dochrine as Arifoile has observed in the 4th Chapter of Book of his Physicks

(g) Sed rebut inusile ponis (h) prum, dum credit aquu subsistere mundum ansus discipuli versa est sententia, dicens, Principits propriu semper res quasque creari, Singula qui quosdam sontes decrevit habere

Eternum irriguos, ac rerum semine plenos Hunc etiam sequitur, qui gignere cuntta putabat Hunc aerem, pariterque Deos sic autumat ortos Quartus Anaxagoras Thaletica dogmata servat Sed divinum animum fentit, qu ficerit orbem

The Learned Savaron has not taken notice of these Spanhe-Mistakes in his Notes on that Poem of Sidenius mius, de Apollonaris

(A) Which Luther took in a very good Senfe] Which progressly, he made appear by explaining his Thoughts, as foon tectis & as he saw how those Men had wrested his Words non in a Qua verba sano sensu a Luthero ______ seripta & bus A - Scripta de proliza Enymore declarata, oppostoque aphorismo, eum. baptistidem omnium servum este, & omnibus subjectum rum, pexposita, detorta suere in sensum sequiorem ab horism bic m. 195 fue pariter & aliene quietis impatientibus His most riche uli of Passionate Adversaries acknowledge that he disappro- sine haitved the seditious Conduct, which seem'd accidentally on inserted to fpring from his Doctrine Father Mainbourg fays in Clop(b) That the Rebels having fent their Mainfelto to penbuty s
Martin Luther, were deceived in their Hopes that he would approve of it, For, adds he, Luther perceiving in a Theothet he was accused by several People, of having & cassioned logic A thus Rebellion by the Rooks he had written in the Vulgar nabapti-Tongue for the Evangelical Liberty against the Tyranny stice of those who oppress the same by Human Traditions and (1) Mairi-swerd them in a large Writing, in which he shows that boury, the Stripture obliges them to submit to Printer and Magi-Hill du the Stripture obliges them to submit to Printer and Magi-Fill du firates, though they should make an ill use of the Power Lutherar which they have received from God over them; that they B 1 p ought to apply themselves to God, and in the mean time 114 suffer with Patience, till it shall please him to order it lought otherwise, and that the way of Arms which they have Edit taken; will prove their Damnarion if they do not lay them dow'th

His most meteule of

VIZ. That of the Humeri ans, and that of the Gabrieorigine, progreilu, ictus, & nominibaptıstarum, prin-tod at Leyden in 1643 Tohn Cloppenfirted it in bis Gangræna Theologiæ Ana-baptisticx,printed as Franc-ker in 1656 in January, March aud November. (g) ld 1b P 202 (1) Capitis ouna in Anabandes reta, & gravibus in coium icceptatores multhis Idib 1 1g 263 like in several Cities of Germany, and elsewhere. Indeed the Ministers carefully (B) confined those Sectaries, but as this did not produce the Effect that was wished for, the Magistrates supplied the desect of it by their Authority. The Anabaptists, made a great Progress in Moravia, and it had been greater notwithstanding the severe Oppositions of the Secular Power, if they had not divided themselves into two a Factions. There was no Town more restricted with those People than ICA that of an ICA There was no Town more perfered with those People than (C) that of Mantions I nere was no lown more penered with those reopie than (C) that of Manyfer Every Body knows that they made themselves, Masters of R, and that John of fer Every Body knows that they made themselves, Masters of R, and that John of fer Every Body knows that they made themselves, Masters of R, and that John of fer Every Body knows that they made themselves, Masters of R, and that John of fer Leyden, the King of that new Jerusalem, defended himself as long as he could, but the Town being taken at last, he was punished with Death in the Year 1536. Though the Anabaptists of Holland and Freesland disapproved the Conduct of their Bretheen of Anabaptists of Holland and Freesland disapproved the Conduct of their Chief Munster in several Particulars, yet they sociation'd many Troubles One of their Chief techniques.

(c) Sec

Munster in several Particulars, yet they sociation'd many Troubles One of their Chief techniques. rick Span-made use of for the Extirpation of that Sect, but they proved insufficient ? It con-heim the tinues to this day in the United Provinces It is true that by degrees the Anabaptists > down We shall see in the Article Munzer, that he quickly rejected the Proposals of that Fanatick - carefully confused those Sa-(B) The Ministers - taries, but the Magistrates The most zealous Enemies of Lueberanism could scarce have imagin d fo effectual a Method to fmother it in its imagin d so effectual a Method to smother it in its birth, as the Schism which Munzer and his Adherents form'd. They preach'd a Doctrine which tended to the overthrowing of all Societies, and practis'd it with unconceivable Barbarities (c) They had been united with Luther, and agreed with him, that Christianity was to be reform'd according to the pure Word of God. So that all the hatred that was conceived against them recould upon him, and those ceiv'd against them, recoil'd upon him, and those like him, and the fatal Consequences, which the Undertaking of the Reformation had so speedily produced were a Temptation to believe it was not God's Work And this without doubt put a great ftop to the Progress of the Reformation It is no wonder, that the Ministers said (d) that this was a Depth of Satan, and that the Enemy of our Salvation had made use of this Craft to maintain his Empire against the new Apostles whom God had rais'd The Controversists of the Roman Party made use of this Conjuncture with an extraordinar Activity to cry down the Reformation, and Arm all the Powers against it, but the Reformers were no less vigilant to keep themselves from the Scandal under which they endeavourd to bring them. They under which they endeavourd to bring them They mightily exclaimed against the Anabaptists, they constituted them in Writing, and engaged them in Disputes whereever they could (e) Ut labem is am sheremark the fibe sque ac dostrine Evangelice adspersam abstroum interest therees it is, qui in timple Dei remetiendo siden ac integritation suam & Dei causam publicis scriptis sibsagindam censure Quod inter alsos acriter presisere Lutherus, Melanchthon, Zwinglius, Bullingerus, Menius, Regius, alii, & in siditiones & seditios graviter invecti, subditor penduelles, de suo erga potestates superiores esseres perstringendo, & omnes ad quietem & debitam Principlose sua reverentiam hortando, nibil redebitam Principione sun reuerentiam hortando, nibil re-liqui sccere, ut impetum hominum ad scelera & cruces furibundis animis ruentium suffaminarent Lutherus vel imprimu cencitatior non murcu ening tautum feripta contra j ditiosos, verum etiam sudirdung emisit, & pe-culiari livello contra Latrones & homicidas Rusticos talgato ipfe classicum in illos cecinit, Principes hortatus, ut vi to armis latrociniorum afterum impetum fisterent, tr vi to armis latrociniorum afterum impetum fisterent, tr esi ad quietem cegerent, qui persuaderi neilent. The Minister from whom I have this Latin Passage, names some Iowns where those Sectaries were confounded in publickDisputations, but the hurden of his Song is always, that after this the Magistrates did their Duty He tells us that the Heads of the Anabaptists having disputed (f) three times with Zwinglim, to their Confusion at Zurich, were condemn'd to filence by a folemn Edick (g) Sement dema'd to filence by a folemn Edict (g) Senson Figurinus selsons edicts Pedebaptismum laners, & Anabaptismus dectoribus plentium & quiesem imporat Baltinsar Hubmeyer, one of them, having promised to make a publick Recantation, and on the contrary having preach'd his Errors, was forced to Abjure, and afterwards expell'd the Caty (b) And because that Sect increased deally, notwithstanding all Obstacles, they had recourse to more violent Remedies. The Senate made an Edict which condemn'd (i) the The Senate made an Educt which condemn'd (1) the Anabaptist Doctors to Death, and laid great Fines on those that should conceal them. This Ordinance was made in the Year 1530 Occalempation disputed with those Hereticks in the Year 1525, at Boss, as also in the Years 1527 and 1529, and maintain'd his Cause very well, but could not overcome the stubbornn-is of those People. Wherefore the Magistrates repress'd them in such a manner that the Church recover'd its Peace (k) Causa quidem about Church recover'd its Peace (k) Causa quidem abande satisfacie, actoribus vero pervisasibus non seem, sea su Prudentissim: Senatus, & stremus gloria divina vindicus, in Anabapesstarum settarius coercendis authoritate, Ecclesia Basileensis tranquillitati simul & puritati consulendum ibidem suris. In the Year 1527 they were consulendum ibidem suris. In the Year 1527 they were consulendum ibidem suris. In the Year 1527 they were consulendum ibidem suris. In the Year 1527 they were consulendum ibidem suris. In the Year 1527 they were consulendum ibidem suris a Publick Dusputation, but in private they said that their Reasons seem'd still good to them; wherefore that the Triumph of Truth might be more Authentick, another Disputation was ordered in the Year 1532, which lasted 9 Days, the Acts whereof were publish'd It did much Service, but the Severe Edicts of the Senate of Bern proved without doubt more useful (l) Those sedicious (l) Id ib Men would have settled at Sr. Gall, if the Magistrates (m) had not banished them. It was there that Thomas Schucker cut off his Brother's Head in the Year (m) Turmas Schucker cut off his Brother's Head in the Year 1527 He conven'd a Numerous Assembly, and de-clar'd to them that he was seized with the Spirit of God Whereupon he caus'd his Brother to kneel down, and took a Sword His Father and Mother and fome other Persons ask'd him what he was going to do Be easy, answer'd he, I will do nothing but what shall be reveal'd so me by our heavenly Father They waited impatiently to see the Islue of all this, when he drew his Sword and cut off his Brother's Head He was punish'd by the Magistrates according to the beinous of his Crime, but he shewed no sign of Repentance, and declar'd on the Scassold, that he had only executed the Orders of God You may believe that the Edicts of Banishment were renewed at the sight of such a Fanaticism (a) At Strasburg there were both Disputes and were for renewed at the fight of fuch a Fanaticism (a) At Stratburg there were both Disputes and very severe Edists against that Sect (b) They imprison'd there Melchier Hosman one of their Leaders, and he died in Prison (c) It spread it self in Moravia, Bohemia, Poland, Hungary, suffice and Silesia Some of their Leaders were executed Balthasar Hubmayer being Leaders were executed Balthasar Hubmayer being brought to Vienna, was burnt there, and that Execu-

inflam'd their Zeal (d)
I add, that (e) the first time they Landed in England in the Year 1560, Queen Elizabeth put out a Pro-clamation by which they were commanded to de-part immediately. The Elector Palatia expell'd them out of his Dominions in the Year 1594. The them out of his Dominions in the Year 1594. The Diet of Spire in the Year 1529, and 1544 and that of Augibus in the Year 1521, made barbarous, and bloody Decrees against them (f). In the Year 1565 Philip II ordered the Governess of the Northeads not to spare the Anabaptists (g). Consult the Annals of that Sect composed by John Henry Ospas, and you will see an Ample Enumeration of Edicts that have been made against it in several parts of Enumeration.

you will see an Ample Enumeration of Edicts that have been made against it in several parts of Europe. What is said of Artiflery, that it is the left Reason of Kings, ratio ultima regum, may be applied to the Penal Laws, they are the last Reason of Divines, their most powerful Argument, their achilles, &cc (G) Than that of Munster | What past in that City from the time that Anabaptism fet footing there, to the Execution of John of Loyden, is one of the most remarkable Events of the XVIth Century The Relation of it is to be found in several Books See particularly the Letter that was written to Erasmus by Courad (h) Heresbashum in the Year 1536, and printed at Amsterdam in the Year 1637 cum hypermonments as ness Theologics, Historics as Policies Theodore. pilnted at Amiterdam in the Tear 1037 cum hypomo-matis at notis Theologicis, Historicis at Polisica Theodor; Strackis Pastonius, de tumulishus Anabaptistarum, that of John Wigandus, de Anabaptismo publicate, and the Relation of Henry Dorpius a Cutteen of Munister, pub-lish'd in the Year 1536.

204 (m) Turbones urbe erectz fuere Id

(a) Spanheim 1b. (b) Id 1b pag 205 (c) Id 1b pag 212

(e) See Hoorn-Beek in fumma verf pag 381 (f) Id ib (g) Id ib quering Strada lib

(b) th min to the Some of the Duke of Cleves, Counfeller 2 he Duke , and the Siege of have (D) undeceived themselves in a great measure; they brag no more bhoEnthuse aim; they do not oppose the Orders of the Maguitrates, they preach no more a total Freedom from all manner of Subjection, the Community of Goods, and facts like things. They divided themselves (E) into many Branches, as it is unavoidable to all Seets that do not govern themselves by the Principle of Authority. They boast of a great (F) many Martyrs; their Martyrology is a large Book in Folio. I do not believe that any Author has spoken of 'em (G) with so much Equity as George Cossander. The Pro-

(1) Fridericus Spanhe. mius F filius in Elencho controverliarum 87 P 8 1604

(k) Hic quidem bus illorum & fingular:-

um dog-matis fecernenda

funt pro-

pris aliqua do-ctorum inforum Hoornb P 38c (1) Taken from

Hoorn-

beeck ubi fupra pag

389, 390

bus Cœtu-

were An illustrious Divine of the University of Holland, has been reproached with it in a Letter, which an Anabaptist published in Dutch, but he answer'd him that he does not pretend to impute to every one all the Errors that are mention'd by him. (1) Has (Sectas) us minime confundamus in controverfiss lingules, sta nec notates errores omnes omnibus imputamus minus volumus imputates il-lis qui intra Waterlandorum diffae Confessiones, bona side, procul fallaciis Monnonisicis, harere sele prostientur Absit ut cui quam invito & deprecanti Haresim impinga-- minus voluimus imputatos ilmus! Sed nec isti aliorum apologiam suscipiant, aut alios esse ac suisse negent quos bic Elenchus, sub generali Enthusiastarum & Anabaptistarum nomine, ne nesciat thusiastarum & Anabaptistarum nomine, ne nesciat Juventus nostra, coarguit Fastum tamen novissime, us diximus modo, a Rypensi Scriptore, Epistolu in modum, Belgico scrimone mihi opponenda Qui Errores hic complures notatos, dum a suis Waterlandis amolitur, si modo vere & sincere, hoc ipso non se aut suos, in talibus Controversiu peti, sed samilias alias ex disto grege, intellexisse debuit frustra ergo est omnisissimu expositulatio, quasi ignorum quid Rypenses Anabaptista sentiant, aut quasi Lettoribus meis imponam Hoombeeck has been so just as (k) not to impute the Heresies of some private Persons to that Sect He mentions Two amonast vate Persons to that Sect He mentions Two amongst imprimis others, that of James Outerman, and that of Weke Walles The first admits of three Essences in the Desy, and will have the Essence of the Father to be shut up in Heaven The other teaches that Judas was an honest Man, and that he was fav'd, that he committed no Crime in betraying $\mathcal{F} E S U S$ C H R I S T, nor the Priests and Scribes in perfecuting our Saviour to Death, and that both the Thieves were fav d Outerman taught at Haerlem in the Year 1605, and Walles taught in the Territory of Groningen, in the Year 1637 and was so zealous for his Opinions, that he excommunicated without Mercy those that did not approve of them He was expell'd from that Ptovince, he retired into Friesland, the Protestant Synod that was held at Francker in the Year 1644, caus'd him to be expell d from thence (1)

(D) They have undeclived themselves in a great Measure] Wherefore the Anabaptists of this time complain that they are constited as their Ancestors

(E) They divided themselves into many Branches I should be afraid of tiring out my Readers, if I should insert here a List of all the Sects of the Anabaptists, and therefore I shall only mention a Book wherein any one may be satisfied, whose Curiosity leads him to see that List See the Preface of John

Henry Ottiui's Annals of Anabaptism

(F) They boost of a great many Martyri] If they could only produce those Course put to death for their Attempts against the Government, they would make themselves ridiculous by their great Martyrology, but it is certain that many Anabaptifts who tufter'd death for their Opinions, had no Thoughts of emaking an Infurrection I ll quote a Testimony that cannot be suspected 'Tis that of a Writer, who has consusted that Sect with all his might He (m, observes that three things have been rie (m) observes that three things have been the cause of its great Progress 1. That their Teachers fill'd the Ears of those who listened to them with a great many Scripture Texts 2. That they made a great shew of outward Holiness 3. That those Schaites shewed a great Constancy in Suffering and Dying. He provesthat none of those three things is a sign of Orthodoxy Here follows we at he says about the last (n) The third thing by which the Anabaptists seduce simple and wavering People, is their Constancy in suffering and dying But that will not make their Antichristian Destrine good and sound as St Cyprian says, It is not the Pumishment but the Cause that makes the Martyr The Sci pture (1) tells us, that those are true Martyrs, and happy, that suffer for Righteousness, for Truth, and for the Name of Christ The Anabaptists do not suffer for the Truth, but for an Antichristian Dockrine, which is a deplorable thing And certainly kings and Princes take not the right course to exterpate that Self, by putting those poor simple Creatures to Death, most of whom are seduled they should rather imitate good kings, as (2) Ezechias and Josias, who in the first place banish'd all Ide-latry out of their Dominious, and then reformed the true Religion In like manner they should take care to have the true Apostolical Dostrine publickly preach'd, and then I believe so much Fire would be needless to put those poor deluded People to death After this, he shows that many Persons who did not suffer for Rightenussings many Persons who did not suffer for Righteousness sake, shewed a very great Courage. He instances in the bad Thief, the Essenians, the Circoncelliones, the Popish, Arian, and Mahometan Martyrs, and the Philosophers Zene and Socrates. But he says nothing whereby it may appear that the Anabaptist Martyrs suffer'd Death for having born Arms against the State, or excited Subjects to revolt. He represents their Martyrs as simple People. See what I shall quote hereafter out of George Cassander.

Note by the by, That this Author consutes his Adversaries in the same manner as the Catholicks consuted the Protestants The first shing, says he(a), by many Persons who did not suffer for Righteousnels

Advertaties in the lame manner as the Uatholicks confuted the Protestants The first thing, says he(s), by which they deceive and seduce many People, so when without Sense, Judgment or Reason, they quete a vast Number of Texts out of the Holy Scripture at Random, when most times they know not a Hawk from a Handsaw, as the usual saying is those poor People stand amazed to hear so much Scripture, and think their Destons are very senset Mom. But I desire such the People to a very senset Mom. great Men But I desire such silly People to consider that there never was any Heretick in the World but what made there never was any Heretick in the World but what made use of the Scripture, corrupting and wresting it to maintain his Blasphemies, though one Scripture gives no ground for Errors and Heresies But they proceed from a quite contrary Cause, as Christ says (1) Do ye not their force err, because ye know not the Scriptures? At for the 1d thing by which the Anabaptists perversed and seduced filly People, which was their Pretended Holiness, he provides by the season of the seaso he proves by some Examples, that it is often the haracter of falle Doctors It is certain that the Catholicks were to answer these 3 Difficulties, 1 That the Protestants spoke of nothing but of the Bible, and quoted it continually 2 That they were against Dancing, fine Cloaths, going to the Tavern, & 3 That many of em died constantly for their Religion Those Difficulties were constuded after the same manner, as the Protestant Author, whom I quote, constuded them Which surther shews how prejudicial the Sect of the Anabapusts proved to the Protestants, for they were obligid to constute them by such Arguments as the Papists alledged against those who made use of 'em Some Persons that were Anabapusts are set down

Some Persons that were Anabaptists, are set down the Martyrology of Geneva Note, That the in the Martyrology of Geneva Note, That the Anabaptists have publish'd two Martyrologies, one at (b) In the Harlem in the Year 1615, and the other at Hern in Preface of the Year 1617 Those two Books have discover'd the Editithe Discord of the Anabaptists, for those of Horn
(b) have criticis'd the Martyrology of those of Harlem, as a Work that shews their unfair dealing This Centure (c) was answered by way of Recrimination The Compilers of the Martyrology of Hern were accus'd of having thrust into it some Persons, who had subscrib'd the Confession of the Reformed as to the Article of the Incarnation of JESUS CHRIST(d) The Name of the chief Compiler of the Martyrology of Hern was James Outerman The Preface of that Book is no less interpreted the Luchuser and Colorade, when to the jurious to the Lutherans and Calvinists, than to the Papists, they are all accused in it of Tyranny (c)

(G) With so much Equity as George Cassander]

He says that the Mennonites shewed a sincere and pious He says that the Mennonites shewed a sincere and pious Heart, and that they departed from the Faith rather out of a false Zeal than out of Malice, that they condemned the Fury of those of Manster, that they taught, the Reign of JESUS CHRIST ought only to be established by Sufferings, and therefore, adds he, they should rather be pitted and instructed than persecuted, and he applies to them an excellent Passage in St Augustin (f) Hujus quem dies Mennonis cui nunc hic Theodoricus successive, sestatores fore successive, qui per hac Belgica, & Germania inferenti loca, huic Anabaptifica haress affines deprehenduntur, in quibus magna ex parce pis cujus dam animi argutur, su quibus magna ex parte pis cujusdam animi argu-munta cernas, qui imperite quedam zele incitati, errore munica cernas, qui imperior quodom zalo intitati, errore potini quam animi malitia a verò divinarum literarum sensu, & concordi tettus occlesia consensu describirint, quod ex eo perspici potest, quod Monasteriensibui & hinc consecusii Batenburgicii suroribui, novam quandam relit to fithiconessi.

(a) Id 16. pag 5

(1) Mark

on of 1626 (c) It was 2M & Dutch Book printed at Har-1630, and written by lenion (d) Ot 1us. Annal Anabapt ad ann Ific n 6 pag 2 3 3 (e) Id 1b ad ann 1626 n 2 p. (f) Geor" gius Caf-Tra&atus de uifánti-

(m) Guy de Bres Epiftlestedicatory to ne tource & fondement des Anabap tistes That Book was Printed in the Year 1565 (n) Id 1b p 9 (1) Mat riet 4 1 John 4 3 (2)2(hra 30 & 35

1672

(2) Conera episto-lam Fundamenti (3) Ibid (g) I have sransposed the order of the Author, going to quote, for 25 & Contradiction Georgius fays he,bis cum illis coramidifputavit, de quo inter ejus opera fol mel cum Tohanne Kremer a LVIII captivo in Comitatu Marchiæ Iterum a Matthia aliquo. Colonia Heornbecck Summa controver p m 394 (b) Id 1b Note, That he transpofes the He puts the Synoa of 1576 after 1580 (i) Id 1b (k) Taken from d' Hoornb ubi fupra P 395,396 (1) Pro coercendis aut noviter pullulantibus aut fua por mœrite tenden

C L

fiæ vigi-P 391.

CIO IO

Protestant Divines (H) have zealously opposed them in the United Winces, and know rrocenant Divines (a) pave searching appoint them in the wante apprinces, and asset at feveral times obtain a forme Edichengainst 'em. Nevertheless they are tolerated there. It is faid that Mr. Von Benning discours'd one day very feriotally and finantly about (1) it with Mr. de Turenne. The Books that have been written concerning that Sect (Mand its Doctrine, are innumerable. I must not forget that the Swift have not been able to suppress it, though they have used * violent Means at several times. I will mention fitutionem regni Christi, quod in deletione impierum per vim enternam possoum sie, moditantibus, acarroma semper restiterunt, & ou sala crusa regni Christi insamationem & propagationem consistere docuerunt - quo se, ut qui bu-jusmali sunt, commiserationo potini de mondatione quam insessoum & perditione digni vide antur His aum muleo magis convenire videtur, quod de Manichais die putans, inquit August (2) Ruanquam Dominais per servos suos ragna subvertas erroris, issos tamen homines, inquantam homines sunt, cuindandos asse potius quam perdendos jubet —— Atque usinam qui atrociore in hosce miseros sunt animo mansuesudinem, & prudentiam hujus sansti viri imitentur, qui in disputatione adversus hesce miseres sunt anime mansuesudinem, & prudentiam husus santis viri smitentur, qui in disputatione adversus Manichaes — his verbis est usus (3) Illi, suquis, in vos saviant, qui nesciunt, cum quo labere verum tuveniatur, & quam disficile caveautur errores. Illi in vos saviant, qui nesciunt cum quanta disficultate sanetur oculus interiorus hominis, ut possit suineri selem suum Illi in vos saviant, qui nesciunt quibus suspensis & gemitibus siat, ut ex quantulacumque parte posses intelligi Detibus siat, ut ex quantulacumque parte posses intelligi Detibus siat, ut ex quantulacumque parte posses intelligi Detibus siat. tibus fiat, ut ex quantulacunque parte possie intelligi De-us This is what he says in the Dedication of a Book to the Duke of Cleves, in which he proves that the Doctrine of Infant Baptism was never contra-dicted in the Primitive Church The universal consent of all Christians for several Ages seems to him such a powerful Proof that this Doctrine comes from the Apostles, that he believes the Anabaptists cannot be better confuted than by the strength of this Argument. He knew it by Experience, for he says that an Anabaptist Doctor who was a Prisoner in the Castle of Clever, was converted with some of his Adherents assoon as he saw the Collection of Testimonies, which shews the Antiquity of Tradi-tion on that Point This was the Reason why Cas-sander publish'd his Work He conferr'd twice with some Anabaptists First at Cologna, with one Matthias, in the Year 1556 and (g) then with John Kremer, who was a Priloner in the County of Mark, in the Year 1558 (H)The Protestant Divines have zealously opposed them in the United Provinces, and have, obtain'd] They have feveral times challenged the Anabaptists to dispute with them The Synod of Horn made an Att about it, and even had recourse to the Authority of the Governor (b) Ecclesia nostra semper bonum ac utile consurant, Adversaries and disputationem & Colloquia provocare. Synodus Hornana a CI) I) LXXX & a CI) I) LXXVI implorata sum in sinem GubernatorisTheed Sonnoyi auttoritate—desernis provocandum, or Three or four other Synods (1) made the like Acts before the end of the XVIth Century In the Year 1599 the Churches thought fit that a Book should be composed containing a Body of the Anabaptistical Controverses Arminus, a Minister of Amsterdam, took this Work upon himself, and begun it, but interrupted it when he was made Professor of Divinity at Leyden, and in the Year 1605 he alledged fome Reasons in the Synod of Alemaer, which would not permit him to apply himself to such a Work In the Year 1624 the Synod of Enkhuysen appointed two Ministers to examine the Confessions of the Mennenites, and to discuss the Controversies One of them being left alone in the Year 1626, ask'd a new Second, they granted hun Doreflase in the Synod of Amflerdam 1628 They carefully applied themselves to their Commission, and in the Year 1637 they published a very fine book in Dutch, which is a Body of the Anabaptistical Controversies, wherein the Variations of those People are exactly observed (k) ariations of those People are exactly observed (k) The Author who relates these things, observes that the Churches jointly with the Secular Power take care that this Sect should not increase. They stand upon their Guard, says he (1), to repress it is it should produce new Branches, or endeavour to go beyond its bounds. He adds, that the Synods of Friesland do not cease to sollicite the States of the Province to repress and execute the Edits above. Province to renew and execute the Edict that was publish'd against the Anabaptists in the Year 1598, and that the Execution of it is chiefly defired by Reason of the new Assemblies which that Sect dares form He adds, that the Synod of the Anabaptists held at Harriem in the Month of July 1649, having declar'd that they had fet up feveral new Churches, it belongs to the Orthodox Pasters to find out a way to put a stop to those Innovations; so much the more, because they have an Edict of the Year 1657 on their side, by which the States ordered that the Sectaries should be brought to Reason, and not suffered to uncrease. (m) Sallies cobibendes assume an ordered reduced to the section of creale. (m) Suitae contendan at un sur an ordinem rediagendas, neque permittendam ut un plura loca quam hodie fint diffundantur. Thus in Brance the Protestants were forbidden to perform their religious Exercises in some places, when they could not application on that they had been in possession of 'em impeliation of the Edicts. See the (s) Pelitia Ecclesialization Vestius, wherein he examines whether that Set ought to be tolerated. He makes nie of a Dulinction, but generally speak.

ing, he inclines very much to the Negative

(1) That Mr Van Beuming discourie one day when it with M de Turenne] M de Turenne heang in a Coach with that Ambassador, told him, That he disapproved the Toleration which the States General allowed to so many former Religions. ral allow'd to fo many forts of Religions I need not repeat here what we are told, that M Van Bannanswered him concerning the other Setts will only mention what concerns the Memonism.

Why, faid he, should they not be tolerated? They are very good and quiet People They do not afpire to Dignities, an Ambitious Man never meets 'em in his way, they never oppose us by any Compettion and Canvassing It were to be wish'd that one half of the Inhabitants of the World would make a scruple of sung for Places, the other half would get 'em with less trouble, and without using so many cunning, base, and unlawful Means We do fear the Rebellion of a Sect, that teaches among things, that one ought never to bear Arms Is a section of the section of t a happy thing for a Sovereign to know that such a Doctrine will prevent the Mutinies of his Subjects, whatever Imposts or Taxes are laid upon them? whatever Imposts or Taxes are laid upon them? The Memonises bear their Share of all the Charges of the State We desire no more We raise Troops with their Money, which do us more Service than they would do by Listing themselves. They edify us by their Simplicity; they apply themselves to Arts and Trades, muthout lavishing away their Estates by Luxury and Debauchery. It is not so in other Communicus, their Voluptuousness and vain Expenses are a continual Cause of Scandal, and weakens the State. But they refuse to Swear What signifies that? The Authority of the Courts of Justice suffers no prejudice by it. Those People of Justice suffers no prejudice by it Those People think themselves as much bound by their Promise to speak the Truth, as if they took an Oath All the use of Oaths consists in this, that those who break them are afraid of a more severe Punishment from God, and expose themselves to Infamy, and even to be punished by Men. The Memonites sear the same thing if they Lye, after they have given their Word that they will speak the Truth, and therefore they are no less bound than other Men

(A) The Books that have been written concerning a Self and its Dollrines] I have mention'd formathem in the Remark C Here are fome others. Here Modeus wrote a Book, De initiu Selia Anabaptifità Andrew Melbouius has given us the Millery of the Anabaptifts in Latin An Anabaptiftous Author publish'd the Anabaptiftical Succession in Dutch, printed at Cologne in the Year 1603 There is also publish'd the Anabaptistical Succession in Dutch, printed at Cologne in the Year 1603. There is also printed at Cologne in the Year 1603. There is also printed at Cologne in the Year 1603. There is also progression by the Profession of Progression Section in the Year 1603. There is also progression of Progression in the Year 1603. There is also progression of Progression in the Year 1603. The Annals of that Eccles in Latin to the Year 1671. All those Works (d) In Eastern motion of by (b) Hornbeeck, or by (c) Micralius, lencho and (d) Spanheim I don't find that they have taken notice of a Book mention'd by Cassander in these works of a Book mention'd by Cassander in these works will be of the Progression of the Words (e) De origine were busin Anabaptistica selfe, (e) Georgic Words (e) De origine were busin Anabaptistica selfe, (e) Georgic Cassander or absurda, atque interest progression progression of the Anabaptistica selfication in the Bleidick, qui qued aliquande businfundi errore in the Baptistic of the Million only a History of David George, written by Nicolae (f) Bleidick, Son-th-Law to this David, and publish'd Hoomb Blesdik, Son-m-Law to this Devid, and publish'd Hoomb by Revius A History of the Anabaptists was printed ubi supra in French at Amfordam in the Year 1695 and a larpag 373

(m) Id 1d pag 392

(b) In fumma CONTING

some Beasons (L) that are alledged to justify their Severity. The Chief Doctrines that are peculiar to the Anabapuits at this Day, are mention'd in the Dutch Edution of Moferr's Dictionary; and therefore I shall say nothing of 'em It is certain that the Desemption which Morros gives of that Sect, does not fuit the time in which he wrote, and I doubt whether there ever was any Reason to charge them with these two (M) Doctrines which he imputes to them One is their teaching That a Woman is oblig'd

(g) See Hoorn beek ubi fupra,pag 394 and John Vaget in the Thelis which he main-tain'd at Wittemberg in the Year 1688 de fe& Men nonitarum (b) That is, those who bapeize Children (1) An Anabaptist Minifter, and a Phy ficean of Amster dam tinger Biblioth Theolog 13 c 5 F 420, 421

ger one in 1700 Those, who wrote against them, are Zuinglius, Luther, Calvin, Melanchibon, Oecolampadius, Urban Regius, Justis Menius, Bullinger, John Lasens, Gay de Bres, Tassis, Hunnius, Osiander, Clepponius, Spanheim, and ieveral (g) others, whom rewould be too long to mention. But I must not forget the Book entituded Babel, published in the Tear 1621, by Hernan Fankelius, Minister at Middelburg, and one of the Fathers of the Synod of Derr. In which he shows the Enormous Diversity of Oninous among the Anabaptists. They opposed of Opinions among the Anabaptists They opposed against him a Consession of Faith, which they published at Amsterdam in the Year 1624. They made use also of a Retortion, for they published a Babil of the (h) Pathingsish, the Author whereof was during (1) Just Nucl., That in the beginning they wrote few Books, but at last they have had forward and hour my list they have had forward and hour my list they have had feveral Authors, and have published many Works, some Didactical or Historical, and others Polemical In the Year 1624, they published a Confession of Faith at Horn, which they confirmed with several Texts of the Scripture, and some other Authorities Twelve Years after, they publish'd (k) another which shew d their Union They have also publish'd some Apologies for their Confession, and some Catechisms and Manuals of Religion They confuted the Manite-flo of Zurich in the Year 1644 (1) The same Year Abraham David, one of them, published a Book against a Minister of Haerlem, whose Name was Bringing, which he entitud Smegma Hollandiam contra maculas quas P Bontemps Mennonitis adspersit The same Minister was refuted in the following Works, (k) At Abstersto accusationum gravium Petri Bontemps, fatta Dott per P V K. 1643 Consutatio argumenterum quibus
(1) He put P Bontemps probare conatur Anabaptistas injurios ess in (1) He put P Bontemps probare constur Anabaptistas injurios est in these three Deum & homines 1643. Spongia ad abluendas maculas Letters to Petri Bontemps contra certam Anabaptistarum sestam the Title Jodoci Henrici lixivium contra ejusdem maculas Proof his Book, batio lixivii D Bontemps ubi per G V P sides posission mum authoris & methodus agendi solicitatur (m) that use-rard Viy- (L) Some Reasons that are alledged to justify the Serard Viy- verity of the Swiss Here is the Substance of a Letter written the 21st of Angust 1642 by Mr Breithottinger inger, Dean of the Ministers of the Church of Zu-rich, to Mr Hotton, Minister of the Walloon Church (m) Taken at Amsterdam The War being broke out almost all from Hotorick over Europe in the Year 1822 the Magistrates of Zu-rich ordered that according to the usual Practice in rich ordered that according to the usual Practice in the like Cases, the Inhabitants of the Canton should the like Cases, the Inhabitants of the Canton should exercise themselves in Arms by Musters. The Anabaptisks refus'd to Obey, and represented to those who were ready to obey, that War was to be look'd upon as a Divine Chastistement, and that the State was to be defended by a Good Life, and not by Arms. They intimated that they would rather chuse to forsiske their Country, their Wives, their Children, and their Estates than repel the common Enemy with Arms. The good Subjects were so incensed at it, that they were of Opinion that Sect should be exterminated, but the Magistrates were for milder Expedients. They ordered the wisest Men of the Senate to consider with the most moderate Divines, what was to be done in that Juncture rate Divines, what was to be done in that Juncture The Committee recommended themseves first of all to the Prayers of the whole Church, and then proceeded to this first Resolution, That nothing should be omitted that might seem proper to remove the wrong Scruples of the Anabaptifts, that none should be condemn'd to Death or to the Gallies, and that nothing should be done that should look and that nothing include be done that should look like Croelty, Precipitation and Passion After which it was judged proper to confer with them, and Three Places were appointed where they should meet to hear what was to be said to them. They came to the Place, where the Chief Points of the Christian Faith were proposed to them by Word of Mouth and in Writing; whereof they rejected only that of the Magistracy The Senate being informed that of the Magistracy The Senate being informed of what past in those Assemblies, sent for some of the Chief of them. They appeared and gave their Reasons, which were mildly answered, and those they could not be prevailed upon, they were sent back with great Clemency Nevertheless, they retired as if they had been assaid of a Trick, which they confess'd the next day, when they were ask'd why they had shewed such Distrust of the iase Conduct which the Sovereign had given them This Moderation of the Magistrates displeased several Perions In the mean time some other Moderate Methods were again attempted TheChief Heads of the Anabaptifts were affembled, the Magistrates assured them without requiring an Oath from them according to the usualForm, that they would be content with their bareWords, that they should be dispensed with bearing Arms, provided by their Prayers and other Afte of Piery, they concurred with ers and other Acts of Piety, they concurr d with the Publick Good, and that by obliging them to hear the Sermons preached by the Ministers, they pretended not to deprive them of the Liberty of dilapproving what they should think contrary to the Word of God, that they only desired they should not criticise upon this, before they had conferr'd about it with one of their Pastors, or some other Ecclesiastick Person They concluded with Promises of Pro-testion, and Pathetical Exhortations But when they perceived that those People would not after their Opinions, they mildly exhorted them to retire elsewhere, they permitted them to carry along with them as much as would maintain them. along with them as much as would maintain them, they promis'd to reftore to their Estates all those who should return, being made sensible of their Errors, and they declared that the Women and Children who would renounce that Sect, and not leave their Country, should enjoy a sufficient Portion of their Husbands and Fathers Estates. The Anahaptus made Answer. That the Earth belonged tion of their Husbands and Fathers Estates. The Anabaptists made Answer, That the Earth belonged to God, and not to the Magistrates, and rejected those Conditions. Then the Magistrates proceeded to Taxes and Fines, and because they refus'd to pay them, and cried out Tyranny, all their Estates were confiscated. They murmur'd more and more, and met in the Night, and prayed to God that he would put a stop to the Fury of the Magistrates with Plague and Famine, and such other Calamities. Hereupon the Magistrates were forced to have Recourse to a stronger Remedy, and several of them. course to a stronger Remedy, and several of them were imprisoned But most of them () made their Escape thro' a Breach in the Wall, and were as restance to the stronger thro's a Breach in the Wall, and were as restance to the stronger through the stronger thro less as before They were imprison'd again and exhorted from time to time to convert themselves, or depart quietly out of the Country But they continued to demand a full Liberty They offered to give an Account of their Doctrine before all the People, which was refus'd them But a Dispute in Writing was propos'd to them, and the Controverfial Points were let down, but they persisted in their Answer, that they could not defend themselves whilst they were in Prison Note, that their Fugi-tives told every where very dismal Stories, as if their Prisoners had been treated with the utmost Barbari-

ty (b)
This Apology is grounded upon the long Patience (b) Taken of the Magistrates, which preceded their Severi- from a Leity But there are some other Reasons, which re- ter of John Severi- Lames fult from the Natural Constitution of the Govern-ment of that Country The Swift do not repulse ment of that Country The Swift do not it their Enemies with Auxiliary or hired Troops their Enemies with Auxiliary or hired Troops, but ger, da ed list themselves under their own Colours. And one of their Funds for their Subsistence is to give Stringers leave to raise. Men in their Country for Foreign Service. So that it is expedient for their Governors, that all their Subjects should love and be fit for War. Wherefore they don't like the Anabaptists, a fort of People that are not for wounding and killing any Body, and who, as much as in them lies. of John ling any Body, and who, as much as in them lies, discourage the most Warlike Men, by filling them with Scruples of Conscience concerning the shedding of Human Blood and the Passions that are inseparable from a Military Life
(M) These two Destrines which he imputes to them]

He found in Prateolus, that according to the Opinion lus in Loft the Anabaptifts, Women are oblig'd to profittute their Bodies to any Man that shall desire it of them, Hæres! I and that reciprocally Men are obliged to fatisfy the p m 27 Defire of any Weman, who requires the fine Office from them (c) Dicunt positions quantitate mulier emoting at an effe ad coundain cum qualibet wird cam petente, for contra codem wincals adstringunt omnem wirum ad

HH z

(a) The next day after Eafter, 1636,

Bieittinbut ger, da ed Henry Ottius, p 288 & feq (c)Prateolus in L

1244 Linda nus Dial 3 Dubitantu, & lib de Dæmo-Diacis C 21 apud Theoph Rayniudum Theolog natur dift 4 n 330 p m 404 p m 404 † Paulan, the Daughof Herodotus might be rendred so this Sinfi That they zh.mselves were the

Cleombrotus were born at two feveral Birtls J' Lx Herodot 15 39 & fig Sui allo Paulanias ubi tupra n Pavian 14 Herod 1 1 6 67

Queen s In pettors

or Guards

V11 4

(1) 1 Cor

(c) Impofmo tene-

to comply with the Desires of those who court her, the other is, That they condemn the marrying of those who do not adhere to their Opinions What some Authors say *, That some Roman Catholicks upon turning Anabaptifts, immediately acquired the Faculty of reading and Thyraus discoursing about Matters of Religion; but that being turn'd Papists again they forgot all, and found themselves as ignorant as before, ought to be look'd upon as an idle

ANAXANDRIDES, King of Lacedemon, the Son of Leo, is the only Man † of his Country who had two Wives at one time Which was not fo much his Fault as that of the Ephore, who would oblige him to divorce his Wife because she was barren, and to marry another that might bear him Children He loved his Wife very well, and thereforehe protested that he would never divorce her The Ephors seeing him fixt in this Resolution, proposed to him to marry another Wife, without being divorc'd from the First, and gave him to understand, that if he would not do this, it would go ill with him. He accepted the second Proposal, but would not have his two Wives to live under the same Roof, but in two several Houses. The new Spouse was soon delivered of Cleomenes. This good Fortune of Anaxandrides, reach'd likewise his single-wish it, spread also got with Child. The Domesticks of the other Queen being displeased with it, spread Iexandrides hu posititious Child These Slanders wrought so much upon the Ephors, that when the sifter of her Lying in drew near, they placed & Guards about the Queen to be assured of time of her Lying in drew near, they placed & Guards about the Queen to be assured of the control of the c the Matter It prov'd no Feint, for the Lady was deliver'd of a Boy, who was named brave King Leonidas, who died so gloriously at the Streights of Thermopylæ; and the other's Name was Cleombrotus The Son of the second Wise had scarce common Sense, as tomake ther's Name was Cleombrotus on the contrary Dorsens outdid the Persons of his Age in all things Nevertheless his Pretentions, that they should have more regard to Merit than to Birthright, were rejected, and Cleomenes, notwithstanding his Unworthiness, succeeded to the Crown . the Laws of the Country would have it so, and were observed Anaxandrides was more favour'd by Fortune than the Kings his Predecessors, with respect to the Tegeates; for the Lacedemonians began to conquer them under his Reign, I mean about (1) the 60th y Some say Olympiad Plutarch has left us a Collection of the Apophthegems of Anaxandrides and mong those of the I acedemonians. The Supplement (Z) to Moreri's Dictionary is full. of Mistakes on this Head tantundem reddendum cuilibes muliers hoc ab illo petents. At this Rate there would be a Natural Marriage between all Men and Women I mean, that in Duty each Man would be oblig d to fatisfy any Woman whatfoever, when it should be required of him, and every Woman should be oblig'd to comply with any Man when it should be required of her The Duties which St. Raul (d) mentions, whereby a Husties which St Paul (d) mentions, whereby a Husband has no Power over his own Body, and ought to confider it as transferr d to his Wife, and that she likewise ought to contider the Power over her Body as transferr d to her Husband, I say, these just and most reasonable Duties would be unlimited between two Perions married together, and would extend from any Man over all Women, and from any Woman over all Men, a thing to extravagant and fo abominable, that it is hard to believe that any Sect of Anabaptifts did ever teach the fame. At this rate, it would be more impossible to perform the Law of Nature, than that of the Gospel, and in that respect one might very well say it is a Yoke which neither we not our lathers could bear. In a word, this cannot be a law of Niture, for she never obliges to any (i) thing that is impossible. Beauty and Tenderness of Conference meeting together, under such a Law, would be tuch a Weight as would speedily fink the most vigorous and Justy Men, and none were more to be pitted than Beautiful and Conscientious Women. The Doctrine of the Community of Women does not equal the Abomination of this For it does not deprive one of the Liberty of Refuling, nor engages the Conference to comply with every Body

Perhaps the Compilers of the Catalogues of Herefies, from whom Praceolus had this, forged this Chimera, by ignorantly or maliciously giving a wrong Sense to one of the Consequences of the Doctrine of making all Conditions equal It is certain that at first the Anabaptists taught this Equality, from whence it followed, that a Maid of a good Jumly could not refuse to Marry the Son of a Peafant, no. a Centleman to marry a Country Maid fant, not a Gentleman to marry a Country Maid And if our (atalogue-Writers built upon this, that abluid Doctrine which they have imputed to the An biptists, they are not leis impertinent than that Doctione it ielt?

Neither do I believe, that those Sectaries lookt up on the Martiage of other Christians as unlawful, and confounded all Baitards with the Children of marr ed Persons, that they believ'd, (for Instance) that the Birth of Calvin was no less defiled than that of Erasmus But Merers did not pretend to so much Exactness, and if he could but defame the Hereticks, every thing went down with him

(r) About the 60th Olympiad] Historians observe that the Tegentes were not overcome by the Lacedemonians before the latter had carried into their City the Bones of Orefre, who was buried at Teges This Translation was not in the 58th Olympiad Prifcorum (a) sutem testimate molem etiam Orestu suprema, (a) Solin.
cujus ossa Olympiade quinquagessima & ostava Teges in- c i P 9. cujue offa Olympiade quinquagesima & cettava Tegea inventa a Spartanis Oraculo menitis discimue implessa longitudinem cubitorum septem It is further known that Cleomenes, the Son and Successor of Anaxandrides, was exhorted to make War (b) against Polycrates, Tyrant of Samos, who died miserably (c) in the Second Year of the 64th Olympiad I do not take notice that Cleomenes had reigned a considerable time, when the Successor of Pisstratus were obliged to leave Athens, which happen'd (d) about the 67th Olympiad Moreri should not say, That the time in which Anaxandrides lived, u not well known, nor that the Ephori obliged him to divorce his first Wise, nor that the Eldest Son of that first Wise was called Dorceny.
He should have call'd him Dorieus I say nothing of his Omissions, tho' they are not small I not pass over in Silence, that it is hard to reconside Solinus and Herodetus with respect to Chronology not pass over in Silence, that it is hard to reconstitute the selinus and Herodotus with respect to Chronology Solinus places the Translation of Orestes is Bones in the 58th Olympiad But according to Herodotus (1) the Lacedemonians had already obtain'd several with Lacedemonians had already obtain'd several had before he made War with Cyrus, and his Expedition (f) Vide against Cyrus fell out (f) at the End of the 56th Calvisium Olympiad how then can the Chronology of Solinus ad annum be reconciled with that of Herodosus? However it mundi, be, Morers should not say, that the time in which 324 be, Morers should not say, that the time in which 33 maxandrides reign'd, is not known, for we read in (f).

Herodotus (g) that he reign'd in the time of Cra-1 1 c 67.

(Z) The Supplement to Moreri's Distinuary is full of Mistakes on this Head] To the Three Faults of Marry which I have mention'd, I add those of his tinuator I It is not true that Anaxandrides the Son of Eurycrates the Second He was his (1) (h) PauGrandchild, and the Son of Lee II It is not true fan 1 3 that Anaxandrides took the City of Teges, before the pag. 83 Bones of Orefter were carried away from thence Fortune did not ceale to favour the Tegestes till after they

ANAXANAMEDES, A Comick Poet, born at (A) Camprum e in the Isle of Rhodes, & Chaman flourssh'd about the (B) 101st Olympiad, and as Suidas says *, he was the first that recleotes rought upon the Stage, Love Adventures, and the Disgraces which happen to Maids 1 6 de when they lose their Virginity. I could easily believe that it was not before the 1doth Comadia, Olympiad, that they began to introduce upon the Stage, Parts so difficult to manage apud A-as are those of such Maids. But I cannot believe that they deferr'd till that time to in-page 374 anaxandrides † was a tall Man and look'd well, he Town the Island Stage. termix Love in their Comedies Anaxandrides † was a tall Man and look'd well, he flew to took great Care of his Hair, and dress'd himself magnificently, he wore a Purple is all the Gown fringed with Gold. But this Equipage did not suit with a Poet He so affected map Street in Table 18 Gown fringed with Gold. But this Equipage did not full with a Poet Fie 10 affected Strateliness, that on a day when he was to read a Poem at Athens, he rid to the appointed Place, and recited part of his Piece on Horseback. This way of his makes what is Primus further faid of him probable , that he was very angry when his Pieces did not ob-amores,& tain the Prize He did not do as other Poets did, for he did not revise and correct his Co- stupravirmedies, to the end they might enter the Lists again with more Advantage medies, to the end they might enter the Lists again with more Advantage. This Ca pricious and Morose Humour against the Spectators, occasion'd the Loss of several fine troduxit in sec-Comedies of his mattern But his Spite must needs have often given way to paternal nam Affection, for his fried the Prize but c Ten Times, and we find find above 20 of his Suidar Plays quoted, (fee in the Remark (C) the Reflection of Athenaus) he composed to Chamaleon, and the Athenaus condemn'd him to starve to Death (Ca), because he censured their maleon, ubisupra Covernment Perhaps the Comick Poet Alexandrides, is only a Fault of the Transcriptors, and consequently we might (D) substitute our Anaxandrides whereever we meet the property with the other

ANCHI- TAIGAVA-

Edwary EIS

(k) 'A 76

TETE TE

ऋश्रेक श्रंद

MOVICE

Atitere

Herma 4

Diog I aertius in Platon l 3 n 26 l d 1692

(m) Ari-ftor Rhe-

tor 13

have been taken before the Removal of those Bones? Is not the taking of the Chief City the entire Ruin of such little Republicks? III It is not true that (1) It should Glycas (1) made his Entry into Tegea with the Victobe Lychas

rious Anexandrides He went into it as People go in peaceable Times into the Cities of their Neighbours IV It was not he who found the Tomb of Orestes and carried his Bones away, he only reported to his Return to Lacedemon, that he believ'd Orestes harried at a Blacksmith's in Teges For this harried had told him that as he was digging a Wellin the Court of his House, he had found a Tomb of Seven Cubits, and that it appeared by the Bones that the Person for whom it was made, was forther Sevens and the sevens and the sevens are the sevens are the sevens and the sevens are the sevens are the sevens and the sevens are the sev of that Stature Lychas concluded that it was the Tomb of Orestes, because the Oracle had said that it should be found at Teges, in a Place where two Winds were driven away with Violence, and where Winds were driven away with violence, and where a Representation of a Fight, and Wounds upon Wounds were to be seen He applied those things to the Smith's Bellows, Hammer and Anvil He only made this Conjecture, and continuincated it to his Superiors, who thereupon benined a Criminal Thursday and bread from the This Man retired to Teges, and hired from the Blacksmith the Place where the Tomb of Seven Cubits had been discover'd, and took the Bones of Orester out of it, and brought them to Lacedemon V'Tis not true that the Oracle had said, That in order to make thu Transportation, the Winds, the Striker, and the Struck were to be removed with the Plague and Ruin of Men Herodotus, who is quoted in the Supplement, does not say this VI There was 2018 0 XWS no need to remove all those things in order to find the romb of Orester, for it was not under the I orge, but in a Court where the Smith went about to dig a Well VII The War was not over as foon as the Bones of that Prince were barried at Lacedomon Heroαλλήλωι, アンフをもてをやりる ם שדעסעוב dotue this only that ever fince (k) the Latedemonians had the Advantage in all their Wars with the Inhabitants of Teges VIII And therefore it is not true that these were wholly subdued by the Lacedemonians, Aaridai-Que ex temples Escales modes IX There was no need of quoting Plutarch, fays nothing of what is faid in the Article Born at Camitum | Suidas fays fo as well as Chamaleon, but he observes that it was not the Ocum Tegeatibus pinion of all Authors They were divided in their Opinion about it, some of them would have anaxandrides to be a Colophonian, and others would corgressi iunt, fuperiores were removed How then could their Capital City have him to be a Rhodian (B) About the 101st Olympiad] The Anonymous Author of the Olympiads agrees in this with Suidas, and as the latter observes, that Anaxandrides assisted at the Games of King Philip of Macidonia, he gives us a Matter of Fact which fixes this Age of Anaxandrides Moreover it is well known that this Res. (1) abused Plate, and that some of his Communication were cited by (m) Aristotle He must the have lived in the time mention'd by Co th Suidas

Suidas

(a) At ien
19 p 373

Suidas

(b) See in the Remark the Reflection of Athenaus Having quoted (a) a Verse out of the Tereus of Anaxandrides, a Piece of no great Value, he takes an Occasion to mention what I have quoted out of Tenest Chamaleon, after which he asks with a kind of Asto-Victus nishment, how it came to pass which the Tereus and consciption other like Pieces of the same Author, that had dendas not obtain d the Honour of Triumph, were pre-dabat ut ferv'd? He might have found the Solution of Difficulty in the very Words of Chamaleon, for they ris invo-clearly intimate, that Anaxandrides did not shew a- lucra sieclearly intimate, that Anaxandrides did not shew a lucra siegainst his Pieces the Spite he had conceived by rearent Id ib son of the Judgment of the Spectators, till he was 6 Suidas an old Man. He therefore spared several of his γ Idem vanquisht Comedies, whilst Old Age had not yet made him a Morose Man (b) Πολλά ξουτα κομιδώς τη δραματών ποφυίζε, διοκωλαίνων τοῦς διαταίς δια το γηρας Spectatoribus iratus ob sonilem morosistatem elegantes multas fabulas e medio susfulis (CΔ) Because he censured their Government J In one of his Comedies he made Use of this Verse of his Comedies he made Use of this Verse H TOALE & SEALES IN VOLUMY WIVE LAKE, I e The City would have it so, that City which has no regard to the Laws He only alter da Word in this Verse of Euripides (c) H ourse cure n rouw was user, Na-ture which does not mind the Laws, would have it so See Eustratius on the Tenth Chapter of the Sixth and Seventh Books of Arifietle's Morals It is thought that edit Bar-Ovid made mention of this Punishment of Anaxandrides, when he said in his Poem against Ibis, Utque parum stabili qui carmine lasit Athenas, Invisus pereas desiciente cibo

(D) Substitute our Anaxandrides wherever we meet p 455 with the other] This is the Opinion of Casaubon (d) (e) Entitu-His Reason is, because Suidas makes no mention of led ushia Alexandrides, and because the same (c) Piece which half is ascrib'd to Alexandrides in (f) the Eleventh Book (f) C 2 of Athenaus, is cited under the Name of Anaxandrides in the (g) Fourteenth Book Cafaubon adds a (g) C 20 Third Reason Pollux in the Sixth Chapter of the p 654 Ninth Book, quotes the Anchises of Alexandriacs Now it is certain that Anaxandrides compos'd a Piece (1) Suidas of that Name, Athenaus cites it in (b) the 18th in Ace-Chapter of the 6th Book Mensius is altogether of 6th in the Editions of Atheneus, to belong to Anaxan-THS drides And he will have the (1) Helens and the (k) (1) Vost de w (1) is of the fame Opinion So that, according (m) Dio to this Account which is likely enough, there are Lacit 1 Thirty Pieces of Anaxandrides quoted His Thefus 3 n 20 Thirty Pieces of Anaxandrides quoted His Thoseur 3 n 26 mention'd by (m) Diogenes Laertius was unknown (n) In Alto Meursins There is the like (onfusion with respect to one ANAXANDRIDES of Delphos The School (o) Plut lists (n) upon Europides quotes him, 'Aux and fishes in Lysan o Arapòs, concerning the Penalty that was laid drop 44, on Apollo to serve Admetus for Wages, for having (p) ld in kill d the Serpent Python Plutarch (o) quotes him quast Araxandrides, o Derphos, concerning the Money which Romanis Lysander deposited in the Temple of Delphos He mentions elsewhere (p) an Anaxandrides concerning the Times when the Priestes of Delphos delivered her Oracles At sirst she delivered them but once her Oracles At first the delivered them but once a Year; but a long time after she delivered them

(b) Id 1b inter incerta in nefii (d) Cafau in Athen 16 C 18 in AGer. Apronu ji

Homer, f Amu-phann gi-denil G Imperitam vene-Let cougressus Id in hymno Venerus  Hew on Φιλόππ Mynras สบิ กหลุงบึง Quo minus tibi in amore statum nunc Id 1b · Id 1b

ANCHISES; A Trojan Prince, descended from Dardanus, and the Son of Copys *, did so charm Venus, that she appear'd to him in the Shape of a Nymph to declare her Love to him. She told him that her Destiny oblig'd her to offer her self to him in Marriage, assuring him that he should find her † a Virgin, and intreating him to prefent her to his Relations, that the Contract of Marriage might be speedily drawn up.

Anchises answer'd like a brisk Man, that since she was no Goddess, nothing could hunder him from lying with her immediately . She took him at his Word, and to Bed they went, or Towards Evening Anchises fell askeep, and when he awaked he perceiv'd that he had lain with a Goddess, and was afraid he should not live long (At) after such a Fact, but Verse revived his Spirits, and told him, She should have a Son by him, whose Name should be Aneas; that she would get the Nymphs of the Wood to Nurse that Child till he wassive Years of Age, and that then he should be put into his Hands She desir'd him to beware of boasting that he had lain with Venus; and that if ever he should happen to be so indiscreet, he should be Thunder-struck . It is faid, that Anchifes (A) had not Power enough to be filent on his good Fortune, and that Drinking one day with his Friends, that Secret was discover'd by him Venus's Threatnings had their Effect; he was struck with a Thunder-Clap, but did not dye (B) of it

(7) Vost de Hist Græc p

(r Homer

hymno in Vener p m 848

once a Month It is very probable that in those two Places, Plutarch has quoted the same Author, and that this Author does not differ from him that is mention'd by the Scholiast upon Euripides The Question is to know whether his Name is Alexandrides or Anaxanarides Vossius (q) cannot tell what to think of it Without doubt the Work mention'd in the Col of it Without doubt the Work mention'd in the Collection of Proverbs publish'd by Andreas Schottus, from a Manuscript of the Vatican, must be ascrib'd to that same Anaxandride: The Subject of the Work mention'd in that Collection, concerns the Sacrileges committed in the Temple of Delphos, size The National Survive of Δλλροίς αναθημάτων, de anathematis que sacrilegio Delphis surre sublata, and that Book was written by a Man whose Name was Anaxandrides He related a Story which occasion'd the Greek Proverb, αχροί λαβε, κ) μασυν εξείς, Take the upper Part, and you'd be sure of the Middle See Vossius, pag 320 de Historicis Graeis de Historicis Gracis

(AA) He should not live long after such a Fatt]
There was a Tradition in those times, that Mortals which lay with Goddesses were not long liv'd Wherefore suchifes having discovered the thing, fupplicated Venm to have Compassion on hun,

Αλα (1) σε ωρος ζηνός γυναζομα αιγόχοιο Μη με (άντ αμενηιόν ος ανθιωποισιν εασης Ναίτιν αλ ελεαιρ εποί ε οιοθαλμι αίνης Γιγ:), δος δεαίς ευναζ' ο αθανατησι

Εννηνίες και Τουρος σεο Ετιμερικώ Virum to per Jovem oro A gidifirum, No me viventem debilem inter homines finas Habitaic, verum miserere quoniam non longavus

Vir est que squir cum deabus concumbit immortalibus
It seems at first View, that this Thought of the Ancients could have no manner of Ground, for this intimate Union of a Mortal Man with Immortal Beings, this Mixture, this Confusion of Principles, should have been accounted a Principle of Immortility, and not a Cause of a short Life Hence it is that the most refined Cabal teaches, that the Inhabi-Pagani, the Gods were Jealous of their Superiority, and took great Care that Men should not forget their Inferiority And therefore it was their Buliness to exclude em from the Enjoyment of Goddesses, to make em understand that such a Dainty Bit was not for their Teeth, and make 'em apprehensive of an Exemplary Punishment, such as a speedy Death, if they should taste a Pleasure of that Nature, which they reserved for themselves. It was requisite not only to make Men afraid, if they should be so bold as to tempta Goddess, but also if they should yield to the Declarations of Love made by the Goddess, even though they should be persuaded that they were but Women Don't we see that Human Laws punish with Death the Servants that lie either with their Massers Wives or Daughters? Tis in vain for them to alledge for their Excuse, that they have a long time relisted their Sollicitations, and that many

Advances and Threatnings made em fall at last anto that Snare, the Judges deliver them up to the Executioner, even though they suppose their Excuses to be certain and undeniable. The Gazettes have lately (t) inform'd us that a Footman was hang'd at Paris for such a Deed. And as in some hang'd at Paris for such a Deed And as in some Cases the Publick Interest requires that the Rigor of (t) I write the Laws should go beyond Justice, because the thu in Julipustice that is done to a private Person (w) is ly 1698 leis an Evil, politically speaking, than the Publick (w) See Advantage, which accrues from it, is a good; I do Tacitus not believe that Judges, animated with a severe Zeal Ann 114. for the Preservation of Chasses we have the preservation of Chasses when the preservation of Chasses we have the preservation of Chasses we have the preservation of Chasses we have the preservation of the prese for the Prefervation of Chaftery in Families, would cap 44 mind the Apology of a Footman, who fhould fay, that the Daughter or Wife of his Maiter came to that the Daughter or Wife of his Maiter came to him in the Disguise of a Servant, &c It is necessary that Footmen should have no Pardon to hope for, though the thing should be done ignorantly; for it will make em more cautious, and inspire om with Horror for the pretended Advantage of being below I It may serve them for a Precaution against Promises, Threats, and cunning Disguises If they could hope for a Pardon in Case they should lie with a Woman in a Disguise, they would hope for it upona meer inticement, and if they hoped to go unpunished, by truly alledging that they have been enticed to it, they would quickly be so bold as to turn Sollicitors, if they had the least Hopes of succeeding in it. They must be therefore kept in awe as ing in it. They must be therefore kept in awe as much as is possible, for a Master, who does not depend upon them Resistance, cannot be always free from all manner of Suspicion. Now as the Pagans from all manner of Suspicion Now as the Pagans fancied that Men of the highest Rank are more below the Gods, than a Footman is below a great Lord, it can be no wonder that Anchises was afraid of being punish'd, tho' he had lain with Venus, taking her only for a Woman

(A) That Anchises had not Power enough to be filent]

(A) That Anchifes had not Power enough to be filent]
And yet Venus's Threatnings were very terrible

Es δε καν (a) Εξειπης χ' επόξεωι άφεονι δυμφ (a) Ηο 1 ν φιλόπη μις ηναι ευσιφάνο Κυθεριή, mer in Σεύς σε χολωσαιάμ & Gαλέει Ιολόενη κας αυνώ hymn

Si vere rem declaraveris, & te jactaveris amenti anime Vener

In amore mixtum effe cum bene coronata Cytherids, in fub fin

Jupiter te iratus feries ardens fulmine livel to (b) Servi
This Adventure is a Picture which is often Copied us in En

The Ladies of the highest Quality, who fall in Love with their Inferiors, are oblig'd to thake all the Ad vances They require it to be kept secret, and cap 94 threaten an Indiscretion with a terrible Punishment (d) It had Nevertheless when the Favourite is a little heated been bester

with Wine, he talks more than becomes him And for Hygywith Wine, he talks more than becomes him And for Hygyformetimes he is so vain as to talk too much without nus to far being in Drink I shall quote some Authors a. that Cabout the Indiscretion of Anchises Fulminating of Anapys was chises quia se cum Venere concubuiss jastabas. They his Father, are Servius's Words (b) Hyginus says, (c) Venus and not Anchisem Assacci (d) filium amasse, & cum eo concua Assacci. buisse dicitur Procreavit Aneum, esque pracepit ne id who was apud homines enunciaret Quod Anchises inter sodales Capyus per vinum est elocutus. Ob id à Jove sulmine est Father

(B) But did not die of it] Venus knowing that An-chifes had boasted of the Favours she had bestowed upon him, complain'd to Jupiter, and obtain'd that he should be Thunder-struck But because the would not destroy him, and had no Hopes that he could recover being struck with a Thunderbolt; she took care to turn it aside Cum (e) inter aquales exulta-ret Anchises gloriatus traditur de concubitu Venurs, quod cum Joui Venus questa esset amerais ut in Anchisem ful-

(e)Servius ubi fupra

() See le (o nte de Crabalis entret 2 P m 54

Some say he will indice this Sightly it; others pretend that the Wound (II) could never eless up again. It is said he livided the Age of 80 Years, and was buried (E) on Mount will, where his Tomb was bounded by the shepherds. This Opinson differs very much from that of Virgil; for impording to that Poet, the same Night that Troy was taken, Americally in Eather (R) upon his Shoulders and carried him to a lafe place, and the Old Mandid not die before the Trajans, who joyn'd Eneas, came into Sicily after insumerable Fasignes. This Affection of Seneas for his Father, and the Care he often Plus took to save the Foundation of the Character that diffunguishes Eneas thin from other Hences: That Character consists in a Pietr Some Cay that Ancheles Seneas him from other Heroes: That Character conflits in a Piety Some fay that Anchifes & See alived till his Son was arrived in Italy, that Land of Promfe & which the Definites orPalages, Palages, dered him to look for through a thousand Dangers Cato, Dionysius Halicarnesseus, and the 1st Book Strabo, are of this Opinion. See the end of the Remark E. The Love of Venus for of the Anichifes was etor a Transient Passion; her first Lying-in did not fatisfy her, she bore a Enerds, Second Son to Machifes, as Apollodorus says in the 3d Book of his Bibliotheque.

ANCIL-

mina misterentur. Sed Vinus ehm cum fulmine posse vidisse interimi, miserata juvenem in aliam partem ulterture dischist tumen officus igne calesti semper debite micts. Here's again another Original whereof Copies have been taken in all Ages. Women are angry with an indiscreet Gallant, and are well pleas'd so make him sensible of his Fault; but the Matter is not carried too far, there is Room less for Reneris not carried too far, there is Room left for Repentance

tance

(f) Upon these two
(C) He less only his Sight by it] Servius (f) inthese two verses of the First Book of the flatus off fulmine, eculoque privatus off The word Encids, Oculo ought not to make one think that he loss but Tunc ille one Eye, for in (g) another Place Servius makes upon the Authority of Theocritus to inform us that quem Dardanio
Anchise Contracts only in Virgil of a great Weakness, which Alma Vethe Thinder had caus'd in him Jampiidem (h) invisus divis & inutilis annes nus genu-it Phrygu

Æn 1 a t. 647

Jampridem (b) invisus devis & inutilis annos nus genuit Phrygii

Simoentis ad untis ad untis Pallage of Virgil, thews that he was not (g) In.
gnorant of the Caufe of this Misfortune, Abail 2
has not given it a more Comical Turn, tho'
the Matter was very susceptible of it in the (h) Virg Hands of such a Poet However, have is his TranAbail 2

Simoen
Fulminis adjavit vints, & contigit agni to this Pallage of Virgil, shews that he was not caufe of this Misfortune,
the Matter was very susceptible of it in the Simoen
Turn, tho'
the Matter was very susceptible of it in the Simoentis adjavit vints, & contigit agni
to this Pallage of Virgil, shews that he was not specified to the sum of the caufe of this Misfortune,
the Matter was very susceptible of it in the Simoentis adjavit vints, & contigit agni
to the sum of the caufe of this Misfortune,
the Matter was very susceptible of it in the Simoentis adjavit vints, & contigit agni
to the sum of the caufe of this Misfortune,
the Matter was very susceptible of it in the Simoentis adjavit vints, & contigit agni
to the sum of the caufe of this Misfortune,
the Matter was very susceptible of it in the Simoentis adjavit vints, & contigit agni
to the sum of the caufe of this Misfortune,
the Matter was very susceptible of it in the Simoentis adjavit vints, & contigit agni
to the sum of the contigit agni to the

Vieil, cass, mal propre a la guiros; Je ne sers de rien sur la terre, Spettre qui n'ai plus que la voix J'y suis un inutile poids Depuis le tems que de son foudre Jupin me voulut metere en poudre, Jupin me voulut metire en poi Depuis le tems qu'il m'effraya Ce grand Dieu qui me giboya, Par une vengeance secrette, Mais je suu personne discrete, Je n'en airai point le sujet, Suffit que j'aurois eu mon fait Suffit que j'aurois eu mon fait

Sams Venus qui sauva ma vie

J ay depuis eu cent sou envie

(1) Plut de vitto& virtute,

Oper moral p. 100.

(k) Plut tacchi de Corresponde un bran matin,

Et sur mon chien de destin

If Maringare a Passage of Plutarch, and a Passage of Plutarch sur together, we shall prove that the Thunderbolt made a Wound that was ne(k) Plutarch sur closed up. Plutarch says (1), that if Musk (k)

keep 10

Accordant the Corruption of an Uker makes the richtarch's est the stink. This is his Thought, but whereas I make him speak in General, he Instances particularly only to hu

Sense
(m) Me21712 10 pass I Lagica mongèr Estde's, morse
(m) Me21712 10 pass I Lagica mongèr Estde's, morse
(m) Me21712 10 pass I Lagica mongèr Estde's, morse
(m) Me21712 10 pass I Lagica mongèr Estde's, morse
(m) Me21712 10 pass I Lagica mongèr Estde's, so (n) Dion
Halicarn
Halicarn
Halicarn
Antiquit

Words of a Poet, but that Plusarch quotes the Normalist Poet tits Maringare (n) will a form unlib I C. Antiquit Ant

Je von desia le fils de Cytheree, Je von desia le sits de Cytheree, Le ban Encé, aux portes d'Ilson Dessus son des portant son pere Anchise, Rus du grand coup de soudre qu'il receut Garde la playe encore distillante Sur le sin lin dont il est revesse Mexiriae, who is the Author of these French Verses, has corrected a Fault in the Regioning of the third

Meritac, who is the Author of these French Verses, has corrected a Fault in the Beginning of the third Verse of Sophoeles, instead of vate, as we read in all the Editions of Dienysius Halicarnasseus, he has put more In which there is nothing against Critical Rules The comparing of Authors, who have at different times quoted the same Passage, discovers often the true Reading. Sylburgius who revised the the Three Lasin Translation of Dienysius Halicarnasseus, done Verses by Sigismund Gelemius, has (p) not corrected the third Nunc in by Sigismund Gelemius, has (p) not corrected the third Verse of Sophoeles. That Wound which suppurates, is not to be found in it, and Anchises is represented there as stuck in the Back, that is, we don't find in it what Sophoeles said, and what he did not say, is to be found in it. If the Ancient Writers returned into the World, they would be very much amazed to find so many things in their Books which they mever thought of never thought of

(E) Mad was bursed on Mount Ida] Eustathius (a) relates this, but Pansanias is of another Opinion He says (b), that Enem going to Sielly put into Laconia, and built there two Cities, and that Anchifer dying at the foot of a Mountain in Arcadia, was na buried there, wherefore the Mountain was called (a) Eu-Anchifia Paufaniai adds, That the Ruins of a Temfath in ple of Venus were seen near this Sepulchre of An-Iliad lib. thifes, and that the Inhabitants of Troy could not 12 shew any where the Tomb of that Old Man See (b) Pauphanus Byzantinus says (c) that Anchifes was buried san lib 8. in a City of Thrace built by Aness, or rather, he p 247 quotes an old Scholiast whose Name was Theon, (c) Steph who said so Tretzes (d) is of the same Opinion, Byzant in only he says that City was in Macedonia Virgil Aiveix carries the good Man as sar as Sicily, where he makes (d) In fee dying at the foot of a Mountain in Arcadia, was carries the good Man as far as Sicily, where he makes (d) In him dye, with this he concludes the long Story Lycophr that his Hero told Queen Dido

(e) Virg

Hime (e) Deprans me portus & illatabilis ora, Accipit Hine pelagi tot tempestatibus astus, Amitto Anchisen Hic me, pater optime, fishm in An I.

Deferis, heu tantis nequicquam ercpte periclis I v 570

Servicus says (f), that Anchises's Tomb was on (g) Apud

Mount Errice near Drepanum I have named Three Servicum

Writers, who say that Anchises died in Isaly Cato ibid

(g), Dienysius Halicarnasseus (h), and Strabb (i), say (b) Antiq Heu genitorem, omnis curie casus jue levamen,

(F) Took his Father upon his Shoulders] The Words 64 of Virgil are so Excellent, that they deserve to be in- (1) Lib 5

ferted in this place

Ergo (k) age care pater, cervici imponere nostra,

Ipse subibo humeris, nec me labor is e gravabit

Hac (1) fatus latos humeros subj ctaque calla Vesta super, sulvique insternos pelle leonis, Succedoque oneri Dextra se parvus Iulus Implicuit, sequiturque patrem non passibus aquis

Nanc (m) omnes terrent aura sonus excitat omnis veral Ausufpensum, & pariter comitique encrique timentem thorities. The Poets have highly extoll d this Action, and for this in at deferv'd it. They say (n) that the Flames had a la Cerda regard for Aneas, and that for fear of hurting a Common Son who had so great an Affection for his Father, tary upon they divided themselves to leave a free Passage for this Passage at (A) And minata terga amy-

ctum fluxa ve+ fle byffiпа

Æn 1 3 v 707 (f)Serv

pm 158

Æn 1 2 (1) Ibid

V 721 (m) Ibid V 728 (n) Seefia

Jage of Virgil.

148

a Dis-cours sur la vie de Mr Ancillon, P 6 Ibid P. 8 Thid P 9 P 13 • Ibid φ 13, 14 ζ Ibid p 14 m Ibid P 18 → Ibid p 20, 21 1 Ibid p 31 P 35 > Ibid P 36 μ Ibid p 352 P 775

A N C I L L O N (David) Minister of the Responsed Churching Metzie, was born in that Town the 17th of Mirel, 10617. At Nineth Ten Zens of Age he studied in the College of the Jesuits, which was then the only One at Metz where good Laterature was taught 6, and from the very first he proved so happasula. Youth; that the shief Persons of the Society malested wathing to save here modeled by the Persons of the Society malested wathing to save here modeled. Persons of the Society neglected nothing to give him airths of their Religion, and make him one of their Order, y but he vigobously opposed them, and from that time be took up a Resolution to study Divinity

He A was so indefatigable as his Swidies, that many times the Paternal Authority was made use of to interrupt them; for a beswas excessive, and if we may so say, intemperate in his way of Studying. He & took a Journey to Geneva, in the Year 1633 where he went through a n Course of Philosophy under Mr. du Pan, and studied Divinity & under the Professors Spanherm, Deodats, and Tronchin, who had a particular Love and Esteem for him He lest Geneva s in the Month of April 1641, and presented hunself to the Synod of Charentas to be admitted into the Ministry. His Examiners admired his a Capacity, and the Ministers of Paris his Modesty, and the whole Assembly was so well pleas'd with him, that they gave him a the most confiderable Church that was unprovided, which was that of Meaux He exercised his Ministry there with all imaginable Satisfaction till the Year 1653. He was tenderly beloved by his Flock, and he married (A) very advantageously. He got a very great Reputation by his Learning, Eloquence and Virtue, and the Roman Catholick's themselves had a particular Esteem for him. He shewed his fine Talents with greater Listre and Success at Mater, where he was Minister from the Year 1652. and Success at Metz, where he was Minister from the Year 1653, till the Revocation of the Ldict of Nants in 1685 After this fatal Blow he returd to μ Francfort, and having preach'd in the French Church at Hanaw, y the whole Congregation was so edified that they immediately desired that the Heads of each Family should meet to request him to grant them his p 354 who obtain'd what they defired o He began to exercise his Ministry in that Church at the end of the Year 1685 We shall see why (B) he quickly return'd to Francfort, where he would have fixed himself, if the Condition of his Family which was numerous, had not oblig'd him to go into a place where he might settle the same He made choice of Berlin, and receiv da very savourable Reception from his Electoral Highness of Brandenhume of the was made Minister of Parks. He was made Minister of Berlin, and had the Satisfaction to see his Eldest Son appointed o Judge and Director of the French that were in that City, and his other Son gratified with a Pension, and entertained in the University of Francfort on the Oder, and of at last Minister in Ordinary of the Capital City. He had also the Satisfaction to see

(17 Difcours fur " ic Monir Ancillon

P 397

(A) And he manied very advantageoufly The manner how this Affair was managed is very curious (a). The Chief Heads of the Families at Means "being ienfible of the great Worth of their Minies" fler and heaving him for formal the heaving him for the "fler, and hearing him fay fometimes that he would go to Meiz to fee his Father and his Rela"tions, whom he had not feen for feveral Years, "were atraid of losing him They fought a Thoufund Expedients to keep him a long time The furest way in their Opinion was to marry him to a Rich Person worthy of him, and whose Efate lay in that Country or in the Neighbourhood Somebody remembred he had heard say, that Mr an illow having preach done Sunday Morn-"ing at Charenton, was generally applauded by every Body, but that above all others Mr Macane, who was a venerable old Man, of an exemplary Virtue and Piety, and who had a great "Iffare in Paris and about Means gave him a thousand Benedictions and Praises, and faid loudly enough to those that fate near him in the (hurch, I has he had but one Daughter, his only Child, whom he lovd entirely, but if that Man, meaning "Mi Ancillon, flould come and ask her of him in Marriage, he would give let to him with all his Heart. They went and ask d him whether he continued still in that Mind. He answered, That he did, and added new Testimonies of Esteem and Affection for Mi Ancillon, in so much that the Mar-riage was concluded in the Year 1649, and Confummated a little while after Mary Macane, his Spoufe, was very Young, being but 14 Years of Age But having in her younger Years all the growing Viitues, it will appear by the Sequel of this Diffcourse that she proved not only a help to him in Piety, and a pleasant comfort for Society, but that she also helped him in the Management of his domestick Concerns, for which he wholly " relied upon her, (B) Hly he quickly return'd to Francfort | His Sermons were quickly very much talk d of (a) at Hanaw Several Persons, who had left the French Congregat on ou of some D scontent, return a to it again. The Pro-flors of Divinity the German and Dutch Ministers, sime frequently to his Sermons. The Count of Hanaw h mf it, who had never been feen so that Church, was plial a to come and hear Mr Ancillon. They came the thir from the Ne ghbouring Places, and even from Franc-foit—People that did not underfland. French flocks thither in Crowds, faying they lov'd to fee him special thirse in Crown, laying they love to see him fpeak Inde ira & lachryma (b) Thu Diffinition made the other two Ministers jealous Nature being vexed with that Passion, forgot ber Duties They took Umbrage at the Tokens of Esteem and Assettion that were given to this new Collegue, they were troubled at it, and have a how seemed many to believe him to leave a Reference given to this new Collegue, they were troubled as it, and vexed him several ways, to oblige him to leave a Post voluntarily from which they could not expel him. The Virtue of Mr. Ancillon was exposed to a second Trial For whereas his two (c) Relations had shewn a great Forwardness to oblige him, and seem'd to wish they could turn Stones into Bread to ease him all the while he was in their City as a Stranger, they shunned him when he had the Direction of their Flock They gave him a thouland Mortifications, and if it had been in their Power they would willingly have turn d Bread into Stones to ex-That the Roman Catholicks and the Prophane made it a Subject of Rallery, The other (e) was that it exasperated the Prople Mr Ancillon had their Favour, and if he would have made use of it, perhaps he might have over-come the IU Will of his Enemies, but because he did not believe that a faithful Paster ought to settle himself by the Favour of a Division between the Flock and their Ministers, and that all his Life-time he had been an Ene-as a quiet Place of Refuge, or a safe Harbour into which he had been east by the Storm, was become a Field of Battel, in which he must continually fight, and where his Patience, which had already undergone several great Trials, might at last be overcome, he went away (g) He therefore lest Hanaw without Noise, when it was least expectea, or rather, he suffered himself to be taken out of the Hands of his Enemies, and of his Friends, the out of the Hands of his Enemies, and of his Friends, the Former, as it were, bolding him by one Hand, treated him ill, the Laster holding him by the other Hand, endeavour'd to rescue him out of the Oppression he was in, and both were ready to break out into a Division, and try who should carry it. To avoid this Scandal, he sacrified his Interests to the Publick Peace, he went away privately, less briends endeavouring to stop him, should kindle a Fire surking under the Asher, which he was willing to extinguish

(b) One of betn Married to M Ancıllon'sSifter, and the other was attually married to his Niece Ibid p. 353. (c) Ibid. p 356 (d) Ibid P 357 (e) Ibid.

(g) Ibid.

(4) Ibid P 354

I be-

his Brother a milde Judge (C) of all the French that are in the States of Brandenburg, and a Ibid pomer has Son-in-Law, & Engineer to his Electoral Highness He enjoyed these 193 B Ibid p Comforts and several others till he died, which he did with all the Sentiments of Piety that belong to a true Minister of $\mathcal{F}ESUS$ CHRIST, at Berlin the third of September, 1692. being Seventy five Years of Age γ I could have made this Article much longer than I have done, for the Book out of which I have taken it contains many Particulars But it being a A Work which it will be more easy to consult than to get this Dictionary, I thought it more proper to refer the Reader to the same, than to make many Extracts sur la vie out of it I would do otherwise, if I had only Manuscript Memoirs. I shall only do feu infift upon two Things, one whereof concerns the (D) Library of the late Mr A_{n-} Mr An-

I believe, I have faid elsewhere, That the Jealoufy of Eloquence is very violent, the scandalous Divisions it produces, appear but too often. The Reflections that may be made upon it are only fit to be suppressed. The Subject is too nice, and too invidious I will only My without making any Allusion to any particular Case, that in this Business People do not behave themselves with the requisite Prudence and Charity They should chuse Men of equal Parts for their Ministers, or if one of them does considerably surpass his Collegues, they should not shew their Preference so openly They have no regard to human Weaknesses, they run in Crowds (1) Eft • apud Heto the Sermons of one Preacher, and leave the Auditory of all the rest almost quite empty They take so little Care to conceal their Distinction, that physicum de princi-pe Ephethis Imprudence may be accounted the chief Cause of the Discord It is a Seed of Dissertion, Wise Men are not so indiscreet. All the Auditors should follow doro Unithis Model, but because it can hardly be hoped versos ait that the People will be so prudent, perhaps the best way would be, that those who proceed to the Electi-ons should avoid too great an Unequality of Ta-lents, and consider that in some Professions many effe morte dos quod quum ciquum citotra be none among us that excells, and if any one has pellerent Hermodorum ita
locuti fiint Ne
mentalidos quod quum citotra be none among us that excells, and if any one has that Advantage, let him rather be any where else than in our Caty
This Law was condemn d by (i) Heratlimark that was made by the Author of the Book which I have often quoted (k) Mr Ancillon, says has have a same of the Faults that have been observed he, having none of the Faults that have been observed mo de nobis unus excellat, fed si quis extiterit, alio in loco, & apud alios fit (icefor for first of the series of one's Opinions, and the Desire of making them prevail, 2 The Love of Esteem, and Worldly Glory, 3 the series of Deninion, 4 The Love of one's Interest, co, & apud alios fit (iceforced, se it were, that great Man to remain constantly united to him mo de nopud alios fit Cice-ro Tuf united to him cul quæst

(C) To see his (m) Brother made Judge] (n) " An Office which he still actually exercises with Ho-"nour, but as troublesome as it is, it does not so "wholly take him up as to hinder him from Pub"lishing several Solid and Judicious Pieces in the "Journals of Berlin, which shew the Solidity and "vast Extent of his Knowledge and Learn"ing (o)

(D) The Library of the late Mr Ancillon, and his way of Studying | The Estate which he got by his Marriage having put him into a condition to (p) fa helowad Passion, he bought all the chief Marriage having put him into a condition to (p) satisfy his most beloved Passion, he bought all the chief Books that may be call'd the Pillats of a great Libraty, such as are the most curious Bibles either for the Edition or Notes, several Distinances, the most excellent Commentaries on the Scripture, the Works of the Fathers, the Collections of Councils, the Ecclesiatical Histories, and several others of the like Nature. All of the best Edwarms He had always the same Manim astermards, and squee good Reasons for it. An Account of which would be somewhat too sedious, however, here is at least the Substance of them in a few Words. He said that it is certain that the less trouble the Eyes have to read a Book, the more free the Mind at to judge of it. That as we certain that the left trouble the Eyes have to read a Book, the more free the Mind at 0 judge of it. That as the Beauties and Faults of it are more easily preceived when it is printed than when it is written, so the same things are more clearly seen when it is primed with a fair Character and upon good Paper, than when it is printed on bad Paper, or with had Lesters. Having thus laid a model. Execute the survey of its answer of the survey of t on bad Paper, or with bad Letters. Having thus laid a good Foundation for a Library, he increased it with all the good Books that came out afterwards. He had the pleasure of reading all the new Books, for his Friends in Paris, Holland, England, Germany, Swifferland, and Geneva, with whom he kept a frist Correspondence, sent them to him as soon as they were expected to sale. The Opinion of those, who say that the first Editions are the least valuable, because they only served.

make the Works of an Author appear in a fairer Charatter, did not abate his Curiofity He was not ignorant that the famous Mr Menage, Dean of St Peter's at Angers, in his Epistle Dedicatory to his Etymologies of the French Tongue, speaking to Mr Du Puy, tells him, That he had formerly learnt of him, that Mr Loysel a famous Advocate in the Parliament of Paris, used to Say of the first Editions, That they only serve to make the Works of an Author appear in a fairer Charatter, the Works of an Author appear in a jairer Character, that it was very likely that this Judicious Man Said this of all forts of Books, but that it is more true of Dictionaries, than of any other fort of Books. He knew very well twas the Opinion of others, that the first Edizions of Books were only to be look'd upon as imperfest Essays, which Authors propose to the Learned to have their Opinion of Authors propose to the Learned to have their Opinion of Authors propose to the Learned to have their Opinion of the said of them But thus did not at all put a ftop to his Forward them But thu did not at all put a flop to his Forward ness, and the Event teaching him afterwards that he ventured (†) but little, he did not discontinue it And (†) see the indeed we have seen bitherto but sew Authors, in this respect, like Gardinal du Petron, who spar'd neither ter k

Pains nor Expences for hu Works, and who had them twice Printed, the first time to distribute only some Co pies to particular Friends, on which they might make their Observations, and the second time, to give them to the Publick such as he was as last resolve at to publish them, and who, to prevent their being published against his Will in the first Manner, cau'd them to be printed in his own House, where he set up a Printing-Press for that purpose

Mr. Ancillon's Library was "(a) very curious and (a) Ibid, "large, and he increas'd it daily with all the new P 102,
"and valuable Books, so that at last it became one 103 "and valuable Books, to that at last it became one of the finest of any private Men in the Kingdom The curious Foreigners did not fail to see it as they went through the City of Meiz, it being the greatest Rarity of that Town As soon as he saw the Catalogue of the Presended Heretical Books, made by the Archbishop of Paris, in the Year 1685, (b) the set aside all the Books that were ordered to be suppress, and the Library in Foreign Countries. tet siide all the Books that were ordered to be supprest, p 328 which (c) made up hu Library in Foreign Countries, (c) See Ancil- (d) Ibid. lon's Library hu forced and hasty departure supply'd them with a fair Pretence to appropriate it to themselves. Some proposed to buy it all at once, others would have it sold by Retail, but neither of them intended to pay for it, they only desired to lay hold on it. The last expedient was followed, as being more proper to favour that unjust Design a Crowd of Clergymen of all Orders came (e) Ibid in from all Parts to this noble and rich Library, which had been 44 Tears a Collecting with Pleasure and Choice, (f) Instead and which consisted only of rare Books, and worthy of the of the usu Curiosity of the most learn'd Men. They made several al Word heaps of 'em, and going away they gave some Money to a Nonsieut Young Girl of about 12 or 13 Years of Age, that was they allooking upon 'em, that they might say, they had paid the way: call'. Price of 'em In this manner Mr Ancillon saw this precious Collestion dispers'd, which he had made, and on My Dear which he had set he Affettion, and at one may say, his own Heart NOTE, That the loss of this Library was attended with the loss of a vast number of Letters, which (e) were designed for the Press, and which Mr Aucillon had received from many Learned Men. He chiefly designed to print those which Mr. But had so so the sure of the press, and the chiefly designed to print those which Mr. But the sure of the press, and the past of the press. Men He chiefly designed to print those which Mr Daill his (f) intimate Friend had writ to him What a Loss was here!

This may afford Matter for Meditation For is it not a very fad thing to fee that there needs but one Day to undo what has been done with a Thousand Cares, and vast Expences during many Years? Is it not a deplorable Fare to be exposed to lose in a Moment, what had been a long time purchasing by Innocent Means, in order to reap from it a very lawful Pleasure and an honest Instruction? Is it not a Ii

395 > Ibid p 487 d It is entitu'ed . Discours cillon, & cillon, ses dernieres ted at Batains 500 Pages in

P 219 (f) Instead of the ulu-al Word Monlieur, way call'd one another My Dear CTION upon the fome Lithe Indo-lence of who stay for the Editions

(m)He had been a Famous Ad-vecate as Metz. Metz (n) Ibid P 393 (e) See ibid p 102, 39 (p) Ibid P 72

lib 5 fol 278

(k) Dif-

la vie de Mr An-cillon, p 93 (l. He was M Ancil-

Ion s Col-

leque at Metz

cours sur

OBSER-

VATI-

ON upon the Jealoufy of Elo-

quence

(b) See the following Quotation

raclitum liorum Hermo-

Ephelios

mulctan-

(g)Virgil Ecl i v

(b) Idem Edg v 2

(A) He of ten found

4 1 2/1

Lelmool

n as not at.

1 9.2 See

Note of the f A Para-go aph of

mark

the last Marg nal

unted w th any esilon, and his way of Studying, and the other concerns the Book which he published (E) cruel Fatality to lose all of a sudden a vast Number of Volumes, which had been to carefully collected and so much cherished? If the Flames had devoured them, one could more easily bear such a loss, but without a special Grace of God, one cannot endure without a special Grace of God, one cannot endure that they should become the Proy of an unjust Possessor, to whom they only cost the trouble of getting them carried to his House. The Triumviri, who disposses to their Lands those, who had improved them all their Lite-time, and gave them to those who had not contributed any thing to put them in a good State, did not cause so sensible a Grief as was that of the Learned, who have seen their Libraries ransacked, and fall into the hands of a Persecutor, worthy of hatred if he acted against his Conscience, and deserving Pity if his false Devotion persuaded him that it was a sthing acceptable to tion perfusded him that it was a thing acceptable to God, (g) Impius has tam sulta nevalia miles babebs? The Earbarus has segetes? faid those good People of Italy, who sound themselves obliged to surrender their Patrimony to the Soldiers of the Triumviri, En queis con coumus agros ' Infere nune Melibae pyres, pene

(h) Vivi pervenimus advena nostri Quod nunquam veriti sumus ut possessor agelis Diceret, bac mea funt, veteres migrate colons

Mr Ancillon and many others could have adapted most of those Expressions to their Fortune Perhaps I were hetter to love nothing, than to let ones affection on a Library, when one is reduced to speak to it in this manuer

Nuper (1) follicitum que milis tedium, (1) Horat Od 14 Nune deficterium, curaque non levu lıb ı

But if it be possible, let us forget that unhappy and faral Revocation of the Edict of Nantes, which has ther cast our Eyes on Olyetts that do not raise the Passions into a Terment Let us praise the good I aste of that able Divine He was for having the hist Lditions of Books, though it was very likely (k) they would be reprinted with Additions and Corrections. I his is to understand things, this we may call Love of Books and Lagerness of Infruttion But those who can be quietly without a Book till it be reprinted, make it appear that they are willing to petfift in their Ignorance, and that they had rather tive some Puscoles, than get some Learning I speak of those, (and the Number of them is very great,) who are periuaded on one fide, that a new Book will teach thom a thousand things, and who, though they have wherewith to buy it, put off the buying of it, because they have been told that there will be better or chepper Editions I his Delay cannot be jufficiently blam'd It is a flumeral neglect of Learning. Mr. Bigot told me one day that a Man of Rourn, who applied himself to the trudy of Genealogies, would willingly have improved himself by the Works of Father Anselms. and yet he did not buy them, but stand for the Second Edition, which never came out, and tis likely that Man died withhut having distinct his Curiosity. Pogor represented to him several times, that at was better to have Two Editions of a Book, than to deprive ones self of the Profit which may be got by reading the fuft; and that a Man judges wrong on the value of things, if he prefers 3 or 4 Crowns before such a Plione Thore who can afferd it, cannot be better advited than to provide themisises with the first bestions. I administ the Educious than are made in Foreign Countries do not cost is much. But are they as thue? is the minorhing after'd in, or added to them? Did not the Abbot della Ragne publicially (4) complain that the Princers of Holland had corrupted his Book? I have been affected but a few days ago, that the History of Davide, and that ct strade printed in the N therlands, are not exactly the same with the balies Lditions, the Bookfellers et l'anies having imprest, or alter'd iome things out of complainance to some Illustrious Families I may be told that the Author sorrects iome Faults in the record Edition; I'awn'it but they are not always real baults, they are Alterations which he factifies to prude itial Reafins, to his Repose, and to the Injudice of his too powerful Confurers. The d I dition the Marse made of his Chronological Abridgirent more correct, for he lett out fome Falines, but he also left out some Truths that were unacceptable, and for that Reason the currous Endeavour to get the Edition in 420 which 120 the first, and pay a great Price for it. I say nothing of the Advantage that may be got by comparing the Editions 1 It is so great when a Man has exactly revised his Work, that his first Essay deserves to be kept All which will make you sensible that Mr Ancillon knew very well what belongs to a Libbrary

I proceed to his Method of Studying (a) He did not spend a Moment in vain and uselest Studies. He read indeed all sorts of Books, even the Ancient and Modern Romances. He believed that there was no Book but what might be useful, and used to read these Words ascribed to Virgil, Aurum ex stercor than colligo. He said also sometimes. That in some neglected Authors there are some curious things to be found, which are control he met with elsewhere, and if it were only not to be met with elfewhere, and if it were only the Style there is always fomething to be got by the reading of 'em But he did not apply his Mind to them; he only made Important Books, and Serious Things, the principal Subject of his Studies _____ (b) He made

The first time, Said he, Serv'donly to give him a gen

neral Notion of the Subject, and the second enabled him to take notice of the Beauties of it The Indexes which other great Men have call'd, The Soul of Books, were utterly useless to him , because he read Books with Applisation, and more than once Besides, he had a very faithful Memory, and particularly a Local Memory great use to Men of Letters. He read them exactly, out omitting the very Title, the Name of the Primer, and the Place and Year of the Impression In his Opinion every thing was of some use He scored his Books as he read them, and placed in the Margins Reservences to other Authors who had treated the same Subject, or had said someshing that had an Affinity with what he read. (c) Sometimes he changed his Reading, which ferval him instead of Rest (1) He did not always read Books through sometimes he studied Masters to the bottom, and then consulted the suppliers who had treated them he often saw the same things in different Books, at which he was not disgusted, on the contrary, he said they were so many new Stroaks which compleated the Idea he had conceived, and brought it to an entire Perfection He had a great Lable in the middle of his Chamber, which was common-ly full of Books, most of them open The famous Fra-Paly fall of Books, most of them open The famous Fra-Paolo, whom I have mentioned, studied also in the same munner, and as the exact and Faishful Author of his Life informs us, he never left off till be had seen all, that is to say, till he had confronted Authors, Places, Times and Opinions He was bent upon it, that he might have no more Occasion to doubt or think again of the same thing, and that he might know what to depend upon Thin Mr Ancillon studied sometimes, and he has often been heard to give the same Reasons of it. As he read much, he found many things worth taking notice of, and the he had an admirable Memory, he had Books in which he found ed what he thought in steened who would make the formach at an sukborn in his Study, that Menage, and several other great Men have condens to ease Men and saciliate the Acquisition of Leason to ease Man and facelitate the Acquistion of Le on the contrary, they loak'd upon them as an Obfine the interrupts the course of Reading and Medication, and makes out lose the Iruit of 'am. But he believ'd that fore themselves to be the course of the course of enthe coursery, soes sound approved and Meditation, and unhar out loss the Irust of 'em. But he believe'd that face through the unhappings of the Age wherein we live, it were sufficient to know things to the bettem, and wil the Realth, they are built upon, has Authorities must be alledged, and formal Texts queted; it was necessary to have a Book, which like a Vein or a stream of Water smay direct one to the Fountain Head, the rather, because heing to speaken publick before certain People, that were rather hit Spies than hu Heavers, and who aften ask'd him Authorities and Proofs for what he advanced, it was in some fore necessary to have a Repersory to ease his Memony, and to prevent his looking a long since for what he manted, according to the different Juntiures he was in. It seems to me that these are things from which many Readers may reap an Advantage. I shall speak hereafter (d) of his constant Application to study

Application to fludy

(a) Dif-CORTS IN la vie de cillon, p.

(M) Thid

(c) Ibid (1) Hove MOTER SOLL dvanaú-

(I bia P fue to he Jours n il des Seavand Sec #111 1 Mark mark & of s/m Breside Pelluffon, tewarda . the rand .

(d) In the Sifted (B). And I will say in general, that the Discourse which has been published on this Life, represents him as a Person of an extraordinary Merk it is, property speaking, the idea of an Accomplished Mamilier. He appears Learned, Eloquent, Wife, Second Phous, Modest, Charicable, dispensing his Confures meetly or rigorously, according as commentation. • the Matter required, practifing what he * preach'd; wholly taken up with the Functions Abfurdity of his (F) Ministry, without concerning himself, as many others do, with what he otherw je, otherw je, longs ibid

(f) Ibid p 207 (g) Ibid p 212 (b) Ibid p 2 3 p 214

(k) Ibid

p 217 (/) Ibid

(o) Ibid p 221

(p) Ibid

P 255

(E) The Books be Publish'd In the Year 1657, he caus'd a Book in 4500 be printed (e) at Sedan, wherein the whole Controversy about Traditions is amply and solidly examined 'Tis w faithful Relation of what past in the Conference which he had with Mr. de Bedauer, (f') Doctor of the Sorbonne, Bishop of Augusta, and suffragan of the Bishop of Metz He first disputed with him in his House (g) in the Preschee of many Persons, and afterwards in the Bishoprick (h) before a Crowd of People All the Articles were written down and sign'd (1) He maintain'd that Disputation with Honour, and shish'd it with Success Having daswid methodically all the Objections that were made against him, he represented that he was also to propose his Argument in his Turn; but because he had given several Mortal Blows to Error, in his Anjwer, it was fear'd that he would utterly destroy it, if he was allowed to lay down the Truth, as he presended Mr de Bedacier resolved to retire, and in order to conceal the Motive of his Condust, he said, that for the future it would be better to dispute in Writing than (E) The Books be Publish'd] In the Year 1657, he for the future it would be better to dispute inWriting than by Word of Mouth Nevertheless it was agreed on both fides that neither party should cause the Acts of that Conference to be printed But there was a (k) Monk that publish'd a falle Account of it, and whose impudence was

Ith'd a falle Account of it, and whose impudence was fogress (1), that though Mr Ancillon had oben n d a very great Honour in that Conference, he endeavour dto persuade the Publick, that it had been fatal both to him and his Party, and that he had been deseated beyond Recovery Which oblig'd Mr Ancillon to publish the Work I have mention'd Hottinger praises it (m) very much, in the 6th Chapter of the 3d Book of his Biblightheeanim Quadriphrism (n) I ather Circuer, a Minime and Provincial of his Order, undertook to consult that Work, in order to which, he composed a Book, Entituled, Le Fort des I raditions abbatu par les maximes de Mr Duroid Ancillon Others publish'd forme Satyrs, but all those Livels met with an unhappy fome Satyrs, but all those Libels met with an unhappy Fate The Roman Catholicks themselves advised

Mr Ancillon not to answer them as he had under-Mr Ancidon not to aniwer them as no had dideletaken, they told him, that he and his Book (s) were so far above those common Writers, that he eaght not to engage with them. As soon as the Method of Cardinal Richelicu came out, (p) He made a large and excellent Aniwer to it. But he heard that Mr 'and excellent Aniwer to it But he heard that Mr
'Marrel, Professor at Montauban, had made one which 'was just coming out, and that Mr Claude, who 'hid the same Design, had laid it aside for the like 'Reason, as it appears now by the Sixth Letter in 'the Collection of his Letters, in the Fifth Volume of 'his Posthumous Works He therefore suppress'd
'what he had done, and nothing of it was made
'Publick but some Sheets, which contain'd an Aniwer to the 6th Chapter of that Method, or to speak more properly, an Apology for Luther, Zuingliau, Calvin and Beka, which is the Title of it in the Edition of Hanaw, 1666 Mr Ancillon wrote the Life of William Farel The famous Mr Conrart, who was one of his intimate Friends, read and appropriate of the standard of the s prov'd of it, and with his own Hand writ iome Notes in the Margins of the Manuscript It was Work that deserved to be publish'd, but he could not be persuaded by any means to give his Confert to it; and his Refuial occasion'd a Copy full of Faults to be made from it, which came into the Hands of a Bookseller in Holland, who put it in the Press on the Reputation of the Author Every Rody was surposed to the Single a masseled Every Body was surprized to see such a wretched Edition, as that is, and if one Day the same Book should be printed from the Copy revised by Mr Conrart, this Piece will appear so mangled, that it will not be known Although Mr Anti-lon had expounded fome whole Books of the holy Scriptures and writ all his Sermons, he could ne-Scriptures and writ all his Sermons, he could never be persuaded to print them (q) The only thing of that kind, that was printed, is a Sermon which he preach'd at Metz on a Fast-day his Consistory made use of some Authority over him to take it out of his Hands, and caus'd it to be printed at Paris in the Year 1676 That Sermon was made on the 18th and 19th Verses of the third Chapter of St Paul's Episse to the Philippians, and the Title of it is, St Paul's Tears

Laffly, he wrote an excellent Answer to the kafto. Icq. ral Advice, to the Circular Letters, and to the Meshods, which the Clergy aldress'd to the Reformed of France in the Year 1682, but he kept it close in his Study, till iome considerable Persons having oblig'd him to publish it, he sent it to his ancient Friend, Mr Turretin, Professor of Divinity at Ganera, giving him full Liberty to dispose of it as he should think sit; but it is likely that the Copy still carried, for it was never he ind of since. Mr American was so little concern d for his Works, when he can a manual after it, and yet this was that he never enquir'd after it; and yet this was the Answer, which the Publick expected to see, and whereof mention is made in the Preface to a sond and judicious Book, Entituled, Examen des Methodes, Ore in that Place where it is said, that there will come out an Answer, done by an able Person of Metz

(I) Wholly taken up with the functions of his M nistry] Those, who devete themselves to the Office of Pastors of Souls, (a) have need of all their time to study, (a) This stors of Souls, (a) have need of all their time to fludy, (a) thid labour, and worthing perform their Duties, and wishout p 95,96 doubt 'tis for that reason, that sie Sixth Cinen among those call'd Apostolical, emports that no Bishop, Pri st or Deacon shall meddle with Secular Matters, on change in any Publich Office; and that the Sixth Canon among those of Africa, forbids Persons of that Characteristale upon themselves the care of the Affairs or Law Suits of other People. The Loss of time that is spent in thise Worldly Occupations, is not the least Mo two of those exactlent Constitutions; but I believe they are not the only Considerations that have been the Occusion of them. Experience has made it plane, thus the Introduces of the Considerations that have been the Occasion of them Experience has made it plain, thus the intrigues of the World, the Hurry of Business, and the Ambision of courting great Persons, are three Rocks that have always been and will be facal to them. They part insensibly with that Mpossolital Simple city, which ought to be one of their chief Ornaments & they learn the Maxims of the World; they age themselves to its Subsidies, and Artifices, and by degrees practife them. The Minister I speak of avoided all those Rocks, (b) he lov'd his Study, and a quiet, (b) Ibid and retired Life, and avoided the Hurry of the page 100 World. He was appointed by the Laws of the Country, and against his Will, Guardian to his Brother and Sister (c) Ibid But (c) he left the Administration of the Estate and Bufiness to his Brother, who, though under Age, was already siness to his Brother, who, though under Age, was already a very able Man-So that the Tuision being ended by the Majority of the Orphans, the Minor gave an account to his Guardian, and the Guardian for Form sake did the like to his Minors, Qu te contrary to the usual, natural, and common Custom He absolutely renounced all Worldly Affairs, and like a tru Anachor t banish'd himself from the Conversation of Men, and thought of nothing but of God, and his Church He had a very currous and large Library (d) One was sure so (d) One was sure to (d) Ibld

—He never went out of his Pag 103. find him there always -House but to go to Church, or to perform some other Tunction elsewhere Heneverlest his Books but upon that ac-count, and as if the days had not been long enough, he spent part of the Night in Meditation or Study Though he had several Country Houses, and one had been bought for him very near the City, to engage him more easily to spend some Days, or at least some Hours in it, yet le was never seen there above three or sour times in two and thirty Years that he exercis'd his Ministry at Metz was constantly in his Chamber, being a Stranger to Jealousy, which makes so many Men uneasy in this man ner he lived peaceably at home, little minding is c Gredit that is got by frequent Pists, troublesome Cares, and great Measures that are exactly to be kept.

This is a Model by which all the Ministers of the Gospel should squarethen Lives They have all chosen colpet inouid i juaretness Lives I ney have all chojen thresood pair like (e) Mar), but some imitate Mortha, (e) I uk. (f) who was careful and troubled about many things.

They meddle with State Affairs. They thrust themfelves into the Intriegues of the Town, they strive to know all manner of News, they deal in them, and make use of 'em to please their Superiors.

Nav. They cometimes venture to suppose Council. Nay, They fometimes venture to fuggest Counsels of War, and Negotiations, and are not discouraged tho' their wrong Projects be nicely despited. They are often seen in the Anti-Chambers of great Princes, and wait impatiently for an Opportunity of bet In the Remark F of the C Ibid pag 7.

(q) Ilid p 1581

longs only to Laymen; and without keeping his House open (G), to informers the Newsmongers How Learned his Conversation was, cannot be in a known, the from the Book mention'd in the Remark (H). In another † place, I will examine from the Book mention'd in the Remark (H). things relating to his Cut. But I ought not to pass over in silence, That he was the Son c of a Learned Civilian; and that one of his Ancestors was formerly President than Mortier in one of the chief Sovereign Courts of France; and that Georgin ANCILLET one of the chief Members of the Church of Metz, was also one of the first Founders and Governors of it ANCRE (The Mareschal D'). Look for CONCINI

ANDLO (Petrus ab) a feign d Name, under which a Cartesian disguis'd himself, when he wrote against the Dissertation de abusu Philosophiæ Cartesianæ surrepente, & vitando in rebus Theologicis & Fides Maresius, Professor of Divinity at Groningen, the Autonio in rebus Theologicis & Fides Maresius, Professor of Divinity at Groningen, the Autonio in rebus Theologicis & Fides Maresius, Professor of Divinity at Groningen, the Autonio in rebus Theologicis & Fides Maresius, Professor of Divinity at Groningen, the Autonio in rebus Theologicis & Fides Maresius, Professor of Divinity at Groningen, the Autonio in rebus Theologicis & Fides Maresius, Professor of Divinity at Groningen, the Autonio in rebus Theologicis & Fides Maresius, Professor of Divinity at Groningen, the Autonio in rebus Theologicis & Fides Maresius, Professor of Divinity at Groningen, the Autonio in rebus Theologicis & Fides Maresius, Professor of Divinity at Groningen, the Autonio in rebus Theologicis & Fides Maresius, Professor of Divinity at Groningen, the Autonio in rebus Theologicis & Fides Maresius, Professor of Divinity at Groningen, the Autonio in rebus Theologicis & Fides Maresius, Professor of Divinity at Groningen, the Autonio in rebus Theologicis & Fides Maresius, Professor of Divinity at Groningen, the Autonio in rebus Professor of Divinity Autonio in R thor of this Dissertation, publish'd it in the Year 1670, to represent to the Protestant Churches the great Evils that were to be fear'd, if the Opinions of Des Cartes were suffer'd to pass from the Schools of Philosophy to those of Divinity Some Months after, there came out a Piece entitled, Petrs ab Andlo Batavi specimen consutationis Disfertationis de abusu Philosophiæ Cartesianæ, &c Never was any Consutation written in a more violent Style. Maresius was treated in it in a most disobliging manner He quickly put out an Apology, entitled, Vindicia posteriores Dissertationis de abusu Philosophia Cartesiana, and full of all soits of injurious words. He call'd his Adversary a most impudent Soc ram nec nian, a Spinowist, an impious and unchristian Man, an Athesist. Petrus ab Andlo spectrus, nec Maressus edidit de abusu Philosophia Cartesiana. As he had been passionate in his first Devidit, nec successional designations. vidit, nec fertation, he was more still in the second, intermixing nevertheless, as he had done a audivit nech feveral Banters with his Anger He stoutly denied y that he knew Spinoza, or ha ever seen him, or that he approv'd his Opinions Maressus received this Second Piec of Petrus ab Andlo the 19th of December 1670, and confuted it with so much speed, that his Rejoinder was a sinish'd the 3d of January following It is entitled, Samuelis Maressis Chypeus Orthodoriae, sive Vindiciarum suarum priorum pro sua Dissertatione de abusu Philosophiae Cartessame, &c The Author declared, that he would write no more against (12 such an inconsiderable Man, but should always be ready to enter the Lists for the Trutter of the Author should always be ready to enter the Lists for the Trutter of the Author should always be ready to enter the Lists for the Trutter of the Author should always be ready to enter the Lists for the Trutter of the Author of the Author of the Standard of the Standar vindicias, phiæ Cartesianæ, &c fuch an inconsiderable Man, but should always be ready to enter the fundation of Vindic Vindic Vindic Vindic He kept his Word, for he lest the Third Piece of Petrus ab Andlo unanswer d, it is earned titled, Specimina Bombomachiæ Samuelis Marchi se desendentis Clypæo Orthodoxiæ, seu allest vindiciarum Dissertationis de abusu Philosophiæ Cartesianæ. Thus ended that Dissertic Which da ejus probar Animad-

(:) 1Tim

(1) 10rumque

Vitat, & 1upci ba

ເເບເນ Potentiorum limi-312 Horat opolod 2 make a God

1)eus nobishac NAMQ, ent ille milit temallius mam St-

pe tenei noffris ib

« vilibus

I igil ecl

unbuet

13nus

1 2 6

ing introduced, not for Matters of Conscience, but ang introduced, not for Matters of Confcience, but to request a thousand Favours, to recommend their Children, their Relations, and their Friends with respect to honourable and profitable Places. They presently know when an Office is vacant, and endeavour to get it fill'd up at their Recommendation. They would deserve to be praised, if they used their Credit only to procure Bread to those that went it, but they use it chiefly in favour of those who are already rich, and who durft not have rewho are already rich, and who durst not have re-course to their Sollicitations, if they believ'd them to be true Ministers of JLSUS CHRIST, for then they would expect a Cenfure, they would be atraid of being put in Mind of St Paul's (g) Words, that provided we have Food and Raiment, we ought their with to be content. It is not the Duty of a Pastor to procure any Advantage, that may make one more fond of the things of this World, he should rather endeavour to draw Men off from them, and connect their Constants and off from them, and oppose their Covetousness and Ambition and doubtless he would do it, if he himfelf was free from the gnawing Cares of Vainglo-ry, but because in order to latisfy his Passions he wants to have the Offices of a Town in the Hands of Men, that may be obliged to him for them, and who by way of Acknowledgment, or in hopes of new l avours, will always be ready to ferve him, he ules his utmost endeavours to raise them, he commends their Ambitious Designs, and to maintain himself in the Management of Affairs he is oblig d to be an intriguing Man, and to hive Emissares every where Such a Min stands in need of being about a Rishous are sometimes, when they after threatned, as Bishops are sometimes, when they act against the Canons which oblige them to Residence, and little thinks that his Office is of such a Nature, that all human abilities are hardly fufficient for it.
Those who think well of this, will imitate Mr. Andrew M conduct, will also sometimes concern themselves for some Persons that are not in good (ircumstances, but it you look into it, you will find that those Persons are serviceable Men, sit for any thing, and much inclind to consecrate all their Leisure to the Passions of the Protector (1), who has procur'd it to them They acknowledge themselves his Creatures, and fulfil the Duties of that Word and News mongers] (k)' He did not love Tales, nor (k) Dif-'Tale-bearers, and held it as a Maxim, that little cours fur Credit was to be given to them, faying that Reports are never so pure, but they always favour of the Passion of those who make em, and that it is with them as with Waters, which always retain the Quality of the Veins of the Larth or Minerals The House of iuch a Pastor was far from being the resorting Place of the Novelists, it would have have been a great Disorder (m)

(G) And without keeping his House open to Informers

(H) How Jerused have Communication that Respect in the Art Greaterus

(n) See the Art Greaterus

(n) See the Respect in that Respect in that Respect in the Art French in the Art Greaterus

(n) See the Art Greaterus

(n) See the Respect in that Respect in that Respect in that Respect in the Art Respect in the Art Greaterus

(n) See the Art Greaterus

(n) See the Respect in that Respect in that Respect in the Art Respect in the Art Greaterus

(n) See the Respect in the Art Respect in that Respect in the Art Respect in the Art Greaterus

(n) See the Respect in the Art Respect in the Art Respect in the Art Greaterus

(n) See the Respect in the Art Respect in the Art Greaterus

(n) See the Respect in the Art Respec

have been a great Disorder (m)

(H) How Learned his Conversation was, cannot be better known than from the Book | That Work is Entituded, (n) Melange critique de litterature, and was for June collected out of Mr Ancillon's Conversations It was printed at Basil, in the Year 1698, in Two Volumes 287 in 120, by the Care of Mr Ancillon Advocate, Risk (a) He has dest Son to that Minister, who had already matching (b) I shall have often occasion to speak of this Books, Miscellany, and if sometimes I don't find every without a mi(e) I shall have often occasion to speak of this Miscellany, and if sometimes I don't find every thing in it so dast as it should be, I do not pretend to prejudice thereby the Author or Publisher of the Things It is much more admirable, that the Mr Ancillon speaking off-hand, should have been exact in many things, than 'tis strange, that his Memory did not serve him well in every particular And as for his Son, it was his Duty to deliver things as he had them from Mr Ancillon's Mouth See Menage. as he had them from Mr Ancillon's Mouth See what I have observed (a) concerning the Menagiana, the Case is the same. You may see in the Preface of that Miscellany, why it was not Entituded An-

(A) That he should write no more against such an inconsiderable Man? The Term he makes use of, the same that the Scripture uses against the Gathet the Gentiles, calling them Gods of Dung b, monon usterium hanc serram cum hoc stercoreo homine reciprocandi (c) In antecessum me protessar inihil amplius mish suturum negoti cum hoc hominis sterquilinia & infami nebulone quem pudet fui ipfins

cours fur

(n) See the Acta Eru-

Menage.
(b) Mary.
Vindic. Vindiciarum Difsertat sub fin (c) Id in judicio de Theolog Pacifica which verified roverb, Nullum violentum darabile, tho it frequently proved fife in a Paper. Marefine could never discover the True (B) Name of his Advertise.

(A) Fre-

Note, that there is a true * ANDLO among Authors He was a Native of Alface, Drace Canon Law, and Canon of Colmar The two Books he wrote de imperio Po-The two Books he wrote de imperio Poo, Regu & August inauguratione, &c deque Officio & potestate Flectorum, &c were pub at Strasburg with Notes, in the Year 1603, by Marquardus Ircherus

NDRADA (Diego do Paywa d'), in Latin Andradius, a learned Portugueze, born at the Council of Irent, whither † King Sebistian lent him as one of his Divines He preach'd before the Assembly the second Sunday after r ster, 1562.He was not contented with the Services he did by explaining the Matters about which he was consulted, but he also writ in Defence of the Cinons of that Council Which he did in the Book | Entituled, Orthodoxarum explicationem I ibri X In which Trident he answers particularly a Piece which Chemnitius published against the Doctrine (A) of the Jesuits, before the closing of the Council of Irent And as Chemnit us took this Opportunity to write a very large Book which he Intitled, I same a C neilii Tridentini; Andrada thought himself oblig d to maintain his first Piece against that (B) learned Adversary. He therefore composed a Book, which his two Brothers publish d after his Death at Lisbon, in the Year 1578 It is entitled. Defensio Tridentina file: Catholicae quinque Librus comprehensa adversus Hæreticorum calumnias, o prosertim Mart ni Kom to contra adversus Hæreticorum calumnias, o prosertim Mart ni Kom to contra adversus Those Writings of Andrada have been printed several times 6, and yet they are no los

Those Writings of Amarana stave occur printed towers, the fames street There is an Arrower, caree at Para, that Mr Pellisson could not find (C) 'emin St James street There is an Arrower, then he for the hardly any Catholick Author, that has been more quoted by the Protestants than he, because he maintain d some strained Opinions concerning the Salvation of the Pagin maintain Philosophers. He was a Preacher, his Sermons have been published in Three Parts, t din

(A) Frequently proves fille in a Piper War] I need not go far to find an Instance of what I say The Quarre's between Marsfus and Voetius were extremely violent, and continued near 30 Years, as long as the German War, which ended at the Peace of Munfler

Munster
(B) Could never descover 1 All his Conjectures the Enquiries of his Friends were to no purSo that being weary of such an unsuccessful he resolved to leave his Adversary masked Quir de larvatus Petrus ab Andlo, Bravus_ unner hadenus conj Fura asseque, nece amicorum deligentia reserve potus, ita nolo amp' us inquirere. This is whithe says at the beginning of his Clypeus Orthodovia. He had I riends every where, who being more reasons than discreet, which is the usual Claraster of those who are accounted the Scourge of more regions than discreet, which is the usual Claraster of those who are accounted the Scourge of Innovators made him believe that there was a Minister in 7 alard, whose Name was Petrus ab And lo, married to the Daughter of Cocceius. He published this News, but being inforted, that the Son in Law of Cocceius was called Anselaer, he caused his Excuses to be made to him. Excuses to be made to him April (d) R D Aufe Excuses to be made to him Apid (d) R D Anje law curavi me longs excusari quod id mibi excidisse ex relatione bonesti cujus tim R vivi, e iam in cartesianssemmi — pronioris, cui non crateur ultro assenti fidem de rastarem. He sivs (e) somewhere that there was a Report, that Three Persons had been conceined in the Defence of Wittich us, and that they had published their Worl, under the Name of Petrus ab Andlo We shall see whether Mr Places us or Mr Baillet will be more lucky thin I have been in unma king this Pseudonymous Writer, whom I take to be Regner Mansvel, Professor of Philosophy at Utrecht

(A) Agairst the Post they had publish'd their Work under the feigh d Name of Petrus ab Andlo We shall see whether Mr

(A) Agairst the Doct inc of the session A Lutheran Minister who made in Encomium upon Chemitical expresses himself thus Bieve guidem sed nervesion seriptum durante adhuc Concilio Tridentino sessiona rufum feripum aurante aanse Concilio Iriaentino fejuita 1 um Theologia opposuit, cujus opusculi cum Andi adius Lutumus in se susceptifet Resistationem, Clemnitio occasiotum subministravit conscribendi insigne illud—tum quod Tiidentini Conciliexamen nuncupavit (f)
To which I add a Passinge of Eisengreinius (f), because it seems to afford Matter for a small Criticism
This Auston pretends that Andrada did Woodans

This Author pretends that Andrada did Wonders against the Hereticks in his Orthodox Explications, and chiefly against Chemnitius Prafert m contra Martini Kennitti petulantem audacian, qui Coloniens m censuram quam a viris Societatis Jesu compositam esse ait, una cum chistom fantissima Societatis viteratione t mer. calumniandam suscept Ni olas Antonio having quoted this Passage, centures E singrein us for be-lieving that Andi ada was a Jesuit Hacille, says he, frijus falsem in co quod Andradam nostrum unum ex Je-fuitat Jodalit o credidit. If this Censure is only granded upon the Words quoted by Don Antonio, I believe it to be false

(B) Against that learned Adversary] This Epithet

is due to Chemnitiue, and at the Botom I fay no more in his layour than Don Nivolus 4n on a way It feems at first fight that these Words of the spin sn Writer, Curcum repostiss prost ga issimus ber t cu li-brum in quo go vo ssim is a to o suc un ve salem to elevin contumelias interquebit d feel ere aenue in campum fe Li opus effe Par va vidit, ut immai in lojecm to is vii bus profligance, are very disobliging, out if they be well considered, they'll be found glorious to (b nn t us) Is it not very gratefulto i Min to see himself represented as the great Goliath, and the Polyphomu of his Party, by those of the contrary Side, when besides he thinks that he maintains a good Cause (C) That M. Pellulon could not find emans. James s Street 1 A Relation on this Subject will not displeate the Causous. Mr. Lechnetz in his Remarks upon the Mi Leibnitz in his Remarks upon the Reflexions (a) fur les differens de la Religion, alledged (1) among other things, that Andrada compol d a Book Intituled, Explications: Orthodoxa de controver[Religionis capitibus, wherein he teaches in these ve-1y Terms, That the Philosoph is who uf dall their Itdustry to know a true God, and to honour him Religio 1), had the Faith bat makes the Righteon his That it would be the greatest Coulty in the World (neq. immanitas deterior ulla esse potent) to conain n In to Eternal Torments, for having wanted a Faith which they could not attain to Mr Pellson (c) mide an swer, That he had never seen that Author, and that to satisfy his Curiosity he would look for it whin he came to Paris. Some time after he acquirited to Publish that he had according to many and that the Publish that he had according to many and the Publish that he had according to many and the Publish that he had according to many and the Publish that he had according to many and the Publish that he had according to many and the Publish that he had according to the publish that the publish that he had according to the publish that the publish Publick, that he had carefully d) enquired af er th Book of the Portugueze Dostor, Payva Andradius, but he dded 'It is no eafy thing to find it in taits It's Pairs not known in St James Street, not is it to be in '69 found in the most numerous Libraries, no, not (c) Ibid in that of the fefures, which is a remarkable thing pag 7 because he writ in their I wour At last it his been found in the Library of the Sorborn The Abbot Pirot a Person of Ment, if there is any at Abbot Piror a Person of Meist, if there is any at this day in France or elsewhere, and one of he most Eminent and Illustrious Members of that House, who knew not that Author no more than I, has given himself the Trouble to read it at my Requester.—That Writer is a Man of Meist and is no dry or jejune Scholastick, as so many of their are, he shews a more than ordinary Lleganto, and Vivacity, in a Word, he answers the Reputation which he had in the Council of the Its surprizing that a Book so little known to the It is surprizing that a Book so little known to the greatest Book eller, and scarce to be found in the most numerous Libraries, sould have been quoted by an hundred Authors, who had but few Books This I fay, is surprizing to those who are ignorant (e) At rl x that the I xamination of the Council of Irent by end of h s Chemitius, is a very common Book, and that Di Trea ile Andrad is is frequently queted in it. An hundred concerning other Authors have spoke as positively as he on that in Firus Subject, as la lothe le l'ayer shews (i) in one of his effice.

Books How comes it then that they have not been heart en quoted

* I tre a de Andlo Mich Hertzius Biblio*h German † Palavie J 19 4 Printed a' Cologn French at Ivon, 1565 Du Verdier Biol colar Ant mii Bibliothe a Hillan t i bige کرد

(a) Tistle Title of # sool of Peliffon (1) Se Mr Pelliffonsho k ules, Delitolerance des Religi-0 15, pag pintea at Paris The 118 8,

(f) Spins zelius ifi templo honous Pig 4 (g) In Citalogo teftium verifara, bugs Nicol Anton Robl Hisp t 1

P 135

(d) Vin-

dic Vindiciarum

ρ 6 () In judicio de Theol niam admodum adoleicens ve nit, ubi endo

Voliterr

en' Dig-

Prun

pig 6 2 texti ipud

Doujat ap b GC3 L. Panzirol de ch ris legum interpret 1 , c () for apiq Apud Pin rol

I do st ag de pre bend Pmzitol ibid

(1) Pal 1-

L 16 11 7

(¿) Id

lib 4

11 17

() In Lege tilionis

Calsubono retaliara ibid t In cip cimic-y Id ib the Second was translated out of Portugueze into Spanish, by Benedict de Alarcon y. Theo Bono-Bibliotheque of the Spanish Writers does not (D) mention all his Works. Many Praises have been bestowed upon (E) Andrada, which may be seen in my Remarks

A N D R E A S (John) a samous Canonist of the XIVth Century, was the Son of a Priest (A), and was born at Mugello near Florence He was very young when he went to study * at Bologna, where he would hardly have been able to get his Livelihood, if ob paupertatem Padagogum gessit, Scarpecto those Glosses as to the Text it self.

The had not met with a Tutor's Place, but by means of that Employment, he was in a condition to apply himself with ease to the Study of the Canon Law, in which he made a great Progress under the Professor Gus de † Bass. He had always a particular Respect for the Person and Glosses of that Professor; for he paid as great a Descention to those Glosses as to the Text it self. He was beholden to him for a thing, which the commonly makes one more thankful than Instruction.

Gus de Rest personner. Mainardi commonly makes one more thankful than Instruction Gus de Basf perceiving, that Ubaldini for want of Money he durst not petition for his Doctor's Degree, moved him to petition on for it, and made him obtain it Gratis Andreas himself confesses it. The same Gus encouraged him also to stand for a Prosessor's Place, which he likewise obtain'd. Our Andreas was Prosessor at Padua about the Year 1330, and also at Pisa, but he was re-Our Andreas was Protessor at Pagua about the Load 2,30,0000 and the for an experiment on the hard ground.

Our Andreas was Protessor at Pagua about the Load 2,30,0000 and the former call d to 6 Bologna, where he got more Reputation than any where else We are told known by wonderful (AD) Things concerning his auftere Life He mortified his Body with Fast-Archidia-Archidia-conus, wript up in a Bear's Skin He said, that he had obtain'd several Things by * his Praywhich was ers He married a Woman call'd Milantia, whom he mentions sometimes in his Writhat of the tings, and he owns that he had learn'd many things of her, and among others † that if

Eclipalita
Names were to be fold, Fathers and Mothers should buy fine ones for their Children mit he was I forgot to tell you, that his Mother's Name was Novella, and that he had a Daughter policified of the same Name, who was so learned, that she read (B) Lectures for him when he Bologna had notime to do it. It was out of Love to his Mother and Daughter, that \(\psi \) he entitled Doughtius quoted so often as An Iradius, when the Question was to excuse Junglius by way of Recrimination, of to object to the Papists, that they have inclin'd towards the Pelagian Heresy? I say, what might be the Reason of it, if I have not hinted the true Cause of the frequent Quotations of Andradius?

(D) Does not mention all his Works! The Book he wrote about the Pope's Authority, (f) during the Council in the Year 1562, is not to be found in it the Pope's Legates being very well pleased with this Book, sent it to Cardinal Boromeo The Court of Rime liked it extremely well, and the Pope very of Rome liked it extremely well, and the Pope very obligingly caus'd the Author to be thank'd for it I believe that Work does not differ from that which is I ntituled, De Conceliorum autoritate, the first Book whereof (g) has been quoted by Palavicini

(1) Mary Profes have been beflowed upon Andrada]

You have already feen what Judgment Mr Pellifforthis given of him Oforms in his Preface to the Orhis given of him Oforius in his Preface to the Orthodox Explications of Andradius, ascribes to him a great Wit, an eager Application, the Knowledge of Languages, and the Zeal and Floquence of a good Pieacher Rosweide speaks of him thus (b) Ad Con ilium 11 dentinum & profundissimi Theologi minten, & linguam eloquentissimi Oratoris actulit

(A) It is the Son of a Priest | All Authors agree that the Lather of John Andress was a Priest, but not that he was so when he got that Child Patrem con-

that he was to when he got that Child Patrem conflat Presbyterum fuisse, an filium ante, an post Sacerdo-i um remierit, incertum (1) Thus Mr Doujat speaks of him hiving read Panzirolus, who positively says, of him hiving read Panzirolus, who positively says, (L) that John Andreas was born before his Father was a Pitch Is a Andrea Pressy ero antequam Sacerdos firet, & matricinam in Novella geni us. It is a Sign that Mi Donjas made no great Account of the Decision of such a latt by Panzirolus, and for what Reason should the latter be credited about it rather than Latternay (1) who effected the course contracts. thin I olaterran (1), who affirmed the quite contrary He had formally find that John Andreas was born of a Prieft's Concubine, and no body durft fay, that No-what was ever mirried to his Father. It is therefore indubitable, that at least our celebrated Canonist was born like trajm wout of lawful Marriage, of a Father that was a Priest Forsterus does not say, that this Man was not ordain'd a Priest till after he had not a Child He only means that the Tather of oln Indreas was a Priest in the Place where he was born Patre Jeanne (m) Andrea, cive initio, de-int Presbytero Mugellano, natus es² (A) We are told wonderful Phings concerning hu a 4 re L fe | The tollowing Passage has been com-

apud Nicol AnWhat you observe concerning the Austere Life toritum, t of John Andreas, is attested by good Authors Bur tonium, t of John Andrew, is attested by good Authors. But t p 236

1) Pronot Caronic pag 604 (1) De clar legum interpret 1 c 19 init (1) Joannes Andrews patre. Andrew prefbytero & matre con ubina natus apud. Mugellum agri Florentini (poidum juris scientia virtutibulque aliis natalium pudorem contex r i vir 121 p m 781 (m) Forst, huster juris civil 1 3 c 26 (+ 1) de la Moinoie.

"if the Story which Poggius tells of him in his Fa"ceria be true, there is Reason to believe, that af"terwards that Doctor degenerated very much from his former Continence Joannem Andream, Dotto-rem Bononiensem, cujus sama admodum vulgata ss., subagitantem ancillam domesticam uxor deprehendit "Re insucta stupesacta mulier in virum versa use "nunc, ait, Jeannes est sapientia vestra? Ille nil ampli"ulocutus in vulva issus, respondit loce admodum "spientia accommodato Perhaps the Translation of those Words into Feench Verses will not be unacceptable to the Perslan. ceptable to the Reader

" Jean det Ands, sameux docteur es loix,
" Fut pru un jour au pech, d'anourette " Il accolloit une jeune soubrette "I accolor une jeune jouvresse
"Sa femme vint, fit un signe de croix
"Ho ho, dit-elle, est ce-vous? non je pense s "Vous dont par tout on vante la prudince
"Ru'est devenu cet esprit si subtil?"
"Le bon Andre poursusvant son negoce,
"Lantenan anuntant ma foi rebondit il.

"Le bon Andre pour suivant jon nigoce,
"Honteux pour tant me foi repondit il,
"Prudence, esprit, tout gist dans cette sosse Since it is agreed on all hands that john Andrees had a Bastard, this Story might be true in the main, and perhaps his Wise surprized him with the Mother of Banicontius If it be so, he might be placed in the the Rem Banicontius If it be fo, he Lift (b) of the Minagiana

List (b) of the Minagiana

(B) She read Lectures for him] I have not found this particular in Forsterus, nor in Panzirolus, nor in Mr Doujat, but in the Cite des Dames, written by Christina de Pise That Book was printed at Parus in the Year 1536, and composed in the Reign of Charles VI Here follows a Passage out of it (c) Likewise to speak of the late times without quoting Angient Histories, about 60 Years ago John Andreas, a Noted Civilian at Bologna, did not think that there was may harm that Women should have some Learning For he took care that his handsome Daughter Novella, whom he loved very well, should be bred up a Scholar, and shamas low d very well, should be bred up a Scholar, and she was so well versiden the Knowledge of the Law, that when he had not time to read Lectures to hu Scholars, he sent he Daughter Novella to read for him in the Schools, and to prevent her Beauty from diverting the Thoughts of the Auditors, a little Curtain was drawn before her Thus she sometimes helped her Father, who loved her so well, that to preserve the Memory of her, he writ a notable Book about the Law, which he Entituled Novellae, it being the Name of the Daughem. It is through the same of the Daughem. of his Daughter. It is strange, that a thing of this Nature, it is strange, that a thing of this Nature, it ingular and rare, should not be found in all the Authors who mention John Andreas, or at least in most of them, and I confess this makes me uncertain, whether I ought to believe it or no. But he is how it will it may be the Subject of a diverse. be it how it will, it may be the Subject of a divert-ing Question, viz Whether this Maid advanc'd or retarded the Improvement of her Hearers by Inding her handsome Face A hundred things might be said for and against it I believe the Scholars would have been mightily taken up with her Beauty, and less attentive but on the other hand, what proceeds from a fine Mouth, as much more taking and per-

his Commentary on the Decretals of Gregory IX Novella He had a Natural Son whole Name was Banicontins (C), who publish'd some Books; and at is said, that having both him, he adopted John Calderins a Learned Canonist, and married him to his Daughter (D) Novella He had another Daughter, whom he married to a celebrated Profesfor in the Canon Law at Bologna Her Name was Betma, and the died a at Padus in the Year 1355, whither her Husband had been invited for the like Professorship Andrews died of the Plague at Bologna in the Year 1348 after he had been 45 Years Professor, and was buried in the Church of the Dominicans He wrote (E) many Books Great (F) Prusses have been bestowed upon him, but he is said to have been an (G) Egregious Plagitry We are told that the excessive smallness of his Stature (H) made the Cardinals I augh heartily in the Audience that Bonifacius VIII. gave him in a full Confiftory It is faid that he foretold his Death a Year before it happen'd &

ANDREAS (Tobias) Professor of History and of the Greek Tongue at Groningen, was born at Braunfels in the County of Solms the 19th of August 1604. His Father was Minister of the Count of Solms-Braunfels, and Overseer of the Chuiches depending upon that Count. His Mother was the Daughter of John Pileator, a famous Professor of Divinity at Herbin in the County of Nasjaw He went through his School I earning at Herborn, and then studied Philosophy in the same place under the Direction of Alfedius, and his Uncle > Piscator, after which he went to Bremen, where he liv'd (4) feven Years He was one of the most constant Hearers of Gerard de Neuville, a Physical Research of the most constant Hearers of Gerard de Neuville, a Physical Research of the most constant Hearers of Gerard de Neuville, a Physical Research of the most constant Hearers of Gerard de Neuville, a Physical Research of the most constant Hearers of Gerard de Neuville, a Physical Research of the Medium of the Medi an and a Philosopher, and because he designed to be a publick Teacher, he prepard simfelf for it by reading private Lectures of Philosophy He return d into his Coun-

lus ube iupra

all tp.

tappis to be fe n in Panziro-

CEX Pinzno'o ib

21 Di-

(d) Gratior & pulcro veniens in corpore virtus Virgil En 154 V 344

(e) Ovidius epift Sapph

(f) O&a-

Claudius

antequam

Neroni

traderet,

ne fore-rem is fure videre. tur, Clau-du & ipte

dopower,

in alian adoptandam de-dit Tor-

Claud s

"35 e# Xi-phil & Zonara

(g) Panzi-

rol 1 3

Suet

fusive, and some Women, tho' charmed with the good Air of a Preacher, remember nevertheless what he says What an Ancient Poet says or Virtue, that it is more pleafing in (a) a fine Body, may be faid of Learning However it be, if the Daughter of the Professor, John Andreas, placed a Curtain between her and her Hearers lest the Darts of her Beauty should wound their Hearts, and interrupt Heauty should wound their Hearts, and interrupt their Attention, she made 'em a great Sacrifice, which they would willingly have dispens'd with It is likely they would have been well pleased to see her, and she on her part would not have been displeas'd to be seen, if she had not preserr'd their Improvement to her own Satisfaction. This is very likely and natural, since she was none of those learned Women, who have reason to say with Sappho,

St. (e) milit difficults formam natura negavit.

Si (e) mibi difficilis formam natura negavit, Ingenio forma damna rependo mea Si je n'ai pas recu des mains de la nature Un visage bien fait, Mon esprit assez beau repare avec usure Ce tort qu'elle m a fait See the Remark D

See the Remark D

(C) Banicontius, who publish of four Books | It was the Name of his Grand-Father The Books he publish d'are, De privilegiis & immunicate Clericorum De accusationibus & inquisitionibus De appellationibus

This I find in Pauzirolus (D) And married him to his Daughter Novella. The ancient we of Adoptions would not have suffered (f) such a Marriage And perhaps the Adoption of Colderini is only to be understood in this Sense, That John Andrews made him his Son in-Law is faid that Calderine did frequently confult his Wife (g) Is conjugem welut eruditie parentibus (Mi-lantie the Wife of John Andreas was a parent Woman)ortam,prudentem nattus sape ob saprentram consulere man)ertam, prudentem natitus sape ob sapienti am consulere consulerverat. But if we may judge of other things about which he had recourse to that domestick Oracle, by that which Calderini has mention'd, we shall nothing in it that aniwers the Character Christian policy gives us of Novella, and most Women may be iaid to he as knowing as she was. The thing at this Calderini ask'd his Wife one day, who makes an Invitation to a least ought to fend to the invited when the hour of Eating is come Her Answer was, That it ought to be done, to Lindies and Strangers, but not to others unless they were considerable Persons transput Hotomanus ridicules this in the following manner ce Hotomanus redicules this in the following manner Verum enimitero medius files, (1) lays be, nequaquan infe-ceandum aut dubitandum oft quen maljeres conflicum dare poffint, juandequidem(o dignam historiam On digito ligandam)refert Joh Calderinus Canonist jamos sissince qued semel dam) refert Joh Caldarinus Canonist famossissimus quod semel consuluit suam univerm, an convivator tinaatur hora prandii mittere ad convivato ut visuant, qua sapienter & tanquam altera Sybilla respondit, ad faminas & extranges esse mittendum qui si facile non ingerunt, sid non adjates nise escut graves persona johan Galderin in emilia nise secunt & post aum Egad Bell in a quidam est 3. vers tersio quaro eo ti & Panormit in e cum internamiversal in sin de elett & de hoc cisam per Collett in tap a crapula, but de vis & hon cleric & Bal in pream, Greger, cot, suers quara, quidam scholaris

What perfuades me most that Calderini was married to a Daughter of John Anarca:, 1s, that one folm Cald rini, who caus d the lomb of John Andreas to be repair d in the Year 1501 calls him his (1) tourth Grand Father, Atavum, and that he fays that one John Calderini was his third Grand-Father, thav is question whether the Adoption of these latter Ages have founded fuch Degrees of Kindred to the 5th Generation And I don't believe that if Mrs de Gournai had lett any Issue, her descendents would at this day simply and absolutely style themselves in a publick Inscription, the Grand Children, or Great-Grand-Children of Michael de Montagne

(E)He most many Books | His inftWork was account on the 6th Book of the Decretals He was very young when he compos'd it, and afterwards he re-vised and enlarged it. He writ also some Glosses on the Ciementines, and afterwards a Commentary on the Decretals, which he entitl d Novella, for the Reaion above-mention'd He publish d a Commentary ion above-mention'd He published a Commentary in regular Senti, which he entitled Mercuriales, either because he wrote it upon Wednesdays or because he inscreed his Wednesdays Disputes in it. He enlarged the Speculum of Durandus in the Year 1347. I do not mention some other Treaties which he published 'Tis pity he followed so much the Mershod of the Pyrrhonists, for he very folidly proved his own Opi-nions when he had a Mind to it, but that was very feldom , he rather chose to mention what was laid by others, and to leave his Readers in the midft of the Dispute (a)

1. (F) Great Praises ha se been bestowed upon him | In the Lorraph of his Daughter Betina, he is calld A. chidoster Decretorum, in his own Epitaph he is ftyled Rabi Doctorum, lux, censor, normaque morum It is reported that Pope Bonifacius VIII call'd him lumen mundi (b)

(G) to have been an Egregious Placiary | Most of his Additions to the Speculum of Duranaus were taken word for word out of a Book (1) of Oldradus, to that Baldus having discovered it could not forbeat Eq. call him a Novorious Robber of other Men s Works, infigwir alienerum für (d) This was the more anexculu-ble, because in those way Additions he (e) shews that Daranaus had been a great Plaguary He is alfo f) ac cused of having Rosen the Tientise de sponsaline a matrimoniis, which John Anguiffela of (fina had Longofed

(H) Made the Gardinals laugh heartsly | It is faid that some Douretals being suspected of Ialli y the University of Bologna deputed fames de Call to a lit-sle and very ugly Man to Bonsfacius VIII He came into the Confiftory arranged to came into the Confistory attended with a great mathe Persons The Pope received him very gricioulhim rate, three times one after another (g). The iDeputy was so asham'd that he could not tell what 20 diy. A Cardinal said. That he was another /schem; which made every body laugh. Many Wilters affirm that it was not Caftelle but our Andreas, i

Man of little fire and very ugly h)

(A) Where he hiv'd leven Years] The Reader should not believe it, it the Author of the Lives or the Professors of Groningen had not been more exact in

Pinzu 1

(a)TxPanzirolo ib

(b) Ex codem Panznolo il (c) Lut '4 led Conti-(d) Pan -101 10 (1) Viue I hat will will de paioh ici 1110, # 9, 414 (1) Pai il i i Dougiti us Pran Callen 64 P 6 + R # + 1 1 .11 /1 beitus cap 21 (b) Adverfus Italogallıam Matharelli.p

m 214

e Ex vicis Professorum Aca-

Groning P 124 C Witte, Diar Bio-graph

> Lewis
de Geer

trey in the Year 1628, and after a short stay there, he went to Groningen, being invited thicker by his good Patron Henry Alemgian. He read there for some time private Le-cures on all the Parts of Philosophy. After which Alimpian gave him his Children to instruct, and when they had no more occasion for a Tutor, he procur'd him the same Employment with a Prince Palatin, which continued three Years, that he spent partly at Leyden and partly at the Hague, in the Court of the Prince of Orange. In the Year 1634 he was invited to Groningen to succeed fames Gebbardus, who had been Professor in History, and in the Greek Tongue a. He discharged the Duties of that Place with an extraordinary Application till he died, which happen'd & the 17th of October 1676 He had been Library-Keeper of the University, and a great Friend of (B) Des-Cartes, which he testissed both during (C) the Life, and after the Death (D) of that Illustrious Philosopher He wrote some Books in his Vindication, as will appear in the Remarks He married the Daughter of a y Swede, who among other things was Illustrious for his Charity towards those, that suffer'd for the sake of the Gospel

ANDREINI (Isabella) Born at Padua, was towards the end of the XVIth and in the beginning of the XVIIth Century, one of the best Actresses of Italy It was not the only thing which caus d her to be admir'd, she made also Verses to Persection This we know, not only by the Praises which many Learned Men, and great Wits bestowed upon her, (this would be a doubtful Proof) but also by the Works which she printed The Intenti of Pavia thought it an Honour to admit her into their Society, and to shew her Acknowledgment she never forgot in her Titles that of Academica Intenta, but without doubt she was also proud of that Quality All her Titles were, Isabella Andreini, Comica Gelosa, Academica Intenta, detta l'Accesa She had one thing which is not very common among excellent Actresses, for she was a handsome Woman, so that she charm'd on the Stage the Eyes (A) and the Ears at the same time Cardinal Cinthio Aldobrandini Nephew to Clement VIII had a great Esteem for her, as it appears by many Poems which she compos'd for him, and by the Epistle Dedicatory of her Works She came into France e, and was favourably received by their Majesties, e See the Epifile Deand the most qualified Persons of the Court, and she composed many Sonnets in their dicatory of Praise, which are to be seen in the second part of her Poems She died at Lyons the she adpart 10th of June 1604, of a Miscarriage, in the 42d Year of her Age Her Husband

Francis ANDREINI buried her in the same City, and put an (B) Epitaph upon

So the Academists of Pavia are call d of her Po

(1)Theatr

AN cx.

ger ce for accused

Des Carter of A-(L) The Condemnation of

Schooc

tius (1) See the Kius fill andirettly upon Voc-ceffive

Indul-

Vitorum

illustr P 1539 this Calculation, than he is a sto the time that Tobias Andreas was at Herborn. It is a strange thing that a Corrector of a Press should overlook such Faults in the space of 5 or 6 Lines, when the Distractions of the Author hindred him from perceiving them You will find in the Life of our Andreas, that he went to Herbern in the Year CID ID CXVII that he studied Five Years there in the Schools, and one Year Philosophy, and that he went on with the same Studies at Bremen for 7 Years, and that afterwards having taken a turn Home he came to Groningen in the Year CIO IO CXXVIII There is nothing written in Numbers, it is likely the Faults were in the Co py Paul Freheris (1) transcribed this, and did not perceive any Error of Calculation in it (B) A great Friend of Des Cartes] He heartily ferv d him in his Law Suit against Martin Schoockins, Professor of Philosophy at Groningen That Professor was Prosecuted by Des Cartes for hemous Calumnies, for he had publickly accus'd him of Atheism I hough Des Cartes had never seen our Andrew but once in his Life he recommended his Cause to him, perceiving that he was very much in his Interest The French Ambassador, Mr de la Thusslerie, and Des Carter's I riends acted on one hand, the Enemies that (k) I seeins had in Groningen acted on the other, and by this means Des Cartes had Justice done him His Accuser (1) acknowledg d him Innocent, and was thereupon acquitted, which was a scandalous Indulgence, and of a bad Fxample for if they had made him suffer the Punishment of Retaliation, as he very well deserv'd the boldness of those Sedition ous Writers who are so ready to accuse so many honest Men of Atherim would have been a little refrained Des Cartes wrote the 26th of May, 1645 to Ar Andreas, to thank him for his good Offices, and to defire him to give his most humble Thanks to the Judges Scening his Adversary had been so mildly Treated, though he described be punished as a Calumniator—he aid nevertheless asknowledge that the Judges had given him all the Satisfastion he descred and could lawfully president to "For, said he to the Magistrates of (m) Utrechs, Private Persons have no right to demand the Death of their Enemies, or that they hould Utrecht, Private Perions have no right to demand the Death of their Enemies, or that they should fuffer in their Honour or Estates. It is enough to them to be cleared by the Judges. The rest does not concern them, but only the Publick." The Text of my Remark necessarily obliged me to speak of the good Offices done by Andrews to Des-Carter, and I thought the Reader would be well pleased to know in general the issue of this Affair, without turning to another Page.

without turning to another Page

(C) Which he testissed both during the Life] We have just now seen a Proof of it I add, that he favour'd Des-Cartes's Disciples and got him as many Followers as he could It was by his Advices (n) that Claubergian became a Cartesian, and 'twas a glorious and useful Conquest for the whole Par-

(D) And after the Death of that Idustrious Philosopher] (D) And after the Death of that Hustrious Philosopher]
He wrote in his behalf against a Professor of Leyden, whose Name was Revius, and publish d a strenuous Answer in the Year 1653, entitul'd, Mishedi Cartessame assertio opposita Jacobii Revii Pras Methodi Cartessame considerationi Theologica The 2d part of that Answer came out the following Year He wrote also in the Year 1653, (o) against Mr Regins, to vindicate the Remarks which Des Cartes had made on a Programma, which contain d an Explication of the Human Mind He taught in his House the Cartessam Philosophy, though his Profession did not require it of him, and even when Age had very not require it of him, and even when Age had very much impair'd his Strength Maresus informs me of these Particulars, on Occasion of a Swis Student in Divinity, who durst not go to the Philosophical Lectures of Andreas, for fear it should be known in his Countrey, and it should prove an Obstacle to his Promotion to the Ministry (a) Nec defust unus ex illis cujus nomisi parco, bene alies destins & in Philosophiam Cartesianam valde propensus, qui sum hic esset, prosessus esse non audere se frequentare Collegia summprere deleo, Deumque venerer ut illi suas vires restitust, ea soles Babere in superpondium sua prosessionis, nus enim ad philosophiam, sed ad linguam Gracam & Historias est vocasus) ne hoc in sua patria rescretur, & sua promotioni obosse not require it of him, and even when Age had very romotioni obesset

(A) The Eyes and the Ears] This supply'd Flat-terers with many Thoughts These Words were placed under her Picture, Hoe Histrica eloquentia ca-put, lester admirants, quid si auditor sies? The Anti-theses and Witticisms of Erycius Puteanus run most of 'em upon that

Hanc wider, fays he, & hanc audie, Tu disputa, Argus effe malis ut videas, An Midas ut audias Tantum enim sermonem vultus Quantum ferme vultum commendat Quorum alterutro aterna esse posuisset, Cum vultum omnibus simulacris emendatiorem,

Et sermenem omn: Sunda venuftierem possident (B) And put an Epitaph upon her Temb j If it were only to undeceive those, who speak so much of the Rigor of the Church as to the burying of Players

(n) Clauberg epist de-dicat Logıcæ (o) That Piece is entituled, plicatio brevi explications mentis humanæ Dn Henrici Regar repo-fita (a) More-fius in judicio de Theolotichii, Printed in 1671

Life of Des-Cartes by M Buillet tom 2 p & leg ad (m) Tom 3 of the Letters,

p 17 apud Baillet a bi iupra, ier Tomb, which imports that the was very Pious and Chafte And afterwards he established (C) the Publick that he lamented her Death, and had a great Effect for Rema And afterwards he o surve ner The Death of that excellent Actross afflicted the whole Parnoffus I unural Complaints in Latin and lealism came our every where Many of them were prefixed to her Poems in the Edition of Milan 1607. The & mgemous Infeription made in her Praise, whilft she was stell alive, by Lageius Puteanus, at that time Professor at Milin was not forgot in it Besides her Sommets, Madrigals, Songs and I cloques, there is a Pa- h. Property storal of her making, entitl'd Mirtilla There are also some of her I etters that were printed at Venice in the Year 1610 She Sung well, and played admirably on feveral Andreh-Instruments, & she was not ignorant in Philosophy, and understood Tiench and Spa-ANDRELLINUS, (P Faustus) Born at Furli in Italy, was for a long time musal usual usual of Poetry in the University of Paris I comp XII made him Poet I aurent dove of I know not whether Queen Anne of Bretagne, or some other Queen bonoused him with her special Protection, but I am not ignorant that Fra/mus (A) who know him very intimately, fays that he was not only the Kings, but also the Queen's Poet He was not contented to make Veries, but wrote also some Moral and Proveibil Letters a Lead Profe, which have been printed several times. They were printed at Sir dog in the Albert Year 1517 and again from the second Revision of the Author in the Year 1519 A Beatus Renanus put a (B) Preface to them, in which he very much Praises them form in 478 Arboreus, a Divine of Paris, made a Commentary upon them. Most of his Commentary Poems are Distincts, they have been printed with a Commencery of celeus billhoth Badius Ascensius e, being translated Verse for Verse into French by a Poet of Paris, whose Name was Stephen Prive That Translation came out in the Jugent Year 1604, and is only it to make the Original Contempishee fohn Piradin in the Stephen Privales and Islands than the Privale of the Piradin in the Stephen Privale of the Piradin in the Piradin in the Stephen Privale of the Piradin in the Stephen Privale of the Piradin in the had already turn d into Irench Quatiains about an hundred Inflichs, which And, longs Poetes, t Conferibed to John Ruze, Treasurer General of the Finances of K in Chirles VIII to return the interpretation which that Prince e used to be pied in with end a Bullet traordinary (arc, and which did not descree the flight that Poet destond to put upon it, by or- ib no ving us to understand that his Verses were past by the Quarter (C), or the Handr d. The que stolin holy Ground, I shall set down the Epitaph of Boscareccia, e il compendio d'h su b llig me i troic Isabella Andreini, in which her being an Actress is. There is one som Bap is AND 11Nh, who made i mention'd next to the Hopes of the Refurrechi-

D O M

Ijabella Andreina Pitavina, mulier magna virtute pradita, houestatis ornamentum, maritalisque pudicitie deciu, ore facinida, mente fecunda, religiofa, pia, Mulis amica, O artis Scinica capit, h e refuristionem expe-

Ob abortum obiit 4 Idus Junii 1604 annum agens 42

Franciscus Andreinus mastissimus posuit You'll see in the next Remark how tenderly she was beloved by her Husband Francis Andreini

(C) He acquaintea the Publick | The Preface of his Bravure del Capitano Spavento, informs us that he was boin at Pistora, and that whilft he was among the Players Geloft, he very much delighted in acting the Put of Swaggerer He took upon him the Litle of Capitan spavento da Fall Inferna, and left off perfonding the part of a Lover, by which he had chief ly fignalized himself to lascial di recitare la parte mia principale, laquelle era quella dell'imnamorato. This Company of Players acquire d'a surpriving Reputition, which began to decay after the Death of Habel la Andrein. Her Husband thought his best way was to change his Quality of Actor into that of an was to change his Quality of Actor into that of in Author, and for the Subject of his Works he made choice of that in which he had exercifed himfelf on the Stage, I mean the Rhodomontades of a Swaggerer. He publish d some Dialogues or Ragionament in Prose, with the Little above mention d. The 4th Edition which I make use of its of kines 1623 in 410 but the License being dated in the Year 1607 the first Edition ought to be placed in that Year The Complaints of the Shepheid Cornto alla defunta sua Islad, (he calls her his Wife) Or alla sua Bosca-rectin Sampogna, are pesised to the Book Never did any Lover utter more tender Expressions, and did any Lover utter more tender Expressions, and complian with gicater force of the inexorable Rigor of Destiny. They are Andreins Lamentations about the Death of his Isabella, the following Words put it out of all doubt Finte (b) che fu quel term ne, e wenute mene il sivere d Isabella nia dilettifsima conforte (la quali fu lume e spiendore di quella vintu-osa e honorata compagnia) fui da molti amici mici configliato a crivere alcuna cofa e donarla alla stampa per lasciar qualche menioria di me, e per signitare i bonora-to grido della meglie mia, la quale haveva lasciaco al mondo con tanta sua gloria e con tanto suo honore il suo bellizzimo Canzoniero, la sua bellissima Mirtilla Favola

Tragedy entitled La Horrina printed at I lan in the

(A) Frismus wie kiew him ver, in ima ly] There me his Words Faust is (1) znare his Foolivien po a non folum laureat is, verum et im regiue, a q et im si d'isplacet, regineus, vetus conservo me m, eur p us quam triginta jam annos in celeber ma Parissorim Acraemia po tien do et, incarmin quod de Parim neo Par henfi inferipfit, adagionem (Syriculana Menla) in Anglor de vavit Minfa inquient Bi canna places are among Englim to & Latters, two or three (1 Note which Andrel mis writto him in fuch a Lacomek Style, that Brutus & Letters, if compared with them might be accounted long ones liasmis, who an-iwer d him in the same Style, is somewhat more diffuse, when he desires him (1) to promote the Sale of his Adagia, and when he describes (d) the Pleasures of Ingland, to persuade him to take a Journey into that Countie. notice of in ill Custom that prevails amongst Au thors. They commonly denote the time wherein they write, meerly by these general Words, Kin, 1mm, Ore whereas they should enterly set down the Year for not to stry that there are some Boots which rake up an Author to year November 1 and 1 which take up an Author ieveral Years, or that do not come out till a long time after he has put his lift hand to them, there are many printed feveral times. How then can a Reader know it what time a Book was written, if he meets only with their Words. For anno, name, and fuch like of Here I. II. a Book was written, if he meets only with these Words, loc anno, none, and fuch like (Here I no mus speaks of An clauses of a Man, who we alive, and who nid been teaching Poerry a Paris for the space of a New This he lays in a Book printed in 1 46 there is no Date in the Prince but th I public bedicatory is directly and lay every any many transfer one believe the standard lay every any many transfer one believe the And his was anve in the Year is 5 and i mill be inferr'd from thence that the greatest Men when they revide their Works for a ne & 1 litton, iciv- 1 great many things in em, which cease to be tru. I have observed this I ault in the list I dirion of the large History of Marks.

(B. Where whe P and s toon Je , and are Gestier's Words (e) Leasur Ri nanus in orala sone commendat has epistolis tangum irud its, lep tis Gutdes, essemble Achor (inquit) n nonnu'l oris ules genuino po ta, um more la jetuinfinles jet, bic tamen integrum ac mod fum or atorem agit

(C) That his I sles were pa d by the Quarter or il himdred] M Baillet (f) proves it by these four Ver ses translated from Annelinus by Paridin

y laustus nus item furvilliliurercod lengt Poems leter pre 1 6 Att Po t

> (a)I talm Ada 65 Cent (Juliad

(Inb pig ,16 edit Londin ilis , / pi/ (d) 1 pift

() Cili in B bu oth f (f)II gem fur les lostes, tom 3 P 1-

Capitano Spavento

(b) Preface to the

ANDRELINUS. ANDRINOPLE

Poems of Andrelinus have been inserted in the first Volume of the Indian of the Italian Poets, though good Judges (D) set little value upon them His Deads placed (E) in the Year 1518 The Letters he writ by way of Proverbs, have been thought worthy t of a new Impression at Helmstad in the Year 1662, according to the Edition of Co-The Morals of that Author, though none of the best, were logne of the Year 1509 not taken notice of, because he was an Ornament to the University of Paris He was so happy that the Liberty he took to offend the Divines, brought him into no Trou-Erasmus (F) informs us of these Particulars

NOTE, That I have left all this Article in the 2d Edition of this Work as it was in the first Edition, though I have been informed that it was to be mended in several Places I thought it more modest to place by themselves the Corrections (G) that have

You'll find them in the Remark G. been since imparted to me

ANDRINOPLE or ADRIANOPLE, a City of Thrace It cowes its Name to the Folly of the Emperor Hadrian Moreri mentions (X) this, but very confusedly It has been said that this Town was built by Orestes, and went by his

Croissez mes vers, soyez en plus grand nombre, Car c'est aux frau O salaires du Roi Seure richisse empeschant tout encombre Exige vers en copieux arroi

We find a very rare thing in the Tenth Eclogue of Andrelinus That Poet, far from complaining of the Ungratefulness of his Age, and finding fault with the Muses for not taking care to maintain those who engage in their Service, acknowledges that he had a large Pension, and that when he recited his Poem about the Conquest of Naples before Charles VIII that Prince presented him with a Bag of Money, which he had much a-do to carry upon his Shoulders

Dum slupeo totus visu defixus in ifto, Jupiter ecce venit magno stipatus honore, Ipse olim vultus inter nutritus agresses Admiror primo aspestu nov poplite si vo Ante ipsum quesita Tovem modulani na sundo, Scilicet ut bello claram expugnavit aperto Parthenopem, patrios victorque redivit in agros, Quamvis Hisperio vetitus foret orbe regressus, Nesco qua nostri captus dulcedine cantus Ipfe fuit, fulvi saccum donavit & eris Vix ific delatum humeris, cuntiosque per annos Pensio la ga datur, qual m non lentus habebat Tityrus umbrosis resonans sua gaudia sylvis

(g) Vost Institut poet p 2

† Morhof Po-lyh P

p m 736 ubi fupra (1) Pag 15 (m) I idm I pift id Pe erum Bu burum sec allo Tpill 24 l = (n | See the Remarks upon his

detale

(D) Good judges sit no great value upon them Vossi-w (g) mentions three Authors, who used many infignificant Words, the first is the Orator Anaximenes, the fecond is Longolius, who was also an Orator, and the third is the Poet Andrelinus As to the first and the third is the Poet Andrelinus As to the first he fays that when Theocritus of Chios saw him ready

(v) A 24(u) A 24-

(F) His Death is placed in the War 1518] I will not quote Konig's Billiothique, not the Letters (1) of the learned Reinefius to Daumius I am able to produce a contemporary Writer, (m) who in a Letter dated the 6th of Mar. b 1518, takes notice that fome I cained Men had departed this Life that Year Hic annus multos exemios viros tue similes absumpsit, Marcum Mulurum Roma, jam Arch episcopum designatum, & aute hunc Palcotum Camillum, Lutetia Faustum immor al tate dignum It cannot be concluded from these Words that Anarelinus died in the Year 1518, for it is certain that Musurus (n) died in the Year

Reader will not be displeased to find here the Origi-Reader will not be displeased to find here the Original Words of that Author Parisiens Academia (e) Erasm (o) candorem ac civilitatem sam olim sum admiratus, epist 20 qua tot annos Faustum tulerit, nec tulerit solum, verum 1 21 petiam aluerit evexerisque Cum Faustum dice, multa 1096 tibi (p) succurrunt qua nolim literis committere Qua petulantia solitus est ille in Theologorum ordinem debac. Writes to charri? Quam nonr cassa erat illius prosesso? Neque Ludovicusquam obscurum erat qualu ester vita Tantum malocus cus um Galli destrina hominis condonabant, qua tamen ultra mediocritatem non admodum erat progressa. You may observe that Erasmus s Letters to Andrelinus, and those he writ to others about him, are written in a those he writ to others about him, are written in a very different Strain However, it cannot be denied that he commends him sometimes (q) in his Letters to some other Persons

(q) See the Remark E

(G) To place by themselves the Corrections, that have been imparted to me] Here follow the Remarks, which M de la Monnoie has been pleased to commucate to me "I Instead of P Faustus it should be "Publius Faustus, at length, lest any one should "think that P signifies Petrus, Paulus, or some such "other Christian Name 'Tis likely that Faustus" took the Name of Publius at Rome, in imitation "of those Academicians, great Lovers of Antiquity, of whom Pomponius Latus was the head II It ought not to be said in a Dictionary that "Faustus was only Professior of Poetry in the Unit versity of Para He taught there not only Poetry, but also Rhetorick, and the Sphere, and even try, but also Rhetorick, and the Sphere, and even explain'd the Pfalms of David III It was at Rome long before the Reign of Lews XII that Faustus, who was not then 22 Years of Age, (a) (a) T/15 carried the Crown of Lawrel His amorous Ver-concerns fes divided into four Books, entituled Livia, Leander which was his Mistres's Name, appear d io fine Albertus, to the Roman Academy, that they adjudged him whom I the Prize of the Latin Elegy Which is the have quo Reason why, when he printed his Livia in 450 at ted Pairs, in the Year 1490 and his Three Books of Elogies four Years after in the same City, he styled her fells. led himfelf Poesa Laurenius, and afterwards Regin. and Regineus, with respect to Charles VIII I ew it XII and Queen some IV To find the thirty Years that Faussus had been Professor at Paris, it ought to be supposed that Erasmus made this Computation in the Year 151/ By which means we go back as far as 1487, at which time, our thereabout, Faussus settled at Paris. This Chronology is so much the more certain, because there was an Edition of Frasmus's Adagss (b) in 1517 (b) Erasmush the mentions in Chanici ne inside as V Faussus did not make above 200 Distichs, and the save but the part of the save of flui did not make above 200 Diffichs, and could flui did not make above 200 Diffichs, and could fluid fluid did not make above 200 Diffichs, and could fluid Veries, and the three Books of Miscellaneous E-the Remark legies, which I have mention'd, there are twelve A, lies in Felogues of his making, printed in 8vo in the this, that Year 1546 in the Collection of 38 Bucolick Potents, publish'd by Oporinus Faustus promised sets, publish'd by Oporinus Faustus promised setter the veral other Pieces in Prose and in Verie Decem Christian morales Epistolas centum Christianum adjustication, which perhaps is the same thing with less Editional what he calls in another place opus de vera religious Sphericum dialogum Repeterium streets ensured the sets of the same thing with less Editional sets of the same thing with less than the same thing with less the same things the same th ne Sphericum dialogum

(X) Motern mentions this, but very confusedly]

These are his Words Some Pagan Authors say, that

(F) Liasmus informs us of these Particulars] The this Prince having been cured there of a Dropsy, by in-tiones lingua Latina

Repetorium five observa-

Homer

It was also called * Uscudama. The two Latin Verses quoted by Morers, are See the of no Use, but to shew (Z) that he was a heedless Writer. I omit what he further says Remark Z of Adrianople. The Reader may see it in his Dictionary

ANDROMACHE, Wife of the Valiant Hettor, was the Daughter of Letson This Cilin King of Thebes in † Cilicia She was advantageously married on all accounts, for because for fides that her Husband was accounted the Bulwark of his Country, and the greatest nor far Support of the Throne, he proved very kind to her, and its faid that she was free from the Vexation which commonly attends the Wives of Great Heroes, I mean, that he was all along (A) very faithful to her Euripides denies it, but at the same time he inwas all along (A) very faithful to her Euripiaes defies it, but at the lame time he informs us, that it did not in the leaft disturb the Happiness of that Lady, and that she was very easy and (B) complainant. The Death of Hettor proved therefore a terrible Blow to Andromache, yet she did not dye of it, nor of the Grief she conceived some time after for the taking of Troy, for the Loss of her dear Son Astronach, who was thrown headlong from the Top of a Tower, and for her own Slavery. She followed that I also a Master who the above and bloody Man wind her warm her the fell to the Lot of a Master, who tho a herce and bloody Man, used her very kindly The cruel Pyrrhus, Son to the cruel Achilles, proved gentle and tractable, shared (C) his Bed with her, and made her Condition so happy, that the Beautiful Hermione, whom he married some time after, * grew very jealous of it After the Death of that Prince, or even (D) in his Life-time, Andromache married Helenus, Priamus's Son, her Fellow-Slave, in Andromache

and mach

coking the Furious Orestes, took delight in beautifying shat City Those Pagan Authors are not Spartian, and Ammianus Marcellinus, quoted by Mores, and it I am not very much mistaken, they are only Elius (c) Lampiid in Lampridius Now let us see how the latter expresses himself (c) Et Orestam quidem urbem Adrianus suo nomini vindicari jussi, eo tempore quo furore caper at la-Now let us fee how the latter expresses Antonio borare, ut ex responso quum et dictum effet ut in suriosi alipag m 809 (d) Id 1b cujus domum vel nomen irreperet Nam ex co cimollitam infaniam firum: per quam multos senatoris occidi juste at If we compare thele Words with those of Moreri, (e)Quum we'll find him guilty of Three or Four grois Mi-flakes I'Tis not true, that Hadrian was cured in titulos in operibus the City of Adrianople 2 'Tis not true that his Distemper was the Dropsy 3 'Tis not true that his he recovered his Health by praying to Orestes 4'Tis not true that he took delight in Beautifying that Town after he was recovered Lampridius says on the true that he took delight in Beautifying that the was recovered Lampridius says on the true that he was recovered to the says on the true that he was recovered to the says of the true that he was recovered to the says of th non ama-CIVITATES Adri onopolis aply, that Hadrian being grown mad, caused Oresta to pellavit, be called by his Name, in Obedience to an Oiacle, which advised him to feize upon the House, or the ut ipfam Carthagi-Athenarum partem Spar-ILANUS IN

Heliogabalo,

nem &

Adriano

See Orteli-

us's I he-laurus

Geogra-

phicus (f) Pizant p

(g) The 13 first Books of edo in

Steph By-

211 n 48

that History are lost (b) Post

hanc

Æmıhabet, montus Hadrıanopolim

quæ dicebatur Us-

cudama

(i) Eurip

(k) Ana-

Î 2. (l) Call'd

Amphi-

Scamandrius

golicor

ın Androm

which advised him to seize upon the House, or the Name of some Furious Person, and we are told that by this Means the Fits of his Madness went off

(7) By Orestes, and went by his Name] I shall only quote Lampridius for it Et Orestem quidim serunt, says he (d), non unum simulation motione, nec uno in loco posuist, sed multa in mustus Posteaquam se apud tria sumina circa Hebrum ex responso purificavit, etiam Orestam coind a civilitation, quam sepe cruentari hominum sanguine neciste est. Lt Orestam quidem urbem Adrianus suo nomini vindicari sussit, &cc. I have set down this Passage at length, to shew what City of Adrianople is meant here. The Emperor Hadrian gave his Name (e) to several Towns at a great an gave his Name (e) to several Towns at a great Distance one from another But 'tis plain Lamprid to meant that of Thrace, and that Oreftes built it where the Hebrus receives two other Rivers Note, that Pinedo (f) makes Lampridius say, that Helioga-balus built a Town near the Hebrus, which he call d Oresia, and that afterwards Hadrian call d it by his own Name Here is an Instance of the usual Di-stractions of the Mind The most learned Writers The most learned Writers are not free from them

(Z) That he was a heedless Writer] These are his Words "It is said to have been built first of all by "Orestes, who call'd it Oresta, which Name was as"terwards changed into that of Uscada or Usca-"dama
"Tandem Jue Viscudamæ mutato nomine prisco

These two Verses prove the quite contrary to what Morers brings 'em for They clearly prove that Orefles found that Town call d Useudama, and that he call d it by h s own Name Ammianus Marcellinus, quoted by Morer, in the (g) 4 Book, informs us (f) in the 4 Chapter of the 27 Book, that Adriamople had been call d Useudama out, that Hestor left behind him two (1) legitimate Sons, who escaped from the Hands of the Grecians, and a (m) Bastard, who was taken at Troy, but he pretends that Euripides and Anaxierates, advance a Fassity, and maintains against em, that Hestor never had any Bastard, and that none but an inconsiderate

Man will say the contrary Ovid represents Hellor as a good Husband, who winked at the I aults of his Wife

Telix Andromache, certo bene nupta marito Uxor ad exemplum fratris nabenda sus.
This is what he makes Oenone (n), the Wife of Parris, say In another Place he says, that every Body thought Andromache was too tall, but that she ieem'd to her Husband to be of a middle Size Omnibus (o) Andromache visa est spatiosor aquo

Unus qui modicam diceret, Hillor erat Colomies (p) has rightly observed that Mercerus in his Notes on the 4 Book of D by Cretensis should not have said, That the Ancients never said that Hector loved any Woman besides his Wise, and that b had any Children bijides those he got by I cr forgot the Historian Ananicrates, and the Poet Euripides Bur Colomics, who further observes, that this Historian was unknown to Vossius, should have told us, that he had from Meziniae the Passages alledged by him, and that Mallineros (a) mentions Anazicrates without faying any thing of the Work lipom of quoted by the Scholiast upon Euripides He only listor fays, that Strabo alledges the Authority of Anasicrates speaking of Arabia in the Fourteenth Book

(B) She was very easy and complaisant | See the foregoing Remark It does not appear that Andromache carried her Complaisance fo far as Livia and Cromwell's Wife did The latter (b) out of Ambition favoured the amorous Intrigues of her Husband I wis (1) acted the part of a Bawd upon Occasion in Augustus's behalf, to keep up her Credit Andiomache had no other Aim in it, but to live a quiet Life at home by giving her Husband no discon-

(C) Shared hu Bed with her | Virgil, in order to keep a Decorum, brings in Andromache, placing her gusus) greatest Grief in that very thing, for Eneas did no postea fooner ask her whether Hesto's Wife was married, quoque but she cast down her Eyes, and told him bashfully, ut feru that the had married by the but the last the had married by the had marr that the had married him against her Will, and that she envied the Fate of Polyzena, whom Death had freed from the like Necessity We are not obliged to take this altogether in a literal fense

Hectoris (d) Andromache Pyrrhin' connubia servas? Dejecit vultum, & demissa vocc locuta est, O felix una ante alias Priameia Virgo, Hostilem ad tumulum Troja sub mænibus altis Jussa mort, quæ sortitus non pritulit ulles, Nec victorus heri tetigit saptiva cubili ' Nos patria incensa, diversa per aquora vecta Stirpis Achillea fastus, juvenemque superbum Servitio enixa tulimus, qui deindi secutus Ledaam Hermionem Lacedamoniosque Hyn cnaos Me famulo famulamque Heleno transmit habendam But we must do her Justice, she is not represent-ed as a Woman of an Amorous Temper Tho she Tho the was a Mother, Ould could hardly believe that she lay with her Husband

Nunquam (e) ego te, Andromache, nec te, Tecmessa, Ut mea de vobis altera amica forec [rogarem [rogarem (c) Ovid

Credere vix videor, cum cogar credere partu,

Vos ego cum vestris concubuiste viris

(D) Or even in hu Life time | I make this Distinction, because Authors are not agreed about the time when Andromache married Helenus. We have just (f) Just now seen, that according to Virgil, she married him 1 17 C 3 before Pyrrhus died Justia (f) says so too But, K k 2 according

(n) Ovi-dius in epift Ocnon ad Paridem (o) ld lib 2 de arte amandı (p Bibl choif p

(a) Para lipom de Histor p 5 (b) Leti, vie de Cromwel, in Mr de Beauval s Journal, 1692 P 499 (c) Circa libidines ha fit (Auquoque. ut ferunt. ad vitiandas virgines promptior qua fibr undique etiam ab uxore conquirerentur Sucton in Aug c 71 Ancid 1 3

> de arte 1 3

(A) That he was all along very faithful to her] Andromache declares in some Veries of Euripides (1), that she loved the very Mistresses of her Husband to please him, and that she suckled his Bastards The Scholiash says hereupon, that Anaxierates (k) gave neus, & (m) Call d Palæterus

manta

Rome, 395 Diodos Siculus 1 16 P 411

(g) Servius in 1 3 Æneid V 319 (b) Τετω 28 A:g towa m TWWKHOSY -עסעש שביים ש 705-42EXfuic e-nim (Hele dromache nuplit mortuo Delphis Pyrrho Pausan 1 1 p 10 (1) Id 1b (k) Schol Furipid

(m) In Androm tial is of another O pinionthan Ovid asto in Andromach (1)Servius

ubitupra

Ilave quoted be fore on of thor.

vis, and

pigram of the 11 Book, Ma-Sturber-

† See the and reigned with him in part of Epirus. She had (E) some Children by Pyrrhus, and Remark E. Il 16 v. One by Helenus. Some Authors are of Opinion, that the Kings of Epirus down to 11 16 v. Pyrrhus, who made War with the Romans †, descended from a Son of Pyrrhus and Analysis dromache. That Princess had Seven Brothers *, who were kill'd by Achilles together Cretensis with their Father on one and the same Day. An Author * says, that she accompanied Priamus, when he went to beg of Achilles that he would fell him the dead Body of Hettor CAftyana- and that to raise a greater Compassion in him, she took along with her her Two & Sons, that quem that were but Children She has been the Subject of many fine Tragedies (F) both Announced that were but Children She has been the Subject of many fine Tragedies (F) both Announced that were but Children She has been the Subject of many fine Tragedies (F) both Announced that were but Children She has been the Subject of many fine Tragedies (F) both Announced that were but Children She has been the Subject of many fine Tragedies (F) both Announced that the Posterior of the P Scaman- cient and Modern, and her Tall Stature (G) was well known to all the Posterity. drum ap- Her Dialogue with Hector in the 6th Book of the Iliad is one of the best (H) Pieces of pellabant, that Poem & Laoda-

She took so much Care of Hector's Horses, that she fed and watered them y before she Some have alledged (I) this Example, to flew that Women are obliged to parvulos ferved him

admodum mind the most Mechanical Domestick Exercises

ANDROMACIIUS I shall only mention Six Persons of that Name The If ANDROMACHUS born in Sicily, was the Father of the Historian Timaus, y Homer and the Founder of Tauromensum, now called Taormina He was a Man of Courage, Iliad lib and very Rich He gathered together A whom a Price Courage, Iliad lib and very Rich He githered together & upon a Rising Ground call d Taurus, near Na8 v 188 Aus, the Inhabitants of that Town, who had fled away when the Tyrant Dionysius de105 Olym- stroy'd it He maintain'd himself a long time in that Post, which was the Reason plad, about why he call'd it Tauromenium The Fugitives of Naxus were very prosperous in that the Transfer of new Habitation, so that in a little time it became a very considerable Town * Andro-Rome machus received Timoleon into it, and permitted him to make it a Place of Arms That according to Servius (g), the only Reason why she became Helenus's Wise, was, that Pyrrhus order'd it so as he was a dying Pausanias (h) places also this Wedding after the Death of that Prince

(L) She had some Children by Pyrrhus] Some (1) say, she had three Sons by him, viz Molossus, Pielus, and Pergamus, or (k) Pyrrhus, Molossus, and Eacides Others (1) mention only Molossus, from whom, according to Euripides (m), the Kings of Molossia descended Pausanias says they sprung from Pielus As for Pergamus the same Pausanias informs us, that he went into Asia, that his Mother Andromache folhe went into Afia, that his Mother Andromache followed him thither, and that he kill'd Aireus, Prince of Teuthrania, having fought with him for the Sovereignty that he call'd the Town by his Name, and that his Tomb, and that of his Mother were to be feen there Serving upon the 72d Verse of the Sixth Ecloque of Virgil, gives a very different Account of the whole Matter As for the Son of Helenus by Andromache his Name was Cestrinus, and he went and fettled, with a Company of Fpirots, who followed him willingly, in a Province fituated above the River Thya is. This he did after his Father s Death, and when the Kingdom had been re-flored to Molossus, Son of Pyrrhus (n)

(F) Fine Tragedies both Ancient and Modern That of Europides is still extant, and if the Reader is defirous to know what was the Success of that which was acted upon the French Stage at Paris, he needs only read what Montsteury, a Lamous Player, fays in the Parnasic Resorme, to which he may add a Passage of a Modern Poet (o) If any one desires to know what Androm
(n) Pauian ibid
(s) Caucret, the Gour No, it was Andromache—I wish
Parnask that all those Writers of Tragedier, who invent Passions Reforme, that kill People, had to do, as Corneille, with such as pm 108, Man as the Abbet d'Aubignac, they would not be so furous But what vexes me most, is, that Andromache
(p) Ovid
de arte aof my Death, and that for the time to come every Poet mandi 13
(q) Marliee follow iome tew Verses (9) Mar- Here follow tome few Verses

Enst ae son savoir chez les Dames aqui Ennemi du bon sens qu' a grand bruit il at aque, l'a pleurer au l'arsuffe & rire d'l' Andromaque (G) Her sall Stature | I have already alledged as to what two Verles of Ovid upon this Subject in the Remuk A Here are two more of the fame Au-

fore on of Parva (p) webatur equo auoderat I ONGISSIMA the lame the bass (q) Hectoreo nupta refedit equo sunquam Poet for uv nasknew that Andronache was a very tall Wobessis in that to i peaking of iome Women who raised sethe 105 E- veral Stories of Ornaments and Hair over their Heads he fays they look'd like fo many Andrematheir he lays they looked like to many Androma-the's before, but appeared very little behind for (r) premit ordinibus, tot adduc compagibus altum Addicat caput Andromaches a fronte videbis, Andremacher a fronte videbis, Post miner oft.

gh post on the Goreo quoties sederat uxor eque (*) Juv. Sat & v 500

Thus the Old Roman Ladies were fomething like our Top Knott Another Poet expresses himself in (1) Stat the following Manner,

(s) Celse procul aspice frontis honores

Suggestumque come
The Mother of the Gods (t) with her To ers over her Head, was nothing to our Women, if they grow extravagant in their Top-Knots See Mr Alma-loveen's Amanitates Theologico-Philologica, where you find (v) a Collection of curious Learning and the Phrygias the Antiquity of Top-Knots See also the Antiquity of the North See also the Antiquity of Top-Knots and Makes of the Antiquity of the North See also the North See dowed with many fine Qualities, and he does not forget her tall Stature. Andronacham oculis claris, candom S OM E didam, LONG A st., formofam, modeftam, fapient the sem, pudicam; blassam blassam (H) Is one of the bost Pieces of that Poem | Tis Epic Poem the Judgment Mr Perrault passes upon it He try of the translated that Dialogue into French Verse, and read Ancients has Version to the French Academy (a) when the Ancients Ancients his Version to the French Academy (a), when the (a)The 31 Abbot Fencion was admitted into it. He fish of all of March, made a very short and very ingenious Discourse, 1693 That wherein he protested, that he believed Homer was the 1 ersion has most Excellent, the most Copious and the finest Poet that been printever was known, and that in order to persuade every and that be admitted. Body that he pays him a due Honour, he had train-part of the Body that he pays him a due Honoui, he had tran-part of the lad that Part of the Iliad into Price He owns Recueil that he has left out fome Digressions, which seemed de Pie es to him too languid. This is Homer's lault, he is curieuses too talkative, and too plain, tho otherwise he is a at the Man of a great Genius, and so tull of noble Hague Thoughts, that if he was now alive, he would for Moetmake an Epick Poem, in which nothing would be juis 1694 wanting. He would not bring in independent a left forether Husband, that young Asyanax would no longer her files in the supposition of the suppositio Sneep Such a Planness is not allowed at present in to dilutus I pick Poetry, it ippears to us too Citizen like, and in a vum, only fit for a Comedy I think our Countestes and Detureret Maichionesses would be afraid of speaking too fib much Citizen-like, if they should say as the Queen to, recident Couthage in first large with agraphic substitute of the counters. of Carthage in Vrgil, Si quis mili parvulus aula Ludi- 1et omme ret fineas. This Fault is not to be ascribed to the quod ul-Ancient Poets, but to the time they lived in Pro- tra perly ipeaking, the Question is not whether Men ctum trahut whether we have better Notions of Perfection, Horat) if and may apply to Homer what Horace (c) fays of a 10 / 1 nother Poet (d) And

nother Foet

(1) Some have alledged this Example] Read this Tiraquel Words of Tiraquelly: (d) Qualque Franciscus Basis de nobirus in sub libello de reuxoria quem apud Galles impribit c 20 n. mendam primi omnium dedimui, selerier sciteque annota- 101 p m vis, moneus ha exemplis uxores ne res hajusmodi contom- 78 nam quaq Andremache, &c bec aucaus de libello de name quas Andremache, &cc - 6 hoc quoque è

Silv 2 1

Corontbian Gelieral came only to deliver Sicily from the Tyrants who oppress'd it An- "Plutarch dromachus was a profess'd Enemy to Tyrants, and had a long time sollicited the Corin- in Timodromachus was a proteis a Enemy to Lyrants, and had a long time louicited the Corinshians to undertake the Deliverance of Sicily He therefore and Timoleon quickly resolution See ved to act in Concert, in order to restore the Publick Liberty " The IId ANDRO- also Dio. MACHUS served under Alexander the Great, and was Governor of Coele-Syria dorus Si-The Samaritans burnt him alive, θ but Alexander caused the Authors of that cruel Action to be punished according to their Deferts. I find no other Andrewschus in Quarter θ Curtuus on to be punish'd according to their Deserts I find no other Andromachus in Quintus 1 4 c 9 Curtius, tho Moreri says that many Persons of that Name are mentioned by that Histo-Eusebius rian The IIId ANDROMACHUS was Brother-in-I aw to Seleucus Callinius ad Olym-King of Syria, and had a & Son who invaded the Provinces situated on this side of Plad 112 Mount Taurus, and caused himself to be pioclam'd King in the time of Antiochus the was Achie Great This Andromachus was kept Prisoner a considerable time in Fg. pt. The Rho- us See dians obtain'd his Liberty, not from (Z) Ptolemy Evergites, as is said in the Supplement his Article to Morers & Dictionary, but from Ptolemy Philopator The IVth ANDROMACHUS & Giler was a Traytor, who discover'd to the Parthians all the Designs of Crassus, and being de theriachosen for a Guide, led the Roman Army into a Place where they could not avoid being cut to pieces See Plutarch, pag 562 of the Life of Crassus The Vtb ANDRO- Vossius MACHUS was Neros Physician, who makes the Subject of the following Article de Philo-The VItb ANDRO MACHUS was a Sophist, who taught in Nicomedia under tophia, c

the Reign of Diocletian, as we read in Suidas

ANDROMACHUS, a Native of the Isle of Crete, and Physician to the Fm peror Nero x, is chiefly known by the Antidote which he invented, by mixing the Helph

locally, and Physician to the Fm
peror Nero x, is chiefly known by the Antidote which he invented, by mixing the Helph locally and Physician to the Physician to the Fm

peror Nero x, is chiefly known by the Antidote which he invented, by mixing the Helph

locally and Physician to the Fm
peror Nero x, is chiefly known by the Antidote which he invented, by mixing the Helph

locally and Physician to the Fm
peror Nero x, is chiefly known by the Antidote which he invented, by mixing the Helph

locally and Physician to the Fm
peror Nero x, is chiefly known by the Antidote which he invented, by mixing the Helph

locally and Physician to the Fm
peror Nero x, is chiefly known by the Antidote which he invented, by mixing the Helph

locally and Physician to the Fm
peror Nero x, is chiefly known by the Antidote which he invented, by mixing the Helph

locally and Physician to the Physician to This Antidote was call'd Theriace, by reason of that but Phylidron was dealed a shadow which the stans unof Vipers with the " Mithridate r Mixture We call it Treacle It drowned ξ the Mithridate, which till then had been aerstand very much esteem'd andromachus made a Description ω of his Antidote in Elegiac particular-Verses, and dedicated it to Nero His Son, whose Name was ANDROMACHUS, by by Sneed made the same Description o in Prose Democrates * made it in I imbic Veises, in a venomous Poem he compos'd concerning Antidotes We read in Galen 1, that Andremachus the Galen de Father wrote a Treatise de medicamentis compositis ad adfectus externos, and that 4 he was thei ad a Learned and Eloquent Man Erotian dedicated his Lexicon to him I wonder how Pamphi-Meursius could forget so famous a Physician, in his List of the Illustrious Mcn of the lianum the of Crete, in the 4th Book of his Treatise of that Island Some will have it, that ibid

Thysician (A) was a good Astrologer

ANDRONICUS, a Perspatetick Philosopher, born in the Island of Rhodes, 11 de antideres came to Rome in the time of (A) Pompey and Cicero, where he mightily endeavoured to tidotis, nostres commemoravet Jo Lupus in rep rubr dedon inter vir & uxor & Bo Curtil in tract nobilitatis, in 38 privilegio Tiraquellus made no Reflection upon this Circumstance, viz that Andromache's Husband was not first served Doubtless, he thought this Example would prove too much, and that the Readers ought not to be entertain'd with which a Notion (7) Not from Ptolemy Evengetes] The Fault of the Supplement to Moreri's Dictionary will be manifest to any one, who considers that when the Rhodianic obtain'd Andromachus's Liberty, his Son had been vir & uxor & Bo Curtil in tract nobilitatis, in 38 ans obtain'd Andromachus's Liberty, his Son had been gone two Years over Mount Taurus with Selectus Ceraunus, King of Syria, to make War with Attalus, King of Pergamum Now this Lxpedition was colored undertaken in the (e) SeeCalgetes died, and was fucceeded by Ptolomy Philopator It ann 3 O- was therefore Ptolemy Philopator, who fet Andromalympiadis chis at Liberty, to please the Rhodians, who had a Mind to deprive the City of Bykantium of the lavour of Acheus, and who thought that the most effectual Means to make a Friend of that Prince, was to get his Son restored to him See the Remark A in the Article Achau

That this Physician was a good Astrologer I bethe Printer has left out a C, it should be CCXI) ac deinceps, nempe extremis Neronis temporibus, of deinceps, nempe extremis Neronis temporibus, of the Vespasiano, magnum sibi decus hac scientia partiti dudromachus Cretensis, qui primus dicitur edidiste teoricas Planetarum. This is Vossius's Text in the 161 Page of his Book de Scientius Mathematicis, to which he adds the following Commentary, according to his usual Method. Consentium deee Lucas. Gauricus, & Christophorus Clavisu, nif qued Gauricus perperam Andronicum vocat qui Clavie rettius Andromachus Illum vide in Galendario Ecclefiaftico (1), hunc Commentario (2) in Spharam Joan de Sacrobosco I wonder Vossius did not say, whether or no he believed that this Andromachus, the Astrologer, was the same with him who invented Treacle The Time wherein he places him, and the Countrey he fay the was born in, would make one think, that he means he and the same Andromachus I am apt to believe that he left the thing undetermind out of Prudence. He wanted further Information, and therefore he thought it more proper not to be posttive Morets, a much bolder Author, affirms, that

Andromachus, Nero's Physician, and Andromachus the 224 Aftrologer, the first who writ concerning the Theo- \phi Galen ry of the Planets, are one and the fime Perion ibid

Andromachus the Astrologer, seems to me to be a * Id chimerical Thing, for Mr Drelincourt, whom I theriaca never confulted without admiring his vaft and acade Pison curate I earning, was pleased to acquaint me, at Apud mong many other things which I make use of in Vossium this Article, that these Words Inventor Theoricarum is possible in Clavius ought to be read Inventor Theriacarum is 1 ib 1 By virtue of this Correction, the two Authorities de Antid alledged by Vossius come to nothing, as to what concerns the I heory of the Planets. One of the Authors quoted by him means only Andronicis, and the other ascribes only the Invention of I reach to Andromachus Here is a plain Instance of the Mistal es of Learned Men, which the Faults of the Printers and Transcribers occasion Blancanus places Andromachus among the Mathematicians, upon Clavius s Credit Andromachus (e) (retensis quem Theoricarum inventorem facit Clavius The same ought to be said of Possus So that those, who say that Andromachus Marhem is the first who wrote concerning the Theory of Chronol the Planets, have no ground for it bur a bank of the Impression. of Volius the Planets, have no ground for it but a Fault of Pag 5 Impression, whereby the Word Theria carum has been changed into Theoricorum Mi Drelincourt alludged this Reason among others for his Conjecture, win that the Lpithet Inventor does not fuit the Theory of the Planets, which, I efides, was known before Nero's Empire, wheras Inventor added to Theriacaum, does very well with Andromachus It may be that such a Mistake of the Printers or I ranscribers occasion'd our Andromachus to be taken for an Altiologer by Clavius, or by the Author whom Clavius follow'd The Word Androma 'us w spenhaps printed instead of Andronicus, or some such Name Whereupon, those who knew that one Andromachus of Crete was Nero's Physician, and invented I reacle, added those Titles and Encompums to the Word Andremachus in their Lifts of Aftrologeis

Andromachus in their Lists of Astrologers

(A) Went to Rome in the time of Pompey and Cicero] This may be inferred from Two Passages of Pluturch, one in the Lise (d) of Sylla, and the other in the Lise (e) of Luculus The first informs us, I That Sylla sent from Athens to Rome Apell cons Library, in which most of Aristotle's Works were to be found 2 That the Grammarian Tyrannion

raise Chil 12 n 397 P

Id de † Apud Vossium

Venet apud Juntas, ann 1552 (2) In c. P 4 visius ad

ann 3 O-

" In the Remarks of the Ar-Picle TVrannion † Quem cum acueum dili gentemq, Aristotelicorum librorum & judicem &repertoiem iudicaverit antiquitas Boetius Proam libri de in terpretat 1 lis the 5 of the 20 Book (f) Ou To 17 == qc 716= c/ //29 1. 71-2015 Hud dem fitis in vulgus in Sylla p +68 (g) Rapin Compi Pliton & d Auflot p m ,7; (h) Γather Ripin quotes the H ords in the Margin Quod ouidem iumadmı ' phum modum paucos. ignotetur Iopic init posed that Work after Caftr's Death . from wheret THAY DE INfriedthat the very Edition of Androni No mike Auftotle Bookfar mdai very common at

Rome

(k) (licero init To-

picor P 419

raise Aristotle's Glory In order to it, he (B) procured the Knowledge of his Writings, which had been litherto in great Confusion, and put 'em (C) in a more methodical Order There was something very singular in the Fate of those Writings, as I shall One cannot sufficiently express how great a Service Androshew in another place * micus did to the Sect of the Peripateticks Perhaps it had never been so famous, if he had not taken a particular Care of the Founder's Works Andronicus got a great deal of | Glory by it Some Learned Men don't ascribe to him the Paraphrase upon Arifotle's (D) Morals, others say he is the Author of it, and likewise of the small Tract concerning Passions, published by David Hoeschelius in 1593. It is certain, that Andronicus wrote something, for Aulus Gellius, in a Chapter 4 wherein he mentions the two sorts of I essons which Aristotle gave to his Scholars, sets down word for word a Letter of Allegards and Androle's Answers and answers to the formula to the formula and Androle's Answers and answers to the formula to the formul ter of Alexander to Aristotle, and Aristotle's Answer, and informs us, that he found those two Letters in a Work of the Philosopher Andronicus No body can tell, whether that Work be the Paraphrase upon the Categories or Physicks 'Tis well known that Andro-took many Books out of Sylla's Library 3 That Andronicus the Rhodian had Arifor! 5 Works from 1yrannion We learn from the second Passage of Iyrannion We learn from the fecond Passage of Pluturch, That I') annion was taken by I ucullus when M thridates was descated, and that Musena having ask d him of I w ull is, made him a freed Man know beindes that this Grammarian grew rich at Rome, and collected a large Library Andronicus must therefore lave been at Rome at the time I have mention d, since he had Aristotle's Works from Fyrannion We shall see in the Remark c, whether Father Rapin is in the right to fay that Andronicus Father Rapin is in the right to fay that Andronicise did not come to Rome till after the Death of Tyran-

(B) He procured the Knowledge of hu Writings] They were not therefore known at Rome, and I may very well fay to, fince Gieero affirms it, nay, Plutarch tells us, that they were (f) little known to the Athenians, when 5) l/a possess there Rapin (g) has observed what I suppose It was tlat Andionicus, fay he, who began to procure the knowledge of Aristotle at the tim that (icero was raifing himfulf by his great Repit ion to the most conf lerable Dignit is of the Republich _____ Cicero heard of Ariffotle in Greece "He knew port of his Menter which was not to the most conhis Ment, which was not very well known at Rome as it appears from the jurgrize of Trebatim, who paid a vilit to Cicero at his Country Seat of Infallum, and going into his Library with him happen d to cast his I yes upon Arifotle's Topicks, of which Giero had a Copy Trebatius ask dhim whit Book it was, and what it treated of, for though he was no ignorant Man, he had iumadmi 'never heard of Aristotle Cieco told him, That ritus cum 'twas no wonder, Since that Philosopher was known the agreeable Writer is not exact in relating this Trebiation Passing of Cieco Which I think ought not to be non-offer at rebed to a plantwertence, but he had a mind attribed to at Inadvertence, but he had a mind cognitum to be fliot. An exact Writti cannot avoid a proquish iptis Philipleafed with an eafy and fliot Account of a thing, though unexited than with a long one, though neting the product of a country. Lather Rapin, in order to give the product. ver so accurate. Lather Rapin, in order to give the Substance of cases Passinge, should have said. That I cravin perusing several Books in Cicero's I ibrary, lighted upon An stole's Fopicks, that being surprized with that I tile, he immediately asked Cicero what Book it was, and being told it, desired him to explain it to him, that Cicero advised him to read it himself, or to get it explain d to him by an able Rhetorician that I relating tried those two ways without my Success, I eing discouraged by the Obscurity of the Book, and being told by the Rhetorician that I sinkolow ways an Author unknown to him, that Cicro was not surprized at it, though such an that C are was not imprized at it, though fuch an Ignorance did not appear excutable to him, and that at the regieft of Iran ic, who was a Learned that at the rejust of Protein, who was a Learned Civilian, he wrote) upon Ar stotle's Topicks (k) Usrumgue, ut a teacter am, es expertus Sed a libristic offenitistes it R for anten ille, magnus ut op nor, Pristocheaf and a respondit Quod quidem min me so tant at u at p, sofophum rhetori non esse than, que hippid P of pris preter admodum paucos and eta Quili com us ignoscendum est, quod non more in a traine de decad quoque incredibili quadam cum copis to san suavetate. To conceal nothing from the Reader I must acquaint him that Strabo (1) gives us to understand that the Library-Keeper of Sylla permitted the Bookiellers to get Aristosle's Works transcribers, who, besides, did not compare the

Transcribers, who, besides, did not compare the Copies with the Originals, so that those Works were publish d with abundance of Faults This cannot be alledged to confute what I have faid, for I may aniwer, that Andronicus's Idition being more correct, railed the Curiotity of the Learned, who made no account of the faulty Editions See the Marginal Note:

(C) And put 'em in a more methodical Order | P'1.

tarch fays (m), that Andronicus having had Ariftotle s and Theophraftus & Books from Tyrannion, publish'd 'em with iome Indexes Παρ' ωπέ τ ρόδιον Αιδρονίκιν εθπορησή τα την άιτης αφων εις με τον θείναι, η αναχεα μα του ιῦι φ τρώψες πινακας. The follow-diet he, tu's others coolectes els tours ouns and une of he of instatus Apollodorum Atheniensem & Andronicum Perspateticum, quorum ille Epicharmum Comicum in decem collegit tomos, iste vero Aristotelis & Theorem phrasti libros in trastatus distribuis proprias suppositiones in idem conducens, sic & ego I confess I do not very well understand these Greek Words, rus cimia, σο πέτεις είς ταυτο σωαραρων Much less do I understand this Translation, propries suppositiones in idem conducens, but I think either of these two Senses may be allowed Porphyrius means either that Andronicus collected into one Body all the Trasts that did belong to the same Matter, or that he added a suitable Summary to each Tract The first Sense seems to me the best, and does better agree with Plutaich, and the Comparison Perphyrius makes between Audronicius and himself, for Porphirius did only put some I itles to the Writings of his Master Plotinus, and digested em into several Classes I don't find any Author, that says what I have read in Father Rapin, and because he only quotes Plotinus, I don't know whether he had it from a Book which I have not consulted, or whether he paraphrases Plotinus and Plutarch However it be, these are his Words, which have been faithfully transcribed by Moieri After (a) Tyrannion's Death, Andronicus the Rhodian came to Rome, and being sensible of Aristotle's Worth, because he had been bred up in the Lyceum, he bought those Writings of Tyrannion's Heirs, and examind them so carefully, that he was in a manner the mind them so carefully, that he was in a manner the Restorer of 'em, as Pophyrius assims in Plotinus's Life For he not only restored what had been spoiled by the length of time, and the Carelesness of these who had those Writings in their hands, but took 'em out of the great Consults in the were in, and got 'em transcribed. The beginning of this Passing contradicts Plutaich, who assimpt that Andaniers had an active. When who affirms that Andronicus had Aristo h's Works from Tyrannion himself I confess that Plutarch is not so exict, but one may depart from him as to the Circumstances, but since we have no Author, who Circumitances, but since we have no Author, who fays that Tyrannion's Heirs, and not Tyrannion himfelf, fold Andronicus the Writings of Ariffolle, I think it is better to keep to Plutarch, fince Chronology is not against him See the Remarks in the Aricular ticle Tyrannion Some say (b) that Andronicus was the 10th Successor of Ariffolle, and that he flourish'd in the 180th Olympiad

(D) The Paraphrase upon Aristotle's Morals] Daniel Heinsius, who translated that Paraphrase into Lancel Heinsius, miel Heinstein, who translated that Paraphrase into Latin, does plainly enough intimate, that he takes it to be the Work of that Famous Peripatetick Hopublish'd it in Greek and Latin at Leyden, in the Year 1607 in 410 It had never been printed before either in Greek or in Latin Many Faults crept into that Edition, which were mended at least in part in that

(m)InSyl-

la p 468

(n) Porphyr in vita Plotını

ubi supra pag m 373, 374

(b) Am-. monius apud Jon sium de Scriptor Hiff Phi lof p 60

those (E) two Treatises of Aristotle I don't believe that he was nicus parapladed ti (F) Str.bo

ANDRONICUS (Marcus Pompilius) a Syrian, taught Grammar at Rome Ilis too great (A) Application to the Study of Philosophy, disabled him from performing the part of a Grammarian as diligently as he should have done, so that his School was neglected When he saw that Antonius Gniphon, and even some Grammarians not to lamous as he, were preferred to him, he left his School, and retired to Cuma, where he spent his time in writing Books Which did not free him from the Misery he was In His great Poverty obliged him to sell the best (B) of his Works at a very cheap *Ex Suerate That Work was suppress'd, but Orbilius bought it off, and publish'd it with the tonio de Author's Name to it, at least he boasted of it Andronics sollowed the Sect of Epicusillustrib.

Grammarus, and lived in Cicero's time * Morers has committed many Faults

ANDRONICUS of The flatonica, was one of the Greeks, who fled from their & Greeks Greeks Greeks Country, and restored Learning in the West in the XV Century He was accounted the best Prosessor next to Theodorus Gazi, and perhaps he exceeded him in the Know-lingua ledge of the Greek Tongue, for he had read all the Authors, who had writ in that apprime eruditus Language, and understood very well Aristotle's Philosophy He taught at Rome, and platina in lodged in Cardinal Bestarion's House His Salary was so inconsiderable, that Poverty Panegyr obliged him to leave Rome. He went to Florence, where he was Professor a considerable. time, and had a great many Hearers, but hoping to meet with a better Fortune in his Taken France, he removed into that Countrey, and died there soon after, being very far ad-from Volavanced in Years He had a bad Pronunciation, and minded nothing but his Studies & terran Platina says > he was very well skill'd in the Greek and Latin Tongues I shall take no his 21 p

Name of Andronicus Rhodius to the second Edition He was contented in the first to ascribe that Book to an ancient Philosopher, who was an excellent Peri-patetick There is a Parenthesis in a Passage of Naudeus, which may serve to vindicate him against Placeius Cui se Danielis Heinsi diligentia Socium non ita pridem adjunit Andronicus Rhodius (aut from Naudeur's Parenthelis, that the Words Andro nieus Rhodius only, and not Olympiodorus, may be referred to Heinstus (d) Meurstus does not doubt that 5 p 36 (f) Rein-

of the Year 1617, in 800 Hanflus prefixed the nieus Rhodius only, and not Olympiodorus, may be referred to Heinsius (d) Meursius does not doubt that Andronicus is the Author of that Paraphrase and of the Treatise row madding published by Hossehelius from two Manuscripts, one of which he received from Margunius, and the other was sent to Sylburgius from Spain, by Andrew Schottus (e) Vossus ascribes this last Book to one Andronicus, not so ancient as he who makes the Subject of this Article (f) Reinflus is of Miursius Sopinion, but Salmassus maintains that Andronicus Rhodius is not the Author of the Paraphrase translated by Daniel Heinsius Those, says he (g), who first publish d that Paraphrase did unjudiciously ascribe it to Andronicus, and he laughs at 'ein (h) for boassing that they had found very good Proofs for it in the ancient Interpreters of Aussia Proofs for it in the ancient Interpreters of Auftorle He shews that the true Audrenicus in Aulus Gellius He shews that the true Andronicus in Aulus Gellius explains Aristotle's Lowtecina and a upoating differently from the Paraphrast Salmassus (1) enlarges very much upon this, and adds that that Paraphrast does not agree with Aristotle in many things in tam multiple a mente Aristotle is, at Andronici esse genuinate foil possini credere qui nibil in literis his videni. He cannot believe that so great a Philosopher as Andronicus would have mispent his time so far as to paraphrase a Book as clear as any one can be Parapistate a Book as clear as any one can be Dugereda: tanti nominis Perip steticum otium suum occupation Ethicis Aristotelus paraphi asselucidandis, quo similari distributationi ? This last Proof seems to me to be week

E) Paraphrased those Two Trea is of Aristotle] Simplicius fays fo in feveral places of his Commenta-

(f) I don't believe that he was Strabo's Master] I can't tell whether the Printers have lest out some Words or former Lines out of Reinesus's Copy, or whether Reinessus is the true Author of these words, whether Reinessus is the true Author of these words, (1) pig 312 Amasia Magister (Andronicus Rhodius) Strabonus bic l XIV They signify that Strabo says in how the Book that he was Andronicus Rhodius's Salvent Amasia I find (m) that the Grammarian temperature traught him at Nysa, and (n) Kenarchus the Peripatetick Philosopher, in another place But it I am not very much mistaken, the only thing he says of Andronicus in his 14th Book, is, That he

(e) was one of the illustrious Men of the Isle of (e) Pag der, and I dare affirm that he no where fays in hisWritings, either that he was Andronicus sScholar, or niswritings, either that he was Andronicus Scholar, of that Andronicus taught at Amasia

(A) Hu too great application to the fludy of Philosophy | Suetonius makes use of very proper Words Studio Epicurea setta desidiosior in prosessione Grammaticae habebatur, minusque idoneus ad tuendam scholam. This ought to serve for a Leison to those, who desire to have a great many Scholars They ought to apply themselves wholly to their Prosession, or to take care that no body should know that they mind other care that no body should know that they mind other things A Philologist, who fets up for a Philosopher, who loves Physical Experiments, and carefully examines whether Def Carren has been more fuccessful than Gassendus, runs the hazard of loing all his Scholars A Physician fond of Medils, Mathematicks and Genealogies, must not expect to have a great many Patients Which was the reason why Dr Spon (p) thought sit to acquaint the publick, that the World would be very much mistaken to think that he made the Monuments of Antiquity his chief Study He found by Experience that this Opinion was very prejudicial to him, as to the Practice of Author of Physick Besides, tis certain that a Professor, who is the Nouknown to write many Books, is not look'd upon as velles de a Man fit to improve his Scholars, and their fore la Repubthole who desire to grow ri h by teaching Youth, lique des will not succeed in it if they fet up for Auletters, for thors

(B) The b ft of his Works | Sueton is calls it a small Trast 1686 Opusculum says he , Annal um el nel orum 1 hat Book , was therefore to be entituled Flench Annalium . Sueton Some Manuscripts of Sue onius have the following de illustrations. Reading Opusium sum sum Annalum Ennis elenchorum(a) (crimm Achilles (f) Statins and (c) Fossius approve of cap & it, and I think they are in the right Whitever (a) Vide Reading we follow, it appears that Anthonicus hid (assuborum and Annalist)

centured an Annahit

(C) Moreri his committed many Faults] I He hunc Suefays Pompinius instead of Pompilius II He filly ton lo says that Andronicus had been Priceptor to Julius Calai, cum and that Cicero though a Prator, was very well pleaf it (b) In Sueto be one of his Harris III He inders Annahium ton ib elenchi, Annahi digested into Tables IV He says that (c) De some have ascribed these I ables to Ennius I hus he Histor understands these words of I stream an hull in the last of these months of these words of I stream an hull in the last of the same as hull in the same as Jone have a first dethose I ables to Ennius I hus he Histor understands these words of I stills, in que has tom to Latin penel libris est annalium Es nii elenchorum V He weakens Suctomus s Argument That Historian mentions I wo Circumstances which plainly shew Andronicus s Poverty One of emistaken from the Excellency of what was Sold, eix the best Work of the Anthon. The other is taken from the 1900 for the Anthon. the Author, the other is taken from the small Price that it was fold for Morers thought he express d the whole Sense of Suctomus in these Words He was the whole senie of succoming in these words. He was fo poor that he was forced, in order to maintain himself to sell a small Trast of his own making. I wonder he did not perceive that he enervated in a great Meature the Proof of that Historian TheReader will not be displeased to see what has been the Occasion of his second Missike, which contains two or three great Fassities He did not apprehend Vossius's Argument That Author was to prove that Andronicus

tice m 775

(b) See the which be writ ot'e

1685 ut

(k) Dif-

cuffignum peri-Patesta. 4°, 41 (1) In his etters to Rupert (in) Lib 14. pag 447 (n) Ib p

(c) Plac-

cius de Anonym pag 62 (d) Meurl de Rhodo

lib 2 C 5 p 88 (e) Vost de philo-tophia c el Epist ad Rupertum, p

312 (g) Sal-mai in Lpittet &

Simplici-

um p 227 (b) lb p

(1) Ib p

264 ANDRONICUS ANGIOLELLO ANGLUS

tice of a (D) Mistake of Gabriel Naude There was at the same time another A N-DRONICUS, a Native of Constantinople, who taught at (E) Bologna.

ANDRONICUS (Tranquillus) born in Dalmatia, towards the latter end of ANDRONICUS (Tranquillus) DOFN in Daimaira, toward, the taught the XV Century, was (A) upon a Work, which he promifed to publish. He taught in the University of (B) Lespsiek at the same time with Mosellanus. It will appear by in the University of (B) Lespsiek at the same time with Mosellanus. It will appear by in the University of (B) Lespsiek at the same time with Mosellanus. It will appear by in the University of (B) Lespsiek at the same time with Mosellanus. my Remarks that he publish'd something, Erasmus writ a Letter to him

* See the History of Mahomet

II by Crush

. 218, 234

C Konig Bibl vet

& nova, Voce An-

of in Bodleian I iliar;

for fast

1 Secthe

Riok en-

Statern

appenia, pip s

(a) Naule,

Ardit or .

pelellus y Sie the let, t 2

10th of the 4th Book
ANGIOILILO (John Maria) a Native of Vicenza, wrote the History of Mahomet II in the Italian and Turkish Languages, and dedicated it to him It was very acceptable to that haughty Sultan, who not only made much of him, but also gratified him with a Reward The Author had been an Eye-witness of what he related, for being one of the Slaves of the young Sultan Mustapha, he followed him in the Expedition of Persia, in the Year 1573. I speak of the dreadful War which Mahomet made in Person with near Two hundred thousand Men in the States of Usun-Cassan may very well wonder that Angiolello, who doubtless knew the Haughtiness of that Tuil fo I mperor, should have been so bold as to insert in his History the injurious Words spoken by Uslun-Cassan against Mahomet, when discovering his Army from a rising Ground near I uphrates, he reproach d him with an Illegitimate Birth Perhaps Mahomet never knew that those Words were to be found in that History, for Princes are not acquainted with every thing that is in Books dedicated to them. However it be, Angiolello's Work was kindly received and well rewirded, notwithstanding that Particular* Those & who say he stourish d in 1524, are not exact, but what they add, that he wrote the I ife of Uffun Ciffen is more accurate A Work y of Gio Mario Angiolello della zira e de fatte de Re de Perfer, was printed at l'enice in 1553. And I find in the Catalogue of & Thumus 5 I ibi ary, Relatione della vitre de fatte del Signer Uluncaffer, by our sir gielelle The Year and the Place of the Impression have been omitted

ANGI US (Ihomas) an Inglish Priest, made himself known by the Singularity of his Opinions, and a Multitude of small Books, in the XVII Century He was of every good I smily, which he often (A) took care to equaint the World with in the Title Piges of his Book He (B) went by several Names, and made some stay in most puts of Imoje Ile was Principal of a College at Lisbon, and Sub-Principal at Denay lived in the time of 5 fm a and Quadrigarius, and of tome others He prove it by this Reison Attenue Guphon and Indienters, Ined at the lame and because on plon, son tonius relates taught in the House of Inluscasian and had Cuero among his Hearers. He taught in Casian's House, when Casiar was but a Child cuero, who was Pictor, went to hear him. Here we two Circumstances of time, which teffus illedges out of Suctionius to fix the Age of Pompilus Ailonicus, to which he idds another Patticulai attested by Suctioner, viz that Andron cus and Couplon lept School at the Imme time Moiers understands of Anon ou what I officer tays of Gni-phon Besides, he thought that the keeping of a School in a Man's Houte, was only to be successful. (D) A Will L of Cabriel Naude | Hwing faid, (D) A Mill k of Cabriel Niude | Having laid, that one Him ninu of Span a taught at Pin c he adds (1) of car is the incanor or cited I in quillus Andromees Dalmate income him of lose who can the nitro k growth limited to plan he contend andron u of Ireffalom a with him who makes the Subject of the following Airele Novich committed the time I sult, and the Diffustion he makes his occurrend a greater the Diffinction he makes his occition d'a greiter Confusion in what he tive Confusion in what he sixs. He will have it, that It may the serious in Protestor of the Greek Longue it Profess was not the same who ris a creat Share in Comment Bellation s. I. on the p. and yet tis certain, that the Clint of that Cardin 1 is not a different Min from him who was Profesior at Pni Morers should not have call d him Calietus And on our but Antonic City fla Canada these Words whereby it appears that he was related to the tumous Herdows Con () Con con temple mm they we Plil plu SWerds in Letter which he writ from Minto Girthe All of onin 1469 Fruit from Minto Girthe All of onin 1469 Fruit fruin a minia quin finin zonici m Kraufum og rem tom apit o 1500 etd of in Valirum of prim tom 10, quin u vilis n is fall o tube it to peto mega its sollnæster et læst. comen a I his Antion us Calliffu was a Peripitetick, is twicte a Book de Phisur les risa of fortuna, ino-is of confirme poland some other Tricks in attoud by Inthe Laobe (f) Once more, Morers that I not have diffinguished him from the other, who tu ht up ic not should he have laid, that who til he is Protession at Basil. The Author of Ato near on a now oille (g), places Automicus among the lamed of L who came into Italy about the middle of I verten I Century. He meant doubtless In 101 control of Androventh instead of Friench (E) Another Androventh (Con-

flantinople, who taught at Bologna | Philaphus commends him in several of his letters. I shall only set down a Passage out of the first Letter of the Iwenty lourth Book, dated the last of Oslob 1464. Quare non possum vos omnes qui Bononia agitis non mitari plurimum, quod cum vobis visi dots ssime e suditi copia data sit ad Gra am disciplinam penitus consequendam data fit ad Gra am disciplinam penitus consequendam malitis indotti esse quam dotti. Nunquam equidem des-cende gratia trajecissem in Graciam Constantinopolim, qua in mile | ptennium egi, fi istusmodi mibi Andronicus Byzan ius effet ollatus

(A) Mas upon a Work, which he promised to publish] Paul Journs (1) having faid, that the fad Condition Dalmatia had been reduced to by the Turks, was an Obstacle to the Study of Literature, and that theretore he would not mention any learned Men of that Country, adds unless Tranquillus Andronicus acquaints as with the Merit of his Country men. The quaints us with the Merit of his Country men. The Pillage I quote in the Mugin feems to fay, that Andronicus mude I Journey to Confiantinople, either as in I nvov, or in the Retinue of an Ambastador Kon is not foreserved he positively say, that Andronene was deputed into Iurl), and wrote a Bock concerning his Negotiation Legationers and Turcan olist, camque fuis commentar is illustrivit. The Authors who amplify what they quote, cannot be sufficiently centured for it. Jovins speaks only of a

Work which Anaronicus was upon it was a Book made Publick

(B) In the University of Leiplick at the same who Modellanus | This I find in simble Hic, fixs he (i), lite and outer Liplice Pet Most an term of the Calls him Tranquillus Parther on Ancient, Dalmata, and makes him the Author of a Speech printed at jett of that Speech, is to exhort all the Princes of Germany to mike War with the Tuke There is another Speech of him at the area and the speech of the Year of the Impression is not set down in Du I idier Supplements

(A) Which he often took care to acquaint the World with in the little Pages of his Books] I or Instance, his three Dialogues di mundo, printed at Paris in 1642, have these Words in the Title-Page, Authore I homa Anglo e generosa Albierum in Oriente Trinoban-

tum projepte ortundo

(B) He went by several Names] Here is what Mr Baillet (a) observes upon this Subject Sir Kenelme Digby "had with him the Famous Thomas Anglus an "English nemo di-PIO COMparcat,niti in lucem fludiofe producat cives fuos guilles Andron: cus prrchiûs Ciamulator. dum mi itm acti onum ac Othoma but Aonig favs DIC girion s, obfeuro tunique Derum* Commentaria perfemb i Toviu in Llog 1 ag 209 (1) Lpit Biblioth Geineri, pig 9-6 (I I pit Biblioth Gefneri (4) Bail-let, Vie de Descartes t 2 P 245

ad ann 1644

of Lewis XI p 187 lelph epiffol lib 29) (# / 0 A pr Tier of 10 0 s de ma ano for it 11 £ 17 1 , 1 6 Luca anwish s'ife passire is Monnoie (f) Iu/ss Nova Biblioth Manusc libror t cth's delalin-

41

117 1

(Athen

mere me Cnow 1 2 0 et v, edit

Piris,

17

Rome and Paris afforded him long Stations. He was a long time a Domestick to Sir Kenelm Digby, for whose Opinions he had a very particular Value He resolved to continue a Peripatetick, and to oppose (D) the Instructions Descartes had a mind to give him Nay, he undertook to clear the most impenetrable Mysteries of Religion by Aristotle's Principles; and in order to it he handled the Doctrines of Liberty, and Grace, in which he entangled himself; and because he gave a free Scope to his particular Remark Thoughts, he was not approved by the Molinists nor the fansenists. He was a Man of what contains the molinists of the molini a penetrating and vast Genius, but he had not the Faculty of a clearing Matters, and cerns his differing the things which may ferve for a Rule and a Foundation There was fomeobscurity thing irregular in his Philosophy and Theology Some of his Works were branded at Rome by the Congregation (E) of the Index, and censured by some Universities He had a very particular Opinion concerning the State of Souls separated from the Body, and about the Easiness of obtaining Salvation I don't know in what Year he died He was still living when Charles II was restored to the Throne of England I have seen some Books of his written since the Marriage of that Prince with the Infinta of Portugal. . He was no Friend to the Jesuits, and he could have wish d that they

(*)H pu lifh d in *)H pub-

1654 50

advertus

(1) Albi-US TOAS AN equivocal Word as alluding to Albion or Albus

(b) Tis & Book

18 120

without or the

Edition

from the Preface the Place

Year of the

It appears hat the Author was at that

(c) Bullet

ubi supra

time an old Man

English Gentleman, and a Catholick Priest, of one "of the most Ancient Families in England He had an Irish Outside, and lived in a great, but vo-"luntary Poverty His true Sirname was White, which he fometimes changed into Candidus, fome-"times into (1) Albius, sometimes into Bianchi, and "fometimes into (1) Aloisis, ioinetimes into Bisneen, and
"fometimes into Richworth, but he was scarce
"known in France, but by the Name of Thomas An"glus——Descartes used to call him Mr Vitus" Thomas Anglus subscribes himself at the the end of Thomas Anglus subscribes himself at the the end of several Epistles Dedicatory, Thomas ex Albiis

(C) For whose Opinions he had a very particular Vilue] Here is the Title of one of his Books printed at Lyons in 1646 Institutionum Peripateticarum ad mentem summi viri clarissimique Philosophi KENELMI EQUITIS DIGBÆI The Reason of this Title, is to be seen in the Preface, Quòd ad mentem summi viri & clarissimi Philosophi Kenelmi Equitis Digbai (criptas pronunciem, inde est quod cum invidendo illo bai scriptus pronunciem, inde est quod cum invidendo illo de anima immortalitate libro totam natura compositionem a prima corporu ratione usque ad invisibiles anima spiri-tualu articulos dissecuerit, & inomnium oculos intulerit, alia quam isse pracesserat incedere neque volui neque po-tui Quicquid itaque de illo subjetto vides, inde transla-tum est He acknowledged himself indebted to him not only for his Philosophical Knowledge, but also for his Skill in Divinity, with respect to the allo for his Skill in Divinity, with respect to the greatest Mysteries, as it appears from the Book (b) entituled, Quastio Theologica, quomodo secundum principia Perspatetices Dighanna sive Secundum rationem & abstrahendo quantum materias patitur, ah authoritate, humani arbitris libertas sit explicanda, & cum gratia essicacior concilianda. He publish d in 1652 his Institutiones Theologica, super fundamentis in Perspatetica Dighana jactis, extructa

(D) To oppose the Instructions Descartes had a Mind to give him | Thomas Anglia, says M Baillet (c), was a Peripatetick more extraordinary still than Sir Kenelm Digby, and certainly he exceeded him in the Obscurity of his Notions, and in the in-comprehensibility of his Thoughts He was otherwise one of the most subtile Philosophers of "cause Sir Kenelm Digby had given a good "Character of him He willingly permitted "Thomas Anglus to raise Objections against him "The Nature of those Objections, and the good "Opinion Sir Kenelm had of him, made Defearers" hope that he would quickly be one of his Followers, but it appear'd by the Event that he took Thomas Anglus to be a Man of more Docility than he was Arglus puzzled his Brains with the knotty Questions about Predestination, Liberty, and Grace, which began to make a noise in the Universities of Louvain and Para Being persuaded that Descartes was not a Man appointed by God to give him the Solution of those Supernatural Difficulties, he rather chose to have recourse to Aristotle, in order to break through that mysterious Darkness What he writ about those Matters with the help of Aristicle, is not unlike the Obscurity of Oracles, which perhaps made him unintelligible (2) to the Roman Congregation of "the Index, and was the Reason why the Jesuits (3)
"look'd on him as a Wild Divine" It will not be improper to mention here what he answered those who charged him with being an obscure Writer His Aaswer will further discover to us the Charater of his Comment that God he (d) a heaven

eter of his Genius 1 love, faid he (d), a brevity which becomes the Masters and D speniers of Learning If my Writings are obsure, tis the fault of the D vines, who give me no Opportunity to explain my self Lastry, either the Learned understand, or do not understand me If they understand me, and find me in an Error, they may easily confue me If they don't understand me, they may easily confue wellaim against my Dostrine This have no reason to exclaim against my Dostrine This savours of a Man, who is extremely desirous of being talk'd of, and forry that he has not a sufficient number of Adversaries to excite the Attention of the Publick Riferunt aliqui hominem quod evident am jatet, cum tamen per obscure ipsum siribere, quotquot eum legant, queritentur Respondet ille, se brevitati scientiarum traditoribus apta studere, Theologos in causa essentiarum traatorious apta stuaere, licologos in cauja esse quod obscura man antipsus sinta, dum sele explicandi ansam prabere resugiunt. Addit wel dottos eum intelligere posse, unde &, si errores siribat, ipsum consutare in proclivu est, wel non intelligeri, & sic neque d'bere ipsi occlamitare, eum pessimus sit animi morbus calumniari quod nescus. This Dilemma is somewhat sophistical. cal

cal

(E) By the Congregation of the Index, and censur'd by some Universities] That Congregation by a Decree of the 10th of June 1658 condemn'd these Four Treatises of Thomas Anglus, Institutiones Peripatetica Appendix Theologica de origine mundi Tabulis suffragialis de terminandus sidei litibus ab Ecclesia Catholica sixa Tessera Romana evulgatio. The two last pieces were publish'd against the famous Tather Macedo, who in a Paper-War was a persect Knight I rrant, always ready to enter the Lists. He (*) who to against Thomas Anglus, but instead of replying to against Thomas Anglus, but instead of replying to the Tabula suffragiales, and to the T ffera Romana wulgatto, he made use of Intrigues whereby he caused those Pieces to be condemned by the Congregation of the Index (a) The Divines of Doung centured 22 Propositions extracted our of Thomas anglus s Institutioner Sacræ He published a Supplicatio postulation, printing sufficiee, in Opposition to their Centure, where in he complained that they had been contented with London an indeterminate Centure attended with a respective surface. Hive (b), without qualifying each Proposition by it felf. He shows em that they have acted like prevaricating Divines. And indeed all simple People are thereby in danger of being mistaken, or flandering their Neighbours. If you say in general, about 30 Propositions that they are respectively rash, dangerous and heretical, any body may take that to be heretical which is only rash and whit is a downight Hemay feem to him to be only a rash Affertion This Reflection will appear more strong in the words of an Anonymous Writer, who seems to be a Man of Parts and Judgment He speaks in the followof an Anonymous Writer, who feems to be a Man of Parts and Judgment He speaks in the following manner (c) about the Decree of the Inquision of the pare of my 7th of December 1690 against 31 Propositions 1 Addition, according to the Ooctor, whether you have observed all the Adition, according to the Certain and Art of the Centure You are not 19-yprinted at the Month of the Gentlemen use to style Propositions, they don't say that each of emining uticus lowse, transcourse of the Centure of the Centu lar is scandalous, or erroneou, & but they set losses lar is scandalous, or erroneou, & but they set losses lar is scandalous, or erroneou, & but they set losses large and set losses large and then they quality those Propositions on the set losses large and losses large and losses large and losses large large and losses large la "which as Heretical, or in another Sense" In the next Page a Counsellor of the Parliament is brought in expressing himself thus "We should think it a Contempt of Justice, and a just Casse L 1 of In fitions ex-ionum tu-Thomas Anglus had pub-lish'd in nus buccinæ,cum appendice adverfus mentem divinitus in-Spiratam Innocentio X (a) See the Picfice 10 the Book in italed. Stater app nfa ord lalutis affequendæ tem, pi in-111 12 (b See the Jame Prefa (c) Pag 29 Of the Letter of an Abbot to the Court of Rome Thoris in

(2) De-COngr (3) Labbæo dictus Theologaster (d) Prætat Stare-Læ abbeu* Plin

lib 33 cap 1

had (F) thought him worthy of their Anger. I have heard fay, that it beginning of the War between Charles I and the Parliament, he wrote an English Book in defence of Passive Obedience according to the Doctring of the Church of England.

ANICIUS, a Roman Family. It was more Illustrious under the Christian Emperors than in the time of the Republick, though it produced fome Consuls before Julius Casar was born We read in Pliny * of one Q. ANICIUS Prodesimus, who was made Edilis Curulu in the V Century of Rome LANICIUS Gallus was Presented in the Victoria of Rome LANICIUS Gallus Was Presented In the Victoria of Rome LANICIUS Gallus Control of Rome Control of was made Editis Curulu in the V Century of Rome L ANICIUS Gallus of the Year 593, was call'd L ANICIUS Gallus I only find under the first Emperors one ANICIUS Cerealu, who was nominated to the Consulting in the Year 2 of the Consulting in the Year 3 of t I acit Rome 818 He was engaged in a Plot against Nero, and kill'd himself in the Year of Rome Rome 818 He was engaged in a Plot against Nero, and kill a number in the sear of Rome 819 His Death was I the less lamented, because People remembred that he had discovered to Caligula a Conspiracy carried on against his Life Many Persons of that I amily were raised to the Consulship after Dioclesian's Reign, and inever been Consuls at the same time before the Year of CHRIST 395, when Probinus and Chybrus discharged that Office They were the Sons of Probus, of whom I shall speak in his proper place, and descended from ANICIUS the first (B) Great Man of the property of Christian The great Riches of that Family exposed him to many Rome who turn'd Christian The great Riches of that Family exposed him to many Slanders, is I shill shew, speaking of Probus The Benedictin Monks pretend that the Founder of their Order was of the Family of the Ansers, and have published some Books wherein they endeavour to prove, that the August House of Austrea derives also its Pediniee from it I his I able was confuted by Streinius, in a Book entituled Anti-Anicianus, which has never been printed The Manuscript Copy is in the Emperor's La-I ambe- brarys What I shall say concerning the Subject of that Work, is (C) somewhat cu-110us cius commentar V undobor.t 1 (Rucheиспіз

Baron lib

log pag

INL

71 3 11 2 2 5

Apo-

ANNA (It anc.s) Confessor to Lewis XIV was a Native of Rovergue & born the 5th of February, 1590 admitted Jesuit in February 1607. and professed the Fourth Yow in the Year 1624 He taught Philosophy at Toulouse for the space of Six Years, and Divinity for the space of Seven, and having gloriously discharged the

" of being laugh dat, and exposed to the Indigna" tion of the Publick, should we when we give " Judgment in a Cause set down on one side all the Heads of it, and ill the Clums of the Parties, and on the other, all the different Decisions con-'and on the other, all the different Decisions con'futedly and in a heap with a respective, whereby
'futedly and in a heap with a respective, whereby
'the Judgment being unintelligible would occision
"a thousand endless Suits" See the Restections made on the same Decree of Alexander VIII by the Author of the Difficulties d) proposed to M Steyart To return to Thomas Anglus He raised sever raises doubts about each Consure of the Divines of Douay, pretending that if they were not cleared, it would be a shameful thing for them, and a glorious Frille Dione to him When a factious Spirit has a greater Frifile Di- one to him When a factious Spuit has a greater accasery of share in the Censure of a Book than Reason, the I have in the Centure of a Book than Reason, the I have centured Person seldom fails to confound his Centure Root fors. One needs only remember the Letter written by M. Sensuld in 1693 to the University of Dougy. I have something more to ity about the Centures come in the past upon Thomas Anglus's Books. His States a morum de means and the Rubon of Anglus a complained of the Rubon of Anglus a complained of the anima tin and the Bishop of Anime p complained of it rum statu to the Internuncio it Brussells. A pragmatical Man ratio, prime went into Frigland to extort some Subscriptions against the Doctrine of that Author (f), and it appears (g) that the Bishop of Chalcedon disapproved (†) lasher the Treatise de medie animorum statu, and that a Report was spread, that he had publickly censured it See the Margin (†) log pag (F) That hey han thought h m worthy of their An-144 ob- gir | Which appears from the Preface (h) I have firves that to often quoted The Author of the Preface and the Soniof the Book printed with it, is not perhaps a diffetus buccirent Person from Thomas Anglus Perhaps he himne man self with ayunst his Staters morum, as well to clear colurn, some Difficulties as to make the Publick take notice of a Book that was like to be confounded with the Multitude of new Books. However it be, the Aurl of of that Pietice feems to be well acquainted with darle. Opinions, and well affected towards him. Here follows what he trys concerning the power of the letter of the let but on y of the term of the action of the pure action of the pure ground of the pure action of the pure acti giving he find the analysis of the expension of the passes of the second of the second

tis ut quicquam fama sua charius habeant, unde eniden ter conflare folam ers defusse potentiam, possessive ter conflare folam ers desusse potentiam, possessive ad tam insignem ignominiam propellendam adoc tards entireterint. This Man, you see, who could not have the Glory of being attack'd by the Jesuits, takes Advantage of their Silence, and imputes it to their Weakness, and not to their Insensibility.

(A) That in a Month's time he conquered it. This was the first time that the end of a War was sooner hard at Rame, that the beginning of it, and were was the first time that the end of a War was sooner heard at Rome than the beginning of it, and yet Anicus was obliged at the Scodra, a very strong place. His Vistory was to compleat, that the Ising of that Countrey fell into his hands, together with his Mother, his Wife, his Children, his Brother, and all the chief Persons of his Dominions, and he made a very great Booty. Livy relates the thing thus (1) Anicius billo silyrico intra triginea dies perfecto nuncium vistoria Perpennam Romam mst. Or post dies paucos Gintium victoria com pagente, consume ac liberio cos Gentium vigem ipjum cum parente, conjuge ac liberis ac france alisque principibus llyricorum. Hec (k) unum bellum prius perpetratum, quam captum. Rome auditum est. Thole Prisoners of Quality were only part of the Ornaments of the Triumph. The Wealth and Spoils brought from Illyricum, and the Liberalities bestowed upon the Soldiers made it very considerable. The General was more applauded by his Army, than Paulus & milius, who had Triumphed nor long before, was by his Letter bune triumphed nor future miles multisque dux ipse comminion celebrates. Lloy d observes that the Consul of the Year $3 15 the Son of him who conquered Gentius, but he quotes no Authority for it

no Authority tor it (B) The first ____ who turned Christian] The Words of Prudentius are the only Proof I can allege the first in he tur (a) enim ante al os generosu. Anicius urbis In luft off caput Baronius conjuctures that this Poet meant Anieus Ju lianus, who was Conful in the Year 322 Lloyd belianus, who was Conful in the Year 322 Lloyd being much more politive affirms without quoting any Author for it, that Ancies Jul anus was the first Roman Senitor, who embraced the Gospel, and that this was the Reason why most Emperors took from that time the Stroame of Flav us, and most Senitors that of Ancies I should be glad to see some Praction it. If Baronius S Conjecture was well ground America Julianus might be compared with that the Loid, who got himself baptized first of all its tation of Glave and took this Motto, God preserve the tation of claus, and took this Motto, God preferve the first Christian 'I's faid that the Lords de Monmoren-

M Bail-

(1) Livius lib 44 P m 861 (k) Hou ante fini tum eft quam gerr nuncialetur Florus 1 2 c 1, (1) Livius
11b 45 p 89

Duties of thosePlaces, he was call'd to Rome to exercise the Function of Censor General of the Bookspublish'd by the Society, and that of Theologist to the General of the Order Being return'd into his own Country he was made Rector of the College of Montpellier, and afterwards of that of Toulouse He affisted, as Deputy of his Province at the 8th General Aifembly of the Jesuits held at Rome in 1645, and gave so many Proofs of his Merit, that I3-ther Vincent Carafa, General of the Jesuits, found no body better qualified to fill the Place of Assistant of France, which became vacant Sixteen Months is the Ninth General Assembly gave him again the same Limploymen under Frances Picolomini, General of the Society, after whose Death he was made Provincial of the Province of France Whilst he was invested with that Dignity, he was chosen Confessor to Lewis XIV and after he had been Sixteen Years in that Post, he was obliged to ask his Dismission, his great Age having very much empair'd his hearing The King being well pleased with him had much a do to grant his Request I ither Annat lived only Four Months after his leaving the Court, and died in the Professed House of Bibliof Paris the 14 of June 1670 Father & Sotuel, who supplies me with all these Particulars, represents him as a Man endowed with great Virtues He wis a dilinterested, tot So modest humble Man, he exactly practised the Observances and Discipline of his Order, he never made use of his Interest for his own Advantage, or in Order to rule his Family, and express'd a great Zeal for Religion He was the Hul y of Hereticks, says Societ, and gave no Quarter to the fans nifts, he left nothing unat-tempted to get their Heresies condemned by the Pope, and repress d by the Authority of the most Christian King, besides, he wrote with so much force is unst it, that his Adversaries have not been able to make any folid Reply Some will give no Credit to what Father Sotuel fays upon this last Head, but they will casely believe what concerns the Disinterestedness of Father Annat, for they who have a mind to be informed may easily know that this Father Confessor did not rule his Family Is a reported, that thek had been heard to fay, that he did not know whether I atner Annat had any Relations He had some, who did not forget themselves, and who visited him it the I on ore, but they got no Benefices by it Sometimes the great and little Nepotifm are both in vogue, and sometimes the little Nepotism prevails, whilst the great one is suppress. In I other Annat's sime the great a Nepotism was at the Heighth, but the little one, as to that of the Father Confessors, was in Paris at the lowest Ebb I make use of a Restriction, because there are many other dignifiedClergymen, who bestow upon theirRelations as many Preferments as ever they can rake, and doubtless many followed the usual Course, whilft Father Annat gave no Encouragement to his greedy Relations who came from Rouergue. 'Tis said in the Amours du Palais Royal (A), that he had a mind to lay down his Place, when M de la Valiere was taken into Favour Were this true, 'twould be the finest Passage of his Life, and the noblest Subject for an Encomium, that the Life of a King's Confessor can afford The Author of that Satyr, who, according to the Nature of that fort of Books, made it his Butiness to give a malicious Turn to every Thing, was very fenfible of it, and therefore he took care that the Reader should find

i DIE 2 1 1cmitim hatefis oppujo m + ILAaco ahou and s perhibes tur fua Myestas neferre fe in P An+ quos fanguine fibl tos 1/10 of Rome

(b) Tome 2 of the Anti n

(1) Tom Comm forist will never be printed, for Two Reasons One mention'd by Lambeers, vir that 'tis an imperfect Work, the Second, more important than the I irst, and of which he took care to say nothing, is that the Anti-Anicianus does not favour the Prejudices of the Vulgar in the Hereditary Countries, nor the Notions of those, who to make their Court to their Emperor have de rived the Pedigree of the House of Austria from the Anicia of ancient Rome.

The Author undertook nicii of ancient Rome____ The Author undertook that Work in Opposition to the Benedictin Monks, who feem to be infatuated with their being related to the House of Austria, and particularly to confute the Book of a Flemish Benedictin, call'd Arnold Wion, who out of a foolish Conceit set forth the Two Branches of the Roman Family Anicia, One for the Princes of the House of Austria, and the Other for his Partiarch St Benedict Mr Baillet adds, that Stiennius said nothing of the Anicu in his Book concerning the Roman Families, because it was not one of the Families of the old lies, because it was not one of the Families of the old Stock. He informs us, that Lambeesus design d to answer Streinius's Anti-Anicianus in his Prologomena to the Annals of Austria, which he promised—And that it seems he had ci osen for the Ground and Model of his Answer, the Book which a (1) Benedictin Abbot, but of the Order of Citeaux, whose Name was John Seyfrid, publish'd Twelve Years after Streinius s. Death with this Title, Arbor Aniciana, but the Sey-frid had intended to write against the Anti Anicianus, it may be said, that Strennius would have been sufficient-ly revenged by Scioppius, who puglish'd in 1651 a small Differtation to ridicule thu Seyfrid, and those of the same Stamp, at the very same time that another Monk call d Bucelin, to increase the Number of the ridiculous pout out his Aquila Imperii Benedicta Scioppius, (Mr Baillet goes on) did not appear then a Slandering and Sasyrical Writer; but like a faithful and realous Servant of the House of Austria, a Councellor to the Emperor and the King of Spain, engaged in the Interest of the Princes of the r Name upon several A oun einfinitely more learned than those idle doating Min and who had made himself dicaded in Point of Iusse General Anicii, to not to be expett d tha a I rench Domn - can will ever publish an Aquila Imperii Tho niftic This will be done perhaps by a Germin or Spinish Do-minican, a zealow Friend to the Hulf of Austria I defire my Readers to take notice, that I only aft the a Franscriber in what has been faid upon this whole Matter

Mr Beiller (b) is of Opinion, that Screenius's Minu-

(A) In the (*) Amours du Palais Royal] Here the Passage "Poor Lather Annit went also to is the Passage him by the Suggestion of the Queens, and pictended to have a mind to leave the Court by res-fon of his Love The King fell a laughing and immediately granted him his Difmillion. The Father finding himself taken at his word would "fain mince the matter, but the King laughing on,
"told him he'd for the future have no other Con"fessor but the Curate of his Purish One can "hardly express how vex d the whole Society "was at his Indicitation." Hereupon I may be ask'd three Questions. I Whether it be true that Father Annat desired to lay down his Place. 2 Whether a more fresh, and out of Complex. Whether it was a meer Feint, and out of Complainance to the Queens 3 Whether he affuilly left the Court, or whetler the Jesuits made up the Business All I can say in Answer to the ist Queftion, is, that I know nothing of it, and that the L 1 a Autho

() Ties but came u at out 1669 a Sec the Remark C.

at the end 6 Nouvelles de la Repub tres for April

1 5 16

chap 2 v

21 (hap 2

v 36

unquam

1700 P

nothing in it, that deserv'd Commendation. A Satyr (B) of a much ter Date has been handed about, which, besides Father Annai's desiring his dismiss, whether true or no, contains fo many notorious Falsities, that one can hardly apprehend how any Man can tell such Lies with so little Caution Father Annat wrote many (C) Books both in French and Latin The Latin are much more esteemed than the French, because he could more easily handle a Point of Divinity according to the Dogmatical Method of the Schools, than turn it according to the Genius of the Age he lived in Nevertheless his French Works are very much commended a in an Answer to the Lettres Provinciales What I have faid in General of the Nephews of that Father Confessor, ought not to prejudice any Body against 'em, for one of 'em, who is General of the Fathers of the Chiistian Doctrine, is accounted a very Learned Man, and has publish'd a Latin Book You'll find an Abstract of it in the Journal of Divinity B, which is very much esteem'd des Scavans of the 13th of September 1700

A N N E, the Name of some Persons mention'd in the Scripture The Mother of 477

y I Samuel, chap the Prophet Samuel, was call'd ANNE or HANNAH She was a very pious Woman, and well beloved by her Husband Elkanah Her Barrenness afflicted her the more senfibly, because it exposed her to the Railleries and Insults of the other Wife of Elkanab She put up so many Prayers to God to get a Son, that they were heard at last 2, for God gave her Samuel, and afterwards A three Sons and two Daughters The Book of Tobias, an Apocryphal Book among the Protestants, mentions ANNE, Wise of Tobias, and Mother of Tobias In St. Luke's Gospel • we read of ANNE the Prophetels, Daughter of Phanuel She was a very devout Woman, about 84 Years old, and she had lived but Seven Years with her Husband Baronius, who says she was a

Authority of a Satyrical Writer cannot be depended Authority of a Satyrical Writer cannot be depended on I believe him no farther than he proves what he advances Those, who write a History, are dispensed from taking an Oath, (a) and producing their Witnesses, their Word is sufficient to give Credit to what they say, but if we believe a Writer of Libels upon his Oath, confirmed by Witnesses, its a Tavour and a meer Courtesy I am fill more ignorant as to the 2d Question I don't pretend to serich the Heart of Man Asto the 3d, I only know what s notorious, viz that I ather Annat had been the Piench King's Confessor without Interruption till the Year 1670 in the Spring (a) Quis

the French King's Contenor without interruption till the Year 1670 in the Spring

(B) A saryr (b) of a much later Date] The Author of that Satyi supposes (c), that Father La Chaire was very instrumental in moving the Pope to grant what the King desired of him, and that Cardinal Mazarin as in Acknowledgment for that Service, was very kind to him, re ommended him to the King, and evin pot him admitted into the Council of Confe ence, nhich was properly to make him the Confessor's Coadjutor. The Year 1663 is let down in the Margin for the first kindnesses of the Cardinal, and the Year 1665, for the Admission into the Council of Conscience What an Ignorance of Modern History is this! Who does not know that Caidinal Mazarin died in 1661? The Author adds (d', that I ather la Chaixe supplanted I ather Annae, by excusing the Kings Love for M de la Valiere, by reason of the Instrumity of Human Nature, whish the Confessor vexed the King every day on that Account He surface add, the M. de Valiere adds, that M de la Valiere being informed of Father la Charge Maxims, defired to have him for her Conthat Jefurt having afterwards discoursed with that Jesure, but having afterwards discoursed with that Jesure, but having afterwards discoursed with that Jesure the rather choice to procure him Father Annat s Place, and having spoke to the King about it, that Assar was concluded in a few day, because Fesher and Jesure form of the second cause Father Annat declared soon after (f) the dieadful Judgments of God, and asking leave to re-tire, was taken at his Word The Year 1667 is fet down in the Margin This is an unaccountable Piece of Boldness, for tis a notorious Thing, that Father Annat did not take his Leave of the Court till Father Annae did not take his Leave of the Court till the Year 1670, and that a Jefuit of Rouergue, call'd Father Ferrier, succeeded him in his Place of (onfessor to the King, and that Father la Chaire had not that Office till after the Death of Lather Ferrier, who died the (g) 29th of Office 1674. What do such Writers think of, when they publish such gross I allities? Don't they perceive that they act contrary to their main Design? For, do they not prejudice the Readers against their Books, when they appear so ignorant of Things, that are known to every body, or so shameless, as too boldly to publish evident dy, or so shameless, as too boldly to publish evident fassities? Do they approve the Maxims of those, who preach a pious Fraud to a numerous Congregation, arguing in this manner? For one Hearer who will know that I am missaken, a Thousand will know nothing of it, a Thousand will be edified by my Fraud. One only will be offended at it, and therefore there will be no great harm in it, in comparison of the Advantage that will accrue from it, it is therefore a Piece of Charity and Prudence to maintain such a Fassity before that great Assembly I don't know whether our Libellers argue in bly I don't know whether our Libellers argue in the same manner, but I know they would better succeed in their Design, if they took more care to observe Chronology, and the Rules of Fistion Est are etiam maledizendi, says scaliger (b), there is an Art of Slandering, those who are ignorant of it, do not so much defame their Enemies as show how desirous they are to defame them To constitute, I make this Remark rather for the Advantage of the Publick than for the Interest of any private Person Publick than for the Interest of any private Person It is fit that in our Age we should be able to judge of the Satyrs, that have been published within their Thousand Years, and that Posterity may judge of those that come out in our days. In order to judge rightly of 'em, no Regard ought to be had to this Principle, tis not likely that any one should have been so bold as to publish such a thing, if it had been rissly falle.

This will be doubtels the main Use of this Remark, for the best grounded Reflections or Centures will never put an End to Satyrical Writings Notwithstanding the Indignation of honest Men against the Fabulous and Satyrical History of Father la Chaixe, another Piece worse than thit came out Five Years atter 'Tis full of Gross Fassities and Chimerical Adventures, related with the utmost Impudence, and in a Style stuff'd with Obscenities Here is the Title of it, History of the Amorous Intrigues of Father Peters, &c. The History of the Amorous Intrigues of Father Peters a jesuit, Confessor to James Illate King of England, containing his most private Adventures, and his true Character, and likewise the Councell he gave to that Prince concerning his Government Colorne for Peter Marteau Junior, 1608. As ment Cologne for Peter Marteau Junior, 1698 As long as People will buy this fort of Books, fonce Bookiellers will be at the Charges of the Competition on and Impression of 'em, and consequently forme base and mercenary Writers will never be wanting for such a Work 'Tis therefore an incurable

(C) Father Annat wrote many Bool .] His a Treatifes, published at feveral Times, were collected nato three Volumes in 4to and printed at Paris for Cramosfy in 1666 The first contains a Work Entituled de seientia media contra novos ej u impugnatores, una cum exercitatione scholastica sub nomine Eugenii Philadelphi, or appendice ad Guilhelmum Camerarium The Second contains a Piece Entituled, Augustinus a Bajanis, hoc est Jansenianis, vindicatus The following Treatises are in the Third Camelica disputation de Ecelesia prasentis temporis De incoasta libertate contra novum Augustinum Iprensis Lpiscopi, Vincentium Lennem, Apologistam Jansenis de quinque proposisionum Informatio de quinque proposisionum Informatio de quinque proposisionum Informatio de quinque proposisionum Pontificia da censuram obtulerus Jansensia de confuram obtulerus Jansensia de confuram obtulerus Jansensia de confuram obtulerus de confuram de c gratia per se ipsam efficacis desensoribus condemna-tus Cavilli Janseniamerum contra latam in apsos à Sede Apostolica Sententiam, leu confutatio libelli (a) Columnaligerana 4. pag m

tores excgit " Seneca de morte (laudii (b) + ms :suled, H1stoire du Pere la Charge Tefuite & Contcffeur du Roi Louis λIV Cologne for Plure Marteau 169, in 120 The 2 part was printed two years after (c) Pag 106 (d) Pag 107 (e) Pag 108 (f) Pag SOME thoughts about Satyr (g) Ex Nathan Sotuello Biblioth Societ p

449

A N E. A N N I U S A N S E L M.

Nnn (A) an out up in a Cloyster, is mistaken There is also a Man mention'd in the Gospel, call'd ANNAS, who was High Priest among the Fews in our Saviour's time Caarphus his Son in-Law had the same Dignity, when CHRIST was put to Death As for SAINT ANNE, Mother of the Holy Virgin, and the most celebrated Woman of Eccles that Name among the Roman Catholicks, she is no where spoken of in the Scriptures, p 627 nor in the Writings of the 3 first Centuries St Epiphanius is the first who mentions her, and yet a very long Legend has been published about St Anne in the foltom in the standard of St. Tooking him High and I wonder to the Arricle of St. Tooking him High and I wonder to lowing Ages, as may be seen in the Article of St Joachim her Husband I wonder 1ra/mus found only (B) three Women call'd Anne in Ancient Books

ANNIUS of Viterbo, a Famous Impostor See NANNIUS

ANSELM, Archbishop of Canterbury, one of the most I imons Prelites of his Century, a died the 21st of April, 1109, in the 76 Year of his Age He wished he might sight H have lived a little longer to finish (A) a Treatise of the Origin of the Soul. His Work was Article is very long in Moreri's Dictionary, thither I refer the Reider The Monks Printed of Lerms B, who have placed this great Prelate in the Chronology of their Saints and I mous Monks, are confuted by the Author y of a Book, Entituled, Les Moines t wife We shall see below that he made use (B) of an Argument for the I vistence of a God which Mr Descartes has very much improv d a Cave, Histor P 627 6 Moines travestis P 4° 2 H. car b nf lf Montiet. Peter Jo-1698 120

" (a)There is in Eather Soruel Calumniarum (b) 1he Cl rgy of Paris made an Apology for that Tour nal in sheir 8 6 9 wri-Dings

(c) En-

de Clean-

die & d'

Eudoxe

pag 79, 85 Dutch

(d) Baron

in Annal

Ecclef t x ad ann

n 41 (1) Ca-tech 10

(1) Qu'n desire : a' 70 es is-çu vnseiaus

Adleevesa

vskla k

That te,

She dipar-

from the

Zemple, Serving

God IN Fa-fing and

Night and Prayer ,

MUSPEL

Edit

(a) Columnarum Thus there are Five Treatifes in the Three Volumes, to which are prefixed some Advertisements to the Peaders, and some Notes on the journal de Saintamour Here follow the Titles of iome of his French Books An Answer to a Book Entituled, la Theologie morale des Jesuites An Answer to some Queries about Mr Arnaula's first Letter The Fairness of the Jansenstr in quoting their Authors A Collection of several Falities and Impoflures contain d in (b) the Journal of what pass'd in France on Account of the Morality and Apology of the Casuists Some Remedies for the Scruples of the Casuists Some Remedies for the Scruples which hinder the Subscribing to the Formulary Remarks on the Conduct of the Tansenists in Printing and Publishing the New Testiment printed at Jansenius s Doctrine contrary to the Holy A ick See, and to St Augustin I omit the Ti-Mons Jansenius s Doctrine contain, I omit the Time Rolick See, and to St Augustin. I omit the Time Stome other Books, which may be seen in Filter Seesel. But, to any so by the by, he and Alegande his Predecessor, have forgot a thing which should not have been omitted. They should have should not have been omitted. They should have fet down the Titles of the Books in the Language the Author made ute of, and then they should have translated them into Latin. Is an usual thing not to find a Book at a Bookfeller's, if one does not name the Title, but only the Sense of it, tho it be in his Shop or Warehouse. To conclude, tho' f other Annatwas a very old Man atthe time of the Dispute with the fansonists about the Subscription of the Formulary, and the Version ot Mons, he published several small Books in 400. He was not contented to use his Interest with the Prince in order to serve the Last drop of his last. the last drop of his Ink

I must not forget the Praises bestowed upon him in an Answer to the Lettres Provinciales of Mi Pajcal, which was Reprinted in Holland in the Year 1696 "(c) As for the Jefurts, who ventured to write against Pascal, what do you think of Father Annat, who is the Author of the Book entituled, La bonne "foy des Jansenistes, and to whom the Seventeenth and Lighteenth Provincial Letters are interibed? Father Annat, answered Cleander, was in my Opinion a Man of very good Parts The Jesuits publish'd nothing that was better than what he writ about the Matters controverted at that time That good Man (for I knew him to be fuch, and endowed with great Modesty) was qualified to be a Writer, even in French, it he had a little more cultivated the Study of our Language. He has formetimes some Strokes as nice, as quick and as "Steafant, as any that ever I saw in other Authors
"I am of your Opinion, replied Ludoxis And "not to mention his Virtue, for which I "have heard him commended even by some of the contaary Party, I have likewise observed in him an accurate Judgment, and fometimes such nice " Expressions and Railleries as seem'd very extraordinary in a Scholastick Divine

(A) ANun and shut up in a Cloyster, is mistaken] These are his Words (d) Quimodo autem Anna nunquam e templo discessife dicatur, ut merito eamdem S Cyrillus (1) Hogrofolymitanus religiossssimam monialem appellit, semple II He thinks Cyril very much in the right to call Anne a most Religious Nan But tis plain, St. to call Anne a most Religious Nan But its plain, St Luke's Words ought not to be strained beyond the Sense that is commonly put upon inch Words, when to signify that a Man goes often to a House, we say, That he does not ft r from it that I Night and Day Inis is find particularly of devous Women, who go to Chuich ieveral times in a distinct commonly find that riey don fire from Chuich that they are continually p a) ng at Church As to what concerns St Cyr l, 'tis not true, that he calls the Prophete's Anne a Nun I he last n Translator of that Father should have considered, that the Words ασκητης, ασκητρια, were used not only to denote Monks and Nuns, but also all those who exactly practifed Religious Liercifes I his is what the (f) learned Cafaubon did clearly shew against Bironi is

(B) Found only three Women call d Anne | The siest

is D do's Sifter, she was call d Perenna, and he says she was placed among the Gods, because she had a very extraordinary Affection for her Sister. The Adventures of this Anne are so fully related in other Dictionaries that I don't think it necessary to mention them The Second is Elkanah's Wife By mention them The Second is Elkanah s wife any a particular Favous of God, tays he (g), the brought forth in her Old Age Samuel, who was a very prous Prieft, and a most incorruptible Judge, which is a first subject of Commendation. The Philid is the Mother of the Holy Virgin He fays, that she was very much celebrated by Rhodolphus Ago co'a, and I ap ifta Mantuanus It appears that he is guilty I ap ista Mantuanus I tappeais that he is guilty of some Omissions, and has committed fome Faults How came he to forget Pinuel's Daughter, and Tobias's Mother was in Old Woman? I he facred Writer says no such thing, but rather gives us to understand, that she was still young enough Had the not five Children after she had weaned Samuel? We not see that he had seen add by read also in the Holy Scripture, that being told by the High Priest Lli, that she was drunk, she answered him, that she had drank neither Wine nor Beer so the follow the Jewish Author, rather than the necessity of the following this Answer extraordinary enough, suggests to her another, to wit, that she never drank any thing but Water Mr Morers has chose to follow the Jewish Author, rather than the Scripture By the way, the Lady to whom Erasmus wrote the Letter which mentions their three Anne s, might very well deserve an Article He calls her Annan Bersalam Principem Verianam If I can discover her Berfalam Principem Verianam I amily and Adventures, I oblige my felt to speak

I have discover'd somethingconcerning this Matter, since the first Ldition of this Work See the Art Berjala

(A) To have finish de Treatise concerning the Origin of the Soul | This Wish of his makes a Doctor of Louvain say, That the Doctrine of the Propagation of Souls jublisted to the I nd of the Lleventh Centu Theie are his Words (a) Imousque ad tempor to Ansilmi, hoe est Annum Christe M C in Occident an rasse vo detur bec ac animaium traductione dubitatio Nam cum paulo post moriturus S Pater dicumberet, dixisse scribit familiaris & convistor equi (1) Linerus, Si Deus mallet me adhuc inter vos faltem ram diu manere, donec quæstionem, quam de a uma origine, mente revolvo, absolvere postem, gratiosus acciperent eo quòd nescio, utium aliquis cam, me desuncto, sit absoluturus. I have ellewhere cited (b) Thomas Bartholin, who has made a Reflection on this I hought of Anfelm

(b) An Argument for the Existence of a God, which Mr Delentes his very much improved] The Canlogue Mr Baillet has given of the Authors , whom it's pretended Mr Descartes had pirated, contains these Words "(i) St Affelm is also placed in "the Number of the Ancients, (2) to whom Mr " Descartes

(1) Ca-1aubon exercit 2 n 1, (g) (ujus idliudem ibunde latis eft auod & inus, & autpice Deo. Sami c'em perpere nt non utig, fibi quidem Sicerdotem religiofifimum, populo veio judi cem incorruptiifimum Erasin E p ft ,8 / 9 p 50 7 tus Fromondus Philosop Christ ac anima 14 c, p 812 (1)1 diner in Vita 5 Aniel apud Surium die 21 April (b) In one of the Remarks of the Article Averrous (c) Bailof Descai-ECS 1097 2 p 536, 537 (2) Tom 2 des let-

tr p 276 ,

a Mercure Galant of the Month of January, 1694 See also the Tournal des Scavans of the 8th of February, 1694 pag 7n 157 C The Epifle Dedicatory of his Terence is dated from I yons id ib Augu-Hanfiribes it to three Brothers whom he taught this I an guage to Peter Coftus, wbich has been printed ner s Ł-

DILOMY

(3) Wilh Leibn Leith Mi

Tom 3

oper Anielm edit Colonien Note that

Cenf Phi-

lof (artei p m 204 observes.

that Tho

Aguinas

futed this

Argument

ılla argumentatio

mı, & ın Proflogio

& inApologetico contra

Gaunilo-

nem ean-demque

& expofuit Thomas Aquinas & ic-

(n) Pere

the 7th of

M191695

See hu Elogy in the

Lubin died at Pais

fellit

_tota

ANSELM, a Bare-footed Augustin, Born at Paru, will be too often quoted in this Dictionary, and has supply'd Mr Morers with too many Materials, not to deserve a Place here He died at Paru the 17th of January, 1694, in his 69th Year He had lived Fifty Years of that Time free from all the Monastical Offices, entirely applying himself to the Duties of a Religious Lise, and the Writing of Books He was ready to give a Second Edition (C) of his Genealogical History of the House of France, and the great Officers of the Crown, with Corrections and Additions, which had employ d him a long time He had also undertaken a Work which treats of the Royal, and other most Illustrious Families of Europe, and had lived long enough to set a similar ing Hand to it a I cannot tell what will become of his Manuscripts, but wish they were publish'd.

ANTESIGNANUS, Peter, Born, if I mistake not, at (A) Rabasteins, a small Town of Languedoc, in the Diocese of Albi, was one of the best Grammarians of the XV Ith Century He was so much taken up with his Employment, that he chose to be useful to Youth (B) by applying himself to the Explanation of those Things which puzzle the first Beginnings of Study, rather than seek after Honour by the Explication of greater Dissipations He acquir'd Reputation enough to draw Envy upon himself (C) What he publish'd on Terence (D) might convince us, that he was the most Pains-taking Man in the World I believe he taught a considerable time B at Iy ns. His Greek Grammer has been reprinted several times. He understood Hebrew well enough y to deserve a Place in the Gallia Orientalis of Colomies, And vet he's forgotiten.

ANTHERMUS, A Sculptor, and Native of the Isle of Chios, was the Son of Mic
He wrote ciades, and Grandson of Malas, who had both been Sculptors He lest Two Sons who

"Descartes might have been beholden for his Argument, to prove the Existence of a God, drawn from hence, That a most Perfect Being, or at least the most Perfect that we are able to conceive, includes Existence. The Argument is found in a Book, which this Saint (3) had written against the Fool, in Answer to an unknown Author, who had wrote in Desence of the Fool against a Point of Reasoning which S. Anselm had advanced in his Book, Entituled, Prosologion." See the () Margin

(G) A Second Faition of his Genealog cal History] He published it together with that of the great Officers of the Crown, in the Year 1674, in I wo Volumes in 450 A huge Book of his had already been feen, Littuled, the Palace of Honour, or the Historical Genealogies of the Illustrious House of France, and of divers noble I imilies of Europe This Work was printed at Paris in the Year 1668 A great Number of Things are found abbreviated in it concerning Heraldry, the Coronation of Kings, Solemn Intries, Baptisms of the Children of France, Royal I unerals, Military Orders, &c. There was not so much in that great Volume, as in the two that follow dit, they all need a new Edition, Revised, Corrected and Augmented But it is certain that they have been of great Use, and one can hardly conceive the Puns this good Monk must needs have taken to collect so many Names, so many Marriages, so many Births, and so many Dates "Tis all in vain, where Nature strongly inclines to any one Thing, the Monk's Habit wont cure the Man of it I ather Anschm was born with a Talent for tracing Genealogies. The little Relation such Matters have to that kind of Life which he had vowed, did not destroy the Bent of his Inclination. One (n) of his Bretsten, tho' not of the B respoted Kind, run Night and Day the Geographical Maze. This was his Natural Inclination, the Habit of an Augustin did not change it

(4) hern, if I mistakener, at Rabasteins] What

(4) hern, if I mistake net, at Rabasteins] What induces me to believe so, is his Writing himself Rapistagnensis in the Front of his Works. I know no Town that can find such an Appellation better than that of Rabasteins, for it is call'd in Latin (6) Rapistanum, or Rapistagnum. I take it for granted, that the Printers have committed a Fault in the Place where Papyrium Masson has spoken of that Town Place where Papyrium Masson incolis, instead of Rapistagni incolis. The three Radishes (9) which are the Arms of Rabasteins, perswade me that Papyrium Masson, or the Printers have put the Letter u for that of a

(R) He chose to be useful to Youth rather than seek after Honour | To thew that he himself informs us of this Let us cite his own Words at length They are Indications of a good Heart And may perhaps be a

des Scavans, March 8 (o) Catel affirms it in the 356th Page of his Memoirs of the History of Languedoc Mr Baudrand has spoken of this Town under Rapistanum (p) At the 400 p of description number Gallia, Edit of Paris 1685 (q) Catel, 1b

useful Lesson to those soaring Minds, who think only of gaining the Applause of Men of their own I orm but never promote the Benefit of those who have most need of being instructed. He had find just before, that several learned Commentators had em ploy'd themselves on Terence, and then he adds, (r) Verum pueri novitij, ad quos maxime hujius labor s fir-Elus pertinibat, vix ullum ex accuratis c meditatis iftorum commentationibus emolumentum percipere potuerunt Videntur enim viri illigraves in ubu sin eam caram & cogitationem, qua sibi surmam dignitatim & goriam effet allatura I laque ar dua tantum to of ur iora inter-pretando explanasse contenti minutiora cu ra quo um dostrina O trafatio pracedere, vel cert conjungi debuerat, leviter astigerunt : Ut Adolescentuli qui l's stilis initiantia, se ad cognitionem hair re, quam ex comma ni quadam hominum opinione reconditifinism a si trintur, desperent posse per enice. Using ur eos al hususmod desperatione ad spem revocarem as mn is istama demittere non recusavi. Neque enim hea stil a rantum enodavimus, sed ne unam q i d m ot u 1erentii syllabam reliquimus intastam, quam ad unguim non excustrimus, idque absque ulla verborum poinpa aut magnisticentia, sed nud eliterarum notis, & mithdo quam petuimus brevissima & facil ma DoEtrine opinionem affestens alii Ego pro mea virili parte me pue iorum & formandis & promovendis studies amnem micam operam addixisse aperte & ingenue factor Coinpute this with the Passage of Quintilian, which I circulant the Specimen of this Distinguish, and add these coulons Woods of the sum. They relate to the excellent Words of Frasmus They relate to the Pains he had taken in enlarging a Dictionary (t) Scimus hoc laboris genus effe minime gloriofum, præfertim quum pauci reputant quoi autore sist excutiendi, ut vo-ces aliquot ab aliis prætcritas seligas. Vesum hoc plus debetur illus gratiæ qui publicæ utilitatis gratia debetur illus gratiæ qui publicæ utilitatis gratia non detractant ingloriam ac molestiæ plenam inau-

(C) To draw Envy upon himself This he infinuates by a Common-Place which is a loom omitted in Epistles Dedicatory He says that they to whom he dedicated his Terence (a), seem'd to him the fittest to screen him from the Attacks of those Enemies. There are few Compliments falser than this. The Criticks have no regard to the Dignity or Capacity of the Person to whom a Book is dedicated. The Sieur des Accordes ridicules within enough the (b) Hopes grounded on the supposed Protection of those to whom Books are dedicated. D' Aubigny found the Reslections of that Author so just, that after he had new cast 'em a little, (c) he thought 'em worthy of being adopted for his own

(D) What he publish d on Terence, might convince us? He caus'd the Comedies of that Poet to be printed. Three several Ways First, he published 'em with small Notes, and the Contents at the Head of every Scene, marking the Accents of all the words of above two Syllables, and setting down the Measure and way of Scanning each Verse by its side. In the Second Place, he published 'em with the Annotations of almost all the Authors that have written

(1) Petrus Anteligninus La
spift Dedicator
Ferentia

nem!.exicon, tis Letter the 28th Look p m (a) Digna maxime ato, idonei videbamını qui nostra a malevomorfu fortiter & 1ndustrie tutari pofietis Antefign ubz (i pro (b) See she Preface to teh Bugardes Arcords (c) See the Ep file so the Confesfrom of San

36 c 5 B Palladi-

were of the last Profession; the Name of the one was Bupalus, and that of the other (E) Athens. Twas against them that Hipponax wrote some very Satyrical Verses, to revenge the ridiculous Representation they had made of his Deformity a I speak of this more at large in the Article of that Poet See also the Article Bepalus

ANTINOE, or ANTINOPOLIS (A), a Town in Fgypt, itanding on the (B) Nole, and built or repaired by the Emperor Hadrian in Honour of Antinoms If we be-If we believe an c Author of the IVth Century, 'twas once the Metropolis of the Thebate The same Author adds γ , it was so populous, that in his Lime it had Twelve Monasteries of Women Ammianus Marcellinus A mentions it is one of the three mott celebrated Towns of all the Thebast What I eo of Africa his said, that it is called (C) Authors, is a Mistake. See the Remark (D) of the Article Intinues, you'll find something in it concerning this City

ANTINOUS, Minion of the Emperor Adrian, was a Native of a Bythine in Bythinia We meet with nothing concerning his Family His Beauty inflamed the least of siderin in fuch a manner, that a more unbridl'd or extravagant Passion than that of the Emperor for this young Man, has scarce been known, which never shew'd it self more than after the Death of Antinous, for there were no Divine Honours (A) which Airun thought to fublime for this Object of his Love Some say that zintirens had given him the highest Token of Affection, that is, (B) died for him Others as-

(laudifum

on Terence Lastly, he publish'd 'cm with new Marginal Notes, and with the French Translation, and Paraphrase on the Three first Comedies He put all that is in the Translation, and not in express Terms in the Original, between Crochets, he mark'd all the References from the Translation to the Paraphrase with Letters. The waria lettiones have each their Parentheses and Notes of Reference This is enough to shew, that our Author was extremely liborious Note, that in the two last Impressions of his Tenence, he inserted all that was con-Matthew Bonhomme , a Bookfeltain'd in the First ler of Lyons, was the first he employ'd in this triple Edition. The King's License is dated in 1556. The Edition the King's License is dated in 1556. The Edition intil d, Thematis verborum investigandi ratio, the his Praxis Praceptorum Lingua Graca are to be found in divers Greek Grammars

(E) And that of the other, Athenis | So Suides (d) calls him In the Editions of Pliny, he was call'd Anthermus But Father Hardouin has struck out this Word, and put Athenis in the Room of it See the Annotations on the Article of Hipponax The Dictionaries of Charles Stephens, Lloyd Morers, and Hofman call him Anthormus in fpite of Suidas

(1) Or Antinopolis Mr Bandrand fays twice in the same Page, that Stephanus by american calls it so I have neither found this in the Paition of Pinedo, nor in that of Berkelius I have only found in both of them, that the City A'rlivous, Antinoia, was also call'd Adrianopolis Mr Moreri has not taken notice that the litter Name, and Adrianople are two different Nimes, though he gives them as such

(B) A lown in Egypt on the Nile | Dion Callis five politively, that Adrian caused it to be built in the time Place where Antinous died (e) been flying, that according to Adrian's Relation, that unhappy Youth tell into the Nile Since Adrian then would have the World believe, that An into is had drawn'd hardely in the Paris. had drown'd himfelt in that River, we must conclude, that the Town he dedicated to the I avourite was built on the Banks of the Nile, and near the Place where he find that young Man was lost Paufamas (There expressly, that that Town stood on the Nile, (finance expielly, that that I own mode on the inn.,

New το New τολίς Αιγυπβων εκιι επωίνη & Ανπ-18 In Agypto apud Nelum urbs de Antinoi nomine est appellata Figure hence we may conclude, that the Runs which are feen Ten Leagues from the Nile, is the start lays, are not those of Antinopolis. And at the same time more boldly conclude against the Runs of the Town which Mi Baudrand has situated Forty Nine Leagues from the Nile

(() Trat it is cill d Anthios] This is another of Mr Baudrand's Mistakes I believe I should not judge amils, if I alcrib'd his Mistake to the Liberty People take of Parphrasing on the Authors they make use of Consider well these Words of Ortelitis, Anthios hodic dici ex Joann's Leonis Africa descrip-Baudrand, Nuncin ruinis jacet, Anthios dista teste Leone Africano, You'll find that it this latter Writer had boully confin'd himself to the Terms of the he had not made such a Slip Ortelius might be disputed the Point a little by straining Leo of Africa's Words to his own Purpose, but Mr Baudrand cannot save himself by sham Applications or Conjectures, he's oblig'd to shew, that Lee has

politively find, that the Ancient City of Arti 10. is call'd at this day Author Now this can never be made out, for I.o Africanis (g) in s no more than that Anthios was built by the Romans on the River Nile, on the fide of Afre, and this divers Litin Infeription in Maible are ver to be feen there He fpeaks of it is a very Lout ful City rendied confiderable by the Industry and good Humour of the Inhabitants, fo far is he from being able to quote him as an Authority, that it is now quite run'd Mr Baudi and adds, that it lies Forty Nine I eagues Eastward from the Nile It is not then the Anthos of Lee of Africa Mi Moreri deducts Thirty Nine of these Leagues, he tays its Ruins are to be seen Ten Leagues from the Nile We have provide in the preceeding Remark that Antinopolis stood upon that River

(A) DivineHonours which Adrian thought too sublime I don't infift on the great Number of Statues or Images (h) of him which he caus'd to be made I fay he order d almost all the World over, Temples to be built to him, he ordain'd Priests, instituted Sagrad (armes (a) and arms (a) and arms (b) and arms (b) and arms (c) arms (c) and arms (c) and arms (c) arms cred Games (s) and confecrated (k) Mysteries in honour of him Pausanias (1) observes, that by the particular (are of that Emperor, the Worship of Antinoni was fettled at Mantinea, because Antinous's Country was a Colony of it Lvery five Years, Games were celebrated there in honour of that has vourite, but the Mysteries confectated to him were celebrated constantly every Year. They who go upon this (m) ground that there were Priests of intinous who assume that the Iste of Prophers, they, I fay, who go upon this ground, and thence con-clude, he had an Oracle, feek for Mysteries where there are none Those Proph to were only the Priests of Antinous(a) in that particular lown which bare h s Name in Egypt, and which was the Mother Chu li() and enter of the New Religion Now in the Colleges of the Lappian Priests, those were called Prophets who were in the Nature of Deans of Superiors See the Proofs of this which the Leuned Henre in Vallefin turnishes in his Annotations on (c) Enfeline There's an Inteription preferved by which Antinous is placed on the fame I hione with the Figitian (10) Affestor to the Cook was muchinferior to this Ishan t diffemble, what the Philotopher C Ifus (ir inliffs on that the Epypeans would never fuffer Air nous tob compar'd to Jup ter and April Origin mail to the contrary, but I contess he advances it we not any Proof, or I don't understand his Reitnmuch, But Dien his no regard to the Inflo , of that Emperor, where he had read that An must fell into the River Nile, and was drown d. He delivers into the River Nile, and was drovend. He delivers as a conftant Truth, that a Mark Operation on which Adrian was employ'd required fomebody s laying down his Life volunt it ly, and that Antinous accepted the Condition. It is probable the Abbreviator Xipl ilin has robb dues of ionic Circumft nees which might clear this Mystery a lit le, for it is not to be imagin d, that D on Coffini should report a Thing of this Nature in 10 coicife, or 1 ther 10 maim'd a Manner However it be, there's no inferring from the Narration of Yiphilm, that An inferring from the Narration of Yiphilm, nous laid down his Life to lave, or prolong, that of us, histor Lauisac C 47 apud Luftan (omment hiflor t 1 page 541 2 Ibid c 137 apud eundem 1 bid 1 ₽ Amm Marcell lib 22 cap 16 This City mas allo opolis X1philin in

(7) Leo Atrican detempt Africa lib 8 fol m ,60 phil in (i) Hege hppus 1pud Eu-icbium Hifton ec clef lib 4 (I) Paufinias 1 8 p m 244 (1) Ibid (m) Sec Calaubon & Salmi files upon Spar inn inth L ta Adman (1) \ n = Hege uppam chi iunia (6,5. Ru alka () A1cip () Vide 111 p 15 057 () Apud Ougen 1 3 p m

(1) EV (1) a , with UT £ 12 1, 90-VOINIGE A · vona Jal. Ut urbem m eo loco inquo ille obuffet, T m ex po nominari volucur Niphil in Adriano (/ Paul Lib Sup.

(1) In

1 TTOVE

a Muliebriter flevit, Spart p m 135. β See the Remark D at the End 2 Xiphifupra

Id ib
Triftan, ment histori ques pag 543 A St Athanalius against tiles & I heoderet in the 7 boly difcourse apud Tri-stan ib Say there mis ank. professional of Adum enjoining th War thip of Antinous Tuffin Marty Apolog ad Anton Prum Athenago-Marcum Imper (1) Trif tan. Comment hifor t 1 P 541 (g) He outlit not to bave looken donbs fully on this point See Apuleius ubi fupra () Limpridus in CIUS VITA (1) N x0 -Ma 181 11 1481 719 K ou a 1/20-שני די וו פסל dan s ~ न्दीहण्यसः , Necsomantia ipfæ & incorruptorum pueroium fpe-Cularia inspectio-Justin in 2 ap p 65 Sec Salmafius on Spartian ın Adrıano pag 136 & Apuleius in Apologia pag affirm he drown'd himself in the Nile, during the stay that Hadrian made in Egypt to-wards the 132 Year of the Christian Era However it be, this Emperor mound for him with a Tears unseign'd, and order'd Temples and Altars to be Erected to him, which was perform'd with all the Expedition that cou'd be expected from a Nation accintom'd . of old to the (C) vilest Flatteries. He would also have it believed, that Antinous deliver'd Oracles, and some were given out in his Name, tho' the People could scarce be perswaded but Adrian had forg'd 'em He caus'd the Town in which his Favourite died (D) to be rebuilt, and call d after his Name He was overjoy'd when they told him a new Star appear'd in the Heavens, supposed to be the Soul (E) of Antinous, and he himself used to say, that he had seen the Star of Antinous \(\gamma\) What's most surprizing in all this, is not the Prophane Complaisance for this Prince's Weakness, which in private was a A less but this Worship's substitute a long time after his Death which in private was a A Jest, but this Worship's subsisting a long time after his Death, and being still in Vogue under the Reign of Valentinian, when there was no occasion for flattering this Prince, or fearing the special & Edict, ordaining his Worship So that the adoring Antinous, subsisted entirely on a ridiculous Fondness in the People for every thing they find establish'd The Fathers of the Church made their Advintage of this foolish Superstition, to expose the Vanity of the Pagan Religion It was easy to trace this new Divinity to the Source, and make the Original of all the rest suspects ed They spake in different Stiles of Antinous, according to the Differences of time, when they address d themselves to Antoninus Pins, the adopted Son and Heir of Adrian, or to Mircus Aurelius, adopted by Antoninus Pius, according to the Intention of Adrive, they were not so imprudent as to note the infamous Cause of his Deinc tion * touch d upon that String, during their Lives, with the gentlest Hand But Terfullim, who lived at a greater Diffance from those Times, and under Emperors who had not

Adrian We ought rather to conclude, he submitted to Death, that the Augurs by inspecting his Entrails might be enabled to discover that Point of which the Imperor fearch'd for Nor let it be alledged after one of our (f) Antiquaries, That had there only been occasion for consulting the Entrails of a Youth in a Point of Divination, there had been no need of making the Lxperiment on nim whom he loved of all Men living. There were Youths enough be-fides him of exquisite Beauty in that great Empire, had (g) Beauty been Material who might have served for that Infamous Mystery. Let not this I say be alledged, for that Writer was himself apprized of the Inva-lidity of it, when he added these Words immediately after, It might nevertheless happen that the Secret of the Nicromantick Art required, that he alone, as being his best beloved, should be sacrificed to make the Ceremony more especia ous. He ought to have added the Worlds of Dion, that twas necessary the Victim should be a voluntary one Now the other Youths which the Emperor might have design d for that Sacrifice, would not voluntarily have submitted to it Don t you think there wasneed of exercifing extreme Violence on those Youths whom Heliogabalus deliver d to his Mag cians? Cædit (h) & humanas hostias, lessis aa hoc pueris nobilibus & decoris per omnem Italiam patrimis & matrimis, credo ut major esses utrique parenti dolor. Omne denique magoi um genus aderat illi operaraturque quotidie hortante illo, & gratias diss agent quod amicos corum invenifict, quam inspiceret exta puvilia (excuteret hostias ad ritum gentilem suum The Migick of those Ages iequii d Victims of this kind and St fuftin observes, that it made choice of Youths of uniported Chastiry (1) Antinous would me that respect have been very unit. To return to Adrian, it feems to me that it ought to be supposed I hat the Necessity was extremely pressing which made him content to the Sacriscing of his lavounte 2. I hat the Desire of avoiding Death was a stronger Motive in the case, than the Desire of Diving into I uturity. I had rather then follow Aurelius Vistor than hip in Here's what Aurelius Vistor tays (k). Quaquidon al pia volunt religiosaque, quip pe Hadriano cupicate fatum producere, cum voluntarium ad vicin ria, i proposissin cuitts ritiastantibus Antinoum of jecissi (richium Add to em, it you please, these Words of Spartian (l) De quo (Antinoo) varia sama est, alisseum devotum probladriano assir nitibus (C). To the vill st Flatteries. Among the base complainances to the Painons of Adrian, Casaubon (n) reckons what the Poet Pancrates did He thew desdinan as a Miracle, the Lotos Flower which is not un-I hat the Necessity was extremely pressing which Advian as a Miracle, the Lotes I lower which is not unlike a Role, faying it ought to be nam'd the Antinoian, and that it grew in the very Spot which had been sprinkled with the Blood of a Lyon, which he the Emperor had kill d in Hunting The Emperor was so peror hid kill d in Hunting The Emperor was to pleas d with this Discourse, that he ordered Pancrates a Pention in the Museum of Alexandria(n) atheneus does not explain the Reason why the Poet would have this Hower named from Antineus, but m 301 would have this Hower named from Ansinous, Dut (L) Ansin Vactor in Calaribus (1) Spar pag 135 (m) Caliubin Spart, vit Adr p 137 (n) Athen 1 15 c 6 p 677.

it may easily be guess dthat Pancrates's Design in it was to honour the Name of that Favourite I fancied for some time that this Passage of Atheneus had been the Occision of a Mistake of Mr Morei's, which I mention'd at the End of this Article But I alter'd my Opinion upon Reading these Words of a () Modern Author Adrian gave the Name of this missible (Antinous) to a City of Egypt — as he had also given it to a Planet, to a Flower, to Temples, to Sacrifices, to Oracles, to Solemn Games, in Sport, he made a God of him They who compare this Passage with the Animous of Merers, will be able to judge whether that Writer knew how to make use of the Books he consulted

(D) He caus'd the Town in which has kavourite died to be rebuilt] I have followed the Translator of Xiphilin, who only speaks of a city repair d, tho Xiphilin made use of the Word Translator. Others not examining the Text so na lowly say that Adrian (p) built a Town which baie the same Name with Antinous 'Twas situated in the Therais, and was anciently called Besa, which was also the Name of the particular Deity ado, ed there Casaubon (q) afternational and the State of the Sta firms it, and observes, that the Egyptims leaving the new Name to the Greeks, continued to call it Befa
(1) Helladius, who was born there did the fame Let's not forget that Antinous's Tomb was there, St Epiphanius informs us of it in thele Words (1) Ω s o A'ντιν(ο e. A ιπνου γενη βερμεν(χ) πὸν λ στου Α'ντιν(ο ε. Α ιπνου γενη βερμεν(χ) πὸν λ στου Α'ντιν(ο ε. Α ιπνου γενη βερμεν(ο χ) πὸν λ στου Αντιν(ο ε. Α ιπνου γενη βερμεν(ο χ) πὸν λ στου Αντιν(ο ε. Α ιπνου γενη βερμεν(ο χ) και διαστικών O so A'vithat o et A ithou rernsequere on Ad hunc fin thoin reittes of two A'S fixis v. 1747 n Ad hunc modum Antinous in urbe sui nominis cum lusorio na sigio nodum relatus est We Ad hunc learn from Origen (t), that Miracles were faid to be wrought in that Temple of Antinous Here Salmafiur places the pretended Oracle of that false and ridiculous Divinity Licet in multis (2) Grac a ui-bibiu templa & facci dotes habucrit Antinous, pragipue tamen cum coluisse videntur Ægoptii in ea urbe que ab ipso nomen accepit, nam ibi sepultus est, ibi Oracula per eum reddi credebantur, ibi O prophetas hahuit What relates to the Oracle is attested by Origea (w), What relates to the Oracle is account in the Passage be read as Salmasius (x) has quoted it for the Passage be read as Salmasius (x) has quoted it. l gei on Euschiss n 2135 where his Quotation differs from that of Salmassis, the Spencer assents the latter reading in the 44th Page of his Annotations on Origen against Cissus Here's what made me call it a pretended Oracle, I remembred these Words of Spentiage https://doi.org/10.1006/j.j.j.

pretended Oracle, I remembred these Words of Spartian Lt (y) Graci quidem volinte Adriano eum consecraverunt, oracula per eum dari assirettes qua dianus isse composuisse sattatur (i) A New Star supposed to be the Soul of Antinous of The like Flattery had been practised before in Favour of Julius Casar Ludis (z) quos primo consecratos es hares Augustus edebat, stella crinita per septem dies continuos sussesses correns circa undecimam borano, croditunque est animam esse Casaris in Casam recepsi, orbiac de caussa simulacro esus in vertice additur Siella Ovid concludes his Metamorphoses by that of Casar's wid concludes his Metamorphofes by that of Cafar's Soul into a Planet.

(o) Trifment hiftor t 1 Pag 541 (p) [10\10 éx/10ev E TOUVULLON Avlivóz Urbem *condidit Antinoo COgnominem Hegesippus ubi fupri See also Marcellin 1 22 C (q) C1fiub ub fu pra, p 1,8 (1) Apud Photium Biblioth P 1506 (s, Lpiph in Acco-1 ato, n 108 (1) O11gen adver firs Celium I 3 pag m 132 (v) Salm in Spart pag 143 (w) Ogi-gen ibid, (x) Salmai in Spartian ıbıdı (y) Spart in Adriano p 137 (z) Sucton in Cæíare cap 88 Penfecs Diverses P 219

the same Interest in that Point, kept no Measures Prudentius has pleasantly (F) observ'd, that Adrian's Minion was rais'd to a higher Station than Jupiter's, seeing Antinous sat down to Table, while Ganymede fill'd the Liquor. The sormer Antenous sat down to Table, while Ganymede fill'd the Liquor. might have faid,

– a Media videor discumbere in astris Cum Jove, & Iliaca porrectum sumere dextra Immortale merum

a Statius Silv 2 1 4 6 Sec the Remarko

The Children of this World have in all Ages made their Court more exactly to the Gods of the Earth than to those of Heaven. I cannot imagine why Mr Morers should say, that Adrian believ'd Antinous changed into & a Flower, and into a Timple, and even order'd an Altar to be raised to him Is not this supposing that he built no Temples in Honour of him? And is this any truer than the changing him into a Flower?

ANTIPATER, An Idumean by (A) Nation, Illustrious for his (B) Birth, his Riches, and his good Sense, made his Advantage of the Confusions into which the Differences betwirt Hircanus and Aristobulus had thrown Judea These were two Biothers who disputed the High Priesthood Antipater espoused Hircanus's Interest warmly, and en- 2 Joseph gaged Aretas, King of the Arabians in it, and afterwards Pompey the Rimin Antiq 1 General, in such a manner, that Hircanus got the better 2 Antipater managed ill sequence his Government, and always to the Advantage of the Romans, whenever in 11 to 9 Occasion presented This made the Roman Generals, Scaurus, Gabinus, and Cassus, & sequence has been described as and depend years much on his Advance of the sequence of honour him with feveral important Commissions, and depend very much on his Advice & the 140 He did Julius Cæsar a singular Piece of Service in the War of Alexandria, by supplying in He was him with Provisions and Troops, and affishing him couragiously in his own Person So the son of that besides a deal of Praise, he obtain'd from Fulius Casar the Freedom of a Citizen of Aristob Rome, and the Administration of Judea a The Complaints of n Antigonus prevail'd nothing against him, his Application to Business, and his great Abilities got him so much his consideration, that he was little less honour'd ζ than if he had formally been invested a His Wife with the Royal Authority The manner in which he feem'd to guard against any Reverse of Fortune, by giving one of his Sons the Government of ferusalem, and anopers, was ther that of Galilee, with the Command of the Troops, created a just Suspicion of his Family in Designing to have none above him, either in Name, or Fact A few nam'd Malchus Arabia fuspecting this, resolved to prevent the Evil, and finding no other way than that of send-Joseph de ing Antipater out of the World, he poyson'd him s. By this Act he became guilty of bell Jud the blackest Ingratitude, for the Person he put to Death had loaded him with Benefits, Plutarch and had besides saved his Life λ Among other Children Antipater less μ the famous in Maic Herod, who was afterwards King of Judea.

ANTONY, A Roman Family, in Latin Antonia, Descended, according to an old μ Striving Tradition, from Anton the Son of Hercules, consisted of two Branches The one a 1 3 page μ Tradition, from Anton the Son of Hercules, consisted of two Branches The one a 1 3 page μ Tradition, from Anton the Son of Hercules, consisted of two Branches The one a 1 3 page μ Tradition, from Anton the Son of Hercules, consisted of two Branches The one a 1 3 page μ Tradition, from Anton the Son of Hercules, consisted of two Branches The one a 1 3 page μ Tradition, from Anton the Son of Hercules, consisted of two Branches The one a 1 3 page μ Tradition, from Anton the Son of Hercules, consisted of two Branches The one a 1 3 page μ Patrician with the Sirname of Merenda, the other a Plebesan, without almost any kind m 88 of Sirname. It does not appear that the Patrician Branch lasted long, or produced any Id 14 other Persons mention'd in History, except T ANTONIUS MERENDA, and Q pag 18 The first & was one of the Decemberate, abrogated on ac-ANTONIUS MERENDA count of the Tyrannical Cruelty of Appius Claudius, in the Year of Rome 304 And one of those who went into a voluntary Exile, and whose Goods were conficated, after the Trial of App Claudius, and Sp Oppius The latter * was a Military Tribune in ter the Trial of App Claudius, and Sp Oppius The latter * was a Military Tribune in the Year of Rome 333 But the Plebeian Branch lasted a long time, and made

(a) Ties ò 78-31606 AvTivo unedrion CU,TH OBAÉ-४म क्षात्वी ०४ ११ जारीहरी, guomodo Ántinous speciosus. cens qui obut collocatuseft in Luna? S atian Orat contra Græcos p 149 ubi fupra pag 542 (c) Prudent conmach 1 t (d) Euleb hist Eccles 1 i

Vix ca fatue erat, media cum fede Senatus Confirit alma Venus nulli cornenda, fuique Cafaris eripuit membru, nec in aera falui Passa recentem auimam, calestibus intulis astris Damque tulit, lumen capere atque ignoscere sensit Emistique simu Luna volat altiu illa Flammiferumque trabens spatiose limite crinem Stella micat

he Greek Poets had long before employ'd the same hought in Favour of Berenice's Hair The Empe-Thought in Favour of Berenice's Hair ror Adrian was too learned to be ignorant of it Yet he selish'd the Flattery, the destitute of the Charms of Novelty What cou'd they be thinking of who plac'd this Darling in the Lowermost Region of the Heavens 250me there were who raised him no hardest the court of the Pears o higher than (s) the Concave of the Moon

(F) Prudentius has pleasantly observed | His Verses deserve to be more correctly cited than the Sieuts Tristan (b) and Morei have given 'em Here they are according to the Edition of Nichelas Hein-

Quid (c) loquar Antinoum calefti in fede locatum? Illum delicias nunt Divi Principu illum Purpureo in gremio spoliatum sorte virili Hadrianique Dei Ganymedem, non cyathor du Hadrianique Dei Ganymatem, non tyator an Porgere, sed medie recubantem cum Jove sulcro Naciaris ambrosi: sacrum potare lyaum, Cumque suo in templis vera exaudire marite?

(A) An Idumean by Nation] Eusebine (d) makes him an Ascaloure A Band of Robbers, says he, who had plandered a Temple near Ascalou, carry'd Antipacer with the rest of the Booty into Idumea, where he lyand a long time, his Father not having where he lived a long time, his Father not having wherewithal What I to redeem him fay in the following Remark confutes this Story Photius feems to me a little to blame in this Place Photius feems to me a little to blame in this Place (e) Phot I or an giving the Extract of Tosephia (e), he affirms that Herod was the Son of Antipate, who had ferv d in the Temple of Ascalon, O TE A'VITALTERIES A SMITTERITY IS 18500'EAN. He did not find this infosephia, and yet what Reader doubts but all that Photius cites is in the Books he refers to He elsewhere says (f) that Antipater was an Idum. an of the City of Ascalon, and a great Enemy to Hircanis for the Love he bare to Aristobulus. This last Fault ought not to be imputed to Photius, for all his following Discourse shews, that he makes Antipater and Hircanis good Friends They who published this Author must share our Complaints as to this Point, but he alone is

Thews, that he makes Antipater and Hreams good Friends They who published this Author must have our Complaints as to this Point, but he alone is answerable for the other Fault Asialon was not a Town of Idumea, and after all, josephus does not say, that Antipater was of Asialon Now Photiu gives it asan Extrast from Josephus

(B) Illustrious for his Birth] His Father, whose Name was also Antipater, was Governor of Itumes under Alexander Janneus, King of Judea Iuschwist at the Was not able to redeem his Son, who was fallen into the Hands of Robbers (B) Tutor Hands this color and Antipater insecondant into the Hands of the was not able to redeem his Son, who was fallen into the Hands of Robbers (B) Tutor Hands this color and Antipater insecondant Antipater Apoliums and Asialonic and unum examinate further the learned make no doubt, that both selection and Africanus whom he copies, have follow it faise Memoirs in this Point, and that more Credit M m

I 3 bak

o See Glandorp Onomast

pag 66 C Valer

Maxim 1

3 c 7 n 9
who mentstions 1 6 Confiancy of a Slave of thu M Anthony

ın denying, shat hu Master was

ubi fupra

pag 68 ex Lpit Liv

Cicer &

de Orat 1 2 & in Verrem?

Bruto, & de Orat

Guilty dorpius great (A) Figure in Rome, for besides that it could boast of having the enjoyed the Post of Captain General of the Cavalry, Six Times the Consulfactories the Censor-ship, and thrice obtain'd the Honour of Triumph &; It had seen to fine the Person of Mark Anthony the Triumvir, Mistress of half the Empire We shall proceed to particular Articles of the Chief Men of this Ancient (B) Family

ANTONY (Mark) the Orator, was the greatest Ornament of his Family. At his Entrance on Publick Business, he signalized his Merit by a Passage which deserves to be related He had obtain'd the Questorship of the Province of Asia, and was already arrived at Brundusium, to take Shipping there, in order to go and exercise his Office, when his Friends inform'd him that he had been accused of Incest before the Prætor Cassius, the most Rigid Judge in the World, whose Tribunal was term d the Rock of the accused Mark Anthony might have pleaded a Privilege, which forbad the Receiving Accusations against those who were absent in the Service of the Republick But he chose to clear himself in due Form, and return'd to Rome, stood his Trial, and was acquitted gloriously & Sieily fell to him during his Przetorship, and he clear'd it of the Pirates who insested those Coasts He was made Consul with A Postbumius Albinus, in the Year of Rome, 653 And couragiously and happily suppress'd all the Turbulent Attempts of Sextus Titus, Tribune of the People Some time after he was made Proconful of Cilicia, and perform'd fo many great Actions in this Post, that he obtain'd the Honour of a Triumph Let us not forget that to improve his wonderful Talent of Eloquence, he would in some manner become the Disciple of the most noted Orators of Athens, and Rhodes, when he pass'd some Cilicia, and when he return'd to Rome He afterwards exercis'd the Office of Confine with great Glory, having gain'd his Cause before the People against Marcus Duronius, with great Giory, having gain a his Cause before the People against Marcus Duronius, who had enter'd an Accusation of Bribery against him, to revenge his expelling him out of the Senate, which that wise Censor judg'd he deserv'd, for while Tribune of the People, he repealed a Law restraining the immoderate Expences of Feasts. He was one of the best Orators that ever pleaded in Rome, and as Cicera says, who is a good Judge in those Cases, he was an Instance, that Italy cou'd boast of equalling Greece in the Art of Speaking well. Among other Persons he desended Marcus Aquilius, and so molified the Judges by the Tears he shed. In and the Scars he should on his Cheng's Breast, that he gain'd his Cause. The Changeer of his Florience. shew'd on his Client's Breast, that he gain'd his Cause The Character of his Eloquence, and of his Actions may be seen at large in the " Books I quote He never would pub lish any of his Pleadings, for fear he shou'd be convinc'd of speaking in one Cause, contrary to what he might alledge in another The Morality of the Bar did not think it a Scandal in those Days for a Man to unfay things in Favour of his Client. *The

(i) lotep Antiquit 1 14 C 2
(1) Id de bello Judaico, li (k) De excid lic 14 (1) Sec the Article Fouchet ought to be given to Josephus (b) who affirms, that King Alexander and his Queen gave the Government of Idumes to Antipater, who by many Presents obtain d the Friendship of the Arabi, and that of the Inhabitants of Gaza and Ascalon Josephus speaking in another (1) Place of Antipater the Son, observes, that he was (hief of Idumes, as well for the Antiquity of his Family, as for his Riches Hegesippus (1) says of the same Antipater, that he was Illustrious in his Country by his Ancestors It has ever been the Practice to abase the Birth of those whom Fortune raises (1) to the highest Dignities By the been the Practice to abase the Birth of those whom Fortune raises (1) to the highest Dignities. By the way, the Ambiguity of a Passage in Josephus has made some imagine, that Herod's Grandsather's Name was not Antipaser, but Antipas.

(A) Made a great Figure in Rome] We must not forget that Mark Anthony the Orator, who died in the Year 667, was the first who brought the Honours of the Consulate, and those of the Triumph, and of Censor into that Family

(B) Of thu Ancient Family] They who have most Reading, most Collections, and most Materials design'd for a Library, fall sometimes into strange

design'd for a Library, fall sometimes into strange Oversights I ather Vavasseur is an Instance of this in his excellent Treatise of the Burlesque Stile, when he censures Phosius for having believ'd that Antonius Diogenes, Author of a Romance, flourish d not (a) long after the Death of Alexander He Antonini Diogenes, Author of a Romance, nourish d not (a) long after the Death of Alexander He alledges several Reasons against this, of which he finds this the strongest, That the Family Antonia was not then in being, and that the Name was not as much as known (b) Neque qued gravissimum est, sum nata gens Antonia aut fasta vox, aut audita remperibus illis Than which nothing is more false. We have produc'd on the Credit of Livy, one Titus Antonius, a December, in the Year of Rome 304. And about Thirty Years after, one Quintus Antonius, who was a Military Tribune. We find in the same Livy, one Marcus Antonius, appointed General of the Hosse by the Distator Cornelius Rushnus, in the Year 421. Now it is certain, that Alexander died in the Year 430. I do not alledge the Tradition recorded by Plutarch, I might justly be answer'd, that Anton Son of Hercules, was no more the Stem of the Anthony's in Italy, than Cocceius Nerva was the Stem of the House of Cosse in France

(A) He would never publish any of his Pleadings? This Fast and the Reason of it, are Two Things. Remarkable enough to deserve my alledging Proofs of both Cicero and Valerius Maximus are my Vouchers. Hear what Cicero says (c) Hominem (e) Cicero ingeniosum M American aunt solitum esse dicere, ideireo fo nullam unquam espationem scripssse ut si quid aliquando non opus esse abservation most valerius Maximus says (d) Jam M Antonio remittendum convitum esse, qui ideireo se aiebat nullam orationem scripssse, ut si quid superiore judicio actum es quem postea desensurus esse qui pasti vin pudentis tolerabilem caussam habus, pro parielitantium enim capite non solum eloquentia su uti, sed etiam verceundia abuti erat paratus. I don't think any Critick so unreasonable as to maintain, that I do not translate the Word scribere right. Every Reader that has common Sense will comprehend, that Mark Anthony never meant to say, that he pleaded Extempore, that he purcea down nothing of whee hearts. thony never meant to fay, that he pleaded Extempore, that he wrote down nothing of what he offer d hefore the Judges, for if this had been his Menning he would have given an impertinent Reason for his Conduct, seeing he had no other Aim than the preventing any one's making Uleof his own Weapons a trunft And this he might equally have done, whether him And this he might equally have done, whether he wrote or did not write down his Pleadings, provided he did not publish 'em A Manuscript hid in a Chest cannot convict one at the Bar of having formerly maintain'd an Opinion quite constant what he advances at present, The Man will sent twith the same Assurance as if he had pleaded Extended without any Fear of being condemn'd to tempore, without any Fear of being condemn'd to produce the Original of his Plea Let us conclude then, that the Buliness here is not about Writing or not Writing down what a Man speaks, but about Publishing or not Publishing it Were it necessay to offer Proofs in a case so clear, I cou'd foon produce two very strong Ones The First should be taken from a Place in Cicero, where Brutus complains (a) that Mark Anthony the Orator, had given but one very small Book to the Publick He there but one very small Book to the Publick He there makes use of the Word Scribere The Secret I might take from that Oration of Cicero, in the Fast in Question is mention'd, for Cicero tending to shew, that Mark Anthony did not guird as much He there Secure I

(a) Vielwaid Antonioprater illum de ratione fanè ex lem libelluen to foribers. Cicero 17 Bruto, p m 278

(a) Ou אומר אסן-KEOVEN TE Αλεξαι-Non ita diu post Alexandri Magni tempora floruille Phot:usn 67 p 364 (b) Vavalfor de ludrica di-Etione pag 148

Precautions of this Advocate (B) are necessary for Persons of his Prosession; and yet not always sufficient (C) to save their Honour He ever affected (D) not to be thought a Learned Man His Modelty, and other good Qualities, made him no less belov d by a great

(b) Perin-de quali quid à nobisdectum aut actum sit id nisi literis mandaverimus hominum non comprehendatur Id in Orat pro Cluen-A RE-FLECon Author's contradicting them-felves (c) The 2d of the new Letters against Maimbourg s

History of Calvinism

(d) Sec the

Fforts

Mulhufinus makes

in the auctarium

primum ipeculi miferia-rum Parei, to reconcile his contradi-

See the Remark D of the Article

Aions

Bellarmine (*) See the

Jefuit

much as he imagined, represents (b) not, that an Advocate is obliged to produce the Original of his Pleas, but that there are Auditors, who remember a long time after what they have heard a Lawyer

(B) The Prevan ions of this Advocate are necessary for Persons of his Profission | I remember a Letter that was publish d (c) in the Year 1685, enquiring into the Causes of the Contraditions of Authors I he Lawyers are these blought upon the Stage, and here's what is said on their Aiticle 'I is sometimes diverting enough to hear the same Lawyer plead in one and the same Week for a Husband against his Wife, and for a Wife against her Husband band If he has a fourful Imagination, he dwells altogether in his first Ples upon the Power of Husbands he grounds his Arguments on Nature, on Reason, on the Word of God, and on (uston He quotes the Scriptures he quotes the lathers, the Civilians, and those who have wrote I ravels the declarate against Women, and dwells and He declaims against Women, and dwells only on general Propositions Two days after the Scene changes, he entertains other I houghts, quite contrary to the former He calls the Husband's Authority, Uturpation, he runs over the Holy Scriptures, the Code, Phylick, History and the Moral Law, in favour of Women, still haranguing on general Principles, for a vehement Spirit thinks it proves nothing, unless it affirms and denies without exception, and confequently " if obligd to maintain oppointe Interests, must " necessarily contradict it self." It must be own d, that a Lawyer, who pleaded publickly with all the Fire of his Imagination for the Privileges of Wo men, might be confuted the easiest in the World next time he pleaded for the Privileges of Men There needs no more than referring him to his own Minutes Our Ora or Mark Authory would fain have avoided this great Inconveniency, and enjoy d the liberty of contradicting himfelf, by maintaining this day one thing, and to morrow another, according to the Interest of his Clients. It were easy to shew, that Lawyers are not the only Persons who make use of this way, Our Polemick Divines do the same, according to the different Tenets of those they have to deal with Bellarmine (d) disputing against the Enthusiasts, maintains, that the Scripture abounds with Characters of its beginning Divine, but insists against the Prorestants, that it's obscure, and stands in need of the Authority of the Church A certain Minister, whom I shall not name, maintains against those of the Rom n Church, That the Scriptures shine all over with Characters of Divine But writing against Mr Pajon, he uses another I anguage (*) I his Privilege ought to be wholly left to Poets and Orators "In different places (e) they often fay things opposite to each other, according as it happens for their purpose Nos Poetarum more uti te res dedeit, ita vel populi, vel eruditorum hominum sententiam nostro quodam jure sequimur, atque alias, fi fit opus, aliter de eadem dicimus, " fays the excellent Monfignior della Cafa, Archbishop of Benevento, in one of his Letters to Victorius "And Eustathius has observed on the 18th Verse of And Eufathius has observed on the 18th Verie of the 2d Book of the Odyfis, and on the 243d of the 12th of the Iliad, that Homer has said things in those places concerning Auguries, quite contrary to what he had said eliewhere, which he calls augilegy how for So that the I have said in the first Parts of my Poems, which I have just now quoted, That an old Poet's a wretched thing, because it was then for my number. This does not cause it was then for my purpose this does not hinder my laying the contrary ellewhere, if oc-calion be How dearly do I love this Sincerity and how should I be overjoy d to find it in Bellarmine or the Minister but tis a thing not to be hoped for We shall hear Cicero by and by speaking about the Right of Lawyers, with regard to the Liberty of contradicting themselves See the Remark G and H

of the Article Baldus

(c) Not always sufficient to save their honour] We have seen how Cicero has observed, that the good Memory of the Auditors is the Bane of Lawyers, who contradict themselves (It's as great a Plague to Minflers, who, far from contradicting themselves, repeat from time to time, almost word for word, the same Sermon) If he had given Examples, he might better have made it appear, that the Precautions of Mark Anthony were infignificant. But it must be own'd, that what he adds is sufficient to justify the Condust of that Orator. This this Marcus Brutus Pleading against L Plancius, who was defended by L Crassus, got two of his Friends to stand up in Court, and read out certain Passages in an audible Voice, which he had cull dout of two Speeches of L Crassus. Some highly rating the Authority of L Crassus, some highly rating the Authority of the Senate, and others depressing it. This put the Orator a little out of forts, and obliged him (g) to frame I acuses on the difference of I mes and (g) to frame I scules on the difference of I imes and (g) See it Caules, which had extorted contradictory Opinions there, and from him (h) Ego vero (fays Cicero) in isto genere field better, libentius cum multorum tum hominis eloquentissimi & fa- 1 2 de Opinions I. Grass autoritatem legues 1 libentius cum multorum tum hominis cloquentissimi & Japientissimi L Grassi autoritatem sequor, qui quum I Plantium desenderet accusante M Bruto, homine in dicendo veheminti & call do, quum Brutus duobis recitatoribus constitutis ex duabus esus oi ationibus capita alterna inter se contraria recitanda curast t quod in disfinasione roga'ionis ej u qua contra Coloniam Narbonensem sereba-tur, quantum potest de autoritate Senat is detrahit in Surfione legis Servilia Summis ornat Senatum laudibie, er multa in Equites Romanos quum ex ea oratione afperius dicta reciraffet, que animi illorum Judicum in Craf-Jum incenderentur aliquantum effe commotus dicitur Itajue in i fondendo p imum expoluit utriusque ratio nem temporis, ut oratio ex re & cauja habita videretur Cicero did not stick at disapproving the part which I Grassus chose on this occasion, Cicero, I say, who had found himself in the same circumstances, his Adversaries having repeated a Passage in one of his Speeches, quite contrary to an Argument he hid then in hind. He answei d, That the Scrap they repeated, did not contain his true Sentiments, and repeated, did not contain his true Sentiments, and that what a Man offers as an Advocate, ought not to be consider'd as if spoke by him in quality of a witness, that it's the Language of the Cause, and not that of the Orator This is plain enough, They must speak according to the interest of the Cause, and the Conjuncture of Time, and not according to their private Opinions (1) Ego si quid esusmod dixi neque cogni um commemoravi, nique pro testimonio diai & illa oratio potius temporis mii quam jud cii & autoritatis suit — Errat vehementei si quis in orationibus nostris quas in judiciis habuimus autoritates nofiras confignatas se l'abere arbitratur Omnes enim illa orationes causarum & tempos um sunt, non hominum ipsorum aut patronorum. Nam si causa ipsa pro se loqui possent nemo adhiberet oratorem nunc adhibemur ut ea dicamus non que nostra autoritate constituantur, sed que ex re ipsa causaque dicantur Add to this the words ex respsa causague dicantur Add to this the words which Gicero puts in the mouth of the Orator Mark Antiony (k) Oratoris omnis actio opinionilus non scientia continctur, nam & apud ess dicimus qui nesciunt, Oratore & ea dicimus qua niscimus ipsi sta & iti alias aliud 12 fol sissemus de rebus & similunt & judicant, & nos contra m 71 (rias sape cas sas dicimus, non modo ut Crassus contra me dicat alianado aut esa contra Crassus quum alternur. rias sape caisas dicimus, non modo ut Crassus contra me dicat aliquando, aut ego contra Crassum, quum alterutri necesse sit faljum dicere, sed etiam & uterque nostrum eadem de re alias aliud desendat, quum plus uno verum esse non possit. Ut igitur nejusmodi re qua mendacio nixa sit, qua ad scientiam non sape perveniat, qua opin onis hominum & sape errores aucupetur, ita dicam. I am satisty'd the greatest part of my Readers will be so pleas de to find, that these two great Orators have had such Opinions, and had so well knowin the weakness of their hundron, that there'll academ. the weakness of their Function, that they'll pardon whatever may savour too much of the digression in

Rill (D) He ever affected not to be thought a learned Man 1 If I am not mistaken, this was more out of Policy than Modesty. He found he had already established the Reputation of a great Orator Might he not imagine that Men would admire him more, if they thought he owed his Eloquence only to his Genius. He had a further meaning in it; he believed the People would be more moved by his Orations. If they took am for theer Productions of Orations, if they took a for meer Productions of Nature, than if they look on em as Tryals of Skill They mistrust those who are practised in all the Tricks of the Profession. As for the Judges, Mark Anthony believed that nothing could influence them more in his favor, than an Opinion that he spoke unprepared, and their ever-looking those fine Touches of Rhetrick, which are made us of the for officers of the country which are made use of the country that he seemed the control of the formula which are made use of the control of the formula which are made use of the control of the formula which are made use of the control of the formula which are made use of the control of the formula which are made use of the control o ches of Rhetorick, which are made use of to set off Mm 2

this Remark No e, that these Principles subsist ratore fol le was re-Brutus by bringing three Rea-Court (b) Cicero orat pro Cluentio

> (i) Idem ıbıdı

Supplement to the Philosophical Commentary, and p 207 and 216 of Mr Saurin's Answer to mentary (e) It's Mr Menage Speaks in he Anti-

Baillet to 2 P 174,

B Plutarch in Mario p 431 Va-ler Maxım 18 c 9 y Cicero de oratore lib 3 d Plut in M Antonio, init p m 915 n Paterculus 1 2 cap 31 8 Alconius Pedianus in orat Cicer contra Verrem, p m 113 · I Shall examine under the Arricle Cethegus, whet ber Cotta was Conful Anthony recorv d this Commiffion + Id ib

See bim

alfo at p Cicero, orat 5 in fol 67 B

See bin alfo orat 4 fol 39 A 1 Horus

1 3 C 7
Glandorp ubi fupia,

Pag 73 (a) Add what he himself Says in bis 2d Book de Orat fol 78 B (b) He fays in this 2d Brok de Orat fol 73 D that he read the Greek Anthors only to amufe himself, that he did not unaerstand a word in the Books of the Philolopiers. Verbum prorfus nullum intelligi ita funt angustis & concilis dilputati onibus ılligati (c) Fol 78 C a great Number of Illustrious Persons, than his Eloquence caus'd him admir'd by all the World He perish'd unfortunately in the bloody Consustant on the state of He was discover'd in the place where he had hid himself, and Soldiers imand Cinna mediately fent to kill him His manner of Speaking mollify'd them, nor had any of 'em the Brutality to kill him, but he who commanded, and who had not heard his discourse, but entred his Chamber in a Rage, that the Men had not executed their © Orders His Head was expos'd on the Chair of the Orators, pro rostrucy, a place he had formerly adorn'd with Triumphal Spoils This hapned in the Year of Rome 667. He lest two adorn'd with Triumphal Spoils Sons of whom I am going to speak

ANTHONY (Mark) Eldest Son of the foregoing, had the Sirname of & Creticus He never rais'd himself above the Prætorship, but he exercis'd this Office with much an ampler Power than ordinary; his Commission to convoy Corn to Rome, giving him a Command " over all the Seas This Prerogative he obtain'd by the Favour of the Conful & Coita, and by the Faction of Cethegus, nor did any Party murmur, as they certainly would have done, if (AA) he had had more Merit 'Tis faid * that, over-rul'd by Evil Councils, he committed Extortions in the Provinces, and the Truth is, he was guilty of many Those of Siesly have been represented in few Words by Cicero † The guilty of many Those of Sicily have been represented in few Words by Cicero † The War of Crete, the good Success whereof he believ'd so infallible, that he had Shipt fewer Arms on Board his Fleet, than Chains to load the vanquish d, having miscarry'd, he fell sick, and dy'd of Grief He had not the Strength to resist the stinging Restection ons which arose in his Soul, on thinking that the Enemy having taken several of his Vessels, had hung the Roman Soldiers at the Arm-Yard, and Sailing 1 to and fro with this Speciacle, triumph'd most insolently over the Republick in a thousand places. He had three Sons by Julia his second (A) Wise, to wit, Mark Anthony, Cains Anthony, and Lucius Anthony *, of whom we shall speak hereaster

a Cause And yet at the bottom he was a Learned Man, and acquainted with all the good Books the Greeks had publish'd, Let us prove all this by some Passages of Gicero Magna nobis pueris, Quinte frater, semmor a tenes, opinio fuit L. Crassum non plus attigisse destring augm numerium brimas "la humilione destriction". doctrine quam quantum prima illa puerili institutione potuissit, M autem Antonium omnino omnis eruditionis expertem atque ignarum suisse. Quum moi ea discerentus qua Crasso placerent, & ab bis docto ibus qui bus ille utce etur crudiremur, etiam illud sape in elleni-mus - illum O Grace sic loqui nullam ut nosse aliam linguam videretur, & doctoribus nostris ca ponere in per-contando caque ipsum omni in sermone tractare, ut ni-bil esse e novum nibil inauditum videretur. De Antonio vero quanquam sape ex lunianissimo viro patruo mostro acceperamus, quemadmodum ille vel Athenis vel nostro acceperamus, quemaamoaum sue vei ninenis vei Rhodi se dottissimerum hominum sermonibus dedidisset, tamen ipse adolescentulus quantum illius ineuntis atatis mes patiebatur pudor, multa ex co sepe questvi. Non crit prosetto tibi quod scribo bic novum (nam jam tun ex me audiebas) mihi illum ex multis variisque sermonibis nullius rei, qua quidem esfet in his artibus de quibis aliquid existimare possem, rudem aut ignarum esse wisum Sed fuit hoc in utroque corum ut Crassus non tam existimari vellet non didicisse quam illa despicere, O nostrorum hominum in omni genere prudintiam Gracis Antonius autem (a) probabiliorem boc populo erati nem fore censebat suam, si omnino didicisse nunquam putaretur Atque eta uterque se graviorem fore si al-ter contemnere alter ne nosse quidem Gracos (b) videretur This is the beginning of the 2d Book de Orasore What follows is not Gicere's own, but Mark Anthomy's, who, among other things, speaks the following Words (c) Ego ifthe studia non improbe moderate modo sint opinionem istorum fludio um & suspicionem artificio apud cos qui ret judicent oratori adversariam esse arbitior, imminuit enim & oratoris autoritatem, & orationis sidem Here he gives the Reason of that erationis fidem Here he gives the Reason of that Conduct which Cicero (d) ascribes to him, Erat memoria summa, nulla meditationis suspicio, imparatus semper aggredi ad dicendum videbatur, sed ita erat pa-ratus, ut sudices illo dicente nonnunquam viderensur non rains, it judices the disense nonninguam viderentur non fatts parati ad cavendum fuisse. I remember on this occasion a Remark of (c) Mr Daillis on the difference between asting the Orator, and being one. This Remark is very just (AD) If he had had more Merit | Velloius Paterculus supplies me with this Thought, in that Place of his History where he relates, that Pompey about two Years after obtain'd a Commission, which much him Master of almost all the World. This Commission was Master of almost all the World This Commission was not granted him without Opposition, whereas not thing had been faid against the Decrees which had trusted the like Power in the Hands of Mark Anibeny The Resion was that they did not judge the latter capable of making himself fear'd, but Pompey's Merit was look'd on as dangerous to the Publick Liberty 14cm (f) has ance been min in M. An-

(d)InBruto post edit Corradi (e) Daillé, Response au P Adam 3 part pm 156 (f) Vell Paterculus 1 2 c 31 tonii pratura decretum erat , sed interdum persona , ut exemplo nocet, ita invidiam auget aut levat in Antonio bomines aquo animo passi erant raro enim invidetur cobemines aquo animo paji erant rare enim inviaetur eorum bonoribus, quorum vu non timetur Contra in iis
bomines exiraerdinaria reformidant, qui ea suo arbitrio aut deposituri aut retenturi videntur, & modum in voluntate babens This is a fair Text for the Compilers of Political Commentaries I leave it to 'em in manner entire, and content my felf with this small Observation It's thought a just grant of Complaint that the same Qualities which our to recommend a Man to great Offices, hinder him from obtaining 'em George de Monte Mayor, used to fay, Fit-amos a tiempo, que mererer la cosa, es prencipal parte para no alcancarla That as to say, (and they are the very Words of the President du Vair,) Nothing in these simes hinders good Men's rising to Riches and Honours so much as their deserving em (g) This Complaint is (g) See Pe often too well grounded, but there are certain C2. ter flux ses in which it is not quite so sold, for to deserve the una an Office well, it is not fushicient to have the necessary serve Qualities for the Honourship Discharge of the end of fary Qualities for the Honourable Discharge of it, the Prebut it is moreover requisite that those Qualities be face to the not mix'd with certain Vices, which prompt a Man to Hiftery of not mix'd with certain Vices, which prompt a Man to History of make an ill Use of the Glory which redounds from the Peace the Discharging this Office with Capacity and Success To speak properly, a Mixture of these Vices may render those unworthy of an Office, who consider'd with regard to their great Accomplishments, might be the most deserving of any It is not then always an Injustice to refuse an Office to one who is most capable of discharging it is it's a reasonable Precaution, a Point of necessary Prudence, especially in Republicks. Eminent Qualities inspire Men with Ambition Give those who possess and with Ambition Give those who possess am Occasions of doing their County considerable Service, and you kindle the Fire of this Ambition more and more, the Glory they acquire by worthily discharging a high Trust, inspires em with Thoughts of Straining their Credit, and she we with Thoughts of Straining their Credit, and she we with Thoughts of Straining their Credit, and she we with Thoughts of Straining their Credit, and she we with Thoughts of Straining their Credit, and she we with Thoughts of Straining their Credit, and she we will be with the straining their credit of the straining their credit of the straining the offices on Persons of inocustom of the straining the offices on Persons of inocus of the straining the str

(A) Julia bu Second W fe] She was the Daughter of Julius Cafar, who was Conful in the Year of Rome 664, and Sifter of another Julius Cafar, who was Conful in the Year 690 Her Virtue and Merit equal'd her (h) with the most illustrious Ladies of her Time She was not the happiest in Husbands, for after the Dearth of Marking Automatical memoria bands , for after the Death of Marcus Antonius Cress- memoria those who was put to Death for it (1) What the sanda did to save her Brother Lucius Cafar, deserves Admiration. He was proscribed in the Time of the Manual Triumwaras, and hid himself in her House. The Soldiers went thither to fearch for him, but she (1) Id ib

I shall have the Errors (B) to correct, and perhaps the Encommum (C) Plutareb gives QUE Anthony

ANTHONY (Casus) Brother of the foregoing, was a Person of a disorderly Conduct, so that his Elder Brother and he were much more the worthy Unkle and Father of the Triumvir, than Sons of him who gave them Life This Caius Anthony bore Arms under Sylla, in the War against Mithridates, and committed many Extortions in Achaia, which, together with other matters of blame alledg'd against him, was the cause that the Censors afterwards expell'd him the Senate Nevertheless he was chosen Consul in preference to Catiline, one of his Competitors, but with much less honour than Cicero, who, notwithstanding all the Plots that Casus Anthony and Catiline had laid to exclude him, was declar'd Consul with an unanimous Consent, whereas Casus Anthony carry d it but by a few & Voices against Catiline It was in this Consulate that Catilin's Conspiracy was discover'd, against which Cicero acted with great Zeal His Colleague num Rohad the Command of the Army that was sent against Catiline, and obtain'd a compleat me 692 Victory by his Lieutenant Petresus. As for himself, either a seign'd or real Sick-Remert of Remert of Rem ness hinder'd hims from being in the Battel Dion y says it was seign'd, and that Anthony searing Command in Parson After the Victory, he led his Troops into Macedonia, and was beat by the Dardanians He govern'd that Province three Years with so much Violence, and so many Exactions, that the Senate, displeased at his Conduct, sent him a Successor Upon his return to Rame he was accus'd by Marous Calius, and altho' Cicero had under-* taken his Defence, yet he was convicted and banish'd Some say he past is Years in the Island of Cephalonia, and that his (A) Nephew Mark Anthony, who was very Powerful in Rome, when Julius Casar's Murtherers quitted it, recall'd him from his Exile He dy'd some Years after, full of Years and Troubles, and left only one Daughter, whom he say repudated a little after her Marriage by her Hurbard 16. It was the Total of Total he law repudiated a little after her Marriage by her Husband Mark Anthony the Triumvir, on suspicion s of an Affair with Dolabella *

ANTHONY (Mark) one of the Triumvirs, commonly known in English by the dorp p Name of Mark Anthony, was Grandson of Mark Anthony the Orator, and Son of Marcus Anthony Creticus Mr Moreri has spoken amply on his Article, and therefore I shall say nothing of him The Falsities I have collected on this Head, may find a place in the Article of Fulwia, or elsewhere The only thing I have to say of this Triumvir Eutropio ton pag. 15, that he publish d a Treatise of his (AA) own Drunkenness

NTHONY (Casus) Brother to the foregoing, serv'd under Julius Casar in the was against Pompey, and was forced to surrender himself with the Troops † he commanded in Illyria, for want of Provisions After the Death of Casar, while he was Praplac'd her self at the Door, and declar'd they should never come in till they had kill d her, she who had brought that Mark Anthony into the World, whose Orders they were now to execute This made 'em retire (a) The Name of our Anthony's First Wife was Numitorial She was the Daughter of Quintus Numitorius Pullus She's call d the

Of Quintus Numsterius Pullus She's call d the Daughter of a Traytor in Gieere's Philippicks (b)

(B) Some Errors so correct | Thysius, Professor of Oratory in the Academy of Leyden, has made an Annotation which might give us an ill Opinion of his Leaining This Annotation relates to these Words of Lastanius (c). Do Notum last manufacture of Lastanius (c). his Learning This Annotation relates to these Words of Lactantius (c) De Neptuni force manife-flum oft, cujus regnum tale fuisse dicimus quale M Antonic fuit infinitum illud imperium, cui totius ore maritime potestatem Senatus decreverat ut predones persiqueretur ac more omne pacaret Thysius pretends, that instead of Antonis, we ought to read Pompess, which is the Reading of the best Manuscripts, and upon this he observes, that Pompey was call d Neptune, and that several of his Statues were adorn'd with the Enligns of that Deity He's Mistaken It can not be question d but that Lessantius who was pernot be queition d but that Loss antius who was perhave cised
Verrina4
Verrina4
Passe of the Fourth Oration against Verres (d) Possgram Marci Antonis infinitum illud imperium Jenserant, or to these Words of the following Oration (e) its infinito imperio Marcium Antonium grssse, ut
cap 8
One of Vasser's Sons might have spar'd the Cap 8
Cerard
Vost cites Vost of Ibraus, he observes, that Thamassus was very that was printed Thirteen Years before the Lastantius of Ihypus, he observes, that Thomassus was very much in the Wrong to put Pompesi instead of Antonia in his Edition of Lastantius, and proves it by (f) the Authority of Cicero, and Paterculus I add, that he believes Florus meant the same Anthony when he says, (g) Ruum ille (Pompesus) res in Asia gerens co quoque professum misses Antonium in aliana Provincia inclitus fuis He shews, that Florus has consounded that Anthony with Ossavius. Who as (b) Plutarch and that Anthony with Octavius, who as (b) Plutarch and (i) Dien (1y, was fent by Pempey to the Island of Crees, when Metellus commanded there There's more ground for this, than for his saying, that the Sirname of Criticus, given in Plutarch to Mark Anshony, must be corrected by that of Creticus I know not what Edition of Platarch he made use of, but I have found Kanilizade in the Frankfers Edition 1620, and in that of Para 1624. I with he had ta-ken the Trouble to examine a Chronological Liror, which appears to be in Paterculus That Historian affirms, there passed but two Years between the Charge that was given to Mark Anthony, and that which was given to Pompey, and nevertheles Aconius Pedianus affirms, that Mark Anthony obtain'd it by the Favour of the Conful, call'd Cotta I enlarge upon this Difficulty in the Article Cethigua (C) The Facemium Plutarch gives our Anthony u one 1 He says (k), Mark Anthony was honest, upright and very liberal. As he was not over Rich, the Remonstrances of his Wife did much constrain his Liberal segment. his Liberal Lemper He was out of Cash one day when one of his Friends came to borrow Mony of him, however he would not send him away empty handed He call'd for Water in a Silver Ewer, unhanded He call'd for Water in a Silver Ewer, under Pretence of Shaving himself, and having ladder'd his Beard, he sent his Footman away, and gave the Ewer to his Friend All the Family was in an Uproar, the Cup was sought for every where, his Wise made an horrible Noise, and would have all the Servants put to the Torture But he stopp d all by confession (1) what he had done and hour'd her Pardon feffing (1) what he had done, and begg'd her Pardon Plutarch does not well represent the Character of this Man, he calls him Liberal, when he ought to have made him a Prodigal Sallust (m) has not been deceived in him Let us not dissemble, that (scero denies what was commonly said of this Mark Antho ny, to wit, that he neither kept an Account of what he received, nor of what he expended (n) Audimus aliquem tabulas nunquam confecisse Que est opinio hominum de Antonio falsa, nam fecit diligent:ffime

(A) That he Niphew Mark Anthony re-call'd him from his Exile] There are fome Difficul-ties concerning the I ime of this Recall which shall be examin d in the Remark H of the Article of Ful

(AD) That he publish d a Treatist of his Drunkenness? This is a last that the Modern Writers make no mention of, tishowever remarkable, and to be found in Pliny (or Tergilla Giceroni M. F. bonia congiu simul baurire folicum ipsi objicit Marcoque agri proprie a semulento Seyphum in pattum Lt enim bec funt Ebri-

(c) Afcodianus in Orationem Cice. ronis in toga can-2 Dio Jip 37 ad an-Remark of Fulvia *See Glanfupra, p 75, 76

f Glan-tonio init pag 915,

(1) 'Due-202108 and exeus Petita vequod erat confessus cst Id 1b p916 A (m) M Antonius perdundæ pecuniæ vacuulq, curis mili instantibus helluft in fiagm bis for 13 in Cicuro orat 3 in ful je D

1 14. to-

(a) Plut in M An-)24 () Talen fion Glandorp pag 74 & 75 74 & 75 (c) Laccant I r cap 11 p m 34 (d) Cicero

Verrem fol 39 A (r) Id o-rat 5 in dus Vosfius not in Vell

Paterculum p 55 edit 1639

he cites Cicero Verrinai

but he ought to

Veirem tol 67 B

Fud, p m 160

Voft cites

(h)Plut in

Pompeio (7) diso, Jib 30

(a) Plany

a. He was taken by Hortensius, who deup to Brutus 6 Glandorp ex IIT M Antonio,&c y Glan-dorp ubi iupra, p 8: exD:one, &r Paterculus l 2 e Sucton de illustr Gramm cap 18 ζ Entitled Diome dee Vetus interpres Ho rat in od 2 1 4 n Tacit Annal 14 C44 0 Speaking on occasion of the I Julius Antonius. which happen'd the 778 Year of Rome tor, and his Brother Mirk Anthony Conful, he was sent into Macedonia with the Decree of the Senate, which gave Mark Anthony the Government of that Province But whatever dispatch he could make, he was prevented by Brutus, and even fell a into his hands At first Brutus treated him honourably, and continu'd to him the Ensigns of his Prætor-ship but when he perceived that he went about to debauch the Army, he clapped a Guard upon him, and afterwards put him to death, when he was inform'd of the Proferiptions of the Triumvirite, the Murther of D Brutus, that of Cicero, &c. Mark Analysis have a few houses for the Profession of the Professio thony having got Hirtensius in his Power, after the Battel of Philippi, sacrific'd him to the Creero mentions C Anthony sometimes in his Philippicks, but al-Manes of his Brother ways to disadvantage 6

ANTHONY (Lucius) Brother of the former, had all the Vices of his Brother the Triumvir, but none of his good Qualities Yet he did not want Courage He was Tribune of the People in the Year of Casar's Death, while his Brother Mark was Conful, and his other Brother Casus Prætor. He was Consul himself in the Year of Rome 713, and Triumph'd the first Day of his Consulship over a People of the Alps, whom he pretended he had conquer'd, tho' he had really done nothing worthy of a Triumph, nor exercis'd any Command in their Country But Fulvia, the Wife of M. Anthony, and Mother-in Law of Oflav us Casar, this I ady, who then govern'd all in Rome, procur'd This imperious Woman defigning to be reveng'd him that honour by her own credit on Octavius for having repudiated her Daughter, excited Lucius Anthony to take up Arms against him, under pretence of protecting the Inhabitants of Campania, whose Lands were assign d to the Soldiers The Troops he had assembled being introduced into Rome by night, he drove out Lepidus, one of the Triumvirs, and made a Speech to the People, declaring, That according to his Brother's intention he defign'd to abolish the Triumvirite This Promise fill'd the Town with Joy He was declar'd Imperator, and march'd against Octavius Casar, but not during to keep the Field, he retreated to Perous, where he defended himself till the want of Provisions obliged him to surrender

Octavius gave him his liberty, but what became of him y after, is not known ANTHONY (Mark fulius) the Son of the Triumvir and Fulvia, found so much favour with Augustus after the Conquest of Fgypt, that by degrees he was advanced to Offices, and at last to the Consulat, in the Year of Rome 744. He marry'd Marcell's, the Daughter of Ottavia, and being by that means become Son in Law of Augustus's Sister, for whom that Prince had a great Consideration, he became Chief in Favour next after Agrippa, the Son in Law of Augustus, and the Sons of the Empress But he prov d ungrateful to his Benefactor, and was one of the first who debruch d his Daughter Julia, which, together with some Suspicions of a Confpiracy, occasion dhis being condemn'd to Death Some Historians say he kill'd himself s, to prevent the Insamy of his Sentence He had a studied under the Grammarian I (rosums, and compos d a Poem of 12 Books in Heroick Verse, and some Treatiles in Profe It is to him that Horace addresses the 2d Ode of his 4th Book He lest one Son in a tender Age, whose Name was L Julius Anthony The Emperor lest one Son in a tender Age, whose Name was L Julius Anthony banished this Youth to Marseilles, under the specious presence of keeping him to his He order'd him Funeral Honours of a lingular Nature enough, for he procurd a Decree of the Senate, that his Bones should be laid in Octavius's Tomb n This was the End of that ancient and powerful Family Antonia, of which Tucitus & fays that it had been always Illustrious, but Unfortunate, Multa claritudine generis sed improspera We shall now sum up all Mr (A) Moreri's Errors concerning this Family etatis opera, sed nimirum han glor am ausem (icero vo-luit intersectori pati is sui M. Antonio, is enim ante eum avid fim apprehenderat hanc palmam, edito etiam volumine de sus Ebrictate. Quo patro crinati sibi ausus, approbavit plan (ut equidam arbitror) quanta mala per temulintium orbiterrarum intuluisses. Exiguo tempore ante Prælium actiacum, id volumen evomuit, quo facile intelligatur ebrisu Jam sanguine Civium, & tanto magu eum sitiens. I wonder Plusarch should take no notice of this Piece of Singularity, and that Su concess should not mention it

(A) We shall now fum up all Mr Moreti's Errors]

I He ought not to mention that Lamily under the Letter M, because of Mark Anthony Both he and his Family ought to stand under the Letter A II He ought not to try, That the Family of the Anthonies was famous among the Nollesin Rome, for it's plain, that by this way of ipeaking, he means to diffinguish it from the Plebian Families. Now this Diffinction is falle. The Tribunate of the People alone, wherewith Mark Antlony was invested in the Beginning of the War between Cafar and Pompey, proves invinci-bly that the Antonian I unily was Pleberan, for he was made I indune of the People without being adopted by a Plebeian, there was no need of his initating Clodius, who to qualify himself for the Place of Fribune, (*) had Recourse to such an Adoption I own the anthonies were Patricians in the Beginning This appears from the Dignities of Decembers and Military Tribunes confer'd upon 'em, before the Philipsen I amilies were admitted to the first Dignities of the Republick But whether it were that the Authorites who have the tribunes of the Republic But whether it were that the Anthonies, who have appear d with so much Splendor in the Seventh Age of Rome, did not dei cend from the lame Branch as those who bore the Signame of Moren is, or whether it were that they Isls d by an unknown Manner from the Rank of Patricians to that of Plibeians, as has happend to fome other Families, 'tis certain that their House was Plebeian in the Days of Mark Anthony the Orator, who first began to raise it. III It's gross Ignorance to say, that this House was divided into two Branches of Merenda's and Mark's. The Word Mark is the Pixnomen, which serv'd only to distinguish Persons. That which distinguishes the Branches was call'd Cognomen, and kept the (a) third Place, as Casar, Scipio, &c. IV. It is not certain, that Quantum Merenda, Military Tribune about the 33.2 Year of Rome, was the Son of Tanonius Merenda Decembis in the Year 303. V. It is false, that Livy makes mention of Mantonius Merenda Colonel of the Cavalry under the Distatorship of P. Cornelius He calls him only Manton us. VI. Marcus Ausonius Creticus was not kill'd in a Duel. Asconius Pedianus leaves no Room to hesitate on this. (b) Indicto, Since he Constitute the supplemental of the Cavalry nus leaves no Room to helitate on this (b) Indicto, fays he, Cretensibus bello male re gesta ibidem perist VII Instead of saying that Mark Anthony the Orator never wrote down any of his Orations, he ought to have faid, (c) that he never published any VIII His Answer to those who ask d him the Reason of it, is ill related, he did not answer, that he would put no Arms into the Hands of those who might be inclin'd to convict him of having express'd himself amis, he was in no Pain for his Words or Phrases, I mean, of being reproach d with Barbarisms, or Faults against the Rules of Grammar, yet this is what Mr. Morers means, as all will own, who understand the Sense of an Author But what Mark Anthony fear'd was this, that they might convict him by his Works of blowing Hot and Cold, and of having consuted

(a) Cajus Julius Cæsar Publius Cornelius Scipie

6) Asc Pedian in Cicer Di-Viciat He Says, Verr de præt. urb Cretæ mortu-(c) See #bovethe Remark A of the Arthony the

(')Cicero, orat pro domi iua ad pontifices fol 173 C

ANTONIA Eldest Daughter (A) of Mark Antony and & Oclavit, was a Indy She was whose y Virtual and Beauty made her an Object of Admiration She was married to Drusus, the Son of Livia, and Brother of Tiberius, by whom she had several Children d, whereof but Three survived Drusus, to wit, Germanicus, Claudius, who was Emperor, and Livilla, who was Tiberius's Son's Wife Anthonia being yet Young and Beautiful Rammaria.

(B), was courted in her Widowhood by several Persons, but refus'd em all, an IxComplete Company of much the more to be admir'd as the livid in a Court exceed 8 foreample of Continency, so much the more to be admir'd, as she liv'd in a Court exceed- & form ningly Corrupt Tiberius, whose Humour was so intractable, had a great inclyting Regard for this Lady; which shews, that to her Chastity she knew how to joyn other Phitarch in Anton Virtues unknown to the Chast Agrippina her Daughter-in-Law, I mean Mildness and mass I 'Twas she discover'd Seganus's Conspiracy to Tiberius, nor was that Prince Sueton * ungrateful after a Service of fuch Importance Pliny † mentions a very particular Quahty of Antonia, which is, that she never spit He takes notice too, that she had a Fish; which she was very fond of, and that she deck'd it with Ear-Pendants, which brought a great many to her Country Seat on purpose to see this Rarity This I idy was unit apply 1 18 6 9 in her Family In truth, her Son Germanicus had all the good Qualities that could be defit d in a Presumptive Heir of the Empire, and was the Darling and Delight of all the Roman People, but this only ferv'd to heighten Antonia's Affliction, when sudden De ith bereav'd her of this Young Prince This Disconsolate Mother was not in a Condition to (D' wilk as a Mourner, when Germanicus's Funeral was Solemniz d Her other Son was to difagreeable,

Four years perhaps before what he was now advancing in his Plea I have elsewhere amply enlarged on the Causes of Lawyers contradicting themselves, and maintaining one thing to day, and the quite contrary to morrow, according to the different Interests of their Clients IX Besides, the Answer Mr Morers helps him to is abfurd, for one may write down a Plea without furnishing Criticks with Arms, provided it is not made publick X M Aquilius was not condemn d when M Anthony took his Gause in hand XI The Judges did not affirm, That he who had so often exposed his life for the good of the Republick, ought not to less it with such dishonour Had Mr Moreri known that Aquilius at worst(d) could only have been condemn d to Banishment, he would not have given the Colours of the worst (a) could only have been condemn d to Banishment, he would not have given the Colours of the Ornturial Art to his Style XII What a confused way of speaking is this, Mark Anthony was Confus, Censor in the Tear of Rome 626 with A Posthumius in 657 with L Valerius, &c There is some thing worse in it than a confus of Style, Falsities are thing worse in it than a contus d Style, Fassities are not wanting Mark Authony was Consul with A Posthumius Albinus is the Year (e) 655 and Censor with L Valerius Flaccus in the Year 657

(A) Eldest Daughter of Mark Anthony] Suetonius and Flutarch are against me, the first (a) expressly and in downright Terms, the feed after an implicit manner For he only ipeaks of the (b) Mariage of one of the two Antonia's with Domitius, before he speaks of the others Marriage with Drulus. fore he speaks of the others Marriage with Drujus Now whereas Suetonius Writ after Tacisus, and some-Now whereas successes writ after Tacitus, and sometimes seems to resute him, is it not much better to give him the preserence, and suppose he has taken the contrary side, only because he had rectify'd Tacitus's Error' Besides, are the Words of Plutarch of no weight? Let every one judge as he pleases, I have follow'd Tacitus without pretending to contest it with those who shall follow successions. pleales, I have follow'd Tacitus without pretending to contest it with those who shall follow Sustantians. There are two Passages of Tacitus, one in the 44th Chapter of the 4th Book of Annals, the other in the 64th Chapter of the 12th Book of the same Annals, where the Wise of Domitius is call'd Antonia Minor I find that Lipsus (c) declares for neither side, and that Glandorp (d) prefers that of Tacitus before Successius. There's a reason on Tacitus side, tho' not conclusive. It may be supposed that Drulus, who mus. There's a realon on Tacitus side, tho' not conclusive. It may be supposed that Drusus, who, in the quality of a powerful Empresses Son, was one of the greatest Matches of Rome, marry'd the elder of the two Sisters but in answer it may be said that his Antonia was a perfect Beauty. Now this is a Birthright more to the taste of a young Prince, (nor is it necessary to be a young Prince to have this taste) than the other, which is only founded on a greater number of years. It is likely Druge. ed on a greater number of years. It is likely Dru-fus, as he was the greater Match, had his (hoice, and, no doubt, he took the handsomest of the two, whether the elder or the younger Sister clausum tenuis It's certainly a singular Case that in Augustus's Court the Emperor's Son-in Law shou'd be contented with one Dish, like a (itizen, ind it fignifies little to lay Antonia was so Young and I air, that Drusus did not know where to mend himself How many Princes and great I ords, and other Perfons are there, with whom this Reason is of no force But let us return to Antonia Valerius Maximus continues his Discourse in this manner zintonia quoque famina laudibus virilem familia que claritatem jupergressa amormamenti egregia fide pensavit que post ejus excessum forma & atate storens cubiculum socius pro conjugio babutt, in eodemque toro alterius adolescentia vigor extinitus est, alterius viduitatis experientia consciuus Antonia's Chastity found Panegyrists in Judea Josephus deserves to be heard he informs us that Josephus deserves to be heard he informs us that Augustus sollicited that Lady to marry again, but she persisted in the contrary Resolution, and preserved seandals is an uniported Reputation in her Widowhood Person Now here's the Rarity, We find great Ladies person the Reputation in her Widowhood Person onto Marry a second time, the courted to it but do they live without Reproach? Do they give no occasion to Censure their Conduct? Here's the Point the Marko opus, his labor est (g), see the Words of Josephus? The Marko opus, his labor est (g), see the Words of Josephus? The Marko of Josephus? Any power as the was to accust of the markow the second of the person to overlate the words of the person to overlate the course of the markow that the person of the markow that the person of the markow of the person of the pers fratru uxor fuerat, vel propter continentiam, quo i florente he, ventut etiam tum etate vidua recufarit alteras nuptias, licet ancilla hortant. Augusto ad iteranæum conjugium, in coque vitæ Here they

(B) Antonia, yet young and beautiful in her Widowhood, was an Example of Continency] What is faid of her Husband, that he kept his Conjugal Vow, iaid of her flusuand, that he kept his Conjugal Vow, is yet more furprizing (e) Drusum etiam Germanicum eximiam Claudia familia gloriam, patriaque rarum ornamentum, & quod super omnia est operum suorum probabitu atati; magnitudine, virtico pariter ac fratri Augusti, duobue respublica divinis oculis mirifice respondentem, constitu usum Veneris intra conjugis (f) charitatem

genere omnem caverit infamiam
(C) 'Twas she discover'd Sejanus's Conspiracy to Tiberius | It's likely Tacitus was well inform'd of this Fact, but unhappily that part of his Annals is lost defit ma-If I am not mistaken, Josephus is the only Historian r tus ve who relates what share Antonia had in discovering that Conspiracy He deserves credit, because the Intimacy of Berenice, and that of her Son Agrippe, with this Lady, and the good Offices she did Agrippe made her known in Judea, and oblig'd the Jewish Historian to inform himself exactly of what concern'd her Let's rely then on his lestimony, that stood as soon as Anonia had been well inform'd of Sejanus ()] cern'd her Plot, she wrote all the Circumstances exactly to T berius, who was then in the Island of Caprea, wh ther she dispatch d one of her most faithful Domsticks with her I etter This Prince's Consideration for her, increas'd mightily after to I minent a pice of Service O Je (1) μα τῶι τυντε 2ειχιοι τ τιξ /ς που συνεπθελές τηντε Ανθωι Ιαν χὶ πεία ἀξιολ μως αχων τημιωτερού τε υπλάμβανε ματί τοῦς τῶσ πόρου,

Δεικών τημιωτερού το υπλάμβανε ματί τοῦς τῶσ πόρου,

Δεικών τημιωτερού το υπλάμβανε ματί τοῦς τῶσ πόρου,

Δεικών τημιωτερού το υπλάμβανε ματί τοῦς τῶσ πόρου, Quebus ille (Tiberius) cognites Sejanum occ dit (focios confilis, Antonia jue jam ante habita in prec o majorem the Consectiam in posterum sidem habiti per omnia. I shall show b ne Consectiam in another place, that high limit observes that (1) The Antonia wrote certain Matters to Tiberius concern. Annil ing Sejanus

(D) Was not in a condition to walk as a Mourner] ann 73 Let's fee how Tacitis relates the Matter, and how he which t fets her out in his Reflections (1) Tiberius atque Augusta 1 (2) of fets her out in his Kenections (1) active many accounting publice abstinuere, inferim Marestate sua rati si palan limin

p 6,2 (†Plin 17 dem villa ana) Antonia muiænæ quam diligebat indidit cujus propnonnulla Baulos vicupiverunt 1d

19 0 55 uxor, laid turn the I wles, Si nolit, fi mulus Luthers V orus or Jander)Joseph An iquit 118 6 6 (i) fol ib. (k) In the Article Velpasian at the Re mark about the Coninb ne Ce 1115 13 63 14 two years after (a) Germanicus C Cæfaris pater Drufi & minoris Antonix filius Suet in Calig c 1 wide etiam in Claud cap 1 Ex Antonia majore atrem Neronis procreavit (Domitus) * ne cap. 3.

(b) Plut in Marc Anton pag 955 (c) Lipf in Lacit Amh.l 12

(d) Gland

Ogomaft

pag 87 (e) Val

Maxim 1 4 C 3 (f) See the theRemark

(d) Quum mihi M

Aquilius

retinendus effet

ın civitate

It's Mark

Anthony

who speaks, apud Ci

ceronem l 2 de Orat fol

80 B

(c) Plin 1 8 c 7 Sigonius & Calvifius, place

this Confulat in the Year 654, and the Cenfurflup

* Ex his (fereribus) Drufillam Vitiaffe virginem tus adhuc creditur atque etiam in concubitu cjus quon-dam deprehenfus ab avia apud quam fimul educabantur Sucton in Calific 24 5 See also Dion lib 59 4 Sucton

ib C 2,

(m) Suet cap 3

greeable, and so brutishin her Eyes, that she used to call him (E) Monster, Machine, &c. and made him the Standard of Comparison, whenever she would represent an Errant Blockhead Her Daughter was a Monster of another kind; she made an Attempt on the Honour and Life of her Husband, and executed it, for she was convicted of Adultery, and of Poisoning her Husband Her own Mother was the Minister of Justice to (1) whom she was ideliver'd She shut her up in a Chamber, where she starved to Death The Children of Germanicus, whom Antonia brought up in her House, gave her no small Trouble She watch'd their Conduct, but her Vigilance serv'd only to make her an Eye-Witness of their Enormous Crimes. * One Day she surprized Caligula in the Act with his Sister This Wretch had not yet left off his Youth's Habit, and yet had defiled himself with a Capital Incest. When he first came to the Empire, he decreed † all the Honours to his Grandmother Antonia, that the Senate had decreed Livia, but this was only a Fit, for he shew'd her no Respect asterwards, and refus'd to give her a Private Audience These Affronts threw her into (G) a Melancholly, which caus'd her Death He did the Deceased no Honour, nor Assisted at her Funeral + 'Tis likely that the Temple of Antonia (H), which Pliny alone mentions, owed its Name to this Princess She did not see the Missortunes of her Grand-Daughter Antonia (I) whom Mr Morers has mention'd, but not without a Mistake

ANTONIA, Younger Sifter of the foregoing, as well by the Father as the Mother's Side, can furnish but a small Article I find no more of her than that she was the Wife of Lucius Domitius Ancharbus, and that this Marriage produced one Son and two Daughters, the Son, whose Name was Cneus Domitius, was Father to the Emperor.

Niro We shall speak of the Daughters under the Word Domitia, and shew, that Mr

Morers is mistaken, in saying, that one of 'em married Galba

ANTO-

l'imentarentur, an ne omnium oculis vultum corum ferutuntibus false intelligerentur Matrem Antoniam non apud auctores rerum, non diurna actorum scriptura reperio ullo insigni officio functam, cum super Agrippinam, & Drufum & Claudium, cateri quoque confanguinei nominatim perferipti fint, seu valetudine prapodiebatur, seu victus luitu animui magnitudinem mali perferre visu non toleravit Facilius crediderim Tiberio & Augusta qui domo non excedebant cobibitam, ut par maror & matru exemplo avia quoque & patraus attimeri viderentur

(E) That fhe us d to call him Monfter] This Sueto-(E) That he us at cau him Monjer 1 Itis succo-num informs us of (m), Mater Antonia portentum cum hominus distitabat, nec abfolutum a natura sed tantum inchoatum 'ac si quem socordia argueret, stuttiorem aie-bat silio suo Claudio By this we may judge she was a Woman of Wit and Sense, for your ordinary Women don't perceive that their Children are stupid, or if they do, they are feldom over forward, from a meer Point of Honour to clear themselves, and talk of em as Changlings, or half-form d Productions

(I) Her even Mother was ______ fhe flut her up in a Chamber J This again shews she was a Woman of Spirit, who lov'd her Children no longer than they were an Honour to her, and preferr'd the Roman Grandeur before the Tenderness of Nature There were two Traditions (a) concerning the Death of Livilla, One, that Tiberian caus'd her to be put to Death, The Other, that he Pardon'd her for the fake of Antonia, but that Antonia condemn'd her to be starv'd to Death (G) Into a Melancholly, which caus'd her Death] Suctionius and Dion agree in this Point (b) Per issusmodi indignitates & tadia caussa extist moitu, dase tamen ut quidam putant, & veneno (c) Dien says nothing of Poison, he only says, that the Barbarous Man, not able to bear (d) the Cenfures of his Grandmother, obligd her to make an I nd of her Days I could not find in what Year this Illustrious Lady died, but feeing it was in the this Illustrious Lady died, but seeing it was in the Reign of Caligula, it seems to me that her Death may be plac'd in the Year of Rome 792. That of her Husband hap'ned in the Year 744. We may give a near guels what Age she was of when she became a Widow, and how long she liv'd, for her must have been Born in the Year of Rome 734, since has Mother Offense, who Marraed (a) Mark Authory her Mother Offavia, who Married (e) Mark Authory in 713, was Deliver'd (f) of a Daughter when he return'd from Greece the Year following The Poem entitl'd (g) Confelational Liviam Augustam de morte Druss Merenis, represents Antonia very disconsolate, and gives her great Encomiums. We are there inform'd, as also in Valerius Maximus, that Druss was no Rover. But that the last Words he spoke were about his Dear Wife.

Quid referam de te, demissima conjuge Drule, Atque cadem Drust digna parente nurus ? Par bene compositum zuwenum farrissimus alter Altera tam forti muena cura viro l'antina su princeps su filia Cafaris sile Nec minor er magni conjuge vife Jewis,

Tu concessus amor, tu solus & uls:mu 121 Tu requies fesso grata laboris erae Te morieus per verba novissima quessus abesse, Et mota in nomen frigida lingua tunm

(H) The Temple of Antonia, which Pliny alone men-Paintings, (b) Ejusdem, says he, arbitrantur manu esse. (b) Plin & in Anionia templo Herculem aversum ut quod est lib 35 dissiculumum, saciem ejus ossendat versus pistura, quam c 10 p ma promittat A very learned (1) Commentator says 213 upon this Passage, That he does not know whether (1) Pere this Temple belong'd to the eldest, or to the younger Hardou-Anionia, nor in what part of the City it stood in Cuius illud Anionia suggest manufactures. Anionia, not in what part of the City it itood

Cujus illud Antonia fuerit, majoris, minorifue, quoue

Urbis situ conditum fuerit, incompertum Uraque Antonia Triumuviri filia, Major Germanici & Claudii Cefaris parens Neronis avia This is preferring the Opinion of Tacitus (k) before that of Suetonius, and (k) See giving the Elder to Drusus but, on the other hand, above the these words. Neronic ania, puzzle me. I suspect the incomp these words, Neronis avia, puzzle me, I suspect the Remark Printer has at least forgot miner, for by substituting this word, we shall see that Father Hardonin has said fomewhat of both the Antonia's, that the eldest was the Mother of Germanicus, and the Emperor Clauthe Mother of Germanicus, and the Emperor Claudius, and that the younger was Nere's Grandmother. If no fuch word be fupply'd, there's a manifest Error in this place, seeing the Mother of Germanicus (I/In Plin was not Nere's Grandmother To have recourse to the Adoption of Nere, by Claudius, would be an ill to 2 p 36 shift. In another place that (I) Commentator had preferr'd the Opinion of Suctionius before that of for'd him Taritus.

(1) Antonia, whom Mr Moreri] She was Daughter of the Emperor Claudius, by Alia Petina, but Caligula Born before he was Emperor He marry'd her First had taken Born before he was imperor the marry until this had taken to Cheur Pompeius (m) Magnus, and afterwards to Faufron him flus sylls She faw both her Husbands dye a violent Death The First (n) was put to Death by Order of the Imperor Claudius, The Second was ton in Murder d at Marfeilles by Rustians whom Nero (o) had Claudius the face there were the refused to Marcy Murder d at Marfeiller by Kuttians whom Nero (o) had fent thither for that purpose She refus'd to Marry that Prince, who would have made her his Wise after the Death of Pompey (p) Nero put her to Death under pretence that she was concern'd in a Conspiracy, I believe it was that of Piso A certain Historian (q) pretends, that Piso was to carry Antonia into the camp of the Pretorian Guards Tacitus (r) mentions it without finding any great

Grounds for it He does not think it probable that

(q) Plini-Antonia would have exposed her felf to fo great Hazards, without the Hopes of becoming Pifo's Wife Now there was no room to expect this, for Pifo was known to be a very loving Husband But Tactum would not frop here, he judyons a Restriction according to his Custom, unless, says he, we suppose that the Passion of reigning in Women is, of all others, the violentest By this he restores the Passion of Plan's Account. Which he had been Probability to Pliny's Account, which he had been labouring to destroy before Animia might have believ'd that Pife would repudiate his dear Wife to the See namewhich Caligula cap 27 Ann 1 14 CAP 57 (p) Sueton in Ner cap us apud Tacitum lib 59 (d) Compare Sucton ib C1B 29 (e) Calvifius ad ann mund13910 (f) Plut in Anto-DIO D 030 Pag 931 D (g) It's Printed with Ovid's Works , and many take it to be bis

(a) Dio 11h 58 (6) Sueton in Ca-lig c 27

ANTONIANO (Silvio) a Cardinal, and a Person of great Learning, rais'd hirhself Scripsit by his Merit from a very low Condition; he was of mean Birth, and his Parents fo far Card Angel Car from being able to breed him a Scholar, that themselves stood in need of the Charity of others. Some say he was Illegitimate, but Joseph Castalian*, who compos'd his vitam, Life, has shewn the contrary. Be that as it will, he was Born at † Rome in the Year (A) 1540. He made so speedy and surpriving a Progress in his Studies, that one can hardly believe what has been published of it. At Ten Years of Age he (B) wrote Verses blicarum on any Subject that was proposed to him. Which were so good, and so single turned. on any Subject that was proposed to him, which were so good, and so finely turned, tabularum the made extempore, that other Wits could not compose the like without much Time and testimonians. The Tryal was one Day made at the Cardinal of Pi/a. Table, when he treated nins ab could not compose the like without much Time and testimonians about the tryal was one Day made at the Cardinal of Pi/a. Table, when he treated nins ab could not compose the like without much Time and testimonians about the trial testimonians are the cardinal of Pi/a. Table, when he treated nins about the trial testimonians are the cardinal of Pi/a. several other Cardinals Alexander Farnese taking a Nosegay, gave it to the young lumnus Scholar, bidding him present it to that Person of the Company who should be next Pope vindical The Youth presented it to Cardinal de Medicus, and made his Elogy in Verse This conatus Cardinal, who was afterwards Pope Pius IV sancy'd the Company play d upon him, and that the Poem had been workt up before-hand with much Art, only to laugh it what rente mirente mire he should say of 16, and began to be angry, but they protested to him solemnly it was nus justa made extempore, and desir'd he would try the Boy himself on any other Subject. He did uxore geso, and convinc'd himself of the extraordinary Talent of that Youth fo, and convinc'd himself of the extraordinary Talent of that Youth Who enlarged off-hand on the Subject which was given him (C), in good Verse The Duke of Persara Section 19 Notes of Persara N coming to Rome to Congratulate Marcellus the Second on his Elevation to the Pontificat, Erythr was so charm'd with Antoniano's Wit, that he would needs have him to (D) Ferrara, where Pinacoth he appointed him excellent Masters to instruct him in all the Sciences He was taken from 1 thence by Pope Pins the Fourth, who remembring the Adventure of the Nose gay, when humili he was in St Peter's Chair, enquird what was become of the young Poet Finding loco where he was, he fent for him to Rome, and gave him an honourable Post in his Pa- ortus id Anto- ib p ,6 He afterwards made him Professor of Humanity in the Roman Colledge niano exercis d that Office with fo much Reputation, that on the Day when he began his Billito explain the Oration pro Marco Marcello, he had not only a great Croud of People for otheque of his Auditors, but also 25 Cardinals He afterwards became Rector of the same Col- Naples ledge, and upon the Death of Pius the Fourth the Spirit of Devotion seizing him, he Pag 283 listed under Philip de Neri, and accepted of the Office of Secretary of the Sacred Colledge offer'd him by Pius the Fifth He exercis'd this Employ 25 Years, and obtain'd of Castelli by it the Reputation of an honest and able Officer He refus'd the Bishoprick which in the A Gregory the 14th would have given him, but not that of Secretary of the Briefs, which bruzzo, was offer'd him by Clement the 8th, who made him also his Chamberlain, and afterward Cardinal 'Tis reported that Cardinal Alexander de Montalto, who had carry d

for prient
it somewhat haughtily to Antoniano, seeing him promoted to the Purple, should say, by Mutius that for the suture he would never despise a Man in a Cassock and little Band, how low

Panza,

Phere no an Object soever he should seem, since it might happen that the Person whom he despis'd shou'd become not only his Equal, but his Superior Antoniano kill d him felf with too much Study, he spent whole Nights at it, which brought a Distemper stellorum upon him, of which he dyd in the 63d Year of his Age. He wrote with so much oppido oriundus, that there was hardly ever seen a Blot in his Sheets, and it's said he preserved.

(1) Tacit bids (c) Annal 113 C 23 AT IN MOreri & 47 Moreri has wrong cited 1 14. C 16 he eught to have cited 1 14 C 57 He has not cited all the places which he shou'd bave cited

-obiO'()

pag, 605

(b) Fam Strada Proluí

Acad 3

n Athen Roman

open a way to the Throne, by Marrying the Daughter of the Emperor Claudius (f) Interim Piso apud adem Cereris opperiretur, unde eum prafettus Fenius Greeteri accitum ferrent in castra, comitante Antonia Claudii Casaris silia ad eliciendum vulgi savoren, quod C Plinius memorat Nobis quoquo modo traditum non occultare in animo suit, quamvis abirdum videretur, aut inani spei Antoniam nomen Spericulum commodavisse, aut Pisonem notum amore uxoris alii matrimonio se obstrinxisse nist si cupido dominandi cunitis assesticus sulla Antonias second Husband Cornelius Salvus, whereas he calls him Cornelius Sulla 2 That Antoopen a way to the Throne, by Marrying the Daughwhereas he calls him Gernelius Sulla 2 That Antomis liv'd a long time a Widow Her Husband Sylla was kill'd in the Year 815 Pifo's Confpiracy broke out in 818. Poppas dy'd the iame Year It's very probable Anionia was courted a little while after, and that her Refusal caus'd Nero to revive the Proceedings against her in particular Be it as it will, her Widowhood could not be very long, seeing Nero, who caus'd her to be put to Death, dy'd in the Year 821 In the third place, The Authors an the xear 821 In the third place, The Authors quoted by Mr Moren do not say that Nero constrain'd Antonia to kill her self.

(A) The Year 1540] This I collect from what Father Oldernis says (a), that he dy'd the 26th of August 1603, at the Age of 63 Years Nicion Erythreus does not set down the Year of the Century in which he dy'd but only that he dy'd in his grand Climate. dy'd, but only that he dy'd in his grand Chimaterick. Monf de la Roebepozat in his Nomentlater Caradinalium places his Death on the 16th of August 1604

I have chosen to follow Father Oldom:

(B) At ten Years of Age] Father Strade, who with much Politeness has intered the Relation of this Adventure in (b) one of his Orations, fays, that Antonismo was not full 12 Years of Age

(C) The Subject that had been given to him] Father

Strada informs us, that as Cardinal de Meditis was Father was thinking for a Subject, the Clock struck, which was of that the Reason why he desir'd him to make Verses on a Zown Clock The Author has preserved those which he fupposes Antoniano made on the Spot, and adds that the Cardinal of Trent presented him with a

Chain

(D) Would needs have him to Terrara] Antoniano spoke some Speeches there, which have been printed (c) with those he pronounc'd at Rome, this inclines me to believe that he was Professor in Firara Nicius Exythreus says only that Antoniano taught the Sciences there, Why does he not mention those he taught? The Fear of being too tedious, is no just Reason for suppressing such Particulars. I have not yet been able to consult the Lif. of that Cardinal, compos'd by Joseph Castalio, where doubtless it appears on what account he was at Ferrara, in what Year he dy'd, with many other Particulars. Much less can I come at a Book which Mr Conrart sent to the Chasting of the Oratorial Philosopher. Mr de Balzac despir'd em (e) It is true, says he, that the Flogies of Cardinal Doi-(e) It is true, fays he, that the Flogies of Cardinal Doi-fat, and Cardinal Silvio Antoniano are two Pieces (e) Ibid passable enough, and in which the Author does not unhap-pily interest the Parallels of Plutarch's Lives His long Investive against the Nobility is the highest Strain of his Wis I have observed several fine Strokes in it, and somewhat of his own Invention, besides what he has borrow'd of others, and particularly from Caius Marius's Speech in the Jugurthine War Nevertheless I believe, that within the Jugurthine War Nevertheiels I believe, that without doing wrong to his Matter, he might have florten'd his Degressions. This Common-place which he has spunded to such a length, and which he has so arefully and so pompously display'd, ought only to have been touch'd by the Bye. Besides, that he got himself powerful and very dangerous Enemies by it. He must needs offend all the N n. Gintles that his

(c) By the care of Joseph Ca Stalio in Differtations after stian Sor threo, Linacoth 1 p 36

* Se the advantag ous Juagment which M Baillet passic upon it in the 2d Torre of the Tugemens desSavans n 128 I's]ournal des Savans of the 6th of July 1676 has & VI'L Artick on this

Work

(1) Bonna Sfozza,

uho in 1555 quit-te ire to

Bart in Itily

(f) Nomentlat Cardinal pag 178 (g) Sec Co-lomies Bibl choif

(b) Varil-

las , Preface to the Anecdotes of Florence (1) Possev

Appar Sacr to 2

P m 405 443 (a) Benti-

pag 36

Jano his Virginity all his Life long 4 See in one of our Remarks concerns his (E) Works

(E) Works

Cardinal Bentivoglio has furnish'd me with a large (F) Supplements to this Article

I find that Antoniano was one of the Disputants on the Question about (G) the

Precedency of Patriarchs

ANTONIO (Nicolas) Knight of the Order of St James, and Canon of Sevill. has much honour'd the Spanish Nation by the Bibliotheque of Spanish Writers, which he caus d to be printed at Rome in two Volumes in Folio, in the Year 1672 It's a very good (A) Book in * its kind And perhaps no Man has better succeeded in Collections of this kind than Don Nicholas Antonio He was Born in Sevill in the Year 1617, of a I ather whom King Philip the Fourth made President of the Admiralty, establish'd in that City in the Year 1626 Having studied Human Learning, Philosophy and Theology in his own Country, he went to Study the Law at Salamanca, and apply'd himself chiefly to the Lectures of Francisco Ramos del Manzano, who was afterwards one of the King's Counsellors, and Preceptor to Charles the Second One can't judge of his Progresses better than by the Designs he conceiv'd in matter of Books, and by the manner in which he executed part of his Projects, notwithstanding the unavoidable interruption of Affaiis, in an Employment which he had at Rome, being Agent-General for the King his Master, and besides concern'd in Special Commissions, from the Inquifition of Spain, the Vice-Roys of Naples and Sicily, and the Governour of Milan to negociate their Affairs at the Court of Rome The Plan of the Bibliothers.

Gentlemen in the World, to prove that it in o Crime to be the Son of an Artist or Rustick ferom Ruscelli in the 7th Chapter of his Rimario, speaks Wonders of the Talent of our Silvio Antoniano, whom he wrongfully calls Antonio, for Extempore Poetry He speaks of a Tryal that was of (1) Poland, Cardinal Tr vulcio, and the Cardinal of Ausburgh Antoniano was not then above 16 The Princes of Eff. deputed her made of it at Venice, in the Presence of the Queen "16 The Princes of Est. detain'd him at Ferrara,

"where he read Publick Lectures, as the same "Ruscelli informs us in the place quoted." I have this from Mi de la Monnoie

(I) Wla concerns hu Works | We nave of his,
De Christiana puerorum educatione Dissertatio de obscuritate Solus in morte Christi De Successione Apostolica De Stylo Ecclesiastico, seu de conscribenaa Ecclesiastica historia De Primatu S Petri Lucubrationes in Rhe-(1) Wise concerns his Works] We have of his, historia De Primatu S Petri Lucubrationes in Rhetoricam Aristotelu & in Orationes Ciceronus Several picces of Veries, some Seimons, Notes and Prefaces on the Romance of Statius Achilles, and on the Terence of Gabriel Faernus (f), several Letters, & I is said he had a hand (g) in the Catechism of the Council of Trent As for what concerns his Letters they are Apostolical Briefs, which he composed while he was Secretary, I shall say something of them in the following Remark They are (h) reckon d among the Writings which the Writers of Secret Histories should make their Extracts from The other Sources are the Letters of the Cardinals Bembo and Sadolet, those of Peter Martyr, &c. Note, Bembo and Sadoles, those of Peter Martyr, &cc Note, that his Book De Christiana puerorum educatione, composed in Isalian at the Request of Cardinal Charles Borromeo, was printed at Verona, by the Care of Augustin Valerio, Bishop of the Place and Cardinal (1)

(1) A large Supplement to this Article] He says (2) it was still uncertain whether Automano was Born at Rome, but that there was no doubt of his having been Educated there from his Infancy He was plac d by Pope Pius the Fourth in the Service was placed by Pope Pius the Fourth in the Service of Cardinal Borromeo, that Pope's Nephew, he was that Cardinal's Secretary for the Latin Dispatches, he attended him to Milan, and return d with him to Rome. He was made Secretary of the Sacred College, and discharg'd the Duties of that place to admiration. He was admitted into the strackest Inadmiration He was admitted into the strasses Intimacy of Clement the Eighth, whose Briefs he composed so Eloquently, that that Pope had no reason to envy Lee the Tenth the Sadolets and the Bembo's He Interted Passages of the Scripture into 'em with great Judgment, for which he was blam'd by too rigid a Censor, who said, that it made several of the Pope's Letters savour more of a Monastery than of the Court of Rame, and represented release the Pope the Court of Rome, and represented rather the Perfon of a Preacher than that of a Soveriegn Pontiff (p) Che percis alcuni di lora, sapessere più di Clausiro regolare, che di sorte Ecolesiastica, è rapresentassere quasi la persona d'un predicarere, che un Pourisce He laugh'd at the Critician, and answer'd, That taking the thing aright, there were not too many Scripturephiases in the Letters he compos'd, that on the contrary they rather seem'd to him not sufficiently stoted with them. Considering the Consider of the Bered with them, confidering the Quality of the Per-fon who spake in 'em, which is that of a Sovereign Pastor of the Church Considering also, that they were not prophane Letters, in which the luxuriant Thought and Expression, after the Style of Temporal Soveraigns, ought to reign (c) Anzi che a lui parevia, che più tosso mancassaro in questa parce, havuto viguardo all'essere i servi Apostolici scritti dal supreme Passor della Chiesa, e non lettere prosene, che havussere a lussureggiare con sensi, & parole traite dalle Secretario di Principi tempo ali. He adds, that the Briess of Sadolet, and those of Bembo did not maintain the deserum which the Pontifical Dignity necessariy requir'd which the Pontifical Dignity necessarily required, and that in some Briefs, Bembo, by his Affectations of Purity in the Latin Tongue, savours not only of Propha ieness, and a Worldly Spirit, but even of Paganism Antoniano was in his last Sickness visited by Clement the Lighth, and received from him the Apostolical Benediction. He was (a) naturally Modest, of a pleasant Conversation, and a Prudence (d) Id ib which the Court-Spirit had not vitiated. He affisted. Pag. 113 in feveral Conclaves, and discours'd on 'em with singular Satisfaction, not without making solid Reflections on the Vanity of Human Things Men, faid he, load themselves with a thousand perplexing Cares to arrive at their Ends, but the Providence of God almost always discovers its Ascendant (e) per eccasione d'effere place Secretario del Sacro Collegio tame'. (e) Id ib anni, s'era trovate egli in molti conclavi, e di quei successi discoverna con gusto particolare, e mansinario (con continuo delli discoverna con gusto particolare, e mansinario (con continuo delli discoverna con gusto particolare, e mansinario (con continuo delli discoverna con gusto della discoverna della discoverna della discoverna discoverna della discoverna disco cessi discorreva con gusto particolare, e monstrava speci- 9 P 152 alemente in quanti modi vi si affaticasse l'industria humana, ed in quanti vi apparisse, e vi prevalisse ordina riamente la providenza Divina Without doubt he would have said, that the best concerted intrigues, would have laid, that the best concerted Intrigues, and those which have exercis'd the Thought most, come to nothing in the Conclaves, by reason of certain unforeseen Accidents. If by this he would have infinitely that the Springs of Providence cause themselves to be felt in a more particular manner, in those Assemblies where Popes are cleated by decent'd humself. For we see that we all himself. ed, he deceiv'd himself, for we see that in all the Courts of the World, the most prudent Politicks either succeed or miscarry by I know not what fortuitous Incidents, which ought to constitute us of the Truth of this Proverb, Man proposition and of the Court of th

(G) The Question rais'd about the Precidence of Parties of Paranda wrote to Rome the 11th of December 1996, (f) Let(f) La causa della precedenza Patriareale non importante Goo Francisco à fine, & si tratta tuttavia nella Congregacione Goo Francisco à fine, & si tratta tuttavia nella Congregacione Goo Francisco della Congregacione Goo Francisco Google G densita a june, O se tratta tuttavia nella Congregatione Gao Etandelle Ceremone Si scrive, O le scritture visune per cesco Pemanus, O si come dissi gia il parer della Congregatione è randa, pticontra la pretenza de gli Arcivescovi, O de Pairiarchi ma parte Solamente l'Amomano sossem questa parte, O scrive, O pag 24, sta saldo Sara un brav huomo, se farà testa tunte the colet. Vebasti, havendo da contrastar con Monsignor thustrissimo net 1504.

Jasti, havende da contrastar con Monsignor Mustrissimo net 1004 Gosualde

(A) A very good Book in it kind] I have quoted Mr Baillet, who has set forth the Value of it no detail. He has, not without Reason, prais'd the very Tables of the Book, they are put in a good Method, and are very useful. The Author has wrote a short Preface to it, which shews his good Taste and Judgment. He there brings in the Saying of a Spanish Writer, Indicem libra ab Autore, libram sylum a quovu ulio conficiendum esse The contrary is prastis'd now-a-days, Authors seave the trouble of Alphabetica

(c) Id 1b Pag 112

(d) Id 1b

vogho, Метогие overo diario, capi-tolo 7

pag 109 cdit Amstel 1648

(b) Id ib Pag 111

of the Spanish Writers consists of two Parts. The first comprehends all the Authors of that Nation who liv'd before the End of the 15th Century, the other those who liv'd after the End of that Century. This latter Part being ready sooner than the first, was publish'd before it It appear'd in Rome, as I have already said, in two Volumes in Folso in the Year 2672. I cannot tell whether the Author could find leisure enough to set the last Hand to the other Part, and to a second Design, which was no less painful. He was employ'd upon a Work under the following Title, Trophaum Historico-ecclesiasticum Deo verstats erectum ex manubiss Pseudo-bistoricorum qui Flavis Lucis Dextri, M Maximi, Helecæ, Braulionis, Luisprandi, & Julians nomine circumferuntur, hoc est, vindiciæ veræ atque dudum notæ Hispanarum rerum bistoriæ, germanarum nostræ gentis laudum non ex Germano-Fuldensibus Chronicus emendicatarum in libertatem & puritatem plena assertio He has reason of Immento say, that it is not only a Work of a vast Compass, but also attended with dange- se molis rous Consequences For where's the Man who will be undeceiv'd as to Fables, which ac forsan for a long time have flatter'd the Vanity of a Nation? To what do not 1 those expussions pose themselves, who dare oppose the Stream of a Tradition equally fabulous and glo-tious? No one's ignorant of the Noise the Provencials made upon Mr de Launoi's at-Remark D tempting to cure em of their Errors concerning Mary Magdalen and Lazarus Perhaps at the end Don Nicholas Antonio did not presume to meddle (B) with certain Pious Fables, as being too sensible of the untowardness of his Country on that Head, and the untractable Temper of the Inquisition He infinuates also, that he had yet other Works in his Head. But let us not forget that which he caus'd to be printed at Antwerp in the Year 1659 De exilio, sive de pana exilis exulumque conditione & juribus, in folio *
This is what I had said of Don Nicholas Antonio in the first Edition

This is what I had said of Don Nicholas Antonio in the first Edition Since that time from his I have been inform'd, that being return'd to Sevil, after his Study of the Law at Salamanca, I be shut himself up in the Royal Monastry of Benedictins, where he labour'd several rears on the Spanish Bibliotheque, and for that end made use of the Books of Benedictus de la Sernica, who was at that time Abbot of it, and Dean of the Faculty of Theology of Salamanca That in the Year 1659, he was sent to Rome by King Philip the Fourth, to take care of the Assars of the Kingdom as Agent-General † That the Cardinal of Arragon, Ambassador at des Savans Rome, obtain'd for him of Pope Alexander the Seventh, a Canonship of the Church of Sevil, Jure 1697 the Revenue whereof he employ'd in Alms and Books, That he gather'd above Thirty thousand Pag 423 volumes with it, so that his Library came short of none but the Vatican, That with that Assimilation of Spain in 4 Volumes in Folio That after he had caused the Two sirst Volumes to be the Spain in 4 Volumes in Folio That after he had caused the Two sirst Volumes to be the Position of the Crusado, which he discharged with great Integrity until his Death, which happen'd in 1684. That he left no other Estate, besides the vast Library which he had transported from Rome to Madrid, On the contrary, that his Executorship was clogged with Debts, Since that time from his of Spain in 4 Volumes in Folio ported from Rome to Madrid, On the contrary, that his Executorship was clogg'd with Debts, that hu two Brothers, who are Canons of Salamanca, and hu two Nephews, were not able to get hu Bibliotheque of Spain printed, but sent it to Monsseur the Cardinal d Aguirre, who was so generous as to be at the Charge (C) of the Impression himself, and give the Care of it to Monsseur Marti hu Library-keeper, who added some Notes in his Eminence's Name. I have just seen a little Book, in which I find the Issues have (D) complained of the West of the feen a little Book, in which I find the Jesuits have (D) complain'd of this Work of Don Nicholas Antonio.

APAFI

phabetical Tables to others, and it must be own'd, phabetical Tables to others, and it must be own'd, that they who are not laborious, and whose Talent lies in a great Warmth of Imagination, are in the right to let others compose the Indexes of their Works, but a Man of Judgment and Labour will succeed an making Tables to his ownWritings much better than a Stranger There are a Hundred good Advices to be given upon the making those Tables nor are they mistaken who look on 'em as the Soul of Books of Books

(B) With certain Pieus Fables] I'm mistaken perhaps, for Mr Baillet speaks thus of them, (a) His Critissim is very sound and solid in several places, above all, when it concerns the fabuleiu Traditions of the first Catechists that planted the Faith in Spain, and of those Categorifis that planted the Faith in Spain, and of those false Historians whem Imposture has brought forth for the Delusion of the Spaniards, and on whom our Author has promised a particular Criticism This would have made me more decisive, if I had not found this other Remark at the Tail of these Words of Mr Baother Remark at the Tail of these Words of Mr Baillet, However, there's room to suspess him of too much sudulgence for some vulgar Opinions, which are forsaken by Criticks, who have the best raish Be that as it will, there's no doubt but he would have (b) abolish'd the Authority of all the suppos'd Authors mention'd in his Title nor would he be the first that has wrote to that Tune, for see what I have found in (c) some Sheets of the Abbot de la Roque, For an Acc wast they have had the beldness to write (speakdes Savans du 13 Jan
1687 pag
11
(d) See the Remark D
sowards
the end

found in (c) tome Sheets of the Abbot de la Roque, for an Age past they have had the beldness to write (speaking of Spain) and publish false Chronicles to play upon the Credulity of the Learned or the Simple, which far from diminishing, increases the Glory of the (d) Marquis d Agropoli, who has so justly reduced and exploded Dexter, the ancientest of these false Chronicles in his Differtationes Ecclesializeas por el honor de los antiquos tutelares contra las ficciones modernas, printed at Sarragossa in 1671

(C) The Cardinal d'Aguirre, who was so generous as to be at the Charge of the Impression himself | He was the Author's Old Friend, and had studied with him of Learning is extreamly oblig'd to him for the Charges he has been at in the Printing of fuch a Book which contains Two Volumes in Folio fuch a Book which contains Two Volumes in Folio They were printed at Rome, and appear'd in 1696 You will find good Extracts of them in the Journal de Scavans, (e) and in that of (f) Leipfick See the Title of the Work Bibliotheca Hispana vetus, sive Hispanarum qui usquam unquamve scripto aliquid confignaverunt, notitia, complettens scriptores omnes qui ab Ottaviani Augusti Imperio usque ad amum MD storuerunt Auctore Nicolao Antonio Hispanens Jurisconsulto Ordinis S Jacobi equite Patria Ecclesia Canonico, regiorum negotiorum in Urbe & Romana curia Procuratore generali, demum Matriti consiliario Regio Odus Postgenerali, demum Matriti confiliario Regio Opus Post-bumum Nunc primum prodit justu & expensis Eminen-tissimi de Reverendissimi Domini D Josephi Sacuz Cai-dinalis de Aguirre

(D) The Jesuits have complain'd of this Work of Don

(R) Of 27

Nicholas Antonio] A Pamphlet (g) entitled Calumnia convicta, seu episola familiaris Cleandri ad clarissimum & eriditissimum virum, Evaristum super memoriali nuper porrette, Hispano ideomate ad Rigem Catholicum a Patre Joanne de Palazol Soc Jesu nomine & jussu Thyrsi Gonzales ejusdem Soc Generalis prepositi, dated from Dilingen the 25th of June 1698, informs me, that the Jesuits have represented to the King of Spain, that one of the Five Propositions of Jansenius has been prais'd as Catholick in the Work of Don Nicholae Anton o They seem unwilling to set up-Nn 2

Monihs of June and (f) Acta Lipf menf Jun & Jul

(b) See the Remark D at the end

(a) Bail-

let, Ju-gem des Savans to 2 @ 1541

(c)Journal the end

4 Joannes Betlenius, Transvlvaniæ, 13 pag 246 Ex codem Betlenio p 248, & 249 † Hic erat ex antiquillima Magnatum familia ortus, tam natura quàm propter diuturnas molestias plus justo demissus ac lenis, ut adepto etiam Diincipafu nimir a pleralq, lenitatis ınlımularetur Id P#8 247

(b) See on

211 5, 1 Teral Fxraces of hir Books in the Me morial of a

Jansenist, which I thall uite n the Arcicle of Bellarmin

Remark () I write tinis till brb of 1 cbruary 1699 (k) 1/us Work transated out of Spanish inco Latin by the tefus Per Cant, mas print-ed at Antwerp An 1698 (1) See the Ar icle Vespatian ma I concern ng Mount

Carmel (s) Here are the 11tles which

A PAFI (Michael) Prince of Transilvania, was promoted to that Principality in the Year 1661, without a Thought of it Ali Balla having forced Research Janes to quit Transilvania, was afraid he shou'd not be able to hinder him from rowing, and making his Party superior by the help of the Imperial Troops He resolved then to set up a Prince in opposition to him, who should be elected by the States the Country under the Protection of the Port In this Thought he ask'd the # Department of the Towns of Transilvanian whether there was not some great Transilvanian Principal to the Towns of Transilvania, whether there was not some great Transilvanian Lord in the Towns which had submitted to his Arms, worthy of the Principality? They nam'd to him Michael Apafi, who kept then in his Caitle of Ebestfalve, and still smarted under the long Troubles he had suffer'd among the Tartars, from whence he was but newly releas'd by a great Ransom Ali sent for him, without discovering his Design. Apasi (A) believ'd it was to put him to Death, but durst not refuse to go with the Guard that was sent for him His Wise, who was near the time of her Lying-in, was in a deadly Fright, and gave him over for lost Before he was got out of his own Estate, word was brought him, that his Wife was happily deliver'd of a Son; he could not tell whether he ought to rejoyce or afflict himself at the News but the Turks who guarded him, and knew Ali Bassa's Mind better than he, told him, it presag'd a happy Principality to him Ali receiv'd him very honourably, and a few Days after got him elected Prince of Trancarceris filvania He manag d it so, that the Election seem'd to be legally made, for he caus'd molestias as many of the Nobility of Transilvania to come into his Army as he could, and told 'em he wish'd that they, together with the Deputies of the Cities, would elect a Prince and piomis d in the Sultan's Name to confer the Marks of the Principality upon whom foever they should Flect * Thus Michael Apasi became Prince of Transilvania without any (B) Intrigues, on his part or Expectation of it He was † of(C) Noble Birth indeed, but of a quiet Disposition, his long Imprisonment in Crim-Tartary fill'd him with humble Thoughts Kimin Janes, who expected Wonders from his Conjunction with the Imperialists commanded by Montecuculi, found himself disappointed, for as soon as Montecuculi was informed of the Condition of the Ottoman Forces, he thought it more convenient to return to Hungary than hazard a Battle. This Retreat gave the Turks an opportunity of making great Ravages, and obtaining a Victory in Transilvansa which on the Cardinal d'Aguirre, who had been at the Charge of the Impression of that Work, but it s easily perceived that they attack him indirectly. They suppose that a Jansenist has in that place corrupted the lext of Antonio. Let's search the bottom of this matter That Author acknowledges this Proposition of Prudentius, Bishop of Propes, for Catholick, That the Blood of Jesus Christ was shed for all Believers but not for those who have never believ'd, who do not believe, and who never will believe Quod sanguis Christi effusis sit pro omnibus credentibus, sed non pro iis qui nunquam crediderunt, nec credituri sunt The Author of the Pamphlet shews that this Proposition might have been confider'd as Catholick, and that therefore there was no manner of Reason to suspect the Faith of Don N cholas Antonio or that of the Cardinal d. Aguirre Note, that his Lminence has declar d boldly (h) against the loose Calussis, and that this is supposed to be the Reason of the ill Offices the Jesuits endeavour to do him

endeavour to do him

It's likely this will not be the only Complaint brought to the Tribunals against these two Volumes of the Bibliotheque of Spain I have not (i) yet seen them, and I question whether there's a Copy of 'em in the United Provinces, yet I know the Author has declar d loudly against the pictended Luigrand, and against Higuira, who brought him to light, and has fallen desperately on Aibert of Souis, on the Chroni lis of Dexter, on Maximus, on Julian, &c A (k) Spanish Jesuit takes notice of this in a Work he has published in favour of his Brethren of Anti-werp, Compilers of the Asia Santforum 'Tis there I have seen some Passages of Don Nicholas Automo on that Subject But as the Marquis a Agropoli, Grandee of Spain by a double Title, could not oppose these fabulous Historians without exposing himself (1) to a vexatious Information before the Inquisi-(1) to a vexatious Information before the Inquisi-tion, as a Writer who betrays the Honour of his Country, I cannot comprehend how the Monks there should be capable of letting the Memory of our Nicholas Antonio reft,

(A) Apass believ d it was to put him to Death] I give more Credit to this, than to those who say he was an ambitious Man I quote an Author (a) who was well inform'd, for he liv'd at that time, and had Liployments in Transilvania, which gave him Opportunities of knowing the depth of all Transactions. Now he relates in a very ingenious manner, that Apass was made Prince of Transilvania, without having contributed any thing to it, and affirms he he g v s having contributed any thing to it, and affirms he i millf in the Title Page of his History of Frantilvania, printed at Amsterdam 1664 in 32 Joannes Berlemius Comes Comitatus Albenius tegni Fiantilvania Confiliarius, Cancellarius, ac sedis Siculicalis Udvarhely Capitaneus supremus, &c was not an Ambitious Man At the fame time (b) Riturns an excusable Fault to say (b) that Apasi hadan (caut s Hipsality, and Ambition withal proportionable to me from fory of Soul For generally those who are rais'd to Excise Mahomet Principalities in the midst of Troubles, stirrd up by their Competitors, have very ambitious Thoughts. by their Competitors, have very ambitious Thoughts A French Author, who has fet forth a History of the Troubles in Hungary, does not represent Michael Apas as a Prince who endeavour'd to aggrandize himself, for when he speaks of the Resolution taken by the Hungarian Protestants to confederate themfelves with those of Transloania to maintain their Liberty of (onfessace by the Sword, he adds these Words, (c) The Princes Abasi, who was a Woman of a (c) Hist of turbulent Spirit, and extreamly wedded to the Errort of the Irou-Calvin, solicited the Confederacy powerfully, while her bles of more peaceable Husband employ'd himself only in Hunting, and in the Conversation of the Learned

(B) Without any Introduce on his bartor Expellation of the 1 An 1668

and in the Conversation of the Learned

(B) Without any intrigues on his part or Expediation of it. An 1668

Of this I have spoke already in the foregoing Remark

It remains only that I say a word or two to those the F dition

Authors who seem not to have been well informed of Amsterof the manner of his Election (d) One of 'emspeaks dami686

thus, In the beginning of the Tear 1663, Kumin Janos was defeated, and lost hu Life The Turks sinding no more Resistance, made themselves Masters of all Tran filvania, except the Places possess by the Imperialists

Michael Abasi, who had been klested in the room of Kimin Janos, desir'd a Peace with the Turks, and accordingly Hali Basia entred into a Treaty with the Baron de Grez This Discourse plainly imposses, first,

That Abasi was in War with the Turks

That Abasi was in War with the Turks

he was plac'd on the Throne of Transilvania. 2 That he was not Elected before the Death of Kimin Janos, he was plac'd on the Throne of Transituania. 2 That he was not Elected before the Death of Kimin Janes, and confequently not till the Year 1663 Now he was Elected in the Year 1661 during the Line Kimin Janes, and at the Recommendation of the Bassa And Kimin Janes was kill'd in the Month of January 1662 The Author of the Life of Count Tekeli (e) relates on an it is faid, that Michael Abasi (*) Pag 18 was rais d by the Turks to the Principality of Transil- of the Edvania, on his promising a larger Tribute Let us send tion of this Promise back to the same place where his other 1600 metric is a who addres'd themselves to the Grand Signior, as the mil-inform'd Mr. Movers tells us,

(C) He was of Noble Birth indeed 1 The Author

(C) He was of Noble Birth indeed] The Author (f. I quote, by using these Words, ex anriquissims (f) Betle-Magnatum families, sufficiently consutes Mr. Morer: mus pag who says, that Michael Abassi was a Magistrate's Sanof 247 Hermanstadt she Chief Gity of Transilvania. Doubt. (g) Month less twas on the Faith of his Dictionary, that the of March Author of the Historical Moreovy (g) assumed the 1690 p same thing. fame thing cost Kimin James his Life (D) in January 1662 His Son endeavour'd to maintain his a The Gen Pretensions, its Efforts had no success Apass was oblig'd to join his Forces with vernor was those of the to recover the Places which the Emperor had posses'd himself of vid Rettain Transilvania he Imperial Garsson of Clausemburgh defended it self a so long, that no feet on foot for Evacuation of those Places, but without any effect; they were forc'd Vanetian, and a good to come to an in War at last * It went well for the Turks in the Year 1663 Engineer But the Year following they lost the same Battel of St Godard, after which the Vianoli Grand Vizier consented to a Truce of 20 Years In the Year 1664 Apass treated with Hist Vesche Imperial Garssons of Clausemburgh and Zatmar v. who deliver'd up those Two neta, to the Imperial Garisons of Clausemburgh and Zaimar γ , who deliver'd up those Two neta, to Towns to him He liv'd under the Protection of the Port, and in a great Independence of the Court of Vienna during the Truce of the Two Empires At first he fallenio in vour'd the Malecontents of Hungary, without breaking with the Emperor, but at last eadem his engaged in an open War for them, and publish'd his Reasons in (E) a Latin Manifesto address d to all the Christian Potentates The Turks broke with the Emperor in the Year of the Potentates of the Christian Potentates The Turks broke with the Emperor in the Year of the Potentates 1683, and enter'd Hungary with a formidable Army, which penetrated as far as Vienna Phil Cluwith all the ease imaginable But those happy beginnings were follow'd by a dreadful veril in-The Grand Vizier rais'd the Siege of Vienna, and from that time there fol-Geogra low'd nothing but Loss upon Loss, and Missortune upon Missortune on the Ottoman p m 281 side Transilvania sell a Prey to the Imperial Troops, and Apass, instead of afferting Liberties of Hungary, has been the cause of that (F) Kingdom's losing that shadow of the Liberty which it enjoy'd, for it's now no longer Elective but look'd on as a Conquer d Country, and accordingly is erected into an Hereditary Kingdom.

492

(D) Kimin

Apafi died at (G) Wesf-

(k) Id p

(b) Ricaut that it was in the beginning of the Year 1663 ubi supra Here's another blot to be hit Sir P Ricaut (b) fets forth, that Kimin Janos having been defeated near 1661 tune a second time. That he gave the Turks Battel as some distance from Presburgh, that the Success was a long time doubtful, but that a last he was forced to yield to Numbers, and in the Ilight was thrown off Horse by bus own Men, and trod to death. Horse by bis own Men, and tred to death That therian notes, that the Turks kill'd and took fifty wand Christian Prisoners in the Battel of Clau-

(emburgh, and that a little before, they avoided a Battel, because the Emperors Troops and those of Kimin Janes were superior to theirs in Number But I find nothing of this in my Transylvanian Author (1) Betle- He informs me (1) on the contrary, that Montecuculi nius, pag and Kimin Janos being advanced beyond Clausemburgh, were inform'd that Ali Bassa Army was four times stronger than theirs; so that Montecuculi dealers to Kimin Janua that considerate and the constant and the constant and the constant and the contract and the contra declard to Kimin Janes, that confidering the ill condition their Infantry was in by Reason of the scarcity of Provisions which they had suffer d, he could not hazard his Imperial Majesty's Troops (k) Kimin Janos being driven to despair, could hard-(k) 1d p

(k) Kimin Janos Deing driven to delpair, could hardly refrain from Tears at this Declaration, and was forced to return with Montecueuli into Hungary He fought no other Battel but that in which he was (l' Id p killd (l) nor did he fight it near President in Hungary, but in the Plains of Transsitions on the 23d of January 1662 near a Village called Hetur The (m) Id p Historian notes (m) that about five thousand Men of Mantecuculi's Army perish'd by Famine and Sicknesses (m) Id p. Historian notes (m) that about five thousand Men of Mentecuculi's Army perish'd by Famine and Sickness This Circumstance joyn'd to that which is observed above, does not gain much credit to what Sir P Riubi supra, cau says, (n) that the Limperor's Forces, and these of Kimin Janos being joyn'd, form'd so fair and numerous an Army, that one would have said they were not only able to defend the Frontiers of Christendom, but even to distinct the Empire of the World with the Ottomans Plow can this be, if the Ottoman Army was four times stronger? But how can this Victory of the Tarks near Clausenburgh which cost the Christians and Men he reconciled, How, I say, when the said and Men he reconciled, How, I say, when the constant of the Christians of Transilvania? Have the Tarks their Gazetteers in Constantinople who vie with the Christians in framing imaginary Victories?

(E) In a Latin Manissis advices all the Christian

(E) In a Latin Manifile address at the Christian Potentates | I have a Copy of it by me, printed in the Year 1682, after the Copy of Transitionia. But as there is no date to the Manifile of Michael A-But as there is no date to the Manifesto of Michael Apasi, and that my Ldition does not note in what time that of Transsivania was published, I dare not affirm that that Prince declared the War in 1682, for I find in the (a) Life of Count Teckely, that in 1681, Apasi came to some him with an Army of Transsivanians, and that they both undertook the Siege of Zatmar The Author of the History of the Tromb'es of Hungary speaks of that Siege in the same Year, and informs us that (c) Michael Apasi had made himself Master of the Town, but not being able to reduce the Citadel, he retreated, and (d) lost his Baggage in the Retreat. That (e) they could not well penetrate into the Cause of that Disgrace, that some attributed it to a misunderstanding (d) Pag between Count Teckely and Teleki who com- 39 manded the Transilvanian Troops at that Siege, (e) Pag that the latter was accused of making use of had 2. that the latter was accused of making use of bad 32 Powder, and according to others, that Prince Apasi would not take it, on some advice he had received that the Grand Signior expected he should put that place into his hands, be that how it will, 'tis certain that the Bassa who commanded the Turks at that Siege, sent large Memoirs to Constantinople against that Prince, which obliged him so return into his own Country for fear an alteration should happen there in his absence. See how this Historian reports the Tattle of our Reasoners The Historical and Political Mercury has (f) faithfulreckons the ly copied him

(F) Has been the Cause of that Kingdom's losing] Zatmar to Twere wrong to accuse him of Imprudence on that score; for never had any one a better prospect of good Success. The Forces of the Malecontents alone had kept the Imperial Forces in play till then. What might not reasonably be expected then from the extraordinary Preparations of the Grand Signior, who had promis'd Wonders and Mountains to Tekeli? But by one of these fatal Conjunctures by which the Providence of God interposes from time to time to confound the best grounded Human. which the Providence of God interposes from time to time to confound the best grounded Human Hopes, it hapned that Apass not only perform'd nothing in Favour of the Liberty of Hungary, but even riveted its Chains Siceratinfata It so hapned that instead of over-powering the House of Austria, they roused it out of a drooping Condition, they put it in a capacity of resuming its Ascendant, they ratified its claim on the Crown of Hungary, and made the Turkish Dominions an inexcendant, they ratified its claim on the Crown of Hungary, and made the Turkish Dominions an inexhaustible fund of good News for the Confederacy (g) Se the form'd against France during the course of the War Remark (s) Must it therefore be said that Apass was a hotely she Araheaded rash Man? By no means, unless all be stilled stelle Kotho who can't foresee Events the most contrary to tagus all Appearances. Would not the best Politicians have warranted that France would not at the Wheel. have warranted that France would push at the Wheel have warranted that France would push at the Wheel on one side, while the Turks acted on the other? Who could ever have perswaded himself that it should lye as at did for 6 Years following without Action, in the midst of the most favourable Occasions to aggrandize it self that ever any Nation had?

Apass, Tekels, and their Adherents are very excusable in not being able to conjecture that the Franch should chuse to make War with the Edict of Nants, rather than with the House of Austria No body is ignorant of what I have said of the good Tidings (h) which come to us daily from Tur-

No body is ignorant of what I have taid of the good Tidings (h) which come to us daily from Ture (h) I prote ky All our Gazzetteers and other Newsmonthis in gers tell us hardly any thing from that Country but 2694 I what's enough to transport us with Joy The change Musmurings of the People, their Milery, their mothing Vows for Peace; Diffentions in the Divian, a grand in the 2d Vinier strangled, formidable Pattions, Plagues, different mal

(f) Month of May, 1690 pag Siege of

(4) Pag. 104

(c) L 8 pag 30 a Daring the Compaigh of 1600 y In the Mouth of February , 699 See the Remarks ticle Lyfippe us, 1 35

263

CAP 10

Ti in bis

pag 104 (e) See P en Pliny,

1 4 Eleg

(q) Difesa

di dante 13 c 16 apud Carol Dati

ubi lupra,

eslumn

Ælian

(G) Weissemburgh towards the end of April 1690 The Turks endeavour'd to fet up Tekels in his place, but he had not the Fortune to make the best Advantage of an Incursion he had made into that I Country. The Presence of Prince Lewis of Baden melted him like Snow before the Sun, if I may use the Expression, nor has he from that time to the time a of my writing this, given much disturbance to the new Titular (c) Plin 1
Prince of Transilvania, the Son of Michael Apasi

APELLES, one of the most Famous Painters of Antiquity, was a Native of (d) Id ib

the Isle of (A) Coos, and flourish'd in the days of (B) Alexander, he was highly esteem'd by this Prince, and the only , Person who had the Honour to draw his Picture He ob- lib to this Prince, and the only y retion who had the trouble to the stander having fent one of his cap 34.

(C) Mistresses to sit to him for her Picture, and being informed that Apelles was fallen (f) Fuit & comitas in Love with her, bestow'd her upon him. There's ground enough to doubt whether Apelles ever abus'd (D) the Bounty of this Great Monarch as is pretended It's ter quantity likely he was too good a Courtier not to know that a Speech so little respectful as that gration which Alexan-

(i) Paris
Gazette of and Syria, and an hundred things of this Nature the 20th of which come by the Couriers from Germany, now of one fort, now of another, and are not these fine Tidings? How many compleat Victories, how many Towns taken, how many Parties deseated, and how many fortunate incursions into the Enemies Country, have we not had reason to publish in the Summers, and what hopes of Peace have not been given in the Winters? Is not the raising the Siege of Belgrade in 1693, represented as a happy event, seeing the imperial Troops had executed their cheif Intentions, which was to hinder the Ottomans Count Techeif Intentions, which was to hinder the Ossemans cheif Intentions, which was to hinder the Ottomans from making an inroad into Translivania? I have heard one say soon after the reduction of Ireland, that it would have been well done to prolong the War on that side, that there might be a sure Fund of new Advantages in East and West (G) Apass died at Wesssemburgh] The Newssmongers have differ'd in the Circumstances of his Death Some have publish d(1) that he died suddenly in the Assembly of the States of Transilvania, others, that he died after a (k)long Sickness, but all agree he died at (1) Wesssemburgh kelı, pag (1) Life of Count Te Count keli fays at Alba Julia, the fame as Weissemagree he died at (1) Weiffemburgh

bourg
(m) Plini-(A) Was a Native of the Isle of Coos] I find but two Authors who say it, and one of em must be supposed not to have written, what most Editi-Carlo Daons make him fay, but that instead of these Words, Apolles on some caterionness consultation of the solution of t not Apelles es usque His supposition has been confirm'd (n) by the Manuscript of the Fasican, by those (s) of the Kings Library, and by that of Mr Celbert The other Witness is Ovid, who says Hardouin to, 5 pag 264 (p) Ovid.
de Ponto this

Ut (p) Venus Artificis laber est & gloria Coi, Equores madidas qua premit imbre comas, We shall mention in the Remak I another Passage of this Poet, Where some read Con and others Com The great number of Authors who give Apelles another Country, obliged le Mazzoni (q) to maintain Ovid's Cause, but he maintains that instead of Co, that Poet has said Chio Three (r) Authors of good credit make Apelles a Native of Ephosus Suidas makes him a Native of Colophon, and adds that the City of Ephosus adopted him

Ephefus adopted him.

pag 103 (r) Strabo 1 14. Lu-(B) Flourish'd in the days of Alexander] It cann not be denied that he was at the height of his Reputation when that Prince began the Conquest of Assa, that is to say, in the hundred and first Olympiad His Adventure at the Court of Egypt makes it canus. de ad His Adventure at the Court of Egypt makes it appear that he outliv'd Alexander It's wrong then hift anim appear that he outliv'd Alexander It's wrong then I 4 C 50 to fay with Majoragiss that he was brought up by Zeunes, the distance of above 120 Years between the 84th Olympiad in which (a) Zeunes flourish'd, and the Reign of the first Prolomy, will not hist 297. allow it Carlo Date is the Person who has taken notice of Majoragiss's Mistake He says, Non so (b) con qual fondamento Marcantonio Majoraggio nel Comento Remark A sopra l'Orat di Cicer a 11 dicesse che Apelle sosse follare (a) See the con qualfondamento Marcantonio Majoraggio nel Comento Remark A sopra l'Orat di Cicer a 11 dicesse che Apelle sosse scole Zeusicle Zeusicle Zeuthus Apellei had not the good Fortune to be be bati ubi Storm hapned to force him into that Port in the supra, pag Reign of this King A knave who had a mind to play upon him came and told him, the King invited play upon him, came and told him, the King invited him to Dinner Apeller waited on him, and observing the King's angry looks, excused himself by letting him know that he came by his Orders. He desired he would shew who it was invited him, but that was impossible, for the Cheat was not then in that was impossible, for the cheat was not then in the Room Apeller upon this began to draw his Face upon the Wall with a bit of Charcoal, and Prolomy knew him by the very first Lines Non (c) fuerat ei gratia in comitatu Alexandri cum Ptolemae, quo regnante Alexandriam vi tempestatis expussus, sukor-nato fraude amulorum plano regio invitatus, ad Regis canam venit, indignantique Ptolemeo & vocatores suos oftendenti ut diceret a quo corum smuitatus effet, arrepto carbone exfisito e foculo imaginem in pariete delineavit, agnoscente vultum plani rege ex incheate prote-

(C) One of his Mistreffes bestowed her upon him] Pliny relates the thing in this manner, Alexander (d) ei hinorem clarissimo prabuit exemplo, namque cum dile-dam sibi è pallacis suo pracipue, nomine Campaspen, tiam fibi è pallacis suio pracipue, nomine Campaspen, nudam pingi ob admirationem forma ab Apelle suffiset, emuque tum pari captum amore sensifiet, dono cam dedit Magnus animo majer imperio sui nec minor hoc facto quam victoria aliqua, quippe se vicit, nec torum tantum suum, sed etiam effectium donavit Artifici, ne diletta quidem respectu inotus ut qua modo regis sussessibilitationis esses sunt qui Venerem anadiomenen illopictum exemplari putant Alian (e) mentions the same Story, but gives that Mustress the name of Pancase. exemplari putant Ælian (e) mentions the fame Story, but gives that Mistress the name of Pancase
The Article fof that Prince shall contain a Remaik on this Subject, we shall shew that a Man who could give the fairest of his Concubines to be drawn stark naked, does not deferve the Encomiums of Continent and Chaite which have been lavish d on

(D) Ever abus'd the bounty of that great Monarch as a pretended | Pliny (f) may fay what he pleases, that Apelles had made himself acceptable to that Prince by his Politeness and civilized way, but he'll scarce perswade those who know Alexander, that a Painter should tell him with impunity, Hold your Tongue, the Buys that may are Colored are her year. It's not to be supposed. that mix my Colours laugh at you It's not to be suppo-fed that Apelles could think so harsh an Expression, after what manner soever spoken, would be well taken. Nor is it to be imagin'd that Alexander, who had been so well educated, and had so good a Genius, spoke so impertinently of Painting as to deserve to be mock'd by the meanest Prentice This is the Opinion of the Learned Freinshemius Non'g) eredi-Opinion of the Learned Freinshemius Non'g) eredidrim in officina imperité multa disserencem ab Apelle mordaci differio repressum suisse Namid usque majestati tanti regis, neque modestia pittoris, hominis non supidiu ac indosti conveniset, & Alexander liberalibus studiu ab extrema atate imbutus, etiam de artibus quanon calleret hand inepte judicare didicerat As sos Megabyses (b), Priest of Diana, 'twere no such wonder if Apelles had given him this advice. And if we believe (1) Plutarch, 'twas he who was censur d'in If Apelles had given him this advice. And if we believe (1) Platarch, 'twas he who was centur d in this manner by Apelles; Can't you see, said he to him, that while you held your Peace these Boys who mix the Oker, look'd on with respect, because of the Gold and Purple of your Garments, but laugh d when they heard you speak of a thing you did not understand? Another Author says (k) that twas Zeunes spake so to Mega-Author lays (k) that twas Zeunes loake to to Megabyfer I might more easily believe the Liberty
'tis said (l) Apelles took with Alexander on another Occasion Alexander viewing his own Picture which Apelles had just finish'd, did not seem to admire it as it deserv'd. A little while after a Horse was led by, who Neigh'd at the sight of the Horse in the same Piece Sir, said Apelles then to Alexander, one would think this Horse was a bester Judge of Painting than your Majesty. But to give you my Painting than your Majesty But to give you my Thoughts freely of it, I find all this too harsh, too gross, and too brutal, to be ascribed to a Painter, represented in all other Instances a modest, ci-viliz d and polite Person. A Man must either be on a foot of a Jester at Court, or be a whimsical un-

(e) Ælian Var hist dro magfrequen. ter in officinam - Sed & in officina imperite multa differenti filentium Comiter fuadebat. rideri eum dicens à pueris qui colores tererent erat au-Coritate IUris in egem alioqui ira-Cundum Plin uba iupra (g) Freinf-hem iupplem in Curtium 1206 (b) Several think that Megaby-ZCS WAT & to the Prick Others understand by Megaby-ZCS IN this place a great Lord of Persia (1) De adulat & amici p 58 & de tmaquili animi P 471, 472 (k)Æhan var hift Freinsbemius ibid. cites him attributed thus to Apelles Ælian L

tow aid

which is attended to him, must displease The Answer he made (E) concerning Law * serving does not recommend his Manners. There has been much Discourse concerning his w, since it Picture of Calendary, but scarce any body has observed the Blunders that have been made (F) had padded in relating the Fig. which was the occasion of that Picture The Treatise * m which Later of Colonial and the Pic cian makes mention of this is excellent. Apelles's Master-piece was the Picture of (G) de non Venus rifing out of the Sea Some Authors pretend that the Mistress Alexander gave temere him, fit when he drew that Piece Others, that the Courtezan Phryne was the Origicalum-They mention another Picture of Venus which he had begun, and which would nie

m)Ælian 1 2 C 3 (n) In Apophthegm (o) Paulus Leopardarionum darionum (p) \ Ada-של דעשע ל" ETRIPON ő-71 av 9 6-TULFOS may FEVOV το συμ-TOTOV d. און ופנמב Bauque on-78, ei 7781, 4 γω γδ σω-DIV ets & MENYROUS απο λαυσίν MET EJ ONNI TEIC-JULY KANIN Irrifus autem 4 familiaribus quod meretricis loco virginem adduxiflet. Nolite mirari, inquit, mihi etenım non toto opus erit triennio ut eam ad futuræ voluptatis ulum pulcre doctam inque red-dere vale-Athon L 13. P \ 88 (q) Richelet in hir D Strongry at the word Pucelage, ob Serves that bead is call'd

> the Ragoo of Soes (r) Athen ubi fupra. (1) Juntus in Catalou go Artificum in

Apeile,

pag 19

toward Humorist as your greatest Artists generally are I say we must have recourse to either of those Two Suppositions, to believe what is said of Apeller, not only with regard to Alexander, but even with regard to that Megabyses, respected on the score of his Gold and Purple Apelles's Compliment to Alexander on Occasion of the Horse's Neighing, is less harsh in the Translations of some learned Men, less harsh in the Translations of some learned Men, than in the Original, but this softning does them but little Honour It's aBlunder, it is grossignorance. Let's see the Greek. (m) Αλεξανδρο πασαιδρο την εν Γροσο εικονα εαυτό τα πό 'Απελά χαρρίθ κε επίνειτε κτ τ άξιαν το χάρμαθο εισαχ πορίθ κε επίνειτε κτ τ άξιαν το χάρμαθο εισαχ πορίθ το τπί είχονι ως ωρος αληθινόν κρι οπείνον, ω βασηλεῦ (είπου ο 'Απελλίκ) αλλ' ολρ εππο εικα σα χιρικωτερο τ') κτ πολύ Sue how Erasmus (n) represents this Fact Apud Ephosum quum Alexander conspectam effigiem sui corporis ad υνυμη magna arte expossama adeffigiem sui corporis ad vivum magna arte expressam admiraretur, atque interim forte equus eductus picto in eadem tabula equo adhinneret, deceptus imitatione, les, equus, inquit, O Rex multo melius expressus est quam tu I omit some Circumstances which Erasmus adds without having found them in Elian Ill only observe the Reslection he causes the Painter to only observe the Resection he causes the Painter to make, Sir, I have succeeded better in painting your Horsethan in painting your Majesty. This is not the Sanse of the Greek, a learned Critick (e) has shewed that yearing, and thereby has convine a Galium Rhodiginum and Erasmus, of having represented this Story very wrong I wonder Pliny should have known nothing of it, he who mentions something of the Neighing of the Horse See before the Remark K.

(E) The Answer he made conterning Lass] She was yet a tender Maid when Apelles seeing her coming home from the Wells and admiring her Beauty, cajoled her at such a rate that she went with him where home from the wells and admiring her Beauty, cajo-led her at such a rate that she went with him where he pleased. He brought her so an Entertainment where he was to meet fome of his Friends, they laugh'd (p) at him, for having instead of a Courte-zan presented a childish Girl Don's trouble your heads about that, answered he, I il manage her so that before three Years come about she shall have all her paces to Per-fection Would not a body think the Discourse was about an unmanaged Colt, which in the hands of an excellent Horieman might quickly learn all his Airs and Paces. The thought of the Corruptions of the most renown'd Courtizans of the Age she sive a sine. The Painters (r) went to see House to take the Model of a fine Neck. No doubt Apales copied from the same Original, Nemini (s) dubium esse petess quin hanc spsam quoque Laidem sibs veluti in contuberman adscriverst Apales, quo vivam emendatissima simaginem ab animali exemple in tabulas suas evalutium contubersionales. (F) The Blunders that are made un relating the mat-ter of Fast] See how Lucian tells it. The Painter spriphilus not able to bear the Favour that Apelles Accomplice in the Configuracy of Theodorus, Governor of Phenics He mainten'd that Apiller was feen at Dinner with Theodorus, and whisper'd him in the Lar all the while. He afterwards came to be inform'd that the City of Tyre revolved, and that Pelusium was taken through Apeller's means Yest twas manifest, the Accused had never been at Tyre, nor ever had known Theedeem, but under the general Quality of Governor of Phonens Prolong was in fuch a Rage, that without ever examining the motter he had lik'd to have put spelles to dooth. He consider'd neither the Accuser not the Accused The former from Spight and Emulation might well have been suspected of endeavouring the Ruin of an imagent Person; the latter was somewhat too little Allan to be capable of fuch Accompts, though a Senie of the Obligations he was under to Prolony had not check'd his evil Intentions. The Prence did not consider this. He never enquir'd whether Apelles had made a Voyage to Tyre, he only storm'd and swore, and if one of the Conspirators had not discover'd the Wickedness of Antiphilus, the Acculer lybius in fed had infallibly been executed On the other hand when Prolomy was satisfied of the Accuser's 5 Books. Crime, he condemn'd him to be Apelles's Slave, and gave the latter an hundred Talents. Twee on this of the case. gave the latter an hundred Talents 'Twas on this of it at Occasion that Apelles drew the fine Picture of Callarge lumny which Lucion has described Pity he should (1) Ad not have perceived the monstrous Anachronism he distinct. is guilty of in this Relation, for Theoderu's Conspiracy (a) hapned in the Reign of Ptolomy Philopater, which did not begin till an hundred Years after the Death of Alexander , judge then whether Apelles could be alive at that time So that one of these two things must be laid down, either that Lucian speaks of a different Apelles from him who was so much considered by Alexander, or confounds some Plot hatch'd in the Reign of Pielony Philadelphia with the Conspiracy of Theodoria There being no Author who can give us any light about a Conspiracy in which Calumny had involv'd our Painter, 'twere loss of time to trace the ground of Lucien's Error Let's only consider whether he had any other Apeller in View besides him I mention in this Article, 'tis what I can't conceive, for any one who knows how to write will take care, when he mentions a Painter who has nothing in common belides the Name with the great and incomparable Apelles, not to call him fuit Lpho fimply Apelles IIe'll advertile his Reader that he fius teste does not mean the great Apelles Now Lucian gives Suida, no hint of this, on the contrary, all he fays brings us in a strait Line upon the great Apeller, this then is the Person whom he means I know that a learned Man lays hold (b) of the Epithet Ephifian, America Losa But I know too that (c) others have given this spithet to the great Apeller And I can even make use of the Reason contained in the passage I have quoted, for if Lucian could give the Epithite to his Apelles, because adopted by the Inhabstants of Ephelm, though boin at Colophon, I can alledge de calum that he gave it the great Apeller born in the Island () Strafo of Coor, but undoubtedly a Citizen of Ephelm bon, Ele-Would a Man of his Fame have settld in that City en, Tret-(where Alexander saw, and frequented him) with- Les out enjoying all the Privileges of a Citizen Ano- (d) ther Proof, Mr Tollius agrees that Lu san speaks of 1 35 c 10 ther Proof, Mr Tourse agrees that La ian speaks of 1 35 C 15 the same Apelles with Suidas, now Suidas speaks on- & init c ly of the great Apelles This I prove, 1 Because he only 11 Carlo mentions one Apelles Would he pass over the Great Dati pag and Illustrious, to mention the Obscure and Un105 & P known? 2 Because he gives his Apelles the Quality of a Disciple of Pamphilus of Amphipolu, a in Plin to Ousley which Plans (d) has also given no the great 5 D 255 those Ages gives a horror Apelle's Friends out did even him (q) in Debauchery Lan became one of the most renown'd Courtizans of the Age she liv'd Quality which Pliny (d) has also given to the great 5 p 25 Apeller. So that Lucian's Error is evident, and I say that am surprized that neither (e) John Buprist Adriani, Plutarch nor (f) Carlo Dati, nor (g) Francis Junius, nor lo many in the I ife other renown d Authors who have spoken of this of Aratus Treatise of Lucian, should have perceived it, but makes Ahave taken this Relation as a real Adventure of the pelles the great Apelles Mr Tolling very well knew that the Disciple of Crime of which Apelles was accused had relation to Pamphithe Reign of Ptolomy Philopater, but he did not know that Lucian was deceived, he would rather suppose this is a that Lucian had another Apelles in view, who was doubtful contemporary with Antiphilus, and Disciple of Pam- Testimon contemporary with Ansiphilus, and Disciple of Pam- Testimony philus I carnot say in what time Ansiphilus liv'd, Plutarch mor Cresidenus, whose (h) Disciple he was; but it's an another plant according to (s) Pluy, that Pamphilus sourch'd place makes in the time of Philip the Father of Alemander the him rather

Great

(G) The Pitture of Venus rifing we of the Sen] ple of Meanguffus confectated at in the Temple of Julius Calianthus for The lower Parts of it had been spoil'd, and (e) in a no hand was able to mend it; Time definoyed the Letter at rest, and then Nerv caus'd another Penus to be drawn the begin-by Beretheus, which he sufficient in the room of ning of the plat of Apelles Partem execution of the Divus Au Value of Apelles Partem execution of the Secution of Apelles (a) Apelle (b) Apelle (c) Apelle

(g) In Caulogo Artificum in Apelle (f) Ubi supra. (g) In Cara (h) Plin, lib 35. C, 10 pag 222. (s) Ibid pag 2061 Euflus

(/) Ad distinctionem illius qui fub Alexandro & Ptole-VIXIT TILA XIMI DOartis Cos patria Hic autem patria Colophonius, veid eff adoptione fuit Lpho-Pamphila Amphipolitæ discipucobus Tollius not in lus But the Dilu*Voluminibus etiam editis ouz docarnam tinent Plin 135 cap to

(k) Lib

13 p 157 apud CarolumDatı ubi fupra,p 145

(1) Plin

1 35 C 10 p m 212

(m) Epist

9 ad tamil l de Offic 1 3 C 2

(n) See the preceeding

Remark

have exceeded the first, if Death (H) had not prevented him Mr Mores has taken (I) one of these Pictures for the other, and has not rightly related what concerns (K) his Picture of a Horse No kind of Business was of that Importance with Apelles as to oblige him to pass a day without handling his Pencil, from whence abose (L) a famous Proverb. The Books & this great Painter had composed on the Art of Painting are all lost It is not known where, or when he died One of his chief Excellencies was that of hitting the Likeness to a wonder. So that Phinognomists made a (M) Judgment gustus di cavit in delubre patru Casaris qua Anadyomene vocatur, versibus Gracu tals opere dum laudatur victo, sed illustrato hujus inferiorem partem corruptam qui resiceret uon potust reportri. Verum ipsa injaria cessic in gloriam artisicu. Consenuit hac tabula carie, aliamque pro ea Nero principatu substituit suo. These are Pliny's own Words in the 10th Chapter of his 35th Book I have related the Passage in the Remark C where he fays that Alexander's Mistress was the Original by which that Venus was drawn The Article Phryne will inform us of a Tradition different from this

(H) Death prevented him I If Calcagnini could have been prevail'd with to give the Testimony of Ancient Authors, rather than fay things of his own Head, he would not have affirm d that Apelles had voluntarily left his Venus Anadiomenes imperfect, the Rea-fon, fays he, of this Conduct was, that Apelles de-fpair'd of making the last part equal to the first Sed (k) O me multo Apelle incautiorem 'ille enim tanta felicitate Veneris emergentis partes superiores expressit, ut diffisus penicillo reliquas posse absolvere de-speraverit, atque ita in admirationem posteritatis tabu-lam inchoatam reliquerit Garlo Dati who accuses this Author of advancing several things without saying from whence he takes them, brings two other Examples of i It's certain the Words of Pliny convict Calcagnin of fallity, as I am going to shew Apelles (1) inchoaverat aliam Venerem Con superaturus etiam suam illam priorem Invidit mors peratta parte, nec qui succederet operi ad prascripta lineamenta inven-tus est Cicero says plainly in two Places (m) of his Works that Apelles left that Venus imperfect

(I) Mr Morers has taken one of these littures for the other] Thus he expresses himself The finest of all Apelles's Pieces were two Pistures of Venus, one of which, where she was drawn rising out of the Sea, was call a Anadyomene, the other was that which he made for those of the Island of Coos, mention'd by Ovid in these Wards

thele Words

Si nunquam Venerem Cois pinxisset Apelles, Merfa fub aquoreis illa lateret aquis

He quotes Ovid in sent. He ought to have quoted the 3d Book de arte Amandi. You must know that Apellis did not finish the second of these Pictures, Pliny (n) affirms it express. What likelihood is Pliny (n) affirms it express What likelihood is there that Ovid, having Two Pictures of Venus to alledge, whereof one is finish d and the other half finish d, should leave that and speak only of this? To aft thus one must be ignorant of the common Laws of Reasoning. Besides, the 2d Verse is a plain Allusion to the Venus Anadyemene, that is to say, Rising out of the Sea. He speaks then of the sirst Picture. We know the first Venus was drawn in that Posture, but we do not know the Posture of the Second I add, that if these two Verses of Owid had drop d his Pen as they are here represented he had reason'd ill they must then be corrected in this manner to form a reasonable Proof of what preceeds

Si Venerem Cois nusquam posuisset Apelles,

Mersasub aqueress illa jaceres aques
The nicest Criticks chuse to read Com instead of Gots I believe they are in the right, tho' it's plain that Apelles made his Venus Anadyomene for the Inhabitants of the Island of Coos; for Augustus had it from them, and remitted 'em in consideration of it the Sum of a hundred Talents of the Tribute which they were in Arrears under so good a Husband of the publick Money They kept this Venus and the Ansignus by the same hand in the Temple of Esculopius. Laster(s) promoniorium est Coa insula in cujus subarbio est ades Esculopii nobilitata Antigmo Fenus Was for them.

I shall propose a doubt which offers to my Thoughts on this Occasion I cannot think but Pliny multiplies Beings without Necessity, when he speaks to us of a Venus Anadyomene, and of another Venus that was begun for the Inhabitants of the Isle venus that was begun for the Inhabitants of the Isle of Coor The ground of my Scruple 1s, that the sirst Venus had been preserv'd entire and undamaged as to the upper Parts of the Picture, Pliny himself informs us of this (a), and adds that no Painter durst touch over what had been dammaged in it Now he never finish'd the other Venus downwards, and no Painter had the Courage to attempt it after him This Pliny (b) informs us again I believe he's the only Author who makes this Remark of Two Venus's of Apelles defective in the same Part Others iav as much only of Apelles. fame Part Others iay as much only of Apelles s Venus in general, and when ever they mention that Venus, they place her (c) in the life of Coos, now leen that Augustus (d) fetch'd the Venus Anadiomens from thence Pliny then it's probable has not been over-exact in this matter I appeal to not been over-exact in this matter I appeal to those who will take the pains to examine this small doubt of mine (K) What concerns the Pillure of an Horse ent Authors, says Mr Morers, have spoke with great esteem of a Horse drawn so to the Life by Apelles, that the Study neighbor at the study neighbor at the fight of it I don't think any Writer has said this but here's what Pliny informs us (e) Est & equus equs, sive fuit, pissue in certamine qued judicium ad mutas quadrupedes provoeauis ab hominibus Namque ambitu amulos pravalere sentiens singulorum pisturas industis equis ostendit Apellis tanfingulorum pitturas industis equis oftendit. Apelles tantum equo adhinnivere, idque & postea simper illius experimentum artis oftentatur. The meaning of this is. That Apelles vying with some others who should paint a Horse most to the Liste, and mistinsting the Integrity of the Judges, chose to commit his Cause to the Decision of the Brute Beasts, Horses were led by, but they neigh'd only at Apelles's Work Some (f) think that the story of (g) Elian, is only a corruption of this, and that what past be-Work Some (f) think that the itory of (g) Elian, is only a corruption of this, and that what pass between Apeller and the Judges of the Prize when that Painter prefer'd the Judgment of a Horse before theirs, was the thing which gave occasion to the Report of his telling Alexander, Your Horse understands Painting better than you Others (b) think that these are two different Adventures. For my part I have already given my inconsiderable Opinion, which is, that the little Story vouch'd by Elian ought to be look'd on as a Fable Pliny's si-Elian ought to be look'd on as a Fable Pliny's silence on so fair an Occasion of speaking his Thoughts, confirms me in this Opinion Would Pliny have been silent about the Horse that neigh'd at Apeller's Door in the presence of Alexander, and about the inference which Apeller made from it? Would Pliny, I say, have been silent on such a Fast when he related the other Adventure where Apeller manes!'d force ted the other Adventure where Apeller appeal'd from the Judgment of the Arbitrators, to that of Horfes? Carle Dass (1) has observed that Apelles had not spoken like an able Painter in either of the two Cases, seeing he supposed that the more Knowledge a Perfon had, the more he would take the Figure for the Object it self. But we must have a care how we apply this Censure in the case which Plany lays down, for Apelles did not prefer the Judgment of Horses to that of Men, otherwise than as he perceiv'd that the Faction of his Rivals had corrupted the Judges The Remark of Carlo Date is very just in the main. It's easier to deceive those who don't understand Painting, than those who do He quotes John Paul (k) Lomazzo And after him we might quote (k) Lomanzo And after him we might quote Mr Perraule (l) who has very well refuted the Confequences drawn in favour of the Ancient Painters, from their having decrived both Men and Beafts

from their having deceived both Men and Beafts

(L) From whence are so Famous Proverb Pliny informs us of it; (m) Apelli fust alloque perpetua confustudo mangasan som accupatam diem agendi, ut non lineam ducendo exerceres artem, quod ab ce in proverbium venis. Carlo Dati (n) observes upon this, that Salmassis to support this Proverb quotes the following words, as a Version out of Horace, Nulla dies abear quin linea dust a superfit, which is neither Horace's inor any other ancient Poets. He adds, that it has been

§ pag 208

WHE_ THER been two Vinus's of

(a)Lib 35 212

(b) Ibid.

(c) See C1-Offic 1.3 C 2 de natura Deor 1 1 rem orat 9 (d) Ex Strab L I4 P 452. (e) lib 3 c P 211

f, Schefferus in Alun Var hift. 1203 (g) See she Remark D (h) Carlo Dati, p 128 (1) Carlo Dati ibid. P 129 (k) Lib pittura. lel of the Ancients and Ma ders dis-log 2 g m 136.

(m) Lib p so8 (n) Pag.

(e) Junius an Catalogo Artificum, in Apelle, pag 22 (p) Strabo l`14p m, 452.

Dio, I

rios jocor

mulacro

pellem traga - lisdifcidit dans fubinde vo-quali et :am in gedulcem Sucton

(M) Judgment on his Pictures with as much certainty as if they had been the Originals Witness what he did at * the Court of Egypt

A P E L L E an excellent Tragedian under Caligula, work'd himself into Fallegar actions but when the Flower of his Youth was past, he Cajum turn'd Comedian 6, and still maintain'd himself so well in this Emperor's good Graces, who never wou'd be without him, not even in Publick, y that he was at last admitted a Member of his & Privy Council As they were one day standing near the Statue of 69 pag fupiter, Caligula ask'd him, Which of the Two scems to you greater, Jupiter or 1 And Philosib because Apelles did not answer him as readily as he expected, he fell into a passion and tinter value and a standard him to be when to be when the properties of the standard him to be when the properties of the standard him to be without the standard him to be with the standard him to be without the standard him to be without the standard him order'd him to be whipt unmercifully, saying in a jesting way that Apellis had a pleafant Voice even in a lamenting Tone †, Some a affirm that he caused him to clapped from it. into Irons, and turn'd at certain times on a Wheel

A P E L L I C O N, who bought Ariftotle's Library See the Remarks on the Ar- Jovis A

ticle Tyrannion

APICIUS, there had been three Apicius s in Rome famous for their Gluttony dum con-The first liv'd before the change of the Republick, the second under Augustus and Tiberius, fuluiflet, and the last under Trajan Atheneus & means the first Apicins, when having faid on the Testimony of Posidonius, that in Rome they preserv'd the Memory of one Apicius who had out done all Men in Gluttony, he adds, that it was the fame Apicius who had been deretur, the Cause of Rutilius's Exile It is well known that Posidonius flourish d in Pompey's temfligely *time, and that Rutilius was banished about the Year of Rome 660 The second Apicius was the most famous of the Three Atheneus n places him under Tiberius, and says, he laid out prodigious Sums on his Belly, and that there were several forts of Cakes which bore his Name It's he Seneca speaks of in his 95th Letter, and in the Eleventh Chapter of his Book de vita beata, and in the Treatise of Consolation which he wrote to his Mother Helvia under the Emperor Claudius We find in the last of these Works, that this Apicins liv'd in Seneca's time, and kept, as it were, a School of Gluttony in Rome, that he had consumed Two Millions and a half in good Chear, and that sinding himself much in debt, he at last bethought him of enquiring into the Condition of his Estate, and finding he had but 250 thousand Livres left, poison'd himself, as fearing he in Calig fhould be flarv'd with such a Sum Dion x, who calls him M Gabius Apicius, reports the Philoib same thing, and adds a Particular which is also to be found in the first Chapter of the Athen 4th Book of Tacitus's Annals, That Seganus in his Youth had prostituted himself to him lib 4 p. Pling calls him M Apicius, and often mentions the Ragoo's which he invented, Nepotum 168 omnium altissimus gurges, A Book had been written on his Gluttony, which is quoted by Atheneus It's not tobe doubted but this is the Apicius of Juvenal, Martial, and of (AD) Lam- Lib The third Apicius liv'd in Trajan's time He had an admirable Secret for Lib 8 preserving of Oysters, which he shew'd when he sent some * to Trajan into Parthia They were still fresh enough when Trajan receiv'd em The Name of Apicius was for a long time given to several Dishes, and made a kind of a Sect among the Cooks We have a Treatise de re culinaria, under the Name of Caelius Apicius, which some Criticks judge ancient enough, though they do not take it to be composed by either of man these Three Apicius's Some chuse to call the Author of this Book Apicius Caelius. A Author Learned Dane is of that Number, who ascribes this Work to him who sent the Oysters to the Emperor Trajan This Book was found by Albanus Torinus in the Island of Ma- Athen guelone near Montpellier, (ADA) who publish d it 12 Years after at Basil It had been lib 1 p found elsewhere near an hundred Years before by Enoch d'Ascoli, in the time of Pope 7 Nicholas the Vth There was in the Title Page M Cacilius Apicius. Vossius B 15 of Opichius. co nion that the Author's Name was M Caelius, or M Cæcilius, and that he entitled his git deva-often the Fate of that Author to rely too much And these Two Verses of Martial, on his Memory Non lascero d'auvertire in queste lue-go che Claudio Salmasso grandissimo Critico dell'eta nostra nelle Dissertaz. Pliniane sopra Solino a 5 in confermazi-one di questo proverbio fidandosi troppo dilla memoria, come beme spesso egli sece, cita un verso d'Orazio— il quale non e (ch' 10 sappia) ne d'Orazio ne d'altro poeta latino antico, ma forfe uno di quei versi proverbiali che vanno per le bocche de gli uomini senza sapersene l'au-

(M) So that Physiognomists made a Judgment with as much certainty] The Grammarian Apion tells a Story to this purpose so highly improbable that one can hardly look upon it otherwise than as a Fable; though a more credible Author than this grand Romancer had affirm'd it Let'sbe content with knowing what Plant delivers (a) Improvement and Smilettleness. what Pliny delivers (o) Imaginem adeo similitudinu indiscreta pinxit, ut (incredibile distu) Apion Grammao ubi Tupra, ticus scriptum reliquerit quemdam ex facie hominum addivinantem (ques metoposcopes vecant) ex eu dixisse aut futura mortis annes aut praterita. Pliny himself cannot conceive how any Person should tell at the fight of a Picture though ever so like the Original, at what Age the Party so painted died, or shall die The Diviner undoubtedly enquired whether the Party was dead or alive

(AA) The Apicius of Juvenal, Martial, and of Lam-pridius] I have these Words of Juvenal in view (a) Multa videnus

Que miser, & frugi non fecit Apicius

Infe (b) quoque ad canam gaudebat Apicius ire

Cum canaret, era triftion ille, domi

And that Passage of Lampridius, where we read that the Emperor Heliogabilus often eat Peacocks and Nightingales Tongues in imitation of Apicius

(c) Comedit sapius ad imitationem Apicii calcanea camelorum, & eristas vivis gallinaccis demptas, linguas pavonum, & suscinarum There's another Passage in Juvenal in which Apicius generally signifies a gluttonous Man (d) Quid enim majore cachinno

Exceptur vulge quam pauper Apicius
It is childish then in some Commentators to under-It is childlin then in iome Commentators to understand here (e) either the Apicius of the first Book of Atheneus, or (f) that of the 4th Satyr of Juvenal (ADD) By Albanus Torinus, who publish d it 12 Tears after at Basil] He got it printed in 4to in the Year 1541 and join'd to it the Treatise of Paul Eginets de facultatibus alimentorum, which he had translated, and the 10 Books of Platina de sucanda malacular de machine de propose from Commentation ne nad translated, and the 10 Books of Platine de tuends valetudine, de natura rerum, & popine scientia. He tells us in his Preface, that having made a Journey to the Island of Maguellone 12 Years before along with Wil (g) Pellissier, he had therefeen a Manuscript, in which

835 Vide (d) Juven fat 11 etiam cap 18 p 827 & cap 24 p 857 (d) Juven iat 11 v 3 (e) Bernardus Autemnus in hunc locum Juven (f) Farnab in Juven hoc loco (g) He was Bishop of Maguelone that e to Jay Montpellier 0 0 n Id 1 1 Apion Work, rus linguæ I at artatibus e Platina ın vitaNı-

> (b) Mart epigr See also epigr 73 lib 10 (c) Lamprid in Helioga-20 p m 835 Vide colai V 6 Voss de Analogia

1 1 6 14

p m 55

(a) Juven

P 210

t Casaub. Work, Apicius, because it treated of the Kitchin See Casanbon + in Athen some small Errors which I have discover'd all under one (A) R

APIAN

Deus. I bring

& lib 4 ! Cap 19

(b) Joh Albertus

Fabricius in Bibliotheca Latina p

1697 (1) Albanus in Lpist dediklinus in

Lindenio

renovato

I etters of us p 109 (n) Joh Albert

Fabricius

(o) Alba-

nus ubi lupra (p) Joh Albert

Fabricius

precipiendarum qui fcriplit de juscellis

exem-liast in

Joh. A. Fabric

pag 132.

he found by tracing the Characters, the Title of CAELII APIIII DE RE CULINARIA LIBRIX He was very well pleas'd with his disco-BRIX He was very well pleased with his discovery, and got an exact Copy taken of the Work He immediately found that it was the Production of an Ancient Author But the Manuscript being in great Disorder, he thought it necessary before he sent it to the Press to collate it with the Copy of Venice, for which he waited a long time At last it was sent him, but he found it more impersect than that of Magueline He had for ever given over all Thoughts of printing had for ever given over all Thoughts of printing this Book, if some Scholars had not constrain'd him by their Complaints, and Importunity to publish it The same Year there was a second Edition of I he same Year there was a second Edition of it in 8000 at Lyons, by Sebastian Gryphsus. It was published at Zurich in the Year 1542 in 400 with the Notes and Corrections of Gabriel Humelbergius. I don't think Gesner or Similer deserve any Censure for having said that the same Work was printed at Venice before Albanus Torinus brought it to light. It's pretended they did not rightly understand the Everts George of the Townser (b) to Bild Similar Case. Expressions of this Torinus (b) In Bibl Similero-Ges-neriana dicuntur Apicii libri primum excusi Venetiis, quod acceptum est en male intellectis Torins verbis in de-dicatione His Expressions are these (i) Premendum plane consebana donce melioris alicujus exemplaris fieret copia, quod acceperam esse annis ab bin plus minu. quinquaginta Venetiis expressum. Though it does not appear with the utmost clearness from these Words that the Business is about an Impression, yet it's excusable understanding 'em so. And it has actually the second of the second o Hamburg nus Torially hapned that a certain (k) Bibliographer affirms Apicius was printed at Venice in the Year 1503, in 400
apud Johan de Cereto de Tridino The Heirs of Andrew Wechel had some Thoughts of reprinting this (k) Merc-Work Pignorius got a fair (m) Manuscript offer d'em by Velseus But it did not go forward. There was an Apicius in the Library of the Dukes of Urbin, the Characters whereof are like those of the Florentine Pandects. It's at present in the Vasican Gudius comi ar'd it with the Lyons Edition (n) By the way, Albanus Torinus has been sharply censur'd on his pretending to find the true. Air and Taste of Antiquity in this Author. pag 85 (m) See the Remelius on his pretending to find the true Air and Taste of Antiquity in this Author (e) Obsaciebam statim autorem esse vetutissimum, & observam, qui de re popinali, lingua coquinaria egregie prater cateros scripsisser, & qui observa delicatius quam pro ea atate qua glandibus Vescentei limines, consecuse Latinus Latinus affirms, a Man must be very Stupid to pass such a Judgment, and that this pretended Apicius is but a Beast and a Barbarian, some of whose Dishes and Sauces are only sit to bring the Skinoss ones Mouth, and set the Stomach a kecking (p) in Latini Latini Bibl prosana, usi quadam illius viri dessi in Apicium observationes leguntur, ad verba editoris, usi in present to Daumiubi supra nus Toriobservationes leguntur, ad verba oditoris, ubi in prafat ait se statim objects autorem este vetustissimum, hac nota ubı fupra occurris Quam vereor ne tue nares obestores fuerins, Quid enim vetustatis redolere possuns verba Semibarbara ın append pag 179 (q)Isaacus Or ab to florenti seculo prorsus aliena . Ego vero ut quod Sentio paucis expediam, commentum puto esse hominis otiosissimi, qui cum illudere posteris ojus dem naris facile Grangæus in Juvefibi esse persuassset , mentito nomine Apicium credidit venditare posse Sed passim occurrunt, quibus pene manifesto prodit seipsum autor ineptus, larbarus & nullius ia ea arte ingenis, aus gustus, qui ea interdum conjungat ad aporis gratiam, que usu docente omnes scimus summam palata malestam naus avecana se senza se senza se nal lat 4. V 23 (r) Auctor palate meleftiam nauseamque stemathe creare solere This Judgment of Latinius is not amis Isaac Grancænarum, gaus had done better to conform to it, than pretend (9) that the Ten Books de re coquinaria, which go under the Name of Aprilus, were written by our fecond Aprilus I contess the Scholiast of Juvenal fuit enim observes that this Apicius (r) wrote a Treatise con-cerning Cookery I must own that Isiderus of Sevil attributes a like Piece of Work to this same Apicius plum gu-læ Ve-tus Scho-Coquina apparatum Apicius quidam primus composais qui in ee absumptis benis morte voluntaria periit (s). But the Testimony of those two Writers is not able to counterposse the silence of so many Authors more worthy of Credit, and who have had unavoidable Occasions of operating this. Book of Juven fat 4 0 23 (1) Indor Hispalens Orig 1 20 dable Occasions of quoting this Book of apicius Be it how it will we are bound by all the Laws of Joh. Alb just Criticism to conclude if ever any such Book had been extant, that what Albanus Terinus put forth mbi supra, was none of at

(A) Some small Errors which I have discover'd] I begin with Mr Morers, and ald not have faid cither that the Apicius mention d by Seneca, wrose a Book concerning the Delicacy of Easing, or that he fell into despair and hang'd himself when he found be had spent his whole Estate Mr Morers quotes Seneca lib de consol That's too indefinite, seeing we have Three Treatises of that Philosopher, entitl'd, De consolatione He ought to have quoted that which he address'd to his Mother It appears there that Apicius posson'd himself for having found upon looking over his Accounts that he had but the Sum of (a) 250 thousand Livres lest, after all his Debts paid Ere aliano oppressurations same sunc primum constitus use of the inspexit Superfuturum sibi same sunc primum constitus use of the virisses. Superfuturum sibis same sunce primum constitus on of Lip virisses, when we will will be superfuturum sibis same sunce sure erat, cui sasterium centice egestas suit (b) Marcial wrote the following Epigeam upon this

Dederas, (c) Apici, bis tricenties ventre,

Sed adhue superar conteres sull summer.

(A) Same-

Dederas, (c) Apici, bis tricenties ventri, Sed adhuc supererat centies tibi laxum Hot tu gravatus, ne famem & stim ferres, Summa venenum potione duxisti

Not to follow the Author a Body quotes as to the (c) Mark kind of Death, is a flight Fault, but it s leaving out Epigral all that's furprizing in this History, to suppress the lib 3 Sums this Prodigal had remaining The quotation from Atheneus lib it is quite wrong Lastly, Mr.

Morers ought to have known that there were three Apicius s, and not limited himself to one Charles Stephens pretends that the Apicius mention d by Seneces (d) hang'd himself, and that he had publish'd a Book de gula irritamentis, which is to this day Book de gulæ irritamentis, which is to this day in every Body's hand. No good Critick believes that the piece of Work which we have de re culturally belongs to that Apicius whom Seneca mentioned. Be that how it will, here you see what led the reviento some of his Errors. Here he found that Apicius hang'd himself, that he wrote a Book of the Delicionselfs of eating. He ought then to have learnt from the same place that Apicius had 250 thousand Franks lest, for its a Fact that Charles Stephens has not omitted. Lloyd has follow'd Charles Stephens has not omitted. has not omitted Lloyd has follow'd Charles Stephens in every thing, except faying that the Work degula irritamentus is this day in every bodies hand. He has swelld that Article considerably, by copying what Lipsius has observed about the three Apicius's But did not know that the Passage of Suidas about the Oysters sent to Tiberius into Parthia, is to be found in Atheneus. The Memories of the greatest Men sail them many and many a time Lipsius quotes Atheneus twice concerning the Apicius's, and forgets a third (e) place of the same Author as remarka'le at lenst as either of the other two. If he had confulred it, he would never have suspected that the insted it, he would never have suspected that the (e) 'Tis Word Trajan was corrupted in Suidas Hosman that of the has done little more than (opy Lloyd, only he has quoted more places His Quotations are not always the truest, for I xample, he quotes Senses de consolatione ad Albin & de consol ad Elbiam, as is they were two different Pieces Casaubon (f) attributes to Athereus the having said that divers Cakes bare the Name of the sirst Apicius, but it is certain that Athonous says this of the second Apicius, of him who liv'd in the time of the Emperor (g) Athonous have the Tissue Hosein for the Emperor (g) Athonous have the Tissue Hosein for the Apicius, and complura placentarum general mominant Dali-Champius has lest a Fault luxus foliatius, an quo complura placentarum general nominant Dali-Champius has lest a Fault luxus foliation of Athonous, which might eather had said concerning the sirst Apicius, a Man infamous for his Gluttony, adds, sirse of Amine the financial faid concerning the sirst appoints enphasion, which shews that from the beginning he had spoke of the Apicius who was also samous for his Gluttony. So the Latin Translation is false. Antes not quoque isticated the Grock Words, and imputes a Lye to Athonous It is not true that Athonous had already spoken of the Apicius whom Posidonius had already spoken of the Apicius whom Posidonius had mention'd Dalechamp (h) Dale of the Apicius whom Posidonius had mention'd Dalechamp (h) Dalechamp (b) observes that Athonous has spoken in his 3d Book not in of the Apicius now in question, at the beginning of Atlen the 7th Page. I believe this is false. I say nothing pag 705 fulted it, he would never have suspected that the Word Trajan was corrupted in Suidas Hofman

ca de confol ad Helviani

> (d)Charles Stephens tites in liconfolati. one ad Al binam Cataubon in Athen Pag 23 intre fame t see the Remark wards the

(e) Tis

APIAN (Peter), in Latin Apianus, a German Mathematician in the 18th Century. I shall add but one word to what Mr Morers has said of him; which is, that he is accused of hiring been a Plagiary (Z) from Rosaumont APION, (A) a famous Grammarian, and Native of Oasis in Egypt, exercis'd his Profession at Rome in the Reign of the Emperor * Tiberius No one will deny that he Suidas was a Learned Man (B), and that he had with great Diligence traced those Antiquities in 'Art v which are the least known, and whatever is proper to give a Man's Reading the Character of Exactness and Variety But he had all(C)thePride of a thorough-pac'dPedant, and spent his Time in Questions of great Difficulty (D) and little Concern The Em-

(1) Ibid (+) I don't deny but the Edition of Rhodiginus was etherwile divided anto Books & Chape ters than than that which all Prople make use of at present (L)Athen of his (1) quoting Calius, 1 5 c 30 He means of Coelius Rhodiginus, whose 5th Book has but Fourteen Chapters He ought to have quoted the 11th Chapter of the 9th Book (†) That Author says several things there of Apicius, but if he falsisses every where else what he quotes, as he does here a Passage of Atheneus, wo be to them who take things upon trust from him Atheneus relates that Apicius carefully enquiring after a fort of Lobsters in Alexandria, was inform'd that very large ones were taken on the Coast of Libya He immediately set sail thither, and finding he was fent on a Fool's Irrant, Curs'd the Countiey, and resolv'd never to return there more Atheneus relates no such thing, he only says (k) that Apicius eat a kind of Water Locusts at Minturna in Campania, that were larger than the Lobsters of Alexandria, and being inform d that there were some in Africa of an exceeding Largeness, he sailed thither without Delay, and under great Inconveniences The Fisheimen being informed of his Arrival, came and brought him the informed of his Arrival, came and brought him the largest they had taken, and having heard from them that there were no larger than those, he returned to Minturne, without ever fetting I oot on Shore in A-

46 1 P 7

The Modern Author whom I have quoted, was in the Wrong to say, That the Manuscript of Apicius was found in the Island of Maguelone, by Enoch D Ascoly in the Pontificat of N colas the Γ ifth He relies on the Authority of Leander Albertus(1), and on that of Philippus Bergomas, in Chronici continuatione qui M Caccilium appellat But neither of these Authors M Cacilium appellat But neither of the leaving make mention of the Island of Maguelone, and it is certain the Manuscript was found in that Place by Albania Torinia, in the Year 1529 Philip of Bergamo without making any mention of the Place, says only, that is the time of Nicolas the Vth, Enoch Description on Hospital Sound that Two Rooks Parabyrian on Hospital Sound that Assoly found these Two Books, Porphyrion on Horace, and M Cacilius Apicus This he says under the Year 1454 Herman Buschius agrees with him as to the time See here the Words of Leander Albertia (m) Cusus (Enochi Asculani) industria M Calius Apitius & Pomponius Porphyrio in Horatium circa Nicolaum V Pontif inventi ac è tenebris in lucem vindicati sunt Volaterran affirms, that Suidas lays, Marcios Apicius compos'd a Book De Gula Robert Stephens, a great Copier of Vo aterran, affirms the same in his Elucidarium Poeticum. They have been both criticis'd

Elucidarium Poeticum They have been both criticis'd Vellem locum indicasset, says our (n) Modern on this Author, hoc enim apud Suidam non reperio (Z) For having been a Plagiary frem Roiaumont J. They who wou'd swell the Lists of Plagiaries already publish'd, may if they please make use of this Passage (o) Hac omnia tradita fuerunt & scriptis mandata ab antiquis & a recentioribus usurpata, ut facile diprehendi potest in Erasmo Osualdo qui omnem sere sui primi mobilis rationem a Petro Apiano desumpsit, Pe-trus verò Apianus hac cadem cum multis alist Propositioni-trus verò Apianus hac eadem eum multis aliis Propositionibus à Monte Regio accipiens sibi ipsi ascripsit

(A) Apion——Bern at Oasis I cannot apprehend why in Moreri's Dictionary they should give us thus Grammarian under two Articles, now by the Name of Apian, and again by that of Appian, without giving us notice that they are but one Person
I don't believe any Man of Learning has call'd him Apian, but I know that they who set up for Exactness, don't call him Appian Their Reason (p) is, that his Name was taken from Apis, an Egyptian Divinity, and not from Appia, a Roman Family His Country is horribly mispell'd by Moreri, he had had chang'd it into Osias The Supplement has put it as it ought to be Suidas observes that Heliconius had said that Apian was of the sseen Josephus affirms it (q), and charges his having forsworn his Country (q), and charges his having for worn his Country to call himself an Alexandrian, as a Crime in him This Accusation of Josephus would be of no Weight, although he had not exaggerated and made more

Words of it than he needed to have done for Apion by calling himself in Alexandrian, after he had been made siec of the City Alexandria, did no more than what several other Renowned Professors had us 1 37 c. practis d before The Sirnaine (r) of Plistonices, which was given him (1), had an Import very much Aul Gelto his Advantage, but it is not known for what lius 1 5 Reason they firnam d him so Sudar will have him 6 14 &1 the Son of a Man whole Name was Plistonices B1 in that Case the Sirname had signify'd nothing to his Praise Others fay that his Father's Name was o Delical Positioniur, A Thou of Howedwite (a) It is not impossible that the Transcribers might have changed Thousand Indiana into Hoogledwite (b) It is not impossible that the Transcribers might have changed Thousand Indiana into Hoogledwite Indiana into Hoogledwite Indiana into Hoogledwite Indiana into Hoogledwite Indiana in Indiana

(B) No one will deny that he was a learned Man | KAN CO. Tation (1) stiles him a most renowned Man, a ne f Autura (c) Liter s lone mu tis preditus, renum jue Gracar im plusima atque valta forensia fin eque litri non incelebres feruntur, quibus omniam forme qua mis fi cain Ægypto vijuntur audiunturque histo ia comprehen ditur. So much for his Learning, what tollows, discovers his talkative and consident Behaviour, facili atque (d) alacri facundia fuit But let us not incroach on the following Remark
(C, Hi had all the Pride of a thorough-pac d Pidant)

Aulus Gellius (e) fays enough to make any one look on him as an errant Bragadochio In lis que audivisse vel legiste sessent, fortasse a vi to studioque ost ntationis fir loquacior Est enim (ane quam in p chi a du dostrinis sua venditator Apion boasted with the greatest Assurance imaginable, that he bestow d Immortality on those to whom he dedicated his Worl Never was a Prediction or Promise more falle Noone of his Books has refifted the Injuries of 1 10 c Time, and it other Authors had not inform d us 10 pag who he was, his Name and Person had been un-known at this Day. He did nothing then in Justin a known at this Day. He did nothing then in Justin ad-favour of those whose Names he placed in the Front monit ad-of his Works. Let's cite the entire Passage from Gracos. Pliny (f) Apion qu dam Grammaticus, no berius Cafar cymbulum mund vocafat, quum Pullica berius Cafar cymbulum mund vocafat, immortalitate ac-Fama tympanum potium muna voca at, quum rurita (o) rapud Fama tympanum potius videri possit, immortalitate ac luseb nari a se scripit, ad quoi aliana componebat Mr de prepar 1 Tillement owns (g), that he does not understand it c is what Pliny wou d say in this Place of our Apion I d P 493 D rather confels the same thing than take up with thit Sense which I find in Morer's Supplement Hebrag d, Gell 1 these are the Words of the Supplement, that he cap 14 immortalized those to whom he dedicated any of his Works (d) Id Which made the Emperor Tiberius call him the Cymbal 1 6 c of the World Whereupon Pliny Jays, hat he onehera (e) Id ther to be call d the Drum of the World, because his sound 1 < c 1 was always disagreeable. But First of all it is not (f) Plin true, that Pliny any where fays that this Imperor in prata-call d him Cymbalum Mundi, because he set such a tione ni-Value on his Dedications. In the Second Place tur Hi-Pliny does not say, that he rather deferved to be called the Drum of the World, he makes use of the Phiase Publica Fama Tympanum, which has a parti-cular Force to represent this Person as a kind of Histoire Publick Criei. who upon beat of Drum, or found of Trumper, publishes to all the Inhabitants of pet 1 P City, what every body ought to know In the m 776 Third Place Pliny does not fay, that because no on Faults of gave but an unpleasant Sound, he ought rather to be Morer's called Tympanum than Cymbalum Who told the Con-supplement tinuator of Morers, that the Cymbal ispleadanter han See alfo the Drum?

the Drum?

(D) About Questions of great D stillt, and little E

Concern J Julius Africanus calls him (h) the Formank

malest of all Grammarians, or one who best about the Bush with the greatest Scrupulous fies and Nicety, with tupra merice 20 to To year (Little Sirname of \(\text{MOY} \) Suidasiays that he got (/ Tillethe Sirname of \(\text{MOY} \) The Word ignifies Toyl, and has more force in this Place than \(\text{MOY} \) And finite in the Sirname of \(\text{MOY} \) (b) Flace than \(\text{MOY} \) Apple (k) Am Conjecture of a (1) learned Man, might have ciept Marcellin into Suidas in this Place instead of \(\text{MOY} \) (b) The sirnamed (k) \(\text{MAX} \) (c) \(\text{MOY} \) (b) The sirnamed (k) \(\text{MAX} \) (c) \(\text{MOY} \) (c) \(\text{MOY} \) (c) \(\text{MOY} \) (d) \(\

6 cap 7

Apion Grammaticus, qui TAGET ns id eff fepe viftor eff cognominatus Clem

Alexandi Strom 1 r pag 32 (a) Jul Atucanus apud Lvprap Iu un- 490 in Justin ad-

> Pag 9 (b) Apud Lufeb Gell 1 5 ftoria (7) Tillem des I mtheRemain

Albert I abricius ubi fupra D 129

(1) Joh

(m)Leand Albert in defcript Ital p m 44

(n) Joh Albert Fabricius ubi fupra Pag 132

(e) Joh Baptısta Benedictus de num umbrarumque folarium ulu.

(p) Vostius deHist Græc Pag 531

(q) Jos L 2 contra Apionem

1 See the Remark G 1 Thu ss according to Jofephusubi infra. for Philo pag 1043 Says that the Jewish Deputies were five ın Number Lx Jo fepho Āntiquit 1 18 C 10 lib 36 cap 12 sealfo 1 37 C 5 2 Justin pag 9 Alexandr Stromat 1 1 P 320 S Among others that of she (ir cumcifion и Joseph 1 2 contraApion fub fin a See the kemark D Reflex fur la Poeti-

que n 28 p 73 edit 1674

(1) Seneca epilt 88 p m 361 (m) Plimusl 30 c 2 fub (n) Senecalb
(o) The Manufcript of Liplius las circulatus est Liplus in hæc verba Seneca approves this readng, and pretends that Api-OR WAS A Mounte-Lank Er tackpu lame Agyrta fuit & circulator (p) I ne 1 ft peror Tiberius was no Stranger to the Failings of this Wit. For thouse we don't perhaps understand all that this Prince † would be at, yet one may easy perceive that he took Apion for a Romancer, who stunn'd the World with too loud. Ostentation of his Learning. This Man was Chief of the Embassy which those of stexandria sentto Caligula, to complain against the Jews who were settled in their City, and with whom they had been at great variance. He set out for Rome, together with two other De-He set out for Rome, together with two other Dethey had been at great variance The Jews on their part deputed Three 1 of their Body to Caligula to justify their Conduct Philo was Chief of the Embassy Apion, urg'd on by that Hatred which the Egyptians bore time out of mind to the fewish Nation, accus'd 'em of divers Crimes, and insisted chiefly on those which he knew would most exasperate Caligula against 'em, namely, That the fews would (E) consecrate no Images to him, nor swear by his Name while all the other subject of the Empire dedicated Tomples and nor swear by his Name, while all the other Subjects of the Empire dedicated Temples and Altars to him * One of Apion's chief Pieces was that of the Antiquities of Egypt 'Twas doubtless in this Book that he spoke so amply of the Pyramids, that Pliny B thought him worthy to be placed among the Twelve Authors who have treated on that Subject He spoke very disobligingly of the fews in the same Book, nor was he satisfy'd to treat 'em ill on all Occasions, which his Antiquities of Egyps furnished him, but writ γ a Book expressly against 'em fosephus (F) thought himself oblig'd to confute the malicious Calumnies, wherewith that Author had loaded 'em Apion was not Juitin paræn ad Manner of his Death He there affirms, that after this Man had scoff dso much at the Jewish Ceremonies, not confidering that his hard Speeches against 'em, did in some Manner reflect on the Ancient & Ordinances of the Fgyptians, he found himself seiz d with a Disease that required Incisions in his Natural Parts, and of which he died in extieme Torture & He had made his Boasts A, that he had invoked the Soul of Homer to know The Titles (G) of Four or Five of his the Place of that Poet's Birth, and his Family Books are preferv'd to us

It is not true, that Apion any where tells, how Euphranor having a mind to draw a Jupiter, uwent to Athens to consult a Professor who read Homer to his Scholars, and that upon

The Man with Lungs of Brass, had in the Person of Apion a Disciple, who in this point fell little short of his Model Apion just as Laborious as his Master, had like him a Sirnaine which shewed that Temper I do not think the Disciple had a Jot a better Taste than his Master in the Choice of Matters Didymus (1) composed Treatises on the Place of Homer's Birth, on the true Mother of Ancas, and on the Manners and Humour of Anacreon and Sappho His Disciple was so earnestly intent upon tracing Homer's Country and Family, that he had Recourse to Magick Spells to find 'em out He thought he had made a wonderful Discovery, when he found that the Two first Letters of the Ilad, taken numerically, amountthat Homer waited till he had finish'd both his Poems, to make the first Line of his I liad, and then pitched upon a Word to begin with, the Two first Letters whereof denoted that both the Poems contain'd 48 Books This smells strong of the Mysteries of the Caballists This Man who wis so violent an Frequency to the Tark Strong parameter. my to the Jews, gives naturally enough into their Dicams, as to the Mysterious Positions of Letters Be that as is will, let s hear those who inform us of the I acts I advance Querat (m) aliquis que sint mentiti veteres magi, cum adolescentibus nobis vissus A-pion Grammatica artis, prodiderit cynocephaliam berbam que in Agypto vocaretur Osyrites divinam & contra omnia veneficia sed si tota erucretur, statim eum qui ciussit, mori seque evocasse umbras ad percontandum Homerum quanum pairia, quibusque parentibus genitus esset, non tamen ausus profiteri, quid sibirespondisse dicerti lt appears by this Passage, that Apion himself boasted in his Writings, that he had Recourse to Magick for a Conference with Homer, and that this Poet put him off with Mysterious Answers to the Questions he askt him. This savours a little of the Mountebank Pliny gives his Judgment plainly of the Person Screes has no great Esteem for him (n) Apion, says he, Grammaticus, qui sub C Cafare tota

(o) circumlatus est Gracia, & in nomen Homeri ab omnilus civitatibus adoptatus, alebat, Homerum utraque materia confummata, & Odyssea & Iliade, principium adjicisse operi suo quo bellum Trojanum complenus est Hujus rei argumentum afferebat, quod duas listeras (p) in primo versu posuisset ex industria librorum suorum numerum continentes. We learn by these Words, that this Grammarian won the Hearts of all Greece, see and they received him in all their Cities as a second word of the ing they received him in all their Cities as a fecond liked is the letter to book, deceives Numbers by his Chattering (E) The Jews would confecrate no Images to him Jer 40 the larly relates in the Place cited by the Continuator of Morers And as they were the Jews of Alexandria whom Apion had Orders to accuse It's manifest the Question was not what the Jews of Jerusalem wou'd or would not do And yet if we believe the Continuator, this was exactly the Case, nor was at the City of Alexandria that complain'd of the Jews, but Caligula himself, who complain'd that they would not receive his Statues into the Temple of God It's true, that Fmperor used his utmost Endeavours to have (r) Phil his Statutes plac'd in the Temple of Jerusalem (r), de Legat but it's as true that neither Philo's Embassy, nor this (1) Ibid of Apion regards that Fact Philo's Embally, nor this of Apion regards that Fact Philo, when he is particularly relates the (1) Complaints, and the Quefficons of Caligula, makes no mention of his Statue in the Iemple Caligula makes general Complaints that the fews were the only People who refused to honour him as a God Apion had already four'd him on that Head, that he might hinder his doing 'em Justice in the main Dispute The Matter in hand concern'd properly the Privileges which the Face Justice in the main Dispute. The Matter in hand concern'd properly the Privileges which the Jews ought to enjoy in Alexandria. Their Cause was good, and they would have gain'd it before unbyas d Judges. But what does Apien do? Why oil a fudden he changes the Dice, he renders the Jews odous to Califordia. odious to Caligula, he runs upon Charges of Impiety, and amuses the Court with Captious Incidents. Thus the false Zealots act at this Day to maintain themselves in a most unjust Dominion, over Con-science as well as over all other Concerns This can never be too often repeated

(F) Josephus thought himself oblig'd to confident in Moreri's Continuator commits another Blueser in this Place This, says he, gave Josephus occasion afterwards to write the Life and Errors of Apion It is not true that Josephus writ the Life of that Gransmartan and its speaking in a very unexact Manual marian, and 'tis speaking in a very unexact Manager to say, that he writ hu Errer: These Words naverally suggest this Thought, that Josephus wrote a Book of Controversy against Apion's Heresies. The truth is, being inform'd that several Criticks had made a Party against his Jewish Antiquities, not to (2) Or condemn the Form or Stile of it, but to accuse him gen, co of a thousand Fables devised for the Advantage of this Nation. He composed an Apology in which sure his Nation, He compos'd an Apology, in which furth he answer d those Censures, and the Calumnies that (a) Ta were publish'd against the Jews Half the Apology anus as does not concern Apien, althout it is generally quoted Euseb as if it were all against him It's quoted by Origen prap [(z), under the Title, De Antiquitate gentis Ju-

(G) The Titles of Four or Five of his Books] I have 1 7 pa mention'd his Antiquities of Egypt, divided into (a) 294 I ive Books, and also his Treatile against the 7em; (c) Id I add further, that he Composed a (b) Treatise De luxu Apici, another (c) De lingua Romana, and ano- 680

493 (b) Ath

APION. APOLLINARIS. APOLLODORUS.

the Description this Poet makes of Jupiter in the first Book of the Iliad, he made an Jul admirable Pistume that God, &c This Fault, which escap'd from Father Rapin in the Capitolians Englished Edition of Research on Poetry, was unmercifully (H) aggravated by Vavas-Pertinace for the Jesust

A POLLIMARIS (Casus Sulpitius), a very Learned Grammarian, and a Native of (A) Carthago liv'd in the Second Century under the Antonines He had for his Successor in the Professorship of Grammar, *Helvius Pertinax, who had been his Disciple, and was afterwards Emperor He is supposed to be the Author of the Verses c 6 & 1 which stand before (B) Terence's Comedies, and contain the Summary of them The 13 Epigram is still extant, which he (C) compos'd on the Orders Virgil had given to burn his Aneid Aulus Gellius, who (D) had studied † under him, mentions him often with & Moreri Applause I advise of all things to see what he has said of him in the 4th Chapter of the calls him 18th Book Where the Reader will find the true Picture (E) of a Pretender to Learning, and see Apollinaris's handsome manner of ridiculing such a one

APOLLODORUS A great number of Persons of different Professions,

With
and much Merit, have been call'd by this Name Scipio & Tettis, a Neapolitan, composed the Biblioa Treatise of the spellodorus's, which was printed at Rome in the Year 1555 Dr Tho- theque of mas Gale & touch'd over this Matter above an Hundred Years after Mr Morers has Apollomade many Articles under this Name, which stand in need to be revis'd He forgot one Illustrious Apollodorus, the only Person of the Name whom I design to speak of

APOL-

(d) Phmiusin indice 1 35

(e) Aul Gell lib 5 cap 14 (f) ld I 10 C 10

(g) Remarques iur les nouvelles reflexions touchant la Poetique pag 56, 37 (b) That's to fay of Eustathuus

(i) Is's among those of Politian, the 22 of

edit 🐗

1526 in

410 (k) Hift des Em-

per t 2

Pag 5.59

lius 1 15

(2) Hd 1

#₆ € 16

(1) Briet

de Poet

* 47 (t) Gel-

Paris

ther (d) De disciplina metallica Suidas ascribes a History to him, wherein he treated of all Nations & Year 1 copian nat' 43vo, scripse historiam de singulis gentibus. The Famous History of the Lyon of Androcles, is known only by that Relation of Apien, who speaks of it as an Eye-Witness Aulus Gellius (e) mentions it after him. He is indebted to him for another Observation, to wit, the Reason why the Ancients wore a Ring on the Finger next to the little Finger of the Left Hand Apien (f) gave a Reason for it, taken from some Anatomical Discoveries made in Egypt

(H) Unmer cifully aggravated by Vavasseur the Jesust]
He first relates the Fact, and then adds "(g) Guess e first relates the Fact, and then adds "(g) Guess Reader at the pleasant Blunder of the Resector, Reader at the pleasant Blunder of the Resector, thro' a Mistake of two Words in this (h) Commentator Whereas I had said, as soon as he came out of the Prosession, he drew the Picture of Jupiter, our Ressector to express these Words of Lustathius, it amos έγραψου, & egressia pinxis, has thought fit to put, as Apion the Grammarian wrote Where the good Man was much overseen, and cou'd not perceive esthes that this Participle απούν is not Aπουν, as that Grammarian calls himself, nor that the Verb εγραψου & γραψου ατο taken in that Place, he painted, as γραφου & γραψου are taken in the very same Sense before, nor lastly that απούν, cum discessifies, aniwers to the prely that & more, cum discessiffer, aniwers to the preceding Verb may per, adstitt After all, if the Reflector had himself seen that Place of Eustathiw, I wonder he should understand it so much amis, and it he had taken this Interpretation "from some other, I wonder yet more that he is should pretend he had seen Eustathus, so carefully noting the Place which he had not feen

(A) A Native of Carthage] I have not met with any Ancient Author who informs me of this, I only mention it on the Credit of some Modern Authors, who have publish d Collections of Epigrams, or Cataletts of the Ancient Poets (B) Firsts which stand before Terence's Comedies] I have read in a (i) Letter of Peter Crimitus, that Pristing and observed that those Verses ought not to be attributed to Terence, as most People believe, but so Sulpicius Apollinaris He adds, that this Inscriptito Sulpicius Apollinaris He adds, that this Inscription of Capital Letters was to be read over the Summerce; GSULPICI APOLLINARIS PERIOCHA People have been much govern'd by this Inscription, in the Editions of Terence Mr de Tillemont (k) refers us to Sethus Calvisus concerning these Summaries It's time, Calvisus makes mention of 'em under the Year 163 But he quotes Suidas, and I much question whether he ought to do it. Mr de Tillemont is not in Fault, if we believe that there are still two Pieces more of Apollinaris He lays (1), he left some Letters, and (2) a Writing in which he reprimands another Grammarian whose Name was Cassellius Vindex

(C) The Epigram is fill extant, which he composed] It's but one Distich, and here it is Infelix also cecidit prope Pergamon igne, Et pune est also Troja cremata rogo

These Verses cause the Loss of the Rest to be regretted Versus (1) habemus ejus aliquos de Enesde Maronis qui deperditorum accendunt sitim. These are the Jesuit Brief's Words I wonder he does not mention Terence's Summaries, and more, that Voffine fays nothing of our Poet I confess he speaks of an Apolitinaris, whom Gyralds has reckon'd among the Latin Poets But feeing this Apollinaris lived in Martial's time (m), it's plain, he's a different Perfon from our s Besides, all who delight in Verses are not Poets So that we have Reason to oppose Printed as Gyralds in giving the Title of Poet to the Apollina of Pairs Treated ris of Martial, and which he grounds on the Pleatifes in fure Apollinaris took in Martial's Poems Eum in 1675 poetis memorat Lilius, fed non fat firmo argumento, nec enim fi delectaretur epigrammatis, eo & ipfe fuerit Poc (n) (D) Aulus Gellius.

-mentions him often with Applause He calls him (o) virum pressanti li-terarum scientia Hominem (p) memoria nostra dostis-simum Virum eleganti (q) scientia ornatum Virum fimum Virum eleganti (4) scientia ornasum virum (m) incinction (r) in memoria nostra practica alios dossum. See the 13th scribes to Chapter of his Twelfth Book. He gives him ano- him the 25 ther good Quality, no less valuable than Learning. Epigram of Which 15, that Apollinaris had not that Pedantick the 7 Book. Sciffness, which makes some Men arraign those in a (n) Vos-Magisterial Manner, who take the Liberty to give sius de their Opinion in Matters which perhaps they don't Poet Lat thoroughly understand For his part he corrected pag 55 Errors mildly Aulus Gelius (a) gives a famous Instance (a) Lib of it For Apollinaris, tho' he had had ever so little of 4 cip 17 the Pedant, yet might he have made use of the sharp. (p) Lib estCensure on anOccasion, wherein Aulus Gellius represents him maintaining his usual Moderation (q/ 1 ib A Question was askt in his Presence, who a certain 16 c 5 Cato Nopos was whose Name appeared in the Title Page (r) Lib of aBook A young Scholar took up the Question, and 18 c would undertake to answer it, but was quite wrong, (a) Lib the Professorial Majesty was affronted that a young 13 c 18 Man should pretend to answer a Question on hard. Man should pretend to answer a Question in hisPre-Manihould pretend to aniwer a Queition in his Prefence, without staying till the Principal had given his Opinion, this Pertuess was unpardonable However Apollinaris would not rechtfy the young Man's Mistake, without beginning with his Praises in the civillest Address Tum Apollinaris, ut mose just in reprehendendo fuit, placide admodum 'emiterque laudo, inquit, te, mi fili, quod intantula atate etiamsi hunt M Catonem, de quo nunc quaritur quis fuerit ignores audituncula tamen quadam de Catonis samilia asperlus es

(E) The true Picture of a Pretender to Learning | lustianæ This Pretender bragg'd in a Bookseller's Shop, that lectionis he was the only Man alive who understood Salluft for fays he, I do not frop at the Rind, or Surface of his Thoughts, but dive to the very Pith and Quintellence of 'comments and the comments of the comments o his Thoughts, but dive to the very Pith and Quintessence of 'em Neque primam tantum cutim ac spe- lo faceciem sententiarum, sed sanguinem quoque ipsum ac medullam verborum esus eruere atque introspicere penitus pradicaret Apollinaris assuming the Ironical Ways (b) of Soerates, address himself to this Man with a respectSociates ful Air, and bleft himfelf that he had so opportunely ad Sophisthe Sense of which he had been askt the Day before, tur Gell but was not able to give it. He desir'd to 1 18 c 4 know what Difference Sallust made between stellator and Panier, when he said (c) Cn Lentulus perincertum stellator an wanter. The Pretender and Guert d.

Pertinace Tattius. dorus translated into Latin by Bene-dictus Agius demus' Additions to the Bib. Naples & See his Apollad. other Tres-

13 C 18

(b) Jactatorem quempıam & venditatoremSalirrifit il-

* De ædıfic 1 4 c 6 p 8r apud Tillemont, Hist des Emper £ 2 pag. Xiohilin in Hadriano HEX XI-philinoib Voicz cı-deflus l article d Antoniano pag 270 * Eutocius Afcalonita initio commentar in Conica Apollonu, ex Heracho Archimedıs † Thu Reign resches from the 2 year of the 133 Olympiad to the 3 year of the 139, ‡ Pappus

(d) Lx Yıplulino, in Hadriano (e) Coftar, Apolog, pag (f) It's faid that Phidias tion d to to that of she Temple,

Soulswhich

Temples,

but without being circumfor bed ın 'em Bardın

au chap.
2 du Ly-them Collett

APOLLODORUS, A Famous Architect in the days of Trajan, and Adrian, was of Damascus He had the Direction of the Stone Bridge, which Trajan caus'd to be built over the Danube in the Year 104; and which pass'd for the mest Magniscent of all the Sumptuous Buildings of that Emperor Processus * mention it, and there is come likelihood that Apollodorus left a Description of it in Writing Adrian, who took fome likelihood that Apollodorus left a Description of it in Writing Adrian, who took a Pride in Understanding all Arts and Sciences to Persection, so far as to entertain a Jealoufy and Ill Will for all those who had acquir'd an Eminent Reputation in their Professions, had particular Reasons to hate Apollodorus, for as † Trajan discours'd one Day, with this great Architect, about some Buildings which he design'd to erect in Rome, Adrian would needs give his Opinion, and did it like one who understood nothing of the Matter Apollodorus said rashly to him, Go Sir, and paint Citruls, You are a great Stranger to the Matters we are Discoursing of Adrian in those days used to spend his Time Stranger to the Matters we are Discoursing of Adrian in those days used to spend his Time in painting Citruls, or Gourds, and even boasted of it This Insult of Apollodorus cost him dear, for Adrian never forgot it. And when he came to be Emperor, did not forget to revenge himself He never would employ Apollodorus, but that banish'd him, and afterwards got him accused of several Crimes, and under that Pretence, put him to Death: He was asham'd to own the true Cause of this Severity Apollodorus had to his old Offence added a New Provocation, which touch'd the Emperor to the Quick; he had Criticis'd slily on a Sumptuous Structure which Adrian had caus'd to be built. The Prince to shew Apollodorus that he could do without him, sent him a Plan of the Temple of Venus, and ask'd his Opinion of it, but not before the Building was finish'd. Apollodorus wrote to him very frankly what he thought of that Structure, and found (A) very Material Faults in it, which the Emperor could neither deny, nor mend. This was it that heightned the Prince's Indignation to the utmost, and forwarded his Design of Ridding himself of Apollodorus. This last Piece of Ingenuity was much Design of Ridding himself of Apollodorus + Ins last Fleet of Linguistics more excusable than the first Men don't know whom they shock when they snub more excusable than the first Men don't know whom they shock when they snub more excusable than the first Men don't know whom they shock when they snub fometimes shock (B) a Person whose Subjects they shall one Day be, or whose Favour they may stand very much in need of This confirms my Conjecture concerning (C) the Conversation between Apelles and Alexander A POLLO, A Pagan Deity Look for PHOEBUS A POLLONIUS of Perga, A City in Pamphylia, was a Famous Geometrician

* in the Reign of † Ptolomy Evergetes He studied a long time in Alexandria under the Pappus in proa-mio ad lib 7 Ma- Authors have (B) taken the Pains to comment or translate it Mr Defeares had fwer d in a scornful way, that he must propose those I risles to others, and that he did not trouble himfelf about things that were known to every body By this he plainly shew d his Ignorance on the Que-stion propos d, but when he found himself hard press'd and that the Company began to mock at him, he took his Leave, pretending he had Business elsewhere Afterwards Apollinaris explained that Passage of Sallust, and show d that vanus signify d a Knave, and stolidus a Clown Aulus Gellius's Words deserve to be repeated, they paint Phidias being to this Scene very justly Tum ille ristu oris labearumq, make a statue of Jupiter Olympius

would take proculiata vulgo & protrita funt fitting, Lentulo stolidior est & vanitatem & fiolidior est & vanitatem & status

[ize so diproportion d to Gellius's Words deserve to be repeated, they paint be repeated, they paint fille ristue oris labearumq, dustive contemnia se estendens & rem de qua guæreretur, for kominem ipsum qui quæreret, Priscorum, inquit, for remotorum ego verborum medullas & sangunem, sielicere folco non illorum qua

would take proculiata vulgo & protrita sunt spo illo quippe on wanitatem & stolidior est & vanior qui ignorat esusdem esse sion d'to

(A) And found very material faults in it] He made tappear by good Reasons that it was neither large, nor lostve enough, and that the Statues placed in it nor lofty enough, and that the Statues placed in it were not justly proportion'd to the Largeness of the Temple, for the Goddesses, said he, if they had a mind to get up and go out of it they could not, shouldstand (d) See how one of our Authors has paraphras'd uppostagrama (a) See now one or our Authors has paraphras dupup, the on this Thought (e) The Architest Apollodorus, Roof would seeing some Images of the Gods in the Temple of Venus, becauch too said, These Gods will do well to continue sitting as they low for are For if they should stand up they'd lift off the Arch him of the Temple, unless they stoop very low, and 'twould We may be still worse, if they should have a mind to go out of it, Jay that for the Doors being pitifully low, they must be obliged to God comes shoot in an incommedians and Indecent Manner. I have Jay that for the Doort being pitifully tow, they mujo Cood comes floop in an Incommedicus and Indetent Manner other read, that the Critick somewhere or other read, that the Criticks found the fame Fault with the Olympian Jupiter of Phydias But others have grounded a (f) prous Reflection on it

(B) Shock a Person whose Subjects they shall one Day be | The Relation between Trajan and Adrian might have warned Apollodorus of this But here lees the Failing of those who think themselves necessary, and whom an uncommon Capacity introduces into Favour, they imagine it is not necessary to manage youngPrinces, and that the greatPatronis sufficient Times change, and they find that their Magisterial Behaviour to all who speak impertmently before

Behaviour to all who speak impertinently before them, in their own Profession, is a great Folly

(C) Concerning the Conversation between Apelles and Remark D

Alexander] I declared (g) above, that I cou'd not be persuaded this great Painter durst take the Liberty to censure the young Conqueror so grossy, as some Authors pretend I am very sensible that they who excel in certain Arts, are sometimes of such a capricious Humour, that they are not able to contain themselves within the Rounds of Resorth, when the themselves within the Bounds of Respect, when the Fit's upon em, but I know too that Apeller is said to have been very mild and polite. The greatest to have been very mild and polite. The greatest Reason I have for it is this Alexander the most (a) Vos-stomaching Man that ever liv'd, would not have suis de let fo fcornful a Ceniure pais unpunish'd Now, Scient we do not read that Apelles ever lost the Favour Mathem of that Prince The Argument from the c 16 p m greater to the lesser takes place here Adrian was 55 ex not so haughty as Alexander, not was he a King Pappolib when he was affronted, yet the Censure of the Architect was a Mortal Offence

(4) He was afford formed noted. The Rocks

(A) He composed several Books] Two Books m-(A) He composed several Books J Two Books πε- cu collepi λογε αποίομῶς, de proportionis sectione Two σερί chionis χως καποτομῶς, de spatis sectione Two διως εκμένης (β) Apud τομῶς, determinata sectionis Two επισών, tactionium Proclum Two νευσων, inclinationum Two τόπων επισών, in Buoliplanorum locorum (a) And Eight of Conick Sections idem
There can be no doubt that this last Work contain'd Section Fight Rooks the Author's English Daductory to a section Eight Books, the Author's Epistle Dedicatory to a Episony of Geometrician of Pergamus, whose Name was Ende-Gesner's mus, makes it plainly appear The Publick has not Bibliotheyet feen the last of these 8 Books Only the 4 first que p 7s are in Greek, the three following have been translated. (c) See ted into Lasin from an Arabian Version See the Vossius following Annotation We find Citations from the 1b c 32 Books of Apollonius (b), de cochlea, & perturbatis p 156 & rationibus I cannot tell whether we ought not to de Historiation by the find Citation attribute to the same Author, the Commentary on Citacis the Phenomena's of Arabia, which is asserted by the page con attribute to the same Author, the Commentary on Græcis the Phenomena's of Aratus, which is ascribed by the Page 505 Ancients to Apollonius the Geometrician (c) (d) Clau—(B) Several Ancient and Modern Authors have taken dius Rithe Pains] It's said (d) that Hypatia the Daugh-chardus ter of Theon, made a Commentary on the Conicks of Præf ad Apollonius We have still that which Eutocius of Apollon Scalon composed on the first Four Books of that Work, with some Lemma's and Corollaries of his fest to making 7 Ma-thematicu colle-& "

ppinion of it Some have believ'd that Apollonius appropriated Arthe chimedes's Write nd (D) Discoveries to himself He had a Son whose Name Collect. Pappi.

(f) Sat

Claude

Richard. ubi fi iect 4.
z) Morii calls 1 im de Mesines, he undoubtedly relie ved be to ouchman of the Lamily which bears thus Mame (& Claud Richard ib left is (1) Voffius de Scient Math pag 55 (k) And zer Commandon. as Moreri calls him (1) Howas &Patritian of Ragusa (m) Ex Vossio ubi supra Pag 434 (n) Cl Rich 1b fect 11 Conicorum lıbrosClaudii Middorgu nova methodo ex Apollianis fontibus peproprio ingenio appolite digestos 1bid (p) Ibid (q) As Jerome Lunadorus in libro de Romana curia See Borels in hu pref lenfis in præfat versionis Apollon (f) The 5 the 6 & the 7.
of the Continue of (r) Mercennus, præfat in Apoliomi Contca quæ funt in c JUS ouró-Ma-making He promise the mment on the other Four also See his Epistle Dedicatory to Anthemus We have also (e) the Lemma's which Pappus difposed and set in order on the Conicks of Apolloniar, to the Number of 65 The Catalogue of the Works of Francia Maurolyeus printed at Venice, informs us (f) that that ingenious Mathematician made a Book entitl d, Apollonis consea elementa libris quatuor & demonstrationibus & lineamentis opportunis instaurata John Baptista (g) Mimus, a Noble Venetian, and Mathematical Professor in Venice, made a Translation in Latin of the Four first Books of Aa Translation in Latin of the Four first Books of Apollonius, which was printed in the Year 15,7 (b) It's good for nothing, he did not understand the Matter, and that was the Reason why he could not perceive the most visible Faults of the Greek Manuscript Vossius (i) says, Eos primus translust Joan Baptista Mimmius, sed infeliciter, eo quod argumentum operus non intelligeret unde non visit sat manif stas Graei codicis mendas, ac sepe puer iliter alucinatur sicuit monitum Francisco Maurolyco Prasatione in Cosmogracue monitum Francisco Mauroly co Prafatione in Cosmographiam suam (k) Frederic Commandin made a new Tran-flation of it much better than the former, which he caus'd to be printed at Bolognia in the Year 1566, and joyn'd the Translation of Eurocius's Commentary and divers Notes to it But having made use of a Greek Manuscript full of baults, his Version of a Greek Manuscript full of Faults, his Version was not so good as could be wish'd, wherefore Marin Ghetaldur (1) thought himself obliged to go back to the Source of the Lvil, he endeavoured to correct the Manuscript according to the Sense of the Authors, and to resolve the Problems, and thought he had brought that Ancient Geometrician to Life again (m) See the Book which he entitled apallonius redivious, seu resistuta Apolloniu Perges institutionium geometria, and his Supplementum Apolloniu Galli, fou ensistenta Apolloniu Perges tattionum geometria Pars reliqua, printed at Vense in the Year 1607 in 410 Claude Richard a Jesuit of the Fran he Comié, and Royal Professor of Mathematicks in the Imperial College of his Orderin Madrid, didin the Year Imperial College of his Orderin Madrid, didin the Year 1642, in his Public Lectures explain the 1st 4Books of Apollonius, and in the Year 1643, 4 other Books, of which he was the Author, in which he supply d the other part of that Ancient Geometricians Work (n) other part of that Ancient Geometracian's Work (n) His Explications of the Four first were printed at Answerp in 1655 in Folio He ownsethat after having finish'd these two Pieces, he read the (o) Conicks of Claude Middorge with much Pleasure and Admiration, as also the Quadrature of the Circle of Gregory of St Vincent, in which are many things relating to those Books of Apollonius, which are wanting In quibus (de quadratura circuli duobus tomis) prefer elementa conica peculiari ordine disposita. ing In quibus (de quadratura circuit units) prater elementa conica peculiari ordine disposita, inumera prodit sicuti Middorgius, qua spectant ad pofiremos quatur Apollonii librosinjuria temporum suppressos, in lucem revocandos (p) Fredinand I Great Duke of Florence, had Thoughts of getting leveral Arabian Manuscripts that were in his Bibliotheque tranflated John Baptista Raimond, who was the chief among those to whom this Prince gave Pensions for that Undertaking, had promis'd to translate Apollonius which they had in that Bibliotheque in Arabick, and some (q) Authors have said that that Translation with shifting the property of the Great Duke England II. and his Roother Prince Legal de Manager of II. among his Papers (r) At last the Great Duke Ferdinand II and his Brother Prince Leopold de Medicus cast their Eye on Abraham Ecchellensis, Professor the Occupial Languages at Rome, and charg d him with the Work By the Assistance of Aljonso Borelli, Managementical Professor at Pisa, he translated the Fifth, Sixth, and Seventh Books of Apollonius into Latin This Translation was printed at Florence in the Year 1661 in Folio, with the Commentary of the same Raselli. Who maintains in his mentary of the same Beredi, who maintains in his Preface that his Books are not suppositious, but bealong truly to our Apollonius He answers the Difficulties of Claude Middorge, who imagin d that the Three (s) Books which Golius had brought from the Three (1) Books which Golius had brought from the Levant, belong'd to an Arabian, who had shelter'd himself under the Farnous Name of Apollonius Father Mersinne (1) speaks of this Opinion of Claude Middorge, but does not approve it; he believes that the 8th Book of the Conicks of Apollonius, and all the other Works of the same Author, and also those that Pappus has not quoted, and are translated anto Arabick, are still in being He produces Aben Nedin for his Voucher, who wrote a Book De Philo-

Sophis Arabibus (v) Observe, I That it was noted at the bottom of the Manuscript of Golius, that the 8th Book of Apollonius had not been translated into Arabick, because it was missing in the Greek Books, from which the Translation of the others had been made (v) II The Manuscript by which the Tran-slation of Ecthellensis had been made, came from the Hation of Econemiss had been made, came from the kastern Bibliotheque (y) which Ignatius Neama Patrioch of Antioch, had bequeath d to the Great Duke Ferdinand the Tirst III That Abalphat Asphahanensis is the Author of the Arabian Translation which served Ecohellens for an Original, and that had been served to the Analysis for King Abandungs who as ended the tion which ferv d Ecchellen's for an Original, and that he mide it for King Abicaligiar, who ascended the Throne in the 'n'-d lear of the Hegira From whence it follows, that that was not the first Translation made into thit Linguage, for Gregory Barbebraus notes that Seven Books of the Co-(z) Abranicks of Apollonius were translated into Arabick in Lichel the time of Almamin Now Almamin was inaulensis in gurated the 203d Year of the Higher (z) IV That præfat Abalphas still pretended that his Translation was the Irist, and that only some Fragments of Apollonius had been render d before from the easiest Places This would make one think, that either he had not seen the Translation that was made in the had not feen the Translation that was made in the time of Almanum, or that this Translation (as) Id contain'd only some Fragments of the Conicks of ibid

Apollonius (as)

Here's what I had to fay by way of Comment on the Text of this Annotation I do not mention the Apollonius Batavus d Willibrord Snellius, fen exfusitaa Book printed at Lej den 1608 in 4to And I pals by also Vincentio Viviani, Author of the Treatise De maximis & minimis, geometrica divinatio in quintum librum Conicorum Apollonii Pergai, at Florence 1659, ın Iolie

(C) Mr Descartes had no great Opinion of it]
It (bb) did not seem strange to him that others should demonstrate the Conicks more easily than A- let Life of pollonius, because that Ancient Author is very tedipersers, because that Ancient Author is very tedipersers out and intricate, and yet all he has demonstrated to 2 pags is easy enough of it felf. He (cc) compared what 39 he had done in Metaphyticks to the Demonstration of (cc) Id Apollonius, in which there is nothing indeed but what is pollonius, in which there is nothing indeed but what is pollonius. is very clear and certain when each Point is consider d by it self. But because they are somewhat long, and that one cannot casily see the Necessity of the Conclusions, if he does not exactly remember all that went before, hardly one Nan in a City or in a Kingdom can be found, who is able to comprehend 'em Newertheles, on the Testimony of the Small number of those who can conceive and which he will not be the those of the state of the stat of the small number of those who can conceive and v uch (a) Hefor the Truth of them, there is no body but believes em

(D) That Apollonius appropriated Archimedes vita ArWritings and Discoveries to himself | Herachius (a) ifchimedis firms, that Archimedes was the first who apply d apud Euhimself to the Doctrine of Conicks, and that his Composures tell into the hands of Apollonius before they were publish d, who publish'd 'em as his own

(1) Entaching configures this by two Reasons one is Apollonius (b) Eutochius confutes this by two Reasons, one is, Apollo that Archimedes in several Places of his Books, speaks (onica of Conicks as a thing not new, the other, that A. (1) Eutopollon us does not pretend that he is the Inventor of cius ibid what he writes, he only fays that he has treated see the more amply of that Matter than had been done by Doffrine of any before him This feems to me but a bad Justi- Claude fication, as to the Crime of Physicism, for a Man Richard may easily appropriate the Writings of another to ubi supriminels, they are not Works wherein the Author scale 7 pretends to fiy nothing but what is new The Honour of explaining a difficult Matter better than had been done before, is enough to tempt a Man to feize Apolloa Writing which might appropriate that Honour to nius tol u-himself, this might be the Case of Apollonius for 1- demus in ny thing that appears in his Apology There's some- the Beginhimself, this might be the Case of Apollonius for 1ny thing that appears in his Apology There's something more in it still, he brags in the (c) general Summary of his 8th Book, that he advances new Things Judge then whether this might not be a powerful Motive with him, to attribute such a Work to himself Upon the whole, Eurochius defends him very badly, and his best Justification is the silence of Pappus his Censor, and a Censor somewhat prejudic'd against him Observe too, that the Book Pappus (d) does not only not accuse him as a Plagiary, (d) Pap but owns him the true Author of the Eight Books of pus in Conicks, tho he pretends that Euclid had wrote procemio Conicks, the he pretends that Euclid had wrote promise I our Books on the same Subject before He takes lib 7 Ma-Eucha's part against Apollonius, who had pretended them Col-

(v) See Vossius de Scient Mathem pag 55 (x) Id ib (x) Id ib (y) Boiellus in

Apollonia (i) Sietne Letter of Apollon epift dedicat lib 2 apud Eutocium

† Pag 200 & se-quent e-dit de Bruxelles

4 Philostr

Apoll I

was Apollonius, * who was the Messenger who presented the 2d Book of the Conicks (&) Eutoc to the Person to whom the Author had dedicated it The Arabians have shew'd a deal of Ignorance (E) in Chronology with regard to him Mr. Morers (F) has committed Com-

many I aults here

A'POLLONIUS Tyaneus, is the Man of the World, at least one of 'em, of whom the most extraordinary things have been said I had once resolv'd to make a large Article of him, but having seen that which Mr de Tillemont has already given, Hebuilds I thought it better to employ my time in other Enquiries, than take a deal of Troupon ile ble to fay nothing but what he has faid before me, or only to copy him His Book Testimony will go through more Hands than mine, and every body will confult him more readility of Gemir ly than my Dictionary It suffices then to advertise my Reader, That in the Second themativolume of his Works he will find † a full and exact Collection of what most remarkacarum bly concerns Apollonius Tyanaus However, if only for Form's fake, I shall say, That praceptihe was born at Tyana in Cappadocia, towards the beginning of the First Century That at Sixteen Years of Age he set up for a rigid Observer of the Rules of Pythagoras, relib 17 at Sixteen Years of Age he fet up for a rigid Obierver of the Rules of Lymphis Hair p 576 nouncing Wine, Women, and all manner of Flesh, wearing no Shoes, letting his Hair p 576 (m) Id grow at full Length, and cloathing himself only with Linnen, that a little while after, he (m) Id let up for a Reformer, that he fixt his Abode in the Temple of Esculapius, where many Sick came to desire he would heal 'em; that being come to Age, he gave part of his (n) Note Estate to his Elder Brother, that he distributed another part to his poor Relations, and that Mo-kept but a very small share to himself. That he spent Six Years without speaking a oren has word, that notwithstanding, during this silence he put a stop to (A) several Seditions faid noin Cilicia and Pamphilia & That he travell'd, and turn'd Legislator, that he boasted of which the understanding all Languages, without ever having learn'dem, of knowing the Thoughts word(1h.f.)

€ Id 1b

to shew, that that famous Geometrician had succeeded very indifferently on one certain Point He excuses Euclid, by what Apollonius himself had acknowledged, to wit, That before the Discoveries of A pollonius, 'twas impossible to treat clearly on that Subject, the Principles made use of before were not sufficient He pretends that Euclid (e) being endued with Mildness, Goodness, and Modesty, confined himself to the Discoveries of Aristeus concerning the Conicks, without either opposing or improving what the other had begun, and stopt where he found 'em uncapable of carrying him farther But he was aware of faying that this was the point of Perfection, for he had been to blame in this Note by the way, that this demonstrates the Fallity of Heraclius s Pretension, that Archimedes was the first who wrote concerning Conicks Voffius has not taken notice of the Proofs which overthrow that Pretention He observes (f) as a thing somewhat to Heraclius's Justification, that Archimedes has sometimes referred to such a Book on the (onicks, according to his usual manner, when he refers to any of his own Writings He adds, that (g) Guido Ubaldus has prov d against Eutochius, that Archimedes was not ignorant that the Conicks might be cut by Plains which have a different Inclination towards the Conick But what signifies this to prove the Matter in Question? Let's conclude, that Ar-chimedes had made a good, clear, and excellent Treatile of Conicks Does this infer that no body before him treated of this Matter, or that that Work was stolen by the Plagiary Apollonius?

(E) 1 he Arabians bave shew d great Ignerance in Chro-nology, with Regard to Apollonius] They have faid (b), that he lived in the time of sharking of Judah, and that his Writings on the Conick Sections were the Cause that Fuelid wrote Books of it a long time This is so strange a Mistake, that one wou'd wonder why Ecchellenfis should treat it with so much Lenity He seems unwilling to say, that the Arabian Author was Mistaken, he only says that that Chronology seems very wide of the common Account (1) In his longe videtur discrepare Gregorius à commune Chronologorum sententia & opinione, qui Apolance de Arabian de Commune Chronologorum sententia & opinione, qui Apolance de Commune Chronologorum sententia & opinione de Commune Chronologorum sententia & opinione de Commune de lonium storuisse scribunt anno periodi Juliana 4474 discrepat praterea ab iisdem Chronologii in atate Euclidu quem Apollonio juniorem agnoscit, ubi illi eum collocant in anno periodi Juliana 4430 Ecchellensii leaves you as 'twere at Liberty to chuse either of these Two Opinions He would have done better in Deciding that the Arabian Author was mistaken, for that's most certain And note, that his Error is not a Difference of some few Years, Abaz begun to reign in the Year 3970, of the Julian Period Piolomy E-vergetes in whose time Apollonium flourish'd, succeeded the king his Father in the Year 4468, of the same Period The Mistake then is very great, since it includes a Difference of about Five Centuries.

(F) Mr Moreri has commisted many Faults here Ist, He has plainly and absolutely given our spol-have us d some Restriction, and contented himself rable jar-with saying, that his Contemporaries call'd him so because of his Capacity in the Conicks This is Diograms lonius the Name of Great Geometrician, he ought to because of his Capacity in the Conicks This is precisely (k) what Eurocius of Ascalon says of him IId, Mr Moreri pretends that his Sirname is the same with that of o Keór, which is a great Mistake, take it which way you please, for in short, the Apollonius that was call d kgór, was not the Geometrician He was born at (l) Cyrene, and never had (m) any Reputation III Eurockius does not treat of Heraclius is Book of the Life of Aschimedes, but quotes it only IV To say, That we have the Treasise of Cones, Conicorum, translated by John Baptista de Mesmes, u being guilty of a Barbarism, and tending to persuade the Reader that this John Baptista translated the whole Work, whereas he has only translated the Four first Books of it V Is has only translated the Whole Work, whereas he has only translated the Four first Books of it V It is not true that Men of Learning know that (n) these Four first Books of Apollonius belong to Euclid of Megara VI No body has faid that Apollonius was the Disciple of Eublides, an Auditor of Euclid, and there is no likelihood that he ever was, feeing Eu-bulides did almost nothing else but cultivate the Sophistry of Logick, and never taught in Alexandria, bave where our Apollonius studied under the Disciples of Euclid VII After having said that Euclid is the true Author of the Four first Books of Apollonius, a Hi ought he to say that this Man made Commentaries on the Four first Books of that Philosopher's Conicks? What Stuff's here ! what Contradictions are these ! It is not true that Goline translated the 5th, 6th and 7th Books of Apollonius from Arabick into Latin war Morers who affirms it, is not to be excused, seeing he had only read in Vossius (p), that Golsus had brought these Three Arabian Books from the Levans, and that the Mathematicks would foon be much indebted to him, but chiefly when those 3 Books should be printed IX The Apollonius who was the Master of Diedarus is not the same who is 7th Books of Apollonius from Arabick into Latin Mr was the Master of Diedorus, is not the same who is spoke of in this Article Two others of Mr Me. ren's Faults may be seen (q) above

(A) That notwithstanding, during this Silence her put a stop to several Seditions] That which he stopped in Aspenda (a) was the most difficult to appeale, because the Point was to make those hearken to Reason, the Point was to make those hearken to Reason, whom (b) Famine had driven to Despair, fames (c) magistra peccandi, dwissima necessitatum. They were ready to burn their Sovereign alive, because some Rich Men having engross'd the Corn, had made an extraordinary Scarcity in the City. Apollonius stopped this Popular Commotion without speaking one Word. Was ever a more I loquent, Operative, and Persuasive Silence known's His Talent was very different from that of the Person, whom Virgis speaks. ferent from that of the Person whom Virgil speaks of (d),

Tumpietate gravem ac meritis si forte virum quem Conspaxere silent, arrestisque auribus astant Ille regit DICTIS animos, ac pessora mulcet This Man must speak, if he hopes to stop the Fury claim 12 of a Mutinous People Apollonius had no need of (d)Æn!

Words

(e) You'll find the words of Pappus in theremark of the Article of Aristeus tize Geometritian (f) Vossius ubi fupra in addendis pag 434 (g) Initio Commentaru in lecundum в эторратий у Archimedis (h) Gregorius Barhebrœus1 3 Chronicorum in Achaz a pud A-brah I cchellenfem præf ion
(1) Ecchellenf ıbıd

ment in Conica Apollo-וֹוַת of Gemina Of can relate thu makes an insuffe-(e) See Diogenes Lacrtus lib 2 n 111 (p) Vossi-us de Scient Mathem cap 16 p m 55 (q) In the R mark B in the Margin (a) was the 3d City of Pamphy lia (b) The French have a Prowerb a Hungry Belly has no Ears The Ancients had much such another See Erafmus's Chiliads Venter non habet aures Catobegan anOratian with these words. Arduum est ad ventrem cere qui careat auribus The matter was to appease the people who for Corn (c) Quin (d)Ænlı of the Heart yand of being able to explain the Oracles which Bird deliver'd by chirping, that he condemn'd Dancing and other Diversions of that kind, that he recommendedWorks of Charity \(\xi\); that he travell'd over almost all the Countries of the World, that being at Caacthe (B) prevail d with the Person who had the chief Administration of Affairs in that Country to revolt against Nero, and that he died * at a great Age, c i & without any one's ever certainly knowing where, or in what manner. His Life (C) has been amply described by Philostratus. It is not to be doubted that it contains a first settle (C) has been amply described by Philostratus. It is not to be doubted that it contains a first settle for the Power of Magick. The Pagans were overjoy'd that they could confront (D) the Miracles of our Lord with the pietended Miracles of this Man, and make a Parel-lost 15 Miracles of our I ord with the pretended Miracles of this Man, and make a Parel-lost 1 5 lel hetween their Circumstances and Persons It's observable that St Augustin confess'd, tunder that Apollonius at worst was much beyond the Jupiter of the Gentiles It cannot be the Reign denied that this Philosopher received very great (L) Honouis, both in his Life-time,

Words, his Pythagorical Silence did all that the fairest Figures of Oratory could effect

(B) That being at Cadiz be rais'd a Rebellion]

* Philostratus (c) thinks it to his Honour, that he  made the Governor of Cadiz and the Country  about it rebel avainst News nor did the "about it rebel against Nero, nor did the other Philosophers make any more scruple of "this than he [There being no Institution but the Christian Religion which teaches us to consider Men not as they are in themselves, but in the Order wherein God has placed them, nor ever to violate the lath which has once been sworn to "em Mr de Tillemant might were well have "'em] Mr de Tillemont might very well have dispens'd with this moral Remark, and indeed with the whole Parenthesis Christianity has most real and sublime Advantages above all Philosophy, but as to the point here in question, I cannot see for a thousand years past that he has any right to upbraid or insult the Philosophers. The Christians and there have been prestry aren on the Gore for a long they have been pretty even on this foore for a long time. We may fay of this Engagement, Never to violate the Faith that has once been given, what the Poet faid of Chastity

(f) Juven Sit 6 init

Credo (f) pudicitiam saturno rege moratam In terris, visamque diu _____ Quippe aliter tunc orbs novo cæloque recenti Vivebant homines

(g) Pag 210 (b) Philoitratus 1 7 ch 2

(1) Tille-

mont, p

Philostr

1 1 c 3 (k) Phi-

Jostr 1 1 c 2 & 3 apud Til-lemont, sle Remark I

11 re of tic Life of Apollo-

Other Au-dem n-firat L-\ angel ibid (1) Sec in 201 ex

It held no longer than the three first Centuries Mr de Tillemont (g) notes that Apollonius used his utmost Fndeavour to raife all the World against the Emperor Domitian He who wrote this Philosopher's Life reckons (h) it as an heioic Exploit in him That Impostor had mimick d the Son of God in several Instances, but on the Article of Submission to Powers, and Passive Obedience, he pull'd off the Mask and tunk thamefully There's no room for a Parallel on this head

(C) His Lif has been amply describ'd by Philostratus] That which Damis originally of Ninive, the (1) most devoted to him of all his Disciples, had composed, wa properly no more than Memoirs, and written ill enough. They fell into the hands of the Empress Julia, the Wife of Severus She (k) gave them to Philostratus, who with them and with the help of what he could draw from Apollonius himself, and from some other Memoirs, composed the History we have of him He mentions one Maximus of Eges who had composed a book of Apollonius, and one Moeragenes who had wrote four Book of him, but would have no body depend on this latter (1) As for the Lite which he composed, it was first printed in Greek at Finice, by Aldus Manutius, with the Treatile of Enfebius against Hieroeles I hat Treatise was put into Latin by Zenobius Acci-The Life of Apollonius was translated into the fame Language by Allemannus Rhinuccius a Horentine The Latin Vertion of these two Pieces, with divers Corrections and small Marginal Notes of Gisbert Longolius, was printed it Cologne in the Year 1532, in 800 The Paris Edition of all the Works of Philostratus, by the (are of Frederick More!, is better than my before it, but twere to be wished that some good Gresan would correct the Istin Translation, be might find many things in it which want to be touch d by a healing hind See the Remail I and the Margin of the Article concerning the Version of Ligenous

(D) It a they could confront the Miracles of our I and, much the presended Miracles of this Man] We need only see the Works of Eul bius (m) against one (m) In the Hirocles a great Enemy of the Cospel in the Reign Volume de of the Emperor Diocletian It there appears that Hierocles's Defign in the Treatile which Euleb us confutes, had been to make a Paiallel betaint Jelus Christ and Apollou in Transa, and give the preference to the latter. These Words of Lan Tantius pag 511 rence to the latter

(n) confirm what I have said Item cum fatta Jesu Christi mirabilia destrueret nec tamen negaret, voluit Christi mirabilia destrueret nec tamen negaret, voluit ostendere Apollonium vel paria vel etiam majora secisse What Mr (o) de Tillemont has laid is remaikable, Apollonius, says he, has been (i) by the seeming Innocency of hu Life and his pretended Mracles, one of the most dangerous Enemies the Church had in its Insury It seem d as if the (2) Divil had sent him into the World according to hu own Panegyrists [about the same time that sesus (hrist was to appear, either to (3) counter-balance his Authority in the minds of those Numbers who should take the Illustrue of this Massecon servand bers who should take the Illusions of this Magician for real Miracles | or that those who should discover him to b. an

Miracles or that those who should discover him to b. an (o) Tilerrand Impostor and Magician, might thereby be brought lem page to doubt of the Miracles of Jesus Christ and of his Disciples 200 (E) Very great Honours both in his Life time and after his Death | Mr de Tillemont (p) justly reproaches an, page him (4) with his not having disclaimed the Style and 245 Title of God, (5) and with his having suffered himself (2) Apolish the adoles of a sufference himself (2) Apolish These form a content time himself. Title of God, (5) and with his having sufficed himself to be ador'd as a Deity That if on a certain time he would not receive Divine Honours in publick, it was, says his Historian, for fear of Envy The Inhabitants of Tyana (a) built a Temple to their Apollonius after his Death His Image was set up in several other (r) Temples besides The Emperor Adrian collected as many of his Letters as possibly he could, and kept them in his fine Palace of Antium, with a little Book of that Philosopher concerning the Antle Book of that Philosopher concerning the Answers he had received from the Oracle of Trophonius This little Book was to be seen at Antium when Philostratus liv d, nor did any Curiosity render this small fown near so famous(1) as Apollonius's Book Antonius Caracalla had an extraordinary Veneration for Apolloniss, and built him a (t) Temple as to an Hero The Emperor Alexander kept the Image of this Philosopher in (w) a particular place in his Palace among those of Jesus Christ, of Abraham, and others of the best Princes Aurelius having resolved to sack Tyana, was prevented by Apollonius appearing to him in a Vision, and forbidding it, and he not only obey d that Order of Apollonius, but vowed an Image, a Temple, and Statues to him Vopiscus in relating this, declares himself his Admier and in relating this, declares himself his Admirer and Votary, with a Promise to write his Life The passage though somewhat long, deserves a place here, it's almost all of it a Proof of the Text of this Remark Taceri (x) non debet res que ad famam venera-bilis viri pertinet Fertur enim Aurelianum de Th) and civitatis eversione vera dixisse, vera cog tasse verum Apollonium Thyanaum celeberrima fama autoritatifque relim p Sapientem, veterem philosophum, amicum verum deorum, ipsum etiam pro numine frequentandum, recipienti se in tentorium ea forma qua videtur, subito aftitisse, atque l'ac Latine, ut homo Pannonius intelligerer, verba dixif se Aureliane, si vis vinceie, nihil est quod de civium meorum nece cogites Aureliane, si vis impeiare, à cruore innocentium abstine Aureliane, clementer te age, si vis vincere Norat vultum philicial de la visconium philipida de la visconiu losophi venerabilis Aurelianus, atque in mul u ejus imaginem viderat templis Denique statin actonitus, im i liste-ginem, & statuas & templum cidem promisic, atque in mont, pag meliorem redut menten Hac evo i gravibus viris comperi, & in Ulpie bibliothece libris relegi, & pro mij - (v) Lamstate Apollonii magis credidi. Quid enim illo viro san- prid pagitius, venerabilius, antiquius, diviniusque interhomi- 123 apud nes suit? He mortus reddidit vitam. Il's mil a ultra cumdem homines & fecit & dixio, que qui velit noss. Gracos legat libros qui de equi vita conscripti sunt Iple autem, si vita suppetat, asque ipsius viri favori ul suequaque placuerit, breviter saltem tanti viri salta in literas mittam non quo illius viri gesta munere mei Jermonis indiram non quo illius viri gena munere mei sermonia indi-reant, sed u ca qua miranda sunt, omnium voce predi-centur The Words of Lampridus concerning the manner of the Emperor Alexander's Worship, are no less worths of a place here He informs us that PP

y Id 1b J' Ib c † Under of Nerva and in the year of our Lord 96 or 97 Seethe Remark F

> (n) Last inflitut lib 5 c 3 > (o) Til-(1) Gode-(2) Apollon vita l 1 c 3 pag 5 D (3) Godeau, pag 246 (p) Tillem pag (4) Phi-Jostr in Apoll vi ta 1 8 c 2, pag 376 (s) Ib 1 7 C 10 pag 345 1 1 c 13 P1g 25 (6) Ib 1 4 C 1 > p1g 189 (9) 10 1 1 C 4 P G See also 1 8 c ulr () Vepif-Cus in Aum 475 (r) Philo ftiat ubi fupra,1 8 Dio 1 77 pig 8 8 qud I alle -123 apud (x) Vopulcus in Au> > reliano, p

(a) Lam-

prid in Alexand

Severo, p

m 930 (b)In Hierocl p

220 lacrum

ejus sub Hercutis

Alexicaci nomine

conflitutum ab Lpheins ctiam nunc ho-norari

Lactant

p m 31

P Mage of

Vopiscus

st the fore going Ke-

a , 01 75-

צמו אבץ צסו

Neque ve-

quoque defuntqui

expertos fe dicant cjus no-mini 10-vocato

magicas

tutes ad

ro hodie

mark.

ubi fupia,

and after his Death; and that his (F) Reputation lasted as long as Paranism. He less some Works (G) which have been long since lost Mention is made, another Philosopher whose Name was also (H) Apollonius of Tyana, who liv'd in the less of the Emperor Adrian I do not know of what Sect he was, but no one porant that our Apollonius was so strict a Pythagorean that he would have stood Fig. Faggot for his Opinion.

when this Emperor was ftly disposed, that is to say, when he had not lain with his Wise the Night before, he began the day by acts of Devotion He went early in the Morning into his Oratory to practise religious Ceremonies in Honour of the Patrons he had shade choice of, whereof Apollonius was one Usu (a) vivendi eidem bic suit Primum ut, si facultas este, id est sone cum uxore cubuisses, matutinis horis in larario suo (in quo & divos principes, sed optimos clesses & animas sanctiores, in queu & Apollonium, & quantum scriptor suorum temperum dicit, Christium, Abraham, & Orpheum, & huisscemodi deos habebat, ac majoram efficici) rem divinam saciebat Eusibiu (b) "tells us, that in his time there were Persons who "pretended to Inchantments by invoking the Name pretended to Inchantments by invoking the Name of Apollonius

476, 477 apud Tilof Apollonius

(F) That his Reptuation lasted as long as Paganism]

Mr de Tillemont, who denies this, alledges he Testimonies of Lastantiu and Rusebius From the beginning, says he, of the 4th Century (c) no Person whatsoever wership'd Apollonius as a God, though it's presended that the Ephesians still continued to reverence his Statue under the Name of Hercules, but not under the statue and the statue and the same a constant Truth that he was no lemont, p (c) Til-lem ib (d) Simuhis own, because it was a constant Truth that he was no more than a mere Man and an Impostor Eusebius af-firms also that at that time no one in a manner own'd Apolfirms also that at that time no one in a manner own dApollonins as a God, nor as an extraordinary and admirable Man, but only simply as a Philosopher. Mr de Tilemons quotes the 3d Chapter of the 5th Book of Lastantius, and the 468th page of Eusebius's Treatise against Hierocles I confess Lastantius supposes that no body honour'd Apollonius as a God I for he asks, Curigitur, o delirum caput, nemo Apollonium pro Deo colit infi forte tu solus illo scilicet Deo dignus cum quo te in sempiternum verus Deus puniet, But he does not deny what the Author whom he consutes had sud, (1) Scuthe that the Confectated Statue of Apollonius was still honour'd at Fphofus, under the Name of (d) Hereules He thinks it enough that Apollonius was not honoured under his own, but a borrow'd Name, Ideo a'ieni nominis titulo affictavit divinitatem, quia suo nee poterat nee audebat This is more subtle than so-(1) Aun nec poterat nec audebat. This is more subtle than sothey had no other Intention than to honour Apolinus, and no other intention than to honour Apollonus, lonus, and only made use of the Title of Hercules αποτροπαιο or Alexicacus, to note that Apollonus had freed them from the Plague It's likely there was no mainter of Artifice in all this, Apollonus did not endeavour to hide himself under a borrowed Name or of or fear his own should cast some scruple into People's Minds Here then is a fair Testimony produced by Lassagues, concerning the Worship that duced by Lastantius, concerning the Worship that was still given to our Apollonias in the beginning of the 4th Century But with all the respect due to that 4th Century But with all the respect due to that Father of the Church, I cannot persuade my self that those of Tyana had discontinued their Venerations, or that the Images (e) of Apollonius were removed out of all the Temples I find in Eusebius (f) that in his time a Report was spread, that many things were perform'd by invoking the Name of Apollonius, he cills'em Magical, or Superstitious, but there can be no doubt that many Pagans took 'em for real Miracles I find in St Augustin, that in his time the Christians were so disturbed by the chimerical superstiti- Parallels between the Miracles of Apollonius and those superstitiofa quiof Jelus Christ, and by the ridiculous Pretension of Jelus Christ, and by the ridiculous Pretension that the first equal d or out did the latter, that they had recourse to that great Light of the Church to have this difficulty retured Sed (g) tamen etiam ego literocl
p m 541

(r) MaiGILANTIUS respondere digneris, in quibus nihil amplicellin ad us Dominum quam alii homnes facere patuerunt, fecisse Anonson vel ocolisie mentiuntum APOLLONIUM squiden suum Augustin vel gest se mentiuntur APOLLONIUM siquidem suum cpist 3 nobis & Apulejum aliosque magica artis homines in medinobis & Apulejum also que magica artis homines in meaiinter Augustini la I hen it was that St Augustin declared what is controlas read in the Body of the Article, that Apollonius Tyaneus was beyond Jupiter, which by the way, ought to shame some modern Divines who cannot suffer that the want of the Knowledge of God should be lookt on as a leis Lvil than the worshipping the abominable Pagin Detties, which in St. Augustin's Opinion were even worse than Magicians. Quis autem vil r su dignum non putet, que Amplionium & Apulejum ceterosque magicarum artium peritissimos conferre Christo vel etiam praferre conantur, quamquam TOLE-RABILIUS ferendum sit quando illos es possus comporent quam Deos suos multo enim mel.or, quod fatendum eff, Apollonius fuit, quam tot suprorum auttor & perpetrator quem Jou-m (h) nominant The same Father obferves that the Pagans who mock'd at the History of Jonas would have believ'd a like Adventure of Jonas would have believed a like Adventure to be true if reported of Apuleius, or Apolonius Tyaneus (i) his bec quod de Jona scriptum est, Apuleius Madaurensis, wel Apollonius Tyaneus facisse dicceretur, quorum multa mira, nullo sideli auctore, jatitati fi de ssiis ut divi quos magos wel Philosophos laudabiliter nominant tale aliquid narraretur, non jam in buccis creparet risus, sed typhus Upon to whole I sind that in the heaving of the orth Con yam in bucis creparet rijut, jed typhus. Upon the whole, I find that in the beginning of the 5th Century, Lunapius (k) wrete, that Apollonius was not jo much a Philosopher, as something that held a middle Rank between God and Man, and that Philostratus ought to have entitled the History which he wrote of him, The Descent of a God upon Earth. Am I to blame then in affirming that saddening the Apollonia that saddening that saddening the Apollonia that saddening that sa then in affirming that Apollonius's Honour lasted as long as Paganism?

lt only remains that I answer Eusebing's Authority by which Mr de Tillement supports himself And this I can very easily do, because it is plain from the Facts but now alledged, that Eusebius runs into an Hyperbole which has not the least shadow of truth How can it be true, that in Eusebius's time no body did Apollonius the Honour to call him a Philosopher, when Ammianus Marcellinus in the fame Century occasionally speaking of a Fountain that was near Tyana, fail'd not to remember Apollonius with this king, gy, Ubi (1) amplissimus ille Philosophus Apollonius diturnatus? I should chuse for the honour of Eustabus to say, that he spake of Philostratus, so that his meaning is, that it is not necessary amply to refute the Dreams that Philostratia has set forth, seeing he is an Author not regarded by any Body, and not so much as rank'd in the Number of Philosophers I confess there's some difficulty in this Explication, but it's plain that Eufebius meant to attack Philofiratur's Phantom, and not the true Apollonius Doth he not declare that he has always look'd upon Apollonius as a Learned Man, and grant that he deserves to be rank'd with all manner of Honour among the Philosophers? That he only respects the I ables and supernatural Vertues which Philosophers and some other Panegyrists ascribed to him, and that levelling directly against Philostratus, he'll shew that Apollonia is unworthy to be rank'd not only among the Philosophers, but even among Men of moderate So far is he from coming into any Competi-ti historiam, ex hac enim certis rationibus convincemus Apollonium non inter Philosophos locum, ac ne inter me-diocris quidem ac usitata probitatis viros dignum sortiri, nedum sit ille Salvatori nostro ratione aliqua conferen-du (m)

(G) He left some Works which have been long since

He had written four Books on (n) Judicial Astrology, and a Treatise (0) of Sacrifices, shewing what was to be offer'd to each Deity This to Piece became very famous Euf bisse (p) quotes to Suidas (q) also takes notice of it, and adds to it a Testament, a Collection of Oracles, and Letters, and the Lise of Pythagoras The Theology of which Eusebisse quotes (a) a Passage, is perhaps the same Piece with that of the Sacrifices Apollonius has wrote a great Number of very short Letters, some whereof Philostratus has inserted in his History The Hymn on Memory is not composed by Apollonius, as Mr de Tillement pretends He quotes the lonius, as Mr de Tillement pretends He quotes the He quotes the I have not found any fuch thing there, but only that Apollonius at the Age of an Hundred Years had a better Memory than Simonider, and that he often Sung the Hymn that Simonides had composed in the praise of Memory Suidas speaks of this so confusedly

(b) August epist 4 P m 23 epist 49 Pag 208

(4) Print." 排除数 17

(I) Amm Marcell lıb 23 c б p m 370

(m) Euseb. in Hierocl p m (n) liees suavicias De divinatione aftrorum Philostr ın vita Apoll 14 can 13. (e) Id. 1b Vide etiam 1 4 cap 6 (p) Eufeb Præpai Evang l 4 c 23 pag 150. (q) Suidas IN WTON-376 (a) Eufeb Demonftr |Evang l 3 cap 3 pag. 105

Opinion. He made so open a Profession of his Belief of the Metempsycholis, that c he C Id 1 5 caus'd a Lyon table ador'd, under pretence that the Soul y of Amasis was united to the Body of that Berst. We have his Life translated from the Greek of Philostratus into been King French by Blasse & Vigenere, with a very ample Commentary of Artus Thomas Sieur of Embry, a Parisian. It is not long since an (I) English Translation of that Life with This Notes, gave exceeding Scandal to pious Minds It has been condemn'd, prohibited, forming and anothernatized, and not without Reason I speak of it in my Remarks Had we that I all the Whote a Contemporary Philosopher, named Embrates, had severcelly written against Morel what a Contemporary Philosopher, named Euphrates, had satyrically written against Morel Apollonius, we should undoubtedly be furnished with several slanderous Particulars For Reader when fuch Rivals once declare War against each other, they bring many Secrets to Light Philostratus has reason to alledge that Euphrates's Silence, as an A gument to convince revised those of Calumny, who had spoken ill of Apollonius on the Article Chassity, and boldly to maintain, that Apollonius in the Fire of his Youth triumph'd over Nature, and al- Hed this ways liv'd in a state of exact Continency Sidonius Apollinaris has given a Description of Apollonius, in which we see as great a (K) Hero in Philosophy as is possible. The the Greek Author of this Description does not forget to make his Excuses to the Catholick Church Original APONENSIS. 4 (Petrus) one of the most famous Philosophers and Physicians of his Century, was born in the Year 1250, in a Village fituated Four Miles from Padua printed at He studied a long time at (A) Paris, where he was promoted to the Degrees of Doctor in Philosophy and Physick I cannot tell whether he died very Rich, but I have read vol in 4 that he made his Patients pay exorbitant (B) Fees He was suspected of Ma-

(6) Philostr ubi fupra l 1 cap 3.

(c) C1desfus, P

Page of his Bibliotheque I ne I ettament mention d by Suidas Audánn, is without doubt the same Book that Philospass quotes in these Words (b) hai Audánus of the Amohavia page gap may ar worde you madien of the formation of the forecast of the formation of the formation of the formation of the f ly be seen how inquisitive be was, nay ravish'd in a manner with the Love of Philosophy

(H) Mention is also made of another Philosopher whose Name was Apollonius of Tyana] Suidae is the Author who mentions him on the Credit of Agresphen, who had wrote a Book concerning Persons of the fame Name, wei suwviuw, de homonymis This brings to my Mind, that a Learned Man whom (c) I have already quoted, questions whether the Ancients wrote any Books like those of Leon Allstins, de similarity, de Pfellis, &c He ought not to have doubted it, for besides Agresphon, we can give Demetrius Magnes Some Learned Men would join here Diony-Gue of Science and Singuisher have deceived fins of Scipio, and Simarifius, but they are deceived See the Remark B of the Article C of this Deme-

(I) An English Translation of this Life] The Author of that Translation went no farther than the (I) An English Translation of this Life] The Author of that Translation went no farther than the Third Book exclusively If he had only translated, there had been no just Cause of Complaint, but to his Translation he has joyn'd a Number of very ample Annotations, which he had for the most part taken out of the Manuscripts of the Famous Boren Herbert, a great Desst, it we believe several Persons They who have read these Annotations have assured they are full of a deadly Poyson, that they tead only to ruin Reveal'd Religion, and make the Holy Scriptures despicable. The Author does not drive at this by Reasons gravely and seriously proposed, but almost continually by prophane Jests, and little Subtilities, so that it was not without Reason and Justice, that this Book which had been printed in London in the Year 1680 (d), was prohibited under severe Penalties. This new Translator of Philostraus was an English Gentleman, whose Name was Charles Blowns. In the Year 1693, he publish'd a Treatife, the Title whereof was, The Oracles of Reason, and accompanied it wish some other small Pieces of the same Stamp The same Year he came to a Tragical End. He was much in Love with his Brother's Widow, and pretended he might marry her without committing Incest, and wrote a Treatise to prove it. pretended he might marry her without com-mitting Incest, and wrote a Treatise to prove it, but seeing no likelihood of obtaining the Church's but feeing no likelingou of obtaining the Confent, he fell into Delpair and kill d himself See the History of the Works of the Learned (e). To return Mr de Tillemont speaking of those who had wrote the Life of Apollonius, stops at Philostrasus Let's fearch it somewhat farther who liv'd in the Reign of Aurelian, wrote the Life of Apellonism, on that which Philestratus had written, Tascius Victorianus made another on that which Ni-Sidenius Apollinaris Wrote comachus had composed another, and follow'd the Plan of Victorianus more than that of N comachus (f) We read in Suidas, that Soverschus, a Native of Oassi in Egypt, had composed the

that he seems to say as if Apollonias composed that Piece Konig has been deceived by it See the 49th of Apollonias That Author sived in the Reign of Apollon

(K) In which we fee as great a Hero in Philosophy]
That every body may be a Judge of this, let's here fet down the Words of Sidonius Apollinaris. He had written the Life of Apollonius, and in sending it to a Councellor of Everigus King of the Gosts, he speaks to him after this manner (g) Lege virum (fidei Catholica paco prafata) in plurimis similem tui id est, a divitibus ambitum, nec divitias ambientem, cupi-dum scientia, continentem pecun a, inter epulas abste-mium, inter purpuratos linteatum, inter alabastra consori-Concretum, bifpidum, birfutum, in medio nationum um Concretum, hispidum, hispidum, in medio nationum delibutarum, atque inter satrapas regum tiaratorum myrrhatos, pumicatos, malobatratos, venerabili squalore pretiosum Cumque pioprio nihil esui aut indutui de pecude conferret, regnis ob hoc, qua pererravit, non tam suspicioni, quam suisse suspectivi & fortuna regum sibi in omnibus obsecundante, illa tantum beneficia poscentem, qua mage sit sucus obsata prastare, quam sumere (A) He sudied a long time at Patis, where he was promited Naudaus takes notice of this in a Speech, wherein he raises the Ancient clory of the Academy of paries as high as in him lies Let's setdown his words ofParis as high as in him lies Let's fetdown his words at length, because they do by the way inform us that Peter Aponensis composed that great Work at Paris, which got him the Name of Reconciler (1)

Prodess tandem Petrus Aponensis ab insigni libro, quemdum vestras scholas frequentaret, edidit, Conciliatoris no-men adeptus. Certe latebat in Italia, nulli prope cognita, nullis aliis disciplinis, nullis artibus, nedum propriis exculta, nulla denique, vel linguarum cognitione, vel Philosophia nitore decorata Medicina, cum ecce tutelaris Philosophia nitore decorata Medicina, cum ecce tutelaris illius genius, ex Aponensis bainci pago, Italiam ab ignorantia barbarie, velut alter Camillus Remam a Gallerum obsidione liberaturus, diligenter inquirit, ubinam gentium bumaniores litera felicius excolerentur, Fh'olophia substilus traderetur, Midicina purius, & folidius edoceretur cumque rescivisse uni Lutetia banc laudem deberi, in eam statim irvolat, illius gremio totum setradis, Philosophia, Medicinaque mysteriis sedulo incumbit, gradum. & lauream in utraque consequitur, utramque gradum, & lauream in utraque consequitur, utramque postea celeberrime docet, O post diuturnam annorum mo-ram divitius vestris onustus, imo Philosophus, Medicus, Aftrologus, Mathematicus [un tempeftatispraftantiffimus, in patriam suam revertitur, O primus omnium Scardeonis viri gravissimi sudicio, synceram Philosophiam, O Medicinam illi restituit. Unde gratitudinis ergo compellandus venit, O a voba merita gratia prose juendus Milandus venit, O a voba merita gratia prose juendus Milandus venit. chael Angelus Blondus Medicus Romanus, quod superiori Seculo Aponensis vestri Conciliationes physiognomicas elegantiorsbus typis demandare volens, cum vidiffit cas u doctorevefire, Parificis, & in Facultate vestra fuisse elabora-tas, has ideireo vestri Collegii nomine, & auspicio in lucem prodire voluerit, ut communis loci fama beneficio

(B) His Patients pay lance F is for bis Visits] There's Meiklino notice taken of what he exacted for the Visits he nus in made in the Place of his Reidence, but it's affirm d that (a) he would not go out of Town to vifit the Sick under 150 I ranks a Day They add, (b) that pag 878 being fent for by the Pope Honnorius the IVth, he (b) Id ib

P p 2

demanded

gick, cap 8. call him Pierre d' Avane Jacobus Philippus Tomalinus, elog ıllustr vir pag 22

> ro in Sidon Apollin p 491 (b) Sidon Apollin epist 3 1

(1) Ga-brielNaudæus de antiquita-te scholæ Medica Paralientis p 44 & ieq

(d) The Title Specufies the year 1680 It must have layme concealed for several years, for It WAS NOT condemn d ## 1693 (e) Month of Nov 1693 p 135 136

> (1) Fx Sianonu Apollinaris epist 3 18

C In the Remark C gick (C), and profecuted on this Head by the Inquisition; and it's littly if he had he ved to the End of the Trial, he would have suffer'd in his Person which he suffer'd in Estigie after his Death We shall relate c what his Apologists observe. privater

(c) Came Meditations Hi-Roriques (d) 1d ibid

(e) Se-condo da Peru-

Hoggid

finganno

Honomi IV

demanded four hundred Ducate a Day This we find in the Abridgment of his Life, inferted in the new Edition of Vander Linden, de Jerspronbus Medicis Camerarius (e) relates the same thing, but without naming the Pope who sent for this Physician He does not do the fame as to the Place where Peter does not do the same as to the Place where Perer Aponensis liv'd, he says it was at Bologna. He mentions indeed Pope Honorius the IVth, but says that the Physician who exacted so wast a Sum from that Pope, was not Peter Aponensis. These are his Words according to Simen Giulari's Translation. (d) In she time of our Fathers there was a Physician of Florence, who is Name was Thadens, who acquired such a Retuitatime of our Fathers there was a Physician of Florence, whose Name was I hadeus, who acquir'd such a Reputation, that practifing out of Town he gain'd so Crowns a day, and being sent for by Pope Honorius the 19th, had an hundred Crowns a Day of him, so that he brought away ten thousand Crowns from Rome If he had consuited Chronology, he would not have said in the time of our Fathers, for that Pope was elected in the Year 1285, and died in the Year 1285, and died in the Year 1285. (e) Lancelot de Perouse quoting Ciaconius (f) says, that this Shadeus a Florentine, and Professor at Bologna, made those whom Pope Honorius the IVth fent to Lanceloti him, promise that he should have an hundred Crowns a day, and adds, that that Journey was worth him ten thousand Crowns, but observes that others write, that reter Aponus had 400 Crowns a day of that Pope I he had faid, that this Poper nevent out of Town to visit the Sick unless they gave parte 2 di-18 p 377 (f) In vita him Fifty Florins You'll find in the Theater of Paul Freber (g), that he was a Professor of Physick in Bologue, and that he was sent for from all parts of Italy, tho' he exacted Fifty Florins a day You'll likewife find there that he bargain'd with Honories the IV for the Sum of 100 Florins a day, and that having cur'd that Pope he received 1000 Crowns of him Variations in abundance

(g) Fre theatro viror il-Justr pag 1209 I nardus Scardenclasse 9 heftorix Patavina (b) Naudè Apologic desgrands hommes accusez de Magie ch 14 P 380 (1) Thu is false See *heRemark (k) This is

(1) Naudè ibid pag 382 falle See

(1) In VIeix Illustr

Medico-

the Same

him Variations in abundance
(C) He was suspected of Magick] This Suspicion continues Still, may a great many do more than suspect and are even firmly persuaded of it (b). The common Opinion of almost all Authors is, that he was the greatest Magician of his Time. That by the means of Seven Familiar Spirits, which he kept inschede in a Chrystal Bottle, he had acquired the Knowledge of the Seven Liberal Arts, that like another Pasetes he had the knack of making the Noncy he had seen to recurn the Anack of making the Money he had spent to return into his Pocket. He that supplies me with these Words, adds, That it scertain he was accused of Mawords, adds, that it scerain he was accused of Magick in the (1) 8 th Tear of his Age, and that dying in the Year (k) 1325, before his Trial was finished, they did not forbown, (1) as Castellain reports, to judge him to the Fire, and burn a Bundle of Straw or Twigs, representing his Person, in the Publick Place of Padua, that by so Rigorous an Example, and by the Fear of Incurring a like Penalty, they might suppress the Reading of Three superstitutus and abominable Books, which he had composed on that Matter, the first of which was the Heptameron, now Printed at the end of the 1st Volume of the Works of Agrippa, the 2d, that which Trithemus calls Elucidarium Necromanticum Petri de Abanandarium Retriebendarium Abanandarium Retriebendarium Abanandarium Retriebendarium Retriebe no, and a Third call'd in the Jame Author Liber experimentorum muabilium de annulis secundum 28 mansiones Luna These seem to be strong Proofs, nevertheleis Naudaumakes no great Account of em. He refutes them immediately by this Observation, that Peter Appains was a Man of prodigious With and Learning in a dark Age, now that was enough to make him be taken for a Magician, being besides much addicted to Curious and Divinatory Sciences He fays (1), he was a Man who appear d as a Prodig; and Mirricle among the Ignorants of that Age, and who besides his Skill in Languages, and Physick, had to far pried into those less common Sciences, that after having lift most ample Proof by his Writings concernmaying lift most ample 1700 by his Writings concern-ing Physignomy, Geomancy, and Chiromancy, what he was able to perform in cach of thise, he quitted 'im all with the Whims of his Youth to addit himself wholly to the Study of Philosophy, Physick, and Astrology, which prov d of fuch Advantage to him, that not to Speak of the two first which introduced him into the Favour of all the Popes and Sovereign Pontists that had been in his time, and acquir a him the Reputation that beenjoys at prefent among learned Men, it's certain that he was a great Mafter in the latter, as appears as well by the Astronomica Figures which h can'd to be painted in the great Hall of the Palace fl'adua, and the Is ans attons he made of the Books of Rabbi Abraham, Aben Lzia, joyned to those which be himself composed on she Crisical Days, and on the Improvement of Astronomy, as by the Testimony of the renormed Manaterian Regio-Montanus, who made him a fine Panetyrick in Quality of Astrologer, in the Orasion which he spake publickly at Padua, when he explain a the Book of Alfraganus there Naudaus observes astrowards, that Peter Aponensis was very (m) shuth given to Astrology, and thence it is that many Authors maintain (n) a quite contrary Opinion to the all hus Precedent, to wit, that he did not andergo such a Sentence on the Score of Magick, but because he would give a Reason for the wonderful Effests which often happing in hu 156 Nature by Virtue of the Celestial Budges, wethout more his Contrary or the Celestion that Systematian (2) Champier cliator has made of the Passage of hus Differences, which ought in his Contra to be read without Gameion, and from the Pertraptoral Authority of Francis Picus, who speaking of them (n) Id. says express, (3) Ab omnibus ferme creditus est indicated and tributum sit, quem etiam hareseum in the lib criquistores vexaverunt, quasi nullos esse Domones brat compesed on the Critical Days, and on the Improve quisitores vexaverunt, quasi nullos esse Dæmones brat crediderit To which must be added that (4) on thir (3) Lib Occasion, Baptista Mantuanus calls him, Virum mag- 7 de præ-næ, ied nimium audacis temerarien; doctrine Thor(5) not cap 7 Casmannus reckens him in the Number of these who as- (4) Lib cribed all Miracles to Nature, and that le (6) Loyer 1 de pa-affirms in his Apparitions, that he laugh das Sorcerers, tientia affirms in his Apparitions, that we saugh a as sorverers, thefitta and their Nosturnal Meetings. Whence one would wonder cap 3, why the same Authors reckon him frequently among the (5) Aninchanters and Magicians; if it were not the way of gelogy those who wrise on such Subjects, so swell their Books part 2 by copying all they find in Authors, so that they Me cap 21 of the Bases of the Bases. observe the Precept of the Poet

Primo ne medium, medio ne descrepet imum.

After this, his Apologist declares, That he have (16) wherewith to defend him both from the Grimes of Mageck and Atheifm, as well by the Testimony which the Illustrous and Relegious Frederick Duke of Urbin, has firious and Religious Predetick Dure of Civili, was been pleas'd to give to his Merits, by placing a Statue in Honour of him among those of Renown'd Mon that wre to be Jeen in his Citadel, as also by the Publick Attoffation of the Gity of Padua, which has fet up his Efficies on the Gate of its Town-house with the Insertion on the bert, and Julius Paulus, with this Infeription on the Base (p) Petrus Aponus Patavinus Philosophiae

Medicinæque scientillimus, ob idque Concaliatoris (p) This nomen adeptus, Astrologiæ vero adeo peritus, ut sa Inscription Magin suspicionem inciderit, falsoque de huresi um Toma-Same Peter (8) Aponus affirms after Albumann, that the Prayers which are made to God, when the Mosa ue in Conjunction with Jupiter in the Head of the Dry. (7) Dxgon, are infallibly heard, and that he bad requested for monomahimself (to use his own Terms) saprontiam a print gia quasi visus est fibi in illa amplius proficere Whereapen, nevertheless many Authors have had good Reason to fire nevertheless many Authors have hangun withings of that he should so undescreetly desown all his Watchings of Labours, to be indebted for his Knowledge only to the hand when which cannot be but quality persistion of that Prayer, which cannot be but your without Efficacy, in whatsocversense it be talked for it be said that it's address dio the Planets, it is brown tish to believe that they can bear it, if to God, I would willingly know whether he was Deaf before that the junction, or if he will not hear our Prayers without or if it can force and necessitate him to condescend to the Petitions that are then made to bim And hence it is shar (9) John Picus speaking of this new Solomon, had Reason to say, Consulerem Petro isti ut totum (9) I ib quod protect sue potius industrice ingenioque ac- 4 advent ceptum referret, quam Jovia illi lua iupplicationi It may also be said in Answer to the Proofs which are brought for the Three Books set forth under his Nume, that they are no less falfely ascribed to him, than many others are to almost all other great Wits, witness that Frithemeus (1) will not wouth them for Legitimate, by (1) An-reason of the many Fables that have been forged about tipali lib that Author. Care the bad said before in his Care. Cap 3 logue of Ecclesiafical Writers, that he did not believe what was faid of the Magick Art of Peter Aponus, because he had never seen any Book of his on that subject if to this may yet be added the Silence of all the quæst 2 (6) Livre 4 chap 3 ibid pag finin elog-(9) Naudí ibid pag 388 primb gia quast (8) Diffe rential 59 4 advent.

Donatus

prigately called boilt of the Grave, escaped the Vigilance of the Inquisitors, who (D) would have a semand it to be burnt. He was removed from Place to Piace, and at a T-matant deposite to the Angustus Church without Epitaph, or any other Token of Honour linus indicated the Mines in the Accusers of Milks accusers to the Existence of Devils. He had such an Antipathy of linus in for Milk, that the very seeing of any body drink it turn'd his Stomach. He died in the Lindenia Year (F) 1316, in the 66th Year of his Age One of his chief Books was that to which renovato his gave the Title of Conciliator. There's a very ridiculous Story related of him; freherus which is, that having no Well to his own House, and a Neighbour forbidding his Maid in Thea to feech any more Water at his Well, he caused the Devils to remove his Neighbours tro; well into the Street. He had much better have employed the Devils to make a Well to Well into the Street. He had much better have employed the Devils to make a Well to 12 his own House, and stop up his Neighbour's, or at least to remove that Neighbour's Marcellur Well into his own Yard, rather than into the Street

APROSIO (Angelico) born at Vintimiglia on the River of Genous, the 29th of & Matth Official to 7, has the med among the Learned, and has composed a very great de Gradi Number of Bollier. His g Family produced several Learned Men. He was but I'll teen Years of the when he enter'd himself into the Order of the sugar ns, in which to Garto he was so much consider'd, that he at last attain'd to the Office of Vicar General of the in I saza Congregation of our Lady of Confolation at Genous. As foon as he had finished his universale to the congregation of our Lady of Confolation at Genous. Studies, he was thought well enough qualified to teach others; accordingly he taught distinct le Theophy for Five Years, and afterwards travell'd into feveral Parts of Italy, and in manicorthe Year 1639 fix'd at Venice in St Stephen's Convent, where he taught Humanity † fo 135 fol One thing that contributed very much to his Renown, was the Babliotheque of the Am m 365 gulfins of Vintimiglia 4, which was all his own Work, and a singular Proof of his Love verto for Books, and of the Care he took to understand em thoroughly. He published a following Book concerning (2) that Bibliotheque, which is much esteem'd by the Cutious. Be- arride fides, he took great delight in disguizing himself under seign'd Names in the Front of Mich his Works. It may be he durft not write in his own Name on Matters to little confor Julianiamable to a Religious Life, as the Contests between the Wits about the Adones of tori Ligu-

Librarians, and the Confirmation which Symphocian (a) Champier gives to that Authority of Tribectures, the heaffirms he had never feen any of his Magical incepting only fome Disputes in which he treats of the By I believe nothing an hinder our owning his Innocence and supposing with the besser Sort that all the Suspicions of his Magick Art protectus from their true Spring and Orginal, from the Power which he attributes to it in the CLVI D space of his Concellator, and from the Predictions which he might make by Virtue of Astrology, on which hy Process of Time all those Fables and Chimera's have been grounded, according to the source of (3) Properties Librarians, and the Confirmation which Symphorian Saying of (3) Propertius

(2) Tra-ctat 4. lib de ...

claris medicine

fcriptori-vigni de Ste

Honori-

ne, letture des livres fufpects pag portarum

Patavini Tomas ubi fupra pag 23 (c) Ibid

danus An-clef ad

Journal

Chronol & Hifto-lique 31

Decembra.

Bernard

Scande

No doubt ic would laye faid,

Bernardin

Scardeon

(g) In the bus (3) Eleg 1 ltb 3 (a) Cla-

Omnia post obicum pingit mappes vetustas
Note some Faults of Mr AcClaring de Sainte Homrine (a) He says that the Efficier of Peter Aponus made by the Order of the Duke of Urions, flankly in the Publick Place of Padua with those of Livy, Albert 101, 102 (%) In una and Julius Paulus, and that the Infeription compains and Julius Paulus, and that the Infeription compains Affrologie aden peritus ut in mingie sufficients menerie.

The Statue where these Words are read, is not in the Publick Place of Padua, but on (6) one of the Gates of the Town-House.

The Statue where these words are read was not placed in Padua, but in the Castle of the Duke.

The Words which Mr de Classic of them Duke.

The Words which Mr de Classic of them are not on its Pedestal. See Tomogine. (c).

(D) The Inquisities who would have tendenment it is to be burnt. (d) Spon-be burnt] Aponus being accuice of Magrek and Herefy, died during his Trial, and was buried in the Church of St Antony All the Zealots were scanclef ad refy, died during his Trial, and was oussed in the ann 1316 Church of St. Antony. All the Zealots were feann 8 il citte dallar for The Inquifitors convinued the Process, Scardeon and aring convicted him by his Writings of Imple-try, they condemn d his Body to the Flames, and as they could not find it, they caus'd a Figure which chief saint to be publishly burnt. This as (1) Saint Romuald, the Status with the Interpreton which the Manager this with th giftrates of Padua caus'd to be put under the Statue of that Phylician, and in which they declare that he was abfolv'd Peter of St. Remuald reports, that the Inquisitors having publickly read the Sentence of Condemnation against Peter Apana caused his Lifigies to be burnt. He observes also that they could not find his Body, his Concubine Mariote, having privately taken him out of his Grave by Night, and hid him in a Ruinous Seputchre (f)

(E) To have been a Magician, and that he did not be-lieve the Existence of Devili J We have teen (g) what Advantage his Apologist makes of this Contradiction, but he ought to have taken notice that Bodin places Peter Aponus among the Sorcorers, who to elade the Judicial Proceedings, maintain that all that is fud of Devils and Magick is a Chimera

of Italy

(F) He died in the Test 1316, in the 68th Year of his Liguria, p

(I) Throught. If this be fo, it must be own'd that Numbers in militation, when he says that Perer Aparisa being accused at the Age of 80 Years, died in the (b) Bodin, Year 1305 (k) Friber says the same thing, upon Preface the Authority of (t) Birthur Scardion Let us say to hir see also that (m) Gefore as mistaken in making Per Aparis monomathough in the Year 1300 Mr. Kome (n) has copining des flourish in the Year 1900 Mr Komig (n) has copi- nie des red that Fault But Father Rapin is much more grofby infiltraten tham any of 'em, when he places him p 5 Sie in the 18th Century He says (o) Peter Apona, Phy-also chap.
Actual of Padua, who flowesh d under Clement else VII 5 pag 71 whitisted his Imagination to that Degree by reading Arapian Philosophies, and by too frequent posing on the malinusin Aftrology of Alfraganus, that he was put into the Imquifition upon a Sufpusion of Magick Vossius has followed for illustr Gestier, and makes an Observation that deserves to 1 22 be considered He says (p) Peter Aponus sent his (k) Paulus Book ile Medicina omnimoda to Pope John XXII who I reher in was elected in the Year 1316, and held the Chair Sewenteen Years So that by this we know the Age ubs supra of this Physician But it the Year 13:6 was that (!) Ubs of his Death, the Conclusion is not exact, nor does supra it acquit Fossius of an Error ed that Fault But Father Rapin is much more groi- Sorciers it acquit Foffins of an Error

it acquit Fossian of an Error

(M) A Book concerning that Bibliotheque] Mr Mor ner, in hop-fixe-heard much I alk of that Book, but did not Bibliotheknow that it was printed. He mentions it in feverai Places (q) of his Polykistor, published in the (n)Konig.

Year 1688, but always as one who believed, that Bibli vet that Piece was not yet come out of the Prefs. It is & nova that riece was not yet come out of the Preis. It is & nova nevertheless certain, that the Bibliothica Aproliana pag 49 was printed at Bibliothica in the Year 1673, and that (a) kapin Mark's (r) Fegelius, Professor at hambiorsh, had a Co-Resex surply of it, as Mr Morhof might have seen in the Ca-la Philopy of it, as our morney might rave ten in the Ca- ia Philotalogue of that Professor's Books, for he quotes that sophie n (1) Catalogue which was printed in the Year 1678 28 p in This is what Mi Placeins observes in his Invitatio 363 amica, publish'd at Hamburgh in the Year 1689 He (p) Voadds, that he has mention d that Work of sp. 1610 a il us de

Mathem pag 181 (A) Polyh pag 37 (q) Pag 38 19 144 (r) Cu Vogehus

Bodin declares that he wrote his Book of the Demo- Pus Elfius, memunia of Sorceiers, for this among other Regions, in Encomable Efforts by Printed Books, as far as possible, Augustito fave Sorcerers, so that it looks as it Satan had miano mapir'd, and drawn can to his String, to publish apud Juwhipir'd, and drawn tem to his String, to publish apud it chiefe fine Books; such was Peter appears a Phylician, who endeavour'd to make it plain, that there are no spirits, and yet it was afterwards therewards affirm'd, that he was one of the greatest Sorcerers to finally " of Italy

(B) Cava- ri pag 63 † Philip-

(m) (sel

Scient

sm 1680 † Magni-fica ejus & plane a regnan- ficum te,Part 4 A lib 3 P 377 Mor-hof Polyh p 38 See also p

(s) N 74 (v) Pag 27 28 (a) Seethe

Remark D (i) Cata-log Auetor p 18

idem Leti

ex Abbate Libanoro

ag 379 locum quo tomus fccundus

Jyh pag 38 (d) Narrando la

fua vita

con l inferrir vi Varie curiolita intorno ad Amici fuor Leti.

Ital regn parte 4 p 378 (e) Id 1b

pag 379 380

Bibliothecæ Aprofiana cıtatur, quo multicontinentur ab Hicron Sava-norola Mist libri Mor-hof Po-

*Raffael (B) Cavalier Marini, or fuch like (C) Pieces Or it may be he delighted naturally in Sopranist framing different Allusions, and in puzzling those who are fond of unmasking a different Allusions, and in puzzling those who are fond of unmasking a different Allusions, and in puzzling those who are fond of unmasking a different Allusions, and in puzzling those who are fond of unmasking a different Allusions, and in puzzling those who are fond of unmasking a different Allusions, and in puzzling those who are fond of unmasking a will, if you consult the Authors * who have given us the Catalogues of the Ligarium Names, sometimes that of Masoto Galistoni, sometimes that of Carlo Galistoni, sometimes that of Science Glareano. Sometimes that of Science Glareano. that of Scipio Glareano, somerimes that of Sapricio Sapricis, and another time that of Oddauro Scioppio, &c. His Life is found in the Work entituled, Bibliotheca Aprofiana. Several Authors have given him great Elogies; and some perhaps + have exceeded the or plane invidenda Bounds of Reason He was admitted among other Academies into that of the Gh Incogniti elogia adferunturà Gregorio
Leti Italia enough He was living in the Year 1680, when Oldoms publish'd his Athenaum Lygu-

A P R O S I O (Paulo Augustino) a Lawyer, one of the Academia di Apatisti at Florence, was born at Vintimiglia, of one of the Chief Families of the Town, and which can boast of having produced Nine Doctors of Law, and One of Physick, from the Beginning of the Seventeenth Century to the Year 1667 He whom I mention having studied under the Jesuits at Genona, went to Rome to study the Law. He was admitted Doctor there in the Year 1649, and afterwards return'd home, bought a Collection of Chrione

mong his (1) Pseudonymous Pieces, and refere us (v) to the Annotations on the Catalogue of Rhodius: In Effect, he informs us in the 150th Page of his Pseudonymous Pieces, that he knew by a Letter from Mr Magliabecth to Martin Vegelius, that Aprefie diguised under the Name of Cornelio Apasso Antivigimis tras Vagabondi di Tabbia desse L' Aggirate, had publish'd a Book in 120 in the Year 1673. Entituled Bibliothese Aproliana, palla tampo Automale tituled Bibliotheca Aprofiana, passa tampo Automale. In the Annotations, on the Catalogue of Rhodius, there's a doubt raised on what Scavenius had said, that Aprosis had composed a Book entituled, Bibliotheca Apocrypherum, in which he (a) restored many Pieces to their true Authors The Reason of this doubt is, that the Book entituled Bibliotheca Aportyphorum, is not found in the Catalogues of the Works of Aprofio, but only Bibliotheca Aprofio Now it's supposed Sesvenius might by a Natural Mistake have metamorphosed Aprofio into Aprocrypho It's somewhat strange that Father Oldoini has not mention'd the Bibliotheca Aprofiana, salla comea somewhat strange that Father Oldeni has not mention'd the Bibliotheca Aprosiona, pass sempo Ausonnalo, seeing he did not publish his Athenaum Lygusticame before the Year 1680. It is true, he places the Bibliotheca Aprosiona & Antiquitates Abintumibitenses among the Writings of Aprosio, but in such a manner as to persuade us that that Work was not yet printed. Mr Teisser (b) in the Year 1686, leaves us more room to doubt, than decide any thing in this Matter. Mr Morbos (c) observes, that Mr Lets quotes an Author who has quoted the 2d Volume of the Bibliotheca Aprosiona.

lume of the Bibliotheca Aprofiana

This Citation of Mr Leti is very just, and for that and other Reasons, I am strongly perswaded that Mr Morbof does not alledge the Italia reguests on the Credit of others, but that he read it himself Hour comments then that he does not know that the How comes it then that he does not know that the Ribbiotheca Aprofiana was printed at Bologna by the Manolessi, in the Year 1673 in 120? Does not Mr Leti affirm it positively in the 377th Page of the Fourth Part of his Italia regnante, and does he not quote long Passages enough out of that Book of Aprosso? He adds that the Author having carry'd (d) on the Relation of his Life as far as the 262d Page, names several Authors afterwards to Page 666, who on the Kelation of his Life as far as the 262d Page, names several Authors afterwards to Page 666, who had given in their Works to him, and that this first Volume contains only the Writers, whose Names begin either with the Letters A, B, or C. He believes that the following Volumes will speedily be printed, but he had been assured that the Sacond was not, from whence he concludes that (e) Father Libenors, who quotes it, had only seen it in Manuscript This Work of Mr Lets was printed in the Very 1676 Year 1676

Year 1676
(B) The Adonis of the Cavalier Marini] The Cavalier Stiglians (f) having publish'd the Book of the Ochiale, or of the Spectacles, which is a sharp Criticism of the Adonis, found himself attacked on all sides. And then it appear'd plainly how much Italy was insatuated with the Adonis, they run to this Quarrel as if it were to quench a Fire. But among so many Persons as took Pen in hand for the Cavalier Marini. none (a) show'd more Zeal for the Adonis. lier Marini, none (g) shew'd more Zeal for the Adonis, nor more Heat against the Enemies of that Poem, than Father Aprosio de Vintimiglia, Hormis of St Augustin. He published the Ochiale Stritolato (h) di Scipio Glarcano per risposta al Signor Cavaliere fra Tomaso Stiglians La Sferza (1) poètica di Sapricio Saprici, la scansonata Accadamico Heteroclito per risposta alla prima censura dell' Adone dell Cavalier Marino, fatta dal Cavalier Tomaso Stigliani, Del Priatro Apologia di Saprisio printed in Saprici per risposta alla seconda censura dell' Adone del Cavalier Marino fatta dal Cavaliere Fra Tomaso Stigliani Thia Work is divided into two (k) Treatiles, 1647 ib.
It was an Hellebore given in Two Doses He had (l) In wrote against the sum Stigliani il Vaglio Cristo (l) Trevigi di Masoto Galistoni da Terama sopra il mondo nuovo del Cavalier Ira Tomaso Stigliani da Matera Il Buratto
(m) In (m), Replica do Carlo Galistoni al Molino del Sig Carlo Venetia
Stigliani Stiglions
Observe that Masoro Galistoni da Terama is the Anagram of Iomoso Stigliani da Marera, and that in-flead of putting in the Title in Trevigi per Girolanio Righestini, it is put in Rostoch per Willermo Wallop, because this Righestini was a Bookseller of small Re-because this Righestini was a Bookseller of small Repute Apross of the Bibliotheca Aprossans

(G) Or such like Pieces | I don't think that the Disputes on the Adonis of the Cavalier Marini, were more Foreign to a Monastick Profession, than the following Works Annitations of Oldawro Scioppio all' (e) Aree degli Amanti dell' Illustrissimo Signor Pietro Michele Nobile Venetie Le Scude di Rinaldo (p), everile specifio del dissignmo Opera dell' Illustrissimo Glareano Le Bellezza (q) della Belisa Tragedia dell' Illustrissimo Signor D. Antonio Muscettola, abbozzate da Oldauro Scioppia Accademica, Incegnito, Geniale, & There are several such Composiures among the unprinted Writings of Angelico Aprosso But it must not be dissembled, First, That there are also among em the Lectures sie made on the Prophet Jonas in (r) the Church of our Lady of Consolation at Genes, in the Lectures he made on the Prophet Jonas in (r) the Church of our Lady of Consolation at Genes, in the Year 1649, and 1650 Secondly, That in the Year 1643, he published the Italian Translation which he had made of the Spanish Sermons of Augustin Oserius, under the Name of Oldauro Scieppie (D) That Employ I It is not altogether without ground that Scavenius relates, that Aprosio had made a Book entituled, Bibliotheca Aprecryphorum, wherein he restored several Works to their true Authors, for two Writings are attributed to him, whereof the Title of one is, La visiera alzata Nicatasis di alcuni Scrittori che andarono in Maschera fuori del tempo di Carnevalo, the other, which is nothing but a Sequel of the Preceedent, is call'd Pentecoste di alcuni Autorio the Precedent, is call'd Pentereste di alcuni Autorio Anonimi, e pseudonimi scoperti per Mantissa della Necatasse tasse della visiona alcata Father Oldoni (1) does (1) In not inform us whether these two Pieces were prin-Append ted or no, he only fays, that Aprofis wrote 'em un-Athen der another Name, and by what he quotes in the Ligust following Page, La visiera alzata evulgata sub nomine Friani Forbetta, it cannot be concluded that they were printed, for he makes it plans enough that this Forbetta is a different Perfon from Angelice Aprelie It cannot reasonably be doubted, that the Two Pieces cannot reasonably be doubted, that the Two Pieces which he attributes to our Aprosio, are the same with those mention'd in the Journal of (t) Leipsick They were printed at Parma in 1689 The Name that appears in the Front, is John Pater Villani, de Sienne, Academicien Humoriste, Insecond, & Genialu It appears that they were dedicated in the Year 1678, to Messeure Magliabecchi

(E) As appears by the Book] It was printed at Ve-

f) See Bailet Jug tur les Poer t 4 pag 198 (g) Ibid pag 200 (b) In Venetia curious Books, and retired to a Country House, that he might the more quietly enjoy curious Books, and retired to a Country House, that he might the more quietly enjoy the Pleasure of Reading and Composing He made Annotations on the Belissa di D Antonio Muscotta which were printed with the Believze della medezima abbozzate da Oldauro Scioppio, in the lear 1664 When Soprans, of whom I have borrowed this Article, publish'd his Caratague of the Ligurian Writers in 1667 our Aprosio wrought on a great Work Strage of Morality, concerning the downsal * of Capital Vices by the opposite Virtues Oldowns informs me that that Work was printed at Genous in the Year 1674 and dedicated trionsate the Prince of Monaco.

dalle vir-He poste

the Prince of Monaco.

PULEIUS (Lucius) a Platonick Philosopher, publickly known by the famous tu opof the Golden As, lived in the (A) Second Century under the Antonines He Native of Madaura (B) a Roman Colony in Africa His Family was (C) considerable, he had had a good Education, and a graceful Person, he did not want Wit, and he acquired some Learning, but with al became suspected of Magick, an Insamy which remains to this day a great Blot upon his Memory He studied (D) first at Carthage, then at Athens, and afterwards at Rome, where he learn'd the Latin Tongue without any (h) Aponaffiftance. An infatiable Curiofity to know all things, induced him to take fever il log pag mise in the Year 1847 in 450 Father Labbe (v) fancy'd that John Prancis Leredane was the Author of cy'd that John Prancis Loredano was the Author of it, but others (x) believe the contrary, for this among other Reasons, that the Elogy of Loredano in that Book is too pompous to be attributed to Loredano himself It's thought that the Verses in the Front of the Work, and which do not congratulate Loredano as the Author of it, but as the Founder of the Academy of gli Incognisi, have been the Cause of Father Labbo's Error

Bı-

Biblio

thecar 118 edit 1678 (x) Placcius de anonym Pag 115

See in the Same Volume the

Garalegue of Rhodi-und. 23,

(z) And not under Domitian with Apol-of Nicæa affirms, quæit 22

Work to us, Ad-verf 1 2

10

(c) E1menh in vita Apulen (1) Apo-log p 189 Capitolin

(2) Apolog p 274 Capitolin

P 357,

Apolog P 327 (4) Jonf. de Script. Histor Phil pag

(d) Apul

(f) Apul

derius, in pene om-nes Cention pag 73 was print-nuctores

Apolog p 289 (e) Clau-dius Ver-

(b) Noris, cenotaph Pitan p

Anastatius Sinaita

of Father Labbe's Error

(A) Lived in the Second Century under the (2) Antonines] Peter Pithaus (a) rejecting all thole who fay, that Apuleius lived after Theodesius, proves that he liv'd about the Time of Antoninus Pius, and some Time after This Opinion is grounded on such good Reasons, that I see no body but embraces it It's plain, that one Scipio Oristus, one Lollianus Avietus, Claudius Maximus, and Lollins Urbicius, of whom Apuleius speaks as Persons then alive, lived under the Antonines Father Norru(b) is out in his Critilonius Tyaneus, as Anastasius inferiptu-Note, that others af-cribe shie under the Antonines Father Norru(b) is out in his Criti-cities on Elmenhors, he charges him with having owned his ignorance about the Time in which Apuleius lived, and shews him two Passages of Apuleius's Apology, in one of which Antony is not filled Di-(a) Pithæconful Lollianus Avitus who was Conful in the Year 144 The Absence of Divus is a sufficient Proof enough that Antonine was yet living Father Norres would not have been in the wrong, if he on whom he criticises had not said what we are going to read (c) Quo anno natus (Appeleius) non liquide to read (c) Quo anno natus (Appeleius) non liquido liquit Verisimiliter tamen possiming adservre eum temporibus Antonini Pii Divorumque fratrum vinisse. Me minit enim (1) Lolliani Aviti, Lolli (2) Urbicii Pudentis, & (3) Scipionis Orphiti Coss qui sub Antonino pracipue florusi unt, summis matti honoribus ut constat ex L 3 ff de his qui testamentis, &c L 3 ff de Decurion The Passage where Antonine is not stiled Divus, contains the Reproaches which Apuleius made to his Wise's Son on his exposing his Mother's Love-Antonino to his Wife's Son, on his exposing his Mother's Love-Letters (d) Hucusque a vobis miserum istum puerum depravatum, ut matris sica epistolae, quae putat amato-rias, pio tribunali Proconsulu recitet apud virum san-Etissimum Claudium Maximum, aute has Imperatoris Picsfatuas filius matris sua pudenda exprobret supra, & amores objettes? sonsius (e) is doubly mistaken, when to prove that Apuleius lived in the time which I as Pertinace (3) Florid fign him, he says that Philosopher gives the Elogy of Division Antonius Pius The Fact is false, and of Division Antonius Pius The Fact is taile, and the puence drawn from it invalid for Madaura & Roman Colony This Town which had belonged to Syphan, was given by the Romans to Massinis (f) Neque has so dixi, quo me puris mea pausteret, ets adduc Syphanu oppidum essemble tamen vitto, ad Massinssam regem concessimus, mumera populi Romani, ac deinceps veteranorum militum nevo conditu, splendidissima colonia sumus. A little before he had said he was not ishamed to partake like Corne of Two different Nations. De passia mea vefore he had faid he was not rihamed to partake like Cyrus of Two different Nations. De patria mea vere quod cam fitam Numi din & Gatulia in 1950 confinio meis scriptis oftendisti, quibus memet professus sumbinistim care pudendum, baud minus quam Cyro majori quod genere mixto suit, Semimedus ac Semipersa. A certain Person, who would fain iet up for a General Certain Person, who would rain set up for a General Centurer towards the end of the Sixteenth Century, falls here into our Hands After having said that Apuleius, under the pretended Form of an Ass, teaches a Thousand Immodesties, he adds (g) Apuleius hunc imitaaus, ut vir Gracus se l'asine nessivisse ingenue confessus, in Asso aureo plane rudit. First of all it is not true that Apuleius confesses he does not understand 336

Latin He only says, 1 That he did not understand (k) sis is the first time he came to Rome 2 That he known only learnt it without a Master In the Second place it 1) the sec learnt it without a Master In the Second place it is not true that he was a Greek Madaura was a Ro-Words Si man Colony, and when he would Justify himself by the Example of other Poets, he quotes the Greeks late par like Strangers, and the Latins as his Countrymen vulo, The-like Strangers, and the Latins as his Countrymen vulo, The-like Strangers, and the Latins as his Countrymen vulo, The-like Strangers, and the Latins as his Countrymen vulo, The-like Strangers, and the Latins as his Countrymen vulo, The-like Strangers, and the Latins as his Countrymen vulo, The-like Strangers, and the Latins apud Gracos see it illius cognominates, by Casulus The Truth is, the Latin nis patris Tongue was not common at Madaura Apuleius the tui virtuson of one of the chief Magistrates, understood nothing of it when he came to Rome The Son of laveris his Wife Pudentilla understood nothing but the Punch is Wife Pudentilla understood nothing but the Punch originally of Thessaly, had taught him (i) Loquis lamorph originally of Thessaly, had taught him (i) Loquis li pag tur nunquam niss Punice, & si quid adhuc a matre gracus cissat Latine onim neque vult neque potest (l) Id Accordinate and the same was (k) These had exercised the Office of Duumvir at Madaura it was the first Dignity of a (m) Id Colony (l) In quae calonia patrem habau loco principe Metam of Duumvir at Madaurs It was the first Dignity of a (m) Id Colony (1) In quas calonia patrem habui loco principe Metam Duum viralem, cumfis honoribus perfunitum. His 1 2 p 115 Mother whose Name was Salvia (m) was originally (n) Id of Thessay, and descended from Platarch's I amily Florid p He says it himself at the beginning of his Romance. Saint Augustin had heard that Apulcius was of a good also pag Family, as appears from his 5th Letter. See below the Remark (E) in the first Quotation. (D) First at Carthage, then at Athens, and after than cego wards at Rome. This Gradation is a secret to vobis those who stop at the Prologue of his Romance, merce-seeing he makes no mention there of Carthage. He dem, Car-feeing he makes no mention there of Corthage He dem, Car-fatisfies himself with saying that his first Studies thagini-were those of the Greek Tongue in Greece, and that entes, ubiafterwards he came to Rome, where he studied La- que gentitin without the assistance of any Master Ibi lin- um deguam Attidem primis pueritia stipendiis merui, mox in pendo, urbe latia advena studierum Quiritium indigenam ser- pro discimonem arumnabili labore, nullo magistro praunte, ag- plinis greffus excolus. This Narration is deceitful, and quas in imperfect, and ought to be rectified by other Passa- pueritia ges of Apuleius. Is it any wonder that Authors ium apud ges of Apuleius Is it any wonder that Authors ium apud should relate the Actions of others imperfectly? vos adep Do they not sometimes report their own confused tus Ubi Let us fee the other Passages of our Author He tells the Carthaginians that in his Infancy he me vestra studied with them, and that he had also begun to civitatis embrace the Platonick Sect there (n) Sum vobus alumnum instruit Tertia Rhetoris eloquentia armat Haffenns in Greece, a plerisque potatur Ego & alias cratiras Athenis bibi and the Poetica commentam, Geometrica limpidam, Musica dil-following cem, Dialectice austerulum, enimuero universe phi- at Carlosophia inexplebilem, scilicet nectaream. Some will thage, have it that he studied at two several times in where Greece, the first time befoie he Studied at Carthage, learnt Laand the second after he had studied in that City tin without They do not mention Rome, they pretend that he learnt a Master the Latin Tongue at carthage (p) This latter fact is Helikewise expressy contradicted in the Prologue to the Golden Ass began to losophy there Afterwards he went to Athens where le learn d the Art of Poetry, &c Tillemont, hift des Emper t 2 p 722

Voya- (1) Apo-

que enim ons in 1286

ed at Ly-

* See che

Remark F † Quæ res fummum nationi riorem fubmini-Arabat Quidni ? fpiritu faventis eventus lo forensi nutrito, per patronunc in-P 272 edit Elmenhorftu 162 r m 8vo

4 She was call d Pu-dentilla

(a) Metim lir p 264 (b) Apol

pag 309,

(c) see se Austin s against the (ivitate

Dei, chap

she follow-(d) Sacerdos provincia pro mag-

August cpilt 5

(e) Florid

no fuit, ut ederet vematorefque vesti-dispute

Voyages, and enter himself in (E) several Religious Fraternities He would see the bottom of their pretended Mysteries. He spent almost all (F) his Estate in Travelling, fo that being return'd to Rome and having a desire to dedicate himself to the Service of Osiru, he wanted Money to pay the Charges of the Ceremonies of his Reception; fo that he was forc'd to pawn * his Cloaths to make up the Sum Aster this he gain'd mee tribuebat folatium, more by a good Marriage, than by Pleading A Widow 1 neither Young (G) nor etiam vi
Fair, but who stood in need of a Husband, and had a good Estate, thought him for Stum ube- her purpose He did not shew himself Coy, nor did he regard the preserving his

(E) Enter himself in several Religious Fraternities]
He brings in himself saying the following Words in the 3d Book (q) of the Golden Ass Paves & formido solide domus hujus operta detegere, & arcana domina mea revelare secreta Sed melius de te destrinanutrito, que tua prasumo qui prater generosam natalium dignitaper patrocinia sermanisRomanis con of Ostru This Honour was conser'd on him at Remain He did not continuation of the same of th He did not continue long among the Herd of the initiated, but foon rais'd himfelf to the highcontanter est Degrees Denique per dies admodum pauculos, De-gloriosa in us Deum magnorum potion, & majorum summus, & foro redfummorum maximus, & maximorum regnator Osiru non derem pa- in alienam quampiam personam resonator Osiru non trocinia suo illo venei ando me dignatus afflamine, per quietem Apul Me- pracipere visus est — Ac ne sairus sus gregi catero tam l 11 primixtus descrivirem, in collegium me Pastophororum suorum, imo inter ipsos Decurionum quinquennales elegis Before he came to Rome he had been initiated into the Mysteries of Isis, these were the first I ruits of his recovered Humanity In the Descriptions of these Ceremonies he mixes several sublime Senti-ments, that are only worthy of the true Religion As this for Lxample (a) Te jam nune obsequio religiones nostra dedica, O ministerii jugum subi voluntarium, nam cum caperis Dea servire tune magis senties frustum tua libertatis They who accus'd him of Magick, objected amongst other things, that he kept something, I know not what, in a Handkerchief with a fingular Superstition His Answer was (b) Vindicam cususmodi illas res in sudario obvolutas laribus Pontiani commendarim (Mos tibi geretur Saciorum pliraqui initia in Gracia participavi. Lorum quadam figna & monumenta tradita mihi a sacerdotibus sedulo con svo Nihil insolitum, nihil incognitum dico. Vel Lorum quadam unius Liberi pati is Symmifta, qui adeftis, Scitis quid domi con citum celetis, & abjque omnibus profanis tacite veneremini Ai ego, ut dixi, multijuga jacra, & plunimos ritus, varias ceremonias, studio veri & officio er-ga Dios didici Nec hoc ad tempus compono, sed abhine against the fametricanium est, cum primu dieb us quibus Ocam veApuleius neram, publice discrens de As sculapi majostate, eadem in the 8th is pra me tuli, or quot sacra nossem persensu: Ea disoutatio celebratissima est, vulgo legitur, in omnium manihum versatur — Etiamne cuiquam mirum manibus versatur Etiamne cuiquam mirum videri potest, cui sit ulla memoria religionis, hominem tot mysteriis Deum conscium, quadam sacrorum crepundia domi adservare, atque ea linco texto involvere, quod dia domi adservare, atque ea linco texto involvere, quod purissimum est rebus divinus velamentum. It is probable that if Apuleius was a Magician, his Crime was incomparably less than that of the Magicians of this time, because he was ignorant that only had Genius s persorm'd certain Operations at the Presence of certain Ceremonies. He believed with the Platonists (c) that good Genius s might do the same. I have quoted by Augustin in the Text of this Article who testisses that Apuleius had a dignity in Religion (d) which made him Overseer of the Combats of the Gladiators, and of Beasts Finally I find that our Author had consecrated him-Finally I find that our Author had confectated himfelf to the Worship of Esculapius, one of the chief Divinities of the Carthaginians, and that he had also an eminent Station in his College (e) Principium mihi apud vostras aureu auspicatissimum ab Esculapio Deo capiam, qui arcem vestra Carthaginis indubitabili numine propitius respicit Ejus Dei hymnum Graco & Latino carmine vobis sie canam, jam illi a me dedicatum Sum enim non ignotus illius SACRICOLA, nee recens cultor, nec ingratus ANTISTES

(F) He spent almost all his Estate in Travelling] This was not the only cause of the Poverty into which he fell, he made Expences for much more laudable Reasons, at least he bragged of them when he answer d the Reproaches made him of his Misery. (f) Mo- ry (f) Ad istum modum despousus facrus, sumptuum tam 1. 21 tenuitate contra votum meum retardabar : nam & viriculas patrimonii peregrinationis attriverant impensa. Thus he speaks when he represents the perplexity Thus he speaks when he represents the perplexity he was in at Rome about his vocation into the Fraternity of Osris. He was devoted to that mysterious Congregation, the Promises were given, but as never any thing is done for nothing, something was to be paid for the inaugurating Ceremonies, and he had nothing to supply the Expence. He was forc'd, as a Man may say, to sell his very Shirt, the Divinity which gave him the impulse afforded him no other—Affistance. (a) Tamque septicule non time no other Affistance (g) Jamque sapicule non sine magna turbatione stimulatus, postremo jussus veste ipsa mea quamvis parvula distratia sufficientem corrasi summulam, & idipsum praceptum suerat specialiter. An tu, inquit, si quam rem volupiati struenda molireris laciniinquit, si quam rem voluptati struenda molireris laciniis tuis nequaquam parceres, nunc tantas ceremonias aditurus impanitenda te pavperies contaris committere. At that time he ascribed his Indigence only to the Expences of his Travels, but on another occasion which I have mention'd, he says he expended much in good Works, as in affishing his Friends, in rewarding the Cares of those who had instructed him, and bestowing Downies on some of their Daughters He adds, that he would have made no difficulty of purchasing at the price of his Patrimony a thorough contempt of it, a contempt which is a much more contempt of it, a contempt which is a much more valuable Treasure than the Patrimony it self. This is speaking like a Philosopher. He directs his Discourse to his Accuser in this manner, (h) Si tamen nesses profiteer michi ac fratri meo relictum a patre. H.S. nescis profiteo mihi ac fratri meo relittum a patre HS vicies, paulo secus, idque a me longa peregrinatione, & diutinis studiis, & crebris liberalitatibui modice imminutim Nam & amicorum plerisque opem tuli, & magistis plurim s gratiam retuli, quorumdam etiam filias dete auxi. Neque enim dubitassem equidem vel universum patrimonium impendere, ut adquirerem mibi quod majus est, contemptum patrimonii. He had made very (1) folid and very moral Reflections on Poverty

(G) A Widow neighber Young nor Fair, who stood in (k) Aponeed of a Husband] Apuleius's Accuser, maintain'd log pag she was (k) 60 Years of Age He had his design in it, for he thought hereby to prove that the Paifion the had conceived for the Accused was not natural, but the effect of some Magick Charm Apuleium made it appear that (1) the was not much above 40, and that if the had past 14 of 'em in a Widow's Condition, it was not from any Aversion to Marriage, but from her Eather-in-law's opposing to Marriage, but from her Father-in-law's opposing it, that at length the State of Continency had run'd her Health so far that the Physicians and Midwives agreed there was no better Remedy for the Suffocations which afflicted her than Marriage A Woman who was advised to this, and had but little time to lose if she would make the best use of those Teeming Years that remain d, had no need of being Teeming Years that remain d, had no need of being constrained by Magical Artto make choice of a Spouse. This was Apuleius's Argument, and it has much (m) I bid force Eo (m) scrupulo liberata cum a principibus viris pag 318 in matrimonium petretur, decrevit sibi diutius in viduitate non permanendum. Quippe ut solitudinu tædium perpeti posset, tamen agritudinem corporus ferre non pati ras. Mulier santte pudica, tot annis viduitatis simetuu pa, sine fabula absuctudine conjugis torpens, & diutino situ viscerum saucia, vitiatis intimis nteri, sape ad extremum vita discrimen doloribus obortis examinabatur. tremum vita discrimen doloribus obortis exanimabatur Medici cum obstetricibus consentiebant, penuria matrimo-Medici cum obstetricibus consentiebant, penuria matrimonii morbum quasitum Malum indies augeri, agritudinem ingravescere dum atatis aliquid supersit, nupttis to the Fevalitudinem medicandam Some kind of Law-iuits are a great Misfortune to a Woman, in which a hundred things must be declared (n) in a full Audilow the Reence which were much better conceal'd, whether owing to natural or moral Infirmity Had it not been for this Tryal, Apuleius would not rehave revealed the Distemper with which Pudentilla was afflicted during her Widdowhood Nevertheless she found some imall satisfaction in it, for seeing she had suffer'd so much, it was a sign she had not made

(g) Ibi

(b) Apolog p.288

(1) Ibid p 285, 286, 287 (k) Apo-317, 330

WHY fome Tri-

P 271

good Mein (h, his Neatness, his Wit and Eloquence for fome young Lass; he mairied the rich Willow chearfully in a Country-house near Ocea, a Seaport Town of Africally dies and This Marriage drew on him a troublesome I aw Suit. The Relations of that hims A. Lady's Two Sons pretended he had made use of Magick Charms to possess (I) himself milianus of her Heart and Money They * accused him as a Wizard, not before Christian He was sudges, as a † Commentator on St Augustin affirms, but before Claudius Maximus, Pro-Pudentildenful of Africa, and by Religion a Pagan He defended himself very vigorously. We have his Defence which he spake before the Judges, a very fine ‡ Piece. One may use of the true Remedy This Consequence was not urg'd to the Judges, but 'twas alledged that'she had always lived Chastly, and that no evil Report had run of her To return to her Age, there s no doubt that Apulaius was younger than she, for she had a Son (s) who had been Apulaius's Companion at Athens, however he did not marry without Hopes of having Issue by her This he testisses when he answers the Reproach made him on his having gone into the Country to marry her After having answer'd that the Reason of this was to avoid the Expence which a Wedding in the City would have put 'em to, he adds, that the Country is more use of the true Remedy This Consequence was have put 'em to, he adds, that the Country is more fertile naturally than the City, and that to tumble on the Grass, and in the shade of Elms, amidst numberless Productions that spring out of the fruitful Bosom of the Earth, cannot but bring good luck to a new married Couple who wish to have Children He should have kept that Thought for his Florids I mean for his Rhetorical Declamations in which he gives a Loofe to all the falfe Flights of his Imagination That place spoils his Apology It's unworthy of the Judges, before whom he spoke, and of the Cause which he pleaded Immo (a) st werum velus, user ad prolem multo auspication in villa quam in oppido ducitur, in folo uberi, quam in loco serili in agri cespite, quam in seri silece mater sutura in ipso maturno si nubat sinu, in segete adulta super sæcundam glebam. Vel enim sub ulmo marita cubet in ipso gremio terra matris inter sobles herlarum, & propagines vitium, & arborum germina. We shall see (b) hereafter that 'twas declard in full Court that Pudantila was not handsome, and that her security and see that her security. quam in oppido ducitur, in solo uberi, quam in loco fedentilla was not handsome, and that her Contract of Marriage contain'd Claules which suppos'd her to be still of a Teeming Age

(H) The preserving his good Mich, his Neatness] shall here give some touches of his Picture illa obtutum in me conversa, En, inquit, santissima Salvia matris generosa proles Sed & catera corporis inexplicabiliter ad regulam congruentia, interomis proceritas, succulenta gracilitas, rubor temperatus, flavum O maffeltatum capillitium, oculi cafit quidem, fed vigiles, & in aspettu micantes prorjus agui'lino, quoquo versum floridi speciosus & immeditatus incessus His Accusers upbraided him with his Beauty (d), his fine Hair, his fine Teeth, his I ooking-glass He answer'd on the two first heads that he was forry the Accusation was false Qued (e) utinam tam gravia molum,& forme & facundie crimina vere mihi exprobraffit ' non difficil. et respondissem, qued Homericus Alexander He-

ri "Ουπ Σποζκητ οξί Βεων εεικύ δεα δως π "Οσπ κεν ου πιὶ δώση, εκων δ' εκ αν πι «λοιπο Munera deum gloriosssssmancquaquam aspernanda Que tamen ab spsis tribus sucta, multis vol ntibus non obtingunt Hecego de forma respondissim Preteica, licere etiam Philosophis esse vultu liberali Pythagoram, qui pri-mum sese Philosophum nuncuparii, cum sui leculi excelcellentissima forma fuisse item Zenonem - sid la defunso, us dixi, aliquammultum à me remota est cui, prater forma modiocritatem, continuatio etiam l terati laboris omnem gratiam corpore deterges, habitudinem semues forcum avionate allements must, succum exforbet, colorem obliterat, vigorem debiti-Capillus ipfe, quem ifti aperto mendacio ad linecinium decoris promissum dixere, vides quam non fit amanus ac delicatus, horrere implenus atque impeditus, stup-pes tomento assimilis, & inaqualiter hirtus, & globolus, Geongestus prossus incuodabilis diutina incursa non modo comendi, sed saltem expediendi G discriminandi As to the third head, he did not deny his having ient a Powder for the Teeth to a kriend of his, to gether with iome Verses containing an e aet Description of the Effects of that Powder He alledged that all, but especially those who spoke in publick, ought to have a particular care to keep their Mouths clean Here he had Advantages enough to make good his Caufe, and turn his Advertary into tidicule, though in all probability he had given occasion emough for confure by too great an Affectation to distinguish himself from other Scholars Observe easy some Causes are defended, though the Party be a little in the wrong (f) I di ego dudum, answered he, vix risum quos dam tenenteis, cum mun-dicias oris videlicis oratos illi aspere accusaret, & den tifricium tanta indignatione pronunciaiet, quanta nemo quisquam venenum Quidni crimen haud contemnenquijquam venenum Quidni erimen haud consemnen-dum Philosopho, nihil in se sordidum ini e, nih lusp an corporis apertum, immundum pati ac fatulentum, pia-sertim os, cujus in propatulo & conspicuo usus hom n creberrimus sive ille cuipiam osculum serat, siu cum cuiquam sermocinetur, sive in auditorio desertes, sive in templo preces alleges. Compren quippo homenis assum ser-Omnem quippe hominis altum fertemplo preces alleget mo prait qui, at ait Poeta pracipuus, e dentium muro proficienter Let us pass the same Judgment upon the last Acculation It is not a Crime in a Doctor of what I aculty foever, to have a Looking glass, but if he confults it too often he s justly liable to cen-Morality in Apuleius's time was much stricter than at prefent as to the outward Behaviour for he durst not avow his making use of a Looking Glass He maintain d that he might do it, and proves it by feveral Philosophical Reasons, which to say the truth, are much more ingenious than judiciously placed, but he denies he consulted his Looking-Glass Sequitur (g) de speculo longa illa & censoria orat so, de quo pro rei atrocitate pani di upius est Pudeni cla-mitani, Habet speculum philosophus, possidet speculum philosophus Ut igitur habere concidam, ni aliquid objectife te credas, si negaro, non tamen ex comi accipi mesesse est exornari quoque ad speculum solere Plurime rebus possissu careo, usu fruor quod si neque habere utendi argumintum est, neque non usendi non habere, & speculi non tam possessio culputur quam inspessio, illud essam do cat necesse est quando & quibus præsentibus in speculum inspexerim, quoniam, ut ris est, majus pia culum decernes speculum philosopho, quam Cereres mundum profano videre

See Juvenal's Investive (b) against the Emperor who reckon'd his Looking-Glass one of the chief Pieces of his warlike Equipage By the way I can't but think (though I dare not affirm it) that Apuleius had his Law-fuit in view, when in one of his Speeches he described the Contest between A pollo and Marsyas He supposes that Marsyas begins posso and Marsyas He supposes that Marsyas begins by praising his own clotted Hair, his squalid Beaid, his hairy Stomach, and by reproaching Apollo with an extraordinary Neatness (1) Marsias, quod siulitie a maximum specimen est, non intelligens se deridiculo habers, priusquam tibis occiperet instare, prius de se & Apolline quadam deliraments barbare sputivit laudens sese quod erat & coma relicinus, & barbas sualidus, & sessar historia era et tinien & fortanaceenus con pettore birfutus, & arte tivicen, & fortuna egenus, con tia Apollinem, ridiculum dictu, adversis virtutibus culpabat Quod Apollo esset & coma intensi, & genus gratus, & corpore glabellus & arte multiscius, & forcuna opulentus — Lingua fatidica seu tute or actioni seu versibus malis, utrobique faciundia aquipari — Rifere Nufa, cum audirent hoc genus crimina, fapienti exoptanda, Apollini objectata (k), & tibicinem illum certamine superatum, velut ursum bipedem, corio execto nu lis & laceris visceribus reliquerunt. Observe that Apuline affirms his Accuser was a huge ill favour d Peafant (1) Mihr istud crede quamquam teterrimum os tuum minimum a Thyesta tragico d mutet, tameu profesto d scendi cupidine speculum in ilero & aliquando relitto aratro mirarcre tot in faci. tua fulcos des Letrugarum As ego non mirer, si boni consul s me de isto tres distortifimo vulta duo dicere, de moribus tuis mulio tiuintentioribus retices e

(1) Made use of Magi k Charms to possess bimself of her Heart and Money | Apuleus had no need of any great sufficient on the first Article, for lince Pudentilla, for Reasons of Heasth, was resolved on a second Marriage before she had seen this preon a second Marriage octore the had seen this pre-tended Wiraid, Apuleius & Youth, good Mien, sair Speech, Wit, and other Accomplishments were more than a sufficient Charm to make him be he lov'd by that Lady He had the most favourable Opportunities to gain her good Will, he sodged Q q for

* The Accall d Sici la's firft Husvand see Apul Apolog mit t Leon. Coqueus de civit Dei, lib 8 cap 19 P 74 I ranc 166 1 10 4to But hes mifta ken St Augustin Says quite ti ary † August

> (f) Ibid P -77 (g) Ibid p.g 281, (h) lile tenct ipeculum pathici geflamen Othonis, Actoris Aurunci fpolium quo se ille Aimatum, cum jam tolli vexilla juberet Res memoranannalibus atque recenti Hiftorin, spe culum civilis fir-Juven Sit 2 V 99 (i) Apul Horid p 341 (k) Siethe Application of this Passage in the Nouvelles de la Republ , Septemb 1684 article

(1) Apul Apol P

(b) In the Remark I

(c) Meta-

(a) Ibid

P 329

morph l 2 p 115 See also 1 1 pag 112 (d) Accufimus apud te philosophum fortam Græce quam Latine, proh ne-fas! difertillimum Apolog P 275 (e) Ibid oc pag.

4 St Au-ftin makes thu Remark in his 5th Epistle See the Re mark L at the end C Proftatua fibi ipud Ocenses locanda, ex qua cibebat uxorem, adverfus contradictionem quorunvium litigaret quod po-steros ne lateret ejufdem tionem fcriptam

commendavit

Augustin epilt 5

(m) Apol

p 320 (n) Ibid P 291

Grandici (a) Apol p 3 2 (b) Quod inflitui

pergam difputare. nullun

mihi caufam tuife

Pudentil

ficus ad

nuptias

prolectin di loi-mim mu

iph ultro improbaverunt.

idque mihi vitio

de forunt

talem uxgrandem & ubelieris & a' item

in it (K) Examples of the most shameful Artifices that the Villany of applicant Calumniator is capable of practifing. It is the observed that Apuleius with his Magick Art, could never attain to any Magistracy, though he was of good Family, though he had been very well educated, and very much esteemed this Eloquence. It is not, said they, from a Philosophical Contempt that he has lived out of Publicant to the house the process of the contempt that he has lived out of Publicant to the house the process of the contempt that he has lived out of Publicant to the house the contempt that he has lived out of Publicant to have a Paraller Office that the house the lived out to have the lived out of the lived out of Publicant to have a Paraller Office that the house the lived out of the lived out of Publicant to the Employs, for he thought it an Honour to have a Priestly Office that gave him the perintendence of the Publick Games, and contended vehemently & with those w opposed the Erecting a Statue with which the Inhabitants of Ocea would honour him Nothing more sensibly shews the Impertinent Credulity of the Pagais, than their say-for some time at her House, Pudentilla's Eldest Son would absolutely have it so, and it was he that wish'd he would marry her, and sollicited him to think on it (m) Apuleius managed all his advantages cunningly, and turn'd his Accusers into ridicule by smart and surprizing touches of Wit You wonder, said he, a Woman should marry again after having been 13 Years a Widow, whereas you should rather wonder that she did not marry much sooner You believe the e was need of Witchcrast to make a Widow of her Age marry a Young Man, whereas on the contrary this shews that Witchcrast had been needless (n) Cur mulier liberation nupsit post annos tredecim viduitatis? quasinon magis mirandum sit quod tot annu non nupserit At enim major natu non est suvenem aspernata. Igitur gis mirandum fit quod tot annu non nupferit

At enim major natu non est juvenem aspernata Igitur bocipsum argumentum est nihil opus magia suisse ut nubere vellet mulier viro, vidua calibi, major juniori. Is the Decree of the Judges had been founded on a Sentence pronounc'd in very near the like case, by the Mother of Alexander the Great, it would have been admirable (ο) Ο Guori εύς Φίν 1ππ Φ ηξο Θεσσαλίς γίνει δοο αίπαν εχέσης καταφαρμοκεύεν συντοι εσποθαστ εν η 'Ον νμπας λαβείν ή ανθεωπον που ευτοι είν ως γ τις οψι ενθαπ, π, π, πε εί δος ευπρεπίς εφα νη, κ διολεί γι πορός αυπν να αλείνως είξε δουνεπος, λαις είνος (είπεν η Ολεμπάς) αι διος λαί συ γο ν σουντω π΄ φορμανα έχεις Rex Philippus deperibat Thesalicam guandam mulierem, qua venessicio cum circurvenise dicebatun operam dedit Olympias, ut eam in sum redigeret potestatem, cum in conspectum ea regina veinstit, neque sorme tantum videretur egregia, regine ve uffet, neque forme tantum videretur egregia, tuch in fire collectia effect neglic abjects neglie impridenter pricept to flant, inqui o Olympias, calumnia. Tibi tua inteconjum pricept to flant, inqui o Olympias, calumnia. Tibi tua inteconjum pricept to flant i copolita veneficia. Thus much for the Conquest of the Heirt. The other Article which restricts to the Money, begets some Suspicion, not of mirk 1 of Witchciaft, but Avince It's hard to bestbe Article here but this Marriage was a Sacrifice to Reasons. of Interest But let us not condemn Apulcine with-out hearing him He offers to prove by his Con-tinest of Marriage that he defind no Settlement of tract of Marriage that he defind no Settlement of Pudintilla in present, but only a promise of bequeathing him a moderate Sum in case he surviv'd her, or had any Children by her. He makes it appear by several of his Actions how much his Conduct was districteded, and how reasonable it was to exact that Sum from his Wife which she had promised him. Here it was he was obliged to make thich contessions in open Court as Budgatilla court inch Contessions in open Court as Pudentilla cou d very well have dispensed with He says she was neither I in nor Young nor in any respect (a) so tempting as to make a Man have recourse to Witchcraft, and that it ought not to be a wonder if she had given great Lincouragement to such a Man is he Quamquam (b) qui omnium vel exigue re-tum positus culpar cauderet, si mulier vidua & mediocri forms, at non atate mediocre nubere volens, longa dote molli conditione invitassit juvenen neque corpore, neque animo, neque sortuna panitendum (c) He says that Pontianus the Son of Pudentilla proposed the Mariage of his Mother to him only as a charge, and as the ast of Friend and Philosopher, I would any an ast more becoming a good Friend to Pontage. iay an act more becoming a good I riend to Pontia-nu, more becoming a Philosoper than his laying out for a Match where he might find both Riches fa waitiard Beauty He heightens the Advantages of a ard Beauty He heightens the Advantages of a

Maid much above those of a Widow How poor forever a fait Maid is, faid he, she brings you a great
forever a fait Maid is, faid he, she brings you a great
forever a fait Maid is, faid he, she brings you a great
forever a fait Maid is, faid he, she brings you a great
forever a fait Maid is, faid he, she brings you a great
forever a fait Maid is, faid he, she brings you a great
forever a fait Maid is, faid he, she brings you a great
forever a fait Maid is, faid he, she brings you a great
forever a fait Maid is, faid he, she brings you a great
forever a fait Maid is, faid he, she brings you a great forever a fait Maid much above those of a Widow
forever a fait Maid is, faid he, she brings you a great
forever a fait Maid is, faid he, she brings you a great
forever a fait Maid is, faid he, she brings you a great
forever a fait Maid is, faid he, she brings you a great
forever a fait Maid is, faid he, she brings you a great
forever a fait Maid is, faid he, she brings you a great
forever a fait Maid is, faid he, she brings you a great
forever a fait Maid is, faid he, she brings you a great
forever a fait Maid is, faid he, she brings you a great
forever a fait Maid is, faid he, she brings you a great
forever a fait Maid is, fait he brings you a great
forever a fait Maid is, fait he brings you a great
forever a fait Maid is, fait he brings you a great
forever a fait Maid is, fait he brings you a great
forever a fait Maid is, fait he brings you a great
forever a fait Maid is, fait he brings you a great
forever a fait Maid is, fait he brings you a great
forever a fait Maid is, fait he brings you a great
forever a fait Maid is, fait he brings you a great
forever a fait Maid is, fait he brings you a great
forever a fait Maid is, fait he brings you a great
forever a fait Maid is, fait he brings you a great
forever a fait Maid is, fait he brings you a great forever a fait he brings you a great forever a fait Maid is, fait he brin rem rapuisse Apol p ,3r (c) Confidere sese fore ut id onus recipiam, quoniam non formoia pupilla, sed mediocri sacie matei liberoium mihi offeratur Sin hac reputans forma & divitiaium gratia me ad aliam conditionem refervarem, neque pro animo, neque pro philosopho facturum Ib p 320

felves again, they may withdraw, they may recover em at Law, the Virginity alone cannot be return'd, but remains always in the Fower of the first Husband If you marry a With and she leaves you, she carries all she brought away with her, you can make no Advantage to your felf of any thing whatsoever that belongs to her He observes several other Incorporate to marriage Widows feveral other Inconveniences in marrying Widows, and concludes that Pudentilla would not easily have been married a 2d time, if the had not met with a Philosophical Humour in him (d) Virgo formosa, etsi sit oppido pauper, tamen abunda dotata est Affert quippe ad maritum novam animi indolem, pulcritudinis gratiam, floris rudimentum lpsa virginitatis commen-datio qui e meritoque omnibu maritis acceptisma est Nam quodeunque aliud in dotem acceperis, potes cum li-buit ne sis beneficio obstrictus omne ut acceperas retribuere, pecuniam renumerare, mancipia restituere, c'omo demi-grare, prædiis cedere Sola virginitas cum semel accep-ta est reddi nequitur sola apud maritum ex rebus dota est readi nequitur Josa apud maritum ex rebus dotalibus remanet Vidua autem qualis nuptiis vuent, talis divortio digreditur Nihil affert irreposeibile, Jed
venit jam ab alio praforata, certe tibi, ad qua velis, minme docilis, non minus suspectans novam domum, quam ipsa jam ob unum divortium suspectanda, sive illa morte amisti maritum, ut seavi ominis mulier, & infandi conjugii, minime appetenda, seu repudio digressa est, utrarvois habebat culpam mulier qua autiam matolerabilis suit ut sevudi aretur, aut tam insoleni, utretolerabilis fuit ut repudiaretur, aut tam infolens, ut re-pudiaret Ob hæc & alia viduæ dote auctæ procos soli-citant Quod Pudentilla quoque in alio marito fec sit, si Philosophum spernentem dotis non reperisset

This Discourse of Apuleius were a noble Field for Reslections, if one had nothing else to do, however as much as I am in haste to pass to other Articles, I shall say two things. One is, that this Estate of which the Husband can never be differzed is a very chime-rical one, there's deather Baker, nor Butcher that would give Four Pence Half-Penny Credit on that imperishable Possession. The other is, that Apuleius had not consider'd the Disadvantages of Widows in all their several kinds. He has said nothing of the Widows who have never had Children, neither indeed was that his Case A Piebend of Parus who made a trip to Geneva in 1672, with a design to embrace the Protestant Religion hapned soon after his Arrival to single out a Young, Rich, and Handsome Widow among the other Women in the Church He soon found an Opportunity of speaking to her, and the more he saw her the more he fancied she would fit him But having only brought a good clean Shape, like the rest of his, Profession along with him from France, and some lights on the Abuses of Popery, he was repulsed with scorn the Abuses of Popery, he was repulsed with scorn the made me the Considering this Repulse, and some plain d less of the main Disappointment than of the (e) manner of treating him I represented ingenuously to him, that he was in the wrong to propose any such thing, considering the present Condition of his Fortune, and the great Circumstances neither indeed was that his Cafe A Piebend of Padition of his Fortune, and the great Circumstances of the Lady He confest she was too rich for the a Man as he, but, continued he, much of her Estate must be abated on the score of her never having had a Child, that alone is a Drawback upon i of 30 or 40 thousand Livres, at least I should esteem her by so much a better Fortune than now I do elteem her by io much a better Fortune than now I do fince there's a prefumption of her being Barren confidering above all things that my only Brother has no Heirs, and that my Family is in danger of extinguishing, if I leave no Posterity I would not enter into a farther Dispute with a Man who had Calculated that Matter so nicely I left him to make all these Compensations and Valuations by himself, and satisfied my self with thinking that the Care he had at Heart to preserve his I amily had the Care he had at Heart to preserve his I amily had been a fruitful Source of Lights to him (K) Examples of the most shameful Artifices] I shall only instance in one, to shew that in all Ages the Spirit of Calumny I as put Men upon torging Proofs by Labels or talle Extracts of what a

THE Reflections of a Convert Prieft on a Widow who has Children

ing, That Apuleius (L) had wrought so many Miracles, that they equal dor even out y Id de aumber d those of LESUS CHRIST Without doubt a great many took all he civit Det had said in his Golden As to be a true History I wonder St Augustin y could be in 18 cap any uncertainty about it, or that he should not assuredly know that Apulesus had given & Sermothis Book only as a & Romance. He was not the Inventor of it, the Story is of an Anne ifto cient Date, (M) as Mr Morers has discover'd in the Words of Vossius, which yet he did Milesio not thoro'ly understand Some Pagans(N)have mention'd that Romance with Contempt. Apulems (O) was extraordinary Laborious, and compos'd (P) several Books, some in ferral Verse, and others in Prose, whereof only a small Part has resisted the Injuries of Time Apul in

He Prologo

517, 518 (g) Capita fictis ca-multum se Arbiter exercuit, nonnun-quam lu-fiffe miramur Hoc totum faquod folas aurium

lejum

genus profite-

tur, è facrario luo

Clodio Albino p

Person has said or writ To convince Apuleius of Witchcraft, his Accusers alledged a Letter which his Wife had writ to ham in the time of his Courtthip, and affirm'd the had confess'd in this Letter that Apuleius was a Wizard, and had bewitch'd her It was no hard matter to cause a belief that she had writ it, for they only read some Words here and there of her Letter, and not what preceded or follow'd 'em, and no body press'd 'em to read the whole 'At last Apuleius cover d'em with Shame, by causing the whole Passage of Pudensilla's Letter to be read It appear'd, that far from complaining of Apuleius, she justify'd him, and slily ridicul'd his Accusers See his Words You'll find that precifely the same Terms may either condemn or justify Apuleius, according as they are taken with or with-ΤΥ ΑΡμισιω, αυτοταίτης as they are taken with or without what preceds 'em Βκλομωνην γας μεθί &ς είπεν απίας γαμηθήνα, αυτος τέτον επετας αυτι πανίων αιςείδαι, δαυμάζων τον άνδια, κ) σπεδαζων αυτον οικον ήμων δι είναι ποικοπι νύν δι ως μοχ δηςοι υμάς καχουδείς τε αναπείδεση, αιφνίδον εγλυείο Απελιίς μας 🕝, κ) εγω μεμάγουμαι ύπ' κυτέ ναι ηρώ κ) ilλ. dele νύν πρός εμέ, έως έπ σωφρονώ Cum enim vellem rai nρώ χὶ ñλ-Jese vur mede eine, eus en en oppour Cum enim vellem gubere propter eus causas, quae dixi, tu ipse persuasisti mibi, ut bunc pra omnibus eligerem, admirans virum, o cupigus reddere eum nobis samiliarem med opera Nunc verd cum nesarii o maligni vos sollicitant, Apuleius repente Magus sattus est, o ego incantata sum ab eo Certe amo eum Venice nunc ad me, donec adhuc sum compos mentis (f) He aggravates that sort of Cheat as it deserves His Words deserve to be engraved in Letters of Gold in a thousand Places, to deter, if possible, all Calumniators in all Countries, and if possible, all Calumniators in all Countries, and in all Ages, who make use of the like Cheats Mulra sunt, says lc, (g) que sola prolate calumnie pos-funt videri obnoxie. Cujavis oratio insimulari potest, si ca que ex prio ibus noxa sunt principio sui defrauden-tur, si quedam ex ordine scriptorum ad libidinem sup-primantur, si qua simulationis causa dicta sunt, adse-verantis prenunciatione quam exprebrantis legantur

(L) That Apuleius had wrought so many Miracles]

One could hardly believe that this had ever been faid, if credible Persons did not attest it But we find that this Impertinence of the Pagans was fuch a Cant in St Austin's Time, that that great Prelate was requested to refute it (a) Precator accessor in ad ea vigilantius respondere digneris, in quibus nibil amplius Dominum quam alis homines facere potuerunt, fecisse velgessisse mentiuntur Apollonium siquidem suum nobis & Apuleium aliosque magica artis homines in medium proferunt, quorum majora contendunt extitisse miracula St Austin contented himself with answering (b), that if Apuleius had been so great a Wizard, he would not have liv'd in fo mean a Condition as he did, confidering his Ambition That befides he had pleaded against Witchcraft as against a great Crime His presented Miracles were spoken of long before St. Aufin, for Lastantine marvels that the Author whom he contuted, had not joyn d Apulous with Apollonius Tyanaus Polius oftendere Apollonius must paria, well estam majora fecisse Mirum quod Apulous pratermisti cujus solent & multa mira memorari (c) Apulous has had the Destiny of many other Persons His Miracles were not spoken of till af-Persons His Miracles were not spoken of till atter his Death, his Accusers objected nothing but I risles against him, or brought the worst Proof in the World of whatever might have the Appearance of Witherast But I know not how to reconcile Sauftin with Apuleius One says (d, that Apuleius could never attain to any Place of Judicature, ad any place of Judicature, and any place of Judicature, liquam judiciariam Respublica posessame (e) The other boasts, that he had enjoy'd the same Post which his Father held, his Father, I say, who had pass'd thro' all the Trusts in his Country In qua colonia patrem habit loco principe Duumviralem cuntits honoribus per fellum. bus perfectum Gujus ego LOCUM in en repub ex-inae ut participare GURIAM copi nequaquem dege-ner pari spero honore & existimatione tucor

(M) The Story was of an ancient Date, as Me. More

ri has discover'd] Let's first set down his own Words The Metamorphosis of the Golden Asi, " is a "Paraphrase of what he had taken from Lucian, as Lucian had done before him from Lucius of Patras mentioned by Photius very likely that Apul. in borrow d from the same Source the very Subject of the Fable, which he has given a Turn to after his own Fancy, for he understood the Greek and Latin Tongues very well." To judge whether Mr Morers deserves to be criticis'd, we must compare what he has faid with the Passage of Vossius, which served him for an Original (f) De atate Lucii Patrensis non liquet, nisi quod autiquior credatur Luciano, quippe qui inde compilasse vi-deatur Lucium seu asinum suum, uti ex Luciano postea asinum suum aureum exscripsit Appulcius Nist is potius deatur Lucium seu asinum suum, uti ex Luciano postea asinum suum aureum exscripsit Appulcius. Nisi is potius ex eodem Lucii sonte sua hausit, & hoc sane verisimilis est Nempe ut Lucium in epitomen redesit Lucianus, ita paraphrasin Lucii scripsit Appulcius, sed ille Grace, hic Latine It's plain Mr Moreri did not take Vossius's Thought, and that he ought not to have said, that Apulcius's Work is a Paraphrase of that of Lucian He ought to have said that Lucius of Patras had been abridged by Lucian, and paraphrased by A (f) Vof-Lucian He ought to have faild that Lucius of Patras Clodio had been abridged by Lucian, and paraphrased by A. Albino pulcius The Argument which Mr Moreri includes in these Words, for he understood the Greek and Latin (h) Vel Tongues very well, is good for nothing Put this argumen Reasoning into Form, and you'll raise this Enthyme me from it He understood the Greek and Latin Tongues should be said that Ethic Put this argumenme from it He underflood the Greek and Latin Tongues fibus ama-very well, therefore he took the Subject of that Fable torum re-which he has dreft out after his own Way, from the Foun-tain Head, that is to fay, therefore he has not para-bus vel phrai'd Lucian, but Lucius of Patras This Enthy-meme is ridiculous. One has no less need of the se Arbiter Greek Tongue to make use of Lucian, than of Lu ius; and the Latin Tongue is of no use at all towards dressing out in hisown way a Subject borrowed from Lu-May not Mr de la Fontaine dress up a Tale of Ouville after his own way 'Twere of greater Use than most People think to criticise the false Logick of Authors Young Persons who are born to be Authors would profit much and betimes by such Criticisms

(N) Some Pagans have mention'd that Romance with Contempt] I defire no other Proof of it than the Letter in which the Emperor Severus complains to the Senate of the Honours given to Cledius Albinus Among other Praises, they had given him that of Learned The Emperor could not bear their giving fuch a Character to a Man, who had fill'd his Mind with nothing but the Tales and Rhapsodies of Apuleius (g) Major fuit dolor quod illum pro literato lau- cum cudandum plerique duxissis, quum ille næniu quibusdam nas sapianilibus occupatus inter Milesias punicas Apuleii sui, & entiæ traludiera literatia consenesceret Macrobius has made status eliover all sucha Romances (b) as Apuleius's Golden minat Asses and Nurses and Nurses. As to the Nurses and Nursery

Ais to the Nuries and Nuriery

(O) Apuleius was extraordinary Laborious] Hear Saturnal what he fays himfelf in his Answer to his Adversa | 1 c 2 ry on the Subject of Eloquence (1) De eloquentia (1) Apul vero, si qua mish fuisset, neque mirum neque invidiosum in Apodeberet videri, si ab ineunte avo unis studiis literarum log p 176 ex summis viribus deditus, omnibus aliis spretis voluptatibus, ad hoc avi, haud sciam unne super omneis honines imporis labore, dique vastique, cum despettu &r mines impenso labore, diaque noctuque, cum despectu & dispendio bona valetudinis, cam quasissem

(P) And compos'd several Books] See the Dissertation de vita & feriptis Apuleii, which Wower has placed in the Front of his Edition, and Mr Fleuriche Danishin Scholad. the Dauphin Scholiast, has caused to be printed before his It may be faid, that Apuleius was an Universal Genius There are but few Matters which he has not handled translated the Phedon of Plato, and the Arithmetick of Nicomachus He has writ de republica, de numeris, de musica They quote his Table Questions, his Letters to Cerellia, which are a little too free, his Proverbs, his Hermagoras; his Ludiera He mentuons the Latter humfelf Legerans, fays he (k), è (k) Id ib Q q 2 Ludia

(f)Apul Apol P

(g) Ibid

(a) Mar-

cellinus ad Aug epift 4 inter epist Augustini See alfo the 49 Letter of St Augustin-p m Tol (b) Au-b gust epust (c) L1Ctant Druin mftitut I See also St Jerome in Pialmum

(d) Aug

epelt 5 (e) Apul

Anol p

289

Ile delighted in making Publick Speeches, and discharg'd himself with the Applause of all his Auditories. When they heard him at Ocea, n the Auditors with a general Voice, That he ought to have the Honour of the Freedom of the Lity bestow'd upon him. Those of Carthage heard him savourably, and "erected wattue in Honour of him. Several other Cities † did him the same Honour. It is said, that his Wise held the Cities to him while he studied; but that, I think, ought not to be taken literally. It's more likely a Figure of the Gallick Eloquence of Sidonius Apollinaris, † Legentibus Possis med to outque candelas & candelabra tenuerunt. Several Criticks (PA) have published notes on sipul ins. I don't know " of any modern (D) French Translation of the Cities Dissiders which the Magicians, Priests, Pandars, Thieves, &c. fill'd the World at that I ime. at that Lime

AQUEUS (Stephen), in French de † l'Aigue, ‡ Lord of Beauvais in Berry his Native Country, made himself Famous by his (A) Military Action and his Writings, in the Reign of Irancis the 1 irst Not that his (B) Commentary Pliny, which is

1100 Calcons cilwag Crdier Inblio h Liane pag and (/) Fri-

dericus Gronoviu. in Au

ion Cent

in editione Auto-

Nuprial

nu, Am-

ficlod 167: pag 510

, (6 | 1 pist | 1 2

Im11 12 12

> Ludicris meis epifiolium de dentifiscio, versibus seniptum We have fill the Golden Ass in Eleven Books, his Apology, his Treatites of Natural Philosophy, of Moral Philosophy, de Syllogismo categorico, de Deo Sociat s, de Mundo, and his Florida. As to his Letters to Cerellia. I than t forget the Thought of a learned (1) Critick about em He believes that the Name of Cicero ought to be incerted in thatPaffage of Aufonius where those Letters are mention'd, toi Ciccio was the Person who was reproach'd with having had too much Lamiliarity with Cerellia, and Writing to her too freely. On this Supposition we must read the Place in Ausonius thus, Ese Apuleium in vita Philosophrum, in epigrammatis amaterem, Ciccionis in praceptis omnibus exstare soveritatem, in op Stoles ad Cerelliam Suboffe perulantiam

(PA) Several Criticks have published Notes on Apuleius | Philippus Bei aldus publish d very large Notes on the Golden Ais in Ven ce in Folio, Ann 1504, v inch were Reprinted in 8vo at Poris, and at severil other Places Godescalk Stewechius, Peter Columns, John Wower, &c have written on all the Wosks of alpuleius Priceus has publish d(a)the Golden Ass, and the Apology, by themselves, with a great many Obtervations. I he Annotations of Cossuless, and those of Scipio Gentilis on the Apology are much valued.
The first appear of in the Year 1594, and the latter in the Year 1607. The best Edition of the Book Domindo, is that of Leyden 1591 in Sue. We are indebted for it to Bonaventure Vulcanius. Let's say by the way that that Treasile is almost the Gome by the way, that that Freatife is almost the same with the Franslation of a like Work attributed to shifted. The Book de Dee Socraeis has appeared (b) with the Annotations of Jofins Mercerus Author (1) whom I quote will instruct you more amply concerning the Editions of Apulcius He has made no particular mention of that of Basil apud Harroum Petri 1560 in three volumes in 8003 nor of that of the same Town apud Sebastianum Henriepeni 162. Neither of that of Lyon 1614 in two Volumes in 800, which perfectly resembles that of Leydin, of which he specifies all the Pieces, all stang it in the Year 1614. I don't know when the property of France for ther he might not take the Lugdunum of France for the Lugdunum Bataverum

(2) Any Modern French Translation of he Golden

As I it is an not mistaken, john Louveau is the Author of the nist old Translation. La Groin du (d) Maine mil'es mention of it, without fetting down the Yeu in which it appear d. He only fays, that by Claudius Micard in 1584 One 3 de Monthyard has given a Irmilation of the same Book with a Commentary One of the Two Editions that I have feen was according to the Copy, printed in Paru by Albell Angelies 1612 The other at Paris by Samuel Thibbuff 1623 The 1 reface is long enough, and contains a Criticilm on feveral Faults of John Lou-

pig Iic

In verdict pag 44)

Since the first I dition of this Dictionary, part of the Translation of the Golden Ass has appeared at Pris The Journal of the Learned of the Ninth o inuary 1696, makes mention of it. See in the

I muithet La Craix du Maine and du Verdier Vau-Privas, have i oken of a Translation, which may very well be older than that of John Louvene They isy (dd), that George de la Bouthiera, or de la Boutier, a Native of Au un, put the Metamorphofis of Golden Ais of Apulius into Fiench He lays that this Versian was printed a Lyons by John de Tournes and William Gazcau in the Tear 1553 The other, that it (e) was printed by John de Tourney 1516. There (a) There is a Fault of the Impression in the last Date, and it is plain enough that to put the Figures in the part of Page 1816. The page 1816 of Same Laboration has faid (f), that the Translation (ee) Julius by John Lenguesu was printed in the Year 1558, there Floridus by Floridus and Gunnosse that it was letter that of Universe. is Reason to suppose that it was later than that of ubi infra George de la Bouthiere (ff) Ho-

(R) Take that Book for a perpetaal Satyr] See here what I find in the Annotations of Mr. de Eles Tota (ee) porro baç metamorphosis Apulesana O filo & sontentia Satyricon oft perpetuum (us reste ob-fervavit Barthius Advers l SI cap II) su que magi-ca deliria, sacrificulorum scelera, adultererum scrimina, furum & latrenum impunite factiones palam differentur He adds, that the Seekers of the Philosopher's Stone, He adds, that the Seekers of the Philosopher's Stone, Protupretend to find the Mysteries of the great Work in Ierit, at it. A Man who would take the Pains, and the interhad the Requisite Qualifications (he must indeed the name of the cettera have a great many) might make a very curious and venusissing instructive Commentary on that Romance, in which must illeveral Things might be learn'd, which the Preceeding Commentaries how good soever in the main, ches have never touch'd upon There are some very observed that the Author has inserted some Episodes in it dus Comfort in the sown Invention (ff), and amongst others ment in of his own Invention (ff), and amongst others that of Psyche, which has furnish'd Moliere with Matter for an exceptent Piece for the Stage, and Mr de la Fentaine for a fine Romance

(A) By his Military Attions, and his Writings] Father Hardouin gives him this Praise, (g) Vir nobilis in primis, as militia quoque exacts egregie fordidus. The Works he publish'd are (h) a Singular Treatife concerning the Properties of Tortosfes, Suails, Frogs and Articheaks, as Lyons in 8vo (1) Julius Cufar's Com. (h) Di montaries as the Roman Wars, and other Military ExVerdie peditions, perform'd by him in Gaul, and Atrica, Bibliot at Paris 1531 in Folio (k) We shall say a word

Franc

of his Commontance of Plans of his Commentary on Pliny

(B) That his Commentary on Pliny _____ to wery (1) La ed in the main] It is more confiderable for its Croix du Largeness than Learning The Author corrects only as a Plagiary, and skips almost all the difficult takes notice Places. This is Father Hardonin's Judgment of the Edition of it (1) Commentarios scripto in amone Planis librate tion of Sed male magis quam eruditione infigures. Nec unmotion Paris of mendationes ullas babet, quam quae a Rhenane monthly 120 mendations ullas habet, quam quae a Rhemane 1530

est ea sere in quibus salebrarum est aliquid assista. (k) Day bagu, selet us ceu soveam, securus pratergradi. He commits the same Fault that several other Writesan have done, he makes use of other Men's Gooding Harwithout Naming his Benefactor, and names and duin preonly when he has a mind to censure him Rhemanar fat in was not filent on that Head, but writes thus to a Plin Physician of the Cardinal of Westphalia. (m) Hec (m) See Physician of the Cardinal of Westphalia. (m) Hoc (m) See mirum, quad quum ex meus castigationibus monnihil sit the 50 adjutus, nusquam tamen men mentionem facit, nist Letter of quoties walt reprehendere. The general Judgment the adjutus, nusquam tamen men ementionem facit, nist Letter of quoties walt reprehendere. The general Judgment the adjutus which he gives of that Book deserves to be related (n) In primus insum volumen mon est eniguum, stocked (n) In primus insum volumen mon est eniguum, sex varits congestium autoribus, quod usus pauperculu esse possis, qui non habent bibliothecam instruction, puta A. Piloticlem, Albertum de Amimalibus, Raphaelem Volatieranum, en que integra serme capita antor transcripsit by Goldast bone side, boc est, una cam ipsis mendis ne systaba qui pe solden mutata, Casium Rhodigimum, Calumellam etiam, 44 : 1674.

Palladiumque, & simileis seriptones Mam hoc pracipue (n) Ibid habet studio, citare restumnia amorum cum Plinio facium, de verbis ipsis minimum sellicitus, quod ilis penitus puerile videtur. In summa luber talis est, qui si non magnopure juvet, excitet tamen literas, & Plinium ipsum vul-

rum certe noster ita imitator fuit. ut à rabilia Protument Apul ad Delphini pag 2 (g) Har-duinus, præfat in Plinium (b) Du Verdier Biblioth Pag 278

Maine

(a) The Apology at Paris in 16,5 IN 410 lhe Golden Als at Gouda 211 1650 111 8 vo (b) At Parts 1624 12 129 (c) Joh All rtus Labriciu, Bibliotheca Latina pag 1,5 % ieq-*Ine Baron des (outures pub-Verfiam in Irench o, the Freatife Socratis with No es 111198 ı) La Cicix du N^{r} unc

the best of his and is good in the Main; but twas exampled in 1930. I Father Hardown did not in the Mount of Commentary was printed in 1930. Father Hardown did not in the Mount of Commentary was printed in 1930. Father Hardown did not in the Mount of Market Marthew) Duke of Arri in the Kingdom of Market, and Son of Julius (Ad) Aqueviva Count of Conversary, added to the Splendor of his Birth, and the Beginning of the Sixteenth Centuries. He was not satisfy dearely to fludy, and converse with the Learned, but proceeded to the Writing of Books, and acquitted himself honourably, as appears by his Work entitled. The Encyclopedia: and by ated himself honourably, as appears by his Work entituled, The Encyclopedin; and by another in which he treats (A) of Moral Virtues. He wrote a Book also de re equestic But before he apply'd himself with so much Andor to Letters, he had paid that Debt to Arms which his high Birth claim'd, and had signaliz'd himself this way, the Fortune had been released in Two Battels unfortunate, and was wounded and the Prisoner in both. His Learning supported him in his Consinement, and he was so happy as to obtain his Liberty from Ferdinand King of Aragon, when Gonsalvo, stranged the Great Captain, would have sent him with other Prisoners. into Spain He ever after betook himself to the Pleasures of a Private Life amidst his Books, and in the Company of Learned Men, by whom he was highly praifed (B) and C Ex Johonoured. He inspired his Brother with the same Love of Learning, who became also vio, elog (BA) an Author Our Aquaviva would have been more happy, if he had managed doctor vir his Estate a hittle better, but by having made too great Expences for several Years, he found himself at last incapable of making any He died at Conversano, Aged Seventy this only Two Years, when the French Troops under the Conduct of Lastree, ravaged Apulsa by Hear-R, 10 1528.

A Q UIN (Philip d') in Latin Aquinas or Aquinius, acquir'd a great Reputation by his Skill in the Hebrew Tongue, which he taught at Paris in the Reign of Lewis the Didicatory Thirteenth, and by the Works (A) which he publish'd. He was originally of Aquino of this Inin the Kingdom of Naples 2, and from thence deriv'd his Name, but was born in the terpretation Country of Avignen. He was a Convert from the Jewish Religion, and had * a Pen-

fion Cabal

rest commendet, que mibi resen primis grata

(C) Fasher Hardouin did not justly know that Date]
He (e) observes that Sysismund Geleman publish'd a Volume of Corrections on Pliny, in the Year 1535, and that the Year following, Beasins Rhemanus published his Work on the same Author, and that at the end of Four Years our Aqueus caus'd his Commentary to be printed He mast therefore have publish dit in 1540 Now its comment, he publish'd it in the Year 1530 I suppose that her Hardonin's Mistake proceeded from his act knowing that Geleman workt twice (p) upon Pliny before the Edition of 1635 It might possibly have hapned that the Book of Aqueus was later by Five Years than the first Corrections of Gelenius Corrections of Gelenius

(AD) The Sen of Julius Aquaviva, Count of Conversano] That Count fignaliz'd himself by his Valor on several Occasions, and commanded the Army of Naples (q) when he was killed in a Skirmish, during the Siege of Otranto by the Turks, in 1480 His Son of whom we speak in this Article, was a long time (r) inconsolable for that Loss

(4) In which he treats of Moral Versue] One wou'd think that?, Journal look'd on it as a Commentary on Plutarch's Treattic of Moral Virtue, the Modern Author of the Annotations on the Latin Poems of Sannazes had the same Thought (1) But I have not found Paulus journ's Expressions clear enough to designine me to this Sense, I had rather keep to a more Indefinite Idea See here the Latin of that Author, Neme ex his qui illustribus erti families atace cloped felmomen, - Andrea Mattheo Aqueru-Je clarueruns Andrea Mattheo Aquade fe luculentsus optimis disciplinis exornavit, care canstat e libro nobili pariter ac erudito qui elepadia inscribitur, & de morali virtute Plutarchi plenier liber subtile & copies commentario persimilis oftendit. This seems to signify a Paraphrase of great oftendie This feems to fignify a learns on that Treatise of Plutareh Since the first Edition of this Dictionary, I have had an Opportunity to discover that Paulus Jovius has express d himself ill, for this is the Title of the Book of our Aquaviva in the Edition of Naples 1526 in felio Commentarii in translationem libelli Pluturchi Charonei de Virtute Morali-liber prilonger. Muftrum & exquificifinarum disputationum labri quatuer Quibus emnes diving & humana sapi-Libri quature Quipus emmes diving & humana Japientia, prasersim animi moderatricis, Musica aique A firelogia arcana in Plutarchi Charensi de Virtute Merali praceptionibus recondista fumme ingenii acumine resetta patefiunt, & figuris suo quaque ellustrantur, &c Neither Le Taps (a) from whom I have borrowed this, nor Leonard Nicodemo make any manner of mension of the Book anticuled Englished. tion of the Book entituled Encyclopadia

(B) Highly praised and honoured] Alexander ab A-lexandre dedicated his Genial Days to him Pontanus dedicated also his First Book de rebus calestibus, and his Treatise de magnanimitate to him Sannazar prais'd him ingeniously for having been (as was fince faid of Mr de Montauxier) A Favourite of Pallas, what Name seever was given her, either of Minerva, or Rellona

Reliona

Fivor: de Pallas quelque nom qu'on lui donne,

'Ou celui de Minerve ou celui de Bellone

See the last Elogy of the Second Book towards the latter end, and the Second Epigram of the Second Book As to the Forty Fourth Epigram of the iame Book, I question whether it be in Praise of our A-quantina, as the Author (b) of the Annotations on (b) P 188

Sammazar has fancy'd, it's address d ad Neritinerum Ducem, who, according to the Testimony of Paulus Jouins, was Belisarius Aquantina the Brother of Andrè Mattheiu It seems to me also that the First Ldre Matthew It seems to me also that the First L-logy of the Third Book does not belong to this latter, but to his Father Julius Aquaviva See in the (c) Author whom I quote, the Names of several Writers who have celebrated our Andre Mat-

(BA) Belifarius -who was also an Author] He compos'd a Treatise de Venatione, which he de- Napol dicated to his Brother John Mattheiu, another de au- PB 11 cupio, another de principum liberios educandis, another de re militari, and another de fingulari certamine. These Works first printed at Naples in folio, in the Year 1578, by the Care of Leonclavius with the Manuel Palaelegus of Royal Education

nuel Palaelegus of Royal Education

(A) And by the Works which he publish'd] See here the Catalogue of them Diffenanium Hebrae Chaideo-Thabaudico-Rabbinicum, fol printed at Paris in the Year 1629 The Roots of the Holy Tongue, ad formam Cabi Hutteriani, at Paris 1620 in 16 The Italian Translation of the Apophthegms of the Ancient Doctors of the Jewish Church, collected by Rabbi Simeon the Son of Gamaliel The Exposition of (d) the Thirteen Ways which the Ancient Rabbies made use of to explain the Pentateuch The biss made use of to explain the Pentateuch The Interpretation of the Tree of the Cabal, en-Interpretation of the Tree of the Cabal, enrich'd with its Figure, taken from the Ancient Hebrew Authors Paris, at the Charges of the Author, 1620 in 800 A Discourse of the Camp, and Tabernacle of the Israelites, at Paris, by The Blasse 1625 in 400 Literal, Allegorical, and Moral Explications of the Tabernacle which God order defect to build, of the Priests Vestments, and the manner how they consulted the Rationale of the Ancient Law, together with the Form of the Jewish Sacrifices All curiously collected, and faithfully translated from the most Learned and Ancient He

C 73 γ I know

(c) Nila Bıbl

(d) Printed at Paris in

pag 188, edit Am-ftel 1689. () Toppa libliot Napolet Pag 14

(0) Harduin. uhi

fupra (p) Seeshe 69 letter of the 30 Book of Erasmus pag 1957 (q) See the Hift of Mahomet Guillet.

Verses

which Marulle addresses to to 2 pag 373 (r) Seesbe him, epi-

1 p m gramm

(j) Lıpratit

cal

commentarium in

Plutar-chum de

16

Gallıæ Orient pag 254 256 fion allowed him by the Clengy-of France. His Name was mention (2) in the Trial of the Marshal d'Ancre. Simeon de Muis (C) has given him there was one Lewis the other hand, Valerian de Flavigns (D) has spoken ill of him There was one Lewis the other hand, Valerian de Flavigns (D) has spoken ill of him There was one Lawis

Henry d' Aquin his Contemporary, who was also very well skill d in the Oriental Langua t Mr Co- ges. I cannot tell whether he was t his Son, or Brother. He translated (E) some thing out of Hebrew into Lasin t He had also been a Jew, and was likewise a Penli believes he oner of the Clergy. Antony d' Aquin, who had been chief Physician to Lewis XIVth, was Grandson of Philip

A R A G O N (Alphonso V of that Name, King of) See under the Word Naples,

Colomiès, Alphonso I of the Name, King of Naples

ARAGON (foan of) the Wife of Ascanio Colonna, Prince of Tagliocozzi, was the most Illustrious Lady in the 16th Century She was born in Naples, and descended from the Kings of Aragon The Wits of herTime (A) sounded forth her Praises in an extraordinary manner. The Philosopher Augustin Niphus was none of the last in paying her his Homages. He represented her so wondrous beautiful, and particularized (B) the Perfections brew Authors, with a Discourse concerning the Camp of the Israelites, and the Description of the Jewels of the High Priest s Breast-Plate, added at the end of the Second Edition revised by the Author, and the Breast Plate, and Breast Plate, and Breast Plate. Paris ibid 1624 in 400 Beekinas Olam, or the Examination of Rabbi Jacob's World Moral Sentences of the Ancient Hebrews, and the Thirteen Ways which they made use of to interpret the Bible in 800 in Paris, by John Lacquehay, 1629 Phil Aquina-tis Hebraica Lingua Profess Lacryma in obstum Illustrissi Cardinalis de Berulle, Paristis apud Joannem Bessin, 1629, 1n 8vo

(B) In the Trial of the Marshal d Ancre] This Fact is too fingular not to be related "Item, It is "prov'd by Informations, as also by the Deposition "of Philip d'Aquinas formeily a jew, but now a "Christian, whom Conshini and his Wife had ient to Moulins, where the laid d'Aquinas was (e) at "the Lieurenant Criminal's House, that Conchini
"and his Wife had made use of the Cabal, and the "jew.sh Books It being to be observed what this d Aguinas had further deposed, viz that Conchini
"in the Presence of his Wife had taken away a Chamwho owns "ber pot because of its Impurity, and remov'd a be had been "Crucifix out of the Room, for fear it should hinder of Philip "Wife expected from Reading some Verses of the of Philip "Wife expected from Reading some d' Aquin, "51st Pfalm, Miferere mei in Hebrew The which integrum "Reading they would have perform'd by d' Aquinas, Ms 1 "in the firme Manner as it had been at fome time time have a form'd before'em by Montal o

"perform'd before 'em by Montal o
(C) Simeon de Muis has given him great Praises]
Here's what he says on a Verse of the 35th Plaim Cum hichererem dubius, Philippus Aquinas è Judeo Christianus, v r rare O exquisicissima in Hebraicu literis dostrina, O quem nunquam frustra consulai, forte venit ad me visendi gratia, O venit quidem optatus Ille flatim atque de re communicavi, ut fingulos rum versus imo & voces singulos in numerato habet, ac tanquam digitos tenet, indicavit locum ex Esaia 66

(D) Valenian de Flavigni has spoke ill of b m | He was Professor of Hebrew in the Royal College at Paris | He exploded the Bible of Mr le Jay unmercifully, and maintain'd that the Hebrew Text had been miserably corrupted by Philip d' Aquinas Tot actantis conspurcatum maculis atq, sordibus, ol fetricantibus impurissimis manibus Philippi Aquinatis

Avenionensis ex Judico Christiani, ut a planta pedisusq, ad verticem non sit in cos anitas (f)

(h) He translated something out of Hebrew into Latin J. Read what follows Commentarius Rabbi Levus sits Gersonis in librum jobi, seu in V. prima capita interprete Ludovico Henrico Aquino Lutetia, Paris, by Thomas Blaife 1620 in 4to Scholia Rabi Sale-monu Jarchi in librum Efter item excerpta quadam ex Talmudo & Jalcut in cundem librum, interprete Lud

Henr Aguino ibid 1622 in 4to

(A) Sounded forth her Praise in an extraordinary manner] I have not seen any Dictionary in which this Lady's Article is found It's a Sin of Omission moll worthy of Censure, for perhaps there never was a Man or Woman in the World, whose Merit was celebrated by more fine Wits, or in more Languages than that of Jean of Aragen in the 16th Century The Poems made in her Praise were collected by Jerom Ruscelli and publish'd at Venice in 1555, under the Title of TFMPLO ALLA DIVINA SIGNORA DONNA GIOVANNI D'ARAGONA, fabricato da tutti i piu gentili Spiriti, & in tuite ie lingue principali del mendo. The Poetical Dessica-tion of that Lady was perform'd with Ceremonies not unlike those made use of in the Canonization of Saints In the First Place, several Persons of their own mere Morion resolv'd to sestify their Devotiown mere Morion relow a ro setting their Devotion to this Divinity, and prepare her a Temple, afterwards in the Year 1551, the Matter pals'd into a Decree in the Academy de' Dubbief at Venice After feveral Deliberations and Confultations on a Queen feveral Deliberation and Confultations on a Queen feveral Deliberation and Confultations on the Confultation of the Conful finon that was flarted, to wit, whether that Temple should belong jointly to the Danna Giovanna d'Aragona, and her Sister the Marchioness du Guass. Aragena, and her Sister the Marchioneis du Guass, the Decree imports, That considering the Opposition anciently made by the Pontists against Marcellus's Design of Building a Temple jointly to Honour and Virtue, the Marchioness du Guass cou'd have no Part nor Interest in her Sister's Temple, except by the Means of some particular Interpretations. Not only the Poets whose Verses Ruscilli has collected, but himself also in the Prose of his Episte Dedicatory to the Cardinal of Trans. and in that of the Pretory to the Cardinal of Trent, and in that of the Preface, uses the Terms of Adoration and Divinity It's true, he adds this Corrective, that the Adorations paid that Lady were only Relative, and terminated in the Sovereign Being (s), who had conferr'd solmany Perfections upon her These are his

(B) He has particularized the Perfettions of her Body in Such a manner] Niphus has dedicated his Treatife of Beauty to this Lady, and to confute the anchest Philosophers, who maintain'd that there is no perfect Beauty in the Universe, he alledges in his Fifth Chapter the Example of Town of Argent Hole to Chapter the Example of Joan of Aragon He's to nicely particular in drawing the Picture of this Fair one, that among the great Numbers of Descrip-Fair one, that among the great Numbers of Descriptions which the Romances of Mademosfells do Soudery brought in to Fashion Thirty or Forvelleurs ago; there's not one we may venture to say the falls short of his (c) He is not satisfied to describe the Beauties which are visible to every Eyesbut passes to those (d) quas simus abscoudit, and to the Proportions between the Thigh and Leg, and between the Leg and the Arm In the beginning to this Treatise there's a Letter of Cardinal Pempesua Colonus to Augustin Niphus, vouching for the Incomparable Beauty. guffin Niphus, vouching for the Incomparable Beauty, and the other great Qualifications of Fean of Ara-Now, no Person is ignorant how far a Cardinal of Quality is a competent Judge in schole Mat-tersquam elegans formarum spettarer fee These are the Words of his Letter Non Vulgo speciosissima quaque

(a) He that the Sum of w, Che questa granDonna, come perfetti-sima di corpo & d'arimo, particolariffima fattura del fomno Iddio, meriti adorata ad honore del fattor fuo Overo che Ciafcuno partitamente l'offerifce il fuo la purita dell' affetto iuo (b) See she of his Article (c) This (d) Ventre fub pe Store decenta & latere tiora correfpondeant Amplis atque perrotundis cibus, coxl ad tibiam & tibia ad brachium fesqualtera pro-portione ie habente Niphus pag 213 Opuscul 1645

was Lutor there to Gilbert bros de vita & morte Mofis p Philippi Dagum præceptoi is oliin mei xeimy fois deferipfimus (f) In epistola de Heptaplis Parthenfibus, apud Colomefium.G1

(c) Perhaps he

THE Poctscal Desfication of th s Lady

Orient

pag 256

Perfections of Body in fuch a manner, that some (C) Authors have said he flatter d her, and that had put him up on these high Strains. It has also been pretended, that his Quitaries of Physician (D) had given him Privileges which instam'd his Heart To me this Conjectures savour y of the Vulgar, It was not for her Beauty alone that this Lady was so much admir'd, her Courage, her Prudence and Capacity for access Affres Addinguished her expressed appropriate from other Wessers of Chapter. for great Affairs & distinguished her extraordinarily from other Women of Quality the Pontificat of Paul the IV she had a share in the Resolutions taken by the Colonna's against the Interests of the Pope She would have been imprison'd if they had not had some Consideration for her Sex, but they only ordered her (E) not to stir out of Nevertheless she * got away very dexterously, that she might be the better able to second the Enterprizes of her Son, the Famous Mark Antony Colonna who assuranted acquir'd so much Honour in the Battel of Lepanto It does not appear that she stood well with her Husband at this time, for the was entirely in her Son's Interest. Now there was so violent (F) a Missunderstanding between the Father and Son, that the latter contributed to the Imprisonment of the former for Crimes of State. A sid thing that a Lady of fo much Merit, should be at odds with her Husband This is not so ince as it ought to be among Persons of her Sex who are posses'd of the greatest Qualities She shewed a deal of Constancy when she lost her Eldest Son in 1551. What Arein write to her on that Occasion is mixed with the highest Elegies. See the Sixth Book of

In Remail en See th

exponit natura nostro tamen avo parens officiosa ac liberalis veluti divinitatu amula, ut perfectum admiran-dumque aliquid, Dissque immortalibus quam simillimum gentibus proferret, Joannam Aragoniam Columnam pro-creavit, asque ab incunabulis ad hanc nsque atatem, in qua eft florentissima per omnes pulchritudinis & venustates numeros, provents, ut facile principem locum inter

(e) Guy-

on, Di-verf le-cons, vol

3 1 3 ch 12 (f) Suf-ceptis li-

beris. &c feneicerte uxore.

ieptuage-narius fenex puel-libidinem impotenti correptus

est usque

ad infaniam, ita ut pleri-

que phi-losophum fenem atque poda gricum ad

tibiæ momıserabılı cum pudore confpexerint Tovius Llog c

92 (g) Naudæus in

Inquero qe

Aug. Na

(b) Me.

dıcınam licet cir-

Citoris instar aut periodeute nun-quam enopennè

tainen callebat

ld ib MIPHUS fur'd

MARKS

enshe feel-ings of pricess pho dos falamore

tis numeros, provexit, ut facile principem locum inter formossimas vindicarit Animum praterea singularibus & dotibus & virtutibus insignivit, &cc

(C) Some Authors have said he statter'd her I Lewis Gayon (e) cannot be persuaded, that all the Beauties which Augustin Niphus ascribes to the Princess Jean tragon, of the Illustrious Family of the Colonnas, whereast But (says he) I sancy he was in Lovewith her said was drawn into it by having seen, touch'd, and handle wer in several Parts of her side Body, as Phylicians have a Privilege to do And that ambitious of getting into her good Graces, he publish at the Book which he dedicated to her, nothing being likely to gain either on Woman or Maid, so much as a Persuasion that their Beauty has made one in Love with em After which he is marks, that if so, the Physician sorget the Oath he had marks, that if fo, the Physician forgot the Oath he had taken upon receiving his Degree, which among other things enjoyns him, not to cover the Maids, or Women he shall have in Cure In the Tible of Matters he says pofitively, that Niphus fell in Love with the Princes Joan of Aragon, by handling her as a Physician, and feeling her Pulse This is going a little too far, he ought at most to have stopt at a Conjecture I confess Niphus, who was one of the best Philosophers of the last Age, was of a very Amorous Complexion, so far that neither Age nor Gout could break his Chains, (f) which sometimes made him act a very shameful Part, and even dance to the Tune of a Flute. I ful Part, and even dance to the Tune of a Flute. I confess too, that having been in I ove with a Lady of (g) Honour belonging to Joan of An agon, he might have a near Sight of that Fair Lady, and warm himself at a small distance by that great Fire, but it is not certain, that he forgot himself fo far as to raise his Thoughts so high Besides, as he did not (h) practise Physick, altho' he had taken the Degree of Doctor, it is not likely that he was Physician to this Princess; for Persons of her Quality make more use in their Sickness of an experienced than a speculative Physician, who, like Niphus applies himself lative Physician, who, like Niphus applies himfelf chiefly to the Philosophical Part, so that upon the whole I should chuse to say, that Judgment not having been his Talent, he took the Liberty to speak of the to his own Ideas What Lewis Guyon Remarks, that that Princess was of the I amily of the Colonnas, might be true on the Mother's side, nevertheless he has not explain d himself as he ought We have feen that Cardinal Pomper Colonna calls her Joanmarried to A anio Colonna Perhaps Augustin Niphus might have been criticis'd upon better Grounds in the 68th Chapter of the Treatile ac pulcho, where the 68th Chapter of the I reatile as pulling, where after having laid, that there was none in those times who deferv'd the Name of happy, but jean of Aragon, feeing she was possess'd of both the Ingiedients of Woman's Felicity, viz Beauty and Chistity, he speaks immediately after of Vistoria Colonna, Marquis of Pescara, as of a shining Example of the Conjunction of Beauty with Charity

(D) That Lis Quality of Prysician was zeven him

Privileges] The Poets, and others, have long fince made Reflections on this Privilege of Physicians Thus Ov d makes the Amorous Acontius fpeak

Me miscrum I quod non Medicorum justa m niftio, Astringoque manus, insideoque thoro

Et rursus miserum quod me procul inde remoto,

Quem min me wellem, foi sisan alter adest

Ille manus istas astringis, & assid t agra Invifus superis, cum superisque mili Dumque suo tentat salientem pollice venam, Candida per cat fam brachio fape tinet, Contrectatque finus, & forfit an ofe ila jungit, Officio merces plenior ista suo est Remi Lelleau in his Commentary on the 2d Book of the Amours of Ronfard, fays that the 45th sonner was taken out of this I piftle of Ovid See here

the Words of Ronford

Ha! que je porte & de hame & d'envie Au Medicin qui vient soir & matin Sans nul propos tationner le tetin, le fein, le vintie, v les flancs de m'amia

Las li n est pas li foigneu de ma vii

Gomme elle penfe, il ist michant v sin

Cent sous le jour il la visite, il in De grot sous leur and de virte men De voi fon fein, qui d in i le con sie

But this difference ought to be objected, that he whom Acontim complains of was contracted to the fick Person Without which she durst not have confest in hei Answer to Acontina that his Rival kis d her but ieldom, Ofcular ara accip t Brintonic quotes this Sonnet of Ronfard in some part of his Memoirs, and fays some good things on the Occa-

(E) They only order'd her not to s' , out of Rome The Pallage of Anthony Mir & Critians which I am going to quote, contains in plun Terms the Proof I wanted Joanna (a) diraron a Maici Antonii mater, virilis audacia femina, qua vi forum quo juc confilis apud filium habitis inte fue at coltinere le uomi, neque pedem inda efferre fue at 14 fis, id en m fi indulferat dignitati ejus Pon fex ne in en erem duceretur ka cum rem spellar ad a ma bellumya coprimum Pon isteorum impetum noppida fili: fore nt ligeret, vestibus mine lummo commu ati, cum filia 🗢 nuru, corruptis ant acceptis porta custodibus, egress i Ur be, conscens quos ad id praparavera equis, potinis Neapolim aufugit Pontifax quanquam acceptum le a-lujumque a fem na gravitei f rebat, acerbius am 11 j-panis, quoium ca confilius auministrar neur, vi feel i Twas on Occasion of this Lscape, & some other Provo cations that the Pope was so much exast erated against the Colonna's, "he sent a (b) Monitory to some of "Arragon, by which he forbad her to marry my of her Daughters without his content in default whereof, the Marriage, though after confummation, ihould be void (c)

(F) So wis line a Vislander fland no cetween the Father in Pos and Son I Cardina, I that it remarks that Af as pro nl nio Golonno had offer d it ch Violence to his Credish h h tors, that the Procurator I feal caused him to be cited to give an Account of his Condust Ascan 1's standard to give an Account of his Condust Ascan 1's standard to appearing, he was condemned for Contuma Country, and his Lands consistented. His Son Mark Anto-111 my (d) having been a long time at Variance with head 1, 11 Lather, took that Opportunity to flip him by fir

() Girts andera fibus viro luftrium, p 322 (/) Luna o' Januar y (15) (15) Hift du (o mile de l'inte la traduct d Arrelot Amfle d in 1657 Mirca Anto alis parente Vetures QUINT Lates LO 100 1 tic veil 1 1 Iteles vim inter-DOMHIT, CO. rempore p tiem oppidis ab eifque

312 f Of the k difton of 1'aris 1609 Que cofas no podrian derirle en laude, y ex iltations de la hermotifima l'uqueia de Tallacoza doi na Joanna de Aragon muger de fu g c real y en fummo gi ido ca-iti, y bue-na ² Y anti de donna Maria fu Hermana Muquela del Vasto? Y de donna Itabel de Conzaga iu nuera -Joan de Spinofa, Dialogo de las mugeres fol 98 verso † Corio, Histor di Milino, pute 6 p 879 edit 1646 in

410 a Varillas

Hist de

Charles VIII 1 2

P m 157 Ibid l

3 P 210,

211 * Ibid 12

P 157 () Gratian ubi iupra,pag (f) Sorbierc, inttr 15 pag mes'Gal to 2 pag 243 245 (1) Ins m ir I ran-Loriane General the Gillies Claude first Duk

(g) Brantome. Da-

This four taken in 1559 (1) Brant

Dames Illustr pag 283. 9 (1) Heft (1) He should have faid Julia his † Letters towards the 5th Page She had a (G)Suster who was very Handsome to her old Age, and who had an illustrious Daughter-in-Law See the Margin *

ARAGON (Isabel la of) Daughter of Alphonso, Duke of Calabria, Son of Ferds nand King of Naples, was the Wife of John Galeazzo Sforza Duke of Milan Thus Duke before his Marriage was under the Tutton of his Uncle Lewis Sforza; nor was he less so after he had been Married with great (AA) Magnificence to Isabella of Ara-The Counsels of this Princess, who was as Ambitious as Fair, encouraged a him to let the World see he was resolved fully to enjoy all his Rights, but he had a strong Party to deal with The Protector was the most intriguing Man in the World and the best able to maintain himself against the just Pretensions of his Nephew He fell in Love with the Princess Isabella at first sight, and as she had been married to John Galeazzo only by Proxy, he did not despair of Marrying her himself to the excluding his Nephew He discover'd his Design to the Princess, assuring her that she might reckon upon Commanding all more certainly if she married him, than if she was the Wife of John Galeazzo his Nephew His Proposal was rejected with disdain Protector was not discourag'd, but order'd Matters so that his Nephew could not confummate the Marriage, and for this end, as was commonly faid, made use of some (A) Magick Knot In the mean time he caus'd his own Marriage with Isabella to be negotiated at the Court of Naples Ferdinand seem'd inclinable enough, but the Duke of (alabria would never hear of it So that Lewis Sforza was obliged to deliver up the Prey to John Galeazzo, but he was resolv'd to have his Revenge, and design'd Isabella of Aragon for the chief Victim He *deny dher several things which either pleased her Fancy or serv d for her Diversion, and married a Princess who disputed the ground with her in The Young Isabella had so many Vexations to undergo in this Conflict, all things

ing on the confiscated Lstate, beating off the Ministers of Justice a little before the Death of Pope Justis the III He quitted Reme contrary to the Prohibition of Paul the IV This Disobedience, together with some former Disturbances, oblig'd that Pope to publish Letters Monitory against the Father and Son The Father excused himfels on his being detained a Prisoner at Naples, for having endeavour'd to excite a Revolt there The having endeavour'd to excite a Revolt there Son alleaged that he had sequester d the Lands in the hands of Mendoza, who could not be differed of em without the Imperor's order I am furprir'd that Palavieini says nothing of Ascanio Colonna's Wife But finee we know from another hand that the was engaged in her Son's Intrigues at Rome, and that the Son was at odds with his Father, we may lafely suppose that she did not live well with her Husband Gratiani speaks more positively of Mark Antony's most odious Behaviour towards his Father Ante omnes, (e) fays he, Colonniorum familia, magna in civitate pollensque pro illo (Calare) stabat, cujus princeps Murciu An onius cum paulo ante Ascanium patrem d quo hossili odio dissidebat insimulatum majestatus in custodiam tradendum Neapoli curasset, aliquot oppidis intra sincs Romanæ Ecclesiæ haud longe ab Urbe imperita-

(G) the had a Sifter who was very handsome] This was Donna Maria of Arragon, Wife of Alphonso d'Avales Marquis del I asso, one of Charles the V s best Generals Sorbiere (f) calls her Marchioness of la a co, and ranks her among the Learned Women bra ttome, who praised her highly, has plac'd her among the lasting Beauties, for after having repeated the fine things with which the Grand Prior of France regarded her in a numerous Assembly That her Autumn out did all the Springs and summers that were then in the Room, he adds (g), and 'twas nothing but the Truth that the was fill fairer and more defirable than e ther of her In Daughters, though both were Fair and Young And the she was then near 6 Years of Age (h) The Grand Prior was immediat ly smitten with her, but though he loved the Mother yet took her Eldest Daughter for his Mistrels, f adombrar la cola At six Tears end, or more, Br mo ne being return'd to Naples, found her but very l tole alor d, and fill so Fair, that he laid she could hardly so to making a Mortal Sin be com-ruited either in Thought or Deed I don't remember 1 ever observed that he mentions her Sister Its true he speaks (1) somewhere of the Wife of one Ascanio of Italy, and whom Burbaroffa endeavour'd to get the young, but he calls her la signora I was a Contract to the Grand Signor, but he calls her la signora I was a Contract to the Grand Signor, but he calls her la signora I was a Contract to the Grand Signor to the Grand Signor the Contract to the Grand Signor to the Grand S It's not the same then who is concern d in this Article though the manner in which Augustin Nippus has spoken of her Beauty, may create a belief that the was no less likely thin the other to prompt Barbaressa to tuch an attempt "Mr de Theu has mention'd that Mary of Arragon and says that (1) the Island of Island was chiefly confiderable for its having been the place of that Lady's Retreat The fame ferom Ruscelli, of whom I have spoken above and who took so much pains to immortalize Joan of Arragon, was likewise at some Charges to spread the Arragon, was likewise at some Charges to spread the Praises of Mary He was not satisfied to use the livelies Expressions his Imagination could suggest, to set off the Perfections of this Lady, but collected all the Pieces of Poetry in which she had been celebrated by the finest Wits of the Times, and printed riam insurance at the end of his Commentary on a Song of lam arce to be Baptist d'Azzis Marquis della Tirza This Song was written in Praise of the Illustriffima & Song was written in Praise of the Illustriftma & I xcellentissima Signora, la signora Donna Maria d'Aragona Marcheta del viasto. This Commentary of Ruscelli was printed at Venice in 1952, in 4to, by Giovan Griffio, and contains 73 Leaves. The Marchioness is represented in it as the Archetype of Beauty and the Kelthelov Forma, so that (to speak with the Commentator) the means truly to know whether other Women are since one than another, is to examine whether they resemble her more or less. He mine whether they resemble her more or less makes her no less hair in Soul than Body, and says that Giraldi having had the Honour to see her and hear her speak, was struck dumb for some time, not knowing whethere she was more desirable on the score of her Beauty, or admirable on account of her Wit

(AC) After he had been married great Magnificence | Read Tristan Calchus an Author (m) of those Times, in Nuptiarum Mediolanensium deferiptione Father Menetrier (n) quotes a very long Pallage from him, which contains the Description of the magnificent Supper that Bergones Botts a Gentle-man of Lombardy gave to Duke Galeazzo and his new marry'd Dutches, when he entertain'd 'em at House at Tortons Each Service was usher'd in (a) mith a kind of an Opera, which the repeating of the Mufrier, refical Asts began at the time to render agreeable rather by presentative Novelty than by the other Graces that have been added to em since

(1) That for that end he made use of Jome Magick

(2) Constant of Street and the made use of Jome Magick

Knot] Guicciardin affirms that there run fuch a Report, and that all Italy was perswaded of it He says,

(b) E manifesto che quando I abella figlivola d'Assonia and a congiugnarsi col marito, Lodovico come la vidde, innamorato di lei desidero ottenerla per moglie dal padre e a questo effetto opero (cost su allhora creduto per tutta lialia) com unamamento, a com malia che Giorian Galee a questo effetto opero (cost fu althora creauto per tutta (of Guio Italia) con incantamenti, e con malie che Giovan Gale-lib i p azzo fu per molti messi impotente alla consummatione del m 15 matrimonio alla qual costi dinando harebbe accons n- (i) Varil tito, ma Alfonso repuguo, onde Lodovico escluso di questa Hist de matrimonio alla qualcoja alimanao narevoe acconj ntito, ma Alfonfo repuguo, onde Lodovico efelujo di questa jperanza, prefa altra moglie & havutone firit voli, vol o tutti i pensieri a trassirire in quegli il Ducato di Milimo Mr Varillas, as far as I car perceive, does not touch upon this Particular, he only fays (c) that Lewis storra hindoria the Confirmmation of that Man agas for Sforza hinder'd the Consummation of that Mari age for 3 Months He makes it plain enough that the Reason was, because the Parties were k-pt from each other. for he says (d) that the I ather of the Bride thought 3 p 211 rıam ınfumunitiffima, quæ terras faxo ımpolita est. sed Mariæ Arragoni-æ Alfonsi Avalı Vaftii viduæ feceffu nobilem pe-tit Thuan histor l 11 ad ann 11552 (m) Konig is grofly mistaken in making him live IN 1677 (n) Menefeq (a) Menetrier, ubi fupra, p (b) Guice. Louis

Allf hv

I p 47 (d) Id Hift d-

VIII 1

(1)Dragu-

tes Æna-

and kind of Civil War, (B) which is well worth the trouble of being described, that † See the she sent her Father and Grandsather Word, that if they did not release her out of Remark B that Misery she † would make her self away. These Princes were not in a Condition to bring Lewis Sforze to Reason, who was one of the Tools that had drawn the French Galeacio into Italy, which fank the whole branch of the House of Aragon which reign'd then in orbata est, Naples He carry'd his Villany so far (C) as to make away * his Nephew, 'Tis in vain to say that John Galeazzo(D) died of over-caressing his Wife, the Tradition which imcuosing putes his Death to the Unkles Ambition, has prevail d After the French had taken Milan ac miserithe Princess IJabella retired to Naples, and appear'd the most afflicted of all the Princes- us quod fes her Relations † who were very numerous in the Island of Island, when King Frederick was obliged to submit himself to the Discretion of Lews the XIIth, in the Year She spent a long time in going out of one Mourning into another, for in the space of a few Years (E) she lost her Grandsather, Husband, Father, Brother, Unkle, vius elogand Son The only Consolation less there was to see her Persecutor Lews Sforza expiate gior 15 his Crimes in France, by a hard Captivity, which did not end but with his Life She had p m 422 yet another Confolation, which affected her more perhaps than the former, which was nus, decanised. to see her only Daughter, Bonna Sforza married to Sigismund King of Poland, She re- fibus vi-

(1) Borfo d'Este Grandfa-Grandfather to Al-

Bastards (f) Mr Varillas bad faid at ths 158th Page, that If ibella had written to the Duke of Calabria her Father and to the King her Grandsa-ther I et ters, the

which are preserved to this the Margin he cites the molt Pathetick Terms then

IN use She give fo Defeription of em

that 'Avould bave mude the hardest nand Sforza to keep the new marriedCouple any longer asunder Grandfather by the arm to revenge his Quarrel This was a strange Father's piece of Malice, and an insufferable Act of Violella, were

(B) That kind of Ciant were both and Ferdi- himfelf oblig'd in Honour - trouble of being described] As it seems to me that Mr Varillas has hit this Description very well, I thought I might oblige the Reader with a curious thought I might oblige the Reader with a curious Fragment, by inferting his very Words in this place It's a Piece so much the more useful in this Article, as it serves to discover the Humour, Spirit and inward Qualities of Isabella of Aragon (e) "Lewis "Sforza quitted Isabella to his Nephew" and to give her a Rival that should controul her "at every turn, he addressed himself to the

and to give her a Rival that should controul her at every turn, he addressed himself to the Princess Alphonsina, Daughter of Hercules d'Este, Quke of Ferara Alphons na resembled Isabella in all things, except in Beauty (1) Both were impertinently conceited of their Births, since they had nothing to reproach each other on that score, and that there had been Bastardy in the Genealogies of both. They were both haughty to excess, and their Haughtiness inclined to the "Genealogies of both They were both haughty to excess, and their Haughtiness inclind to the flyest Ambition They were both Chaste, more from a Principle of Pride than Constitution Isabella resolved to marry, and Alphossina aspired to it, rather to partake of their Husband's Power of an their Beds Both were Luxurious, and both had been Educated in Familia where nothing was so much commended as Parsimony. best part of " time (In " was so much commended as Parsimony, yet they were naturally Produgal, and their Humour lay towards spending all they could possibly come by The Duke of Ferara did not deliberate a History of " Bernard in " Corso) She " Moment whether he should give Alphonsina to Lewis Sforza He had no Dowry to give her, and there was Reason to hope that the might come to complans " in em of " her Misfor-" beDutchess of Milan So that she was sent away to Lewis Sforza with dispatch enough, who had Two Sons successively by her This Fruitfulness made her insult Isabella, who had been deliver'd a second time only of a Daughter, But Jealous's had sowed the Discord before Alphonsina could not bear any body's praising Isabella's Beauty, she lookt upon it as design'd to reproach her own Homeliness, nor could Isabella see with Patience any extraordinary Honours paid Alphonsitune in the " tience any extraordinary Honours paid Alphonsi-"tience any extraordinary Honours paid Alphonsse" na, as believing that they were due only to her self They both liv'd in the same Palace, and eat constantly together They had new Occasses on the Courtiers furnished the greatest part They were very assiduous about Alphonsses, because her Husband distributed all the Favours, and went to Isabella's Apartment for meer form only She was perfectly in distraction at it, and "twas this Solitude as much as the short Allow-" ance for her Court that made her write to her Father and Grandfather, that the would make an attempt against her own Life (f), if they did not deliver her from her Captivity. On the other hand, Alphonsina was so plagued with Isabella, that to get rid of her, she iollicited her Husband to make her a Dutches, as he had promised, and add the Quality of Duke of M lan to that of Administrator of the Dutchey. Administrator of the Dutchy (C) He carried his lillary to far as to make away with his hephew] I shall make use of Mr larillas s Words again. Thus he speaks under the 1494th Year ance for her Court that made her write to her Fa-after having conducted his King as far as Pavia P 41

"(g) Lewis Sforza being perswaded that it was time "to make away with Duke John Galeazzo his Ne—"phew, caus'd, say they, one of those lingering "Doses of Poyson to be given him which produce "Symptoms of a Consumption and washing in the
"Redy to make a report that was forced about the Symptoms of a Confumption and wasting in the Body, to make a report that was spread about the (g) Ibid same time more probable, that the Prince's Ill- p 253. ness proceeded from his being over incited by the Beauty of his Wife The Physicians had despair'd of his Recovery, when the King passing by Pavis where he lay sick, could not dispence with paying him a Visit His Majesty did not speak to him of any business, because Lewis Sforzs had earnestly desired to be present at the Interview, which they durst not resulte him He only express his forrow to see his (2) They He only express his forrow to see his (2) They Cousin Germain (2) in so weak a Condition, were Two and endeavour'd to slatter him with some Hopes Sons of Two of Recovery, but John Galeazzo, who found Sifters, himself a dying, and did not doubt but 'twas Princesses owing to the Wickedness of his Uncle, laid hold of Savoy of this Conjuncture He had not a Thought for himself, but calling to Mind his Son and Daughter he recommended 'em to the King with a floud of Tears, which plainly imported, that is his Majesty did not take a particular care of 'em his Majesty did not take a particular care of 'em his Majesty did not take a particular care of 'em he foresaw they would be posson'd as well as himself. To conclude the Tragedy, the Dutchess his Wife cast her self at the King's Feet, as the stalian Authors say, more to be credited in this than Philip de Commines, who will have it to be at the Feet of Lewis Sforza. She was too high spirited to act such a part; and could she have conquer'd her Mind, she was but too well convinc'd that her Submissions would be all in that positions. She did not mention her Children, because she supposed her Husband's Tears would be effectual in that point. She reserv'd her's for her Father, and the King made her no other Answer than that the Expedition of Naples was too far advanc'd to be left unfinish'd (D) John Galleazzo died of over-careffing his Wife] Guices ardin affirms this was reported, but gives it as the general Opinion of Italy, that that (a) Guic Prince dy'd of the Poyson Lewis Sforza had given 1 i p him (a) Fu publicato da molti la morte di Giouan Ga- ad ann him (a) Fu publicato da molti la morte al Crouan Gra- au ann leazzo essere proceduta da costo immoderato, non dimeno 8494 si credette universalmente per tutta Italia, che e' fusse (b) Jovian morto non per infermita naturale ne per incontinentia, ma Pontan de di veleno e Teodoro da Pavia uno de' Medici Regii, il prudentia quale era presente quando Carlo lo visito, affermo haver- 1 4 init ne veduto segni manifestissimi. Ne su alcuno, che dubi- (c) Corio, tasse che se era stato veleno, non gli susse stato per histore del con la constanta del con segni manifestissimi. opera del zio fovian Pontanius affirms that People Mediolan ipake publickly of that abominable Crime of Lewis part 7 Sforza (b) Ludovicum Sforciam qui pubescentem pri-mo, dein adolescentem jam atatem Joannis Galcatis fra tru filis Mediolanensis Ducus procuratione hactenus grahist Vetrocinio tutatus est suo, veneno illum e medio sustellisse cives, advena, peregrini passim atque impune omnes pradicant — Fora, porticus, platea, circulique institutorum cujusque generis hominum nesandi criminus accusario entre entre de la constanta cusationibus _____ imprecationibus etiam maxime diris plena undique circumsonant A crowd of Histo-

Etual in that point She reserv'd her's for her Farians run this way, as (c) Bernardin Corio, Peter (d) pag 20 Bernbo, (e) Vianoli, &cc

(E) In the space of a few Years she lost her Grandfaus Elog ther and Hurband | Paulus Jovius describes this (f) 1 5 p m long series of Missorthues very eloquently, but R r does

tird ror illuftrium

part 7
(d) Petr Bembus,

Heart relent She Says she had made ber self a Slaveonly dut of O- " beatence to t'er, and tricatned to dispatch " br fif with r onn hande. uilifs thy let her gallk) A Lib.)

† A Barı, See the laft Remark Jovius ibid. † Secum muliebri habitu circumduxit juvenem quo cum congrediquotidie, quandoquidem ca pro cubicularia utebatur That's to Say, She carried a young Felwith her in Maids Clouths, and every day commanded him to lye with her, for she keps him as a Chambermaid Munster

Colmogr

* Gotfrid Chron

lib 3

tir'd into a † Town in the Kingdom of Naples that had been assign down for her Dowry, where she liv'd in such a manner as shewed that the Adversity of Fortune had not sunk that Air of Royal Grandeur in which she had been Educated. She had of a Dropsey, but had time enough to take a Journey of Devotion to Rome in the Fontisicat of Let the Xth. She walk'd on foot to the Vasican, followed by a great number of Ladies dress'd like Brides The whole Town ran to see this Sight *. It were to be wish'd for her Memory's sake that we could make an end ofher Article here without mentioning an her Memory's fake that we could make an end ofher Article here, without mentioning an after-Game much to her disadvantage; but we are not Masters in the case Her very Panegyrists have made use of the Conclusion which we are about to make. This Lady who in the Bloom of her Youth had made her Virtue be gloriously spoken of, gave (F) a handle to Slanderers when she was in the decline, and suffer'd the Galantries of Pro-Sper Colonna with very little regard to her Reputation Her Daughter Queen Dowager of Poland having retir'd to the same place in the Kingdom of Naples, follow'd this (G) Example of her Mother in the same Scene So true is it that Love is the ordinary and almost unavoidable Shelve of the Honour and Merit of Women who have liv'd much in the grand monde. Soon or late they are shipwreck'd on this point. Series ocime fors

ARAGON (Mary of) Wife of the Emperor Otho the III and Daughter of a King of Aragon, came to great Shame by her Lasciviousness, which brought her at last to the Punishment of Fire She had had the slight to procure a young Fellow for her Chambermaid whom she lov'd, and caus'd to be † disguis'd in Maids Apparel 'Twert needless enquiring whether she used any Moderation, her Temper and perpetual Opportunities give us sufficiently to understand that her pretended Chamber-Woman wanted no Exercise, and that she always made one in all the Progresses the Court rook. The Emperor having discover'd this wicked Cheat, was resolved the Empress should bear her full share of the Shame, and for that purpose caus'd the Young Man to be stripp'd in the Presence of a great many Witnesses, and upon the slagrant Discovery of his Sex condemn'd him to be burnt. He was gracious enough not to punish his Wife, and hoped she would behave her self better for the future, but he was mistaken fell desperately in Love with a Young Count near Modena, and soon declar'd her Passion to him, for she was in a much properer Station to sollicite than be sollicited in Affairs of this kind. The Count, as Chaste as he was Beautiful, resisted all the Advances, or to fay better, all the violent Attacks made upon him, but if in this he imitated Fofepb, he had not his good Fortune, to come off only with an Imprisonment The Empress complain'd to her Husband that the Count had made Love to her, and hoped such Audaciousness should not go unpunish'd The credulous Otho order'd the accused to be But mark how the Female Accuser was caught in her turn The Count Beheaded seeing himself condemn'd, and hoping for no Favour, and yet unwilling to reveal the whole Mystery, had made his Wife promise she would justify him the best she possibly could with the Emperor She kept her Word, preserv'd her Husband's Head, and took her time when the Emperor administred Justice in a General Assembly, held in the middle of a great Plain near Placentia She took, I say, the time to demand Justice against the Murtherer of her Husband The Emperor not knowing who she was, promis'd to do her Justice according to the Rigor of the Law Whereupon the Countess shewed him her Husband's Head, and offer'd to prove his Innocency by the siery Tryal Her offer was accepted, a red hot Iron was call d for, she took and held it in her hands as long as they placed without hands as long as they placed without hands as long as they placed without hands hands as long as they placed the Emperor hands as long as long as they placed the Emperor hands as long as they placed the Emperor hands as long a hands as long as they pleased without being burnt; then boldly demanded the Emperor's Head, as being convicted of the Murther of her Husband. At last she was satisfied This hapwith the Punishment of the Empress, whom Otho condemn'd to be burnt pen'd towards the end of the 10th Century parte 17 Alb Krantz (ulpinian in Othone III Maimb decad de 1 Fmp

Sigon

apud

118

ARAMONT (Gabriel) Ambassador of France to Constantinople in the Reign of Henry II. was a Gentleman of Gascony, who acquitted himself worthily of his The Constable de Montmorency examining the Overture which Pope Paul III Employ had made, that the only means to recover Placentia out of the Emperor's hands was to make the Turkssh Fleet appear upon the Coasts of Naples and Sicily, advised the King does not always observe Order, he puts the Hus-band before the Grandfather As to the Son of our Princess, he says that the French took him away from his Mother and carried him into France to make a Monk of him, and that he died of a fall from a Horse In venatione currentis equi laplu in Heduu exammatus effe nunciaretur Hunc enim vel invita de-poscontibus Gallis tradiderat, à quibus cucullati sacerdotis babitu in epulenti sacerdetii canebium idcirco conje-Eus fuerat, ne Sforziani Regni legisima prelis bares su-peresses Bernardin Corso gives us a very moving Description of the Sorrows of this Princess, when all at once she saw her Husband carried to his Grave, her Son excluded from the Dutchy of Milan, and the Wife of Lewis Sforza on the Throne Li, suo: fautor: cridando duca, visito (Ludovico) il ecomplo di Divo Ambrofo, e le campane in segno do letitia fece sonare, il morte corpo di Giovanne Galenzo anchora essendo nel Dono Commo de Giovanne Galenzo anchora essendo nel Domo scoperto, e quasi universalamente da tutti pianto e condoluto il miserando e pietoso coso Isabel-la sua mugliere a Pavia con li poveri figlioletti vostiti de lugubre vistimenti, come pregionera si resinse entre una camera e gran tempo stette giacendo sopra la dura serra che non vide aere Doverebbe pensare ogni lasore lacere caso de la sconsolata Ducissa, e se più duro il cuore havas se che diamante, piangerebbe a considerare qual declia de vea estre quella de la siagurata e infelice mugicio, a uno punto vedere la morte del giovenetto e bellissimo con sorte, la perdita de sutto lo imperio suo, e li figliolessi canto orbati de ogni bene, il patre e fratello con la caf fua expulsi dal Neapolitano Reame, e Ludovico Sforz con Beatrice sua mugliere nel modo dimostrato havergli oc cupata la fignoria

(F) Gave a handle to Slanderers when she was in the de-cline] Paulus Jevius informs us of this in the Elogy he made on that Princels (y) Gaterum in hac eximia virtutis famina improba plebis rumor non mediocriter pudoris decui perstrinici, ob id gravior quod cum florente atate impenetrabilem pudicitiam pratulisset, in ipso demuin atatis stenu prospei um Columnam sibi cultum, & officium assidue tribuentem. Labaque procacem ad officium assidue tribuentem, sapeque procacem ad ur-

baniores jecos admisteres (G) Follow'd the Example of her Mother in the same Scene | Thuanus fays much more ill of the Daugh(g)Jovius, 1b p 424

his Master to Negociate with Soliman about it. Aramont was chosen for that Business He was neither less dextrous, nor less experienc'd than la Foret, Rincon and Paulin, who ad preceded him in that Embassy. He made Friends at the Port, who procur'd him ee Access, and private Audiences; and he knew so well how to turn and wind Matirs, that he reconciled Soliman, who had been somewhat prejudic'd against the French 'he only question now was, how his Highness's Fleet should act: Whereupon Aramont sturn'd speedily to France, to consult with his Master how the Grand Signior's Assistance light be apply'd most usefully The King and the Constable inform'd him, that they had ntelligence in the Isle of Corsica, and that it might easily be taken, if the Turks Fleet nd that of France should both attack it together He set out again for Constantinople, o communicate this Project to the Grand Signior But landing at Maltha, was instanty requested by the * Great Master to go to the Turkssh Generals, who had besieged repole in Barbary, and employ his Credit, and the Authority of Henry the Second, to blige 'em to raise the Siege He yielded to their Intreaties, † and got to the Turkish * This was Lamp by that time their Batteries were ready to play He had several Conferences as Spaniar and call'd vith Sinan Bassa, and Dragut, in which he remonstrated to 'em, that they engaged in Omeda n Undertaking altogether opposite to the Treaty that Soliman was going to conclude with France, seeing his Highness had agreed to attack the Emperor only, and that Tri- † See the vali belonged to the Order of Maltha Answer was made him, That the Knights of Judgment Maltha were perjur'd, who notwithstanding the Oath they had taken to Soliman when one one fort hey were treated with so much Civility at their Departure out of Rhodes, committed passes spon ontinual Hostilities against the Turks Adding withal, that they had Orders to chase this Combern from Assessment and that they had Orders to chase this Combern from Assessment and that they had Orders to chase this Combern from Assessment and the could not be c hem from Africa, and that they could not suspend the Execution of that Order dust in his inknown to the Bassa, he could not obtain Leave to continue his Voyage, till after m 110 Varillas the taking of Tripoli He sav'd the I wes and Liberties of the French that were in the Histoire Place, nor did he decline coming to a Feast to which Sinan and Dragut invited him after de Henri their Conquest Charles the Fifth was too politick to pass over this Event, he took II live 2 occasion from it to publish, that France had contributed to the taking of Tripoli Henry p m 198 the Second (A) did what he could to answer this Complaint*. I have not had time to annussi trace the Negotiations and Adventures of Aramout farther I know his Dispatches See also were sometimes intercepted, and that the Emperor made use of 'em to reproach the Mr de Freych (B) with their strict Correspondence at the Port The Relation of his Embassy Thou! 7 n Manuscript in the Library of Mr de Lamoignon 4.

A R B R I S S E L (Robert) Founder of the Order of Fonteuraud Look for las ib p is in Manuscript in the Library of Mr de Lamoignon +.

Lcar!

Fontevraud

(b) Mr Varillas in

she Life of

is Sforza

constrain'd to quit the

Dutchy of

House of

Arragon en the Throne of Naples (n) Thu-anahist 1 16 ad ann mont. (b) Thuan lib 7 Sub fin

Milan,

finding bimself

Lewis

ARCE-

P 47 Jays may sudge of this by comparing the Passages XIII 1 1 ter, than Paulus Jovins of the Mother, every one dem tempore Bona Sfortia Sigismundi Augusti Polonia regis parens — filis pertast, Sarmatia relicta in Italiam venit, Donorisce Venetiis excepta est unde paratem triremem conscendent unde paratem triremem conscendens in Apuliam ad Barium navigavit, cujui urbu possessio gentilitio Arragonia gentu jure dotalo (h) & hareditarium ilii erat Ibi so-luto & dissente a priore vita ratione postea vixit consuesudine cujusdem Papacauda non fatis honeste usa, cui & Milan, Justudine cujul dem Papacauda non jatis honeste uja, cui. Or made over ommis bona testamento prateritis liberis reliquit, Or fato the mass bonis decostu haud muleo post in summa egestate of the Islamia decessis (1) This is what Thuanus says of the Dutchy having made Bankrupt of her Estate and Reputation, she died in Poverty and Insamy What can you and to the Estate.

af Bari and on, the died in room, the Princial add to this Elogy pairty of (A) Henry II did what he could to answer this comRossano, plaint I the Great Master of Malta accused our which had Arament of having induced the Governor of Tripoli to Capitulate Thumans refuting this Accusation, bim in Re- telle us that the Constable of Montmorancy who was in all the Power at that time, had charg'd that Amfor having re-effablish'd the House of

Affection which he the Constable had for the Intetheuse of Affection which he the Order

This Historian adds, that he had feen Letters wherein the Constable expresses a great concern for the taking of Tripeli, and that his Letters ought not to be suspected of any Dissimulation, seeing they were writ to a (a) Perion to whom the Constable spoke his Thoughts very freely But when Henry the IId knew that the Emperor's Partisans accused the Am-bassador of France of having contributed to that Conquest of the Ostomans, he dispatch'd a Gentlem 326 man to the Great Master to complain of the Reports (a) A Bris. that were spread abroad, and to enquire of him how fac who Aramont had behav'd himself in that Business He commanded declar'd that if he found him guilty of any Fault in Pieds he would cause him to be punish d according to the Exigence of the Case, but he wished that is his Ambassador was Innocent the Great Master would give a publick Testimony of it The Grand Master's Answer fully justified Gabriel Arament (b) Que in negotio nullum officium pratermisset ut Ordini ea in re nostro gratificaretur, hoc enim a V M enixe ac religiofe sibi injunctum Praterea ut quorum culpa ea clades accepta effet certo cuntis constaret undique probationes collegimus, O'inquistione diligent: super ea re habita nihil comperimus quo Aramontium cladi causam dedisse, aut de-ditionis auttorem suisse credi debeat Quinimo ex equi- (c) Eas I:-- didicimus eum non folum omni tibus captivis culpa vacare, sed multis benefactis totum ordinem sibi postea rex devising, ac proinde son refte nec secundum rationem per oratificam existimamus ut is rumor sparsus sit. The King res suos of France did not fail to publish this Answer (c) in passim all the Courts of Europe, to shew that his Enemies spread publicari, Reports right or wrong without any Foundation, justic, qua on purpose to make him odious. This might indeed publication persuade some that the Partisans of Charles the Vth, ne comperiuade iome that the Partiians of Charles the Vth, ne com-were deceived in that Matter, but the Enemies of preffisCæ-France excused 'em easily When a Thing suits our fariano-Inclinations, we imagine its allow'd to interpret rum que-it in a certain Sense according to the Suppositions relis ac once built on very probable Reasons This is with-out doubt an inexhaustible Spring of false Judg-ments, but provided it's useful, we are not much gata in troubled about it Gallici

(B) Their striff Correspondence with the Port] In a nominis Letter which Charles the Vth writ in the Year 1652, invidian to the Princes and States of the Empire, he won-fama pari-ders that the Ambassador of France shou'd go about ter con ders that the Ambailador of France ihou'd go about ter con to justify his Master as to the Engagements with 's- quievit liman. Have not I, says he, the Memoirs of Ara- Id ib mone drawn up inConstantinople, which shew the truth (a) Idem of an Alliance negociated between the Port and Thuan I France against a Christian Prince? Jam (a) quod de 10 pag communicatis cum Turco consistis obster perfringit, quast m 213 abunde purgatum existimet, qua frante excusare porest? (b) Varill atque penas me habea Aramontis Gallici legati commenta- Hist de atque penas me habes Aramonti: Gallici legati commenta. Hist de rios Byzantii scriptos, & adregem per Costam centurio- Henri II nem quemdam misso qui secretais cum Turcis in Christia. 1 2 pag ni nominis principem inita plenam sidem faciunt. Mr. 202 nem quemdam missos qui societatis cum Turcis in Christia-ni nominis principem inita plenam fidem faciunt. Mr. Varillas (b) observes, that the Pope and the Emperor had agreed to accuse the King of I tance in full Council, of an Intelligence with the Infidels, and to produce there-upon Mr. Aramonts intercepted Letters, to which a wrong Sense might easily be given, because the true was Rr. 2

teras

Taken from Dios genes Laertius lib 4 11 28 29 † Id 1b n 32 † Id 1b

ARCESILAUS, one of the most renowned Philosophers of Antiquity, was born at (A)Pstane in £olia. He was a Disciple of the Mathematician Autolycus, his Country-man, and follow'd him to Sardis Afterwards he came to Athens, where he was a Disciple of Xanthus, (B) after that of Theophrassus, and lastly of Crantor * He total t † Geometry, under Hipponieus He had some Inclination to Poetry, and are great delight in (a) this reading (C) Homer, but his Passion for Philosophy was superior and all others He succeeded & Crates (D) in the Regency of the Platonick School, and innovated in it,

(c) Juven Sat 6 V 243 (d) Diog Lacrt 14 n 28 (c) Pompon Mela p in 20 CTIONS on Allianwho concerted Matters fo ill, that one's moved in fidels of those Fire, or Laughter, who reads the History of those Fines, Truth and Sincerity wou'd be very useless Qualities on this occasion. They'd hinder our Reproaching an Linemy with his Alliances with HereticksorInfidels, when we should find our selves ready to enter into the like, if Reasons of State required Αρχασιλά- What would become of those who can make Pathe-TELVIS BEIV Pitane urbs Ato> casions, but when they are guilty themselves > (A) Was born at Pitane in Æolia] Diegenes L (A) Was born at Pitane in Æolia | Diagenes Latrius (d) is not the only Man that affirms it Read these Words of Pomponius Mela, in the Chapter where he describes the Country of the Æolians (e) Cascus inter Likam decurit, & Pitanem illam qua Arcessiam tulis, nihil affirmantis Academia clarissimum Antistisem See also Strabo (f), but give no Lar to Solinus (g), who makes Pitane a Town in Laconia, the Birthplace of that Philosopher Salmasius (h) and Mr Menage (i) resute him I cannot tell whether it is place of that Philosopher Salmasius (b) and Mr Menage (i) refute him I cannot tell whether it is by the Inadvertency of the Author, or by that of the Correctors, that Arcesiaus Pritaneus is found in Mi (k) Gassens, it ought to have been Pitaneus (B) A Disciple of Theophrastus —— and lastly of Crantor I I wonder Diogenes Laertius, after having clearly infinuated in divers Places, that Arcesiaus was a Disciple of Polemon, does not express say in the Life of Arcesiaus See here the Places where he says it Arcesiaus having left Theophrastus's School In the Life of Arcefilaus See here the Places where he lays it Arcefilaus having left Theophraftus's School to follow Polemon, and Croster, declared they were Gods, or the Remains of the Golden Age (1) "I v 3 si v, Agresidais metal declared they were guttes dayen, we see the trives in dea far and gods yours Hine of Arcefilaum cum ad eos a Theophrafto diverteret, dixisfe ferunt, Illos Deos esse quospam, aut auresieculi reliquias He observes a little lower, that Grantor and Arcefilaus lodged together, and that Polemon and Croster who had but past of a House Polemon and Grates who had but past of a House with a Citizen, whose Name was I ysieles, went and supp d very often with Grantor, and that Grates was fupp d very often with Crantor, and that Crates was the Darling of Polemon, as Arciflaus was the Darling of Crantor. The Franflator of Diogenes Laertiss has confounded all this for he supposes that Polemon was the Darling of Crates, and that Crantor was the Darling of Arcefilaus. Let us see the Greek (m) His 3 egomy, heavis phy, we ce eigh?, Holemonwo 'Aprendace' heavis phy, we ce eigh?, Holemonis quidem Crates, crantoris autem Archilas. The Lacons quidem Crates, Crantoris autem Archilas. The Lacons autem Archilas. r n I ranilation, which no Commentator censures, has put amater, where he ought to have put amasus. There has been no notice taken of the passive Signification of aparagram. Neither has any notice been taken of the Contradiction that follows a little after, for as the Greek orders it, Arcesilaus has been recredented under the Notion of the Pathick (n) Aparental School to air (Kegutopa) ousu Sivat More work, raire, east Arcesilaus volens ab illo (Crantore) le Pulemoni commendare quanquam amatere

In Let's banish far from hence all the impure and abominable Ideas which that Author and divers others seem willing to suggest in the like Case When sanus factively speak of a Philosopher and his Disciples, they almost always observe, that he was the Beloved of such, or such a one. I confess on some Occasions it may be understood in a wicked bense, but an hundred other Occasions I believed bense, but an hundred other Occasions I believed bense, but an hundred other Occasions I believed bense, but an element con derstood only of a good and believed bense, but an hundred other Occasions I believed bense, but an hundred other Occasions I believed but to be understood only of a good and believed bense, but an hundred other Occasions I believed by the Term scales of the was one that was the Beloved, and his Master's Favourite. He who had so his successor, or Genius, &c was design'd for his successor. Ought this to be design'd by the Term scales of But to return to the Fast. The last Passage which I quoted of Diogenes Lisertius informs us, that Arcessaur requested Crantor to recommend him to Polemon. The Historian adds, that Oratore Crantor who was sick, did not take it ill, but on the contrary, as soon as he was recover'd, (o) went also himself to Polemon's Lectures. This is a Proof that Arcessaur was one of that Philosopher's Audientus also himself to Polemon's Lectures. This is a Proof that Arcessaur was one of that Philosopher's Audientus as a proof that Arcessaur was one of th is pro sua in amatorem observantia Academicum se voca- forma & ri adhuc passis est Ita qui Pyrrhonicus, excepto nomine commoda totus erat, idem Academicus prater nomen habebat nihil adhuc æ-Numenius had but just before said, that Arcesslaus a tate cum fine Youth, having made himself beloved by Gran- effet. for, had constantly stuck to him (b), he adds, that Cranto-Monedemus's Lectures made him a more zealous Dit- rem Acaputant, for which he quotes Timon (c) Thus we demicum tee several Omissions in the List, which Di genet La-amatorem ertius has left us of Arcesilaus s Masters I have sup- nactus, ply'd that Defect

for

(C) And took great Delight in reading Homer] He just conspicated him before all other Authors Livery Even- usus est preter'd him before all other Authors Lvery Evenuius est ing he read something in him before he went to ille quisleep, and when he arole in the Morning he said, I dem Id am going to pay a Visit to my (d) Mistreis, meanibid ing that he was going to read that Poet 'Απεδίρα- (ε) Τόν το (ε) δε παν ων μάλο ον Ομαρον, ου κ) εις υπον των επιμετές παν των τα πανερίνωσκεν αλλα κ) δεδεου λεχων επίπεν εξώμειον απειναε, οπότ αν Ευθλοιτο αναχνασμές which he Amplestebatur Homerum maxime exomnibus, cujus all o cites, ατο studiosus eras, ut semper ante somnum, cijus aliquid lemore corgeret Mane quoque cum surgeret dicens, se ad amalo- reis than geret Mane quoque cum surgeret, dicens, se ad amass- rect than um ire, cum se velle legere innueret in Dio-

(D) He succeeded Crates in the Regency of the Plato- genes La-nick School] Several Authors place our Arcesslaus ertius, immediately after Polemon, without mentioning Cra- (d) Tallies See a Note of Aldobrandinus on a (f) Passage my self to of Diogenes Laertius, and there you il read that that she Style of Learned Commentator had no where found that our Times, Crates succeeded Polemon There you ll also find I have these Words of St Augustin, (g) Moritur Polemo, quitted the succeeded et Arcesias, Zenomis quidem condiscipulus sed literal sub Polemonis magisterio. To this Pallage may be Translati-

(e) DiogLaert ubisupra n 32 Life of Crates 1 4 n 22 (f) In the beginning of the 10ined

011

but naif explain d But what occasion was there for but naif explain d But what occasion was there for giving a wrong Senie, seeing Aramons undoubtedly negociated a Treaty between France and the Portagainst the House of Austria? Was not that alone sufficient to prove the Intelligence whereof they would accuse Henry the IId? The best way France could take, was not to contest about the Fast, but justify the Reasonableneis of it, by shewing that when Religion is not concern'd, it ought to be lawful to make such Alliances as one may. If Charles when Religion is not concern'd, it ought to be lawful to make fuch Alliances as one may If Charles the Vth had not always been supported by good Allies among Christian Princes, Papists, or not Papists, he would not have fluck at entring into Alliances with Insidels, and he d have improved 'em much better than France did He was much cunninger and more capable than Francis the First He d have employ'd the Jurkish Fleet better than the French, tical Speeches present plausible Memoirs, discuss an hundred fine Common-Places? All this must be thrown by, now this were a mighty Prejudice, there would be no blinding the People, no animating 'em to any purpose, a thousand exquisite Prai-fes, and pompuous Titles must be renounc'd (c) Accusat Manilia si rea non est Generally speaking People never fail to make Reproaches on these Oc-Pitane pa-

138 (1) Menag in Diog Lacrt p 176 (k) (saliend oper to 1 P 18 (1) Diog Laert in Cratete 1 4 P 240 n 12 tria fuit Arcefilat Strabolib

13 P 422 in fine

(g) Solin cap 7 p (b) Salmaf exercit Plin pag

(m) Id bidi

(u) Id in Crantore lib 4 n 14 for he founded a Seet which was called the Second Academy, to diffinguish it from that " Id ib of Plato He was called the Dogmatilts, he affirm'd nothing, he doubted all, † Id he discoursed for and against, and suspended his Judgment This I do said he, because † Id nothing is certain. He vigorously opposed all that (£) the other Sects affirm d, wherefore he was leaded upon in Matters of Philosophy as a Disturber of the Publick Peace Some maintain *, that upon finding no Evidence which could prevent his floating equally between the Affirmative and Negative, he would write no Books, but others affirm that he did write, and then differ about the Question, whether he publish'd any Some affirm it, and others say he condemn'd all he had compos'd to the Flames † Nevertheless it s observ'd, that he dedicated some Books ! to Lumenes Prince (7) Quis joined that of the 16th Letter Iidem (h) quippe Academici qui Platonici, qued docet auditorum ipfa successio, Arcesias enim que rimus occultata sententia sua nibil aliud isso quam reservata fastuit, quare cui successeret, Polemonem invunies.

Zenocrati autem distrato A ademiam Scholam suam reliquit Plato We mail not here trust to St Angustina. (h) Auguft epift 56 pag m 267 Eufeb Authority, for he has not strictly kept to Exactness Præpar and iceing he skips one Step between (1) Plate and Xenecrater, he may have done the like between Po-Brangel Page 236 Says famon and Arcesslaus I do not insist on his Silence as to Granter the (k) famous Academick, who seems to have been the immediate Successor of Polemon, and who died (1) before him, and before Crates It Said, that Arceli the Word Successor displeases you here, say that Cranter taught in Polemon's Life time. The same thing is ashrm'd of Crates, and from thence it comes laus succeeded Polemon to pals, that fometimes it is faid, that Cranter lucceeded Polemon, fometimes that Crates succeeded (1) Sperfippus Son him, iometimes that both of them were his Successors, but generally Crates is plac'd after Cranter (m) Again, I do not object the Omission of Cranton of a Sister of Plato, for to St Augnstin, I imagine it s wrong to reckon that Philosopher for Polemon's Successor He died before his Master, and I find that Lacydes the Successor School before Xcnocrates Succession of his Chair in his Life time Let us far then, that twas only Crates that succeeded Poleman, and reject this Period of I ather Rapin, of Crates and Crantor who came successively tobe Heads of Poleman, and transfer who came successively tobe Heads of Crates and Crantor who came successively tobe Heads of Heads of the Crates and Crantor who came successively tobe Heads of the Crates and Crantor who came successively tobe Heads of the Crantor who came successively tobe the Crantor who came successively to the Crantor who came successively the Crantor who came successive the Cra tor ille in nostra Academia vel in pri-Plato's School, aler d nothing in his Doffrine He would not have fo much mistaken, if he had nam'd mis fuit nobilis Cransor in the first Place, I say Cransor, who died before Crases A renowned Critick (p) in correcting a Passage of Nonius Marcellus (q) has supply'd us with an Authority that wonderfully favours the Cicer Tusc quest 13 260 A (1) Diog Text of this Remark According to that Correction we ought to believe, that Lucilius bed faid, Polemon & Laert ubi fupr n 27 amavis Cratem, & huic transmisst stam scholam quam dicunt. The Greek of Diogenes I servius is of the (m) See Gaffendi fame Sense (r) Κεστης — χ ακερατης αμα χ ερωμομ (β Πολεμων (β αλλα χ) διεδεξατο τ χελήν αυτό Crates auditor simul (s) amajius q, Polemonus, ilinjque schola successor I do not depend on these Words of ubi fupra, & Jonlius de Script histor phi-Ciccro, Speusippus autom & Lenocrates qui primi Plato-nis rationem autoritatemque susceperant, & post cos Polosoph p 52 or ra-sher D10lemo (Crates unaque Crantor , in Academia congregati diligenter eis que a superioribus acceperant, utebantur (t) genes I 1-I hey are not politive enough, nor so express as this Place of Diegenes Larrius (υ) Πλατών ο ταςχαιαι Αχιδημίαν συσκουρψώς ε Σποσππώ κε Ξενοertius (n) Diog Laert in κετην & Πολεμων, ε Κεων τωρ κ Κεστης, ε Αρκισίλα-(r, ο ; us την Αναθημίαν εισηγησάυψ Φ Plato qui veterem Academiam infistuit Platoni Speulippiu & λε-Lacyde I 60 (o) Rapin, nocrates es Polemon, Polemoni Crantor & Crates, cui Arcefilia qui mediam invivit Academiam Cafaubon quotes Galen (w) in his Note upon this Pallage, compar de Platon & de Awho says that the old Academy ended in Crantes, participal and that Arcelisaus the Disciple of Crantes founded m 365. The ensemble Academy That Commentator is (a) 1g(p) Petrus notation what the Grantes of Galen is, but it is easily Victorius perceived, either that the Copiers have put Grantes see the instead of Crates, or that Galen himself does not spell Notes of Arcellaus's Predecessors Name aright It appeals to the color of the commentation of the commentation of the color of Noses of daily that the most Learned Persons either add or di-Jolias Mercerus minish iome Letter of the Authors Name who they quote They design to name the same Person whom on None others alledge according to the true Orthography
I could give in hundred Framples of it, and wonder that Cafauban makes any Difficulties here Let der that Casauben makes any Difficulties here Let nius Marcellus voce taansmittere p m 414 cires the ~8 Book of Lucilius (r) Ding I aert ubi iupra n 21 (s) And wines Amator as the printed Translation i as the Fault which the Commentators den t correst (t) Cicero Academ (s) Cicero Academ

(v) Diog Laert in procemio

n 14 pag 10 (w) Cialen in hist philosophorum

(x) Ego quinam sit Crantes Galeni plane ignoro Cisaub

Diog Laert procem n 14 Commentators den t correst us not forget that he admires (y) Galen has made no mention of (ranter

(F) He vigorously apposed all that the other Selfs affirm'd] 'I'were wrong to pretend that he did not justly deserve the Name of an Innovator, but Dio- (z) He will be a like the other Selfs affirm'd justly deserve the Name of an Innovator, but Dio- (z) He will be a like the other Selfs affirm and the other Selfs aff genes Laertius is mistaken when he takes him for the (z) first who introduced the Custom of Disputing Pro and Con 'Twas the Spirit of Socrates, and Plate continu'd it We shall quote Cicero, who informs us, that Arcessaus's Method of Disputing against all that was proposed to him was the same with that that was propos'd to him, was the fame with that of Secretes, and that Arcefilaus was instructed in (as)

Pyrrhems m by Plate's Books, and by the Discouries which 'twas supposed Plate had made (bb) Arcefilate had made (bb) Arcefilate had made (bb) Arcefilate had made (bb) which 'twas supposed Place had made (bb) Arcestals primum, qui Polemonem audierat, ex variis Platonis libris, sermonibusque Socraticis hoc maxime arripuit, nibil esse certi, quod aut sensibus, aut animo percipi possit quem serunt eximio quodam usum lepore disendi, aspernatum esse omne animi, sensusque judicium, primumque instituisse (quamquam id fuit Socraticum maxime) non quid ipse sentiret ostendere, sed contra id quod quisque sensibilitate, disputare. He says in another Book, that Socrates's Method which had been in a mainer dissused, was brought up again by Arcessaus. Tis distused, was brought up again by Arcestlaus Tis in this, that the Innovation of the latter consists, and therefore the Expressions of Diogenes Laertius are not exact, for it's plain, that a Philosopher who makes Protession of opposing all this is aniwered to his Questions, uses the Method of maintaining the Pro and the Con Pray mind these Words (cc) Is (Socrates) percentante attention these words electer solubus commensations, as and eaguant responditions, quibus commensations as and eaguant responditions is animal nuderators. qua hi respondissent, si quid videretur, diceret Qui mos quum a posterioribus non effet retentus, Arcestlas sum revocavit, instituitque ut hi qui se audire vellint, non de sequarerent, sed ipsi dicerent, quid sentirent. Quod de sequererent, sed ipsi dicerent, quid sentirent Quod quum dixissent, ille contra, sed qui audiebant quond poterant, desendebant sententiam suam apud cateros autem philosophos qui quassivit aliquid tacet, quod quiden sam se team in Academia. If this Testimony does not seem express enough, what have you to say against this, wherein it's affirm'd, that the Academy of Arcessaue was no other than that of Place (dd) Hause cessiaus was no other than that of Plate (dd) Hanc Academiam novam appellant, qua miss vetus videtur Academiam novam appellant, que missi vetus videtur Siquidem Platonem ex illa vetere numeramus, cujus in of the Relibris nishil affirmatur, & in utramque partem multa disferuntur, de omnibus queritur, nishil certi dicitur I ellewhere quote (a) another Passage of no leis Carneades Force than this If any one requires a Scrap of Greek I can fit him I have read iomewhere that E-screek I can fit him I have read iomewhere that E-screek I can fit him I have read iomewhere the Color of the passage (b) could not see without I rouble the Color of the passage (c) could not see without I rouble the Color of the passage (d) could not see without I rouble the Color of the passage (d) could not see without I rouble the Color of the passage (d) could not see without I rouble the Color of the passage (d) could not see without I rouble the Color of the passage (d) could not see without I rouble the Color of the passage (d) could not see without I rouble the Color of the passage (d) could not see without I rouble the Color of the passage (d) could not see without I rouble the Color of the passage (d) color of the passage (d picurus (b) could not see without Trouble the Cioiy of Arcesisus the most renowned Philosopher of that time And that he upbraided him with having acquir'd a Reputation among the Ignorant, without drawing any thing from his own stock It's true, Arceptaus did not let up for Inventing He alcribd Arcefilaus did not let up for Inventing He alcrib d Aprenda to Socrates, Plato, Parmenides, and Heraclitus, the Hoth Thurston our of inventing the Epocha, and the Acatalepiss (c) Of Agresta of took to part of the malaris, with the Most of the fear a partial of the malaris, with the Most of the fear to the organism of the malaris, with the president of Heraclitus the Control of the training of the malarism of th Sane Arcestlant tantum abfuit ab omni novandi, aut ve-tera sibi arrogandi studio ut etiam vitio ei Sophista ejus atatis dederint, quod Sententias de cohibenda affenfione, & comprehensionis negatione, Socrati, Platoni, Parmenidi, Heraclito acceptas fire t nulla quidam necessicate, sed tantum eas viris nobilibus infer lendo confirmans ac commodans. Pray observe, that by the Contession of Diogenes Laertius himself, our Arcefilaus only made the Phionick Method more Contentious, this was all the Change he made in it (d) liparo τλιρον εκινήσε τ ωτίλαποι σας Αξεδομόρον, κ' επτίπος δι of vero non miretur omillum 1 Galeno (z) Tição-10+ 7 x 25 EXALTEF OF ETLY EIFI -P11or. mulque que ditaggressus est Diog Laert ubs out having any regard Son of Pyrhon (0b) C1. Oratore lib 3 fol 92 A. de haifus l 2 init fol 219 (dd) Id Academ quaft l 1 201 D cero de natura Deorum (b) Is 3 Apremaze γς 11 d 0 ξα ΘΈλυ-Makin 36 φιλοσορων a 3473-St 70. Arcelllas gloria via deretur Epicuro haud me diocrem

attulife

Academ.

quaft 12 fol 203

201 A

P 729 73 i (g) Nu-

(h) This does not a gree with the Remark G

ibid fol.

Lacrt ubi lupra n 34 (1) Numentus apud Luicbium Prep Lvangel 1 14 6 6

P 731 C (m) Cir cont A quæst 12

tol 207

modo ex-

led ne dixerat quidem post honesta & piente Id ibid

digna fa-

of Pergamus, and to no-body else We shall see how he has been opposed by a Fa-eparthoras n' amoneistas seistina reess Primus eratio-nis genus qued Plate tradiderat moute effectique per in-serasgationem & responsation contentiosis. It may ne-vertheless be faid, that he was the first Disturber of the Publick Peace among the Philosophers, for be-sides his Reviving an Vie that had been almost for-gotten, he pursued the Method of Socrates with more Ardor than had ever been done before, and shewed himself more easer, more obstinate, and more im-(e) Cicero himself more eager, more obtainate, and more impatient than the first Inventors. And for this Reason what I am going to set down was said of him (e) Nonne jam quum philosophorum disciplina gravissima constituissent, tum ut exertus est in optima republica. Tiberius Graccus, qui ocium perturbaret, sic Arcesilai, qui constitutam philosophiam everteret. & in estrum au-toritate dell'tesceret qui negavissent quicquam sciri, aut

(f) Id. 1b 1 1, fol People enquir'd into the Reason of Arcesilaur's Conduct, and 'twas generally ascrib'd to that ardent Emulation which grew up between him and his Fellow Disciple Zeno (f) Both had been Polenion's Scholars, and they strove (g) to out-so each other Now Zeno took part with the Dogmatis, he laid down Desintrons and Axioms, which Arcessad vigorously opposed, and to gain his Point did not stick at overthrowing the very Foundation of the Sciences, and reducing all Things to Uncertainty The Passage I am going to quote is a Proof of this, as also of the little (b) Success of his Undertaking, the supported by a winning Eloquence (1) Tuerint illa vetera si vulsu incognica nibil neess ergo assum quod investigatum est posteuguam Arcessas Zenone, at nius apud percipi poffe ? Lusebium ubi fupra what will be found in (1) Cicero rint tua vetera si vultu incognita nicil ne est ergo altum quod investigatum est postenquam Arcesilas Zenont, ni putani, obtrestani, nicil novi reperienti, sed omotidanti superiores immutationes verborum, dum hujtu desinitiones labesatire vult, conatu est clarissimia rebut tenebras olducere, cusiu primo non admossimia rebut tenebras olducere, cusiu primo non admossimia, tum admirabili quodam lebusa decand, pagarina e l'acres estanta pili quodam lebusa decand, pagarina e l'acres estanta 203 B (k) Diog quanquam floruit, tum acumine ingenii, tum admirabili quodam lepore dicendi, proxime a Lacyde fole retenta est. Others say, that the Fear of being overwhelm'd by the Objections of certain Persons who took a Pleasure in harrassing the Philosophers, obliged Arcessaus to affirm nothing. He placed the Epitha betore him as a Rampart, this was a Darkness, by the South of the South of the Followers of Theasure the Sophist Bion, and the Followers of Theodoret, perpetual Sticklers against Philosophers Numerica who observes, that Diocles the Guidan had adopted that Conjecture, rejects it, and in my Opinion not without Reason, for tho in not Deciding Pro or Con, one may be secure from a thousand intangling Difficulties, yet he's very much exposed by so do-ing, and if on one hand the Grave and Serious Ob-iuperio-ium non the ordinary and inevitable Rock of the Dogmatists, are less to be feared, a Person is much more expopreferat, fed on the other, to the Raillery and Infults of Banterers Now it is certain, that Bion, the greatest Banterer of his Time, was less terrible when he rersoned than when he turn'd Things to ridicule Generally speaking, that Post is very incommodious in which a Man is liable to be burlesqu'd Arcesslaur nihel opinari, nec folum posse, see the Words of Numenius (1) 'Ou 3 πείθομαι, τε κυιδικ Διοκλειτο πατι, νια σασκοντ σε τα τι ετισιασοριών τε κ βιων στο τος ελεγχει, αὐτον εξαλκαθηθένται, νια νετα sen τος ελεγχει, αὐτον εξαλκαθηθένται, νια μπο πραγμαν νετα sen τος ελεγχει, αὐτον εξαλκαθηθένται, να μπο πραγμαν νετα sen τος ελεγχει, αὐτον εξαλκαθηθένται, να μπο πραγμαν νετα sen τος ελεγχει, αὐτον εξαλκαθηθένται, να μπο πραγμαν νετα sen τος ελεγχεις συτό μελαν τας σπότας, περεαλκαθη πείν φανθυθμον ωστερ το μελαν τας σπότας, περεαλκαθη πείν φανθυθμον ωστερ το μελαν τας σπότας, περεαλκαθη πείν φανθυθμον ωστερ το μελαν τας σπότας, περεαλκαθη πείν πραγμαν Dieclem audio, qui in sus, ut eas inscripsit, Diatribis, Arcessam docet, Theodoreorum ac Bionus δορδιβα metu, qui Philosophus insessi, nullam non eos coarguendi eccasioque Philosophis infeste, nullam non cos coarguende occasionem arriperent, sta fibt, ne quid ab iss molestia pateretur, caviffe, ut nec certi quicquam flatueret, namut fepias effuso atramento, sic illum sese obietta hac assensonu retentione tegere ac tueri lerum ut hoc, dixi, minus credo Note, that one of Cicero's Interlocutors maintain'd, that Arcefilaus did not make use of the Lpocha to contradict Zeno, but with a Desire to find out the Truth (m) Arcefilam vere non obtrettandi tul's cum Zenone pugnavisse, sedverum invenire voluis-le sien eligitur. He says (n), that Arcesilaus was the siest who discover'd and approv'd the Proposition, It is possible that a Man may neither affirm nor deny any thing numericain Matters, and this it the Part of a wife Man He fays also, that that Philosopher ask'd Zeno, What will be the Consequence if a wife Man in discounnething clearly, and if he ought not to admit of any thing that is not clearly true? And that Zeno an-iwer'd, The Confequence will be, that he'll clearly comprehend some Things, and thus will admit of nothing obscure the was afterwards forc'd to give the Cha-racters of those Things which might be compre-hended clearly, those which Zeno gave were con-tested by Arcessam, who maintain'd against him that hality may appear in the same Guise as Truth, and that consequently Truth could not be discern'd from that confequently Truth could not be discern'd from that consequently Truth could not be discern'd from Falshood Zono granted, that there was no comprehending any thing if that which is not, could appear to us under the same Form as that which is, but he denied the Conformity of Ideas as to that which is, and that which is not Arcessaur (e) infissed on this Conformity And the Dispute between 'em turn'd upon this Point It has been said built in already in that Work of Cierro, that the Obscurity eas disputationes for y was what engaged Arcessaur to dispute with Zeno

I had faid that he carry'd the Hypothesis of Un-certainty farther than Socrates, and I had Reason to vessel and the Control of the Control o certainty farther than Socrates, and I had Realon to value a fay fo; for he would not fo much as confess with vero, us strates, that he knew his own Ignorance (I know non ejustates, that he knew his own Ignorance (I know non ejustates, that he knew his own Ignorance (I know non ejustates, that he knew his own Ignorance (I know non ejustates, that he knew his own Ignorance (I know non ejustates I know nothing) He hung in a general Sufpence as to all Matters, and disputed only to convince himself that the Affirmative Reasons were no possible to the convince himself that the Affirmative Reasons were no possible to the fall of the suffered on himself that the Affirmative Reasons were no possible to fall of the social of the suffered of am fenentias dies jam plerojque deduceres, ut quum im eadem re paria contrariis in partibus momenta rationum invenirentur, facilius ab utraque parte affertio suffineretur It was he taught the Acatalepsis, or the Incomprehensibility of Things more formally than was ever done before, and drove it to such an Extremity that Carneades, who was able to maintain it better than he, thought himself oblig'd to (r) find out some Limitation, but it is certain, that Arcessaus did only enlarge upon, and unfold what the greatest Masters had said before him. (s) Cum Zenone— (s) Id ib Arcessas sibis onne certain infiltuit———earum re- lib I fol. Arcesilas sibs omne certamen instituit—earum re-lib I folrum obscuritate, qua ad confessionem ignorationis ad-201 D. duxerant Socratem, & veluti amantes Socratem Domo-(t) Id ib.
critum, Anaxagoram, Empedoclem, omnes pene vete-lib 2 folres, qui nibil cognosci, nibil percipi, nibil scriposse dixe203. B. runt, angustos sensus, imbecistos animos, brevia curricula vita, & (ut Democritus) in profundo veritatem esse demersam, opinionibus & institutis omnia teneri, nihil teneri, nil veritati relinqui, deinceps omnia tenebris circumsus esse dixerunt It was (t) under the Authority of these great Names that he attack'd the Dogmatists He might have alledg'd several others earum re- lib I fol-Dogmatists He might have alledg'd several others as you may learn in (*) the Second Book of the Academical Questions Nevertheless, Numenus who is passionately transported against him, grounds his Quarrel on the (b) Revolt he imputes to him You'll find some Marks of his Indignation in the Description of that Philosopher's Inconstancy He says, he was a Man who denied and affirm'd the (a) Ros. same things, he cast himself blindfold to the Right 2071vosso and to the Left, he glory'd in being ignorant of (b). Nathe Differences between Good and Evil, he utter'd remains the first l'ancy that came into his Head, and all of apud Buas sudden overthrew it by a great Number of Argu- seb ubi ments that he had brought to establish it He was supra. a Hydra which devour'd it self The Original Testing (c) Id. are yet more expressive, and full (c) "Easy & ib cap s. antherate, & μετεκυλινδών το κάκιδων, κώντωνων, p 730 A εκχτονούν, οπό δεν πίχει, παλιιαχετο, & λίσκωνού, (d) Id. ib & παλίμοδολός τε άμα, & περακκυνδυνόμοφο, εδέν cap s. τε εἰδως, ως αυτὸς ἐφη, γενεῶιο ων (a) Κα- p 730 C. δίχαιρε πιδ δυνείδει, & ἡμεςεύνειο δαυμαςως, πιπτε τή αλλόν, μάτε αγαθόν, μάτε αγαθόν, κότε του, τύτο εππών, εδίλ όπό τιερν είς τὰ, λίχας πετεί, τύτο εππών, εδίλ όπό τιερν είς τὰ, λίχας πετεί, τύτο εππών, εδίλ και 'Ην εν δοραν τερνων ἐαυτον, & τερνομούν κατετκισίας 'Ην εν δοραν τερνων ἐαυτον, & τερνομούν εατετκισίας 'Αν εν δοραν τερνων ἐαυτον, & τερνομούν εατετκισίας 'Εν αντοκ επτων επισκινών εδίν τως τως που επισκινών επισκ in the Description of that Philosopher's Inconstancy Nort & acund, apaporer amount of the found of the series o ut doceret ther of the Laurch. As he was Master of a very persuasive Eloquence, which never wander'd too and from the main Subject, and had moreover a Talent at answering Objections subtily and happily, he drew a great Number (G) of Disciples to his Auditory, oft, conficerar, nihil emnine scients—— her ut probre jucundistime frueretur, coque se nomine mirum in modum circumspiciret, qued quid turpe quidve honestum, quid bonum quidve maium esfet, ignoraret sed potius, ubi quediprimum in mentem venerat esfutiisset, tum reponte mutatus, id ipsum plaribus quam ante sabilicat, everteret Se ipsum igiturille quasi Hydram secabat, & secabatur a se ipsu dim sic in utramque partem loqueretur, ut nec quid sibi vellet intelligerent, nec ullam ipse decori rationem baberet. On the whole, he acknowledged the Finger of God in the Ignorance of Man, for rations before: On the whole, he acknowledged the Finger of God in the Ignorance of Man, for (e) he was much pleas'd with a Verse of Hessod, where it's said, That the Gods keep Human Underderstanding behind the Vail

(F) How he has been popsed by a Father of the Church I I mean Lastanesus. He pretends to ruin all Philosophy, by maintaining with Secretary, that one cannot have by maintaining with Secretary, that one cannot have been pretended to ruin all Philosophy.

(e) ETHVE

2 8 1819 10 -Kebour μα, χρύ-ψαντες 38 Exum Seoi voor dir-Quere Quere laudaber illud Hefiodi, ig-naras hominum fuspendunt numentes Euseb 1b cap 4 p 726 D (f) Lactant divin instit 1 3 cap 4 p m 153 (g) Id 1b

pag 154 (b) Thyfius's mote on this ridiculous

Quife in-vicem conficiunt, says he, ficut Cleomecu apud tarcho Cou'd not

Lactant Speaks not of the Hi-

Storical,

Jown by Cadmus

cum inrelligeret

but the Mythologick times of those

I mean Lastantius He pretends to ruin all Philolophy, by maintaining with Socrates, that one cannot know ariy thing, and with Zeno, that nothing is to be believ'd but what one knows He fays, Si neg, sciri (f) quiequam potest, ut Socrates docuit, nec opinari oportet, ut Zeno, tota Philosophia sublata est He confirms his Pretension by the great Number of Sects into which Philosophy was divided Fach engrossed Truth and Wisdom to it self, and made Error and Folly the Portion of all the Rest Social ror and Folly the Portion of all the Rest So that whatsoever particular Soft one pleases to condemn, he has the Suffrages of all the other Philosophers for him who are not of that Soft One's sure then of a Majority in condemning em all, for each in particular approves his Judgment as to all the rest, and has nothing to oppose in bar against a general Sentence but the Testimony it gives it self, in which case it's a Judge in its own Cause, and consequently case it's a Judge in its own Cause, and consequently unworthy of Credit See how Lastantius destroys all the Sests of the Ancient Philosophy by each other. They iwallow up each other, not one of 'em is left alive, says he, and the Reason is, because they have indeed each a Sword, but no Buckler. They have Arms for an Offensive, but not for a Defensive War (g) Pereuntigitur universi boc modo, Gtanquam Spartiate illi (h) poetarum sic se invicem jugulant, ut nemo ex omnibus restet. Qued eo sic, quia gladium habent, scutum non habent. Si ergo singula setta multarum settarum judicio sultitia convincuntur, omnerigitur vanae, asque inaues requiriuntur. Ita scipsam philosophia consumit, Grandat He goes on, Arcestiaus observing this, and d himself against 'em all, and founded (1) a new Sect of Philosophy which consisted in not Philosophizing. From that Time there arose two Parties, one aspiring to per-Time there arose two Parties, one aspiring to perfect Scrence, the other destroying all Certainty The first falls to the Ground, if the Nature of Things cannot be known, the Latter is lost if it can Supdes & fo-Spartanos points their Pretentions equal still Philosophy must tall because its divided If, as I have taught, our miserable State does not admit of any Science, proteste Pluperly speaking, in Man, then Arcesilaus gains the Victory, but he can't maintain it, because it's impossible we should not know some things, we should he see that of Necessity perish if we did not knowwhat is useful or pernicious to Life (k) Si autem (ut docui) nu'la potest esse in homine interna, & propria scientia ob fra-gilizatem conditionia humana, Arcessa manus vicis Sed na sina quidem stabit, quia non potest omnino nihil sciri Santo mom multa, qua natura ipsa nos scire, & usus frequens, & vita necessitas cogit Itaque perendum est frequens, & vita necessitas cogit itaque personante institution, ut appetas, qua personante institution, ut appetas, qua personante institution ut fugias, & vites After this, Lastantius Teeth of a Dragon with a us several Particulars of Things which Men a Dragon without mocks at Arcesilaus, who could not despect the world without degrading realls leveral Particulars or I nings which Men and prince and mocks at Arcefilaus, who could not degrade the Rest of the World without degrading himself, seeing they might have reply'd to him, if you prove that we have no Knowledge, and that consequently we are no Philosophers, you are none neither, for you confessional you know nothing. So that he cuts his own I hroat with the same Dagger with which he selvers. (1) Quod Argelilas Academa stabs others (1) Lastantial does not blame him in all Things, he praises him for having discern d the Folly of those who believe that Conjectures about omnium inter se collegit, consessionemque ignorantiæ clarorum philosophorum, armavitque se adversus omnes Ita conflituit novam non philosophandi philosophiam Id 1b (k) Id 1b pag 159. (l) Quid ergo promovit Arcesilas nisi quod confectis omnibus philosophis seiptum quoque codem mucrone transsixit Id 1b. cap 5 pag 156

Truth are Science (m) Rette vidit Artesilas arro- (m) Id gantes vel potius sultos esse qui putent scientiam veri- ib cap 6 satis conjettura posse comprehends. But he does not pag 157 dwell long on his Praises, he proceeds immediately the Contradictions so often objected to the Pyrrhonifis, for this very Resson, that you know nothing, you know one thing (n) Arcessias ______introducts genus Philosophia a visuary quad latine instable, five inconstants possumus dicere. Us enim nihil join posse (n) Id ib sure inconstant possume dieere Ut enim nihil sciri posse (n) Id ib sciendum sit, aliquid scire necesse est, nam si omnino nihil scias, id ipsum nihil sciri posse tolletur Itaque qui velut sententie loco pronunciat nihil sciri, tanquam praceptum prositetur, & cognitum, ergo aliquid sciri potest. Huic simile est illud, quod in scholus proponi solet in assistati generus exemplum, somniasse quendam, ne somniis crederet. Si enim crediderit, tum sequitur, ut credendum non sit, si autem non crediderit, tum sequitur, ut credendum sit. Ita si nihil sciri potess, necesse est, id ipsum sciri, quod nihil sciatur. Si autem scitur, posse nihil sciri, falsum est ergo quod dicitur nihil sciri posse sic inducitur dogma sibi ipsi repugnans, seque dissolvens. Lastly, Lastantius consesses (o), that with relation to sci physicks there's no such thing as Science, and to faceret that it ought not so much as be looked for supentius. Let's now make some short Remarks on this Dispute. I The Argument he makes use of to overstrow all the Sects of Philosophy by each other, tione proves too much. An Atheist who should make facta diuse of it in the present state of Christianty to overthrow the Christian Religion, would argue ill, the Christian Sects murually condemn each other. I own pesses verthrow the Christian Religion, would argue ill, the sas ratio-Christian Sects mutually condemn each other I own nesque it, however if you should condemn any one of em duntaxat in all its Doctrinal Points, you wou'd not have the Sufferium cæ frages of all the Rest II Lastantius contradicts less less in milest wretchedly. He confesses, that if there is seen naturno Science among Men, Arcestlaus gets the Victory, raisum, and he pretends to have demonstrated that we are quia sum to find the rest and the pretends of the confesses with the seen and the pretends of the seen and th too frail to attain to Science Why then does he presently add, that Arcessau loses the Victory, because there are actually several Sciences among Men? III The Examples he gives are null, for in the Sense that the Word is taken in this Dispute, it's not Science to discern Good from Bad, nor has that fort of Knowledge been call'd in question by the Acasalepticks IV The Charge of Contradiction has less Solidity than false Lustre, it's rather a Subtrity than a convincing Reason, good Sense soon rendonce clears the Intricacy If I dream that I ought not possunt to believe Dreams, I am caught in the same kind of Id ibid Snare, for if I believe not in 'em, I do believe in pag 158 'em, and if I do believe in 'em, I do not believe in 'em Who fees not that in this case the particular Dream which advises me not to believe in Dreams, must which advices me not to believe in Dreams, must be excepted from all other Dreams See in Sexis Empiricus what the Scepticks answer'd to this Objection V Lastiantius's Concession as to Physicks was not at all proper to his Design An Advantage might be drawn from it against his own Cause (G) He drew a great Number of Disciples to his Auditory] The Attempt of running down all Science, and rejecting not only the Testimony of Sense, but that of Reason too, is the boldest that can be form'd in the Republick of Learning It's like those of the Alexanders, and other Conquerors, who would subdue all Nations; it requires much Wit, Eloquence, Reading (a), and a deep Meditation (a) Si besides; Arcessaur was as sit for such an undertaking as a Man could be Nature and Art had concur'd to qualify him compleatly He was naturally nas perci taking as a Man could be Nature and Art had concur'd to qualify him compleatly lie was naturally nas perciporal his Person and Presence were engaging, he spake with a good Grace, the Charms of his Countenance admirably seconded those of his Voice, and he learnt under good Masters all that was most proper to perfect his Natural Cifts, I mean to extend their facere his Power of Grace lifts and the second of Forces by the Combining of feveral different Powers You'll find the Particulars in Numenius; but quibus deliver'd in an odious Turn Numenius did not propositove Arcesilaus, yet could not forbear to say this turn est

quia funt abdirce quia nul-lus doceat oportere, quia inveniri quærendo non > nes? quod necesseest rienda causa, & contra omnes philosophos pro omnibus dicere rienda causa, & contra omnes philotophos pro omnibus dicete Cicero de nasura Decrum, lib 1 p m 14 (b) Τον περοκατον κειζείθουν φασίν ειπείν ως ευφυνης η demχει εηίω α΄ πεληλυ-πες τ διατειζής είπ νεανίσκος Ægre tulisse Theophrastum atunt illus recessum ac dixisse, quam ingeniosus promptusque adolescens è schola discessit Dieg Laert ubs supra n 30 See alson 37 [c) 11λην

* Id 1b n 37 2 Id 1b n 41 $ Id 1b + Id ib n 42 Id 1b adulat & amici p 55 C Diog Laert 1b 39 * Id 1b Id 1b † Diog although he was sharp in his Censures. In the main Men were persuaded of his Integrity, and he fill'd his Scholars with hopes, which supported 'em against his somewhat too severe Rebukes * Some affirm that he plaid the Sceptick (H) only to try his Scholars, and that after some Probation he taught them in another manner. He distributed his Money as freely as any Man in the World; and very (1) great things are said of his Liberality. He is accused y of Vanity, and of affecting Popularity too much. The other Philosophers & censur'd him with Pleasure, but did they equal him in Modesty n 42 and a Freedom from Jealoufy > Did they exhort their Disciples to hear other Profest Plut de fors > This he did + One of his Pupils having signified that he should think himself discrim be better plac'd in the School of a certain Peripatetick, he carried him to that Production fessor, and recommended him to his care. Another time he expell'd a Disciple his School for having affronted Cleanthes in a Verse of a Comedy, and never would receive him into Favour till the Person offended had received Satisfaction * The Merit of this Action will appear the greater when it's known that Cleanthes was the Successor of Zeno, who had been Arcefilaus's Adversary This Man was very free from the failing of most Plagiaries, for he declared above-board that he taught nothing but what he had found in Books It is likely he acted thus to give the greater Authority to his Opinions, and to allay the hatred which the Name of Innovator drew upon him. He did not care for concerning himself in Political Affairs Nevertheless when he n 38 He did not care for concerning minicin in Fondical Alians Nevertheless when he Plutarch was chosen to go to Demetriade to negotiate some Matters with King Antigonia in Fade conso- vour of his Countrey, he accepted the Deputation He return'd without Success, lat ad A- + probably because he never could Compliment that Prince, or go to Court, or write polloniconfolotary Letters to him after the Loss of a Sea Fight, as several others had done *. (f) Sextus to he had a great share in the Friendship of the Governor of the Pireum †, and received cus Pyrefeveral fine Presents from Lumenes Prince of Pergamus He had a very good Thought concerning Death, for he said * that of all human Evils this was the only one whose potypof Presence never incommoded any one, and which makes us uneasy only by its Absence His Doctrines tended to the overthrowing all the Precepts of Morality, and yet it's observed that he practised well The Testimony (K) given him by the Stoick Cleanthes, p 32 &c what he answered, and what was reply'd to him again, are all very curious He† never 1 3 p married, though he was of an Amorons Conflitution, and follow'd the Inclinations 154. and of the follow-

(d) Id ih

(c) Nume(c) 11λην τεις ακάνουν ης κετεν, διά τη ακροαστι οι τείπιας apud σω-συ ουτα θεωμέροις την ακανόμευθ κι βλετόμουθ θ

Fusebium
τος συν του το συν του πο συν το καλο καλο καλο καλο του λομοι tupra cap ο ρ ο τον τοις οιμμασι φιλοφερουντις τε κι τοματθ, κι ανό ditores, dum in loquente summam oris dignitatem usdetant Fut enim auditu simul aspectuque jucundissimus, adcoque libentissime hominis orationem excipiebant, praflant: ex vullu & ore manantem, nec absque nativa quadam survitate oculorum He said also that Arceslaus stunn'd the Stoicks by his various ways of conlaid stunn'd the stoicks by his various ways of contuting his Antagonists Let's repeat the whole Pasinge, it is very proper to shew the Dexterity of our Man, and the great Liteem he had acquir'd (d) Οι Στοικοί ή στηκοιο επτηληγμίνοι η μάσα γό ευτοις κ δι τότε ην φιλολόγ Θ, κδι ερχάπες χαείτων, υφ ών ο ΑρκεπλαΘ, ταὶ μόρ στικρεων τα η στοτεμνων, αλλα δι στοτκλιζων, ημπερίν λωπίζετο αυτός, κ) πθαιός ην Τοιγαράν στος κιν αυτολεγίν, ηπομέμων, εν είς η λεγων ήι, ημπερικληγμίων, δεδειγμίουν πως τοις το τε ανθρώποις στηριγή μουν, δεδειγμίουν πως τοις το τε ανθρώποις στηριγή μουν, δεδειγμίουν πως του το τε ανθρώποις στηριγή μουν, μοθέν ξίθ μητ' κν έπος, μητε το τος ανθρώποις στηριγή είνουν, μισθά χε πετν τέναντουν ορθήναι ποτ' αν, εί τι μη Αρκαπλάφ δοκεί τω Πιπαιαι. Αι que hac Stoici ευπ suppore audichant Erat rateste) Atque hac Stote eum flupore audiebant Erat enim adhuc infans eorum Mufa, nec illarum facetiarum artifen, quibus Arcefilas Zenonis argumenta partim explodens, partim succidens, partim supplantans, sic eos lingua vi obruchat, ut sidem etiam aliis saceret Ita, eum O ii quibuscum oratione pugnahat, victi acque programati, O ii quorum in corona dicebat, perculsi attonitique manerent quasi pro comperto erat e jusdem atatis homen programation and manerent quasi procomperto erat e jusdem atatis homen programation and minimum programation and minimum programations. gue mancrent quali pro comperto erat ejujum atatis hominibus, nee vocem, nec malum, nec opus ullum vel minimum, quicquam esse, nee inane frivolumque contra visum iri quicquam, nisi quod Arcesila Pitanao tale videretur. The preceeding Remarks might have sufficed to establish the Merit of Arcesilaus. Here's a new one. Somebody says in Cicero, that never any one (c) would have follow'd that Philosopher's Opinion of the manifest Absorbers of it had not ver nion, if the manifest Absurdity of it had not vanish'd under the Eloquence and Dexterity of the Teacher aperte que & perversa & falsa tequutus eftanta in Arcefila & copia rerum & dicendi vis fuillet Cicero, Acad

(e) Quis ifta tam

(H) That he only plaid the Sceptick to try his Scholars] Sextus Empiricus having faid that Arcefilaus did not feem to differ from the Pyrronifis, adds, that if certain Reports were to be credited, he was Pyrrhonift only in Appearance, who in the main followed the method of the Dogmatis The Questions he proposed to his Auditors to find whether they had genius enough to comprehend the Doctrine of Plate, made him be look'd on as Philosopher who effert a declarate the look'd plate. quest 1 2 losopher who aftirm d nothing, but he deliver'd Pla-201,206 D. 10's Doctrine in a Dogmatical way to those in whom he had discover d a found Understanding (f) hard to know whether this Relation be true

The Dissertions (c) of Mr. Freedom on the Philosophian in the Differtations (g) of Mr Feucher on the Philosophy of the Academicks, and the Annotations of Laert lib Thomas Aldobrandinus (h) to which I refer you

4 n 28

Institute of the Colorest Col bius, who was Sick and wanted Necessaries, he dexterously convey'd a Purse of Money under his c 10 p.
Pillow (k) Snees tells us this (l), Arcessas, ut m 25
ajunt, amico pauperi, & paupertatem suam dissimulants, (m) Plut agro autem, & ne hoc quidem confitents deesse sibs in Jumptum adnecessarios usus, cum clam succurrendum ju-dicasset, pulvino esus ignos antis sacculum subjects, at homo inutiliter verecundus, quod desiderabat, inveniret pe-tius quam acciperet (m) Plutarch relates the same (n) Diog Fact more at large, but supposes that the sick Per-son was not Ciestibius, he calls him Apelles of Chie fon was not Cessibius, he calls him Apelles of Chio n 38

Let's add that Arcesilaus having lent some Silver (a) MassPlate to a Friend who was to make a Feast, would never demand it afterwards Supposing that it was given and not lent Some say that considering the silves of his Friend he would not receive it and the silves of his Friend he would no

gain when it was return'd to him (n)

(K) The Testimony given him by Cleanthes] When vales, 70% once a Man affirms that there is nothing certain, 70% 2006 and that all is incomprehensible, he in effect deare with the comprehensible of the co clares that it is uncertain whether there's any such Quiesce, thing as Vice or Virtue Now such a Tenet seems inquit, very proper to inspire an indifference for Probity and for all the Duties of a civil Life And therefore Arcefilant's Adversaries tax'd him with having ille enim fore Arcefilaus's Adversaries tax'd him with having neglected all those Duties They pretended that he liv'd according to his Principles But Cleanthes, though of a Sect very opposite to that Philosopher, took his part Hold your Tongue, said he (a) to one of these Censurers, don't condemn Arcefilaus, tashen id point bushes'em by his Actions Arcefilaus answer'd, That he did not love to be flatter d, Is it Flattery, replied Cleanthes, to maintain that you say one thing, and do another (b)? There's Wit enough in this 1 7 n. Repartee. It's likely 'twas an Allusion to Homer's Verses (c) which import that Hypocrites and Dischard Is it is likely 'twas an Contrary to their (c) Howords ought to be detested like Hell In the mean mer Il. time Cleanthes inwardly prais'd the good Life of lib 9. time Cleanther inwardly prais'd the good Life of lib 9.

c 10 p. de discrim a-

Apol-

Pud Diog Laert 1b

Laert 16

of Nature (L) but too freely, and even to shameful Excesses. He slourssh d γ about the 120th Olympiad, and died in a Delirium, of having drank too much, at 75 Years of Age 5, in the 4th Year of the 134th Olympiad He boafted of his great Patience (M) in the Pains of the Gour Diogenes Laertius has not given him Bion for Succession Father Rapin (N) has imagin'd this without the least ground I have but one Fault to n 45 charge Mr. Morers with, to wit, his saying that Arcessaus studied under Xanthus, and of lid ib I have observed a(O) very gross Error in a Diag under Theophrastus, before he came to Athens

Sidonsus Apollinaris

ARCHELAUS. Diogenes Laertius & makes mention of Four Persons who bare n 61

Archelaus the Author of a Description places beginn this Name, to wit, " Archelaus the Philosopher, Archelaus the Author of a Description places the of all the Countries through which Alexander carried his Arms, Archelaus who described s the marvellous Properties of certain things in Veile, and Archelaus the Orator, Reign of who writ a Rhetorick Mr Menage 1 adds to these Four, Archelaus King of Cappado Lacydes cia, Archelaus King of Sparta, Archelaus General of Mithridates, Archelaus the Dancer, Successor to Accessor Archelaus the Musician, and Archelaus the Comedian He observes that Lucian menlaus in the tions the latter in his Treatise, de conscribenda Historia, That Atheneus (P) speaks in same year his is Book of him who play'd upon Instruments of Musick, and that Clemens Alexan- E Diog drinus mentions the Dancer in the 7th Book of the Stromata He has sorgot Archelaus Laert 1 * the Astrologer, and several other Archelaus's, of some of whom I shall speak in the chelso

following Articles

ARCHELAUS, a Greek Philosopher, Disciple of Anaxagoras, was, as some he who is say, of Athens, or as others will have it h, of Miletum What is very sure, is, the Suly of that he taught in Athens It's said too, that he was the first who (A) brought following Article

Philosophy

Article

Screek

Arcefilsus By the way there was a Theory in the Doctrine of the rigidest Pyrrhonists favourable to Virtue, for whatever the real Nature of things might be, they taught that as to Practice Men oug to carry themselves according to Appearances Be that how it will, the truePrinciple of ourManners is so far from being found in the speculative Judgments which we form of the Nature of things, that nothing is more common than Orthodox Christians who live all and free Thinkers who live strans who live ill, and free Thinkers who live well

(L) The Inclinations of Nature and even to shameful Excesses] The good Qualities mention'd in the Body of this Article, and in the preceeding Remark were united in his Person, with the most criminal Lewdness So true it is that Vice and Virtue know sometimes how to make an Alliance He went in fight of all the World(d) into the Houses of Theodota and Phileta, two common Wo-men The worst is that he was addicted to the Sin men The worst is that he was addicted to the Sin against Nature (ε) Φιλομειεράκιος τε νι κυ κυφερίς οθεν οι πει Αρίσωνα τ Χίον Στωικοί επειαλέν αυτον φθος εα την νεων, κ) κιναιδολόγον κ) θερεύν αποκαλέντες Adolescentibus stem maxime studebat, eratque in amorem pronus Unde illum Aristo Chius, Stoicus, corruptorem juvenum, difertumque impudicum, & temerarium appellabat

(M) Great Patience in the Pains of the Gont] Nothing's come up from those to this part, said he thing's come up from those to this part, said he to Carneades the Epicurean, afflicted to see him in so much torment, Nothing said he, shewing him his Feet and Breast (f) is quim arteret podagra doloribus, wisitasseque hominem Carneades Epicuri persamiliaris, Ortissis exirci, mane quaso, inquit, Carneades noster, nihil illinchus pervenit, ostendens pedes Or pettus. This was talking like a Stoick, tho Arcesilaus was the Antagonist of the Founder of that Section.

(N) Father Rapin has imagin'd this, without the least ground] These are his Words (g) "Cicero, who knew Plato's Successors very well, says no"thing of this Bion, whom Diogenes gives Arcessaus" for his Successor, and who made himself famous in fine fol "thing of this Bien, whom Diegener gives "for his Successor, and who made himself famous pin, com- "by the Vehemency of his Satyrs, according to Heliaton & "race" The only ground Father Rapin can have Platon & for what he says, is, that the Life of Bien immediately follows that of Arcessaur, in the Works of par ch par ch Diegenes Laertius That Reason's null, since the Author express says (gg) That Lacydes was the Successor of Arcessaur, and that Bien (h) being also (gg) Diog a Hearer of Crases, slighted the Opinions of the Academy, and afterwards embraced another side

(O) A very gross Fault in Sidonius Apollinaris]

(0) A very gross Fault in Sidonius Apollinaris] in Lacyde He pretends, that according to Arcesslaus, who preceded Secrates, God is the Efficient Cause of the Universe, and the Atoms the Material Cause of it

> Post (1) hos Arcesilas divina mente patratam Conjicit hanc molem, confectam partibus idis Quas atomos vocat ipse leves Socratica post hunt Setta micat, qua de natura pondere migrans Ad mores hominum limandes transfulit usum

Savaren (k) without taking notice of this Mistake in Remark C Chronology, is contented with observing, that eve- of the fol-ry body ascribes to Epicurus and Democritus, the Do-lowing Archrine which Sidonius Apollinaris attributes to Arcess-ticles laws. This Observation is wrong, for no one ever i Menag pretended that Democritus and Epicurus taught that in Diog the Universe was the Work of God.

(P) He observes _____ that Atheneus has spoken 2 n 17 ____ of him who play d on Instruments of Musick, v (10010 and that Clemens Alexandrinus mentions the Dancer] de divini Mr Menage understood the Rules of the just and lib learned manner of quoting, but he does not obscive 319 ( them in this place He had done better to have quoted fone Manuthe First Book of Atheneus about Archelaus the Din-scripes cer, than the Seventh of the Stromata of Clemens A- have it lex andrinus For besides that the Right of Schiority Archiadoes not belong to the latter, we find some Particulus lars in Athaneus, but none in the Stromata Aleneus & Diog (1) reports, that King Antischus had no I avourite Liert I whom he esteemed more than Archelaus the Duncer 2 n 16
This Author had observed in the same Page, that the Inhabitants of Miletum deditated a Brass Statue to (k) Sanaro Archelaus the Violin-Player, If I may be permit- in hunc ted thus to translate Ap xedar To ze Saees , Archelas locum Si

Citharifta (A) That he was the first who brought Philosophy to Athens] Several Criticks have observed on this Head the Opposition that is found between Dio genes Laertius and Clemens Alexandrinus The one attributes it to Archelaus, the other to Anaxagoras (m) "Outes ('Ap χελα Φ) πρω το οια τ' Ιωτιας τ' τιστική: Laert 1 φιλοποφιαν μυτηγαγαν Αθυνιζε Primus hic (Arche- a n 16 laus) ex Ionia physicam philosophiam Athenas investic (n) Clem
These are the Words of Diogenes Laertius, and here Alexandi These are the Words of Diogenes Laertius, and here Alexandi follow the Words of Clemens Alexandrinus, (n) Ou-Stromat 1 (Δναξαρρας) μετήγος: Δπο τ΄ Ιωνίας αθηναζα τ΄ 1 2 p, ot dialeiens His (Anaxagoras) ex Ionia scholam tra- (o) Diog durit Athenas No Perion, as I know of, has en-Lacrt ib deavoured to reconcile these two Opinions, or the n 7 Original of this diversity of Opinions To me it (a) What feems obvious enough, from what I am going to fay Diog
(o) Anaxagora: came a very young Philosopher to Lacit ib Athens, and liv'd there Thirty Years It is not imn 3 possible but that his Master (a) Anaximenes conti- systemnued to Philosophize in Ionia during part of that In coming the terval It may also be supposed, that Diegenes his o- time of the ther Disciple succeeded him Now if Thales & Chair Death of in Ionia was not vacant while Anaxagoras Philoso-Anaxine-phized at Athens, it is false that he transported Thannes, is reles's School to that City Such a Translation sup-diculous poses that the Succession said upon Anaxagoras's (b) Ca-Removals All that can be faid with Truth is, That faubon in before that Philosopher had made Lectures in A- hunc lobefore that Philosopher had made Lectures in A- hunc lostens, no Disciple of the Sect of Ionia had taught cumLaeramong the Athenians Perhaps Clemens Alexandric til censures nus, and the Authors he followed, meant no more, Diogenes but did not take the trouble of expressing them. Laert and selves more exactly Be that how it will, I think, declares for with Casaubon's (b) good leave, that Diogenes La r Clem Atius has spoke with more Exactness For you must lex Mr know, that Anaxagorus leaving Athens, retir'd to Menage 9 8

donn A-(1) Athen I 1 C 16 m) Diog oun; Laert 1

(d) Kai Stosbin TE 13 01λαιτη Hλιαιαις ATUIPALIS OUNWXEE 1 V E S 🛱 S φανέςως Theodotæ item ac Philetæ Elienebatur

fibus fcortis palam congredi-Id lib 4 n 40 (e) Id 1b (f) C1cero, de finib 1 5 in fine fol

(h) Id ib n 51 52 in Bionne (1) Sidon Apollin Carm 15 V 94 Pi

See the Remark B

(c) Tufch

præpar I ir cult

pag 504 (d) Id ib

Apollin

cum 15 v 89 (f) This compared de civit

Dei 1 8

genes is the Person

meantbire (g)Scalig in Fuseb n 1554 P

m 10,

rition temporis pir i 1 3 c 8 p m 140 Volfius de icien.

c 33 n 4 p m 148

(b) Diod

Sicul 1

p m 153 Lacit 12

n 19 (k) Su th

Article of

(1) Su the

Socrates by Mr Charpen-

Gellius 1 J4 C 20

Philosophy thither He made but little Alteration in the Doctrary of Anaxagoras*, he held with him, that the Similar Parts were the Material rinciple of all Things, and the Divine Wisdom the Cause of the Formatte of Bodies He He made but little Alteration in the Doctrino of Anaxa-

Lampsacus where he taught till his Death His Chur in I ampsacus (e) was fill'd by his Disciple Arcl class who came afterwards to (d) Philosophize at Arlins Arch laws then was properly the Person who transported the School of Thales from Ionia to At ins I his was a true Transportation But it could not be deem'd so before, fince perhaps this School had never been vacant during the time which past between Anaxagoras's Journey to Atheniand his Retirement to Lampsacus, or if it suffer'd any Interruption, 'twas speedily repair'd by that Philosopher's Return into some 'I were in vain to object, that there remains no Writer who has attent of the property was the successfor of Anaxagora with weat Cicero de firm d'that Diogenes was the Successor of Anaximenat Deor nes For I may answer i That we have nothing 1 i p m exact in the History of the Ancient Philosophers, and consequently, that Silence does not take away the Right of supposing what I do 2 That Anarie Right of supposing what 1 do 2 That Ana-vagoras having been more famous than Diogenes, and hiving had a Disciple who continued the Succession, having also, as is likely enough, survived Dioge-nes, the Succession of the Ionian Sect has been with of Diogenes of A- more reason continued in him than in the other It's pollonia, very probable that Sidonius Avollinaris affociates shows that their I wo Disciples of Anaximenes, as being Colthis Dio-leagues who were the Pillars of that School

> Quartus (e) Anaxagoras Thaletica dogmata scrvat Sed divinum animum sentit, qui secont orbem Junior huic junctus residet collega, sed idem Materiam cunctis creaturis (f) aera credens Judicat inde Deum, facer et quo cuncta, tulisse

Here are other Conjectures Here are other Conjectures Our Learnedest Citticks (g) take for the surest ground of Anaxagorus s Age, what Diogenes Laertius siys, that at the time of the 1 xpedition of Aerxes that Philosopher was 20 Years old I rom whence they claim a Right to infer, that steing he lived 72 Years, he died in the 38th Olympiad I shall not dispute this Point But I have Distinculties to rasse against what Laertius siys, that Anaxagoi as began his Journey to Athens at 20 Years of Age, and lived in that City 30 Years It stems very unlikely to me, that he should make choice of the time of Xerxes's Expedition for that Journey, when all the Districts did not doubt, but the Republick of Ath ns would be destroy det's however not insist on this, but pass on to Our Learnedest the Republick of All is would be delived of let's however not infilt on this, but pris on to firinger Influees. If Diogenes Laertius be right, it must tollow, that Anarago as lived in Athens only til the 2d Year of the 82d Olympiad, for Xerkes s Expedition happed towards the last Months of the 74th Olympiad, and the beginning of the 75th But does not Diodorus Siculus (h) assume, that that Philosopher was accused of Impiety at Athens in the 2d Year of the 87th Olympiad? He destroys then the Account of Diegenes Lacrius Yet not without perplexing the Matter on another hand, for what will become of the Story, that after the Condemnation of Anaxagoras, Sociates (1) became a Disciple of Archilaus? What will become of a I ast which others have vouch d, that Euripides (k) forfook the Study of Natural Philosophy, and apply'd himself to the Theater, because of the Process against Anaxagoras? Would Socrates, who was near 1 orty Years of Age, according to the Chronolaus of Designs of Age, according to the Chronology of Diodorus Siculus at the time of that Trial, hive needed to fludy under another Mafter? Observe also, that according to Porphyry (1) he enter'd himfelt with the Philosoper Archelaus about Seventeen Years of Age Did Enripides, who was above I ifty Years of Age at the time of the fame Trial, live fo long before he had made a I ragedy? No, he made one (m) at Seventeen To clear this Matter a little, and find tome Method to reconcile theie Accounts, we must return to Diegenes Laertius, and quit Diodorus Siculus, for supposing that Anaxageras was accused in the 8a Olympiad, we shall find what vas accused in the 8a Olympiad, we shall find what 'tis pretended this Frial produced as to Furipides and Socratis very possible. We may pe suppose, that that Poet having joined the Study of Natural Philosophy with the Composing of Tragedies, till he saw the Danger of Anaxagoras, apply'd himself afterwards to the Theater only. But what shall we do with Eusebius, who tells us that Archelaus succeeded Anaxagoras in Lampfacus before he became a Philotopher in Athens? This cannot be true, if Anaxagoras lived to the 88th Olympiad, a time when Socrates, a greater Master than Archelaus, had no need to put himielf under his Discipline Perhaps we ought to suppose, Ist, That Archelaus having studied some Years at Ashens under Anaxagoras, took the Profesors Place as soon as his Master retir'd from thence 2d, That some time after he went to him again to Lampfacus, and was his Successor there, and that afterwards returning from thence to Athens, he transplanted Thales's Chair thither for good and all It may also be proper to suppose, that Anaxago as was accused more than once at Athens, and that having withdrawn into lone about the time of the first Iryal, he was in some time recall d by Pericles, and accused again after some Years Abode there We have seen that certain Authors have said that he was accused by Thucydides the Adversary of Pericles, and condemned to Death for Contumacy Now after the Banishment of this Contumacy Now after the Banishment of this, Thucydides, the Authority was in Pericles 8 hands (a) for 15 Years, which shews that Thucydides was bar (b) Plut nish'd 15 Years before the Death of Pericles From in Pericle whence it should follow that Anaxagorus hid been P 161 F condemn d for Contumacy at least 15 or 16 Years (q) Plut Years before the Death of Pericles But according in Pericle to Diodorus Siculus and (q) Plutareh, he was accused P 169 a little before the beginning of the Peloponnessan War, that is to say, 2 or 3 Years before the Death of Pericles. It might therefore be supposed, that he was twice accused, and if we place his Return into Ionia, and his second Return into Ioni Interval between these Two Accusations, a pretty (r) Diog considerable Districtly may be removed by this I sert in means Sociates was not a Disciple of Anaxagoras, Sociates has by a very strong Reason, and can consist it as as only by Plate and Liphlins Silence, when the only by Plate and Liphlins Silence, of the Accuse of the Subject obliged 'em to mantion it, but also by the Silence of the Accuse of the it, but also by the Silence of the Accusers of So-crates, and by the Answer which Socrates made them Would they have failed to reproach him with having been instructed by a Philosopher, who had been condemn'd for Impiety? Would not this have mide him more suspected? Would they have forgot this Circumfance? Would they have torgot this Circumfance? Would they have been ittisfied with Reproaching have in general, that he philosophized like that improves Min? And if he had had him for his Mafter, durft he have at fixed 15 he did? Let us conclude then, that he was no Difficulty of the process. The house are not as the conclude the manner of the house are not as the conclude them. ple of Anavagoras But how can we imigine I was not, if we suppose that Anaxagoras did no leave Athens till the I me which Diodorus Siculus in Plutarch mention In that case would not Anaxi goras have flourish d at Athens, when Socrates was a the properest Age to chuse him for his Protesso and if lo, can any one conceive that Socrates wer to the Lectures of Archel. us, and not to those c this Philosopher & Is it probable, that the forme this Philosopher & Is it probable, that the forme fet up a School at Athens, while Anaxagoras flourish in the same City? Or it he did that, Socrates wou have preferr'd his Lectures before those of Anaxagoras? These Difficulties may all be resolved. These proposed that this latter was twice banish'd and that in the Time which pass'd between the Time which pass'd between the Time There remains one Observation to be made again Plutarch. It must not be imagined, that he believed. Plutarch It must not be imagin d, that he believ Anauagoras died in the 88th Olympiad? For he relates the Prodigies which preceded the feat of the Athenians at the River Agos, he that according to the Predictions of that Philosophia pher, a great Stone fell from Heaven This Mis-fortune of the Athenians happen'd in the Fourth I car of the 93d Olympiad 'Twere abfurd to tup- (a) Plim Year of the 93d Olympiad 'Twere abfurd to tup- (a) Pling pose that Plutarch meant that Anaxagor as had pre- in the 3 dicted the Fall of such a Stone Twenty Years be- I used the fore. He believed then that Philosopher lived in the 4 till the 93d Olympiad. Now this is a great Error the Aiun I suspect him much of an Anachronism, in placing delian the Fall of the Stone in the 93 Olympiad. Pliny, marbles we kusedius, and the Arundelian Marbles consute this the 1 years and the place that Lvent in(a) the Seventy Lighth O See Hard down in

douin in Plin to r

Such P 275

he also taught like him, that all Animals, not (B) excepting Men, were produc'd out of a Terrestial Matter, Hot and Moust He apply d himself principally to Natural Philosophy, as his Predecessors had done, but consider'd the Moral Part a little more than they He was not very Orthodox in this Point, seeing he maintain d*, that Human I aws were the Spring and Original of Moral Good, and Evil, that is to *To figliary, he did not admit the Natural, but only the Positive Right, and consequently be-xaur in liev d that all kind of Actions were indifferent in their own Nature, and became Good yna or Evil, according as it pleas dMankind to declare 'em such by certain Laws Suidas says $\chi_{eq}^{eq} = \pi$ that he wrote a Treatise of Natural Philosophy, and he pass d for the Author \dagger of some $i\delta\mu\varphi$ Elegies designed to comfort Cimon, who was very much afflicted for the Death of his Justum & Wife Socrates the most famous of his Disciples was 4 his Successor Something must turpe non natura be said of a Poet, whose Name was (C) Archelaus

Such is the wretched State in which the fo much boasted Ancients have left the History of the Philofophers A Thousand Contradictions every where fophers A Thousand Contradictions every where, a Thousand incompatible Actions, and a Thousand falle Dates Note, that I have not met with any Modern, who confutes those that place (b) the Death of Anaxagoras in the 78th Olympiad, I say, who consutes em by Diodorus Siculus and by Plutarch, who both affirm that that Philosopher was accused a lively heaves the Grif (1) Viar of the Belgoomessan little before the first (c) Year of the Peloponnesian

(B) That all Animals, not excepting Men, were produced out of a certain Matter | The Accounts preferved to us of these Opinions in the Authors report them, are so concise, that it's hard to form any distinct Idea of 'em (d) Γεννάσθαι δε φησ τα ξώα εκ Βερμίις της γίις, και ιλυν παραπλησιαν γαλακίι, olov τροφή, ανιείσης Ούτω δε κ) της ανθρώπως πυίη-σαι Gigni vero animalia ex terra calore, qualimum the 87 Olatti simillimum velut escam eliquaverit Sic & homi-nes natos Thus Diogenes Laertius has expiest himfelf He had faid that according to this Philosopher's Opinion, the Iwo Causes of Generation were Heat and (e) Mossure He had also set forth () infread how the Water, Air, Farth, and Fire, proceeded from these Two Principles, but I own I can t com-prehend the meaning of his Words, and therefore will not be at the Trouble to transcribe em It's likely it ought to that Mr Minage who has inferted em in his Commentary without joyning any Observations to them, was also ignorant of their Signification. Other Commentators have not been more happy let em lie in their Native Obscurity Let us do as much, and have recourse to Plucarch, who has said (f), that according to Archelaus, the infinite Air, the Condensation and Rarefaction of the Air, the one lire, the other Water, were the Principles of that Herall Things (g) Justin Marryr attributes very near the same Opinion to him. This icems to me to sig-uify that he held the Air to be the first Matter, and deritione I ire and Water to be the Llements, but this was p m 1-7 not his Opinion, if we may believe St Augustin, for affirmit Lat Fither attributes to him the Doctrine of A-Archelaus naxagoras concerning the Homaomerics, and concerning the Intelligence that had combined em (h) principles Anaxavoræ successit auditor ejus Archelaus etiam ipse of illelsings de particulu inter se dissimilibus, quibus singula quæque reputor u, sterent ita omnia constare putavit, sut inesse etiam mentem dicerct que corpora dissimilia, id est illus particulas conjungendo d' dissipando ageret omnia. I believe St Augustin is in the Right, for simplicius (1) observes, (f) Plutar that Archelaus endeavouring to give an I splication distinct from all others, did nevertheless sum into the iame Principles as Anaxagoras, to wit, in Infi-Philot 1 nity of Similar Particles It is very likely that as to the first Formation of Animals they held the same Doctrines We have seen what Archelaus s Opinion was, and here s the Doctrine of ananagoras (k) (Sa piesai ež vyge rai Jesus nai jewire use ov de as an imantes primo ex humore & calore, terraque manaffe, postea ex invicem natas est seeing they admitted an Intelligence which drew the Homanmeries out of the Confusion wherein they were, remust be believ'd that they mide it preside at the Production of Animals, for it there is any Cicature, the Lorming of which stands in need of being directed by a Spirit, it is certainly the Machine of Animals. It they have done what I suppose, they have full nothing on that Head but whit may be in Simpli- reconcild with the Hol, Scripture But it they believe as many others have done, that in the Beginning Men sprung out of the Litth by the meer Power of Mosture and Heat, ere they believed the most rediculous I hing in the World, nor wend they have known how to entwer the Question why in fucceeding Ages Men were never teen to be pro duced the same way. The Question would not have puzzled them in the other (aic, since they might have answer'd as a (hristian would do, that the Intelligence having once form d Animals, en dowed with necessary Parts for Procreation had no need to make any more, the Confervation of the Species being fecul d by the Instinct of Copulation in Male and Female (C) Of a Poet wasse Name was Archelaus] He (lem Accomposed a Work on the particular Nature of lexandr Things, that is to fay, on the admirable Properties Stroml is which distinguished em. What has been quoted out P 301 of it does not permit us to doubt, that this was the August true Character of his Work Diogenes Laertius has de civit shew dit by these Words, o missioquii monous (1), Dei 1 8 qui que cuique rei natura sunt propria, veisu produsti cap 2 qui que cuique rei natura funt propria, versu prodidit Casaubon (m) ought not to have centur d' this Latin Translation, under Pretence, that according to the Testimony of Antigonus Carystias, this Book of Arc'relaus was a Collection of I pigrams, in which (n) the extraordinary and wonderful Properties of (1) Diog I lings are recorded, for this may very well agree Laert 1 2 with the I itle given by Diog nei Laertine and in - n 17 ny Caie the Translitor ought not to have given the (m) (a-Term Vossius was not of Casaubon's Vind, feeing hunclo he has traislated (s) the Words of Diogenes Lacricum withus, qui carmen feeit de propria cujulque rei natura Diog The Senie he gives to their Words by me shet darks for the server of the manufacture of the control of the server of the manufacture of the server of the serv very just to me, he understands by em that Arche- (n) Ia laus had search d after I hings in which Nature was agadora fingular, que proprie ac singularis nature sunt, as that 10 800fingular, quæ propriæ ac singularis naturæ sunt, as that 10 θων(p) Goats are never without a lever and that μωπα they breathe by the Lars, and not by the Nostrils (o) Vos(q) Athenaus has quoted one Archelaus, εν πίς είνοι sius de φνέσον, and given him the Sirname of Chersonesian hist Gra Dalechampius has translated this Greek (r) sua propriacis 1 3 que sirpe genisis, and I wonder institut has not made pag 3 9 use of the same Words for translating this Passage (p) Auri(s) as for that of Diogenes Laertius life has made bus cipriar use of these, de proprietate naturæ, and yet believes spirare that Athenaus and Diogenes Laertius spake of the same non natiAuthor This is very likely, tho Antigonus Cary- bus, nec-Author This is very likely, the Antigonus Cary-bus, necficus tells us, that Egypt was the Birth-place of Ar-unquam chelaus, who composed Fpigrams on the wonderful febrica-singularities of certain 1 hings, and dedicated em iere, Aito Prolomy It's possible that one Ar helaus a Native chelaus of Chersonesur, might pass for an Egyptian, it's e-auctorest nough () that he dwelt a long time in Egypt Mr Plin 18 Minage (t) who pietends, that in stead of issues, cap so it ought to be read dip ii in Diogenes Lacrtius, Icems (q)Athen to me to be in the Wrong, he grounds it on this that 1 9 c ult to me to be in the Wrong, he grounds it on this that 1 9 c in the Scholiast of N cander cites Archelaus e πi , $\delta i \phi$ e- pig 4 9 cr, that is to say, in libro do is qua funt ancipitis natu (r) Dara. The I oundation is not solid, for as the Book lech anot Archivasi was not confined to that fort of Sin not in Agularities which distinguish the Amphibious Amberda then pig mals begot by the Coupling of Male and I emale -66 Pero mils, begot by the Coupling of Male and I emile -66 Pero of a different species, it would be unreatonable to Tirdouin suppose that the Author should employ a Title liming in indice ted to that Sense It's better either to correct the Autorum Scholist by Diogenes Lacrt us, or fay, that Ar belows Plinis p having divided his Work into leveral I leatiles, 97 trangave a particular little to each Treatife, as for La flates the ample, that of Join to the I pigrams in which he words of space of the Amphibious Creatures On this Sup-Atheneus position it may be believed, that they who quote by de re

As below (v) lib i rece to the fluttie, (a) lib bus quo

1 referrer, de lapidi us, quote Press of the singulisme

Vork, the general little of which was 1-stood But locis pro-I should chute to tay, that another Arch laur is pring g

(e) Vossius abid () The are Examples of this kind 1 14 p 451 () Meny indige Lacit 12 n 17 (v) Stobanus dois it Seim i de morbis & molestiarum in eis solutione Plutisch de fluminib p 1148 it ithe i, Beol of Archelaus in Topus (v) Hutarch verit ibid p 1153 Sia meant constate. A R- fed lege Id ib † Plut in Cimone

Cicero, Luicul 5 Diog.

т с 3 р 876 Marty admonit adG1xcos P 4 (b) Aug de civit 1)e1 1 3

(b) D10-

genes La-

errius lib

2 N 78 dues it

Luichius

places it in the 4 year

() That's to Say the

2 year of lympiad (1) Diog

Lacit lib 2 n 17

of fuxeor be read

uzeòv.

dum

Mr Menage in hunc locum But not philotophorum gaveus principles

toxed, hot and cold of the 79 Olympiad

> 2 Sie No lem Alex in rotr p

I at aut b phyic Arist r) Diog laert 12

C Note

are el ole melo alon but one Ar-- org the Airelo

- Hato inforgia, p m ,21

suth 1 co ark A

nia

ibid

did lib 2

cap 9 I have er-

יול ווישים mon ds in

In Re-1 71 k N of the Ar el unpides Hadto im 'n paliage fill it hib 2 cip -t III) des 0 A020-

AUC SPW-

TKOS BY 21 77 OV 11 X4 CIYONRADOR Archelaus vero non mı-บบร ขบงus gu m liternum er it studi

Scithe Kumark B

ou the Limik

() Arte-

midor de fomn 1 4 (1) Voiis de Loct CHILLIS

(i Com-

ARCHELAUS I B of that Name, King of Macedon, a Natural Son of King Perdiceas, having ascended the Throne, maintain'd himselfin it by the habitual Crimes His Mother was a γ Servant of Alcetas (A), the Brother of Perdiceas that according to the Laws δ , he ought only to have been the Servant of Alcetas with that according him his bounden Submission, he caus'd him treacherously to be murther'd. He allured him into his House, promising to return him the Crown that Perdiceas had taken from him Prepaied a great Entertainment, and having made him drunk, caus'd him to be carry dout of Town by Night in a close Chariot, with Orders to put him to Death Alex inder the Son of Alcetas was treated in the same Manner He was put as Drunk as his Father into the same Chariot, and murther'd with him. A little while after, archelius caus'd his own Brother, the Legitimate Son of Perdicias and Cleopatra, and but Seven Years of Age, to be put to Death, and thrown into a Well, making his Mothe Chepatra believe, that the Child fell in as he was running after a Goofe n ply'd himself diligently to the making the State formidable, he fortify'd several Places, caus d high Roads to be made, providing himself also with great Quantities of Arms, Horses, and all Warlike Stores, exceeding the Kingshis Predecessors in these Preparations He bethought him of a Thing they had never put in Use, to wit, the I repair the fitting out of 1 leets, and fighting Sea Battels He loved 4 Learning and Arts, and m Pluto the fitting out of 1 leets, and fighting Sea Battels He loved 4 Learning and Arts, and m Pluto the fitting out of 1 leets, and fighting Sea Battels He loved 4 Learning and Arts, and had always * the greatest Poets, the most famous Painters, and the best Musicians about He was at great Expences to have his (B) House painted by Zeuxis, and Thucy- him doubtless was very angry that Socrates (C) whom he endeavour'dto draw to his Court, p m 142 would never come near him I le might have learnt of him not to be frighted at Ecliptolinus and he had great need to be fet right on that He id The Esteem he had for meant in these Places I do not pass the same Judgment on the Citations (2) of Astemidorus, I believe

ment on the Citations (2) of Artemidorus, I believe they concern the Authors of the isopon Let's here deplore the railness of human Memory Vossis in his Work of the Greek Historians, speaks leanedly of this Author, he sets down what he finds of him in varro, Pliny, Athenaus, Antigoniu, (arystius, &c but remember'd nothing of the Matter when he afterwards wrote his Treatise of the Greek Poets Where we read this (a) idem (Archelaus Physicu) ut ait Suidis, our take quoted estav (1) Id see Lilius Gyraldus vertis it II D alogo de Poetis (2) que nature propria funt, multis versibus collegit liaque & Archelaum inter Poetas recenses Collegit liaque & Archelaum inter Poetas recenses de add t, Poetam physicum esse alium ab Socratis magis? At unde id assiruat, non video Nam Suidas magif'io At unde id aftruat, non video Nam Suidas nagifio at unat in agruat, non viaco Nam Suidas cia cait quotiologian conscriptam ab Archelao Physico, Socrit s magisto Imo nec video unde coll gat, quempium Archilaum carmini soripsiste de rirum natura saltem et virbo our miser, quo Suidas utitui, id collier nequi Lt Lacrtius, cum dicat tres præterea Archelaot fuss. lass fusse, non tamen Poetans in its memorat See here ivery learned Man, who imagines, (1) That Gyralass is loos donly on the Greek Words of Suidas, and not not hole of Diogenes Lastins, (b) o the 1stop n to the there was no Reason to acknowledge a Poeta in the Company of the Phylician Newson the colonic different from the Phylician. Neither to suppose that an Archelaus made Verses on the Nature of Things. 4 That Diogenes Laertius does not mention any Archelaus who composed Verses All this ought to surprize us if we seriously consider it, but its much worse when compared with the, 9th page of the Book De H flories Grace Mreolomic () has corrected the first of these source and added some good Things besides but he is missible in supposing the Plumer Words in the 1 ste of Comon, concern Archelaus the Poet, for they relate to the Phylician to whom Socrates was et Archelaus different from the Phylician in the life of Cimon, concern Archilaus the Poet, to they relate to the Phylician to whom Socrates was Disciple He might have criticis d on Gyraldis, who believed that Archelaus, Author of the Proper was a Philosopher Mr Morer fays the fame without the least ground for he that makes Collections of fingular and wonderful Properties of Animals, or Metals, and well be called a Naturalist, or a Natural Historian but not a Natural Phile Topher, unless he joins the Lacts, the Reasons of the Facts and a Discussion of the Causes We do not find that the Poe. Archelaus did this M. Moreis affirms that the Poel Archelaus did this Mr. Moreit affirms that Diogenes Lieutius quotes him often. Say rather that he never quotes him and (d) calls her Similar. But after all, fince in this was Son of the King of Mr. clos. It ought to have been faid, that from the Condition of a Coat herd he raised himself to the Throne. Yet this is what Diogenes the Cynick (e) affirms Pall fo 1.10 ()1.) I ((i tld); 5 /f = 17 Qua nitura proprie fun multis veribus collegit. This I ofton is no iff. (1) Colomen 1, not in Cyrild de Poetis p. 147 edit. Operum Gyraldi 1/96 2) I han var histor lib 12 C45 (1) Arrox C in A 2 22 Cipianus tuit Archelaus. DioChryfost Orat 4 de regno

(A) Abertiant of Alcetis, Brother of Perdiceas.]

In a Speech of Dion Chrysoftom Observe these Words of Plato, which inform us what Archelaus ought to have been according to Law hard as in otherword of Name of Plato and Archelaus ought to have been according to Law hard as in otherword of Name archive of share archive established ageing volumeter in falses forwister (f)

(B) To have his House painted by Leuris] Socrateracts the Censor upon this Occasion, he says that this (f) Plato Prince, who had been at such vast Expences to beau-in Gorgi tify his Pilace had been at none at all to adorn his to go to Macedon to see

gers make it their Business to go to Macedon to See that Prince's House, but none to see himself, except those he draws thather by his Piesents Now these are Things which never affect an honest Man (g) I believe he had hardly taken any Puns to cure himself of his Lord Lagrangian. felf of his Lewd Inclinations by the Improvement of the Muses, but I am certain his Progresses were not mean in the adoining his Mind And by one of his Sayings, at looks as it he had made some Progress in Morality Some of his Courtiers shiring up his Research one Day against a Maria flirring up his Referencent one Day against a Man who had spilt some Water upon him, he answer d, he has not wetted me, but the Person for whom he took me (b) Never Philosopher discoursing on the Privileges of an Erroneous Conscience said a more reasonable Thing AllPrinces would treat in (b) Plut voluntary Faults in this manner, were they but equi-in Apophtable, or if the Interest of the Publick could per the gmat the Regulating them Profession on the Idea of the Publick could per the public of the Public Could per the Regulating them Profession on the Idea of the Id

table, or if the Interest of the Publick could permit the Regulating their Piastice on the Ideas of p 177 Reason Let's leave this, and return to Socrates By the foregoing Words he declar d several Men of Wit errand Rascals, who went to Macedon only for Archelaus & Sake Did Euripides go thither upon any other Account? (k) Did the fair Agashon that Illustrious Poet, and his Favourite Paulanias, and so many others go thither for any other Reason (!) (I) Flian (C) Sociates whom he endiavoured to draw to his var histoi (out, would never go near him) There were the large the same manner, he would neither go to see that, nor ever accept of Presents from em (m) 1 meganite the same manner, he would neither go to see that, nor ever accept of Presents from em (m) 1 meganite the same is a supplied of Agenatic and Agenatic, white Residents a supplied and the supplied of Agenatic, white Residents a supplied and supp Furylocumque I arissæum aspernatus est magno animo, cum neque at eis missar pecunias accepit, neque ad eos pse proficisci voluit Seneca has preseiv d us the Ex- (1) Ou ne cuse which sociates mide to our Irchelaus, he said o'Apa Div
I shint go see a Man of whom I might receive Be- - - 'Apa nesits without being it to return 'em (n) Archelaus Arage rev Socia em rovav t, er ad se veniret dixisse Sociates Cazing traditur, no ic se ad cum v n: a quo acciperet benessia, ue restructuration il se non prosect lista Aniwer of so runs vien.

τολλω σιο ν cv Marefitz Hic Agathon-Archelium Macedonic regem una cum elus multis id mortens usque School Arissoph in 12m (m) Liopenes I icitius, lib 2 n 25 (n) Sei ride benef 1 s c 6 (m) Liopenes Liciti-P m 96

Men, was not a cordinary, but this might have proceeded from his finding 'em too Article free in asking the inflictuded Sacrifices and Scenick Games in Honour of Jupiter and the Muses, which are celebrated for 9 Daysing other, each Muse had its Day He 4 sent No. 9, P. Chariots with For Horses which brought away the Prizes from the Olympick and Pythem Games Article Furipides Remarks No. 9, P. &C. Article Furipides No. 9, P. &C. Article

ces lib 17

crates has been related by Marcus Aurelius (o) accord-(o) Mai-cus Antonius, 730 615 LAUTOV 1 ii fect 25 Note, that he Jupposes Perdiccas to have doneit amen (p) '1 Cew II) nd at our we के न्यरीया-मा की नहरू भारति Contu meliam elle dixit, non poste referre accepit beneficium, peeum gat, A) iftot Rhetor I ~ (23 1 2 445 (), Seneca abi lupia () Ibid ('Vis feire quid vere nolucrit? Noluit ire id vo-Juntari im fervitutem is. cuius li-A Manin tic days of forc, who thinking that nothing was more genteel, thin to ask and receive, being one I vering at Supper with Archelaus, King of Macedon, acked the King for a Golder Cup out of which they were drinking. The King comminded his Page oprefent it to I unipides who napped o bettin at table, and turning to the Pe found how had ask dit, faid, As for thee, thou defervest to ask, and tenefar decays thou dost ask civitis libera ferre non poruit Id

1b p 95
(d) Charpentiei, But Euripides deferees to receive trought does not a k VIL de So ciate, p m 57

Scobeus ferm. 237 (f) that defortuna Alexin-

Hecitestoe

ing to the fair e Sense, but Aristotle relates it in terms that are not Philosophical He supposes that So rates answerd (p) that they who do not require a good Deed receive as great an Affront as they who do not revenge an Injury This Maxim supposes that we ought to revenge our selves on those who injure us It is not therefore becoming the Morality of a Philosopher, especially such a Philosopher as Socrates. In the mean time Social fet forth at large that it was easy too this Water pher to require Achela a Among other things, he tay s that the Benefits of that Monarch could not be worth the Instruction he might have received concerning the I clipics alone, and which would have prevented his falling a tecond time into fuch a Confernation as he was one day The when the Son was I clipfed He shut up his Palace Gates, he caus dhis Son's Han to be cut off (a) Quid tantum erat accepturus (Socrates) quantum dabat fi - regem in luce media erian im, ad reium na turam admissifict, us juc eo equi ignarum, ut quo die solis disectio sui, regiam clauderet, & plium (quod in luttu ac ichii advessi moriscst) tenderet? Quantum sussit bensicum, si timentem i la ebris suic extraxist t, & boum animum baberi sussissifiction. Non est ista solid desetto, sed duoi um siderum coitus, cum luna humistore currens via, infra ipsum solem, ordem suum posuit, collum objectu sui abscondit Seneca (b) iny that Socrates made this Lacuse by way of sion, only, and that in reality he (c) refus d to go to the Court of Maceden because he would not have his Liberty contrould Some fay (d) that Aristophanes composed to the Clouds out of hatred to the courses, because Archelaus, King of Maccolon, had a better Opinion of that Philosopher than of him Observe that another turn has been given to Sacrater's Answer It has been faid (e) that he excused himself from going to Archelain's Court, because Bread was at a low Price, and creat Plenty of Water in Arben (D) His Liberality to infomous Perfons was no extra ordinary, but this might have proceeded. | (f) Plu"tanch fays that Archilaus King, of Macedon was a "little too penurious in giving or making of Pre"fents, of which the Multi-ian Timotheus gave him fome touches, by often repeating as he fung to his I ute this little nipping Jeft, I his Son of the Earth takes too much too much care of Money But Arene "laus replied very genteely, but thou cravest is too too fast. I lie lays too in another Book what I am now going to transcribe. () A Man in the days of Fore, who thinking that nothing

Perhaps he set bounds to his I iberali y stom a k Perhaps he set bounds to his I iberali y stom it's more liberalize that (h) of Chinles the IX. But it's more liberalize he was of the Mind of Cardinal Richlieu (i), who have gave any thing to the Poor Mainful, par -because he did not love to be a 'd, but wou to minimizer gave any time; because he did not love to be a ' i, but wou i rittot

nes i ar trento Line of his Reign Some tay (k) I hat being a lius Corio div

the Henour of giong from he o in Mo ion

nes i ar
trento Line of his Reign Some tay (k) I hat being a Hunting he was accidentally wounded by his I avon rite Conterus, and that he died of his Wound O charciay (l), he was kill d by Conspirators ict on that Parriede Vintus thers say (1), he was kill d by Conspirators set on by Decommethus to commet that Parried annum Curtius tavours this Opinion (m) He tiys, Quis proavum hujus Alexan rum proavum hujus Alexan-rum, and deinde Archelaum, quis Perdie im occifos ult es est? As for the I ength of his Reign, (n) some make it I wenty tour Year,

(e) Id de vitioso pudore p (1) Seetle Article Diurit Provint I (1) Pellisson, Hist del Acad Francosce p m 12 (k) Diodor Siculus lib 14 cap 18 I stell cite lis 161 1 the list Curtius Curtius 1 6 cap 11 (n) Lusch in Chron in 1685 the vicus embraces this Opinion others (a) Sixteen others (p) Lourteen, and others but (q) Seven I his latter Opinion feems to me the most probable. It is that of Dioderus Sizulus, and I wonder Calvi, us (r) would quote this Historian, after hiving faid, that Archelius reign d Sixteen Years. An ill interpreted Palia c in Africant, his caus'd a World of Contusion. We read in the I ditions of that Author (c), that Priland Perdiceas died in the Third Year of the Perovemelius War, and that Archais ascended the I from immediately after, it is impossible Atheneus should say this, for his Design is to convince Plato of having made a Mistake, Plato I say, who in the sime Dialogue where he supposes that Archelaus reigns, at firms that Pericles died but a lattle before. It is plain that this Censurer makes himself radiculous, and does not know what he says the Caracata and on the same points. that his Cenfurer makes himfelf radiculous, and does 1 2 jub not know what he fivs, it he fets forth what we him es read in his printed Books Cafaubon is no ways in Dexippe the wrong to think it ftrange, that they who tran(9) Drod flitted Athena is from d not take notice of 10 manifest Sicul ubi an Absurdity, or could hive a Stomach to digest supra so hard a Moriel (1) Cam have clarifime d sputintur (r) Calvis ab Athenae, quis interpretum stomacho non invident qui ad annum vulgatam loci hujus seripturam adeo 2050µa xwstalcrint mundi, for his own part he conteiles himself incapable of 3550 p it, and in spite of all the Manuscripts maintains, in 156 that the Copyist of Athenaus have omitted a Period col 2 there It seems to me that he puesles very happily (1) Athenaus that the Author had said Which is, that Alex I 5 c 10 ander King of Macedon, who died at the same I sine p 217 with Pericles, had Perdice is for his Successor, who (i) (a-reign d till the Archonship of Callias, and that Po-fault in Athen decast dying in that Archonship, Ar belaus took post-Athen tession of this Thione. In this Case Alleas is does post-Athen not criticiste on Plyto's Discourse without forme (v) Case and the Alleas is considerable Interval between (v) Grounds for there sa confiderable Interval between frubon the Death of Pericle, and the Reign of Archelau ibid p Observe by the way that (afaulon (v) has answered, 85 that Centure, but above all the notice, that Do-Faults of darus Sular assigning to it I class Seven Years Scaling Reign places his Death in the Second Year of the 95th Olympia under the Archonship of Ariffura er So that his Reign began the Third Year of the 93d Olympiad under the Archonship of Cabras It must be said then, that Podicear died under the same Archonship Now among the Divertity of Opinion concerning the Time of the Reign of this Perducas that of Merlyus and of Pholocorus who fixed it at Three and I wenty Years was made choice of by Athene s in reasoning against Plate He must then have supposed that Perd e as came to the I hione the fam Year that Perious died, that is to fig, the I out the Year of the 87th Olyapid All this confirms Cajaulous Opinion with 10 much Force that instead of fiving his Conjecture is very likely it ought to be affirm d without Hesitation that the Period he restores did actually proceed from the Pen of A h na And as it contains the same Words twice or thine at the end of a Sentence, it may easily be apprehended how the Copyists might have skipp d it, and how the Readers might not have per-crived that something was wanting in that Place Most People acid only to be instructed without the rigue, fo they feld in perceive the Faults in resion-my when they require some Attention or Sesse hon on what piccedes, contenting themselves wan frying this is obscure, this I pils by Bi this bring no Remedy, the Full fill remains which was The Criticls and electally the Cold I inflitted and off enables the Sense, they endeavour to correct the they can be sense, they endeavour to correct the they can be sense, they endeavour to correct the they can pare the Minutcripts, and exert the r Conjecture tive Genius. But is Calarior reproches emother I dge wis mightily blunted as this Place (1) 11/1-flull concin here i off inding The stene sent Pr of that the Comus of the most learned Perions Proof that the Comus of the most learned Perions may be sometime very much stinted. He did not perceive the visible I is not the Author upon whom he common like I interest and has talen that from for the Circumsteff (Confine on Diodorus Siculus on whom he had no put de Words that are only found in the confine Let explainths. Eufebus has placed.

C Plut inSylla,p Appian called Ptolomæus

t See the ces of his Death, or the Length of his Reign Scaliger t himself met with so much Rimark E. Obscurity on these Heads as led him into notorious Mistakes It is likely that Archelaus had led an (F) Impure Life, which caus'd his Downfal I shall have some Observations

(G) to make against Morers

ARCHEIAUS, King of Cappadocia in the Reign of Augustus, was Great Grandson to Archelaus a Cappadocian & by Nation, and General of Mithridates's Army and Mith-Grandson to Archelaus a Cappadocian B by Nation, and General of Mithridates's Army ridit See in Greece against Sylla That General who had so much signalized himself in the Detroise fence of y the Pireum, quitted Mithridates's Party in the second War, and went over rising strabo, to the Romans He lest a Son of his own Name Archelaus, who upon notice wife that the Romans were going to attack the Parthians, repaired to Gabinius Governor of Sylva that the Romans were going to attack the Parthians, repaired to Gabinius Governor of Sylva that the Romans were going to attack the Parthians, repaired to Gabinius Governor of Sylva that the Romans were going to attack the Parthians, repaired to Gabinius Governor of Sylva that the Romans were going to attack the Parthians, repaired to Gabinius Governor of Sylva that the Romans were going to attack the Parthians, repaired to Gabinius Governor of Sylva that the Romans were going to attack the Parthians, repaired to Gabinius Governor of Sylva that the Romans were going to attack the Parthians, repaired to Gabinius Governor of Sylva that the Romans were going to attack the Parthians, repaired to Gabinius Governor of Sylva that the Romans were going to attack the Parthians, repaired to Gabinius Governor of Sylva that the Romans were going to attack the Parthians, repaired to Gabinius Governor of Sylva that the Romans were going to attack the Parthians, repaired to Gabinius Governor of Sylva that the Romans were going to attack the Parthians, repaired to Gabinius Governor of Sylva that the Romans were going to attack the Parthians, repaired to Gabinius Governor of Sylva that the Romans were going to attack the Parthians, repaired to Gabinius Governor of Sylva that the Romans were going to attack the Parthians, repaired to Gabinius Governor of Sylva that the Romans the Lagrand to the Romans that the Romans the Romans that the Romans the Romans the Romans that the R

(x) Scalıger, animadv in Fuseb n 1585 p (v) It belongs to the 2 year of the 87 O's mpiad

Auletes

(a) Thucydides lib 6 p m 341 (v) Salmas exercitat Plin Pag 156

(c) Scaliger ubi iupra

1) A11-Hot lib 5 de republica c 10

Three Things under the First Year of the 87th Olympiad, the Death of Perdiccas, the Beginning of the Reign of Archelaus, and the Beginning of the Pelopounesian War Scaliger (x) passes over this, and is satisfied to observe, that the Littly Year of that War is generally placed under the Second Year of the 87th Olympiad, because the Rupture being made towards the End of the Archonship of Pythodorus, it was believed that it ought to be dated (y) from the Archonship of Euthydemus, the Successor of Pythodorus According to this Usage, he confesses that the Year of the Death of Pericles is the Journal of the 87 Olympiad, and the Third of the Peloponnesian War, and he quotes a Greek Passage, which says, that in the same Year that Perioles died, Perdiceae King of Macedon died also, and that Archelaus ascended the Throne He attributes this Passage to Disdorus Siculus, and accordingly censures him for an Anachronism of Three Years This proceeds from his supposing, that Eusebius is neither mistaken as to the Death of Perdices, nor as to the Crowning of Archelaus He did not know then, that Thucydides (a) has expresly said, that King P rseus was living in the Sixteenth Year of the Peloponnessan War, he was besides ignorant that the Words which he attributes to Diodorus Siculus belong to Atheneus He knew not that those Words of Athenaus are corrupted, he did not perceive that they are maim d, and that they ought to be read as Cafaubon has reftor d'em Note that Salmafius (b) owns as good Chronology the placing the Death of Perdices and the Begin ning of Aich laur's Reign in the I ourth Year of the ning of Ach laus's Reign in the I ourth Year of the 87th Olympiad, so that he was then ignorant of some things which (asaubon might have discover d to him, but note still more carefully, that by a favourable Interpretation one of the Points of my Criticism on Scaliger, may be eluded, may constuted I said, that he had censured Diodorus Siculus, grounding my self on their Words (c) Diodoro ergo prochronisimus fuerit triennis. They come in after the Greek Passage talsely attributed by Scaliger to that Author, where it is also sound that Perdiccas dying in the I hird Year of the Peloponnisan Wat. Archiin the I hird Year of the Peloponnesian Wat , Archelaw fucceeded him Now because Eusebius offirms, that Archelaus afcended the Throne the first Year of the Peloponnesian War, it may be pretended that Scalinger meant no more than that the Doctrine of Eusebius contains an Anachronism of Anticipation of Three Years according to Diodorus Siculus If this be his true meaning he has not census d this latter Historian, he has been intisfied to suspend his Judgment deciding neither for him, nor for Lufibius I shall be ravished it this kind of Retractation passes A Critick who has the Advantage of an equivocal Expicsion ought not to omit the favourable Sense He shews by this means what may be faid for or a gainst Authors. He sustains successively the Part of a Complimant, and of a Defendant

(1) Inat Archelaus I an led an impure Life, cauled his Downfal | Arifforle (d) having faid that feveral Confpiracies had been form d against Monarchs, on Account of their Impurities, immediatediately alledges the Attempt of Crateus Ihis Man never could digest the Dishonour Archelaus had done him in fatisfying his Brutal Lust upon him Accordingly a New Offence which would not of it ielt have been a just ground of a Contpiracy, being added to the former, he resolved to sud himself of his Mister. The Offence was this, the king had promised him one of his Daughters, and yet he mirry d the Eldest to the King of Elyman, and the Youngest to the Son of Amyntas Reasons of State were the Cause of this Breach of Promise Finding himself embroiled in the War against Sirras, and Arraheus, he had a mind to gain the King of Elyman on his fide Fearing on the other hand that the Son of Amyntai wou d raife a Disturbance, he made him his Son in Law too, hoping that this Alliance would keep them in Unity, and would have the same Liftest as to the Son of Chipstra Hereupon Craseus gave vent to his Resentment, (e) but the main Spring of his Hatred proceeded from the Injury he had receiv d in his Body Hellanocrates of Lariffa joyn d with him in that Conspiracy on the like Motives, for having given up the Bloom of his Youth to the Passions of Archelaus, and perceiving that this did not avail towards Recalling him from Lxile, as that Prince had made him hope, he concluded that his (f) Person had not been made use of from an Effect of Love, but merely to dishonour him Observe, that Plutarch (g) informs us, That Grateus, the Darling of Archelaus, kill d that Prince Plate (h) fays the same, but without naming the Murderer, or the Catamite, he only fays, that the Murderer committed the Attempt to take possession of the Crown, and that it was wrested from him again in Three or I our Days by other Conspirators I wan-der Diodorns Siculus should relate the Death of that King of Macedon, and its Confequences in a man-ner so different from this. It s likely that Plate and Aristotle, who lived nearer the Time and Place where those Things were transacted, knew the Truth much better than he

I have observed some Faults in the Commentary tem amaof Gifanius on this Passage of Aristotle I This Author assirms (1), that Suids takes notice in the fed prop-Author affirms (1), that Suides takes notice and the paop-Article of Furipides, that Cratevas took away the ter contu-mental and the suides are took away the ter contu-mental and the suides are took away the ter contu-mental and the suides are took away the ter contu-mental and the suides are took away the ter contu-mental and the suides are took away the ter contu-tion of the suides are took away the ter contuction of the suides are took away the ter contuction of the suides are took away the ter contuction of the suides are took away the ter contuction of the suides are took away the ter contuction of the suides are took away the ter contuction of the suides are took away the ter contuction of the suides are took away the ter contuction of the suides are took away the ter contuction of the suides are took away the ter contuction of the suides are took away the ter contuction of the suides are took away the ter contuction of the suides are took away the ter contuction of the suides are took are took are took are to Article of Furipides, that Cratevas took away the Life of his Lover King Archelaus This is not true Suidas mentions Cratevas only as a Poet, who together with Archidung another Poet, contrived the Death of Euripides II Instead of saying (k) that Id ib Plutarch in Alcibiade posteriore, and Plao in commentation de rebus amatoriis have mention'd the Murther of Archelaus, the Alcibiades posterior ought to have torio peen ascrib d to Plato, and the Commentary de rebus amatorio torio peen ascrib d to Plato, and the Commentary de rebus amatorio torio peen ascrib d to Plato, and the Commentary de rebus amatorio torio peen ascrib d to Plato, and the Commentary de rebus amatorio torio peen ascrib d to Plato, and the Commentary de rebus amatorio torio peen ascrib d to Plato, and the Commentary de rebus amatorio torio peen ascrib did posterio de against Sirrar and Archibeus He speaks only of the de poste-War which King Perdiccas and Brasidas made against score p m Arrhibaus King of the Macedonians, firnam'd Line-fles IV Its falle that Suidas has any where pla ced Arribbaus in the Number of the Conspirators a- I lian var gainst the Life of Archelaus, he only says, that the histor 1 8 Poet (ratevas was assisted by another Poet, whose c 9 Name was Arrhidaus to destroy Euripides V He (1) Oberfhould not have said (m) king of Elibaa, but King tus Cifa-

of Elimea, first Son-in law of Archelaus

(G) Observations to make against Moreri] I It's not to lot true that Archelaus succeeded Perdiscas in the Year Politic of the World 3641 I of according to Morer, that Auffor p Year of the World answers to the said Year of m 669 Rome Now that Year of Rome answers to the Se- (k) Id. 1b cond Year of the 94 Olympiad, and we have already (1) De cond Year of the 94 Olympiad, and we have already (1) De feen above, that according to Diodorus Siculus, Ar-hoc bello chilaus must have begun to reign the I hird Year of Archelai the 93d Olympiad II It's not true, that Justin adversum makes mention of our Archelaus IIe whom he mentions was the Uncle of Alexander the Great Ariibr and never was King. There's no Reason than to under that he does not speak of the time of his videatur Reign. III It's not true, that he reckons him is I huevel mong the Sons that Perdiccas had by Euripidis. He lib 4 Id, reckons him among the Sons of Ampirias and Gygea, 1b page reckons him among the Sons of Amontas and Gygea, 1b pag
I say, of Amontas, the Lather of Pollip, and Grand-670 tather of Alexander the Great IV Neither what (m) Id 10 Justin has said, nor what he has forgot, are any Signs, that he has confounded rechelaus the Grandfather, with Archelaus the Grandion, for he speaks only of an Archelaus, who was not the Grandion of V It's a strange Litor to place the Death of company'd zaew Sed alienationis origo & Principium fuit quod graviter tuliffet fe ejus libifuiffe obfecutum μαν ως το Εί) τ γ.− Munich 12 OMAIN tudinem illam fecum effe ınstıtu. tam non Dropter 453, 454 Sec also nius in c x Strabo,

12 P 368

company'd Gabban to that War, but afterwards left him to go to Alexandria, where he married (A) B He did not long enjoy the Crown, which he had acquir'd by a Strabo, that Marriage a shout a Six Months after, he loft his Life in a (B) Battel against a lide of Cobinium, in the contract of Rome 698 He had obtain'd a very (C) honourable Dignity programmer, and Pompey, which was a the Pontificat of Comana in Cappadocia His Son Archelaus and It is bellet to the Past of his Adventures are not known, only that he was married to a logical solution. another The Rest of his Adventures are not known, only that he was married to civilis p call'd Sismua, and the Other Archelaus The First disputed the kingdom of Cappado- C Sie the cia with Ariarathes who was in Possessian Mark Anthory was made Judge of this Difference in the Year of Rome 713, and give it v in Favour of Sisting. The First Sex X Pluhad too great an Instruence over him, and Glaphyra was too Be untill to let that Tital triple. had too great an innuence over him, and stappy was too be intitude to let that I had tarch in have any other Islue—Some Historians call her a Courtezan, which makes it much Anton the easier apprehended why Mark Anthony judged to favourably for sissing. But how Pig 9 7 probable soever these Detractions are, it is not impossible that the Friendship Mark And pig 9 Dio, thony had for χ that Archelaus, who married Berenice, might make him act as he did. It is not known wherebecame of Sissina, but its certain Arrarathes re-ascended the Throne south of Cappadocia, for Mark Anthony was oblig'd to disposses him a Second Time in the Remark L Year of Rome 718 and then, conferr'd that Kingdom on Archelius, the other son of truch in This is he who appears at the Head of this Article le became very power- An on ful s, and expressed his Acknowledgments to his Benefactor Mirk Anthony, by supply-program him with good Troops \(\tau\) during the Attick War. He was so happy as not to also blige Augustus by it, so that he remain d in Possession of Cappadocia, * and was almost to only Person to whom such a Favour was shewn. He affished \(\tau\) Therius in the Year phus, 734 to re establish Tigranes in Armenia, and obtain d the I lesser Armenia, and a good Antiq I Part of Cilicia from Augustus He settld his Residence (E) in the Island of Flewsa near the Coast of Cilicia, and having marry'd Pythodoris the Widow of Pelemon King of Fon-1500, 154 all im, he increas'd his Power considerably, for as the Sons of Polemon were yet but In- ann fants, he had (F) the Administration of their Kingdom, jointly with the Queen their Mother Secal (o He Strab 1

(n) In the Romark C

(0) D10-

Archelausrex

quem in delicus

habebat

DEN-

ciatus ld ibid

(q) Id 1bid

that Olympiad answer to the 305th Year of Rome VI It ought not to have been affirm'd, that the Archelaus who reign d after Orestes was his Son, and Crandian of Archelaus, for besides that Eustebius is little followed in regard to this Archelaus, Second of the Name, he does not mention any Degree of Confanguinty What follows, concerns the Supplement of Morer There we find that Socrates would not come near Archelaus by Reason of his I yranny and Inhumanities Let this reckon for the VII Mistake, we have seen above (n) that this was not the Reason which kept Sociate from going to the Court of Maccdon I he VIII Positis is imputing to Thucydides and to Diodorus Sietling the sying, that Euripides being requested to make a Tragedy on the Subject of Archelaus, excused the figure he would not be obliged to represent the Crusleaus. dor Siculus lib 14 CIP 38 (p) A X= he would not be oblig d to represent the Cruelties (p) A χ ne would not be obliged to represent the Cruelties of that I yrant It every certain, that neither Thu co (1λευς cyclos or Diodorus Siculus fay any thing like it, and I do not believe that any good Au hor among the Ancients has mention'd it Does any Prince defire a Gragedy to be made on himself - Mayn't a Court

Clus and

Poet write a Tragedy to please his Master by passing over the Cruelties of that Master IX The I a epophysis vounte that kill d Archilaus (o) is called Craterus in Diodorus Siculus, this then is the Name which Diodorus S culus, this then is the Name which ought to have been given him, and not that of Crateus, oi Crateus, Diodorus Siculus is the only venationi Author quoted about him X For the fame Reason indulgens I maintain, it ought not to have been faid, that he form'd a Conspiracy against Archelans, and that he ¿ Cratero kill d and, to revenge himfelt for a Breach of Promise The Continuator of Movers fays, that Arch -IMPRUlaus promis d his Daughter to this I avourite, and afterwards marry'd her to another Since he quotes

Thacydides and Diodorus Siculus, the first of which has not faid a Word of this Matter, and the latter ILR Carry him not said a Word of this Matter, and the latter (p) relates that this lavourite wounded his Master thro' a Mistake, he deserves Censure, for I own, it he had quoted Aripotle, he'd have had wirrant enough See the Pieceeding Remaik XI Diodorus (q) whom he quotes, calls him who reign'd atter Archelaus, Orostes, why then would he just affect fay, that that Pince hid a Son of the same Name had succeeded him? XII This Historian adds, that Orestes was yet a Child, and that he was kill'd by his Tutor Aropus, who afterwards reign d Six Years Why then do they make him say, that Ar-Years Why then do they make him fay, that Aiche'sus the Second, Son of Archelaus the Lirst, succeeded his Father, and reign d but Four Years and was k ll d in Hunting by Craterus one of his Confidents who afterwards took possession of the Crown, tho he enjoy d it but Three Days? So many Words, to many Fulls

(A) Where he married Bereince.] We shall make our Archelaus in the 117th Olympiad, and to make an Article of this Princess and there examine whether P Norrs ought to have find that the diew di-p 461 chelaus to her by promiting to marry him

(B) In a Battel against the Troops of Gabinius 1

This does not agree with the Seventeenth Pook of Strabe, where we read that Ptolomy having been refetled in his kingdom, put his Daughter and Son in-law drchelaus to Denth I shall make it appear in the Article B renice, that str. ho is missaken in this, (a) No-and that he has contradicted himself You may ris Cenc-boldly pronounce these Words of More fulse Pto- taph Pilomy having been re-establish d in 699 put Archelaus fin pie and Berenice to Death

(C) A very honourable Dign ty] Father Norms fays, (b) In / that the Pontist of Comma v vs Sovereign (i the Article Place He fays, (a) Illun Archelaum, Pompeius Sa- Concerdstem Bellon, as Common um principem (utragi, e- nus nim dignitas uni cidemque conferebatur) confetue at () Hiicurvis Dynasta parem opibus, ex appiano in Mi bridar ti is de par 252 We shall examine in (b) another Place bello Awhether this be right

lex undri-(D) To give se to another | Hotius fays, that Con p m for disposed of this Benefice to Nicom des, v no made 416 ippear that he had very just Preten ions to it (1) 1 il Id homini nobilissimo Niconical P/Dul anjuli ant, 12 p qui regio Cappadocum genere or u proper atorsam m, 4 fortinam majorum suo um mu v nen sue penere 1412 () 1 i minime dubio, vetustate tamen u em so, is eriotum et i id repet bat P Norvis ashims, that (2/10 conteins (1)) that Dignity on Lycom is after he had vanquish a 162 of Phanaces, but they who think fit to kok into Ho 1 1 to of Phanness, but they who think fit to look into III I to of tius, will easily find that it was disposed of before Appain the Battel As to the Name of Iyon it it to in M thebe icen in the Editions of (d) strato It i inforcer indit tubtain that in Dion there is i () I peopede diverted I i of his Listate by Augustus, after the Hight of 1/11 (Anthory, and perhaps the same whom i fir tule I is 1/4 to the Pontineate of Comman, for he ice need in one is 1/6 Part of Cappadoes. The I pithet of B 1/1 in which is 1/6 Histains makes use of, fivours more the Reading of 1/1 if 1/6 (f) Nicomedis than that of I peomedis

(1) Histated his Residence in the I to a display in 1/6 (f) Histated his Residence in the I to prove the Companies of the Control of the Control

there (i), that the I may be the recording to the page 227 carry the I etter which I may had Orders to page 227 carry the I etter which I may be therefore. The II fame Hifferian object that k) I leaf i was called as car, Sebaffa Might not make that the court to make the Court to Maguffus, make this Alice date in the Name?

(I) H had the so win firstion of their King som (1)

He fignalized himself after an extraordinary manner in making his Court to Casus Cafar, when sent into the East by his Grand-father * Augustus. This was (G) very Fatal to him in the End, for Tibersus calling to Mind that he had received no manner of Civility from him during his Abode in Rhodes, and that on the other fide, Casus Casar had received a Thousand Honours from him, resolved to take his Revenge, as soon as he found himself Master of the Empire, accordingly he summon'd him to appear at Rome (H), and assign'd him the Senate for Judge of the Accusations which should be brought against him But Age, the (I) Gout, and above all, the Indignity of the Treatment soon broke his Heart, tho' the Senate had not pronounced Sentence against him. It's believ'd he avoided the (K) Sentence of the Senate, by feigning himself mad. He died in the Year of Rome 770, and in the 52d of his Reign, and Cappadocia (L) was then reduced into a Province His Family boasted of a most Ancient

P Norris affirms it politively, I have chose to make use of an Expression which imports not that this (m)' A'u the Fact is sound in the Ancient Books, but that it ought to be judged very agreeable to Reason What makes me ipeak with some Caution is, that Strabo says nothing more than that Pythodoris (m) dwelt with her Husband Archelaus, during his Life She knew how to command, it's not impossible then that she might have govern'd her Children's Estates alone Ipsi Archelau fin modern's Sumath meet that she prudens mulier & sumath meet that a segritual meet that a command of that those we slighted them Vermansit view are often destin'd by Providence to the highest Stations But let those beware who slighted them Vermansit view are so reasonable as Lewis the XII who said that a King of France ought not to revenge the Injuries done to a Duke of Orleance Our Archelaus acted like a Politician He was sure that Augustus of that Young Prince was to succeed his Grand-sather Tiberius was in some kind of Disgrace in the Isle of (a) See the Rhodes. which did not presage him the Empire Tiberius was in some kind of Disgrace in the Isle of Rhodes, which did not presage him the Empire Archelaus believ'd he hazarded nothing in neglecting Archelaus believ'd he hazarded nothing in hegically him, and befides had a hint that he might expose himself by cultivating his Friendship. He believ d that all the Honours he did Casus Casar were a Fund of Advantages, and Rewards for Life. But he was deceived, and little consider'd the Ingenuity of Livia deceived, and little consider'd the Ingenuity of Livia has been been apply to the Throng for her own Son to clear the way to the Throne for her own Son Casus and his Brother did not live long, and 'tis probable she knew the Reason of it After all, It s often the truest Policy to treat those after a handfome manner (s) whom we see in the Road of high Preferment, tho' for the Present in Disgrace Let's produce the Authorities which inform us of Tiberius's Resentments (b) Rex Archelaus, Tacitus lays quinquagesimum annum Cappadocia potiebatur, in-1ays quinquagesimum annum Cappadocia potiebatur, invisus Iiberio quod eum Rhodi agentem nullo officio coluisset Nec id Archelaus per superbiam omiseiat, sed ab intimis Augusti monitus, quia sorne e Caso Casare, misoque ad rei Orientis intuta Tiberii amicita credebatur Dion tays (c) almost the fame thing Tiberius Cappadocia regem Archelaum infinsus et quia cum olim fibi is suppliregem Archelaum infensus et quia cum olim stoi is suppli-casset, suoque patrocimio susus, cum ab incolis apud Au-gustum accusaretur, suisset, Rhodi se neglexisset, ac Gaium in Asia venintem officiose coluisset, insimulatum quass novis rebus studeret, evocavit Romam We learn from this Passage, that Tiberius complains not only of Archelaus's Incivility, but also of his Ingratitude The Circumstance of the Place might also exaspe-rate the Imperor, for the Island of Eleusa, where Archelaus resided, was but (d) Fisteen thousand Paces distant from Rhodes (H) He summon d him to appear, and assign'd him the Senate for Judge] Dion relates (e) this Insimulatum quasi novis rebus studeret, evocavit Romam, ac Senatus judicio tradidit. He was accused of a Crime against the State. Tacitus does not seem to be of this Mind, he intimates very plainly, that Tiberius only complain'd of Archelaus's Incivility, and encouraged him to hope, that by his Presence and Prayers he might obtain Pardon (f) Ut versacasa rum sobole imperium adeptus est, clicit Archelaum matris rum Jobole imperium adeptus est, elicit Archelaum matris literis, qua non dissimulatis offinsionibus elementiam offirebat, si ad precandum venires. This Openness with regard to the Personal Offences, cover'd over a most dangerous Snare Either the King of Cappadecia did not perceive it, or durst not act as if he did. He went immediately to Rome, was very coldly received by Tiberius. and found himself a ry coldly receiv'd by Tiberius, and found himself a little after cited to Justice Ille (g) ignarus doli, vel fintelligere crederetur vim metuens, in urbem properat, exceptusque immiti a principe, & mex accusatus in Sena-tu Suctonius (h) has spoken of this Action of Tiberius only in general Terms Reges infestos suspettos-

que comminationibus magis & querelis quam vi repressit lostr in quos dam per blanditias atque promissa extrattos ad se non vit Apols remissi, ut--- Archelaum Cappadocem I Question lib I c 7 whether Archelaus, notwithstanding his Age, was (L) Mr not tempted to raise some Insurrection, after the de Tile-Death of Augustus, for mention is made of one (1) montt 1 of his Plots, which could only concern that time p 107 (1) His Area the Gout, but above all let's view of the point of the point of the could be the point of the could be the point of the point of the could be the point of the po of his Plots, which could only concern that time p 17

(1) His Age, the Gout, but above all let's Falfly as hear I saitus Mox accusatus in Senatu non ob criming cribesto qua fingebantur, sed angore, simul fissis sinio, o quia Dion, the regibus aqua nedum insima insolita sunt, sinem vita sponsaying that te an sato implevit shift this this trian does not know Archelaus whether a chelaus kill d himself, or only sink under whether Achelaus kill d himself, or only sunk under was acted Weight of his Missorium, but from his Relation it may be inserted, that that Prince wis not the Senate, condemn d, and consequently not put to Death upon his Dion will inform us of moie Circumstances

(K) That he avoid d the Sentence of the Senate by feiting feigning himself mad Dion affirms that Archelaus beMadness and almost superannuated, past for a Dotard, that (1) Tib neggertheless he had all his Senses, but counterfeired of the ing almost superannuated, past for a Dotard, that (1) Tib nevertheless he had all his Senses, but counterfeited Casarate Madman, because he found no other way to ut has arfave his Life, that for all this, he would have suffer'd Death (k), if a False Witness had not accused authoritation of Thieatning Words, and of saying, that the Cappawhen he should return to his Kingdom, he, would dociain show Tiberius that he did not want Courage. This populo Respective to the land of the say thew Tiberius that he did not want Courage This populo R caus'd iomeLaughter, and turn dTiberius from the Defign of putting him to Death He was io weak and pendiafpent, that they carry d him in Little to the Senate House Dion adds, that for that Time Archelaus tere liberated by the box dead a little after. Dion has House Dion adds, that for that Time Archelaus tere libeicaped Death, but died a little after Dion has 2 cap 39 not contradicted the Text of my Remark, for if (m) Regthe Falle Witness fav d Archelaus's Life, it was only num in because twas judged, that the Threats of a fupeiprovinannuated decayed Man were a certain Proof of a ciam red Delirium, a Dotage, and second the State of dictum Childhood, Ge By this it may appear, that Xiphi-eff I acit linus had not the best Judgment when he suppress ubi supra sed the seago'd Dotage of Archelaus. This is a fact (n) Paulo fed the feign'd Dotage of Archelaus This is a Fact (n) Paulo which ought not to be pais'd over, tho aWrites were post objet never so concile David, Brutus, and tome others have (Archemade thir Advantage of such Dissimulation, I con- laus) ac fels it, and therefore they are singular Adventures, and inde Capfuch as an Abbreviator ought to remember Let us padocia not forget what Dion observes, that Archelau had quoque really been next to an Idiot sometime before by the Romano-same Token, that Augustus had given him a Tutor, rum juris who was Regent of his Kingdom I can't tell whe-effects, ther it was on that Occasion, that he had recourse equivique to the Protection of Tiberius IIe had recourse to regenda him when he found himself accused by his Subjects data Dio But might he not have been represented as a 1 ool, lib 57 P at a Time when he had Reason enough left to desire 614 that he might not be put under Lution, and to (a) Strabo maintain, that it was only out of Malice, that his lib 12 Subjects would have him be thought unfit to govern? It's hard to clear this Point The Ancient History. Sueton in ans had a way of Relating Things only in the Gross, so that they gave but a slight lidea of some of the more Minute Particulars Their Method is very good, however, there is an Art of specifying the Facts in sew Words, and By the By, which would be of great Use, if Writers had the Will, or the Skill to practice it One History in Folio, might by the Help of this Arr, remove a Thousand Disputes, and clear an hundred Particulars, without containing above Fifty Pages But might he not have been represented as a lool, lib 57 P ing above Fifty Pages

(L) And Cappadocia was then reduced into a pro- Mithridavince | Pilleius (l) Pa crulius, Taistus (m), (r) Diticis, pag
en, and (e) several others, affirm the same thing plainly Germanicus (p) was the Man who executed that Norris, Order Appion was very much mistaken in saying, cenot (q) that the Kingdom of Cappadocia was reduced in-Pisan p to a Province under Augustus P Norris, who corrected that Fault of Appian, has found Two very

* The year of Rome

> pag 382 (e) See the Article of Apollodo-(a) This was Pomponius Atticus Rule See the R cmark A of his Ar-(b) Tacit Annal 1 2 C 24 (c) D10 l1b 57

> > (d) Strab
> > 1 14 P
> > 448
> > (e) D10 nbi fupra

(f) Tacit Ann 1 2 c 42 (g) Id ib (h) Suet in Tiber C 37 See allo Eutropius

(M) and noble Extraction We shall say somewhat of his Posterity in the Article of Glaphyra There's fome Ground to think, that he composed (N) Books The Joseph Address he * made use of to appeale Herod's fierce Anger towards his Son Alexander, Antiq 1 shows that he was not incapable on Occasions of some masterly Strokes. Some have 16 c 12 confounded him (O) with Archelaus the Son of Hisol 1 can't find that Eutropius Jud 1 says what a Modern Author † imputes to him, that Archelaus at his Death bequeath'd cap 17 his Kingdom to the People of Rome, and that Cappadocia was reduced into a Province | Nolidus, him about the state of t by that Title Mr de Tillemont might have been very well affur d of a thing which he feems to 4 Doubt of, to wit, that the same Archelaus, who was king of Coppadotia, obtained, by Augustus's Favour, part of Cilicia, and the lesser Amn i Mr Morers has committed several Faults of Omission in this Article His Continuator has made only 4 Hist decome of Commission, but one that shall match any (P) four, its so very 1 normous rpm >

(r) Noris ibid pag 216 (1)Chron reformat t 1 1 5 c 9 n 5 lıb 12 pig 273 nand de regnor & tempor fuccess pag 645 apud Noldium de vit Hero pag 194

2 c 42 (x) Id 1b

(y) Jo-feph de

bello Jud

(r) confiderable Faults in Riccioli, one in point of (r) considerable Faults in Riccioli, one in point of Genealogy, and the other in point of Chronology. The Words which he sets down from that Author are these Summoto (1) Mithridate creatus est, Cappadocum consensu a Romanis Ariobarcanes, tandem Archelao pronepote mortuo Roma Consulibus C Calio Ruso & L Pomponio, ut ait Tacitus, id est anno 84 anti Christum, desistregnare in Cappadocia. These Words have all the Air of a maim'd Passage. It is no rare thing for Printers to skip over whole Lines. Be that how it will, Archelius did not descend from Ariobarcanes, (this is the Genealogical Liron of Ricciolis), and the the will, Archelous did not descend from Anobarzanes, (this is the Genealogical Liror of Riccioli,) and the Consulate of C. Calins Russ, and of L. Pomponius, in which he died at Rome, hapned in the Seventeenth Year of J. L. S. U. S. C. H. R. I. S. T., this is his Chronological Liror Strabo (1) testifies in plain Terms, that Archelous was not related to Ariobarzanes. It a serve of the conference of the serve of the ser rex ab its factus est Ariobarzanes, cujus in tertia stirpe genus defect Exinde Archelaus ab Antonio rex est constitutus NULLA AFFINITATI 19/15 conjunctis The Error that Noldius imputes to Jornandes, a much different from that of Appian He says (t) that Cappadocia became a Province in the time of the Emperor Claudius, by Vertue of the Iast Will and Testament of Archelaus By the way, the Revenues of Cappadocia were to confiderable when Archelaus died, that Tiberius thought himself by this new Acquisition in a condition to remit one Moiety of a I ax which he had order'd to be levy d (v) Regnum (Archelai) in provinciam redailum est, frustibulque ejus lewari posse centesima vestigal professus Casar, cucentesimam in posserum statuit. He eas'd (x) that Province too, and would not draw from it is much as it had paid to the last King

(N) Of a most Ancient, and noble Extraction | Gla-phyra (y) the Daughter of the last A chilaus, and Wife of Alexander the Son of Herod, spoke often of the Nobility of her I amily, and boasted that she was descended from Temenus on the I ather's Side, and from Darius, the Son of Hystaspes, on the Mo-

(N)There's some ground-that he composed Books] Plany teems to suggest this lie quotes Archelaus teveral Times, and it's judged that in Two Places he means our Archelaus King of Cappadocia He gives him that I itle in one of these Two Quotations Archelaus Singh he was a restricted to the second and the second archelaus Singh he was a restricted to the second archelaus Singh he was a restricted to the second archelaus Singh he was a restricted to the second archelaus Singh he was a restricted to the second archelaus Singh he was a restricted to the second archelaus Singh he was a restricted to the second archelaus Singh he was a restricted to the second archelaus Singh he was a restricted to the second archelaus Singh he was a restricted to the second archelaus s ons, Archelaus, lays he, qui regnavit in Cappadocia, (a) and the Discourse there being about some Particulars concerning Amber, I ather Hardouin (b) makes no question but that the same Archelaus is meant in the 7th Chaper of the 37th Book of Pliny, where one Archelaus is quoted concerning the Properties of a fort of precious Stone Neither does he doubt that this is taken out of the Book de lapidibus, quoted by (c) Plutarch To fay iomewhat mfore certain, I shall point out a Place of Pluty (d) where decided is reckened among the Kings (d), where Archelaus is reckon d among the Kings who had written of Agriculture I have already (e) mention d another Archelaus often quoted by

(O) Have confounded him with Archelaus the Son of Herod] P Norris (f) has convicted R icioli of this Error Riccioli had faid, that in the Trial between Archelaus and his Brother concerning Herod's Succession, Tiberius pleaded for him before Augustus, and pretends to prove it from this Passage of Suetoneus, (g) Cevelium officiorum rudimente Arch laum, Tralianos, & Theffalos varia quojque de confa, Augusto cognoscente desendit And as Vellerus Pateriul's informs him, that Tiberius left Rhodes to return to kome in the Year 755 he concludes, that Andelaus vas made Ethnarch in that Year, and not in 751, or before P Norrus shews him in the Passage of Don quoted above, that the Words of Sustemms ought to be understood of Archelaus King of Cappingua He might have added an Instance which destoys the Supposition of Receiole, to wit that Tiberius detended (1) Total Archelaur's Caule before he went to Rhace is plain from Dion's Words, and may clearly be in Suct 11 feer d from those of Suctionius, who makes Tiberius s bet a g Pleadings for Archelaus the first, in the Lists of the mirt. Causes undertaken by him, when(if I may so speak) ne roll u he made his first Campaigns at the Bar civilium of sich in ficionum rudimenta Torrentius (h) is of the same Opinion Chion & with Riccioli, to wit that Succonius meant the great I celei Trial of Archelaus the Son of Herod, and refers us hift I i to Josephus But how could they not perceive that and so Jo in this Cale Tolephus could not possibly be ignorant teph Anofthis good Office of Tiberius, and it he knew it, that tiq I i / he could not but have mention due I be greatered to be a he could not but have mention dit? I m surprized that c P. Norm, who makes such frequent and vigorous () Silian Attacks upon the Jesuit Salian, has spard him on Annal in this Occasion. That Jesuit is fall into the same Schol id Fault as Riccioli, he his centur d (i) Casauson for ann Chiphaving apply d (k) the Passing of Suetomus to still 3 n. 7 Archelaus King of Cappadoir he has represented to (l) Comhim, that the Cause of this Prince was debated in Suetomus the Reign of Tiberius, he has maintain'd that Ar. (l) Sechelaus the Son of Herod, must consequently be un. Noldius derstood in this Place, and he has provid from this de visible. chelaus the Son of Herod, must consequently be understood in this Place, and he has proved from this deviting. Supposition, that JESUS CHRIST must have gestis the stand Two Years in Egypt. For, says he, Fiberial rodum, produced to Rome in the Second Year of 194 & JLSUS CARIST, yet he was at Rome when Air sequence the disputed Herod's Succession with his Brothers, (m) see seeing he honoured him with his Protestion. See Apping in here how I aults are heaped upon I aults when the Mithinga soundation is ill laid. It is as clear as Day, that the tests King of Cappadocial stood his I rial in the Presence (n) In of Augustus, before Tiberius retir'd to the Island of Epiton) of Rhodes (1)

(P) But one that shall match any Four, it's so very the Al-Enormous The Continuator tays, that sylla (it's chelaus his own Orthography) after having taken the City d live of of Athens kill d Archelaus General of Mithidates s up th Here Army with his own Hind at the Foot of the Altai, of Mithia where he had taken Refere He quotes Mulus Gel dates to lius lib 14. It's certain Mulus Gellius does i peak in the Rothe Lift (hapter of his liteenth Book of 7 thing mans the Continuator has mention d, I mean of a De-Aurelius vice which Archelaus made use of to hinder the Ro-Victor mins from firing a Tower of Wood, which defended (5) rhat the Pyreum We shall see herenster what it was but Sylle his faying, that Archelous took Retuge in a Temple Chilem and that Sylla kill d him himself at the Loot of the Mithrida Altar, is most false. I do not think that any Autis production thor worthy of Credit has fud this, for it is noto- tione Arious, that Archelaus (m) having constraind Sylla chelia in to give over Attacking the Pyreum, and bend ill his tercepit I orce against the City, had time to retire when it see Strab was taken by Assault Sylla pursued him, gund 1 12 p great Victories over him, and obliged him to make 314 Strab Discover against the land of the see the land him, gund 1 12 p a Disadvantageous Peace Achelaus finding him also 117 self suspected of some Misdemeanors (n) durit not p 547 trust Mithridates, and so went over to Murina, who trust Mithridates, and so went over to Murina, who commanded the Romans. He was received with Honour, as Strabo has observed in more Places than one (a) 11 v de ut Agyera of the mass of the Agyera of the Secret of Preserving his sower of Wood consisted in causing it to be well rubb'd with Allum I think that carretries is the only Historian who has mentioned this of there say that syllas sometiments of the were ruin'd by the Besieged It is certain that Allum has not the Virtue Duachigates of These are his Words (p) such as the Sulls conati, of the tempore manner educing cools ut Age these

This tent in

(a) Plin hb 37 c 3 p m (b) Harddúin in Indice Autor Plin See also Mal Par (i) Plu de fluviis p 1153 (d) Plin 1 18 c 3 P 440 (e) See she Remark C of that Atchelaus the Philo-Sopber (f) Cenot Pulan p

148 (g) Suet c 8

* Hero-12 Lucianus in Pfeudol

ARCHILOCHUS, a Greek Poet, a Native of the Island of * Pharos, and the Son of (A) Telesceles, flourish'd in the (B) 29th Olympiad A. Terrent of Slander altogether assonishing was the Character of his Poetry Terrible with the Power of it, since Lycambus hang'd himself upon a virulent Satyr that Architectus had made on him The Indignation of this Poet proceeded from a Breach of Primise, Lycambus, had promised him his Daughter, and afterwards resu'd her to him Architectus took the matter to to heart, either because he lov'd the Fair One, or that some particular of the matter io to heart, either because he lov'd the Fair One, or that some particular (d) Care Slight had been join d to the Resusal, that he set open all the Flood gates of his Gall, eiter win effectually to beipatter Lycambus It's likely he brought all the Family into his Pasqui- gesiman nades, Olympia-chelas turrim unam, quam ille interposuit, ligneam in-cenderet venit accessit ligna subdidit submovit Græcos igum admovit satis sunt diu conati nunquam quiverunt incendere ita Archelaus omnem materiam obleverunt incendere ita Archelaus omnum materiam obleverat alumine quod sulla atque milites mirabantur, &, possiguam nonsuccendit, reduxit copias. It the Abbot de la Reque had been appriz d of this Passage of Aulus Gellius, he would not have faid (q), "That His story mentions that Sylla formerly undertook to burn a Tower of Wood, that was defended by one of Mishridates & Lieutenans, but never could "execute his Design, because it was done over with a certain Drug, THE NAME WHEREOI IS "NOT YLT COME TO OUR KNOWLEDGE, which had the Virtue to quell the Activity of Fire' Two Things make me wonder, One, ' Fire ' that feeing Quadrigarius has mention d fo extraordi nary an Accident, all the other Historians should have faid nothing of it The Other, that seeing fo many Historians have not faid a Word of it, Quadrigarius shou'd speak of it in so express a manner I acts of this kind strike the Mind in such a manner, that an Incombustible Tower of Wood had been the last I hing any Relation would have omitted 574s would infallibly have inferted it in his Memoirs, Plutarch (r) who quotes'em so often, would have found it in em, and not torgot to have mention'd it Let us conclude from his Silence, and from that of fo many other Historians, that the Fact is false But from whence should Quadrigarius have taken it? I believe it's impossible to find out the Original of his Error It's true indeed, that Plum-Allum will refist I ire, and won t consume, but to rub over a Tower of Wood with it, and render it incombustible 1s a Thing which I conceive, is impracticable

(A) The son of Teleficles | This we find not only in Suidas, but also in Ocemanus, quoted by Eusebius (s) (B) Flourish'd in the 29th Olympiad] Authors vary all tile upon this Tatian and St Cyril have placed Archilocus in the 23d (t) Olympiad Alexandrinus places him in the 20th Others (v) in the 15th, in the 18th, and in the 19th Giver (a) makes him to have lived in the Reign of Romulus Cornelius Nipos (y) places him in the time of Tullius Hostil us Horodotus (z) will not only have it that he made Verses on the Adventures of Giges and Candaules, but also that he lived at the same time Lulebius makes him flourish in the 29 Olympiad It is easy to reconcile some of those Authors, but not all, for the Revolution that hapned in Lydia by the Death of Candaules and the Installation of Gyges, fell out in the 17th (a) Olympiad The Death of Romulus hapned in the preceding Olympiad The Reign of Tullus Hostilius takes in the space of time between the first Year of the 27th Olympiad, and the first Year of the 35th Salmasius, who was very happy in removing a Mistake in Solinus, could not perceive one of his own Solinus has been thought-less enough to place the Three Orators of the Fami-Iets enough to place the Three Orators of the Family of the Curios, Architochus, and Sophocles, in the fame Age Plurimi, tays he, (b) inter Romanos eloquencia floruerunt, sid hoc bonum hereditarium nunquam fuit nist in familia Curionum, in qua tres serie continua oratores suere, magnum hoc habitum est sance o saculo quo facundiam pracipue & humana & divina mirata lunt quippe sunc percusores Archilochi poeta Apollo pro-didit, & latronum facinus Deo coarguente detettum, cum-que Lysander Lacedamonius Athenas obsideret, ubi Soprocles tragice inhumatum corpus jacebat , identidem Li-Plin exeror Pater ducem monust per quietem sepeliri delicias suas cit p 52

interes, nec prius destitis, &c Salmassus observes (c), that one of these Curios lived in the time of Julius Casar, that Architochus lived in the time of Tarquin the Proud, and that Sophocles did not appear till above two Ages after Archilochus He has reason then to laugh at Solinus, but is in the wrong to place Archi-lochus in the time of Tarquin the Proud, who reign'd from the 3d Year of the 61st Olympiad, to the last Year of the 67th I say, he is in the wrong to place him to this time, seeing he elsewhere fixes him to the (d) 29th Olympiad Having committed this Fault, of chus Id (d) 29th Olympiad Having committed this rault, or thus Id making Archilochus and the last King of Rome Contemporaries, he ought not to have reckon'd Two (e) Scal Hundred Years between Architectus and Sophocles, in Euseb for the Death of the latter hapited in the 92d Olympiad more or less. Another Great Man (e) has suffer'd himself to be too much led away by the Spirit (f) 78 % for the latter hapited in the 92d Olympiad for the latter hapited in the 92d Olympiad for the latter hapited in the 92d Olympiad for the 1658 f of finding Fault, when he charges Hirodotus as having As xiamade use of a pitiful Argument, to prove that Archilocous lived in the time of Gyges, to wit, his saying that Archilochus mention'd that King I confeis this Argument would be abfurd, but it is not true vor promethat Herodotus made use of it, he has only supposed vo ev in it (f), but drawn no Consequence from it auto 751-

(1), but drawn no consequence from it

(C) A Torrent of Slander — was the Character of his Poetry] Hence it is, that Horace consider'd Archilochus as a Madman, (g) Arcilochum proprio rabies armavit iambo, and when an Idea was to be given of a Satyr extremely sharp, it was faid to be like those & Archiof Archilochus

of Archilechus

(b) In malos asperrimus Parata tollo cornua Qualis Lycambe Spretus infido gener Ovid, when in the lame Spirit, uses this Threat, Postmodo si pergas, in to mihi liber iambus Tinëla Lycambio sanguine tela dabit These two Lines are in his Poem in Ibin fo full of Scandal, that they (1) who believ'd he made it in Imitation of Archilectus, would be excu-fable, if it were not apparent by these two Verses,

Nunc que Battiades inimicum devevet Ibin, that Ovid proposed to imitate the Poet Callimathul There are I know not how many Proverbs that eter nize the Slanders of our Poet, Archilochia editta, ap μλοχου παίεις, Athibito.hum ters, &c The first is us Aretz-found in Cicero, who made use of it to represent nus in the Edicts which the Consul Bibulus order'd to be commenthe Ldiets which the Conful Bibulus order'd to be commen-fix'd up That poor (onful (k) not daring to tariis de flir out of his House, retain'd only some Sha- orthogra-dow of Authority, to revenge himself by Pasqui- phia, & nades, whereby he set forth (1) Casar's most infa- Jacobus mous Debauches, and told all his Enemies their Lanius I. own This Cicero calls Architectua editta, which 2 subsec-pleas'd Folks so extremely, that a Person could less c 4 hardly get through the Press in the Streets where apud Dia-they were fix'd up. for the Become vin in Growde apud Salthey were fix'd up, for the People run in Crowds to read them, which put Pompey horridly in the Spleen (m) Archilochia in illum Bibuli edicta ita populo sunt jucunda, ut eum locum ubi proponuntur, pra multitudine corum qui legunt praterire nequeamus, ita ipsi acerba ut tabescat dolore, mihi mehercule melesta quod or eum quem semper dilexi nimis excruciaut. As trache Proverb, Archilochum teris, I don t believe et di-fies what Erasmus imagines, a Slanderer who assads in the steps of Archilochus, or studies his Books, but a Man who having offended Archilochus, ought to fear the Destiny of him who having trod on a Serpent, immediately receives a mortal Sting. what Lucian (n) puts into Archilochus's Mouth against fomebody who had flander'd him, Alis cicada comprehendisti, and you'll not doubt that the Explication minilalind of Erasmus, how conformable soever to Suidas s quam per Thought, is false At the same time I do not de-edicta ny that πα[εν is (0) fometimes taken as terere for nuncial leftitare Aristophanes says in his Birds, ωδ' αισωπου τες πεπάτηκας There are some Epigrams in the An-lochusParius qui per idem tempus Santapo rimetro Herod 1 (g) Hor de art poct (b) Id epod 6 (1) Johannes to be commennyf Salvagnium Bocffium Comment in Ibid p m 25 (k)In eam Coegit de [perationem, fit drong notestate abtom- abditus.

dem in-claruit Archilo-

(1) Id ib cap 49 (m) Cicer ad Attic Fpist 21 lib 2

Βιδλ Θ μεν είς την οικιαν καθακλεισαμαν Θ οκίω μενώ, ε περοϋλδεν υπαθεύων αλλ' εξεπεμ ε διαγεμματα ελασφημιαι αμφούν εχοντα κ) κα τηρορίας Bibulus domi abditus non produit octo confulatus sui menses in publicum, edicta tantum propositit maledictorum & probrorum in ambos (Pompeium & Cariarem) plena Plutarch in Pomp p 644 (n) Lucian in Pseudolog to 2 p 548 See the Aarticle of Tettix (o) This has been communicated tome by Mr de la Monnoie thologia,

(q) Journ des Sav of the 15 of Fib 1677 P 123 54

(r) Plut

in vita Svlle (s) Lufeb 1607 præp Lvang p aso item 1 5 C 33 r 227 (1) See Vossius de Post Gr (v) Anonymus in defeript Olymp apud Voifium ib culan 1 init (y) Apud Gellium (x) Lib r C 13 (2) See rethus Calvatius id ann

Mundi

m 65

(c) Sal

39 P

(v) Sohn 2 lub fin

nades; for it is fand (D) that the Daughter follow'd the Father's Example, and time fay that Three more of Lycambus s Daughters died at the same time of Grief and Despair. It's probable he reveal'd some Adventures that were extremely scandalous, and yet conceal'd from the Publick It seems at least that there were some very obscene Passages in his Poem, for that Satyr was the occision why (E) the Lacedemonian, tak 'Plutarch ing into their ferious Consideration, that the reading such Filth was offensive to chaste Instit Lie-Ears, prohibited Archilochus's Verses Some I ave said * that he himself was banish'd con pag from Lacedemon; but the Reasons they give for it are drawn from a Maxim he had inferted in one of his Poems, That a Person had better throw awing his Arras than lose his quiseLife He had writ that Poem in (I) his justification His Slanders which sometimes roanugave him trouble enough in (G) his Business, and spared not even (H) his own retion, did not put him out of Apollo's Favour, for when he had been kill d in Battel, the Oi acle of Delphos | drove (I) his Murtherer out of the Temple, nor was it to be appeared to but by dint of Excuse and Prayer, and after all, order'd him to go to a certain * House, Suidas and there appeare the Ghost of Archibochus And yet this Person had kill d him for the sector of the Sector of Sector of Sector of Sector of Sector of the Sector of Secto gave him trouble enough in (G) his Business, and spared not even (H) his own Person, mine pu-

(p) Anthol 1 3 Cap 25 Vide etiam Salmalium exercit Plinian P 394, 395 (q) Non res & agentia verba Lycamben -- Nec focerum quærit quem ver-fibus oblinat atris, Nec fponfæ laqueum famofo carmine nectit . Horat epist 19 (r) Ub1 1upra (1) In 6 Epod
(t) Lib 6 cap 3 (a) Pind Pythior Od 2 (b) Sec Benediétus in Pındar

thologia, which give us a very strong Idea of the Slanders of this Man Cerberus is exhorted to keep a Slanders of this Man Cerberus is exhorted to keep a ftricter Watch than ever, and to take heed of being hit, since Archilochus was gone to Hell (p) We shall see in the Remark (H) that he slander'd himself (D) That the Daughter follow d the Father's Example 1 I have said that Archilochus took the matter much to heart, but his Grief was nothing in compaction of what his hather in law and Mittee (1)

parison of what his Father-in law and Mistres, suf-fer'd He was eased by a cruel Satyr, but Lycambus and his Daughter found their Comfort only in an Halter Horace speaks only of the Father's (7) Halter Horace speaks only of the Father's (q) Hanging, and that of the Daughter who was piomis d Archilochus But in the Anthologia (r) tis said, that Two, or Three Daughters of Lycambus hang d themselves See in the Article Hipponax some Ixamples of the Unlucky and Mortal Effects of Satyr Let's not forget what one of Horace's (s) Scholiusts has observ'd, That Neobula (so he calls the Daughter who had been contracted to Archilochus) did now hang her self for the Satyr of her Gallant, but for Sorrow at her Fathers Deplorable End Most Readers will be for the Anthologia, in which Archilochus is represented as the immediate Cause Archilochus is represented as the immediate Cause

(E) That Satyr was the Reason why the Lacedemonians | Valerius Maximus affirms it in express Terms (1) Lacedamonii libros Archilochi e civitate sua exportari jusserunt, quod eorum parum vericundam ac pudicam lectionem arbitrabantur Noluciunt enim ea liberorum fuorum animos imbui, ne plus moribus noceret quam inge-nius prodess t Itaque maximum poetam, aut certe summo proximum, quia domum sibi invisam obscenis malidi-Hislaceravera, carminum exilio multas unt
(I) In his justification] See the Remark H

(G) Trouble enough in his Business | Pindar informs me of this particular, for he affirms that though Archilichus fed upon Slander, yet he was often enough put to his Shifts

(a) Fidor γρεκας εων τα τολ-Ψογεον Ας γιλοχον, Εαρυνο-γοις έχ Βεζιν παιι διέλεσι

Vidi enim procul existens sepe in angustiu conviciato-rem Archilochum dum maledicis odiis pinguesteret

Arcus did not understand (b) this Passage, since he took it in this Sense, that Archilochus got well by his Slanders, and rais'd himself by 'em from the Mifery he had been in to Honour and Riches The word maren which signifies to fatten, was the ground of his miltake, and he ought to have remember'd that to this day to feed and grow fat upon any thing fignifies figuratively to take an extraordinary pleasure in it. No doubt Ovid had an eye to this Passage of Pindar, when in his Poem against 1bu, he says,

Utque repertori nocuit pugnacus i ambi,

Sie fit in evitium lingua proterva tuum

We shall see in the Remark I, that they who (c) say that Slandering cost Archilochus his Life are mista-

(H) And did rot spare even his own Person] This Poet took in strange a delight in Slander, that not content to pull his Neighbour in pieces, he could not forbear (d) defaming himself. For which Critics (e) blames him, faying, that if our had not been for him we should not have known that his Mother Fripone was a Slave, that meet Poverty force d him to quit the life of Paros, and remove to that of Thaf u that he made himself odious there by flandering his I riends and I oes, that he was extreamly addicted to Women, and very infolious and wheel up of (1) of all that he had thrown folent, and what's worst (f) of all, that he had thrown away his Buckler in a Fight The Scholiast on Aristophia Leti, x nes(g) informs us that in the War against the Sa e i a People of Thrace, Architochus threw down his Ain's and fled to fave his Life Arflophanes (1) borrow d a couple of that Poet's Verles concerning this Adventure, upon which his Scholialt gives us this Gloss Pluarch repeats the same Verses and something more

As mis (1) ולני ב מושו חוג מו מוא) וו שיבו שמן וני ואת לם אם עם דו מבע עם ו משמעם פסועם 'דעו

1 рреты байды к нограм на Nunc aliquis nostra se ex hostibus aspide jattet Sub vepre quam reliqui invitus integram Illa quidem valeat, nunc ipse a cladi superstes

In the mean time our Run-away had a greater Ambition to be call d a Soldier than a Poet (L) Fiw Pace See of easy Security 1969 'Liveation aiax of hai ello Stratusow ecotor discov etizulatio Martin iego culbo his tor sum Amabile musarum donum ego quoque didici partin rank'd the Posts of Honour after the same (1) In (10) manner, he gave the first place to Arms, and in mad deferibing his House (1) he makes no mention of Pace cir Books, but of Helmets and Bucklers, all smells of cassinem the Arsenal about him, and not of the Library (1) Plut Nevertheless it's well known that he saved himself in institution Battel by dint of Heels, and not by his Arms 1 acon passes the Remark (D) of his Article See the Remark (D) of his Article

(1) Drove his Murtherer ou of the Temple] The (k) Athen Name of him who kill'd Archilochus was Callondus lib 14 c Corax (m), a Native of the Isle of Naxis. The 6 p 6 7 Priestess of Delphos drove him out of the Temple, (n) because he had kill'd a Man confectated to the (1) Apud Muses. And yet he had kill'd him in a just War, Athen 1 as we find much clearer in Suidas than Plutarch 14 C 5 as we find much clearer in Suides than Plutarch 14 C 5. For this Reason it can't be supposed that Pliny had (m) 1 lu-For this Reason it can t be supposed that Pliny had (m) 1 lining this place all the requisite exactness, when he tarch desiad (o) in the Plural Number, Archilo his poeta internis qui sefestores Apollo arguit Delpha. His Copier Solinus affersolving to play the Paraphrast, has left himself without excuse, since he had the boldness to say that 560 Sui that Poet was kill d by Robbers, Percusores (p) Ar das in chilochi poeta Apollo prodidit, & larronum facinus Deo coarquente detestum. Euseous quotes (q) a Greek Augeot chias to the Murderer of Archilochus, he says, Quanto chilochi he Murderer of Archilochus, he says, Quanto chilochi he Murderer of Archilochus, he says, Quanto chilochum occidit Archilosa a templo quassi com no number occiderat. Galen (s) has repeated the Words of the (n) 1, Oracle. Oracle

און ול ול בין אינושון אינושון אינושון און אינושון אינו nem effundit homin's cju/modi qu opera (ua omni adver- 29) fus multeres obscenitate verborum impleverit, quam ne (v) solin audire quidem homo verecundus possit I don't set cip i p

(q) Citante Harduino in Plin t 2 pag 124 These are or very Words of Oenomaus, it souly his Ihought (1) Deprepar Evang 1 5 c 33 (1) In Suaforia t 2 c 9 1 (1) Do præpar Evang 1 5 c 33
10 apud Harduin 1b
(v) Ibid cap 32 pag 227 (t) Apud Eusebium ibid Tt, Jona

-'As Ts callen (t) 'chot Aruftor h Emam suo non deteriorem tempore In the mean time our Run-away had a greater Am- moed de in Com (I lopier in 1 3 de nat Deor pag 703 Botcius in Indice comment ın Ibin (d) See the Passage of Plutarch which shall be cited in the Remark N 3 (e) Apud Ælian var Hist 1 to c 13

(f) It's

Cretias

Speaks

Pythior

(c)Lesca-

· see the raimus Archilolos Diog I reit in Heracl Oenom 1.35 apud I uteb prapar Eving 1 6 c ilcem Tractatus de re pub 1 ca Lacedamoniorum, p 19 (1) 115 Monfreur HI NRI-CIUS, n hofe Llo gy may lo icen in the Fpifile Dian story to the Ircat / which novius o iblijh d a Luyden in 169, ing to the Laws of Wu stituled. Difquititio de 1cuncula Smetrina quam Harpo-

. i le Marius Victorinus] 3 irt Gran . 1 12E

til lib 1

CIP I

lambick Verse was what this Poet excelling; he was the him (K) in fair Tight Remark L Inventor of it (I), and one of the 2 Poets whom Arifarchus had a w'd in this kind of Poetry * Quintilian places him in some respects above the other of Arifophanes Ode 9 & the Gi immarian sound that Archilochus's Lambick Poems the longer were (M) the ibi so Be- finer The Hymn he made on Hercules and Iolaus had the honour to be constantly nedictus fung Three times in honour of those who gain'd the Victory in the Olympick Games.

See also in There's hardly any thing of his preserved, which with relation to good Manners, the Chili is rather a Gain (N) than a I of They who speak of several Archibochus's (O), multip'y Peings with Necessity If we had the Dialogue composed by Heraclides on the I ite of our Poet, we might in all probability find feveral Particulars in it about him and doubtless we right there find how he conducted * a Colony of Parians into the Island of This 'I was some Honour to be chosen for such a Trust.

ARCHI-

down the Pissige of Or ren, it may be found in the 3d Book against Colfus, in the 125th Page, of the Cambridge Lidition 1677

(K) This Pissign had kill d him in fair Fight]

Thave already laid that Suidan informs us more clearlimits the Mattershap Platench. but I have a form ly of this Matter than Plutarch, but I have fome thing to add that's worth our notice. There's a small I reatise of Republicks attributed to Heraeli There s a des, in which the Priestess's Order is found, commanding the Murtherer of Architectus to depart the Temple, together with the Murtherers Aniwer That Answers in inexplicable Ric'dle in the Lat n'I ranslati-Answers in inexplicable Ric'dle in the Lat n'I inflation I he Frinflitor supposes that the Murtherer answer d, I am Innocent, for I kill d him at a difference, as the Law commands See the Greek and the I ranslation (m) Applop or training koesse the I will start and in the I ranslation (m) Applop or training koesse the Greek and colored treeless of pactive item to I is supposed to the post of the post of the I taque Pythia ad climate active treeless of the post of the post of the I taque Pythia ad climate active treeless of the I taque Pythia ad climate active treeless. templo Cui is responait, as pures sem Rex, eminus e-nim ut lev jubet interfect (Archilochum) A Friend of ruine (1) who is well vers'd in human Leain-ing his own'd to me that he had never he ut of an ing his own'd to me that he had never he iid of an Ldick accounting. Murtherers who kill dat a differen, ind that he did not believe ων χειριν in infied commis. As he was an intimate Friend of Mi Gronov is s, he confulted him on that Difficulty, and this is the learned Answer of that learned Professor. Ly χειςωννόμω, locutio est proposa in practise occison un o occidentium. Quem in ido servore v Igladius, vel alia machina, v l bellua depresendent ad Orei m mittet, is trucida ure er, es ων νομοι lia omnes Gra i or presentim Polybius, ut libro t cap 3 + ka παπαίμεμο οι σωριοδεί ev χειςῶν νόμω διοφορί οι που (ν) idic pugnantes quod quidem non sufficient, nam or in presio multi possum non pugnan es occidi, or tamen ev χειςῶν ιόμω Ruisus codem libro cap 57 i της το αυτά, αεί σιωνθαιε διαφθείρως χίι της σιμπου ες της εν χειςῶν ιόμω βειτεθονίες. There rem uns no tarther disticulty after this Learned Answei, whereby it appears that Go as meant no more than that he had kill d Archilochus in Battel according to the Laws of Wu.

(1) H was he In senter of it] This appears from these Verses of Horace in the 19th Epistle of the 1st

Parces coo primus cambes Official I a 10, numeros animojque secutus Archilochi thatpocraten indigetirunt

(7) That s lo lumripoien us list certain that lambicks

the Pour Malinpoient

Action

That s lo lumripoien us list certain that lambicks

the Pour Malinpoient

The second of t ofa), Ca- this Poets Miffer-piece (1) Fr tribus receptis Aristaniubon chi judicio scriptoribus iamboium ad essi maxime perti-(2)Paterc nelit unus Achilochus Surma in hoc vis elocutionis, cum valida tum brevis vibrante/que fententia, plurimum Quin- |anguinis a que nei vorum a no ut videatur quibufdam prod quoquam or nor est, materia esse non ingenit vittum tate culus then made him the Inventor of it. He would also have been the Inventor of Lpick Poetry, it what is imputed to Inentianus were true, Do-" a laudem et Terentianustribuit, ut & Epicorum visin nventionem libr de metrie, p 86 Thus they
the ik in the Thefaurus Fabri, in the Article of Archib, but when the Pallage of Terentianus Main is is co-dulted, it is easily perceived that the Matter in hand the e is the I pode and not the I pic Poem, not yet would it be certain that the Place which erns 4 chilochus declares him the Inventor of the I pode, if that I tuth were not learnt (a) elsewhere. I hat l'ailige might well enough pais for a Citation alledg'd as an I simple of the Epode ipoken of in this place which is an Hixameter Verse followed by the hilt a of Pentamiti

Hoc do Tum Archilocoum ti adunt genu fe Mag fire Tu mihi Flacce fat es

Lorenze Fabri observes, (b) that ie Greeks the been his hundred Tim i mithout any other but Hexamic trier, reter Verses till Architechus raughe och in the same ter Fosfes till Archilochus taught other kinds with fo pre'ent. much Success, that all began to try their hands on Veises en Muof aisserent Measures, which made the Greek Poetry besique, p of afferent Measures, while made the Licek Poetry be come so fine by this variety of Veriffying

(M) The longer they were, the finer | Cicero informs (c) Ciceus of this Particular, where he applies it to (c) his roepist

I riend Atticus's Letters, Ut Aristophani Archiloch II lib 16

iambus, sie episola longissima quaque optima videtur

The Constitutionary has been made of Demosition (d) ONTE The fame Judgment has been made of Demofitures (d) Oute Orations

Orations
(N) Rather Gain than Loss | Archiloshus & Verses afforded no I xamples but what were bad He had expressed (a) deep Sorrow at the loss of his Safter was On-Husband who died at Sci This Tenderness might have been improved to Edificat on but in him it has it has a fact of Safter would teek his Comfort in Wine, and other sensus of the Pleasures, since his Tears could do his Brother in-Plut de Law no good, nor his Divertions have. The word judiend of this lift taying in his Notes on the fift Chapter Pig 420

(O) Multiply Beings without Necessary A Passige Chron ad of Eusenius missinderstood is the ground of mentioning an Architectus, a Historius and Chronologer, on whom the Impositor of Interbo had the boldness to father a small Book. Here's what Englished Anticep according to the Latin Translation, (f) Licet Architectus vicel main terrain Compander. loch us vicef mam tertiam Oigmpiadem ter It's pretended that the meaning of this is, that upon is according to Architochus's Computation Homes lived found in in the z, d Olympiad But Scaliger has flewed that the Bibliothese desired the state of the Hills the Greek of Fusions fignifies no more than that some oth HilAuthors made Homer and Ar Inlochus flourish at the Panics, of fame time Goropius Becanus (g) had clearly this Schottus, Matter before in the great and curious Colk Stion P 375 relating to Architectus, which he made a made in and the Matter before in the great and curious Collection P 375 relating to Archilochus, which he made on purpose and the to confute the Impostures of Annua of Section following. Thus the pretended Chronologer Archilochus atome to nothing soffius would have done better to have follow d this Correction, than place Archio-Circuis p chus among the Greek Historians. He adds, that Scaliger places him in the Reign of Darius (1) scaliger places him in the Reign of Darius (a the Son of Hystaspes without bringing any Proof of Thome the It I could not find in Scaliger's Notes, white Possus 3d Year of impures to him, neither do I believe he has faid 3d Year of the Sarb shore. impures to him, neither do I believe he has any the 64 my fuch thing Vossius having made mention of our the 64 Poet Architectus in another (1) Book in the 29th O-Vost lympiad, promises to speak of another in the 94th But when we look for him there we only sind one Antilochus Charles Steplens, Lloyd, and Hofman have given us a Lacedomonian Poet Archilochus, who flou given us a Lacedemonian Poet Archilochus, who flou rish'd at Rome in the reign of Tullus Hossilius, and another Archilochus the Son of Nisser, who was kill d by Armon at the Siege of Iroy These are all Chimera's, this last was called Antiloclus, and there needed but little Attention to discover that the Court of the first kings of Rome was no fit Theatre for Greek Poets Most of these last Faults are to be found in Calepin

- Juppu- Tys berc-P G

ARCHIME a Greek Poet, flourish'd in the Reign of (Z) Hiero, King of Syra Sie its

Lege, this appear by the Present which he received from that Monarch. He had made

Description

The Epigram in the fe of a & produgious large Ship which Hiero had order'd to be naus 1 s built. That Epigram was worth him above Five thousand Quarterrs of Corn which p 2 6

this Prince sent him to the Pyreum of Here then is a Poet who may be placed among of Athen

The Could Number and a hare had above five the standard of the sent that the sent had a hare had above five the sent the s that small Number who have had their & Admirals de Joycuse

That Imili Number who have had their & Admirals de Joycuse

ARLTIN (Charles) was of Arezza in Tusan, as his Signame testines, (which mira of may be equally said for all others who are called Arctin) He held a considerable Rank the Signamore the Laurence of the considerable Rank the Signamore the Constant the Constan among the I earned of the 15 Century *Poggias gives him great I logies, but they ought gave as to be suspected, because Charles Aretin was a great Finemy of Phil I phus, whom Poggias hated Ably for a song mortally This Thilesplus 1 complains bitterly of our Arctin, and represents him is a wicked Man, fullof I raid and malicious Subtilities. This ought also to be suspected as coming from such an Enemy as Philesplus, who being tiaturally a Standerer, became much more so by means of the quarrel he had with some other Learned Men. But that how it wishers are disinterested 4 Persons, who say that Charles Arctin understood the Latinard Greek Tongues persectly well, and that he shew d it by some Translations from the Greek. He was besides (A2) a good Poet enough, and wrote some to philesplant includes in Prose. Some pieces of which has its inferted by Albert type in his Margier to Cuel A.

But what discovers his Abilities most of all, is, his having been chosen to term any Peet que But what discovers his Abilities most of ill, is, his having been chosen to retin ann fucceed (A) in the Place of Secretary to the Republick of Place, ifter the Death of 1413 & Leonard Aretin 111 1 143 We do not know the Year of his Death, but it's certain Mr I pull leq Morers is missaken, when he places it in the Year (B) 1442. The Authors he quotes do not say, that our Arctin less a Volume of I etters. * Some behave he was the Brother of John Aratin of whom we shall speak in his Place. But they are missaken. He stall p.96 was very Envious. † of the Honour of his Predecessor I contail Arctin. "Getner was very Envious | of the Honour of his Predecessor I control theten

ARETIN (Iraneis) liv'd in the NVth Century He was a Man of great Read-Bibliothing, and understood the Greek Tongue He translated the Commentaries of St Chry-de Hist Jostom on St John, and Twenty of the same Father's Homilies into Latin He translated lat p son also the Lpistles of Phalaris (A) into Latin There is still extant a Treatise of his de I ilness Puteolanis Thon Anthony C mpanus, who was a Favourate to Pius the Ild, and hen irk Sixtus the IVth, was one of his intimate Friends \(\psi\) Lrasmus (B) did not idmire out Ait le A-

. Argtin's Translations of St Chry/c/lom

(1) Athen

(2) In the Time of Hiero | That is to say, about the Year of Rome 520, and the 136th Olympiad It's likely he lived at Athens, seeing the Present of Corn was carried to the Pyreum I wonder Vossius could forget this Poet The Reward of his Lipitam made him remarkable Athenses has (1) preserved the Lighteen Verses that were so largely paid for Mr Catherinot has not faithfully reported the Circumstance (m) Cather ces of that Reward, he says (m), Archimelus was rewarded by King Hieron with Thorse thousand Quarinot trai- rewarded by King Hieron with Thirty thousand Quarte de la ters of Coin, for an Epigram of Twenty Verses written on a Ship of his

(42) Hi was a good Poet enough] This must be understood in regard of those Times, and I don't question with this Restriction to make my Text pals current, for fee what Mr de la Monnore has writ to me Lilius Gyraldus, who had feen Charles Aretin s Po ms, did not find em cood, and in Truth, from le Quotations to be seen of them in the Diffionary of Tertullius, there is Resson to juage they a e worth of Tertullius, there is Keajon to juage the, nouvelle biblioth de MSS of Tertullius, there is Keajon to juage the, little Tertullius quotes nothing of his but I legiach Verses, but Father Labbe (1) in Iwo or Three Places quotes a Transation of the Battachomyomachia in

H xam ter I erse by Charles Aretin
(A) To succeed Leonard Arctin This we have from in ichus Morentinorum piudentia, tum maxime qued in legendis (ancellariis non juris firentiam ut pler eque civitates, s d oratoriam spectant, & que vocant human -tatis studia Norunt enim recti scribendi d cendique aitem non Bartolum aut Innocentium, sed Iulium Quin tilianumque ti adere. Nos res ea en urbe cornovimus, Gracis O Latinis G conditorum opeium sama illustres, squi Cancilariam alius post alium tinuere, Leonar dum O 'Car olum Arctinos, & Porgium ejuluem reinublica erzem, qui Secre, arius Apostolicus tribus quondam Pont sicibu distarat Epistolas By this Passage the Obscurity or I reor of mother Passage of Ancas Silvius which troubled. troubled toffier, must be corrected, and it is this (i) Leonardum Aretinum ex te primum sensi obissi, qui La ium ornavoit literis, quo nemo post Latiausium. Ciceroni proximiar suit. Gaudeo Poggium ejus lo um apud Florentinos tenere. Sed maluissem potius locum non vacas, ne tanto splendore carusset Hetruria. See the Remark (A) of the Article Aretin (Leonard)

(B) When he places in the Year 144, Its cer + Tek n tain that forgus succeeded our Aretin in the Secre from Actary's Place of Floring Now it appears by the best le Speech in which he congratulites Nicholas the Litth Mile, Au on his Promotion to the Papacy, that he had no I me that de ploy at Florence in (d) 1447. It must be supposed scripts then, that Charles Arctin was Secretary of I office clesses p in 1447 for his Piedcesson I court Aret r died in 1443. But here is a more Demonstrative Proof of Mr. Morers I trop. I for us lays in a I etter written in the Pontificate of Nichola the Little, that Carles for his Piedceffor I court Aret r died in 20d Aretin was come to fee him Quo primum anno lays he, (e) Nicolaus Pont fex quintus pellis caufa, I ibi a-num, Piceni oppidum seessii, cum me ad I rram novim (d) Fi natalem patisam curi samelia confulissem, went copost il 7 i modum rogatus a me qui Florentiam ob negot a puelles the lle-adibat, Carolus Aretinus What deceived Mr Morri, chin of Ne was his finding that Vossus (f) does not refute the cola German Author whom he quotes and who find in (1) Pouglis Collection, of the Days of Dorth and those of init di-Nativity, that Charles Are n the Oritor and Historice coptain rian died in 1445, at Seventy Lour Years of Age (f) Voil All this agrees to well with Lound Area nother in de Hist all Probability the German Author his confounded her p. 575 Charles with Leonad However Loss aught to have (t) Deciding with List ault, concerning the Year of our Deciding Control of the North Lands of the North Land

(A) He translated also the Eo files of Phalais in a Labian & Larin | I have been feveral curious Reflections in those Letters in a Book (g) printed in German in 1659, but I can't forbent faying, that this which is only due to Franc s, is attributed to I of art Antin Latine emilit I conharded Act nut Ilorn a M(CCCIXXX) We shall see in its Place that A distinction. Lionard was not living at the Time of that I di- I talk se I

on
(B) Erasmus did not admire our Aretin (7) 12/64t 5, also Ions] He observes in Two Places the I rule which pift 4128 this Translator had committed on the Word 15 p 1591 in translating the Commentery on the First I pille to the Corinthians wood attribute to the Corinthians wood attribute from 1 alo di Greca, magis pecasum of ab Amino, Alerino of corres quamab Occol unpadio uniman a control of the corresponding to the control of the corresponding to the Iwentieth Homily (I shall

icin, Some Leonard

(1)P 1591

Europa cap 54

marine, p

(a)I eand

. (c) Id Ipist 51

* Panzir ubi infra

Some believe that our Francis Aretin is the same with the Famous Lawyer Franciscus Aretinus of the Family of the Accolts But others can hardly imagine, that the Transtator of some of St Chrysostom's Works, &c is the same Francis Aretin, whose Works of the Knowledge of the Law savours of the grossest Barbarity, without the least Shadow of Knowledge in the Greek Tongue I have some Observations to (C) offer on this, which may serve to convince People that there's only one Francis Aretin in the Case Be that how it will, let's here speak of Aretin the Lawyer. He * studied at Szenna about the Year 1443, and afterwards taught the Civil Law there with fuch a Vivacity of Genius, that he was nick nam'd the Prince of Subtilities, and that the Subtilty of Aretin pass'd for a Proverb He signaliz'd this sine Talent chiefly in his Disputes, for no one could resist him He gave his Advice with such Considence, that he made his Clients sure of their Cause His Experience did not deceive him, for it was commonly faid in Court, such a Cause is condemn'd by Aretin, therefore it will be lost He taught also in the Academy of Pisa, and in that of Ferrara He went to Rome in the Pontificate of Sixtus the Fourth, but tarried not long there, for he quickly perceiv'd that the great Hopes he had built on his Reputation would be much disappointed That Pope declar'd he could willingly give him the Dignity of a Caidinal, if he were not loth to injure the Publick by taking fo Excellent a Professor from his School When Age would not permit him to exercise all the Functions of his Place, he was dispensed with as to the Reading of Lectures, but his Salary was continued Nevertheless he went up sometimes into the Pulpit, and tho his Lectures had lost their wonted Spirit, yet he had a great many Hearers, which was attributed to his Reputa-One Day that his Scholars were run to a Publick Shew, he perceiv'd that there were but Forty Persons in his Auditory, and was in such a Passion that he threw away his Book, and cried out aloud, Aretin will never explain the Mystery of the Law He went away abruptly, and would teach no more He was naturally severe, and never kept a Servant above a Month or Two, for he said, that those who were newly hir d, serv d with most Diligence. He was honour'd with the Quality of a Knight, liv'd always a single I ise, and very sparingly, so that he had the Opportunity of getting a great Fortune. He was no less honour'd for his Chastity than for his Learning. The Reader will be glad to know the Wile he used to make his Disciples"

p1g 249

manuscr

(1) L1 Monnoie,

(C) I shall have some Obj sutteens to offe on thus, (c) 1 jour have join (ii) turious to oge on this, which may ferve to convince Peop e that there's but one (f)Panzir Francis Aietin in the case I let s first proprote de claris Panzirolus Doubt (l) Liberatibus antibus imbut is legum in no solum Latinis led chain Giec's literis ope and deterpt 1 2 d s ciditur, & Joannis Chysosomic D Joannem & Cap. 102 in the land printing. Paul add constitute communication. Cap 103 ep folum primam Pauli ad Corinthios commentaria Latina feisse, verior timen ne is sis Accoltus, cum que in jui se serior timen no is sis Accoltus, cum que in jui se serior silum siylum non oleant, neque ullum ser un singue Græce vestieum. Next set us set what Mr de la Monnois Writes to me on this Doubt I an is A colti d Arczeo having writhis Counfels, "ind other Works of the Knowledge of the Law, " in a Stile which not only shews an entire Igno-"rance of the Greek, but also of the Latin I have "been doubtful as well is Panzirolus, whether this "was the fame Francis d Acezzo who has given us "Greek Irinflations, whose Llocution does not give "place to that of most of the Humanists of histime
"I perceived that the Lawyer took the Name of Accolti, and the Titles of Doctor and of Knight, whereas the Humanisi wa simply call'd Franciscus "Aretinus In the mean time, having lately had the "Sight of a Copy of Francis Philelphus & Fpiffles, "printed at Lance in Folio in the Year 1502, a ve-"13 fence, and much larger I dition than the others of 21 Books. I found a means of refolving my Doubt upon Reading feveral of those I pittles, in which the Author speaks of one Francis d Arexzo 'his Disciple, equally learned in the Law, and in "good Letters The Time and Circumstances "make it evidently appear, that he is the same of "whom Volaterran, an almost Contemporary Writer, makes mention at the End of his 21st Book "Besides his Law Compositions, his Translations of "St Ghrysostom, of the I pistles of Phalaris, and of those of Diogenes the Cynick, they attribute a "Treatise of the Baths of Pouzzolo to him, tho he is not the Author of it, nor was any farther con-" cern'd than as he dedicates it to Pope Pius the Se-"cond, by a Letter conceiv'd in mean Expressions "enough He had also composed a Book of the "Life and Manners of St Antonine, Archbishop of "Thrence Philelphus speaks elegantly of this Work "Life and Manners of St. Answere, Alcoholicop of "Flerence Philelphus speaks elegantly of this Work" in the Twelfth Letter of his Seventeenth Book "In the Twenty Eighth Book of Letters of the fame Philelphus, there are Six address'd to Francisco Aretino Equiti an ato ac jurisconsulto, then Professor in Law in the University of Siemns In most of these Letters he gives him high Praises, a great part of which might have been spar'd Quast du-

" bit andum sit, says he to him in the First Letter, mi-" nus tibi esse apud storentissimam istam Kempub Secunda " omnia, qui vir in omni eruditionis ac sapientia genere "prestantissimus sis, atque ea virtute preditus qua non modo ex hominibus hujusce tempessatis nemmi cedis, "sed potes jure cum universa antiquitate de laude contendere li appears by the linit, dated the 8th of March 1468, that Francis of Areaso was then "tomewhat above Fifty Years of Age, a Reason he made use of to excuse himself from marrying "Merchand Philipping to the proposition of the proposition of the secusion of the se Whereupon Philelphus tells him merrily quod ais sentire te debilitatas tibi est coiporis vires, cum sis quinquagenarius, aut paulo amplius, id nulla "cum sis quinquagenarius, aut paulo amplius, id nuua
"tibi causa accidit alia, quam quod atatis robur remise"is, ut quo tempore tendendus erat arcus, tum eum tu
"maxime relaxaveris Quod si cam servasses medioeri"tatem, quam & Philosophi probant, & ego secutus
"sum, consuluisses tu sane & posteritati & tibi In "the Fourth of the 28th, he asks him News about "his Condina Contaum cutio ext to moste quid presum an "his Studies Caterum cupio ex te noffe quid rerum a-"his Studies Caterum cupio ex te nosse quid rerum agas? Non enim satis tuo præstanti ingenio, singulariq, "dottrina esse duco, quod doceas leges, & jus civile, nam hac jam tibi nullius sunt industria, cujus memoria di"vina esse potius quam humana Majora quadam te
"arbitror meditari, nec enim in eodem semper versaris
"ludo, itaque sieri non potes, quin aliquid novi semper "cudas excudasque In the Fisth he desires him to "get the History of Ammianus Marcellinus copyed for him in Parchment In a Letter of the 29th Book he proposes the getting Demetrius Castrenus Book, he proposes the getting Demetrius Castrenus of Constantinople, entertain'd in Sienna at the Charge of the Republick, to instruct the Youth in the "Greek Tongue In another Letter of the 31st Book, he gives him Advice of a Design the Se-"nate of Venice had to get him from Sienna, and "give him a Chair in Padua, and adds, Ad hee ego contra locutus sum, & qua vera esse novi, & quibus "te delectari existimavi, quippe qui non essem oblitui qua "mecum nuper cum ad Octobrem Sena fuissem, & de "mecum nuper cum ad Octobrem Senæ fuissem, & de "temperamento corporis tui, & de istus cali, quantum "ad te attinet, intemperie locutui fueras What's surprizing in this, is his saying in the same Letter, that Francis of Arezzo is an Enemy to a barbarous "Stile Nec illud sane prætereundum censu, Appianum "Alexandrinum esse jam a me magna exparte Latinum factum, quoniam tu nulla barbariæ lingua delectaris "Is it then to the Custom of the Age that the Barbarous Expressions of Francis of Arezzo in his "Writings on the Law, are to be imputed? To me it seems, that there's ground to believe, he undustriously affected em, lest endeavouring to "industriously affected em, lest endeavouring to ples sensible (p) how much it concerns one to keep a fair Reputation. Tho' he had design'd his Estate for the founding of a College, yet he less it to his Relations * Takin He had a Brother ho made himself very Famous by the Name of (E) Benedictus Action Panalistics of the first panalist of the had a Brother house of colous Aretinus. I all speak of him in one of the Remarks

zirolus I 1 de claris A R L- legum interpret

"pass for a more Polite Writer, he should not be "rhought so prosound a Lawyer I have run over thought so profound a Lawyer I have ru some of his Pleas, which are Barbarity it self 142d has been much ridicul'd, where in Consequence of the Agreement made between Francis "Sforza Duke of Milan, and Lewis deGonzaque Mar-"quis of Mantoua, that if in case Dorothy the Daugh-"ter of the Marquis should be found without De"formity of Bunch, or other Defect at the Age of "Fourteen Years, the should be married to Galeazzo
"the Duke's Son, the maintains that it was the "Duke's Right rootiquire a Search by Physicians,
"who should see and feel the Princes stark naked, "whereever the Exigency of the Case might re"quire In the mean time it appears, that this Search how grievous foever in the Execution, was demandable by Law, and it was accordingly demanded by the Duke, but refused by the Mar-

Having examind these Observations of Mr dela Monnoie, I propos d some other Doubts to him, and he confirm d his Opinion a-new in this manner Tou ought not to doubt in any wife but that I rancis Arezzo, Translator of some Greek Works, and Francus of Arezzo the Lawyer, whole Comments we have on the Law, and Councils, is one and the same Au-Volaterran, who might have feen the Lawyer, allows him (a), besides his Learning in the Law, a con-siderable Astainment in the Belles Lettres Philelphus, Alexan- who writ some Years before, says the same Thing It der Imo- appears by the Testimony of the Epistes I have quoted to Iensis & you, that in his lime there was one Franciscus Aretificancii- nus or Arretinus (as he h mself and others have writ) cus Are- bie Disciple, Knight, Lawyer, Professor in Law in the tinus am- Umwerfity of Sienna, an Ex ellent Man in all manner boscriptis of Literature 1 add this following Passage to those I excellen-have already sent you. It is in the First Epistle of the tibus nu 26th Book, which is an Investive against Leodrino per reli- Crivello. At laudas I ranciscum Arretinum, & ju re quidem, fed, ut arbitror, dormitans Egisti enim præter ingenium, & consuctudinem tuam memoria præter ingenium, & consuetudinem tuam At me-posterita- retur Franciscus Arretinus, cum sit tum Jurecon-tis vivent sultorum omnium præstantissimus, tum ullius pra-I rancis- claræ disciplinæ ignarus Tamen laudari a te slagicuspræter tiorum omnium, scelerumque sentana, dedecorosum juracate- est Jubes ab illo ut discam reste mones, num non ras etiam ab isto iolum, sed etiam abs te ipso, si quid boni liberales afferre posses, non invitus disceiem. Sed cui quem artes esta- tantopere laudas, non item imitaris? Ille prædicat apud omnes discipulum se meum extitisse, mihique tribuit tantas leudas, quantis vellem me non carere At est te, inques, omni doctrina prestantior Non co inficias, neq, tero graviter me a multis etiam discipulis meis superari, id quod sine aliqua mea laude sieri non potuerit, siquidem hi grati esse volucre This Letter is dated the First of August 1465. At the same time Janus Pannonius, who studied then in Italy, addiess'd an Lpigram to our I rancis d'Arezzo, the I wo first Veiset of which were these Francisce interpres legum o Aretine Sacrarum Nec minus Aonia nobilis in cithara It's compoun then, that this Professor in Civil Law at Sienna, sell'd Fiancis d'Arezzo or Aretin, was skill d in good Literature, it is no less certain that the Name of the same Professor's Family was Accolti You may believe himself For he says at the Bottom of his 118

Georges, Decretorum Doctor, Senis ordinaric legens de illustris D Marchionis Estensis consiliarius, & id fidem me subscripsi, & meo solito signo signari justi The Times agree Volaterran says, that I rancis Aretin, Humanist and Civillian, was at Rome in the Pontificate of Sixtus the IVth Francis Accolting this 169th Plea against the Jame Sixtus, in Favour of Lorenzo de Medicis, and the Florentines whom that Pope had excommunicated for the Murther of the Bishop of Pisa, and the Imprisoning of the Cardinal his Grand-Nephew Volaterian says, That Francis Aretin having gone to Rome upon great Prospetts, tarried there but a little while feeing she Success did not answer his Expectation From whence I infer, that Francis Accolti, who is the fame with the Francis Aretin of Volaterian, undertook So much the more freely to write against Sixtus for the Florentines, because we bore in mind that this Pope had let him depart Rome without acknowledging his Mirit Perhaps also the Reason of his not mairying, was the

Hopeshe had of some Ecclesiastical Dignity, (as has been C 103 Pm Said of the Civilian alon) Il & Scruple fill remains, arifing 249 belog from the Difference between the Expression of Aietin the Professor in Law, and that of Aletin the Translator It's true that Difference is Enormous, the the Translations he has left us are not inaced the most equisive Lating yet in comparison of his Givil Law Hoks, they may be reputed more than Cicetonian Had I encounted (as some Authors to divert them) yes land to writ in a Macaronick S ile, be could not lave fucceded better Sunt etiam multi telles fant f , Counci's, qui viderunt aquam bene ire ad molendinur 1 & ip-1am bene molere & stechariam lignaminis bene puncto Aud Council 13 Probitui per duos teffes no firos quod ista mulier gessit portatui un capitis (c cundum habitum nuptaium i fex annis citia whole Book abounds with the first rancies. The Critico graphy of the Words taken from the Greek is strang if perverted in it We there find Leonomus, emologatio, cyrotheca, Gritogonus, emphitheota I have infinuated the Reason this Lawyer migh have had to make ule of these Barbarities, Vit that his Brethren d d not write nor express themselves otherwise, if his I anguare had been more correct, it would not have been under flood by those of the Trade I rancis Arctin, or Accosts which you please, could have spoken better, but h lov-ed Money, and if he hal affested to use a Pipinian Stile, he might have was ed in his Study in vain, as decenge-nerally left alone—The sime Barbarity respired at that Time among Divines and Phylicians—Those among en who first attempted to introduce Politeness, were reckond neither D vines, nor Physicians, but only Gran in trial of They were scarce cured of this Prijudic in the Days of Ludovicus Vives His Words are worth the settin down here Qua Lyranus & Hugo scribunt (fa-he, lib i de causs corruptar art) I heologia est qua Erasmus, grammatici Idem de Hieronymo, Ambroho, Augustino, Hilario dicturi, nili nomen obstaret, tametsi hic etiam nelcio quid mussint Quod si Joannes Picus apologiam suam corrupto illo non icuplisset sermone, hiud quaquam haber tui Theologus, sed Grammaticus Alciatus, Zasiu Cantiuncul Grimmatici funt cum de juie disputant, Accursius est Jurisconsultus vel cum interpretitui que, id est, & ait, id est, d ait, fen, id est, aut so that, Sir, there was a lind of Nicessity on lines Aretin the Lawyer to conform to the Custom of nistime, and I think thefe Reflections, together with the Pr ccea-

how much it concerns one to keep a far Reputit on | When he found that the frequent Extortations he had made em to preferve a good Reputation, (a) Ubi avail d nothing, he used the following Strittgem (Ferrari) (a) The Butchers of Ferrara left their Meat all fludiofus Night in the Shambles He went thither with his book now here the state of the string of the state of the string of the state of the s Man before Day, and having broke open the i Boxes carry d off all the Meat Two of his Scholus of the Scholus who had been reputed the most unlucky in the Schools, were accused of that Action, and imprinciples of the schools of the school o ion'd Anet n went to Duke Hercules to defire then Liberty, taking the I act upon himself. But the cum nihi more obstinately he maintain d that he had done it, proficere the more it was believed the Priloners were guilty. I or no body durit suspect such a I hing of a Probafor, whose Gravity as d Wisdom was so well known The Matter being at last agreed on, he openly declar dwhat End he had had in this These, namely to shew the Weight and Authority of a good Reputition (b) Quo constantius sessants of a good reasiman in the wing reasiman in the case of the wing requirement of the wing req ignorant that they who are reputed great Liais, are ubi sup a not believed the they fometimes speak line he list spage 25 quite contrary with these who pass for sincere Men, (b) Id il they are believed although they be see in Valerius Maxipage 251 mus (c) where a good Opinion ence conceived (b) Viler of a Managerial. of a Man can do

(E) Made himself very samous by the Name of Bene dictus Accoltu Acctinus | He was born in the Year I 415, and having gove through the Study of Humas I carning he apply d himself to that of the Law with fo much Aidor, that in a floit time he irriv d ing, may suffice to persuade you, that he only differs from the Humanists in Point of Llocution (D) The Wile he used to mike his Ds ipie sinstible ad famam cum nihil idiculum fulles ofit ivit ut

Mi im 1 , c ~ n o

(a) Here ere the Words of Volatertan at he end of the 21 A Book, p m 782 per relıetis in deptus, princeps feculi hujus habebatur Xistitempore magna expe-Chatione an hanc urbem venit, pauloque post fre trustratus remigra-vir impari doctring Sapientia Vitæque instituto, cum in cœlibatu vinerit, ac opibus in-hisverit, quas dis-mulativa-mas cogmatis de-mum ie-

liquit

ARETIN (Guy) a Monk of St. Benedict's Order, liv'd in the XIth Century He made himself Famous by finding out a new Method of teaching Musick. He publish'd a Book on that Subject, entitl'd, Micrologus, and a Letter which Cardinal Baronius has inserted in his Annals under the Year 1022 He publish'd, his Micrologus at the Age of Thirty Four Years, in the Pontificate of John the XXth And had been Thirte times call'd to Rome by Pope Benedict the VIIIth That Pope had before-hand And nad been examined the Antiphonary of Aretin, and admir'd several Things he had learnt of that Author This Possevin tells us of him, in his † Apparatus To say something concerning this Invention of Guy Aretin, I ought to observe, that it was he invented the to Vost Six Notes, ut, re, mi fa, sol, la The Names of these Six Notes are said † to be bor row'd from a Hymn which contains these Saphick Verses pig 4 Furetie-Te at ti mi duam-

UT queant laxis R Esonare fibris M Ira gestorum
SO I we pollutes

To do this it's only taking the first and fixth Syllable of each Verse Some * say that the Word Gammut, so common in Musick, comes from hence, that Guy Aretin having made use of the Fust I ettters of the Alphabet to design or specify his Notes, employ d the Letter (1, which the Greeks call Gamma, and that he did this to denote that Mufick came from Greece They who attribute a Book to him against Berengarius, are

C Jovius I log c y Magius le Hift L p 579

1) 34 %

I ste of

Benedic

Accoltus

before the

Dislorue de pra

Mantia Vi-

rorum lui avi (//Voff de Matic

r) Vide

mistaken (A)

A R E I I N (John) Sirnamed Tortellius, passes for one of the Learnedest Men of the XVth Century He compos'd the Lise (T) of St Athanassus, at the Request of Pope Eugenius the IVth He was admitted to the Intimacy of Nicholas the Vth, Milicel 1 whose Chamberlain he was 6 He was a Man of an agreeable Conversation, and distinguish d himself honourably from other learned Men his Contemporaries, by never dishonouring the Profession of Learning by sierce and injurious Disputes He was chiefly skill d in the Knowledge of Grammar, as he has shewn by his Book (TA) De potestate literarum Gesner's Bibliotheque gives the Titles of several other Works of Tortellius, but a I exicon which he had made, and which is quoted by Magius γ , is forgot in it Laurentius Valla was much his Friend, and dedicated his (Z) Books De Latina Llegantia to him Vossius who affirms *, that he was the Brother of Charles Aretin, would be much miltaken, had he no other Proof for it than the Words of Volaterran, to $(Z\Delta)$ whom to the Quality of Doctor And foon after by his to the Quality of Doctor And ioon after by his sublick Lectures, and by his Opinions and Advice in difficult Cases, equall d the most famous Civiliants of his Fime He did not bid adieu to Polite I carning, but who are tricked to the Proposition of the Proposit this Branch was not indifferent to him His Dialogue de præstantia virorum sur ævi, was printed at Pirms in the Year 1692, from the Manuscript which Mr Magliabecchi produc'd The last Seven Years of his Lite he was Secretary to the Republick of Florence, Where he died in the Year 1466 in the 51st Year of his Age His Son Peter a great Civilian, having been Auditor of the Rota Twenty Pive Years, was honour d with a Cardinal's Cap by Pope I dies the Second He had another Son whose Name was M chael, and who was the I ather of Bencat # 4 coleus This Son was Secretary to Clement the VIIth and afterwards Cardinal (c) See Mr. Mo reri's Dictionary at the Word Accolti

(A) Abook to h m against Berengarius, aremistaken \[ \lambda \eta \int \text{illen into this Lrror, and thence inters that he stounst d in the Reign of the Emperor Conribet Younger, and that therefore they who place him 31 Hundred Years after are wrong (f) I rror of which I ipeak, arole from hence, that they have contounded Guy Aretin with another Monk, whose Name was Guitmond, a Brother of the Convent of St Leufred, of the Order of St Benediff, in the Diocese of Fureux, who became Cardinal and Bission of Sversa in Italy They were very near Contemporaries, for Guitmond died about the Year 18. He is the Author of Three Books (g), Duversa conducted source of sour de la discumi de icript lei t lei t the Pontificate of Grigory the VIIth, flourish'd Guithe Pontincate of Grigory the VIIth, flourish'd Guile 1 c 1 do or Guidmont, born at Arexeo, patria Aretinus, fit is 1 Monk in the Monistery of St Loufred, in the Dioccie of Fureux in Normandy, and afterwards Cardinal, and Bishop of Aversa, that while he was a Monk, he compos'd Two Treatises of Mulior cap field one in Verse, and the other in Prose, and is the same who wrote Three Books avainst Recomment 1 8 p 2, 1 the iam- who wrote Three Books against Beringari-

(Y Hecorps of the Life of Sr Athanasius | Paulus Journal intimates plunly enough (a), that To rellius only translated it into I stin, Divi Athanasii vicam Enginio expeten i I tonum fecit. Gesner says it much more expressly, (b) Athanasis Alexandrins vitam ad (b) Gesn Eugenium Pontificem in Latinum transsults But Vossius ubi infra allows him much more than the Function of a Translation of the color of the flator, (c) Arhanasis vitam ex varius, Eugenis postu-lato, consarcinavit, and quotes Pauliu Jovius and Vo-laterran The Quotation of Pauliu Jovius cannot P 579 be altogether exact, as any body may fee by com-paring the Words That of Volaterran is not more exact than the former, here s what he has faid (d) Volat Joannes (Aretinus) cognomenso Tortellius, Romana Ec- 121 p 773 clessa subdiaconus apud Eugenium quartum fuit Orthopraphiam, vitamque Athanafii, ac nonnulla alia con-feripfit Vossius assirms, that Wincelius has inserted that Life of St Athanasius in his Hagiologia. He con-jectures that Tortellius is the Author of the Life of St Zenobius Bishop of Florence, inserted in the Col-lection of Surius under the 25th of May. The Rea fon of the Conjecture is taken from the Circumstan-ces of Time, and from the Name and Title of that ces of Time, and from the Name and Title of that Lite, Joannes Archipiesbyter Aretinus

(TA) His Book de potestate literarum] "(e) That which Volaterran calls Orthographia, Paulus Jouius "a Book de potessate literarum, Gesner, Commentarii la Mon"lingua Latina, and Magius, Lexicon, is but one and
"the same Volume of Tortellius in Two Parts
"the same Volume of Tortellius in Two Parts
"and Magius, Lexicon, is but one and in noie, Re marq ma "Whereof the first, which is very short, contains marq ma"fome Chapters on the Invention, Number, Figure,
"Pronunciation, and joyning of the Letters of the Alphabet The second, which is very long, contains an Alphabetical Catalogue of Latin Words, most part taken out of the Greek, of which he "teaches, or endeavours to teach, the Orthogra-

"phy '
(Z) And dedicated his Books de Latina Elegantia io (Z) And dedicated his Books de Latina Elegantia to him] After the manner that Gesner has express'd himielf, there is no Person but would judge that Torsellius dedicated that Work to Laurenius Valla Theie are Gesner's Words, (f) Jounnes Torsellius (f) Gesnatione Aretinus, Laurentii Valla amicissimus, ad quem Biblioth elegantiarum lingua Latina sex libros personissii. Nico-soft 258 lai postmodum pontificis contubernalis, & studiorum ejus exTritheintimus comes. Those Compilers, who from an Ambition of making a large Book in a short time, or for any other Reason, never seek for the necessary for any other Reason, never seek for the necessary instructions beyond the Page in Sight, would easily commit Three gross Faults, if they apply'd their own Conjectures to this Text of Gesner I They would say, that Tortellius made Six Books of the I-legancies of the Latin Tongue, and that he dedicated 'em to Laurentius Valla II That afterwards he be-

(a) Air de

(ZA) whom he feems to refer us Volaterran says nothing of this pretended Brother- Seein one flip

There are Men of good Knowledge who believe, that Tortellius's Literature was not extrathe Arricle ordinary even for the Age he lived in; but as he was naturally officious, and held a confiderable Post about the Pope's Person, the sine Wits of that time gave him great Praises, which V The fome of 'em recanted afterwards Philelphus was of (ZAA) that Number I shall be passed in the Letter of the Let observe in another Place*, that Tortellius was Library Keeper to Nicholas the Vth

ARETIN (Leonard) is better known by that Name which was given him as he Book of was a Native of Arezzo, than by that of Brunus, or Brune, which was the Name of his Philel-Family He was one of the most considerable Men (A) of the XVth Century

(b) Leo (t) Leo learnt Greek 4 under Emanuel Chrysolorus, as he himself tells us, and his Merit having Aretin, been made known to Pope Innocent the VII, he obtain'd c of him, tho' Young, the Histor Place of Secretary of the Briefs, of which he acquitted himself worthly under that rerum Ita-Pontificate, and the Four following. He was afterwards y Secretary to the Republick lical Viol of Florence, and heap'd up much Wealth s, as well because he always liv'd n unmarri-Jovium Jovium Jovium Jovium He translated some (B) of blants. ed, as because he was an extraordinary good Husband He translated some (B) of Elog c Plutarch's Lives, and Aristotle's Morals from the Greek into Latin He composed Three 23 Books of the Punick Wars, which may (C) ferve as a Supplement to fome of those 6 Jovius that are wanting in Livy He compos'd also the History of the Trinsactions (D) du-*ring his own time in Italy, that of the Republick of Florence, that of Ancient Greece, Albert
(E) and that of the Goths But this latter which did him a deal of Honour, as long as described. But this latter which did him a deal of Honour, as long as descript it was not known that he had only translated it from the Greek of Procopius, drew * a Ital fort of Infamy on his Memory, as soon as it was discover'd after his Death by the ibid care of Christopher (F) Parsons, that Procepius whose Name he had supprest by appropring Volating his Work to himself, was the true Author of that History of the Goths He comter lib posed several other Books, a Catalogue of which is to be seen in Gesners Bibliotheque, 21 p m came a Domestick of Pope Nicholas the Vth and his Learned Oracle, and that the great Success in artegrammatica profiteri, in maximos errores devene-of his Book procur'd him that honour 3 That Nicholas the 5th held the Chair in the Year 1420 of Joannes Tortellius Arctinus, qui cum & Gracam & for fince Gefner places the flourishing Condition of Tertifius to that time, and common Sence tells us that his flourishing Condition must belong to the time when Tertellius was in Favour with Nicholas the it follows that according to Gesner that Pope held in Chair at the time I have said. The Truth is the Chair at the time I have faid that he was Elected in 1447 and that Tortellius had been his Man of Learning and his Chamberlain before, when Learning Valla dedicated his Elegancies to him I can't guess what Mr Morers would be at upon this Article with his modernment. upon this Article with his undetermind Quotation of Valerius Andre Why did he not confult Vossius and Paulus Jovius, who would have supply d him with some Remedy against his Barrenes?

(ZA) Volaterran says nothing of this pretended Brothership. I have very good Reason to call it so, seeing Tortellins speaking of Charles and Leonard d'Arezze qualifies them only as his Countrymen, he fays A dost firmu virus nostra atatis, (1) & conterrancis meis Leonardo & Carolo Arretinis And when he mentions Charles, always fays he, (2) either Carolus (1) In the says Arretinus conterrancus meus, Ot Carolus noster Arretinus Chapter of This was communicated to me by Mr de la Monnoie the Greek Let us fet down the Words of Volaterran and those of Vossius and we shall see whether the latter could build upon the former (g) Carolus & Joannes Aretini nobilia temporis illius ingenia, quorum alter scriba Flo-rentinorum Leonardo successit Alter Joannes cognomento Torsellius Romana Ecilesia subdiaconus apud Eugenium quarpum suit See What Vossius says of it, (b) Joan-mes Arcsinus cognomento Tortellius Caroli Aretini, qui post Leonardum Arctinum scriba Florentinorum suit, fra-ter, Romana Ecclesia subdiacorus apud Eugenium IV Athanasis vitam _____ confarcinavit Athanasii vitam consarcinavit, ut prater Jovium austor est Volaterranus lib XXI Anthropol ubi & bosce Aretinos fratres nobilia illius temporis ingenia appellat If they had contented themselves with saying they were Relations, they might have some ground for it in these Words of Phile'phus, (1) Putabam Carelum Arresinum rediffe mecum in gratiam Ita enim Joannes Arresinus ejus NECLSSARIUS tuis werbis mihi renunciarat, for though necessarius is sometimes taken for an intimateFriend, nevertheleisPhilelphus and most of the Writers of those times never us'd it but in the Senie of a Relation by Blood, or ally d by Marriage This Observation is owing to Mr de by Marriage

(ZOD) Philelphus was of that Number In the Article of Nicholas the 5th I shall quote a Letter of Philelphus, dated the 1st of August 1465 in which the Latin and Greek Literature of Tortell us is much But fee what the same Philelphus Writ the 29th of May, 1473 Video quosdam noftra tempefta-

runt E quorum numero principatum mihi tenere visus est Joannes Torsellius Arctinus, qui cum & Græcam & Latinam litteraturam novisse videri vult, utramque ig. (1) Mr de la Monnoravisse apertissime declarat (k)

(A) One of the most considerable Men of the 15th Cennote have tury] Paulus Jovius tays (1) that Leonard Aretin supply d was the sirst who restor'd the Purity of the Greek me with was the first who restor'd the Purity of the Greek me with Tongue in Italy Philesphus (m) allows him a deal this of Eloquence, and a great depth of Genius, and (l)Jovius, Learning Poggius (m) and Laurentius Valla (o) have elog cap plac d him above all his Contemporaries in point of 9 pag 27 Eloquence and sound Knowledge, but Floridus Sa- (m) Phibinus (p) praises him a little more soberly, and gives leiph no advantageous Idea of his Latin, to which Erasis Convivient does (q) not much diagree Enast Sylvius or lib to praises our Arctin highly in his 5 off Letter, and in the praises out Arctin highly in his 5 off Letter, and in the praises out Arctin highly in his 5 off Letter, and in the office on Poggius Vostius observes that Enest Sylvius and scripta on Poggius Vossius observes that Eneas Sylvius and Scripta Albertus differ upon this, the latter faying (n) Pogg in his Description of Italy, that Charles Aretin succeeded Leonard in the Secretary's Place of the Republick of Florence See above (a) the Article Charles vect 2 lick of Florence See above (a) the Article Charles (c) Apud Aretin, where we prove by Eneas Sylvius himself (b) Apud Phileph (B) Some of Plutarch's L. ves] To wit, that invest in (b) of Paulus Emilius, that of the Two Gracchi, invalian of Pyrrhus, of Sertorius, of Demossibhenes, of Mark (p) Flor Anthony, and that of Caso Uticensis The Printers have made a strange Mistake in Morer's Dictionary by putting Plutarch's Verses instead of Plutarch's Calumn ling Lat

(C) Which may serve for a Supplement frst of these (c) three Books treat of the first Punick in Ciceto-War, which is wanting in Livy The Third treats niano of the Disorders into which the Carthaginians fell (a) In the by the Mutiny of the Soldiers, and Revolts of the Kemark A People, as also of the War against the Gau's, and (b) (ielasses these are all views Der in against those of Illyria, things which are all wairing in the Roman History Aretin has hardly (d) done any thing more than translate the Greek of Polybius, though he denies it in his Preface, and that s the Reason why Badius Ascentius has placed the (d) VostiName of Polybius at the head of the Work in his Edition of Paris

(D) Of the Translation of Market in the page 557

(D) Of the Transactions during his own time in Ita-P'S 557

Iy] That Work begins at the Schism which was rais'd against Pope Urban the VI in 1378 and extends to the Victory obtain'd by the Florentines in the Year 1440, near Anglars

(E) That of Aucient Greece] That Work reaches from the Generality of The amenas and of Thra-

(E) That of Aucient Greece | I hat Work reaches from the Generalfup of Their amenes and of Thrafybulus over the Aibenians, to the death of Ipaminondes, which comprehends 45 or 50 Years

(F) By the Case of Christoper Parfons](e) He had (e) Vossidetermined, according to Vessius, to translate Agarhias us ub, iii when he detected the Knavery of our Aresin Vossius al

U u ledges

Uu

of the 261h He phus and 772 Jov 1b 80 116

The two (q) Erafm

4th Part of his Work (2) In the 2d Part which con-Words in an Alpha-betical Or-(g) Vo- e laterr lib 21 P 773 (b) Vossi-us de hist Lat pag 579 (1) Phileiph epifte lib

* Varillas necd ites de Flostaken in making him live above 80 tidem lo-Vius cap Spireli-us Scru-and died at Florence* in the Year (G) 1443. aged 74 Years, His Besselies in a † Marble Tomb in the Church of the Holy Cross Poggius was one of (Ga) affe who criticish him In the Year 1653 Mr. de la Mare, Counsellor in the Parlia at of Dison, published a Catalogue of Leonard Aretin's Books, which he design'd the two printed But I believe it was never done. I have heard say, that among the Manuscripts of the Library at Oxford, there was lately found a Copy of Leonard Aretin's Letters, in which there were 40 that had never been printed, which perhaps may be the occasion of a new Edition of 'cm. new Edition of 'cm

ARETIN (Perer) A Native of Arezzo, renown'd for his smutty and satyrical Writings, liv'd in the 16th Century They who desire to know what the Medal was, which its said he had struck to inform the World of the Fear the greatest Princes which its taid he had firther to inform the world of the Teal the greatest Plates are lived in of his Satyrs, may be fatisfied in Mr Moreri's Dictionary, in which Medal the Aret n values himself on having laid those to whom other Men pay Tributes and Imposts, under Contribution This Tradition is so general, that he's no less known under the Title of (AD) The Scauge of Princes, than under the Name of Aretin He had another very glorious Title given him, the same wherewith all Antiquity has honour'd the great Merit of Plate, to wit, that (A) of Divine, il Divino Arctino He has been filled Divus Petrus Arctinus on some Medals Some have thought that he gave himself this Title to signify (B) that he performed the Office of a God upon Earth, by the Thunderbolts with which he struck the most eminent head. He boulted that his Libels did (C) more good in the World than Sermons Some writto him that his Pen (D) had subjected more Princes than the greatest Kings had

(f) It's in 116 Chapter of the I lor co (g) 1 s 111 1/1 Le Galloi, des plus bellesBibhotheques, pag 165 Pdit de Pairs

(1) ln

Chroni-

co ad ann

Vollius de Hift Lat pag 557 Ont

mis par

CIPCCCC-

(k) Voltt lib 21 ti le Aic tin (I i in cis) (m) Phi-lelphus epistol lib 37 (n) Aictin au 6

livre de ses lettres

errem

1370 Les Imprimeurs de ledges Paulus Jovius upon this, but it's certain that Paulus Jovius makes no mention of Against either in the place where (f) he is quoted, or any other (g) where he might be cited, but speaks there expressly of Procopus I contest Persona had Franslated Arathurs, but the Translation of Procopus is what Vossus ought to have spoken of in the place where he mentions the Plagianssm of Aretis. Thus Thus chapter of I think it ought to be call d, and not Plagianism afthe logist ter a Modern Author from whom I shall quote the entire Pattige, lecause it is full of Frrors (1) He are in letted to David Hefchelius for the Greek H five) of Procopius I count de Arctin had already gracine in Cothick Lenguage, but suppress the Authors Nam, I ut after Arctin's Death Childopher Pations accifed him of Photos, having himself found and I copy of that H ftory n the same Language, which Is publish a it under the Name of its Author, and therety sonuted Arctin of Plagranism What Monster does he here ipeak of Procopius in Gothick publish a first by Actin, and afterwards by Parfe fuch a Chimera as never was, or ever will be feen. Befides it's speaking very unexactly, to say that Leonard Actin and Parfons have given the History of Pro opius, for they have only translated part of that History The Irinters of Morer's Dictionary made a stringe Blunder in laying that he II flory of the Goths was properly a Iranslation of Planarch of Plutarch

(G) And dyed in 1443, seed 74 Years] Leander Alverius tiys indeed that he died at 74 Years of Age, but places his Death in the Year 1440 His Calculation does not agree with Matthew (1) Palmerius, who places the Year of the Birth of Leonard Atet n in 1370 And besides, as I find in Volaterran (k) that our Aretin died in 1443 ('twas the 9th of Mirch according to bu holes) I would not follow Leander Albertus I have above observed (1) the interfake of a Modern, who believed that Leonard Abertus living in the Year 1480 (GA) Poggius was one of those who criticis'd him] These Words of Phillelphus inform you of it, They

ne found in al etter he witt to Lorenzo de Medicis, the 9th of M11, 147, Quod eo feci accuratius quoniam & Le-onar aus Airetinus familiaris noster, vir sane facundissi-mus, adversus I londum I lavium multa desseruit, & post I conarde obstum Porgius Carolo gratificatus Arr tep m 7-2

(1) In h ct am contra illus feripta contexus, cum neuter suo sit Remark su suns office (m) This Passage was communicated of th si-

to me by Mi de la Monnoie

(AD) Under the Title of the Scourge of Princes]

I'e boasted of having that Reputation all the World over Read the I etter he writ to Hersili Dil Monte a Kinswoman of Pope Julius the III and you I find these Words in it (n) In tanto emanifesto it to some note al Sophi, a gli Indiani, & il Monte al para de qualingula hogge, an hossa de la tama Monao al pare di qualunche hoggi in bocca de la fama risuon, che più i Principi da i popili tributati di continuo, tuttavia me loro siliavo, or stagello tributano In another Letter, he says, one would swear that Princes paid him libite, not because he prais de la propositione de la propositione de la prais de la propositione de la prais de la propositione de la fama de la propositione de la fama de la propositione de la fama de them, but for fen of being chid by him,, adding that they were Fools for their pains, for fince most (o) Great Men were not afraid of the Writh of fol God, why should they fear my Pen, continues he (o) Impero che la maggior parte de i gran, (p) Se nues he '(0) Impero che la maggior parte de 1 gran' (p) See the maesserin non temono l'ira di Dio, e temeranno il surore de la Discourse on Men makes us abstain from a thousand things which we should scarce abstain from (p) if we had no other dread upon us but that of the Divine Vangearre

geance
(A) Which is that of Divine] It won't the THI to see Montagnes Judgment on this Elogy Plate, Judgment says he, (a) bere the Sirname of Divine by a general consent, of Monand no vody envy'd him, and the Italians who beast with tagne upReason of having generally a more resn'd Wit and beton Arctin ter Expression than other Nations, bestow it on Arctin, in whom I see nothing beyond the common Authors of his Century, except a way of uttering Lofty, frothy Bombast, or Jests that artifugeneous indeed but far-fetch'd and whimsical, so farming from approaching that ancient

Divinity
(B) That he purform'd the Office of a God upon Earth | tagne's I have feen this Thought in an Italian Author quoted by a German (b) Cur vero fibi arrogaverat also chap 51 rum confensu divinitatem, nescio, nist forte DEI munus exercusse dicendus sit, cum summa capita velus celissmos the end montes summaverit, lingua corrigens & mulitans qua (b) Jaco ab alus castingar, nequeums

ab aliss caftigars nequeunt

(C) Did more good in the World than Sermons | He dius de fays in his Epistle Dedicatory to the second Part of Scriptor his Ragionaments, that if he does not merit Esteem bus non on the score of his Inventions, yet ought he to have Ecclesisome Honour for the Service he had done to Truth assistances, in conveying it into the Chambers and Ears of great tom I Perfons to the Confusion of Flattery and Falshood
He takes notice of what one of Duke Urbins Ambustadors faid. That if Princes Ministers and Courtium, in tiers were rewarded for their Services, they were felice lite-obliged for it to the Pen of Peter Areisa and the same and the same what another faid, Areisa is more useful to the pen of peter Areisa and the same than Sermons, because Sermons instact only the same than between the because reform great Mon the ignorant, but his Writings reform great Men Thele are his Words in Italian Quando to non fage do l'anima a lo stile, merito pur qualche poco di gloria per l'aventioni de l'anima a lo stile, merito pur qualche poco di gloria per l'aventi par la verita ne le camere, e ne le orecebie de Potenti ad onta del'adulatione, e de la monocatione non difraudere il mio grado, ujero le parole ftesso del Singulare M. Guianiacopo, ambasciadore d'Urbino, noi che spendiamo il tempo ne servigi de Prencipi insteme con ogni huomo di Corte, e non ciascun virtuoso, siamo riguardati, e riconosciuti da nostri padroni, bonta de gastighi che gli ha dati la penna di Pietro. E lo sa Milano, co-actiletti, me cadde de la sacra bocca di colui, che in pochi mesi mi publish'd ha arricchito di due Coppe doro. l'Aretino e piu necesso- in 1558 rio ala vita humana, che le predicationi, e che sia il ve- at Venice ro est, pingono in su li dritte strade le persone semplii, o appresso i suoi scristi le signorili, o il mio non e vanto, ma un Dominico modo di procedere per sostener se medissimo ossirvato da Giglio in Enca, dove non era conofciato

(D) That his Pen had subjected _____] This I 128th have read in a Letter (c) will to him by Battiffa Tor- of the melli. He tells him he deserv'd the Titles of Ger- Book -] This I 128th pag bus Gad-Ecclefi-manicus.

ever subdued by Arms; and exhorted him (E) to continue that strain to the end, that Monagonight learn to amend Our Age has as bold and venemous Satvrifts as Aretin con the, and yet I don't believe any of 'em have settled their Contributions in an Enemy's Country Some misinform'd Writers make Aretin pass for the Au-Our Age has as bold and venemous Satythor (F) of the Book de tribus impostoribus I can't believe that the Epitaph (G) mention'd by Morers, was engrav'd on his Tomb in St Luke's Church at Venice The Author of that Epitaph went without doubt beyond his Commission If there was ground

(d) It's at the 44th p of the 2d Book of the (h) Hist des Ouvrages des Savans, meis de I evrier 1694 P 278, 279 He |cts agon the Llogy gruen la Mon-1701¢ (1) See Grot Append ad de Antichristo p 1 55 mbere be ch'io no lso esprimere lays the I nemies of t rederick sa accused one another of having wrst this Pook He Shou'd have (aid that that I rederick i i TORT ACCUled of heving faid IVorld had been decerv'd by three Im-posters Vide Deckherum de ícriptis adelpotis P 374 edit 1686 (k) In Genesim,

P 1833 (') Voet

Disput

vol 1 p. Spizelius, Athers scrutino, P 18 (m) He shou'd have faid mal tuor che manicus, Pannonicus, &c as formerly the Emperors took the Names of the Provinces over which they Book of the took the Nathes of the Provinces over which they same Colle- had triumph'd Non sapes wei, che con la penna voction fira in mano haucte soggiogate piu Principi, ch' ogni alce). See the tro potentissimo Principe con l'arme? La penna vostra a Llogy gi- qual non mette terrore, à quale uon e formidabile, a chi que him in anche non grata, a chi uon cara, ove si monstra amica? the Mena- La penna vostra si puo dir, che w'ha fatto trionfrtor quagiana sidi tutti i Principi del mondo, che quasi tutti vi sono

(f) That'; tributarii, & come inseudati Meritareste esserchiamato to say the Germanico, Pannonico, Gallico, Hispanico, & sinamenyear 1693 te insignito di quei titoli, quali si davano a gli antichi (g) They • Imperadori Romani, secondo le provincie per loro soggio-are of Di-gate che se quelli soggiogavano le province per forza d' some, G per esser più di loro potenti, non era gran meraviglia, maggior meravigliaassui é, che un private, inerme, haggio soggiogato infiniti potenti che l'un potente l'aliro, non e meraviglia (E) And exhorted him to continue] The Marquis

del Guaffo made him that Exhortation in a Letter (a) he writ to him with his own Hand He defired that he himself might not be priviledged, but that his Faults might be censured by Arein, and exhorted him to it. It's very likely he was pretty sure he should not be taken at his Word. Arein did not confound his Friends with his Enemies, he only executed those who neglected to ransom themselves nagiana The Marquis del Guafio witt to him, Seguire dico col so Mr de folito, e fe in me vofiro amico alcuna cofa men che laudabile conoscete, ricordatevi di non lasciar di riprenderassist consistent in the control of the maintainer as in prender-ls accorde fatto accorts dell error, come desidero, lo fugga, e divenga migliore. Seguite lo siti vostro, che di nuovo ve ne prego accioche, sei desetti con verita saran-no in altri trovati, si vergognino, & vergognan doss, & mendandossi fuggano dal vitto alla virta. Onde inci divenuti buoni, abbraciati con essa virta, si confer-nino nel bene del che quantio in cio l'humana Repub fo avanzi, lo giudichino quelli, che lo sanno meglio intender,

(F) For the Author of the Book De tribus impostoribus | We shall perhaps have occasion to examine this Matter more amply in another Place, and make it appear, that it's very unlikely there ever was such a Book. The Abbot Nicassium (e) one of the worthiest Persons of this Age, who is acquainted with a 1 the most learned. Men in Europe, quainted with a 1 the most learned Men in Europe, among whom he holds a very considerable Rank, had the kindness to send me last (f) Year a very curious Dissertation of Mr de la Monnoie his (f) Countryman, on the Book De tribus impossoribus It is full of very Choice Observations, and deserves exceedingly to be printed Mr de Beauval (h) has lately given a small Lxtract of it. The Author thews by very strong Reasons, that that Book is a meer Chimera Grotius believed, and perhaps on a bad Foundation, that the same Book had been spoken of before (1) Aretin was born The good Father Mersenne (k) has let forth, that one of his Friends who had read the Book in question, had discover d in it the Stile of Peter Aretin Meer Cant Yet one wou'd hardly imagine how much this Notion one wou'd hardly imagine how much this Notion of Father Mersenne (1) is handed about (G) The Epitaph mention d by Mr Moreri] He does not say positively and precisely, that this Lpitaph was engraved on the Tomb of Peter Arein in St Lukes Church, but there is no Person who wont suppose that this is what he meant, for he expresses himself after this manner. "He died at "Venice, where he is buried in St Lukes Church Venice, where he is buried in St Lukes (hurch This is his Epitaph,

"Condis Arosini cineres lapis ifte sipultor

" Mortales atro que fale perfrient "Intactus Deus est ille, causam que rogat ic "Intactus Desus eff illi, caujam suce rogat is
"Hanc dedit, ille, inquit, non mihi noticerat
"It's more ingenious in the Italian "Qui giace l'Actin Poeta Tosco,
"Ghe d'ognun disse malo (m) che di Dio
"Seusandos col dir' io no l conos o" There's nothing in the Thread of Mr Mor ris Nat rative, that may cause the least Suspicion in the World that these Four Verses are not the very In scription on Aretin's Tomb It's imposing on every Reader who has not the Capacity to rectify a Fault by his own Reflections It's particularly lijing a Snare for Protestants, who unless they look about 'em a little, will be apt to believe that there is hardly any Object fo scandalous that the Italians do not suffer in their Churches Several then amongst them might easily believe on Mr. Moren's Word, that the Patriarch of Venice did not only suffer an Atherst to be buried in Conservated Ground, but all Atherst the Parriarch of Venice did not only suffer an Atherst to be buried in Consecrated Ground but also that the Epiraph of that Atherst was exposed in the Church to the View of all the World in You Verses, which turn his Sin into a Jest I or my part, I cannot believe, that the Corruption and Negligence of the Clergy was ever at such an Excess as to suffer Sepulchral Inscriptions of this kind in a Church I believe then, that the Four Verses set down by Mr Morei, are one of those Satyrical Bandown by Mr Moren, are one of those Satyrical Banters made on the Death of Persons, and to which the Title and Form of an Lpitish is given. How many such were made on the Cardinals of Rubheu, and Mazarine! They who write the Elogies of Illustrious Men, and who by the Example of Panlur Taning please themselves with relating their Fullables. lustrious Men, and who by the Example of Paulus Jovius please themselves with relating their Epitaphs, ought always to explain whether they are Verses actually engraved on the Tomb or only Random Trials of Wit Is that Precaution had been used with Regard to Aretin, we should not now see in the Theater of Paulus Freberus, and in the (a) Felix (a) Ar the literatus of Spizelius, that the Four Verses in Question are read (b) on the Tomb of this terson at Vi nice A Divine (c) of Utreibt affirms, that the Ltins sepul pitaph of Peter Aretininserted in the Elogies of Pau tus jacet lus Joviu, and in that which Pazzi has reported, cum hoc lus Joviu, and in that which Pazzi has reported, testify that he was a great Preacher of Atherim

"Aretini epitaphium apud Jovium in Elogiis virorum phium apud Jovium in Elogiis virorum phio & alteram apud Guizeppe Pazzi indi-Condit doctorum, cat qualu & quantus athismi prace fuerit, sie enim Aretini Pazzi in lib cui tit Continuatione della monstru- &c Pau-"Pazzi in lib cui sir Continuatione della monstru"ola farina, Venetiis 1609 Qui giac l'Aretini poelus I reh
"ta (d) Tosca, Che disse mal dogn'un suoi che in Theat
"di Dio, ma si scuso dicendo, (e) no'l conosco p 1461
"Anter sic Qui giace estinto quell' amaro. Iosco (c) Voct "Ch'ogn' huom vivendo col mal dirtrassis. Vero, Disput t
"e che mal di Dio giamai non disse, Che si scuso i p 26
"dicendo io no l'conosco Upon this I must say, (d) 1 first, that Paulus Jevius does not mention the Fpi- shou d'be taph of Peter Aretin How should he, since he died Tosco before him? He mentions that of Leonard destine (c) le before him? He mentions that of Leonard Actin, (c) It but it contains nothing that leaves the least Blemish show'd le on the I aith of the Deceas'd, it does not con- 10 no cern Religion one way or the other. In the second (f) Spit I'lace, there is no depending on the Two Italian Lpi- Scrutin ranks. Cor they were made without any Appropriate. Active for taphs, for they were made without any Approbati- Atheism on, and were never engraved on the Tomb It was p 18 on, and were never engraved on the Tomb It was p 18 a I urn of Wit of iome Satylical Poet Spizelius (g) Attic (f) has copied all the Passage of Voetius, almost 38 p of Word for Word, without quoting it Note, that the 1st to I orenzo Crasso (g) infinuates yet more clearly than des clog Morers, that the I our Latin Verses are on the Tomb (deli Montel States) there for down a good Supplement (h) It's pour it

I et's here fer down a good Supplement (b) It s noie, ic the Custom among the Catholicks to affix to some marq ma Pillar, or other Place near the Tomb of the De nuses ceased, specially if a Person of Reputation 1 u neral Interpresson written on Paper. The Finth is, these Inferiptions are, and always ought to b to the Honour of the Deceas'd But menn having been a noted Libertine, it is very possible that some Jester convey d the Epitaph, mention d by Mr Morers, and so many others, into St Luke's Church at the Time of, or after, the I uneral Thus the Words of Cabilini must be understood. who has also explain'd em clearly enough himself "to the same Escat, when sites having said, e so"to the same Escat, when sites having said, e so"prais sus sepulcino su posto questo epicistio (on lit Aretime enerci, & c. It alds immediately, su pari"mente appelo alla sua to no quest aliso quasi traavito
"d'al suddetto, clicia i uno noda los a sino delle per"sone idiote, Si piace l'Areim &c. The Italian "Epitaphia SG: Ini d'livers it, is much corrector "than that in he Pizzi, Voetius, or Morer, and I "can t comprehend this latter, when he figs, that "It is more ingenious than the Latin. To me it cum hec Irwis pis to think that Aretin did not love God, there was none to fay he did not know him, his Works of Piety (H) plainly tostify the contrary I do not believe that one Tenet of

"feems, that he and Ghilm are both wrong intaking "the Italian for a Transcript of the Latin My O pinion is quite contrary, and what inclines me to it is, that the Italian is to be found in the New Re-"creations printed at Paris 1572 (1) in 160, under the Name of Bonaventure de Persers and that the Latin cannot be shew'd me in any Book so Anci-- There are Faults in the Italian I pitaph of Aretin, ptoduc'd by Morers and Veetius—
The most correct is that which is read in these Terms in le Ghilini

"Qui giace l'Aretin amaro tosco
"Del sem' human, la cui lingua trafisse
"Et vivi, & morti d'Iddio mal non disse,
"Et si suso, co'l dir, vo no'l conosco'
This is so far from enervating my Criticism on Moreri, that it rather confirms it In the Conversations I had in the Year 1696, with Father Coronelli, who accompanied the Ambaffador of the Republick of Venice into England, I askt him what he thought of Aretin's Epitaph He answer'd, that he did not believe it such as Moreri gives, and promis d me to enquire. He writ to me from Venice the 2d of November of the same Year, that 'twas very true that Aretin was buried in St Luke's Church, but that he could not yet discover any thing concerning the Epitaph. He sent me a Passage taken out of the (1) Venetia descripta dal Sanfouno coll' additioni del Martinioni, in these Words, Vi dorme parimente in un deposito posso in aria quel Pietro Aretino, il quale su cognominato stagello de' Prencipi per la licentiosa presuntione della sua mordacissima penna. Or with Father Coronelli, who accompanied the Ambai-Aretino, il quale su cognominato siagesso de Frencipi per la licentiosa presuntione della sua mordacissima penna Er il qual, morendo perde del tutto il nome pioche essendo ignaro di lettere, e operando per forza di natura ne suoi caprici, hebbe dopo morte il meritato premio della sua perentita della sua p tulantia conciosia che effendo le cosse sue reputate dalla Chiesa poco Cristiane, surono vietate del tutto a I ettori, e si sa-rebbe assatto cancellata la memoria, se l'Ariosto burlan-dosi del titolo ch' egli si haveva preso indebitamente, non havesse detto nel l'urioso

Ecco il flagello

De Prencipi, il divin Pietro Aretino

Pray observe these Words of Mr Misson, "(k) I " can hardly believe what some have affirm'd to me, "can hardly believe what some have amrifu to me, "that the biting Epigram made upon Aretin, is "turn'd into an Epitaph However, I will here "fet down the Copy that was given me of it" It's pity he could never find St Lukes Church open, he went several times thither to see Aretin's Tomb If he had seen it, he might easily have decided the Distance. The Journal is of Virgin seeking of his Dispute I he Journalists of Utrecht speaking of his I ravels, mention the Lour Verses, Condit Aretini cineres, &c and declare they are engraved on the Tomb of that Satyrist, (1) Cujus sepulchro sequentes versus inscripti esse dicuntur Once more, I believenothing of it

(II) His Works of Piety plainly testify the contrary]
Paul Fieher relates, that iome Italian Princes, bad Imitators of the Emperor and King of France, who gave Piesents to Aretin that he might not pull 'em to pieces, caus d an hundred Strokes of a Cudgel to be given him, and that that Punishment had such an Lisect, that the Author renounced all Defamato ry Satyrs and Libels, and wrote none afterwards but pious Books Quidam principes Italia minus fibi conpious Books Quidam principes Italia minus fibi con-venire existimantes donis eum efficere, sustibus ad mor-tem usque cadre per alios curarunt, & hoc modo linguam esus maledicam refrenarunt, qui deinceps a scriptis saty-ricis abstinens sacra scriptit, non sicut priora per luquis-tionem prohibita (m) So that very near the same thing hapn d to him, as to those whom Horace mentions in the Lirst Lpistle of the Second Book

Ind of a Life to furnish out Books of Piety This I fig according to the Supposition of the Sieur Fre-ber, which I shall examine hereafter But the best is, that according to the Opinion of some Persons, the Books he made of that kind shewed him to be a Convert indeed It is not (n) unknown what a therough Convertion that of the famous Arctin had been Nothing was found unchang'd in him even to his Name, and some say he succeeded so happily, that it is almost impossible to discover in the Books of (a) Partenio Itiro,

We find intercapt reasure of the old Man, which are je firongly imprinted in the Works of Pietro Aretino. We find in the Conversations of Mr Menage a Thing that ought to have a Place here "(p) Aretin wrote Books of Devotion, which have given occasion to a saying of him, Uhi bene, nemo melius, ubi male, nemo "the man and the Paragharation of the Paragh -Here's an Epigram on the Paraphrase

Si ce livre unit le deftin " De David & de l' Aretin " Dans leur merveilleuft science, "Letteur, n'en sois par "
"Qui paraphrase le para " Paraphrase la pentième "
"Paraphrase la pentième " Sche,

It appears by the Passage of the Sieur Freher which I have quoted, that the Books of Libertinism, and those of Devotion, were compos'd by Aresin at difthose of Devotion, were composed by Aretin at dif-ferent Seasons of his Life, the First before his (onversion, and the Last after him the making his Pious Works towards the latter line, and End of his Days I question this much, for he says faid, that himself in his Epittle Dedicatory of the Second in matters Part of his Ragionament; that he endeavour d chief.

In masters of Devotiand to prove the Lettility and Quickness of his len on, Areand to prove the lettility and Quickness of his Pen, tin s Style he fets forth the Titles of ideveral Works, fome on Subjects of Devotion, and others on Matters of letable and Gaiety, that he had made in a very thort time Tutto e ciancia, eccetto il far tosso, e del suo Lecovi la i that nosalmi, eccovi la historia di Christo, eccovi le Comedie, in the World eccovi il Dialogo, eccovi i volumi divoti & allegri, secondo i soggetti, & ho paitorito ogni opera quasi in un itam his di, e per che si fornisca di vedere cio che sa fai la note, itam his che sane le sasce, tosso udiransi i surori de l'aimi e tam his che sane le sasce, tosso udiransi i surori de l'aimi e tam his deservere i gesti di quel Carlo Augusto His Paraphiase on the Penitential Psalmi was tianslated into French, i homas and printed at Lyons in 1840. His Paraphiase on Aquinas, his cenes the Mysteries of the Old and New Testament, was printed at Lyons in the Year 1840, translated from the Italian (a) Who dares say, that that Author had then renounc'd his Sins, and his Libels? Howcere it be, here are the Titles of some of his Works weighter Gaiety, that he had made in a very short time Tutever it be, here are the Titles of some of his Works of Devotion Specific (b) delle opere di Dio Para-frasi sopra i setta dalla. Vita della beata Virgine Hu-manita delsiglicus di Dio Vita di Santo Ioniaso d Aquiro Vita di Santa Givarina Vergine & Martire Here's a full Consismation of what I advanc'd Thoughts

(c) Aretin compos'd his Works of Piety only to exercise his Imagination, to shew he was capable of any Thing, to appeale the Devotees who were exasperated against him, and to reap the Liberality of some great Ladies to whom he sent Copies of this Sort of Books He was never the soberer Man for this, since after having publish'd his Paraphrase on the Seven Plalms, and his bumanita di Christo in 1535, He bethought him at the Lnd of 1537, of Dedicating those Infamous Postures, which have been so much spoken of, to Baptifta Zatti of Breffe a Roman Citizen, with a Sonnet at the Bottom of each, no leis obline, asM Felibien observes, than the l'ofture representation. The Lpiftle Dedicatory to that Battifta Zan in the First Volume or Arction which that Author makes also by the Description which that Author makes of his own Manners in the 29th Letter of the Fourth Volume, dated in December 1547, that will be was then in the 57th (1) Year of his Again Jovius in May 1545. The Passage in which he mentions the Interruption he was forc'd to suffer in Writing that Letter, the 3d Volume Edge. the First Volume of Aretin's Letters It appears has fomething in it very fingular (d) — One may also see the 439th Letter of the same Volume, where it appears that he made open Profession of

"a Morality far from scrupulous

Those are in the Wrong then who would pretend, that he compos'd his Prous Books after he had by a Serious Repentance renounced his Licentious He compos'd his Works of Piety, and Courfes those of Libertinism by Turns, being always a vedon's menry ill Liver and iunk in Corruption, and if with tion it, is Regard to Men he was less pernicious while he being exercised himself on Pious Subjects than when he loofe shew'd his Wit upon Lewd, yet he was more criminal in the Sight of God on Account of the former Composures than the latter It did not belong to so Prophane a Wretch to handle I hings Sacred the least Feature of the old Man, which are fo " pejus Here's an Epigram on the raraph

" of the Seven Penitential Plaims by Peter Aratin Books of Devotion (p) Me nagiana P m 20 Note tha 12 the 21 Edition (the Men Mr Morers alcribes to the Plalms, whether we consider the > ubi lupra tro Ghili-(c) Mr Monnoie ubi fupra drawn pression

dier

(a) Bibl

deduVer-

(1) Freh

of Parish

54 years of ARC being too on because that in the If which is of Lyons ın 8vo by Robert Granjon 1558 leffe by 35 Sables than thu, Aretin's Epitaph w not to be

(1) Late

this Editi-

(k) Miffon, nou-VCAU VOIAage d'Ital to 1 p 181 Edit of the Hague 1698

(1) Bibl librorum novorum to 3 p

(m) Freher ubi tupra Le Ghilini lame p 192 of the (n) Bail Jugem fur les Poètes t 1 P 133 Atheism can be the d in his Writings; but since several of his I ibels lash d the Disorders of the Cleration colently, and described in an impious Libertine Stille a World of the Impurities which cattributed to a Monastick Lise, no wonder he is made to pass for an Atheist. Add this, that a Man who had any Respect for Religion and Good Manners, would never have publish'd Dialogues on such Subjects as Aretin made choice of, nor express 'em in Language so obscene It's easily understood that I (1) speak of his Ragionamenti. They were printed (K) in his Life-Time, but it is hard to discover

He did 'em a more sensible Injury by explaining em with a Depraved Heart, and from Ill Motives, than if he had insulted 'em openly We may apply to him that thundering Censure contain'd in the Words of the Pfalmift

(e) The 50 PsalmBra-dy's Ver-

(f) Quan-

to con 🦏 Stantior

idem In vitiis,tan-miser ac

Qui jam contento ıam laxo

fune la-

borat

Horat Sat 7 1 2 V 18 he Pfalmist

But (e) to the Wanned thus faith God,

How dar'st those the my Laws abroad,

Or in thy these my Cou'nant take?

For stubborn these; consirm'd in Sin,

Hast Proof against Instruction been,

And of my Word didst lightly speak

When thou a subtle Third didst see,

Thou gladly didst with him agree,

And with Adult rers didst partake

Uls landow it he we heef Dolight Vile Slander is thy chief Delight, Thy Tongue, by Envy mov'd and Spight, Deceitful Tales does hourly [pread Thou dost with hateful Scandals wound Thy Brother, and with Lyes confound The Offspring of thy Mother's Bed,
The fethings didft thou, whom fill I strove
To gain with Science and with Love, Till thou didft wickedly surmist,
That I was such a one as thou,
But I'll reprove and shame thee now,

But Ill reprove and shame thee now,
And set thy Sins before thine Eyes

I confess the Generality of Men are not offended at the Devout Writings compos'd by an Indevout and Proplane Person But People of a nice and difficult Realth are more secundalized at it, than at a Piece in which such an Author shou'd speak out his own Thoughts Chose one side, would such Persons say, be one thing or other, don't give the Printer a Work of Piety to Day, and to Morrow a Bawdy Book, we can't away with such sarce, since you persist in Lvil Courses, we had rather you should shew your self in your proper (f) Colours
'Twere to be wish d, that no one would presume to write Books of Devotion, without being perswaded of what he says, and without practising it, for as to People of Thought and Ressection, it's Matter of Scandal to them to see such a Contradiction between the Thoughts and Words of those who on between the Thoughts and Words of those who on between the Thoughts and Words of those who make such Books, and much more between their Astions and Writings

(I) That I speak of his Ragionamenti] They are divided into Three Parts, the last whereof, which treats of the Court and Card playing, is much more tolerable than the others. The first reats of the Disorders of Nuns, married Women, and Misses It's sufficient to say in General, that the Second is the Spirit and History of Whoredom How abominable soever these Dialogues are, yet are they much less so than the Book generally alcribed to him, de less so than the Book generally alcrib d to him, de less so than the Book generally alcrib d to him, de omnibus Venerus Schematibus

Here's Remark which has been sent me "I his Remark which has been sent them any perdymer schematibus"

(a) Here's Remark which has been sent me "I his Remark which has been sent thus) which many perdymer schematibus of the lieve to have been composed by him in the unt puel Lam Tongue, is only a Collection containing Sixteen Lewd Figures, engraved by the lamous Mark Anthony of Bologna, after the Designs of summanus, with a Sonnet of Arct n's at the botphantido "the 29th of November $27, in which he writes to Signior Casar Fregosa, that he sends him is libio to Signior Casar Fregosa, that he sends him is libio to Signior Casar Fregosa, that he sends him is libio to Signior Casar Fregosa, that he sends him is libio to Signior Casar Fregosa, that he sends him is libio to Signior Casar Fregosa, that he sends him is libio to Signior Casar Fregosa, that he sends him is libio to Signior Casar Fregosa, that he sends him is libio to Signior Casar Fregosa, that he sends him is libio to Signior Casar Fregosa, that he sends him is libio to Signior Casar Fregosa, that he sends him is libio to Signior Casar Fregosa, that he sends him is libio to Signior Casar Fregosa, that he sends him is libio to Signior Casar Fregosa, that he sends him is libio to Signior Casar Fregosa, that he sends him is libio to Signior Casar Fregosa, that he sends him is libio to Signior Casar Fregosa, that he sends him is libio to signior casar sends him is libio to him is libio to signior casar sends him is libio to signior casar sends him is libio to him is libio to signior casar sends him is libio to him is libio to signior casar sends him is libio to him is libio to signior casar sends him is libio to him is libio to signior casar sends him is libio to signican sends him is libio to signior casar sends him is libio to sig "Sonnets were Twenty in number But Aretin himself in his Dedication of em in 15,7, to Bat"tista Zatti before-mention'd, makes 'em hut Six brace:

""
tifta Zatti before-mention'd, makes 'em hut Six

"teen There's a Dialouge between Madialena, and
"teen There's a Dialouge between Madialena, and
"Gulla, the Title of which is, la putana errante
"wherein he treats at length de i diversicor giungimentt, to the Number of (b) Thirty Five I hough the Work has always been printed in Aretins
"Name, yet he disowns it, and says it's the Work of one of his Scholars, call'd le Venico See how the expresses himself upon this in his Capital's to "he expresses himself upon this in his Capitale to

"he exprenes minutes
"the Duke of Mantua

"Ma perch" to fento il prefente all' odore,
"Un' operetta in quel cambio galante
"Vi mando bora in fill ladro traditore
"" " " " " la questa erranto

" Intitolata la putana errante

Dal Veniero composta mio er ato, "Che me in dir mal quarro giornate inante"

I add to this a fine Passage of Mr Chevillier (was about the Year 1525, that Julius Romanus the most cillier,

Famous Painter of Italy instigated is the Enemy of our Salvation, invented Designs, &c eneraved on Copperation of the Subjects of them are so level, that they are not so much as to be named. Peter Aletin, a notorically Instamous Man, and known in the World for a Pio- Page and an Atheist, composed Sonnets for each Distance George Vasant. riously Infamous Man, and known in the World for a Piofligate and an Atheist, composed Sonnets for each Disson George Vasari, who relates this in his Book of the Lives of Painters, sais, that he does not know which would be most immodest, either to cast ones Eyes on the Desiens of Julius, or read the Sonnets of Aretin Io non so qual fusse piu o brutto le spettacolo de a Designi di Giulio all ochio, o se parole dell' Aretino a glo recchi, Part pa , 22 An Engraver whose Name was Mark Anthony, had the holdness to employ he Time in the engraving so much Abomination on Twenty Time in the engraving for much Abomination on Twenty Two Copper-Plates Pope Clement the VIIth, caft him into Prison, but the Cardinal de Medicis sand his Life And as great as Julius : Fame was in painting he would have been very severely punish d if he had not cleap d to Mantua It hapn'd in the Dear 1527 that Rome was plunder'd by the Army of Charles the Vth Twas thus Engraver's Fortune to lose all his Estate, and be obliged to leave the Town, he died some time after Mi Che-villier adds, that Mr Jollain a Michant in St James of freet in l'aris, being inform a where some of the Insa-mous Plates lay which contain a those abominab e Desgus of Julius, and the lewd Sonnets of Aretin, went thicker, and bought'em for an hundred, Crowns with a Defen to destroy em, which he accordingly did --- He always bel ev d that they were the Original Plateseng, aved by M Anthony (a) Hog

(K) They were printed in his Life I'me, but it is hard give printed in his Life I'me, but it is hard give printed discover. The Preface to the Edition in 1884, lento didoes not leave a doubt of the first Fast. The Book loro una feller (a) declares under the supposed Name of Barbuona feller (a) declares under the supposed the publish his parte --- bagging, that the Author had resolved to publish his parte ---Dialogues divided into Days after the minner of da me in Boccace, and as they now stand in the I dition I have dotte no Boccace, and as they now stand in the I dition I have dotte ne quoted, but that others had prevented him, publa manielish d that Work against his Will, and in great Disorder I join something more precise to this, and le comfort do it with so much the more Satisfaction, because poice near the same time, I acquit my self of an indiplementable Duty towards Mr Almutoli, by the Publick ma margestimony I give him of my singular I steem, and niera the great Value I set on the Friendship with which chegli he honours me I consulted that ingenious Prosci-havevadifor of Geneva, and see here the I stract of a Letter terminato for of Geneva, and fee here the I stract of a Letter terminato which he communicated to me, that was fent to him diffule la from Dien 'Sir, I must now speak to you of a prima 'Book very opposite (b) to this, to wit, the Ragin-volta 'mamenti di Pietro Aretino You desire me to clear stampare from Points concerning em It is not to be que in from Points concerning em It is not to be que in from d'intertainments of Aretin appear'd before his fuevog-Death Seeing that in 1551, there was in Invelia) non l'étive of foachim Perion, a Benediëtin Monk, against the Author of the Ragionaminti who did not die prima in (c) till the Year 1556 Antonio Iranifco Doni, in the first Pait of his Bioliotheque, publish'd in 1551 per merwhich contains only the printed Books, speal's oi I wo Dialogues (d) Delle Donne, which differ from fampa in the Ragionamenti, of which he mentions not a luce assa "I wo Dialogues (d) Delle Donne, which differ from stampa in the Ragionament, of which he mentions not a luce affai "Word, because they were most certainly not prin- male acted at that time. As for the Letters, there s only concie the first Volume that deserves to be read, tho it conciosia "contains hardly any thing Satyrical. The other cost che "Crive are very slat, you may take Mr Minaga's Giornate "Vord for it in the Menag and who honours em but questo too much, when he esseems em for the Stile." nomasse

(b) He had be r l'aste pedate del gran Giovanni Boccacio I'aste pedate del gran Giovanni Boccacio (b) Ho had be r suff speaking of Mr Bullet's Book concerning the Worstip due to the Blessed Virgin (c) See the Remark (LD) (d) I reher rections the set Two Dialogues among the Works of Atetin, and say nothing of the Regionaments Perhaps these Two Dialogues were the set of the Regionaments Perhaps these Two Dialogues were the set of the Regionaments and suffort the Knowle, and against the set of the Author and in a different condition has

(i) It (i) Clien

(g) Mr de la Monnoie ubi fupra (b) 1bis exceeds the ancient guræ Thu Lin-nova

In per legur

tare

the Year when We have Six Volumes of his (L) Letters which are not worthmuch. His * Books of Devotion did not go off very well; yet they met with Approvers † who gave 'em great Praise The Comedies he made in Prose are much better in their kind He dy'd about the Year 1556, (La) at the Age of 65 Years, more or less. It's faid, that he fell into so violent a fit of Laughter upon * hearing some filthy Discourse, that over-turning the Chair on which he sat, he bruised his Skull in the Fall, and immediately died of it He was very wrong in writing Lampoons upon Peter Strozzs, Remark II for that brave Man threatn'd to have his Throat cut in his very Bed, which so frighted the Poet, that he durst not let a Soul come into his House, nor ever stir himself out o' foanita- Doors, during Strozzi's Stay in the State of Venice For this I shall quote my (M)

Know too, that this so Satyrical a Poet was lavish of his Praises to Excess retricibus We find the most Pompous Hyperboles, and Extravagant Flatteries in his Letters to ut aunt, Kings, Princes, Generals of Armies, Cardinals, and other Eminent Men Which foroithus are so far from shewing the Spirit of an Author who makes himself dreaded, or exacts Contributions, that on the contrary, there appears in 'em the Meannels of an Author, who most humbly begs a Piece of Bread He makes use of the most moving Expresficilism in qua fede-bat everbat everscripture-Cant, as likelieft to für Compassion, and excite those to Charity who expect tiffe, oc. a Reward of their good Works from God It must not be forgot that the Subject of ciputque hs Importunities for one while was the Dowry of his Dear Daughter (N) Adria.

audirct, ex rifu hat evervehementur graviterram at fixific ato. neguiffime interiet Ant Polit in dial derifu p m 78

In another Letter, Mr Minuteli had the Goodness to communicate Two Observations to me, which he had made in reading the I etters of Illustrious Men, publish'd by john Michel Brutiu He found these Words in a Letter of John Maindanus to Dennis Lambin, pag 369 Pæne me fugerat qued scribendum in primis faisse arbitror A Perionio editam esse audio ora-tionem adversius Petrum Arctinum Periculum est ne ut 1 sampridem principum, ita posthac & μοναχών stagel-lum esse & mominari welit lacessitus Arctinus I here is only the Date of the Day in this Letter, Nonis Maiis, but as Lambin's Answer is dated Nonis Junius, anno CIO to la it's easily conjectured in what Year Maludaniu writto him My Reader will be well-pleased to find here what Lambinus, who was then at Rome, thought of Perion's Harangue Perioni orationem in Petrum Are inum jampridem legeramus, Sed multo non sine risu Quid enim magis ridiculum encogi-tar potost quam hominem Benedistinum, Philosophum, Ciccionianum, Theologum, cum P Aretino verbis decer-tais? Omnino sua existimationi parum consuluisse judicatur, nam quod arguit illum elfe impurum, feelerasum, impium, quid tum posten? Tales homines non verbis aut scriptis castigandi, sed legibue & panis sunt coeicendi sed hac de re alias plura

As to the Second Part of the Text of this Remark, read what follows, and you'll admire the Accuracy and Extent of the Enquiries of that ingenious Man whom I quote "(e) It's hard to determine the exact Time of the first Edition of the

"Ragionamenti, as well because it s become to scarce, "that it s hardly possible to find a Copy of it, as alfo because the Dialogues which compose the Two Parts of that Work did not appear at the same time The first Part preceded the other some Years, but that which is certain, is, that they were both in Print in 15,7 The Epistles Dedi-

"catory to both Parts being inferted in the Editit on of the 1st Volume of Aretin's Letters at Femice in Folio, by Francis Marcolini in the fame Year The I itle of their Ragionaments has varied In " the I piftle Dedicatory to the Second Part of these Dialogues, the Author calls the first i tre Giorni de caprici and even simply dialogo, for this is what he understands by these Words, ecovi el dialogo, which nevertheless are not found in this same Epi-

"file inferted among the Letters of the 1st Volume quemdam "Sometimes instead of Dialogo, he says all along quem ca-quem ca-pricium a "de la anionia Sometimes, as in his Dialogue della corte, by his Nanna he means the first part of the caprarum la corte, by his Nama ne means the hist part of the latering & Ragionament, and by La Pippa the Second In a libidine inferiplit did lower (1 orme, he designs both Parts by i due Dialoghi, as Anthony Francesco (2) Doni designs them also by Dialoghi due delle donne It's certain these Dialogues a'oghi due delle donne It's certain these Dialogues were never entituled Ragionamenti by this Author They bear this Title only since the Edition of the Lear 1584. The true Title was Capricial Person (3) contesses in his Investive against Aresin Le Bandel is missaken, when in the 34th of his Novels, pag 2,5 of the first Part, he says, that la Zanina did read la Nanna These are his words, of sa Rassalla are I wo distinct Pieces, and of

"2 different Authors By La Nanna ought to be understood the first Part of Aretin's Ragionaments, and by the Raffaella, the Dialogue of Madonna Raffaella, and Margareta, entitul'd della bella creanza delle donne, which teaches Women to play the Art of Gallantry It's written by Aleffandro Piccolhuomini under his Academical Name of Stordito Intronato This Quotation of la Nanna by le Bandel ferves however to make it appear, that the first Part of the Ragionament; had been out at least from the Year 1535 Since at the End of the same Novel, in which La Nanna is quoted, mention is made of du Bernia as being then living, who assuredly died in the Month of Vay of the Year 1535, the M Baillet places him after the Poets who died in 1606 Bailles places him after the Poets who died in 1606 il Bernia Vicario Poeta d'Aretino mori appletico, iays Pauliu Jovica in a Letter of the last of May 1535, to Ridolfo Pio, Bishop of Faience, afterwards Cardinal of Carpi, then Nuncio in France Mr. Menage, who has made a Chapter expressly of Bernia in the first Part of his Antibailles, has not corrected this Error " rected this Error

"rected this Error"

(L) Six Volumes of his Letters, which are not worth much | We have already seen the Judgment of a Learned Man of Dijon on this Subject That (g) Meof Mi Menage must be joined to it (g) I have read, nag p 39 says he, all the Letters of Peter Aretin, without ever of the ist having found any thing in them that I could enter into Edit of any of my Books There's nothing taking in'em but the Holland Stile One can't convey a more expressive Idea of a Work that sharren and dry like an empty House, a Heathy, Sandy, Untill'd Ground, for Mr Menage was the Man of the World who best knew how to make the most of his Reading, and who had the make the most of his Reading, and who had the best Talent at varying his Applications from it (L\D) He dy d about the Year 1556, at the Age of 65 (1) Mr di

Years, more or less | "(1) The Reason for thinking la Monthat Arctin died either towards the end of 1555, or in 1556, is, that from the Month of Offeber 1555, supra the Date of the Lpistle Dedicatory to the last Volume of his Letters, it does not appear that he had writany thing, and that le Ruscelli who writ his "Rimario in 1577, mentions Aretin there as a Main "lately dead At the Word Ross in the Vocabula"ry at the end of the Rimario, Onde, says he, if o "mio Aretino di buona memoria That this Rimario "was compos'd in the Year 1557, appears by a "Passage I had observ'd from it above, on occasion of Silvio Antoniano" Paul Freher (a) is missaken, in saying that Arctin died towards the Year 1566

(M) I shall quote my Author] It's Remt of Florence He lays, (b) Pietro aretino builare & motteggiare il her in Sig Piero Strozzi, quando egli diede Marano a Venesiani, Theatro e gli fece un Sonetto, che cominciava Mentre il gran Strozzi Arma virumque cano, & c

Mentre il gran Strozzi Arma virunque cano, & c (b) Remig Ma il Signor Pietro come huomo valoroso, & che un vo-leva sue burle ne suoi motti gli fece intendere, che at consid tendesse ad altro, perche lo farebbe ammazzare ensin civ sopra nel leteo Onde il povero Aretino, che conosceva il Si-gnor Pietro huomo piu da farlo che da dirlo, imsetan- c 6 fol 8. to spavento, che servato in casa, ne dando ingresso a per-coma alcuna, quandazia nuno se i nuentali provenzana en some alcuna, guardava pure se i pugnali piovevano, & meno gioino e notte una vita infelicissima, e per sin the lo Sirozzi stette in paese de Veneziani non ardi mai uscir di casa I tancy when he found himselfout of Danger, he did like the walhed Swine

noie ubi

(a)P Frep 1461 (b)Remig

(2) Libr del Dion par 2 p 39 tourn 3)Scripfit enim, lays be. atq, edidit nefarium librum Caprarura rique jam Italice Lount quo quidem lermone ifti-WS CAPTICIm aliique libriferip.

la Mon-

fupra

k a deal of pains to marry her, and saw her so (0) unhappy in artily repented his being so much in haste. A Fatality too common how many things are there which make 'em extremely uneasy till (N) Adria. It this State that among Men, they are brough out, and make em much more to when they are

ARGYROPYIUS (John) A Native of Constantinople, retir'd into Italy while the Turks (A) were turning all Greece Topfy-turvy He was very kindly received by Colono de Medicis, who made him Preceptor to his Son Peter, and to his Crindlen Lorenzo, and Professor in Greek at Florence He testified his Grantude by the Translations of Aristotle's Physicks and Morals He had fingular good Fortune in that Work, fince Theodore Gaza who had finished a like Franssition, threw it into the lire, that he might not prejudice the Fortune of his good Friend Argyropylus Gaza out-did him in Floquence, and his Translation would infallibly have Eclipsed the other, and is he was quence, and his Translation would intallibly have Eclipsed the other, and is he was not ignorant of Argyropylus's Ambition, and was a good humour d Min besides, he † Falcen made him a Sacrate that cost himself but little, for he was one that never valued either from Paulic or Money. Argyropylus's Conversation disgusted and tired Learned Men, cipc lius Jovicially when he would maintain that Cicero did not understand Greek. He left Iussian is elog in the time of a Plague, and went to Rome, where he read Lectures on the Greek. Text of Aristotle. His Salary was considerable, but as he loved good Litting and Alcyonisms, and that his Constitution was able to bear a great deal, he spent all his Income. So that what has been said (B) of his Gut is not incledible. He shewed, gito principles which he got by cating too many Melons at too. Years of Age 1. He shewed, vei, which he got by cating too many Melons at 70 Years of Age | He shew d i ore p in great Constancy of Mind. when one of his Sons was killed at Rome It's observed 25

(N) The Dowry of his dear Daughter | He loved het very affectionately, and had engaged himself to give a thousand Ducats to him that should marry her. This future Son-in-law was not a Man to be He lov d put off to the next Dedication Such an Affignment as certain Authors have made use of with their Creditors, would not do with him, he atti-cled that a Choufand Ducats should be paid him cled that a Phousand Ducars mound be paid mine to the Bride (c) Mille the tire to the Bride (d) Mille the tire to the Bride to Mille the tire to the Bride to the which Aretin had receiv'd from the Prince of Spain was forced to go to the Payment of that Sum He address'd himself to the Cardinal of Longin for his Assistance in this his Necessity, I cannot tell whether Affistance in this his Necessity, I cannot tell whether he received any thing of him, but I know he wis affisted by the Duke of Florence The Bill (e) of Exchange which that Prince sent him, contain d (f) that the Money should not be paid but on good Artestations that the Marriage was confummated That Condition hastend the Wedding, The Father would have desent dit, for he fancy d his Diughter Adria was somewhat too Young, but that (onfideration must now be past over When she was fideration must now be past over When she was laid in the Nuprial Bed, he faid that she look d like a pure Victim laid on the facred Altar (g) Per importarmi più i honore della parola obligata, che il rif-Book Its importanti piut innove della parola obligata, che il rijpreto della etade tenera, confentii, che la innocentia, fi copulaffe col·facramento Ella nello entrare nel letto, parae una oftia pura, posta sopra l'altare facro It appears that the Son un-Law did not rigorously exact the Payment of the whole Sum before Mirriage, he was fatished with the Gold Chain that the Imperiod ror had given Areim for Security of what was wanting of the 1000 Ducats, but this did not make the Father-in-Law a jot the ealier, who had a must be keep his Gold Chain, and yet could not Partie of his Daughter till all the Money was paid The Duke (L) 5 e /e own House without the full Portion of Florence was again importand, and disburst (b) thing more of Appeting

a warp withappy Marriage, poor Adria was to ill treated at her Husbands House, but her Husband forc'd to return to her Firher , bir hei Husband having promis d her better Uiage, the was perswaded to a re-union, but was fill as unhappy as ever livey full denied her the Power of the Keys, a power which never falls to the Petty cost in the Church, but is an inalienable right of the Women in the Family She could neither Lat nor Dink but in the family she could neither Lat nor Dink but in the in pleased others to dispose of the Key in her I Avour She was perpetually lectur'd about her D t less of dress, they would not infler her to wear jew is, and Urbano se forc'd her to sell a Diamond that her Father had grand that Venuce in be Part, this was rearing her very Heart out of her November 3554 of Union for health of home and homest in despise the to have and homest in despise by his hon-in-law. while his Fame was (1) firead as far as the Court of Parfin! What a Domestick bitter Pill was this in the midst of the imaginary Sweets of a great Reputation! Could it be any Confolation to confider Baili II that this Brute at the same time despised the Duke of Florence who had earnefily recommended it to him to treat his Wife well? On the continy this was a new Subject of Contuinon to the Person who acallo conhad made foill a (hoice of a Son in-lax (m) Ben che in quit) al non far nissure still the on a supercited stip on a specto che most a dia deciral al none in a manistra, usen on oid supercited stip of on specto che most a manistra, usen ono di seran Duca, it cal son oid Roma, cij qual era a cavallo chiomollo, or diselle se tu vuoi ci non ti si manchi di gra ie, tratta la moglicitus, si come di me nata susse Note, That Peter est Aretin had another (n) Daughter whom he mightily desired to Matty had made foill a Choice of a Son in-1 23 (m) Ben defired to Marry

(A) White the I tirks were turning all Greece Toph-turvy] I durft not in with Moren that he actual into Italy after they had conquer d Constantinople for Two Reasons make me doubtit One is Psulus Journes staying (o) that Argyropylus wis driven in to Italy by the fime Tempett that fored Theodor Gaza thither Now he obtaines that this Theodoratook refuge there while Amurath (p) shook Greece with his Victorious Arms This inclines us to be (m) Are with his Victorious Arms This inclines us to be (m) Are lieve that Argropplus left his Country before the timpage Ottomans had taken Conflantinople. My iccound head 212 of the fon is that he address da Confolatory I restife to 6th Book of the Emperor of Conflantinople. It omike this a bireletter good Argument, it must, I confess, be proved that (n) she he composed this Piece in I aly and I own I can't was ealed prove this, fo that I only offer this Observation as Austria i means to keep my Reader in suspense Paulus See the Journs is to blame in having neglected the Chrono 210th letter of the logy to much as he has done in his I logies, toi he ter of tree might eatily have discover d the date of the Offices, 5th Book Travels, and Death of his Illustrious Persons 1 his (a) Paulus by the way I off us (4) observes that this I icatic Jovius of Argyropylus, his Monod c, his Book de regno, elog c 2, and his Parallels between the Ancient and Modern p m 64. Princes, are in the Most (hristian kings Libiary (p) Amu Princes, are in the Most Christian King's Libiary Mr Movers who never six these Works affirms nevertheless that the Author dedicated them to the House of the Medicis. Why was he not attached with affirming this concerning Aristotles. I san shadow only? his Guide (a) goes no fatched the bus arms of the Medicis of the Garden Strate of the Medicis of t sutumnalem accerssivit fiebrem, atque ita septuaressimo ib c 20 atatis anno cieptus est. To dye of esting too much, p 61 is shanieful to any one, much more to a Learned (q) Vossi Man It had been more for the Honour of Argyro- us de Hiplus that he had died of Hunger However let's ftor Gre not depend on the vallness of his Paunch as a good cis lib 4 Reason against those who represent him as having cap 19; been very ingenious. The Success of such a Con m 40, test would be very uncertain. See the Collections (a Paul that shall be fet down in the Remarks of the Airs. Josus under Charles Company of the Control cle Gorgias that See conce ning the 4 211110 1 3/ In 1 (2) (ndina de Bavi eie, p m

() Jevius it dem, p 66

(k) who

. 0/ 1 1

areunth

Look of his

I errers fol

5th fol

72 edit

de Paris

(d) Id 1b

(c) See the 24th I et-to of the Same Book Is's dated at Venice

211 1548

(f) See the -2 >th

Itte of

be 5th

1600

40

ARIMINI. ARION. ARIARATHES. ARIGONI. ARIMANIUS.

that he was (C) the first Greek who taught Philosophy in that City. He disputed with much Vivacity and had a very extensive Knowledge. He lest *a Son who was an excellent Musician. The Judgments (D) that have been past upon his Translation differ Obut relicto fi extremely

ARIARATHES, A Name of several Kings of Cappadocia. See the Article Cappa-

21 p 776 docia f In libel-

344 ho Ifacio

Mulico

Volaterran lib

lo pro ca-

Francii-

ARIGONI (Pompey) Cardinal and Archbishop of Benevento, was born at Rome in the All the time that he was of the number of the Confiftorial Advocates, nonizati- he was retain'd in all Causes relating to Philip II of Spain In the Pontificate of Sixone B Ditus the V he made a Speech to shew the reasonableness of canonizing the blessed daciComplutens Diego d' Alcala He was made Auditor of the Rota in the Year 1591 and Cardinal in 1596 and exercised the Chancellor's Office under Lee the XI and Paul the V. The Archbishoprick of Benevento was conferr'd upon him by this last Pope He dyed the cus Pegna in vita ejusdem Didaci
Didaci
La Pell

4th of Aprel, 1616 in the Greeks Tower near Naples, whither he had retired for the Body was carried to Benevento, where his Nephew built a Marble Tomb for him in the chief Church There are some Latin Letters of our Pompey among those Ex Bib- of John Battista Laure, besides the Speech before mention'd, that was printed by Peter lioth Ro- Galesini + As to his Decisions of the Rota, they are only Manuscripts in the Cabinets of some Learned Men Charles Carthars gave him many Elogies in his Luft of the mana Prosperi Mandoin Confistorial Advocates

ARIMANIUS, One of the chief Deities of Persia That Nation was indebted to y or oaster for its Philosophy, one chief Tenet of which was revived by the Manicheans, to wit, That there are two first Principles, one of Good, and the other of Evil The Persians call d the Deity which they acknowledged for the Principle of all Good, and Author of the State in which things were first produced, Oromasses, and the Divinity which they acknowledged as the Principle of Evil, and Author of the Corruption into which the first Nature is fallen, they call'd Arimanius. They said that Oromasses having produced the good Spirits, and the Stars, enclos'd 'em (A) in an Egg, and that Arimanius produced the bad Genis who broke that Egg, from whence proceeded Confusion, and the mixture of Good and Evil. They add, that at last after divers Conflicts, in which the Victory would be various, Oromasdes should totally vanquish Arimanus, and destroy him beyond retrieve, which would be followed by a State of great Happiness to Mankind, and by a very commodious Transformation, which would make the Bodies of Men Transparent, and durable without any Nourishment *

ARIMINI (Gregory of) See Rimini

ARION, an admirable Horse, and far more Famous in Poetical Story than Bucephaall allow it Divine Some faid that Neptune being desirous to favour Men with all the Conveniences that Horses were able to afford them, struck the Earth in Thessaly with † Lutari- his I rident, and immediately out started a couple of Horses, one of which from the Telluris Theoria facra of Doffor T Burnet, 1 2 ch to pag 289, 190 Plutarch de Ind us in Statu Theb

* Taken

(C) It has been observe a that he was the first Greek who taught ————— He disputed, &c] His Disciple Politian is now to be quoted, read these Words of Hornius (c) Primus ex Gracis Roma philosophiam of Hornian is now to be quoted, read these Words of Hornian (c) Primus ex Gracus Roma philosophiam professivitus ta Argyropylus, cujus sestatorem se suisse memorat Angelus Politicianus Miscel cap I eumque cum se la terarum Latinarum minime in uriosum, tum sapientia

1 4 V 43

(c) Hor
l terarum Latinarum m inime in uriojum, tum japientiæ nius, Hidecretorum, disciplinarumque adeo cuntiarum que Cyclyftor i hi lotoph lib 6 c 6

Pag 304,

Jitioni differ extremely] Mr de Thou observes that Perion proposing to keep clear of the Method of Argyropylus, fell into another extreme lie found that degrees like had searlined a carrier life found

that degrees like had searlined a carrier life found

that degrees like had searlined a carrier life found that Argyropylus had translated Areflotle more faithfully than elegantly, and therefore undertook a Tran-flation which should please those who love good La-(d) Thutin, but labouring too much for the Elegancy of Stile, he was tax d with overlooking the Sense of the an Hiftor lib Author (d) Is (Joachimus Perionius) cum Arifiste472 ad lem halitenus a Johanne Argyropylo fidelister potius, quam ann 1559
(e) Volaterr lib
21 pag pylo reprehensionem incidit Which Judgment amounts 22 pag pylo reprehensionem incidit Which Judgment amounts 23 to this, Argyropylus's Translations are faithful, but (f) Petrus Nannius, Al.
marianus
marianus apud Lo- pho haud aliter quam in facris literis verbum verbo red-vanientes dere opireat If we confult a Profestor of Leavain, vaniences dere operent. If we confult a Professor of Leaven, we shall find this Judgment of Velecerran but ill hound himself more Professor, grounded, and that Argyropylus bound himself more output law ierviely to Aristole's Words than Thoughts, and that his Translation can pass neither for faithful nor elegent of the Words of that Professor (f) Super riori seculo, quidam verba verbis ita admensi sunt, ut sententiam depravarint, non aliser quam indotti pictores, qui operosi in cultu essingendo, membra secundum vestem d siorquent quum Apelles, Parrhasique prius nudum corpus essormare, quam amictam superinducere soleant corpus eyormare, quam amictam juperinaucere joieant In quorum numero Argyropylum reponas, & Ruffinum, alterum interpretem Arifiotelis, alterum Gregoris Nazianzeni, de quibus vere id hemistichis dici potest Dant sine mente sonum Ett autem sluud vel ex inscissa, vel ex xaxo nala, quum enim sententiam apprehendere no queunt, verba reddunt, quasi quod ipsi non intellexerint, alius ex illorum verbis iutelligere queat, cum verba non queunt, verba reddunt, quast qued 19st non intellexerint, alius ex illerum verbis sutelligere queat, cum verba non minus ex seitentia vim suam, & significatum accipiant, quam sententiam confituant Aliqui rursus sidem existinant a numero verborum non discedere. Some Learned Men imagine (g, that Argyropylus is here accused of tying himself word for word to the Original, and where he cannot take his Author's Mind and Sense, of having recourse to a jingling of Words without any meaning I question whether this is exactly what Nannius would be at Mr Haret (b) agrees in his Judgment with Mr de Thou, and consequently condemns that of Volaterian He condemns Paulus Jovius also, who preferr'd the Translations of Gaza before those of Argyropylus, and declares that if the first is more Eloquent, the latter is more faithful (i) Non efficies quin major quidem eloquentia lans Gaza, accurate autem interpretantia Argyropylo debeatur. See above the Remark B of the Article Acciaiols (Donat), and wonder at the Diversity of these Judgments

(A) Enclosed them in an Egg I promised in another place (a) that I would say something here concerning the Egg, which according to the Ancient Theology of the Pagans had been made use of for the Production of Beings when the Chaos was separated I say then, that it was the Opinion of the Phanisians, that the dark Air and the Chaos were the Principle of all things. That dark Air is without alius ex illorum verbis intelligere queat, cum verba non

Phanitians, that the dark Air and the Chaos were the Principle of all things That dark Air is without doubt the same thing that others call the Night,

Stat uba homeur,

6 V 528

Was our Arion, Others faid that (A) Neptune disputing with Minerva which of 'em should Paufani give a Name to the City of Athens, it was order'd by the other Gods, that who ever of the 151 g. Two thould make the best Present to Men should give a Name to that City Whereupon Neptune fleuck the Beach with his Trident and made a Horse come forth out of it, in the Peace, of which the Olive is an Emblem, was better than Wir in which the Horse was in the most useful Now there are some who pretend that the Horse which Neptune, produced on this Occasion was named down. Others for the the Horse which Neptune, produced on this Occasion was named down. on this Occasion was named Arion Others say that this Horse had Ceres for its Dam control and Neptune for Sire * This Goddess as she was wandring through the World to seek Founds and Neptune for Sire * This Goddess as she was wandring through the world to the her Daughter, met with Neptune who made sierce Love to her, but as she was not distance who her Daughter, met with Neptune who made sierce Love to her, but as she was not distance who her the Form of a Mare This Neptuno past near the City of Oncium in Arcadia Ceres in vain endeavour d to disguise her genuit Casself among the Studd, Neptune soon discover d her, and enjoy d her in the Shape of an restimility of the She was somewhat vext at it at first, but was afterwards appeared, and wish d her self in a neighbouring River. She had a Daughter by this Adventure with Neptune, tu Apolwhose Name it was not lawful to tell prophane Persons, and she had our Horse zirion lod 1 3 besides There are those who say † that she was (B) in the Form of a Fury when † Action of the Form of a Fury when † Action of the Form of the orse by her, or that in effect a Fury procreated him hoseiste.

The Poet Antimachus quoted by Pausanias, gives him no other vo us. Neptune got that Horse by her, or that in from Neptune's Fact Origin than the Soil of Arcadia But Quintus Calaber makes him a Son of the (C)Wind part of the Zephyr and a Harpy However it be, 'twas believed that he had (D) been reard by the Icaivas Noriedes, and that being sometimes with other of Neptune's Hories clapt to the Charcagus Calaber and that being sometimes with other of Neptune's through the Seas Name of the Cold has been decreased by with an incredible Swiftness through the Seas Name of the Cold has been decreased by the Seas Name of the Seas Name o riot of that God*, he had drawn him with an incredible Swiftness through the Seas Neprini He had this peculiar to him, that his Feet of the off fide were like those of a Man Hercules filius & mounted him when he took the City of Elis, and afterwards prefented him to Adra- unius ex-This Paulanias informs us of, who adds, that Animachus made Adiaffus the third bus II Owner (E) of him Hessod represents him as Hercules's in the Combat with Cygnus sychius Statius * says in general, that he serv'd Hercules in his Travels, and that afterwards the 'Stat Gods gave him to Adrastus Probus + attributes all the Honour of that Piesent to Nip- 1 heb 1 tune. Under this last Master it was that Arion signalized himself most, he won the formation of Prize of the Race in the Nemean Games, which the Princes who went to besiege in State Thebes instituted in Honour of Archemorus, and was the means of preserving Adrastus Theb 16 from perishing in that famous Expedition, as all the other Chiefs did. This Apoll niles \ 3 2 teftifies in his 3d Book ARIOSTA (Lippa) Concubine of Opizzo Marquis of If and of Iteratas, prov d the Impressions so well which her Beauty had made on the Heart of the Mu Su quis, by her Fidelity and fine Management, that at last he own d her for his lawful super. Wife in the Year 1352 He died the same Year, and lest her the Administration of Probus his Estates, of which she acquitted her self very well during the Minority of her Eleven George Children From her is descended all the House of Fst which substitute in the Less Branches of the Dukes of Modena and Rhegio The Author of whom I borrow this, house Relative observes Relation of Fury at the time du vonge of Copulation Mr Lloyd has present of Copulation Mr Lloyd has pirated bartlins in logne, this place, without correcting him

(C) Makes him a Son of the Wind Tephyr | Here Pait 3 is a second Fault of Bartl us, which Mr Lloyd has Pag 172 transplanted into his Lexicon just as he found it Intercedit Quintus Smyrnæus says Barthius, (1) Hai-pyiæ patronus, cujus fuerit po ius Jeminio oriundus patre Zephyro, ingra iis etiam Nep un There is nothing in that Poet (m) which notes that it was with of against the good liking of Nep une, that replyr and (1) Id ib

the Harpy produc'd Arion (m) (c) (D) Trathe had been new dly the Norcides I hom in shall quote only Claudian

Si (n) dominus ligeretur equis, tua posierit ultro

Verbera, Nereidum stalul's nutritus Arion

(n) Cliu

(r) Adrastus the third Owner] This is true acdiam cording to the History which the Scholi st of the Const 4 mei makes of it on the 346th Verse of the 7, dBook Honoris of the sliads. He says that N prum being fillen in the stall of the surface of the stall into the that he gave him to Copreus King of Alia to the transfer of the presented him to Hercules, who won the President of the Course with that Horse against Cien tie 11 Son of Mars near Trazener, and that at lift Hr wis presented him to Adrastus

(1) He won the Prime of the Race 1 At 1 rus in this 3d Book fays, that Abaffir was a Victor in the Horic Race but Status pretends that that crinice gave his Arion to his Son in Law Polynices and that Anon threw the new Direct, and continuing his Course out stript all the rest, which did not hinder Amphianaus from carrying away the Crown For though he did not out run rion, yet twas sufficient that he carry dit from his Competitors, and that polymeer being thrown, could prete id to me thing in right of the Superior Flectness of his this is Horse

Forfian (a) & misto pr or offit A ore Cignus Setwe at aguar is iter proprious to the Glor a manifel equal, e fi differia was Ap üt-

and to which they attribute the Production of an Egg, out of which proceeded Love and Human-kind (b) Τιλλει πεώπεον νυξι μελανόζες Θωον kind (b) Τιλ]ει πεώπεον νυξ μελανόζες ωον This might be ingeniously explain'd of the Earth, and compar'd with the Words of Moles, by supposing (c) that the groffer Parts of that obicure and thick Air recipitated themselves on the Circumference of the Abys, where they found a sat and glewy Scum with which they mixed themselves to form fort of Slime, which being harden d became the habitable Larth Some Ancients (d) have faid that a Dove brooding on an I gg had produced Venus, or Love Lucius simpelius (e) pretends it was the Lgg of a Tish , Ovum pifcis columbam adjediffe dies plurimos, & exclusiffe Deam Benignam (f) By the Lgg Dr Burnes understands the Chaos, the Holy Chost by the Dove, and Venus by the Larth But it seems that that Venus which came out of the I gg ought not to be lamited to the Production of Lath only, but of the Machine of the World That Doctor the whole Machine of the World That Doctor observes that the Egg was a very facred thing in the Mysteries of Bacchus, because of its resemblance to desse, & that Being which ingenders and incloses all in its post alie felf (g) Ως μιμημα τε τ' ται τα ρενωντ το κο τεειέχον Θ εν εαυτώ He does not forget to observe
(b) that Moses's Expression has a Relation to the manner of Hens in the Act of Brooding Huic dolli na de Ovo mundano dataque in erpretationi tacite fawere mihi widetur incubatio Spiritus Sancti in abyl-Sum, de qua Moles in prima telluris productione, ubi ad ovum manififto alluditur

(A) That Neptune disputing with Minerva] visus informs us of this, on these Words of Virgil Fudit equum magno tellus percussa tridenti, Neptune See Brobus alio on the same Passage of Ing !

(B) In the Form of a Fury | Barthins (k) has con-founded this Opinion of Apelloderus with that of Hesseus He says, Unius ex kinnibus sobolem of femistur Apulledoro Hesseus Lexicograph s hat is, Applledorus says that Arion was total d by one of the kurses, die has not faid it but expectly observed shet Cores was the Dam of the Horie, and this

(b) Arastophanes apud T Burnetium, Tell iacr l 2 c 7 pag 24} (c) Thu is what Dr Burnet does Say,

(d) Verba citat Grogidio in Scholiaften Ger-ovum miræ magnitudinis quod volventes ejecerunt atque ita columbam inse-quot dies exclusifie Deam Svriæ quæ vocatur Venus Id p 259

(f) Ibid (g) Lx Plutarcho iympof I 2 qu 3 (b) Pag (i) Virgil Georg I 1

V. 12 (k) Barth an Stat t 2 .Peg.

observes that Lippa Ariosta brought more Honour (Z) to her Family, which was one of the Telme See sts Article Plutarch, Arrian. Lucian, Clemens Alexandrinus. and several others Say that Aristander was of this City

(b) Barth in Stat t

3 P 537 (c) Pro-pert lib

2 eleg

Apollodorus owns that Amphiaraus carry'd it in the Chariot Race a guan, which his Latin Translator ought to have rendred by curru, and not curfu, as Barthius has (b) observ'd As for the Distich of Propertius which makes Arion a speaking Animal,

Qualis (c) & Adrasti surera vocalis Arion Tristis ad Archemori sunera vocator equus, I do not believe he attributes that Grief to him which Passerat imagines, I believe the Word tristis concerns the fatal Accident of Archemorus, for which those Games were celebrated, and not the Indignation that Arion conceiv'd on finding another Master besides Adraslus

(e) Buffi Ra butin Jettre 136 de la 4 part pig 192 edit de Holl

fter besides Adrassus

(Z) Brought more Honour to her Family than she had taken from it | I have discoursed in another place of the singular I slicacy of Marringe It cannot be sufficiently admir'd, for in short it changes the Nature of the I hree Distinctions of Time, the past is no less assected by its influences than the present and the future (e) Do you not admire
"the force of Custom, and what Authority it has
"in the World Wish three Words that a Man "pronounces, Ego conjunco vos, he males a Young "Man and a Mind go to hed together, in sight, and "with the consent of all the Weild, and this is "call'd a Sacrament all nin fir'd by a Consecrated "Person The same Astron without these Worlds "eall'd a Sacrament almin f' i'd by a Confectated Person. The same Astron without these Words is an enormous. Crime, which dish mours a poor Woman, and he who mining a the mitter, is call'd, forgive the Expression, a Pint In the first Case, the lather and the Mother rejoyce, dance, and lead their Daughter themselves to the Bed. In the ad they are all in Distraction, get her shavid, and thrust her into a Convent. It in the flowid, and thrust her laws are very pretty things. This is not the greatest wonder of the matter. The chief singularity consists in the retroactive ef-The chief fingularity confifts in the retroactive ef-The chief fingularity confifts in the retroactive effect. Our Ariofis had been a Concubine, her Children were buffaids, it was a fruin to her Honour, and her Lamily, but all this was efficed, washed out and annihilated by the Three Words of the Priest 170 conjungo vos. The Marquis of Fenara by marrying this Miltels a little before he left the World, changed her from a Concubine to a Wife of Marquis and gave the Tarle of Lamitmant and half Honour and gave the Title of Legitimate to Children who had been rightly charged with the contrary Condition Such Met morpholes happen daily, and there have been those who have pretended that Children boin at a time when their Lather and Mother could not be married for want of a Dipensition, ought to be Legitimated by a subsequent Marriage, (f) but the Parliament of Paris gave a contrary Judgment on this State in the Year 1664. It may perhaps be enquired why the Marquis did not buckle to before the Year of his Death I may answer that a Ionnicator who finds himself (f) See the near his end is much better dil, or d to fuch a piece of Management than if he were in hopes of living longer The checks of Conference, quicken d of themselves, or by the Discourse of a Cissust, are more lively at the fight of Death, lefs difficulty is then made to pais through a vexatious Ceiemony which may asswage them Add to this, that a great Loid solicited to merry by a I listress whom he enjoys, may magine, that she'll be a thousand times more obliging and faithful while she flatters her selfwith the Hopes of obtaining to the Quality of Wife, and that after having attain'd to it, she might discover her Pride and ill Humour, & It is therefore thought sit to keep her in Expectation, but when there appears no hopes of recovery, it sfull time to give ever this fort of Management However it be, fome are so severe, that neither the Conduct of this Marquis of Ferrara nor that of his Imitators will please them They would have a Maid or a Woman who has dishonour'd her self, and been a ling time a featidal to a whole Country, remain all her Life time in Difgrace, and that the

on (g)
(A) A wonderful Ascendant over the Mind of that Monarch | It is certain on one hand that in all the example of her Rehabilitation might not serve as an Allurement to other Maids, and under the like Prospects hide from 'em the Infamy of Fornicati-

Macedonian Army there was no Soothfayer of io 72 78 much Reputation and Authority as Ariftander ritissimus (h) vatum, Cui (1) maxima sides habebatur Aeisai Cui tum (k) plurimum credebatur ex vatibus It is on sie sien the other hand most certain, that Alexander was very Cer 12948 iuperstitious Eras non (1) intastarias superstitione mentis Superstitionis (m) potens non the It is easy then to corclude that Arisander to great Power over him Quintus Cursius observes, that that Prince had pinn'd his Faith upon his Sleeve (n) Qui post Tol poice a Darium victum ariolos & vates consulere desiderat, rursus ad supersistionem humanarum gentium ludibria revolutus, aristandrum CIII Constitution in the supersistionem humanarum gentium ludibria revo-Jarium victum arioles & vates consulere desiderat, rurfus ad supersissionem humanarum gentium ludibria revolutus, aristandrum CUI CREDULITATEM SUAM ADDIAER AT, explorare eventum rerum sacrificius yur Alex p bet If in any critical Juncture he was to beg a fingular Favour of the Gods, he shut himself up (p) Q with him With him he shut himself up to perform the most mysterious and inestable Ceremonies of Religion Plutarch informs us of this where of Religion Plutarch informs us of this, where (a) Id 1 he mentions the Preparations for the Battel of Ar- 4 C 15 entions the Preparations for the Battel of Ar- 4 C 15
(a) Alexander quiescentibus Macedonibis cum va- (b) Sinn te Pristandro egit pro tabernaculo suo sacris quibusdam innocovarianis operanis, atque Apollini immolanis Quintus autovid. Curtius lays, that Alexander being much toubled o Casia i on that Occasion, sent for Ariffander, to implose the x, oupper Affistance of the Gods, and that Aristander in his composed ceremonial Habit dictated a Form of Prayer to him (r) Alexander non alias magisterritus ad vota of present at frandrum vocari jubet Ille in candida vota of present and in manu preferens, capite velato praibat print, non vonder that that Prince had fuch a value for his Soothfayer, for he did him more fervice than any of his Generals By his means he fill'd his Army with Hones and Courage, which were great helps of his Generals. By his means he fill'd his Army with Hopes and Courage, which were great helps towards forwarding his Enterprizes. Do but confider this included, in the heat of the Battel of Arbella, cloathed in white, and a Branch of Laurel in his hand, crying out to the Soldiers, that he faw an Lagle perch don Alexander's Head, a certain pledge of Victory and that they might fee it as well as he Ard think how much this must forward the Victory, without the Soldiers ever needing to fee it. They Exercise without the Soldiers ever needing to fee it. I key favenfor trusted to the Lyes of the Soothsayer, if they them femper telves saw nothing they imputed it to their bad Eye-viticinis sight, or the small time they had to look out to vetuit such an Object in the Air (a) Vates Aristander alba Plut in the sindutus, & dextra praserens lauream militibus in Al a pa pugnam intentis avem monstravit, haud dubium victoria 679 auspiciam Ingeni ERG() alacritas ac siducia paulo and (1) Acceptive acceptiv and for fear the Lvent should justify those who hiss d at sissander's Promise that the City of Tyre should or to it for taken before the end of the Month, he ordered a to it that that Day which was the last of the Month, of that that Day which was the last of the Month, of the should for the future be counted the 28th. He would give his Prophet time, who had nevertheless have a taken upon that Day if we believe Plutarih and Autoria then upon that Day if we believe Plutarih and Autoria much to be suipested in those Matters. Let us have so In me thor much to be suipested in those Matters. Let us have so In mot forget that no Person knew the Art of compositions his Master so well as our Arisander to compositions his Master so well as our Arisander to the same and the same and the same and the same and the same as the same and the same as the same and the same as the same a fraction at having kill d Clieus, had almost broke vates A his Heart with grief and moaning It was fear'd he stander would dye of Sorrow, the Door of his Chamber vissanthy have no hody, but as was forced open, he would hear no body, but as food (c) as Arifander put him in mind of a Dream which related to the Death of Clitus, and represented to him that that unhappy Man was all along predefined to fuch an end, the Prince was perfectly tum & comforted omtosted prodigi (B) By th good success of his Art] They who set um sub up for toretelling things to come, are happy when ceret, ja they ferve a Prince whom the Providence of God dudum deligns for great Purpoles A thousand human Rea- hae in sons make them forestell all manner of Prosperities 119 cost what it will, and they rejoyce to see the Event visus justify their Temerity. This was Aristander's Case animal He ventur'd to tell things to come at all adventure relaxant And Alexander's good Fortune still say dhis Credit. Id this observes that Lippa Ariosta brought more Flonour (Z) to her Family, which was one of the noblest of Ferrara, than she had taken from him it

ARISTANDER, a famous Soothsayer in the days of Alexander as Great, was Native of a certain City in Asia, where almost all were born with positions to Pro- (n) Lib phesy He follow'd Alexander to the Conquest of Persia, and acquire a (A) wonderful sap. 7

Ascendant over the Mind of this Monarch, by the good Success of the Art (B). He had been formerly in the same Employment at King Philip's Court, and it was he explain'd that Prince's Dream after he had married Olympia, more to the King's Satisfaction than any of his Brethren He dreamt that he had seal d his Queen's Belly with a Seal on which a Lion was engraved Upon which the other Soothswers advised him. with a Seal on which a Lion was engraved Upon which the other Soothsayers advis'd him to ซหทบทีร p Pe- márzens

Al a pa

The

(g) Confer quæ fupra pag 167, 168 (b) Curtius 1 4 cap 2 (i) Ibid cap 6 (k) 1d 1

Tournal des Sca-vans for

Jan 12 1665 p m 46

to have (C) his Wife's Conduct more carefully observ'd, but Arestander maintain'd, that Plut in the Dream fignify'd the Queen's having a Son who should have the Heart of Alexand.

a Lyon, * and she was then with Child of Alexander King Philip (D) set up for explaining the Dream himself, but could make nothing of it. Tho' Aristander apply'd himself chiefly to the Expounding of Dreams, and tho he is one of the Authors who himself chiefly to the Expounding of Dreams, and tho he is one of the Authors who himself chiefly to the Expounding of Dreams, and tho he is one of the Authors who himself chiefly to the Expounding of Dreams, and tho he is one of the Authors who himself chiefly to the Expounding of Dreams and tho he is one of the Authors who have a specific himself that a Statue of O-philms she shall be part of that y it foreboded that the Poets should sweat one day with singing of Alexander's Vi- of Arisin thories. If a Swallow shutter'd about that Prince, or perched upon his Head A. Ari-11 to 8 ctories If a Swallow flutter'd about that Prince, or perched upon his Head A, Ari- 1 i c 8 flander said, 'twas a Sign of a Conspiracy against the King, which however would be "Q Curdiscover'd If during the Preparations for the Siege of Tire, Blood gusting out of a tius 4 c 2 ib c 6 Soldier's Loaf, diffusys the King 3, Aristander composes him again, and tells him, † Id 1 7 since the Blood came from the inward Parts of the I oas, twas a Fatal Omen for the c 7 Plut City that was to be besieg d On another Occasion he interpreted the Piesige * of 1 m Alex Raven, that had let something fall on Alexander's Head, and afterwards pitched upon a p 679

Tower, where it was taken The Entrails of † the Victims were new Matter of Fore-querd m

(d) See what has been cited from Q Curtius in the foregoing Re-

The Prophet had Reason to love such a Conqueror, who was also excusable in trusting to a Man who prophesy'd so right I have formerly wonder d, that Alexander should be so superstitious, and now I should wonder if he had been otherwise, and 'tis strange to me, that his Respect for the Soothlayers should be in the soothlayers of the latest the sacretage of the highest for the soothlayers. should be interrupted (d) in the time of his highest Prosperity He could not be ignorant that his good Fortune exceeded the Foresight of his own Prudence, and the Greatness of his Courage He must then necessarily have believ'd, that an Invisible and most Powerful Virtue took a particular Care of his Affairs He must therefore, morally speaking, have been always disposed to cultivate the Favour of that Power by all the Means which the Snothfayers luggested to him, I say, the Soothiayers, whom he consider d as the proper Judges of the Time in which Fortune was in a good or bad Humour, and as the Arbitrators of the Means to appeale that Goddels, and render her propitious It would be found less strange, that certain Princes should slight the Counsels of those who are Directors of their Devotions Ifay, certain Princes, who fucceed in their Undertakings only in proportion to the human Means which they make uic of to render these Enterprizes infallible, and who are worsted whenever their Prudence has not taken all necessary Measures They are the Antipoder of great Conquerors But I must own there still remains always a matter of Wonder in the Case Could such a Great Soul as that of Alexander represent God to it felf under that Idea which Supersistion gives of him? He had his lucid Intervals, as when he sent one of his Prophets a packing, who came to distuade him from an Attack, for which all things were ready, telling him, Nothing can be more impertinent in the midst of these Preparations, than a Superstitious Soothiayer these Preparations, than a Supersitious Soothlayer
(e) Si quis, inquit, arts that intentum & exta spectantem sir interpellet, non dubitem quin incommodus ac molestus videri tibi possit Et cum ille ita prorsus suturum respondissit, censessi, inquit, tantas res non pecudum sibras ante oculos baventi, ullum esse majus impedimentum quam viatem supersitione captum? The Considence which he had in his good Fortune, hinder dhim (e) Quint fometimes from submitting to the Advice of Ari-flander He found himself delign'd for great Things, an Opinion which is one of the most powerful Springs of Providence, and by this he kept up the Courage of that Soothiayer (f) Rex jussum considere felicitates sur remisse Sibi enim ad alia gloriam concedere

If any one thinks these Remarks too prolix, let him know that I have my Realons for it I had a mind to ease another (g) Article, in which there was too much Matter Four Articles are read with more Pleasure than one, though that one is shorter than the other four. This obliges me to scatter many. Things here and there, which naturally belong to one and the same Subject. What must not we do, to humour a ditgustful Age?

(C) Tobave his Wife's Conduct more carefully observed (C) To have his Wife's Conduct more carefully observed Their Reasons were at least as good as those of Arifander, for this was one of 'em (h) Men do not seal up an empty Box, the Queen must therefore be with Child, seeing the King has dreamt that he scald up her Belly But hear the Reasons of the other Prophets Men do not seal up a Box, when there is no deposed the same Person thought come the same Person thought come the same Person thought come it is said. danger that any Person should open it, it's seal'd only when those who may come near it are mistrusted. The Queen's Box then is in some danger, seeing the King has dieamt that he feeld it. The Iyon dub tins engraved on the Seal, fignifies the need there is of effect in Caution. This imports that the Place is befiegd a rangiums, and thinks of turrending, and that unless a strong and faithful Garifon be kept in it, the Beliegers will quieteous enter Cicero, to ridicule the Interpretation of fignatam Dreams, alledges the different (1) Explications haberena-which were given in much fuch another Case But turam and it may be said, that Aristander hit the Point better, conjectoand therefore argued better I deny the Conference rem retuquence, a Person may be happier in his Conjectures, lit, negawithout being therefore a Man of more Slill And vit cam without being therefore a Man of more $1 ill And could not both Parties have had Reason of their side? Does Pregnancy and Chastity always go togather? O'ympia might resemble Julia a little, who faid, Nunquan nist (k) navi plens tollo vi torem We concipe shall see another I aplication of this same Dream (D) KingPhilip set up for expounding the Dream himself I Neither Plutarch nor any other Pagin Autor informs us of this, but a I ather of the Church nation.

thor informs us of this, but a I ather of the Church nintem I shall tet down all he says concerning it, for seve elle dixit, ral things may be learn d from it (1) Philippus Mace naminane ral things may be learn d from it (1) Philippus Mace do nondum Pater Olympiadis Unoris naturam oblignation oblignation widerat annulo I co et at figuum crediderat praclusum oblignation will Aristophen conjectans immo nihil vacuum oblignation eeft ars filium & quidem maxim impetus portendi. Alexandrum qui scient l'onem annuli cognoscunt. Hence it appears, I hat the Seal apply'd in the Dream to Olympias Womb made her Husband believe that she would have no (hildren There was some ground for this Thought, and it might almost be supposed that Philip was one of those Pagans of Europe, who, as it is it is deal and the Holy Scriptures. I say, it might be supposed, if the Ideas of Common Sense did not naturally enough lead to that Prince's Conjectures. But it is certain that the Word of God represents (1) I ert it the Barrenness of Women under that Idea. If the (m) closing of the Womb represents in Scripture the Punishment of Sterility institled by God, the opening of it represents the (n) Blessing by which neixx 18 he caused that I vil to cease. In the 2d place, it appears that Tertullian made no Reslection on that Idea. 30 v 22 which the Scripture gives, and which may naturally and the cause the considers only the I you energy. which the Scripture gives, and which may nationally Signal which the Scripture gives, and which may nationally Signal which the Seal, and believes that Philip built all his Concord Seather place, and concludes ill It is false (o) that the Lyon Rigart is but once a Father, and hesself would not a him on this place, and concludes ill It is false (0) that the Lyon is but once a Father, and besides, would not a Man who thought this, be indiculous in arguing from it, that he should never have a Child, he ought at least to conclude that he should have one. It appears in the 3d place, that Tertullian had forgot the Name of the Soothsayer who hit upon the best Explication, who whether he ought to cill him any respectively should refer the Name of Milliables of the Name and could not justify supply the rest, in a word, he did not remember the Name of Aristander. In the 4th place we see that he was very well satisfied with the Explication of the Dream. It is one of those which he alledges to prove the Excellency of our Souls. Let's close this Comment, by saying, that perhaps King Philip contended a long time with the Prophets, for the Explication which he gave of his own Dream, and it may be Aristander said to him what a Musician said envia me forbid (a) that your Majesty sould ever be so unbappy, as sharp and evel and shall have there who may be that your Majesty sould ever be so unbappy, as sharp and evel and shall have there who may be that your Majesty sould ever be so unbappy, as sharp and evel and shall have there who may be that your Majesty sould ever be so unbappy, as sharp and ever have and the sharp forbid (a) that your Majesty stould ever be so unbappy, as stas prior to unbappy, as stas prior to understand these things better than my self

(b) Plut

Curtius 19C4

(f) Id Curt 1 7 C 7

(g) That of Alexander the Great

(E) Pro a ulat &

Amicr, p 67

X x 2

fight milio ia ille at aldiferim by Colu-mella, and on d by Pliny Vitru ted into commented by I rederick Comand pub-lish'd with by the care of Dr Wallis in the years 1688, and 1699 t Sie Menage in Ding Lacit 18 n 85 p Sisus 144 2 61 " C-(/ AppiınınSyrı-1015 (c) Plin 1 17 C 25 Mathem P 4 C Mr Mcnige in Diog La cit 18 n 85 cites this Passage Twice in the Same Page, the If as Sextus Lmpuicus, and the 2d as Py1rho i (e)Plut in quast Platonis Dioce C (f) Aifupra p.

1 P Har- fight to this great Soothfayer, he also explain'd the Presages of the (4) Actions of down in Men. It's very likely then, that the Book mention'd (F) by Pliny full of production grous Events, ought to be ascrib'd to him But as for the Books of the strong in good earnest to bury him I do not know whether this particular of the strong of the strong in good earnest to bury him I do not know whether this particular of the strong on'd by lar has been touched by any Varro and the 12th Book of his Miscellaneous History

ARISTARCHUS, a Greek Philosopher, and Native of Samos, was one of the first menia, ana him menti- (A) who maintain'd, that the Earth turn'd upon its Center, and described annually a Circle round the Sun He invented one kind of Sun Dials It is not confiantly agreed in what (B) Time he lived It's only known, that he was not born fince the Death of Archimedes There remains no more of his Works than the Treatife * of 1 9 c 9 the Magnitude and Distance of the Sun and Moon The System of the World, which appear'd under his Name, is † a Work of Roberval We shall note a 4 Fault that

Latin, and has flipp d into the Text of Plutarch

ARISTARCHUS, a Famous Grammarian, was born in Samothracia, and chose the City of Alexandria *for his Adopted Country He was much esteemed by Ptolomy Phimandinus, lometor (A), who entruited him with the Education of his Son He apply'd himfelf diligently

Explications of Pappus in 1572 and without much Frouble His Reason was, that Alexanple, he foretold that Lylunachus (b) one of Alexanders Lifeguard should attain to the Royalty, but not without much Frouble His Reason was, that Alexanwithout much I rouble. His Reajon was, that Mexander being mounted on a good Horfe, and Lysimachus not being any longer ible to follow him on foot, took hold of the Horfe's Fail, that he might not leave his Master Alexander had by chance wounded him on the I osehead with his Lance, and for want of Linnen made use of hi Diddem to bind up that Wound, it hippend that this Diddem was stain d with Blood And upon this Ariflanter grounded his Prediction

(1) Mention d by Pliny] These are his Words Prodigio autem fiunt ex du'e bis acciva poma, aut dulcia ex accibis capi f o fin, aution ia graviofien-to cum in deteriora muiantui exolia ii oliafirum, ex can-4 In the plat mo in o cam murata qualibus oftentis Arifandi apud Greco: volumen seatet, ne in infinitum habeamus apud inos vero (Epidi Commentarii, in quibus arbores in i qui quoque reper un'ur Compare with this the Pal-Tige of Charo con cining the Inhabit ints of Telepuffus, mention d in the Article of that City, and admire the incredible I reality of the Ancient Pigans, in multiplying of Prodigies (1) Of the first nhomain an'd that the Earth tun'd I satus Empiricus, speaking of the Supposition of the Motion of the Larth, intimates plainly, that Aristarcous was the chief Inventor of it, for he names 117 (25 none but him (d) (1), μμ τ το μσρ α ε(n) Sextus λο τος, τ) γιν η νείως δοξασαιτες ως οι εκί ΑριI mpine συρχον τ μαθηματικοί, ε αφλυοί) νουν κοιον μι idversus quidem πιαμά motum suful erint, to ran autem motors | intopinati, ut Aristarchus Mathematicus, nihil cis obfist quo minus sempus menta concipiani. Plutarch de-figning to clear a l'hought of Plato, and considering whether that Philosopher did not believe the Motion of the World, adds, I hat this Opinion had in Afterof the World, adds, I hat this Opinion had in Atter-I mes been that of Arifaichus and Seleucus, and that Arifaichus taught it as an Hypothesis, and Seleucus is a positive Doctrine (e) Ususe i leucup 205 K, Seleucus of antisticiog o pli woom techo positio o de esteuco, Randrauvullo U possimodo Aristaichus & Seleucus oftenderunt Sane hoc ille ita ut Jupponerict tantum, hicetiam pranuntiaus. This is interiore that desident his was look d'unou as the Lineau and the seleculus was look d'unou as the Lineau and the seleculus was look d'unou as the Lineau and the seleculus was look d'unou as the Lineau and the seleculus was look d'unou as the Lineau and the seleculus was look d'unou as the Lineau and the seleculus was look d'unou as the Lineau and the seleculus was look d'unou as the Lineau and the seleculus and the se Jupponent tantum, bic estam pronunciaus. This is intimating, that Arifarchus was look d upon as the Inventor of that Opinion Archimedes intimates it more plainly. These are his Words (f) Laum 20 cm mis reapplyans soga in Association διακεσαμένα καίς ρεαφομόμαις σορά είν Ασερά μου διακεσαμέναν που διξεδαμέν γεαμένες, εναίς, εναίς και που πουλεπλασιοί που πέν νου κεφικών συμβαίνει το κοπασιακό πολλαπλασιοί πουν πέν νου κεφικών ακώντων που βαπο που βαπο που που βαπο καίς και το καίς και το και και που που βαπο Commandino interprete Hacigitur in ils que ab Achim in stologis scripta sunt, redarguens Aristarchus Samius, po-Psam pa- si iones quassam edidit ex quibus sequitur mundum pro-gina 449 mi disti mundi multiplicem esse, ponit enim sellas id-apud Me- errantes atque Solom immobiles permanere tenim sellas id-apud mi circumseri circa Solom, secundum circumserium circum Diog. La- li, qui est in medio cursu constitutus. It is likely that the et uba Transcribershave salsis delle Passage of Plusarch, where we read, that Anflanchus pretended that Greece ought to have try d Cleanthes for Irreligion, who believ & the Motion of the Earth (g) Movey (come) is the Motion of the Earth (g) Movey (come) is the Motion with a self-ear empy-thing wigner? Reserves of the feeth has about the Estat, on (g) Plut quily one one of which the energy the Erden and the feeth of the profession of the feeth roei r aums azova divusson Heus tu, inquit, voli p 922 p nos impietatis reos facere, eo pacto quo Aristaril us put i (h) Gasi vit Cleanthem Samium violai a religionis a Gracis debu- Phys sect ise postulari, tanquam Universi lares Vestamque si loco 2 13 C5 isse possulars, tanguam Universistares Vestamque si soco 2 13 c 5 movisse qued is homo conatus ea que in caso apparent pag 617 tutari certis ratiocinationibus, possisse casum quiescere, to 1 oper teriam per obliquum evolui circulum, O circa suum ver- (Manag sari interim axem It seems to me, that the Transcribem abs supra have misplaced the Names, it must be read. Comparting thes judged that Greece ought to have try definersocial the Samian for Irreligion, Oe It is a Conjecture Remark

Confession, and a Correction which Mr. Monage. (1) Conse of (b) Gaffends, and a Correction which Mr Menage adopts as certain (1) In werbis Plutarchi says He, ledefinib I gendum own no ωστερ Λειταρχον τ Εάμιον ωετο Κλίσος fol 244 αν 3ης δείν αστεδείας σε γαλείως που Ελληνας Amies D& Fusc did not perceive this I ault

(B) In what Tine he liv'd, it is only known] The Words I have (k) quoted, prove that at the latest our (m) Blanc Aristanchus could be but Contemporary with Archimates Now we know that Archimedes lost his Life maticor when syracuse was taken by the Ramans, the 1st Year Chronol Observe, that according to Plutarch quoted above, libri de limeus of Locris lived before Aristarchus, for the Arist lo-Thought of Plato which he would have clear d, is cis Mafound in his limeus, as if Timeus had spoke it in Conthem p versation. Now since Plato (!) was a Disciple of this limeus, and that, after having seen Laype, it must n) Simil be concluded, it Plutaich has well observed the lines, that Aissarchus shourish'd after Plato. We Bibl Gesare sure then that he did not flourish after Archimental on the boxe Blate, and I don't believe it's ease to (.) I is des, nor before Plate, and I don t believe it's eafy to (a) Lib fix on any thing more exact (m) Blancanus has pla- I comond ix on any thing more exact (m) Blamanus has pia1 iomond ced Arifarchus Iwo (enturies before Hyparchus, de orbe and he has also plac'd the latter too Years after the Death of Alexander, that is to say, too Years after the 1st hear of the 114th Olympiad Habalite'd 1 he has the 1 that Arifarchus flourish'd towards the $9th Olympiad, a little after the Birth of Plato Thus does this Book lympiad, a little after the Birth of Plato 1 maines this Book not agree with the Passage of Plutaich which Linux. Annual alledged Simler's Opinion agrees with it against that Author (n) made Anstarchus flourish in Reign of Artaxerxis Longimanus, which reaches the first Year of the 79th Olympiad to the last Year Math p of the 88th Libertus Fromondus is yet more opposite 157 to Plutarch's Opinion, feeing (a) he is ignorant (c) Joh whether Anstarchus preceded or sessiow'd Pythagoras Stadius is I believe Vossus (b) would have consuted that Uncor. Pref. To tainty by the Authority of Plutarch, if he had re- built member'd the Words I have quoted John Stading (c) Bearing believes that Arifimechus outliv'd Anchimedes, for he siumapud makes him flourish in the 144th Qivmpiad Note, Vos ib that Virius naming some Mathematicians who (d) Vitruwere Inventors, places (d) Aristarchus in the first vius de Rank If this were made the Rule he must be sup- Archie posed later than Philolaus, and Archytas of Tarentum 1 1 C 1

(A) Of Ptolomy Philometor, who ensufted him with the Education of his son] This is clearly figurlib 1 fol 248 A gently to Cruso's and sewifed all Homer's Poems with incredible Exactness, but steethe too Mag ally; for as soon as a Verse (B) displeas'd him, he mark'd it as Remark positions Edition of Homer was much effected, and * also much critical'd to Bulet n'Acisage He work'd upo Pindar, and Aratus, and other Poets, not is it true, to passed because would recize all the World without the Fear of being criticized in his state.

fied in words of Suidas, Terrore, faith he, (c)

Me it gus deviated to the Reign of that Prolony, but this however may be iaid, that we do not find this Prince had any Sons Hastorians give him but one Daugh-Tomerı) 103 b) Vof le Poetis had any Sons Hustorians give him but one Daughter, and make his Brother succeed him This Ob-Francis D ter, and make his Brother succeed him. This Obhat in th it chap of the if Book De Historicis Græcis, he five that

This Obmight have thought the remaining Historians might have thought the remaining Historians foræcis, he five that
file and lient in the Matter fuffin (f) gives Prolomy Philometer a Son, and fays also, that Prolomy his Unale caused him to be put to death the Allatius has not taken notice of this, he vill have it, that the Disciple which Suidar gives Aristive chus is the Second Prolomy Evergetes Cujus (Ptolemai Philometoris) filium scundum Evergete merudint Olympiade CLVI ut Suidas tradit. This is wrong, the Second Prolomy Philometer Possius was no 7 Nate not the Son of Peolomy Philometer Vossius was no less mustaken, when he believ'd (h) that Peolomy Philometer made choice of Anstarchus for Praceptor to lof p 166, 167 (k) Allat his Son Ptolomy Lathyrus, he should have known that Ptolomy Lathyrus, or Latharus was the Son of the ubi fupia Second Prolomy Lorengeres. What Suidas observes, that Aristarchus was a Disciple of Aristophanes the Byzanime, does not furnish a reasonable Objection, for it's well enough known that a great I dult is P 103 TIS haw 1νάχευ Ζυιοβίος άλ το Appt into that Place of Suidas, where we read that milluphanes of Bizantium floursh'd in the 45th O-binguad It must be read the 145th Olympiad, as Allanius, and (1) janjius have observed (k) Aristo-NorG 28) 7215 phanis meminit Suidas, in quo obiter Librariorum error in Olympiade not and us est life namque habet, I e2002 ?

The Oλυμπιοία, quæ Hieronymus Wolphius vertit,

Vixit Olympiade XLV cum omnino scribendum sit que idest, C λ L V The Anonimous Author of Discipulus Callimachi & Zenodoti. the Description of the Olympiads, places Aristophafed illum nes the Bycantine under this Olympiad, Suidas laying, that the tame Arssiophanes was in his (1) Youth a Disciple of (all machus, does not contradict this A Mais who flourish d in the layer Olympiad might have been a Disciple of Caling Due, for that Poet lived till the Reign of Prolomy Evergetes, the Son of Prolomy Philadelpue, and we know that Prolomy Evergetes, the and of the Loth Olympiad quidem a doletcens puer audivit Suidas in Agiston geter reign'd to the end of the 139th Olympiad tus has Now it Arifton chus was a Disciple of Ariftophanes the Byzantine, it's marking the time justly in which ti anslated he flourish d to place him as Suidas has done in 156th Olympiad They who will weigh all these the feWords 156th Olympiad They who will weigh all these things, will find some trouble to agree to this Proposition (m) Austrichus lix d in the time Hunc position (n) Aufinchus ____ lir d in the time of Prolomy Philadelphus at the same time with Calliquidem. of Ptolomy Philadelphus at the fame time with Callimachus. The I earned Hinfigs (n) observes that the same Persons say so, and seeing he does not centure them, he may be taken for an Approver of their Opinion. He would have done better to have condens in Mr. le Fewre is more to be believed in this of Ptolomy Philameter. See the Remark (G), where we shall prove the truth of that Opinion from the Consideration that (rates and Aristarchus). doleicens, ıllum ve ro puer audivit (m) Dacier's Remarks on perce's from the Confideration that (rates and Aristarchus con the Confideration that trates and Asstarchus contemporaries. A Passage of Athenaus might us'd a belief that our Critick liv'd under Producy Philadelphus, it's where (p) Athenaus says that Piology En zgetes was one of Aistarchus s Disciples. For want of having examin'd all together, one might have been persuaded that this Ptolomy Fuergetes was the Son of Ptolomy Philadelphus, but it is Edit Hol (n) Heinfius in gomenis certain that he must be taken for Ptolomy (q) Phys-Artificands: can, Brother of Philometer In effect Athenaus speal's of one projemy who wrote Books, and is necessarily the same with him whom he quotes in the fe) Le Fe-ο£ Egypt Here are new Proofs against Mr Dacier's Opini-n It is known that Demetrius (1) Sceptius lived at the same time with Aristarchus Which Strabo testithe same time with Aristarchus

e lub finers, p m 7,1 B (q) This is the same as the 2d Evergetes.

g 549 He cises him inserver it o h + places () It is reasy assure of Sceptis a City of Mylia vre's Lives Book (r), and whom he reckons the Seventh King of 1/se

Greek Poets, p 7 (p)Athen fays that Strabo affirms that Dem trius Sceptius Was 4 (1) Strabo Disciple of Crates and of Artisochus Naw this Det 1, p metrius was (x) a Contemporary of one Metrodorus, whom Mithridates (1) caused to be put to death in (v) Vos the Year of Rome 661 Judge then whether a Man de Hilt who stourish d under Reolony Prolad Ipous could have Gree p been contemporary with this Metrodorus The death, 135 of that Peolony talls in with the Year of Rome, 506 (x) Diog Note that it may be gathered from Diogenes Lapitses, Laert 1 of that Peolony talls in with the Year of Rome, Sof (x) Diog Note that it may be gathered from Diogenes Laptyus, Early that Demetrius was elder than Metrodorus, and if for there is no retorting the Reason, for it cannot be faid that I prove too much. Note, also that a (x) Disciples Son of A 1st redux was full living, when (4a) Scepfing preferred trucks. Now time 8 rabo live to Itherius's Time, his country he could not hear the Lectures of the Son of one of man Mean of trehus's Disciples. It As istarchus flourished untrodorus. At starchus's Disciples, it Austarchus flourified un- trodorus der Ptolomy Philadelphus

(B) As som as a Verse displeas'd him, he mank'd it in I ucul-suppositious] Cicero certifies this in these bods lo, p 506 (bh) Si, ut scribis, en littere non fuerunt diserte, scito me- Sec also at non fuisse. Ut enim Aristarchus Homers versum ne- Strabo gat quem non probat, sie tu (libet enim mihi 10cari) 13 n'io quod disertum non erit, ne putaris meum. To this may 1 z est be added that other Passage of the same Author (c.) un lice a Nist forte scire vis, me inter Niciam nostrum & Vidium wiet'er judicem est. Protest alter sut opinor) duobus versicules Mitheidaexpension Nicie alter Aritiarchus les obenice Les, tes put tamquam criticus antiquus, juantaturus sum, utium sint len to 18 moints, an tarcubiconion It is said that Ai- Dath flarchus marked the sides of the Verses that he con- (2) His demn d for suppositious with the Figure of a Spit, Name wa and that from thence it came that of the figure of a Spit, Name wa to condemn (dd) Translatum ab Aristarche qui Ho- mus, his meri carmina in corpus redegit, atque in libros digessit, Tather, versus nothos, hoc est adulterinos & subdititios qui non mhose videntur Sapere venam illam Homericam of ALTHOIS, id est minutis verubus pianotatis damnans contra, qui viderentur insignes ac genuini ase ioxoic, id est stellis il- tes, had lustrans see Ausonius's Poem, entituled Ludus sep- been she tem supertum Where he desires a rigorous Centure Disciple of of his Poems from Drepanius Pacatus He would be treated as Aristarchus had treated Homer, and makes uic of this Expression

Mæonio (cc) qualem cultum quafivit Homero Cenfor Aristarchus, normaque Zenodo-i Pone obelos igitur spuriorum & gmata vatum,

Palmas non culpus esse putabo meas

It's thought that he speaks of Aristarchus in the last 10 epist of these two Verses, Quique (ff) Sacribacerum collegat corpus Homers, mil lib 3 Qui que notas spuriis versibus apposuit pm 160 par'es Stephens, Lloyd, and Hosman affirm (gg) in (cc) Id ib their Dictionaries, that Elian observes that Anflar- 19 epist chus s Criticism was so exact that whenever it con 1 pag demn'd a Verse as not being Homer's, at was look d 2, 24 upon of course, as suppositions Quenssed (bh) as (dd) I rat firms the same thing I do not think khan says it, mus A-and if he did, he d be mistaken, for we learn from dag Chil Athenaus (a) that the Taste of that great Critick i Cent s was often condemn'd, some Verles of Homer which n 57 p he rejected, were still receiv'd, as he and his mines Reasons laugh'd at Hos Confidence alone was (e) Autoenough to discredit his Judgment. He decided in musin some Cases, that such and such Verses of the Ilian such sep-(b) ought to be transfert'd into the Odyffes Allari, ten ipi-wis not ignorant that the Criticisms of Ariffarchi contum were often censur'd, and on that Subject the quores englinit Ath neus, Plutarch, and the Scholiast of Hono P m 265. He informs us that the Grammarian Prolony of Al- (#) Id &calon publish'd a Book (d) de Aristarabi cartificais in pist 18 Odystes, and that Zenedotes of Atomandria was kent p 649 for to make a Revision of Arifarchue's Criticulins (gg) Ali(e) Lenodotus alter Alexandrinus ideo advocatus est, ut anus trade reprobatis ab Aristirobo Homericis carmin aut judici- dit hime um ferres Idem (Suidas) Liv sorte 'An Eausp us sim citis greo tuitgato fulfe judicio, ut Homeri versus non putareaur, que un ipic non probasser (bb) Quent de Patriis viror illustre 43, (a) See Athenaus 1 4 passim, & ibi Casaubonus Item 1 5 p 188 189

See also Plurarch De audiendis Poetis p 26 (b) Athen 1 4 C 28 p 180 (d) 1221, when r ex Odurous Active, & 13 200 onus Suidas apud Allatium ubi inf se) Allatius de pat Homp 10, 349 Sterbe Turn, de Scien Math p

> (y) Plut Strabo I Name was Menecrates, had Austrai-Strabo 1 14 P 447 (44) Sugbo, ibid 116) (400 mil lib 3

Turn, (C) that he forbore publishing any Thing of his own. They who make him Contemporary with Pissbratus (D) are grossy mistaken. His Reputation lasted a long, time. Cicero and Horace employ his Name, to represent (E) a very rigid Critick It apply'd

(f) Id 1b (g) Elias Vinetus ın Aufoseptem sapientum init p m 265 nus de libris p 388

(/) Daci-fur l'Art Poerique d Horace

p m 371

(m)Corra-

dus in epist 14 Cicer ad

Atticum

(n) Joan-nes à Wower de

Polyma-thia cap

18 p. m

153 154

γεσιματικός ο εν α ς ει κληθείς στο ες τα δω 'Αρισαρχε α θετερόμα τε 11 οιπτε Neverthelese he affirms that Antiquity had so much respect for Arifferchus's Judg-ment, that it was not believ'd that those Verses which displeas'd him were really Homer's (f) Ari-flarchi porro judicium adeo probavit antiquitas, ut Ho-meri versus non putarentur, quos ipse non probaret. Is not this a great want of Judgment - Elias Vin t de-ferves Censure here (g) Gujus (Aristarchi), says he, veteres tanti fecerant judicium ut quem non probaret, Ho-mers versum non crederent Ita Cicero, Suidas, Erasmus It is false that Cicero says so, he only says that Ariffarchurtook those only for Homer's Verses which he himself liked Neither does Suides say what Vines imputes to him I can affirm the same thing of Erasmus, in regard of the Place from whence I have taken what has been faid above Saldenus having a mind to change fomething in the Words of Charles Stephens which I have quoted, has committed a great Fault against the reasoning part He has not quoted Flian, neither has he assired that restarcher's Criticism was exact, he has only said that the Cenfor believ dit fo Thus far all goes well, all forsake Charles Stephens upon a false Quotation, and will aniwer but for one Thing which is very probable, to wit, that the Coirector of Homes thought himselt a very able Man, but here is the mischief of it From this advantagious Opinion which he had of his own Wit, he concluded that Antiquity received none for Homes & Verses but such as pleas'd Aristarchus This is a bad Conclusion (k)
(k) Salde- Grammaticus ille qui hoc nomen (Aristarchi) gessit tam castigato se putavit esse judicio, ut Hom ri virsus nullus haberetur quem ipse non probaits I hus Saldinus argues, and to ptove his Argument, he quotes us the Words where Cicero lays that A istarchus rejected all Homer's Veries that were not to his relish as sup-posititious. That Proof is no better than the Position it less which was to be proved. I have read in the Commentary of a Modern Author that Ariflarchus (1) had to pure and penetrating a Genius for Criticism, that he was generally call a the Prophet, or Diviner from his mighty Sagacity I have been or Diviner from his mighty Segucity. I have been furprized not to find any Lootiteps of this Llogy in a vast number of Writers whom I have run over in the Places where this Grammarian is mention d. At last I found this in a Note of Corradus on Cicero's Ipiftles (m) Hine idum (Ariffaichum) Marmenates Havain o Polio φιλο τοθ dia το padios ka τωμαντάνως τ τω ποιηματών diavota; sthen I 14

Have fought it in vain in the 14th Book of sthen-However it he, there is a great difference be-tween this Quotation of Corradus and that of Mr Da-cier The Greek Words figurify only that Panetius gave the Name of Diviner to our Antherebus, and not that it was the common Stile of Antiquity

Note, that it s the Opinion of feveral, that Ar-flarchus was he who divided each of Homer's great Poems into as many Books as there are Letters in the Alphabet, and gave to each Book the Name of a Letter (n) Plutarchus lib de Homero Iliadem & Odysseam Homero ab Aristarcho Grainmatico in numerum librorum divilam ad ordinem & numeium Græcarum literarum Euftathius in Iliad a radit, Aristarchum & Zenodotum confutum antea Homeri opus digessisse in certos libros, eosque literis di stinxisse. Unde non solum primus tam Odyssex, quam Iliadis liber a vocatur, fecundus & & fic deinquam inadis liber & Vocatur, lectundus, so the deinceps Verum etiam ipium opus yeojama ru nominatur Et sane werum est, hanc per literas diw sonem recentiorem Nam antiqui nunquam ea usi, us patet ex Aristotele de Poetica, Cap X X IV

(C) Without the fear of being critic i d in his turn, forbore publishing any thing | Saldenus under the false Name of Christianus Liberius tells an untruth whom he says, (o) Sie Aristarchus Grammaticus nullum non reprehendichat, nihil inse scriptus, ne an untruth when he lays, (o) Sie Aristarchus Grammaticus nullum non reprehendebat, nibil ipse scribens, ne ab aliss reprehends posses. I don't know whether he has reported it with all the same Corrections as in the Work which he publish d in his own true Name in 1688. If he has, Mr. Monage has not quoted him right, for he has cut off an essential part of the Passage which he reports. These are Saldonis's Words in the Work which he publish has 1688 (p) Sicusi Aristarchus Grammaticus neminam non represionalebat. Aristarchus Grammaticus nemimem non represendebat, nibil in erim ipse fribens, ne reprobendi ab aliis posset, ut non nulli vo unt l'ect alis fint, ac plers que quidem

Qui noduzeacois ipsum accensint a set (q) supra diximus
What he says concerning the Cunning of those who (q) Rehad to centure all Authors without fearing the Punish-sa'd p 13ment of retaliation, do not publish any thing, may Aristarserve for a Supplement to one of the Pages of chus a my Project These Words which Mr le Feure addicts'd to a Journalist, may be added in, (f) if you had wrote any thing of your own head, we should be on pra mille
the square, but as the Case stands, I find you play with the square, but as the Case stands, I find you play with ger a Farthing to a Guinea, I don't know who'll play with teris consignavit.

(D) Contemporary with Pilistratus, are grossly m fignavit,

(D) Contemporary with Pilistratus, are grossly m fignavit,

(II) This is a very ancient Error Alazzi (1) have faid quotes a long lastage, in which one of the as Suidas

Commentators of Dionys us of Thrace affirms that Pi-does si pra (Istratus caused it to be published over all Greece, that offingenthey who brought him any of Homer's Veries, should receive a Reward at so much per Verse When he (1) I e had gathered up as many as he could, he sent for 70 Fevre, Grammalians, to whom he gave a Copy of that Collection I was desired that each of them working Journali separately should put those Verses in the best Older nep 48

they could After each had perform d the best edit de he could, they met again by Pissiratus's Order, and Ho I shewed their Works to each other They a (1) Alla greed unanimously that the Works of Aristarchus tius ubs and Zinodorus deserved the preference, and af supproprietarity should be should be fare they among other I see that Analysis of the state of yield to that of Aristarchus This Story contains be says this among other Lies, that Aristarchus and Pissifiratus these Comlived at the same time. It was easy to discover that mentarys In d at the same time It was easy to discover the mintarys Falsity, yet the Commentators of Disnysius of Florace are not heve persuaded a great many of it Fusians has Printed vented it, and after him Geneliard and Jason de Nortes Read this Passinge of Allatina (v) Multis alius are recentioribus fucum second Nam Ensiathini in A Ilian (v) Id ib dos idim ass ret O1 3 subservices in and Namialism in P 96,97 yiv, we cast, Ilians goth the Anialism inglives I community, if discovered the received Appearance in Substitution of the composition of the composition of the composition of the printed and tradition. Pissistent Athenienshum Tyranni, & ut sibi melius visum est correxerunt, quorum Princeps Aristarchus, & post eum Zenodotus Estimatrius substitution of Compensation of Composition of Compensation of Compen τητικέρς Αιπατικός, ο poit eum Zenodotus Εξε ιηξειμί Γε ζαπαχικίλειν το Ομης κπιμούν σκεραθώς ζαν αξιχών εποσιάζατο Κιναιθο ό χο Επομμού το 3, φωσι, αυτικ παμπολλά οι απεί το Κιιαιθού κό πόλα τώ ετων αυτί πιάζαντις παρεγεθαίοι Διο κό διωρβωθης ωι Ομητικοί δίδλοι, ως α ωτικοίρηθ Ideft Crivero poclim dispersam recitandi principium Cinathus Chius Verum illam multis modis fecit Cinathus Chius Verum illam multis modis Cinatni iestatores depravarunt, multaque a se conicripta carmina indiderunt Quare libri Homerica coriecti funt ut fuperius diximus Gilbertus Genebrardus Chron lib 2 Pisstrati justu Aristarchus Homen rapiodiam recensuit, & in 24 partes pro nume-10 elementorum distribuit Jasin de Noves in artem Presicam Horarit, Aristarchus miro quodam acumine Pristram Horatis, Arittarchus miro quodam acumine castigabat veteium scripta, atque ideo colligendis (a) No-Homeri versibus præpositus suit In quibus vides strum omiros Anachronismos Primus qui Aristarchum sub Pistip pus tibi strato collocat Secundus, qui Cinathum Chiam assert probari primum Homeri poismo dispersam recitasse. Cum uter-lætor, ex que post Pissirati tempora storucrit Cinathus asserti squo o'in Pindari Schoitasse credimus in Nemeon, od 2 sub Osym- upsa posu-hiadi stranssima unua abud Stracusas Homeri committa isti que peade sexagesima nona apud Syracusas Homere carmina isti que piede seragesima nona apud Syracusas Homere curmina isti que muhi sera de anore muhi sera de anore (E) Ciceto and Horace employ d his Name so reprisentation font a very rigid Critick] Consult the Oration a- sunt visa gainst Piso, and there you will find the following tuo judi-Words V rum tamen, quoniam te non Aristaribum, sed cio (æru-Phalarim Grammaticum habemus, qui non notam appelas enim nas ad malum versum, sed Poiram armis perseguare, sei tuas minas ad malum versum, sed Poiram armis perseguare, sei tuas minas cupio quid tandem isto in versu reprehendas, Cedant niatulas armatoga. The same Orator (a) declares, that he illas extimas assassing of his Friend Ariscus's Nails. This a mescama would express himself at this time to signify bang Gie the Censures which a Reader might note in the ad Astre Man would express himself at this time to fignify than Giethe Censures which a Reader might note in the ad Attic Margine of any Book, and the carular miniatular lite op to of the Passage which I quote, Atticus was one of pag m those innest, Persons who examine the Composure 741, 742 of their Friends strictly, and therefore Cierro calls (b) Ciero him his Arisarchus (b) Quid multa? totum bunc le- ib lib i cum, quem ego varie meis orationibus, quarum eu Ari- spist to starchus et soleo pingere, de stamma, de serro, (nosti illas pag 82 daundes) valde graniter persexuit. The Verses fignavit,

(a) Christianus Liberius, in Biblio-Philia p ar apud Menage, Anti-Baallet to 1 p. 81 (p) Guill Saldenus de libris Pag 43 apply'd so to this Day. Some ascribe a Thought to him, which others ascribe either Poet v Theocritus, (I forates. He had * several Contests in Pergamus, with (G) Crates * Suidas the Grammaria and died in the Island of Cyprus, at Seventy Two Years of Age ubi supressions. He was seiz'd as a Dropsy, and found no better Remedy against that Distempor than starving the elf to Death There (H) proceeded out of his School to the number of suppressions. He less Two Sons, whose only Merit was their great Simplicity with the best the state his suther's Name had been sold a Slave, but the Athenians ransom'd than the state his suther's Name had been sold a Slave, but the Athenians ransom'd the first than the state his suther's Name had been sold a Slave, but the Athenians ransom'd the suppression of the state his suther's Name had been sold a Slave, but the Athenians ransom'd the suppression of the suppress A R I- from Suid of Horace, which I am going to quote, give a live-ly Idea, which is a strong proof of my Text

Vir (c) bonus & prudens versus reprehendet inertes, Culpabit duros incomptis allinet atrum Transverso calamo signum ambitiosa recidet Ornamenta parum claris lucem darccoget Arguet ambigui dictum mutanda notabi Fiet Ariflarchus ne dicet, Cur ego amicum Offendam in nugis

(L) A Thought to him, which others afiribe either to Theocritus, or to Itocrates] (d) They mention this Saying of Aristarchus, I cannot write what I would, af his plea-fure, and I will not write what I can This is what Mr Da-cier fays on those Words of Horace (c) Si quantum of the Cause tuperem, possion quoque Hitherto the Authors which never I have consulted have not led me to the Source, and my Luquiries have been more useless in this Point than in that of Arifarchus s Prophecies This makes me passionately desire that Mr Dacier, and some others like him, would have the goodness to break that Custom of not quoting their Authors. Are they afraid that the great and the nice part of Mankind for whom they work, should judge the Quota-tions, smell too much of the Author, the Pedant, or the University But I can hardly believe that a Count de (f) Guiche, foi Example, would be displessed to know where we may find that Ariftarchus had been the Author of this good Saying, and was really call'd a Prophet Any Lady that loves Learn-ing would be better pleased at knowing that Plucos, cis of arifferle vouch d fuch a lact, than that it is reported in general. Thus much by the by Let's return to our rext. We read in Stobeus & Collections, that Toeocritus being ask d why he did and an answer of the control of answer d, beccause I cannot do it as I would, and I will not do it as I can (g) 'I possible; δια τι π συγγρεφ ρει, οπ είπον, ως γλω ενγοια, α δυνσμαι, ως) δυναμαι α εκλομαι Isocrates being at Table with Necocreon King of cypius, was defired to fay iomething, but would not, and give this Realon, (b) Wast I do know is per-bapsnot feasonable, and what is feasonable I do not know This puts me in mind of that Thought of Seneca, I never would endeavour to pleafe the People for they don tapprove what I know, and I don't know what they approve (1) Nunquam volus populo placere, nam que ego scio, non probat populue, que probat populus ego nefeio

(G) He had Cortests in Pergamus with Crates the G ammarian | The Words of Suidas are plain on this Subject (L) heg win τω χουμαπι ω πείχαια this Subject I O Theist Singuishiou to CV TEFTALI Cum (ratite Grammatico Pergameno, Pergami sap sime contend t By virtue of this Passage (1) Cisauson maintains that Crates Mallotes was no. Ariftarinu s Antagonist, but another (races, but at Pergamus As this (races Malleter was Contemporary with A iffaichus, and very well known to the king of Pogamus, it might carry pe supposed that he was the same who disputed on several Occasions with Archive har. It is fit therefore observe that Survey gives the Strame of vergamment to Aristarchur's Adversacy. It may be he is mistaken, for they who quote Crat s of Progamus transfer thim more an Historian than Grammarian it is certain that Grammar was the chief snamed it is certain that Grammar was the chief study of Grates Mallotes Read this Pollige (n) Primus quantum opinamur Soudium Grammarica in Urbem intul Grates Mullores Ariftar 'n aqualis, que miffas ad finatum ab Attalo rege inter f cundum ac tertium bellum Punicum, Jub ipfam Ennii mortem, quum in regione Palatu prolapjus in cloace for amen crus fregiffet, per omne I gationis simul & valitudinis tempus plurimas arecuteis Jubinde feet affidueque desferuit, ac rostres enemp'o just ac imitandum This Place of I arro is generally un-derstood of Crates Mallotes (o) Crates nobilis Grammaticus qui fretus Chrysippo hon inc acutissimo, qui reli-quet sex libros veci T avouadla, bes libreis contra analogiam aique Aristarchum est nixus Is tarro has

cap 2
(0) Varro de lingua Latina 1 8 init See alfo 1 7 p 97 See in Yost upia several Au, ho itie which shew that Crates Malwas a Grammarian spoken here of Grates Mallotes, it is likely that Suidas took the one for the other, I mean that Grates Mallotes, and not Cratis of Pergamus was the Rival of our Anftarchus I don't know whether the Com-mentators of Suctionius have ever thought of Criticifing him on a Point of Chionology which I shall mention He lays that Crates Mallores came to Rome in the Name of King Actalus, about the time that Ennius dy'd The Death of that Poet happend in the Year of Rome 585 Now he who reign'd at that time at Perganus was call'd Eumenes He began his Reign in the reach hear of Pares, and the death of the Name and the Name an Reign in the 556th Year of Rome, and dy d in the Year 596 leaving the Tuttion of his Son, and the Regency, to his Brother Attalus If Crates Mallores then was deputed to the Romans by that Attalus, then was deputed to the Romans by that Attalus, Chronology won tallow us to lay he made that Joui- (p) It an ney about the time that Ennius dy d. However, Su- swers to etonius supplies us wherewith to confirm the Opini- the end of on of those who make Aristochus shourish under Pto- time VIth lomy Philometor in the 156th (p) Olympiad Eusebi- Aze of us and Suidas are of that Number Rome Vossus has not follow'd Suctionius, for instead of (q) Vossus shall have the supplies and Crates Mallotes were Con- de Arte tempolaries. he (a) makes Crates Mallotes, and Apole (tram I temporaries, he (q) makes Crates Mallotes, and Apol- (sram 1 temporaries, he (9) makes Crates Mollotes, and Apolatical Indores the Disciple of Aristarchus, Contemporaries 1 C 6 p. I don't say that this is falle, for a Person may be m. 24. Contemporary both with the Master and the Disciple, but this I observe by the way, thit he is man in Prolog staken in another Point. He believed that a Piece Panul for the Stage, which had been translated by Ennius, v. 1. and call'd the Achilles of Ariftarchus, boie that Name (1) Scil only because this great Critick had corrected it Ab animady how & verus quadam Comædia, quam Linius postea tranistructure, dischatur Achillis Aristarchi Mem nit ijus (r) n 1563 Plautus At sie non alia de caussa vocabatus, quam p m 1, quod ab co esset emendata It sa Mistake That Piece (t) Vario, was a Tragedy of Aristarchus of Thigeus, Euripides s we lingua Contemporary See Siassarchi (1) was a Tragedy of Aristarchus of Thigeus, Euripides s we lingua Contemporary See Scaliger (1)

(H) I orty Gicmmariani proceeded out of his School 7 p. 96

He may be reckon d the Head of a Sect, with the term (v) Id. its words of Varro (t) Relinquitur de casibus, in quo Aristar-1 9 p. 1, 4 chei suos intendunt nervos (v) Hocin oratione diligen-(x) Apud tius quam alii ab Aristarcho Grammatici. See also the Athena-Raileries of Hero lichus (x) It appears by Suidas (y) um 1 5 in that Aristarchus s School inblisted for some Ages in fine.

Alexandr a

Alexandr a (1) Something to say against Morers] I He in Auguar suffered himself to be imposed on by tossiand that A istarchus was of Samos II There is no- (2) Vos thing more impertinent than observing that Ariflar- de Poet thing more impertinent than observing that Ariflurate Poet chus was contemporary with (aa) Crates It's explainate Gracis P ing an obscure point by one that is more obscure, 67 obscurum per obscurum. There have been several (ra- (aa) It's tess, (bb) Diogenes Laertius reckons up ten, some Cictes in Philosophers, others Poets, or Grammarians, or the Edicion Orators, or Geometricians, &c they did not live of 1680 all at the Commence parthers were they all of the (bb) Diogeness and the content of the all at the same time, neither were they all of the (bb) Diog same Country, what could be more insignificant Laert in therefore than noting that Aristarchus shoursh'd in the vitis Phi Time of Cratis. The most samous of all these (ra- loloph 1) proper Sense of Mr Asserts Words is, that Asserts (a) Diog chus was Contemporary with that Cynick Now I sent I sthis is false, there's (a) a great Interval of I ime be not fast tween 'em. This Centure does not touch Sactonius, that Crates who faid that Crates Mallotes was Contemporary with the Crates Aristorchus, for there were few Learned Persons in shoutsh a Succensus's Century who were ignorant in what time cowards the Aristorchus liv'd III I don't believe any body says 11301.mp that that Grammarian composed nine Books of Cor- (b) Suidas rections of the Idjad, and of the Ojff vs. (b) Suidas rections of the Idjad, and of the Ojff vs. (b) Suidas ink atus affirms it of Craes Malloccs, as (c) I off is observes. (c) Vof Moreri did not understand I off us s Words. IV It is de Poet salle that Prolomy Latourus was the Son of Prolomy Græcis p. Philometer. V I believe that in the main it is true, 67 that our Aristarchus was living in the 158th Olym. (d) Id depiad, but since Eusebius and suidas make him flou-Histor with the charactery of the sales with the property of the sales with t rish in the 156th, this ought to have been remark'd Greeks ! (d) Possius failly imputes to Eusbius the, placing 1 c 10 him in the 158th

(bb) Ding

(a) HOFAT ep 1 | 2 v 256 (f) We find in the COMIINMALIon of the Menagiana p 6 of edit Holl that this Count, in the midst of his plea-

never mis'd studying regulurly at least three bours a day (g) Stob

Seim 21 decog ierpio (b)puis des or

De gnibus ego van habeo dicendi rebus, cas occafis non ad mittit de quibus autem dicerejim ellet tempestivum, de 115 mimhilvaleo

Plut 11 vit Hoci P 8,8 I Voiez le auffi i i Sympo-1 p 513 A epif -9 eloqui

p m 219 (*) Suidas 111 Aciens (), C¹L 1 i Sact de illufte Cram C 2

(m) See Voff, de Motion p (n) Suet de illust

Grammat

рm Ode 9

Pyth p in 4,3 () Pind

MICHOLTA. 6 2 701 70

iutem lomnum concubi rotem funvem in Dalpebus impendens, quum ad Ventaget more ld ib

(1) Idib f) 4)-(ld 1b

ARISTEUS, the Son of Apollo (A) and of Cyrene. His Article is very imperfect in Morers, who confines himself to the informing us, I. That by his pursuing Epris will superfect in Morers, who confines himself to the informing us, I. That by his pursuing Epris will superfect in Morers, who confines himself to the informing us, I. That by his pursuing Epris will superfect in Morers, who confines himself to the informing us, I. That by his pursuing Epris will superfect in Morers, who confines himself to the information of Orpheus from place to place, he was the Cause of her Death by the stinging of Path as Server of Aristans kill'd all his Bees. III.

All thuse information offer'd a Sacrifice of Jome Bulls, he recover'd what he had loft in IV. That Saminful is found in the invented (B) the Secret of drawing off Honey, making of Oyl, and Cheefe. There were precised everal other Things to be faid concerning that Son of Apollo, for it ought to have for million that he was brought up by the Nymphs, that happing to come to Thebes, he there markets in that he was brought up by the Nymphs, that happing to come to Thebes, he there markets in the Autonomy the Daughter of Cadmus, that he had Act and by her, who was torn in 6 v 690 Picces by his own Dogs, that after the Death of that Son he went to consult the O-(9) Virginal action of Apollo, that upon the Strength of the Answer that was made him concerning Georgic the See also

(A) The Son of Apollo, and of Cyrene | This is the general Tradition, and there are very few Fraditions in Mythological Matters more constant In the mean time Cicere mentions anothan this In the mean time Cicero mentions another Fradition, he fays, that the Greeks make Arifaus the Son of Bacchur, and adds, that in Sicily he was honour d in the Temple of that Deity He addresses himself to Verres (c) Quid ? ex ade Libera Voi Simulacrum Aristei non tuo imperio palam ablatum est?

Orat 6

101 78 B

(f) Id de Libero paire apud illos codem crast in templo consecratus
In another Book he takes up with the most common Opinion, and fays, that Apollo was the Esther of A Opinion, and fays, that Apollo was the Father of A-rifleus (f) Quid Arifleus qui olive dicitur inventor Apollinis filius, Let's I now speak of Grene She (g) rillans was the Daughter of Hypfeus, King of the Lapitha, who was the Son of Penens and Creusa Creusa was the Daughter of the Earth, and Peneus was Son of the Ocean Cyrene (b) despised the Employments of other Maids, and their Table Diversions, and or other Maids, and their Table Diversions, and is p 43; caring (1) but for little Sleep, she lov'd nothing more thin Hunting, and made a great destruction among the Wild Beasts Apollo having met with the when she was sighting alone with a Lyon, ask d chiron who she was, and whether he might not do the stagest well to use some force and lye with her

(k) On a

Krula: Xiiga oi meegivayrilr,

H pa kai ek de zew hair perindea moiav

hence we indea now.

Fas ne est idustreen manum es admovere? Usrum & es stratis sondere mekitam herbam? Chiron beginning with his Aniwei to the last Question, represented that I overs ought to make use of the Key of the Heart that is to say, of soft and tender Words, to perfuide the last ones to g ant what they requested, adding that among Gods and Men, Modesty opposes it lest against the precipitation wherewith some pretend to come to downight Enjoyment, and explain d himself very neatly upon it k x iguum

pland himfelf very nearly upon it

(1) Και ττ πεοίς

Ικπ και θιωτοίς ομως Αιδοί αμοσθύ α-

At Stor άμρασθεν αAt a, τυ χείν το περά τον ευ νάς

It inter Dies & homines pariter verecundanter aperte postulato duli frus primim cubil. By the way, continued he, It is a visible effect of your great (ivilility, thit you who know all things, should do me the honout to isk me about that Maid's Extinction I his is Pindar's Sense, I don't pretend to give a Translation Word for Word, it suffices to represent the Thought Now if this be what he would fay. the Thought Now if this be what he would fay, who can without Indignation fee the Liberty of a min Notes in permitted to fee her? May I approach near her? I Arif- (Shin t I be thought rish if I take her fair Hand, and code in a subset one of those Vermileon Roses which I defer which I defer which I defer which I defer the Company of t is the color of those vermilion Roses which I see the containing of the containing o "makes you speak with so much Reserve A Lo"makes you speak with so much Reserve A Lo"ver less chaste than you, would not have had so "much Respect, and it is to your own good Manners, rather than to my Instruction, that you owe this Modesty." This Translation is repugnant to the Original, and does not support it self in its I also hood to should it be supposed that Apollo did not hood for should it be supposed that appears and express himself grossy, but civilly and chastly, Chrfon s Answer is ridiculous and contradictory. The liftue was, that Apollo enjoyed Cyrene without delay, and transported her into Africa.

อนเลื (n) d รานาวอนน์ของ ทอก อเอ๊ง महबेदार, ०००। मः दिश्व मुश्चित्र सहारण प्रहार के एका ठीवां म्बσεν θαλαμω δε μίχει εν πελυχεύσω Διδύ ας

Apol in Geler autem of properantium jam Deorum aftio, quaqua 2 Argon brevis Illudilla dies peragit. In thalamo autem Libya v 502 divite auri congressi funt Chiron would have had him (*) Conjay tender things to her, and proceed in a way of hose start non nourable Love, but as Pindar observes, the Gods of the Poets could not away with Delays, they discrete fortch'd Matters in a trice, they went the shortest Bocatiun way to work, they boarded briskly, and enjoy'd eistory foul Means They took (a) the neal c21 Romance by the tail, and said with Boreas, (p) apis dum assembly vis est Cyrene conceiv'd, and brought our set Cyrene (r) Hyginus, who make her the Daughter of Peneus, suisse follow (f) an Ancient Tradition in this Where-silam fore we may say that Frischlinus (s) was much in the Frischlinus to blame Boceace, and to be ignorant of what in Calli-

fore we may fay that Frischinus (e) was much in the Frischlin wrong to blame Boseace, and to be ignorant of what in Callithey had affirmed Apollonius (v) supposes that she mach was a Shepherdes, and resolved to lead a Single Life, hymn 2 but that Apollo, who carry'd heraway by force, would not suffer her to keep her Virginity

(B) That he invensed the Secret of drawing off Honey, traj 1697 making of Oyl, and Cheese | Diodorus Siculus (x) Apol relates, that Ariseus having learnt of the Nymphs Argon 1 who nurs d him, the Art to Curdle Milk, and make 2 V 502 Bee-hives, and cultivate Olive-trees, was the first & seq who communicated these three Inventions to Men (x) Diod who communicated these three Inventions to Men (x) Diod who communicated these three Inventions to Men (x) Diod The Conveniences which they received from em Sicul 1 4 fill d them with so much Acknowledgment, that c 83 p they gave the same Divine Honour to him as they m 167 did to Bacchar That Historian says also, that the (y) Pindar Nymphs imposed three Names on him, that of No- ubi supra miss, of Aristeus, and of Agreus This agrees well p 441 enough with Pindar (y) But observe that he said (z) Schol that the Hours and the Earth, to whom Mercury carappel ry'd this litle Intant, sed him with Nectar and Am. Argon 1 brossa Others say, (z) that Aristeus having invenry'd this litle Infant, fed him with Nectar and Am. Argon I brofia Others fay, (a) that Arifteus having invented the making of Honey and Oyl in the Island of (as) Apol Ces, and having caused the Winds that are called E. Ibid lib sesian, to blow, was sirnam'd Jupiter Arifteus, and A. 4 V 1218 pollo Agreus, and (as) Nomius The Sirname of No. mentions a mius became him (bb) because of the care he had Temple of of Cattle, and that of Agreus, because he apply d Apollo himself to Hunting See here a curious Authority Nomius concerning that Application They who take Wolves (bb) Beneard Bears in Traps and Snares make Prayers to Aristeus, dictus in concerning that Application They who take Wolves (00) Beneand Bears in Traps and Snares make Prayers to Aristeus, dictus in because he was the si st who invented the way of taking Pindarum 'em with Snares and running Nooses It is a Passage ib p 442 in Pletarch, see the Original in the (cc) Margent (cc) Liv-In Platarch, fee the Original in the (cc) Margent (cc) Lu-The Scholiast of Apollomus does not explain the Eti- 20/7011 of mology of the two Names in this manner. He Apigula groundsthat of Nomius on Cyrene's having to do with dolowites Apollo while she was a Shepherdels, and that of Agre- oggypuage us on the Act being perform'd in the Fields. He is Coppose adds, that according to others, the Etimology came have to form the Shepherds the Art of acres of from Arificus teaching the Shepherds the Art of de ples of We there (ee) find that Ariftans was brought actis aut up in chiron's Cave, and when he was come to a fit-laqueis ting Age, the Muses marry'd him, and taught him politisqui Physick, and the Science of Divination, and set lupis aut diantur, ille feris primus pedicas quia tendere cepit Plut in A. mator p 757 (da) Scholiast Apol in 1 2 v 509 (ee) Apol ubi iupra v 512 & scq

the See alfo

c 161 (s) Scho Apol in

Serviusit

V 317 (+)Hygir

P 28, 9

the Honours which he should receive in the Island of Cra (C), he made a Voyage thither; That the Plauge having ravag'd all Greece, he offer'd Sacrifices which stopp'd the Evil; that having left his Family in the Island of Cea, he return'd again into Lybia, from whence he sail'd (D) with the Fleet, which his Mother had given him, towards Sardinia; that he chose an Habitation there, that he cultivated that Countrey with great Cire, that he banish'd Barbarity from thence, and civiliz'd the Place, that he visited seme other Islands, that the p'entiful Harvests, and vast Stocks of Cattle induced him to stay for some time in Sicily, where he taught his rare Secrets to the Inhabitants, that he way of Acknowledgment they all honourd him as a God, especially 4 V 1132 (b) Virgil. Georg 1 tants, that by way of Acknowledgment they all honourd him as a God, especially those who cultivated Olive Trees, that at last he went into Thrace, that he was admitted there by Bacchus into the Mysteries of the Orgies, and that by the Familiarity which he had with him, he learnt many things that were useful to Human Life, that 4 y 326 (c) Id 1b l 1 V 14 (d) Op-pian Cyneg 1 4 (e) Nouhaving liv'd there some time near Mount Hemus, he disappear'd, and that not only the barbarous People of the Country, but the very Greeks ordain'd him Divine Honours * nus, Dio-nyf I 5 (f) Plin Mr Moreri falfly observes, that Diodorus Siculus mentions another Arist eus in the 84th from Dio-Chapter of the Fourth Book, for that Chapter, and the Preceeding, contain what I dorus Si-1 7 c 56 have now deliver'd I am surprized, that nothing is found there concerning (E) Area-culus 1 p m 99 der, which was one of Aristans's chief Stations In the Remarks you'll find the Variati4 c 87, p m 99 (g) Varro de ling ons of Authors, the Impertmence of some Censures, and other such like Particulars, Lat 1 4 p 34 (b) 'As'him over all their Hocks. We find in another having afflicted that Island, Anglans went thither by Place of the same Poet, (a) that he invented Honey, and Oyl He says in Virgil, that the pains he had Apollo's Direction, and deliver'd it from that Calamitaken to perfect Agriculture and feeding of Cattle 711 e 27a-

had acquir'd him all the Glory he was possess d of Lu (b) essum hunc splum vs a morealis honorem Quem mihi vix frugum & picuaum custodia sollars Omnia tentants extuderat, te matre relinquo

He is one of the Desties that Virgil invokes, when he undertakes to write on Agriculture

(1) Justin
1 13 c 7
(k) It meet (d) Oppian, (i) Nonnus, the Scholiast of Pindar, of Apollonius, & all agree to make him the Inventor Of those of those Things that I have noted Some Passages (1) See will be seen between the same Subject (f) will be seen hereaster on the same Subject (f) Here's one of them, in which they make the City of Athens the Place of his Birth Oleum & trapitas At saus Atheniens Liem milla The Word to spetes lignifies (g) the Mills to squeeze the Olives us not forget that he invented Benjamin I his is inferted by an Ancient Author (h) quoted by the Scholiast of Aristophanes, as you may see in the 356th Page of Salmasius's Commentary on Solinus

Note that fust n (i) sets forth how Greni being got with Child by Apollo, a deoripleta, had four Sons, Nomius, Arist us, Autho us, and (k) Argaus I his is Changing the two (l) Strames of Aristius into two Men

two Men

(a) Id Apol h

saice

TOW TOV

or Ly TE σιλφί ε⁵-ευζενώς-

The Ky Thu L Alles (1) Justin

(!) See Voi de

I heolog Gentili 17010

p m ,50 (m) I/15

isthe Opi-Vof ubi

fupra

(n) This is the Opinion of Salmaius in Soli-

not apud

(nos, as Rhodo man has transt sted

(r) Agi-SELLO D

A TH ALL EJ 001 778 412/17545

, AS TEC -

1519 210 28 67 16

×17 f-

Schol

Apol in) 2 ev

500 (s) Sc. Vof de

Theolog

Gent 1 7

t 10 p m ,50

num p 141 145 (0) And

(C) In the Island of Cea, he made a Voyage thither]
The Greek of Diodoius Siculus is ets ko inou, and a little after, cy 7n ko Phodoman translates in Go infulam and in Co That I inflation puzz'es the Reiders, for it inclines them to believe that that Greek Historian ipeaks there of the Island of Cos, the Country of the great II ppeciates, and not of the Island of Cea as other Authors do when they ipeak of Ariff us Nevertheless let us be affur d that he speak of the Hand of Ca, whether it be that (m) the transitied field of the Hand of Ca, whether it be that (m) the Text must be corrected by putting k with indeed of kw, (p) Servius in I are must the Rules of Contraction might allow the Saying in I georg mentiond. Let us take notice of their Hand is mentiond. Let us take notice of the Words of V 14.

(q) Apol. Ceos. They shew Twis, de bonoribus apul (o) Argon. I hey shew plainly that he does not design to speak of the Island of Cos. However it be, let us.

2 V 521 produce some Authors who have attirmed that Arical Cos. Show terriled in the Island of Cos. fleus tettled in the Island of Gea, and let's begin with the Commentator of Servius on these Words of Vir-the Inhabitants of the coclader, to cause the Plague to cease, went from thessaly into the Island of Cea

ומן אודיבע ל כן אבדף בר פסידעו Adiny ev de Lew ya rei awato hadu azeigas Hattaoiron

Is relitta ex parentu juffu

Phthia in Ceum ivit nabitatum, contracto exercitu E Parrhasius

The Scholiast of that Poet affirms, as I have already observed, that (r) A issess taught to make Honey and Oyl in the same Island, We shall see in the Remark F that he established there the Worship of the Dog-Star Varro Assessme relates in his Poem of tie Argonauss, (1) that a great Mortality of Cattle

Apollo's Direction, and deliver'd it from that Calamity, after he had facified to fupiter I mais. The Winds and Heats, which occation'd the Mortality, ceas'd. Atter Ariffais s Death, the Inhabitants of the Island of Can obey'd an Oracle which order d them to place him in the number of the Gods, and they call d him Nomius and Agraus, because of the good he had done them by his Industry in the feeding of their Flocks, and the manuring of their Lands. Be not surprized to find in this place, that he caus'd the Mortality to cease, by calming the Winds, and to find hereafter that he caus'd it to cease by raising the Winds, for so the Ancient Traditions are contrived, one confures what the other ditions are continued, one confures what the other affirms, one forgets the only Particular which the other remembers. A compleat Narrative might have inform d us, that by changing the Wind, he restor d Health, but they that know not how to express all, observe no more than that the Wind ceas d, you must not expect the rest or perhaps that the Wind arose, you shall know no more of it, they I never inform you that the malignant Wind was stopp d, and thatthe kindly Wind succeeded The Correction which I have read in Salmasius, of a Pai- (t) Herafige in Heraclides, feems a happy one to me, in the clides de mean while I would not i wear that it was not faid Politis p mean while I would not swear that it was not take I only in the Original that the Pestilence in the Island of m 20 m the Wind 4000000 out out (v) Salm in the Original that the Pestilence in the maine of in το. Cea proceeded from the Wind Φθορός ούσις φυ των (τ) Salm x) εωων διο το πνειν επεπας (t) Quum contigisse in Solin hie auqua ido magna lues sturpibus & animantibus prop- p 144.

Επετιαιμα Hatus Διε η ποα το πνειι (x) Diod ter continuos Eteliarum flatus Din n 14000 to to thett (x) Dio sinotas (v) Salmalius Corrects thus fovem rogavit eteli-Siculus Which agrees with what I shall say in the 1 4 c 84 Remark I

(D) He fail d-(D) He fail d—towards Sardinia | Dodo-1 in 1 1 rus Siculus (ays (x) that he fettld in the Island of p 332 Cea after the Death of Aslam, and afterwards went See also into Iybia, and from thence into Sardinia, but o-Silius Itathers (y) pietend, that his Grief upon the loss of licus 1 Afteon, gave him such, a distast for Beotia and all 12 p m - towards Sardinia] the rest of crease, that he went to seek a Dwelling 498 in Loreign Countries They say it was then that he (c) Id led a Colony into Sardinia It is faid (z) that De-Pausan dalus having made his escape from the Island of Crete, ib Join d with him in leading forth his Colony, but (aa) Paul-Chionology confutes this invincibly Dedalus was san ib (na) Contemporary with Oedipus King of Thebes, he (bb) Arr-could not therefore have been concerned with stotel de Aristans the Son in law of Cadmus However it be, mitab Arifiaus the Son in law of Cadmus However it be, mitab the Variations are very gross here Paulanias says that auscult a Compary of I bians had fettled themselves in Sar- p m 881 dima, and incorporated with the Natives of the Coun- oper t 1 trey before Arificus went thereatives of the Coinsoper trey before Arificus went thither, but Arificile (bb) (ic) Borelates, that Arificus was the first who till dit, and chart Gethat before his Time it serv'd for a Dwelling only ograph to Hocks of huge Birds Consult Mr Bochart, (cc) facr part who maintains that this Voyage of Arificus is a La-2 1 c

(E) Of Arcadia which was one of Aristaus's chief 532 633
Stations | Therefore Virgil straames him Arcadius (dd) Vita when he mentions the Invention of Hiving the new gil Bees

Tempus (dd) & Arcadi memor anda inventa Mag firi Pandere, quoque modo casis jam sape juvencis Infincerus apes sulerit cruer

This Art was an Invention of Aristaus, and made supra him be honour d as a God in Arcadia (a) Post ea (Cea) relieta, cum Dadalo ad Sardiniam transicum fe

Dodo- In 1 1

gil Georg J 4 V 28;
(a) Servius ubi

354

See the tary of riop m. 118 1 Huet Dem

Evang propol 4 c 8 n 17 p m 1 In 1 4 Georgic Virgilii

(b) Salm in Solin P 99 (c) Justin 1 13 C 7 Mr Grzvius in hunc lo-

(e) Apol 1 2 Argon v $24 (f) Diodor Sicul 1 4 c 84 (g) Id 1b p m 268 (b) Hygin Poet Aftron 1264

p m 365

(i) 7h 10 st muft la read, and 710f corum S. Salmafius in So-

(m) Apol ubi fupra V 528 nor shall I forget the (F) Astronomical Discovery which is ascrib'd to Commenus, nor his Worshipping the Dog-star, nor his Daughter (G) Macris that to reward the Services he had done Mankind by his Knowledge of all the cus in A- Arts, the Gods had placed him among the Stars, and that he was the Aquartus ratea

Phenomena, c de Aquario p m.

Cerda, yet without quoting him

Cerda to Research and that he was the Aquario p m.

Zodsac * The Conformity of his History with that of Moses, has been curio py and
that he was the Aquatio p m.

Zodsac * The Conformity of his History with that of Moses, has been curio py and
that he was the Aquatio p m.

Zodsac * The Conformity of his History with that of Moses, has been curio py and
that he was the Aquatio p m.

Zodsac * The Conformity of his History with that of Moses, has been curio py and
that he was the Aquatio p m.

Zodsac * The Conformity of his History with that of Moses, has been curio py and
that he was the Aquatio p m.

Zodsac * The Conformity of his History with that of Moses, has been curio py and
that he was the Aquatio p m.

Zodsac * The Conformity of his History with that of Moses, has been curio py and
that he was the Aquatio p m.

Zodsac * The Conformity of his History with that of Moses, has been curio py and
that he was the Aquatio p m.

Zodsac * The Conformity of his History with that of Moses, has been curio py and
that he was the Aquatio p m.

Zodsac * The Conformity of his History with that of Moses, has been curio py and
that he was the Aquatio p m.

Zodsac * The Conformity of his History with that of Moses, has been curio py and
that he was the Aquatio p m.

Zodsac * The Conformity of his History with that of Moses, has been curio py and
that he was the Aquatio p m.

Zodsac * The Conformity of his History with that of Moses, has been curio py and
that he was the Aquatio p m.

Zodsac * The Conformity of history with that of Moses, has been curio py and
that he was the Aquatio p m.

Zodsac * The Conformity of history with that of Moses, has been curio py and the Aquatio p m.

Zodsac * The Conformity of history with that the Aquatio p m.

Zodsac * The Conformity of history with the Aquatio p m.

Zodsac * The Conformity Cerda, yet without quoting him

cit Huic opinioni Pindarus refragatur qui eum ait de Cea insula in Arcadiam migrasse, ibique vitam coluisse Nam apud arcadas pro jove colitur, quod primus oftenderist qualiter apes debeant reparari: Justin gives Aristaus a great Kingdom in Arcadia I'll quote his Words in the following Remark It is not true as Mr Lloyd affirms, that Apollonius makes Aristaus go from Arcadia into the Island of Gea He has copied that I also the Island of Gea He has copied that I also the form (h) Salmashus. fity from (b) Salmafius

(F) The Astronomical Discovery that was ascribed to Aristagus I if one considers justines Words only fuperficially, it might feem that he attributed the first Discovery of the Solstices to Aristaus, but they who read with attention, may easily perceive that he speaks of the riling of the Dog Star (c) Aristaum in Arcadia late regnally, eunque primum & appium & mellu usum & la tis ad coagula hominibus tradulation. p m 313, didiffe, Solftitialefque ortus fideris primum invenifie.

The most Learned (riticks have observed (1) that it ought either to be read solftitial fque ortus Siderus, or Solftitial face ortus Siderus, or Solffitialifque ortus fitt. In their of thele two Readings mean the Dog-Star, as they presend. It's certain that that Stat had a particular concern with our Aristons. The ground of it was this I he Heats of the Dog days had defolited the Cy laws, and produe da Plague there, which the Natives intrested Aissaur to put a stop to Up in which he went into the Island of Coa und caus dan Alta to be built to Jupiter, and offer d Sacrifices to that God He offer'd un Anniversary Worship for it. This produc'd a very good I feet, for from thence the Eresian Winds took their Original, Winds which co rinue for forty Days, and which temper the Hear of the Summer Lays, and which temper the First of the Shar (c) Comportations heper due in material legger to eops of the strategier in Alizebal of the lift noise for or dured,

I um augusta extructa ara sove Hum for,

Savia litato for in mon of the stellar illi

Sirio, Oright four atuministic Cumster gravia

I inti Diales annivo sami perfugerant telumem

Quadragina diebus, Or bod eque sa or to consider the Cancula extra proposar in sacrie

Diodorus Siculus (f) doth not make it ppear plan enough that the Liestin Winds were the cite is of A thems Sacrifice. He seems to say the this Sicri-

1 /1 eurs Sacrifice He feems to fay thin this Sierifice having been mide about the beginning of the Dog Star which falls in with the Sealon of those Liefan Winds, the Plague ceased But it is certain he pretends that the riging Heat of that Star was abated by the Religious Acts performed by 41 feets.

He finds Matter of wonder in it, that the fame Perfius in Solinum p

144
(k) O'n

144
(k) O'n

145
(k) O'n

147
(k) O'n

146
(k) O'n

147
(k) O'n

147
(k) O'n

148
(k) O'n

149
(k) O'n

140
(k) O'n

140
(k) O'n

140
(k) O'n

141
(k) O'n

141
(k) O'n

141
(k) O'n

142
(k) O'n

143
(k) O'n

144
(k) O'n fon whose Son was torn in pieces by Dogs, should (um Aisseus confect, & ab Jove impetravit ut ticha that in (k) The Scholiast of Apollonius says expressly, that the Etessan Winds did blow at Arissaus's Prayers Consult also Germanicas's Commentary (1) on the Phanomena of Aratus Let us speak of the An-niversary which he establish'd He order'd (m) that every Year the Priests of Ceas should offer Sacrifices before the rifing of the Dog-Star, and that the Inhabitants should stand to their Arms to observe the rising of that Constellation, and offer Sacrifice to it (n) I vous hims to the read knows) hat evidence of the source of the stands row d that Act of Religion mediately or immediately from Aristaus

Sic (q) cum stabulis & messibus ingens
Is a deum & Calabri populator Sissus arvi

Ina deum & Catabri populator Strius arvi

Incubuit, cost aerestum manus inseia priscum

In nemus, & miseris distat p a voca Sacerdos

What Superstitions and yet these were not the most extravigant in Piganism By the way, the l'assage of fustin which I cited in the beginning of this Remark, will form an Incident here Mr le Fevre of arte coassaumus thought himself the first who understood it mark, will form an Incident here Mr le Fevie of arte coaSaumus thought himself the first who understood it Justin says he, does not pretend to say that Ariskaus lacke contrught the use of Milk, that would have been contrary to truth, and all Antiquity, (r) he speals only of the Art of Curdling Milk Neither does he pretend that Ariskaus invented the use of Honey, Milk and Honey serv'd to nounsh the (1) greatest of the Gods He speaks then of the Art of Curdling Milk ber mot with Honey (1) Free aliud docuit Ariskaus, seilect coagulum serve ex mixtura seu us Graei vocant, cramate coagulum serve ex mixtura seu no hastenus involve serve flatis Hune locum a nemine hastenus involve serve f flum arbitror. To me this Explanation feems the Jupiter enough, but the Reasons on which it is grounded pater ille prove too much, for if the Ancient Tradition con-homicering the bood that was given Jupiter during his numque Infancy, had hinder'd justin from Trying that Ari-Deumque shewed Men the use of Honey, he would not melle nuhive affirm d that Gangoris King of the Conictes, (v) trituses or of the Conictes, was the first Inventor of Honey, ac liette neverthelets he has third at plainly, and without leaving room to give two different Senses to his Words (t) Id ib Quorum (n) (Conetum) Rese vetulishmus Gargoris, mellis (v) A Quorum (w) (Qunetum) Rex vetusisssimus Gargoris, mellis (v) A colligendi usum primus invenit I don't think it can People of be pretended that Justin has respected the Poetical Spain Traditions to much, that he was cautious of advan (w) Justin cing things which constite their A great number 1 44 c 4 of Authors have find that Aristeus invented Honey, (x) Plin their Words signify so much expresly, and cannot 1 14 c 4 their Words lignify to much exprelly, and cannot 1 14 c 4 be ching d from this Signification, he invented a cerp m 127 tun Mixture of Honey and Milk which made a Curd (7) Apol It may reasonably then be believed that Jufin spoke Argon 1. like them and that he made no account of what the 4 v 113 Poets had faid concerning Jupiter's Milk and Honey & seq. Observe by the way, that Arishaur's Inventions (2) Kal consisted sometimes in Mixtures, for he was the most definish who taught the Thracians to mix Honey with Gold 36 (2) the Wine of Mixture.

first who taught the Thracians to mix Honey with the Wine of Masone Aislaum primum omnium in each dem centermel m scuisse vine, suavitate pracipua usrasses verificial mention her, but here's what Apollonius savs of her (1) It was she that took little Bacchus in her Lap, itter Mercury had pluck d him out of the Flames, and it was she that made him eat Honey She liv'd them in the Center of the Island of Fulwa, she exposed her self to the Indignation of Juno by the good Offices she performed to that Child, and was fore d to leave the Country, and hide her self in a Cave in the Island of the Pheaces, where (2) she did abundance of good to the Inhabitants Let's conclude from hence that Aristaus, Uncle-in-Law (aa) to Bacchus, was much older than him This does not constitute what Diodorus Siculus says concerning the admission of Aristaus into the Orgies, & c. nor what one there (bb) suppose, that he commanded some Troops in Bacchus's Army, for Order requires that the Superiority should ever belong to a Son of Jupiter, tho' he is the Younger Person

(9) Valer. blaccia. Argon L oftendiffe

ARIST EUS the Proconnessant Mr Morers having contented himself with say. The 1/se that he live in the Time (A) of Cyrus, and that he composed the History of the friendless, and a Work of the Origine of the Gods, the whole (B) fill d with Fables, has for sot what was most singular inthis Article Let's therefore give the following Supplement, points and say. That this Aristans dying in his own * Country, was seen the same Day, and it the ame Hour, Reading Lectures in Sicily This Sight having been renewed at several Times, and during several Years, obliged the Sicilians to build him a Temple, and Dyscoluter Sacrifices to him to Herodotus has snoken (C) at large of this Miracle History offer Sacrifices to him t. Herodotus has spoken (C) at large of this Miracle Histor Pliny + relates, that in the Island of Proconnesus the Soul of Aristans was seen to come comment out of his Body by the Mouth, in the Shape of a Raven Others fay, that his Soul c 2 went 7 c 52

(a) Vof de Hift Græc 1 4 C 2 P 433 (b) Strab P 4,9 (c) Tati-an Orat nd Grac apud Vof ıblı c p 7
(d) Voi 1b p 6
(e) Herod 14014

(f) Aulus Gellius I

9 C 4 P m 229 Note that Mr Huet Demonst Evangel prop 9 c 142 P

m 1037

cites thu place of Aulus

Gellius,

as containing that the things which had been faid of Aristans were false

Thu u not *beThought of Aulus Gellius

(g) Hero-dot 1 4 c 13, &

Strabo 1 1 p 15 p 409 (h) Max Tyrius, dissert 22

pag 223.

Pag 224

(A) That he liv'd in the Time of Cyrus] This is prov'd by the Testimony of Suides Note that Cyrus began to reign in Persia in the 55th Olympiad Vossius (a) infers from thence, that Suidas saying on one side that Aristans flourish'd in the 50th Olympiad, and on the other, that this was in the I ime of Eyrus, has not observed exactness. The Anonymous Author who has fettled the Olympiads, places Ariflaus in the 50th This does not agree with what others have faid, (b) that Homer was his Disciple Tation (c) made him later than Homer, and was blam'd for it by Vossies, (d) as if thereby he would too much have favour d the Cause of Truth in this Point, to wit, that Homer's Age was confiderably later than that of Moses To me it seems that this Censure is but weakly grounded, for Tatian might justly make use of a Tradition that was fix d among the Pagans We have feen that it was faid that our Arifteus had taught Homer, and we read in (e) Herodorus, that Arishaus appear d in the World three Ages after he had compos'd a Poem, So that it was not agreed that he flourish d in the Time of Cyrus Ovicrve that Herodotus was born in the 1st Year of the 74th Olympiad, and that he does not mention this last Apparition of Ariftew as a thing that newly hapn'd But intimates on the contrary that the Tradition of the Meraponines concerning this Adventure, was of a long standing, for he does not say that they noted

(B) The whole fill d with Fables] Aulus Gellius relates. that being at Brundussum he saw several Bales of Books exposed to sale, and that he might have bought as many of 'em as he pleasd at a low price They were all the Works of Greek Authors, who had collected several surprizing and incredible l'ables Aristaus is the first of those Writers Fasces librorum venalium expositos vidimus Asque ego avide statim per-go ad libros Erant autem isti omnes libri Graci mirago ad livros Erant autem ist comnes tivos Graci mira-culorum fabularumque pleni ros inaudita, incredula, seriptores veteres non parva auteritatis Aristeas Procon-nessius & Isigonus Nicaensis & Ctessas & Onesieritus & Polystephanus & Hegesias Ipsa autem volumina ex diu-tino situ squallebant, & habitu adspectique tetro erant Accessi tamen, percunctatusque precium sum 🗸 o, addu-Etus mira atque insperata vilitate, libros plurimos ere pauco emo, eosque omnes duabus proximis noctibus cursim atque in legendo carpsi exinde quadam & notavi mirabilia & scriptoribus fere nostris intentata, eaque his commentariis adspersi (f) The rest of this Chapter of Aulus Gellius is full of Chymerical Narrations, which he had read in those Writings, or in Pliny which he had read in those Writings, or in Pliny You must know that the History of the Arimaspes, composed by Aristaus, was a (g) Poem And you il perhaps say, how can it be known that the Author writ it without the thought of having any Credit given to his Stories? Ariosto never had such a Thought Why should we not judge of the Ancient Poets as we do of him in this Point? I aniwer, when the first are reversibled to due to his Reader that Aristaus never intended to divert his Reader with Reports that should be looked on as I ables, because his Design by these Stories was to cure the Incredulity he had observed in the People No boincredulity he had observed in the People No body (b) would believe he was a Philosopher, and the Reason was grounded on his not saying that any body had instructed him He took off this Objection by saying, that his Soul went out of his Body, and that taking its flight towards Heaven, it had seen all the Greek and Barbarian Countries, and sinished its Course by that means discovered the Situation of Places, the Customs of the Inhabitants, the natural Qualities of by that means discover'd the Situation of Places, the Customs of the Inhabitants, the natural Qualities of the Elements, &c and also of having observed Heaven more exactly than the Earth Was not this alledging his Tales as so many Credential Letters? Would he not by this establish an Authority that should make all things else that he had to say be received? He must then propose those Facts as true And they were taken as such, for more Credit was given (1) to that Man, than to those Philosophers who dogmatized without any Disguise Note that who dogmatiz'd without any Disguise Note that

Dyonisius Halicarnassins observes (k) that all did not P m 85 helieve that our Aristaus was Author of the Books that bore his Name (C) Herodotus has spoken at large of this Mi- Halicarn, racle | This is the Summary of his Relation (1) in judicio racle | This is the Summary of his Relation (1) in judicio Aristaus, one of the chief Men of the Island of Pro de Thuconnesses, came one day into a Fuller's House, and cyd c 26 died there. The Fuller shut up his Doors, and went p m 384 and told Aristaus's Relations of his Death This (!) Herod News was soon spread all over the City; but while 1 4 c 14.

this was the common Discourse, there came a Man (m) Accord who assert the ment Aristaus going (m) to (redirection). who assume common Discourse, the came and the who assume that he met Aristan going (m) to (y-ding to zicum, and that he had spoken with him His Re-Plutarck lations went to the fuller's House with necessaries for in Romuhis Tuneral, but found him not either dead or alive lo P 35 At Seven Years end he appeared, and composed the there were Poem of the Arimaspes, after which he disappear'd those who Two or three Ages after he shewed himself to the affirm d Inhabitants of (n) Metapontum, and commanded them they faw to build an Altar to Apollo, and to erect a Statue near limon the it, in honour of Aristaus the Proconnessan He told Road to them that they were the only Italians whom Apollo Ciotone had honour d with a Visit, and that he had kept him (n) A had honour d with a Visit, and that he had kept him (n) A company in that Journey, not in the shape of Aris Iown of stars, but in that of a Raven, and having said this, staly he disappear d. The Metapontines enquired of the (o) Athen Oracle at Delphos what this meant. They were as 1 13 p. sweet, that they would do well to obey, and they 6 sperform d the Order. The Historian testities, that (p) stars his Time there was a Statue of Aris saus in the 1.1 mg. in his Time there was a Stitue of Ar. laws in the fr line great Place of M tapontum, near Apollo's Altar, fur-lad hien rounded with Lawiels Le. s join to this a Last reported by Athaneus (o) After the return of (p) Athe Country ported by Atheneus (o) After the return of (p) A-th. County restaus, the Metapontines dedicated a Lawrel of Brais of the to Apollo This Lawrel having spoken at a time Hypperwhen a Dancing Woman of Thessaus Canada and the boreins great Place of Metapontum, the Soothsayers who Athen ib were present were immediately served with such a (q) Renease Figure that they tore the Woman in pieces. Note (carnetic Fury, that they tore the Woman in pieces Note Gazrusine that the had receiv'd a Sacred Present from Philomel Theolas, which was a Crown of Gold Lawrel, which phiasto athose of I ampsacus had consecrated in the Temple of Delphos Note also that Aneas of Gaza (q) quomenting the Narrative of Herodotus, adds this Circumnot in Apollon stance to it, that the Sicrifices of the Metapontines Apollon were lookt upon to belong in common to Apollo and Dyicol to Aristaus, as to two Deities Origen (1) observes p 87 that Apollo would have this Aristaus honour'd as (7) Origa a God by the Inhabitants of Micapontum (5) Micapins contra pretends that Athenagoras (5) reproach d the Pagans Celsum with having honour'd Aristeus in the Island of Chies 13 and with the having taken him for the same God (s) Meurle as Apollo and fupiter Xi & a issue a duth x, dia ibid x, attake voluloutes Chie Aristeum quem & fovem (t) Athen arbitrantur & Apollonem Mr Hues (v) imagines, legat pio with much likelihood, that instead of Moi, it Christie ought to be read xiso, and that the Business there connis p moserus Aristeus the Son of Apollo and Crows for 2h with having honour'd Aristeus in the Island of Chies 1 ought to be read reso, and that the Buline's there connis p in cerns Aristaus, the Son of Apollo and Cyrone, for 25 this latter Aristaus was worthip'd (x) in the Island of (v) Huet Cea Suffridus (y) understands the Passage of Arise unbitupia nagoras of him Mr Huet shews (z) that those two p in 37 Aristaus's have been often mistaken one for tother. You de They who will have all Romances grounded on I heol some true story, may suppose that Aristaus having story in the story.

fome true Story, may suppose that Aristans having Gent 1 7 counterfested the dead Man in the Fuller's House c 10 p found means to get out of it in the Master valuence, in 349 and to convey himself privately out of the I own, has the and that having hid himself for some Years, he re- same turn'd thither again, and produc'd a Poem in which he sets forth (aa) his Extasses, which he was well (x) See pleas'd should be taken in the literal, and not in the Rethat Poetical Sense in which we take these Verses mark G, of of Horace

Que (bb) me Bacche rabu tui Plenum, qua in nemora aut quos agor in specus Velox merte nova,

(4) in judicio Note Gazrusin she foregoing A icle (y) suffirm

dus, not in Athen Iegat pm 242 (z) Huet ib & p 212 (aa) Γρη , Αγ σέης - απικώς ει Ιωνδυνας φοιδολαμπω γωθμής Ατιθτευς memotavit fe Phabo infimitum venisse ad Isledonas Herod ubi tupi 2 C 1 γ (bb) Horat 1 3 Od 25 Y y 2 and 6 Hefychius Illuftrius, and after bim Suidas, whose Words are these Tours out of The fu-ZHU OTO EEIEVALE-TUVIEVAL Hums anımam voluisset exusse & dicunt Y Strab 405 See the

Remark B

и Longin megi Utus

seét 9 p m 26 √ Tzet Chil 7 Hiftor P 144 See Cilaubon on Athenrus 1 1 p m 1 aufan 1 1 p 22. † Maxim I yrius orat 28 p m 282 4 Plutirch in Romulo P 35 p 1039 (c) Lilius Greg Giraid. diai 3 de hiftor poetar p (6) Strab 1 13 P (c) In the R.mark C of the Arpollonius

(cc) Huet ubi lupra

(d1) Id ib

(i) Pap in proæm 1

flidis (g) Cedensque animadverteret quemdam scribentem ut patria pellere-tur quasisse ab eo dicitur, quare id faceret, aut quid Aristides com-misset, cur tanta poena dignus duceretur? Cui ille responder, se ignorare Aristidem, sed sibi non placere quod cupide elaborasset ut præter cæteros justus appellaretur. 14 ib went c in and out of the Body at it's Pleasure Strabo y makes this discussion the greatest Sorcerers that ever was Some say, that to conquer the Increasity of the ple, with Regard to his Doctrine, he made believe s, that his Sould travelly into divers Parts separate from his Body Six of his Verses are found in the Chilads of Travels s. He is twice quoted a * Paul sans By the way, they who pretend that † he was not quite dead when his continue a travellance divining the little from the Wondersungs of the Product It is the Product. a travelling, diminish but little from the Wonderfulness of the Prodigy It is ricollers to note, that Plut arch + made a Mock of this fine Story Gyraldi (D) has committed some Faults ARIST EUS, the Geometrician, liv d before Enclid, and compos'd Works tha

were esteem'd See below a good Passage (E) of Pappus

ARIS FIDES, sirnam'd the Just, flourish d in Athens at the same time with The missocles They happed to have several Differences, and it appear'd, in their Case, that the being superior to another in Virtue, is not (A) always a Means of being so in Repu trion The Impetuolity of Themsfooles's Elequence made him triumph over the Justice of his Rival. It's remarkable that one of those who consented to the Pathment of A ristides, grounded his Opinion on the great (B) Reputation of Integral which he saw him enjoy But here's a Particular which is still more remarkable. This great Man, who so exactly observed the Rules of Equity in private Affairs, and between Man and Man did not scruple to prefer the Useful before the Honest, in(C) Affairs relating to the State He liv'd in great Poverty, and (D) gloried in it He neither left Portions to marry of and feveral others which Mr Hnet (ec) mentions I cannot catily agree with him, that Maximus Tyrius confirms the Conjecture, to wit, that Ar /tens (dd) did not pretend that his I xpressions ought to be taken literally Maximus Tyrius supposes quite the contiary, as we have seen before. As for the Apparition to the Mitapontines be it supposed that an Impostor might casilly persuade them of what Hirodotus relates for them. tus relates, for they vere Pytlogor ans, and contequently believed the Transmigration of Souls

(D) Giraldi has committed from Faults] I He makes Strabolity that the Lloquence and Address of Aristans were of great force (a) trabo Aristam fi-Ariffais were of great force (a) 'tribo Ariffain's found a & blanditis welcomentem fuel, product. This is to understand nothing in this Greek, (b) & 19 your of the dince, fuel prafficies nemitifications. II He makes Herodotus sty, that Ariffeis having order of the Mesapontines to creck at the same time an Altar to Apollo, and a Statue to himself, and having at last declar'd to them that he was a Raven, was translated before their I yes I his is understanding Herodotus's Relation wrong, confult (e) it IN He figs that Plusarch approves Herodorus Narrative I his is falle, Plutarch touches it but flightly, and alters notably the Circ imstances of the Place, and then rejects it as a I able

(1) A good Paffage of Pappus] I term it so, because it informs us of a very curious (incumstance conceining [uelid, which is, that this great Geometrician out of respect to sinfan, would not feem more expert in the Conicks than he I have spoken of trician out of respect to Aristair, would not seem more expert in the Conicks than he. I have spoken of (d) this before. Let us see the Words of Pappus (e) Aristair autem qui scribit care e ra ho usque sempui tradita sunt solidorum libros qui nj. conicis colarentes vocavit—— Euchdes au miscutus Aristerum scriptorem luculentum in 113 que ed. con c strad e rat, neque anteresteus neque volens cosum safiteienem de-strucre cum mitissimus iset Contenis es y ronnes, po e lettin cos qui mathematicas di iplinas al qua e pre augere Cramplificare possent, u par est Crnullo mido infensus i da accuratus, non arrogans velus lec (Apollonius l'erg.xus) quantum offende potu t de loco per ejus conica memoria prodidit

(A) Is not always a means of being fo in Reputation] This I hought is taken from Cornelius Nepos , (f) In his cognitum est quanto antistaret eloquentia innocentia, quamquam enim adeo excellebat Aristides al stinentia ut unus post tominum memoriam, quod quidem nos audierimus, cognomine Justus fit appellatus, tamen a Themisto-(d) In the cle collabefactus testula illa exilio decem annorum multaturest Let a Man be the honestest Person in the World, if he has not the Art of Clamouring, and blustering in Speeches, he may depend upon it that he shall be foil'd tho' he has to do with the basest Man of the Town

(B) On the great Reputation of Integrity which he [aw him enjoy] A Citizen of Athens, who balloted that Arifides ought to be banish d, being ask'd his collect Reason for such a Vote, answer'd plainly, (g) I do (f) Corn not know the Man, but I cannot abide him, because Nepos in he earnestly aspires to be Sirnam'd the Just Numvita Ari- bers of People think like this Man, though they have not his Candor All that excels, displeases them They look more equitably on a common, than on a diffinguish d Virtue That Reputation of Arifides, whereof the Athenians gave one day such an Authentick Testimony in his Presence, has not experienced the Injury of Time, but has preserved it self (1) Auson in all Ages. Read this Passage of Ausonius, in Mosel

Nec (1) fola antiquos oftentat Roma Catones

Aut unus tantum justi specifator & equ m 415

Pollet Anistides veteresque illustrat Albenas

(C.) In Affairs relating to the State] Here's 1 new

Fximple of what we have said before (k) concerning the RELIGION OF SOVERLIGNS 97 col 2 Arifides had made the Arlemans swear to do such a certuin thing, and had taken the Oath himself in their Name Afterwards he advis'd them to do their Name what they should think fit for the Publick Good and lay the Burthen of the Perjury upon him alone, while me justum. In repub samen multa and timpora patria quasi multa iniqua illa stagitaret perpetrassi. Unhappy (ondition to be placed at the Helm! The good of the State requires more than one or two unjust. Actions in a Man's Life time, perhaps Aristics could not get off for an hundred. Observe that Ciccio (m) gives us quite another Idea of him

(D) And gloried in it.] He had a very rich. Relation, whose Name was Callias, who finding himself publickly accused for 1 of supplying him (n) wherewith to support Life, desired him to declare before (n) Pthe Judges whether it was not true that he would conclusion.

the Judges whether it was not true that he would concluded, the Judges whether it was not true than at feve- from seeing never receive the Sums he had offer d him at seve- from seeing never and whether he had not answer'd, that he Aristides gloried more in his Poverty than Calliar in his Richfo ill clad, es, he declar d it was true. His Reason was, that that he there were numbers who made either a good or bad wanted nie of their Riches, but that it was rare to find a Perfon who bore his Poverty with a noble Mind. (6) Plut p It may be faid then that it was a Principle of Pride, or Singularity, that made him despise Riches It's a pleasure to Covetous and Ambitious Persons to be able to object this to those who are not like these felves But what do they gain by it? If it should be granted that all men act from a Principle of self sove, is it nothing to draw ones Glory rather from this Action or Conduct, than from that? Is it not a sufficient Motive to admire the one, and despise the other? other? Elian (p) relates a thing which at first fight seems but little compatible with the notorious Poverty of Arifides. He says that those that were betrothed to his Daughters, disown'd them after his Death, because his extreme Poverty was then known It seems to me that he is mistaken in his Argument, that Poverty was known in Arifiidei's Life time, but that Poverty was known in Arifical's Life time, but it was as well known that he was in great Credit of Rovo-Now the most mercenary and interested Souls do not believe they engage themselves in a disadvantageous Match by marrying, as one may say, the Daughter of a Favourite in her Shift, who has an hundred profitable Offices at his disposal This might make Arificals's Daughters find Matches in ın Mofel v 386 p р 334 А.

(m) Cicer de Officiısl 3 c 318
(n) People

A RE-FLECTY ON on Just Laws, and on Peoples covering to marry the Daughters

ARISTIDES ARISTON

357

Daughte for wherewith to defray his Funeral The Republick * discharged all * Plut in Expense He was generous enough not to join with Themsstocks's Enough, Aristide at the where was Reason to believe they might crush him For Themssock, Posses we demand the Reason of the second of the se which there was Reason to believe they might crush him For Themsstood's 1 lb p was demn be Banishment, without Aristides ever appearing against him Authors 3,4 vary that Aristides's Latter End 4, but there is no doubt that (1') Sence has committed 4 He dyel a grant Fault. We shall say in the Article of Internationals, that a Grandson of Aristides 1 for the got his Living by telling of Fortunes by Dreams

AR ISTON, a Native of the Isle of Chios, varied a little from his Master Zeno's which was Opinion, who was Head of the Stoicks, as may be seen in Morer's Dictionary, together with some of his Doctrines. Not to repeat what is found there, I shall content that the Reason why he rejected Logick and Natural Philosophy.

my self to observe, that the Reason why he rejected Logich and Natural Philosophy was because he judged that Logick was useless, and that Natural Philosophy exceeded Cornel the Strength of our Mind I add to this, That having espoused Moral Philosophy in Nepos in the beginning, he afterwards (A) retrench'd much of it. For he would not have Peoply vita ple teach any thing concerning the particular Duties of a Husband to his Wife, or a Toy we're the Madan to his Servants but confine themselves to Lecture. Father to his Children, or a Master to his Servants, but confine themselves to Lectures available upon Wisdom in general Seneca justly blames him for this, and shews, that particular nua, no Precepts and (B) Sentences may be of marvellous Use Aufton faid, that the Nature of God (C) was not conceivable. This induces us to believe, that he absolutely neglected the Contemplation of Divine Matters. He was the Antagonist of Arcesilaus on the alrerum Point of Uncertainty But if any Credit might be given to Diogenes Laertius, it should quidem seem effe supri his Life-time without a Penny of Portion, but after his Death there was no more to hope for, so that they were cast off for want of Money A Person of great Wit (a) puts this Judicious Reslection in the Mouth of a Favourite, Such a Person would think himself honour'd with my Alliance upon equal Terms, and yet thinks he makes a Sacrifice to my Favour in destrine my Niece of me So true is it that when one feeks the my Niece of me Affinity of a Person in great (redit, he thinks more on the Places he may get, than on the Portion

(E) That Seneca has committed a grofs Fault] Anconfol ad m 785

Melvian down them going to the Place of Lxecution, figh'd and turn d down their Fyes to the Ground, except one Rogue who fpit in his Face, Arifides fmild and faid to the Officers who guarded him, Advise that Person never to open his Mouth so villanously and several relates the thing thus (b) Ducebatin gain Sineca relates the thing thus (b) Ducebatur Athenis ad supplicium Aristides, cui quisquis occurrerat, desicievat oculos, & inegmiscebat non tanquam in homigain Scheca relates the thing thus nem justum, sed tanquam in ipsam justitiam animadnem justum, jea tanquam in ippam justitiam animaawerteretui. Invintus ist tamen qui faciem egus inspueret poterat of hot molisti ferre quod fetamas meminem id ausurum puri oris. At ille abstrict jaciem, & subvidens air comitantis maeistratui, admon istum ne postea tam improbeosciett. I ipsus ha, very judiously observed on this Passage that Senera has taken one Person for another, he has attributed to Aristide what he ought to have given to Photon It was Photoan (c) that was condemn d to die, it was in his Face they fipit when he was going to the Prifon where he was to drink Hemlock, and it was he who turning himself to the Officers who attended him, as I d Would none of them chastize the Insolence of that spawling Fellow Senecas has given those Words a Turn after his own way Verba (d) noster etiam per argiti lam invertif It's likely that this is not the failt time he has alter'd both the Subject and the Words at were to be wish d he were the only Person who took that liberty People are very apt to tell a good Saying not as it was spoken at first, but according to the Form which is believ d to be the best That he is deceived in the main, is plum from Plutarch s Relation Phograd Historian confesses that somebody (e) had faid that del Padre Arisides dy'd in Exile, but he contutes it, what Secondo were says, may be rejected then with much greater Lances as a Fable Note that Lancelor of Perousa has not mark'd that Fault, it may be he knew it, but he would rather suppose it as a certain Fact, that he might have ground to maintain that that Age was extraordinary unjust, feeing the Senate of Athens caus'd a Man of such eminent Virtue to be put to death (f) p in 166 See Min also with 94 & Sex-tus Emp

(A) He retrench'd a great part of Moral Philosophy, Seneca blam'd him for it] Read these Words (g) Aristo Chius non tantum Supervacuae esse dixit naturalem & rationalem, sed etiam contrarias moralem queque quam folam reliquerat, circumcinerse moratem queque quam folam reliquerat, circumtidir Nam cum locum qui monitiones continet, suffulit, by pedagogi esse dixit non Philosophi tanquam quidquam aliud sit sapiens quam humani generis pedagogas He constues may be of wonderful use He says they touch the Mind to the quick when they are contracted in Verse or in Prose, and kindle the Seeds of honour which are naturally in our Souls (1) Ipsa qua pracipiumtur, per se multum habent ponderis utique se aut carmine intexta suat, aut pi osa oratione in sintentiam coarstata Sicut illa Catoniana Errat, non quod opus est, sed quod necesse est. Quod non opus est, ass. carum est. Qualia sunt illa, aut redaita oratulo, aut siTannone. Caree Il nole. Numanid intionem milia Tempori parce, Ti nosci Numquid rationem n 161 caiges, cum tibi aliquis hos dixerit versus? Injuriarum remedium est, oblivio, Andentes fortuna juvat Piger fibi ipje obstat Advocatum ista non quærunt – a Advocatum ista non querunt affictus ipsos tangunt, G-natura vim suam exercente proficiunt. Oinnium honesta-rum resum semina animi pesunt, qua admonitione exci-tantur non aliter quam scintilla statu levi adjuta, 19nem fuum explicat He adds, that iometimes they make their force appear in the most Ignorant, and that Agrippa, the Favourite of Augustus, acknowledged himself very much indebted to an Apoph-(k) Id is the them on Concord (k) Russ negaveris series quibus p 388 dam praceptis efficacios etiam imperiisssimos? velus his brevissimis vocibus, sed multum habentibus ponderis Nibilmemis

Nibilnimis

Avarus animus nullo fatiatur lucro

I observ'd (1) that a Sentence taken out of de nat Livy, or out of Taxitus, and deliver'd, as having for- Deorum merly been ferviceable to unite the Senate of Rome, 1 1 p 60 merly been ierviceable to unite the Senate of Rome, is capable of faving a State, or (n) Ciccr (commits a Fault when he wonders that Velleius, one commits a Fault when he wonders that Velleius, one natura of the Interlocutors, plac'd Arifon among the Theologists, for that Philosopher deserved this Rank as much as those others whose Opinions Velleius has much as those others whose Opinions Velleius has much as those others whose Opinions Velleius has mention'd See Aristons Doctrine (n) Cujus (Ienonis) discipuli Aristons non minus magno in errore sentimental est qui neque formam Dei intelligi posse censent, horst in neque in diss sentimente dicat, dubiteque omnimo deus Minuc minani nec ne sit Minucius Pelix has mention'd the Felicem forme Terrer and seid that Terrer and Ariston Der- ib fame Tenet, and faid that Zenophon and Ariston per- ib ceiv'd the Greatness of God by this very Circum- (4) El-strange, that they despair'd of ever comprehending it stance, that they despair'd of ever comprehending it menherst (0) Socraticus Zenophon formam des veri negat viders for want posse, & ideo quari non oportere, Aristo Chius compresso of Attenti-hends omnino non posse uterque majestatem dei intellissonbeliev'd, gendi desperatione senserant. A certain Commontas that the tor is guilty of a childrish Error in this place. He Aristo of believes (p) there is a difference between the Person Minucius mention'd by Cicero, and him mention'd in the Passage of Minucius, I say, he believes it, because he suve or an suppose that Minucius spoke of a Man whose Name Ablasiue, was Aristus. See the Margin (q). By the way it whereas its may not be impossible that Pather Lescalopier should a Nomina-impute sive impute tive

1 1 p 60 (n) Cicer (p) Quod Minucius Chio id

natura

menherst

P 387

(a) La Demoif

des Jard dans fes

I xilez de

Auguste

(b) Senec

() Plut

une abid () Plut

in Phoci-

(1) Lipf

in Arist P 335 (f) S & Phogeide

the following (g)Senec

' Id 1b 1 Athenæus l 7 сбр 18r 1 Id 1 6 p 251

habuit

auod fu-

nihil ad

nos Lactant

fupra

(b) See Xenoph

feem that Scepticism was but poorly (D) attack'd, and as poorly desended, in Times It's said that Ariston was very bald, and that this Baldness was the Cauchis Death, the Sun having scorch'd his Head * He became voluptuous in his Old Age Eratosthenes and Apollophanes his Disciples inform us of this Particular in † Atheneus I cannot tell whether it was in that Time that 4 he became the Flattere Philosopher who was considerable in Antigonus's Court His Sect continued but a (E) short Time He's the Author of a Saying, which might make Aristippus's Doctrine less (F) odious than commonly it is Some Works were ascribed to him, which belong'd to (G) Ariston impute that to our Aristo which belongs to (r) So-crate: (i) Ejus viri (Socratis) quoties de calestibus rogabatur nota responsio est, quod supra nos nibil ad nos Note, that generally speaking, they who acknow-ledge that the Nature of God is inexplicable, ought (r) Cele- crates bre hoc rogaba proverbium Socr not to be suspected of Negligence in Divine Service, for its a Reason with many for adoring God with greater Humility and Reverence So that the Oblervation made against Ariston has something personal in it, and it's founded on its being well known that Incomprehensibility was with him a Motive of neglect Nay, I would not positively affirm that he neglected Religion Istop at the Probability, for, with l 3 c 19 Lactanti-Lastantius s leave, (a) Socrater's Maxim which I have just mention d, did not induce that Philosopher to fromthence neglect I heology His Doctrine upon it was as fair (b) as could be expected from a Pagan, and it looks as if he would only fet Bounds to Human Curiofity fised Re-(s) Minuby fuch Reasons as our most Pious Doctors make use cius Felix of Which is to be willing to be ignorant of that p m 112 (a) Lacwhich God would not have us to know, for there is danger in those profound Scrutinies "(c) In a "word, he would not advise a too curious Lnquiry tant ubi "into the admirable Art with which the Gods have ordered the Universe, &c" You'll find the rest of this Passage in the Remark S of the Article Ain the 1st nazagoras, and you'll likewise easily find there that Book of the by the Coelestral things, the study of which Socrates memorable does not approve, he does not mean Matters of Rethings religion, but of Astronomy

lating to

(D) That Scepticism was then but poorly attacks, and as poorly definded | Ariston maintain'd the Maxims of I vidence against Arcessias, and seeing a Monster, I mean a Bull with a Womb, he believed his Adversary would be a support of the su Socrates Socrates of I vidence against Arcessias, and according to the law of I vidence against Arcessias, a are plainly diftinguish'd, there being certain Parts so proper to the one, that they are never seen in the other. If they argued after that manner, it is certain that the Bull which I have mentioned serv'd to confute them, but besides, it must be agreed that they us'd a very weak Argument, for the Scepticks did not deny that according to Appearances there was a distinction between the Males and the Females, they maintain d only that it was not known whether their Nature was such as it appear'd to be Now it signifies nothing to instance the Example of the Bull in this case Might they not have answer d, We cannot tell whether it is effectually a Womb we cannot tell whether it is effectually a Womb or not, it may be but one in appearance Ariston ask'd an Acataleptick one day, Don't you see that Rich Man that sits near you't he other answer'd, No Who put out your Eyes, said Ariston again (e)? This was a childish Defence, seeing the Doctrine of Incomprehensibility does not suppose a Person deprived of the use of Sight He ought to have answer'd Aressissar, the resemblance of a Rich Man sitting near me strikes my Eye-sight, nevertheles. ting near me strikes my Eye-sight, nevertheless I cannot comprehend how that Man exists, or what his Nature is It is observed, that among all the Tenets of the Stoicks, Ariston adher dehiesly to this, The Wise Man never opine: There was a Philosopher in his days whose Name was Residue, who to according The Wife Man never spine: There was a Philosopher in his days whose Name was Perseus, who to attack him upon this Point, suborn d'Twin Brothers, one of which trusted Arishon with a Depositum, and the other came some time after to demand it, and because driften stood in suspense, he was consuted by " I can scarce comprehend the meaning of Did these Twins resemble each other so perthis Did their Twins relemble each other so perfectly that it was impossible to know them sainder, or were they as unlike as commonly Twins are? Diegimei Laertius says nothing to this His Brevity is sometimes so intolerable, that it might be said, we have only ill digested Extracts of his History of the Philosophers. If these Twins were distinguishable, from whence could saids's puzzling himself proceed? If they were very hardly to be diffinguished, his Suspense was not to be blam'd, and could not serve to constitute him. Son that some thing could not ferve to confute him, for that fame thing that kept him in suspense, was a proof of his respect for the Maxim above, the Wise Man never opines
(c) Xen

(E) Hu Seet continued but a short time] Cicero mentions it as a Seet whose Tenets (f) vanish'd Sive , fays he, Ariftotelem & Theophrastum . Virtue, and faid, other things are all alike, and not Herilli, one to be wish'd for before another (b) Hu centraorius Aristo Chius prafratius, ferreus, nihi bonum nisi quad resimm atque honestum est. He went farther than the contract of the characteristics of the characteristics. ns Master Zeno, for Zeno did not deny but there were things distinct from Virtue, which were to be wish'd for, though they were not useful towards the acquisition of the Sovereign Good There was little Justiness in that Tenet, though it was less to be rejected than that of Ariston, For who cannot apprehend, that Health is more to be desired than Sicking (g) It I delegate the state of the source of the sou neils, that Health is more to be defined than Sicknels? (1) Ut Arisonic esserves explosa sententia dicentis, nibus sol hil differre alsud ab a'10, ncc esserves ullas præter virtu330 C tes & vitia, inter quas quicquam omnino interesset, sic (b) Id errare Zenonem, qui nulla in re nist in virtute aut vitio in Horpropensionem, ne minimi autdem momenti ad summine creare Zenonem, qui nulla in re nisi in voistute aut vitto in Horpropensionem, ne minimi quiden momenti ad summum tensio abonum adipiscendum esse diceret. Et quum ad beatam pud Novitam nullum momentum ea res haberet, ad appetitionem quim voautem rerum, esse in his momenta diceret quasi vero ce prabac appetitio non ad summi boni adeptionem pertineret siactum. It s no wonder then that this Sect did not last long, (1) Id lib seeing Ariston himiest sell from it in the most sa de de sin vourable Age for his Maxims. He became a I riend fol 235 (k) to Pleatures in his Old Age, when it would have (k) to Pleatures in his Old Age, when it would have D become him much better to have been rigid, and a (k) Athen become him much better to have been rigid, and a (k) Athen Man of Iron, prafrattus & firreus

(F) That might mak Arithppus's Dottime left edical? He faid that a Philosopher might prejudice 1 3 de Auditors who should turn his Words into a bad Sense, that for example, those of Aristippus might become dissolute. Is not this declaring that that p m 669 Philosopher's Doctrine did not produce that Effect (m) Diog but when ill understood (1) Aristo Chius dierer so. Liest 17 lebat, nocere audientibus Philosophos iis qui bene dista n 163 male interpretarentio, posse emim assue x Aristippi, a- (n) See cerbos e Zenonu Schola exire. He should have added that every Doctor is therefore obliged to avoid Ambiguous Maxims, and prevent Falle Glosses.

(G) Works were imputed to him which belong to Arible 10 pag.

(G) Works were imputed to him which belong to Ari- lof pag. fron of Cea] Diogenes Laertius (m) having given the 179, 18 3. Titles of divers Works of our Arifton, adds, that (o) (icer Panatius and Soficrates, after them all except one to de fen the Peripatitick Arifton He does not fay that that Perint the Peripatitick Ariston. He does not say that that Perinate the Peripatitick Ariston. He does not say that that Perinate that was a Native of the Island Cea, but I coninclude that we ought to make him of that Country, brand in because it cannot be understood of Ariston the AlexDiogram, another Peripatetick Philosopher, who liv'd Laert 1 under Augustus, and of whom consequently Penative 7 n 163 us could not say any thing, for (n) it can be provid (q) Cicerthat he was not living in the 650th Year of Rome de sin 1 So that Mr. Moreri is deceived when he says that dis 5 so wers have imputed some Treatises of Ariston of China 239 A to Ariston of Alexandria. The former wrote a Treating has not in Diog vers have imputed some Treatiles of Ariston of Chie 239 A to Ariston of Alexandria The former wrote a Trea-(r) Montise de Senestuse, which Diogenes Laertius has not in Diog mention'd, it may be it was but part of another Laert 17. Book (s) Hunc librum de Senestuse ad se missimus n 163 omnem autem sermonem tribuimus non Tithono us Aristo Thu Note Chius, parum enim esses austoritatus in fabula, sed M of Mr Mecatoni seni quo majorem austoritatus haberet oraisa. Al nage us dabrandiu (s) quotes this Passage of Cicero as 18 it approved debrandin (p) quotes this Passage of Givers as if it approved ought to be read Arise Ceui, but the best Editions in the Cembear Arise Chius. He is wrong then in pretending mentary that Arise of Cea, the Peripatetick Philosopher, is Australy on Cicera thor of the Book de Senetture. He has better grounds de seneture. thor of the Book de Senettute He has better grounds de seneto apply this Place of Cicero to ham (9) Hujur (Stra Aute, tonis) Listas & oratione locuples, rebui issui sejunior edit Gran Concinnus desude & elegani bujus Aristo Sed ea qua. viana desteratur à magno Philosopho gravitan in co non suit Scripta sand & multa & gelita, sed nesces quo patto autoritatem oratio non habet This can only be understroid of a Peripatetick, Philosophical Ariston, wherefore Mr. Menage is to blame (r) in believing, that those Latin words congern our Ariston. (H) Same

(f) Sens tentiæ Aristonis, Pyrrhonis Tufcul ! 5 fol 276

* Id ıb

D 162

(e) Id ib n 163

Con, a Periparetick Philosopher. We shall have some (H) Mistakes of Vossius to re-

As IST (Titus) A Roman Lawyer in the Reign of Trajan, was so Excellent and in Learned a terson, that he ought not to have been forgotten by Morers He was perfect the sail (A) the Common and Civil Law, in History and Antiquity If he ded not willy answer to the Questions that were put to him, it was because he would consider the Master thoroughly before he gave his Opinion He was besides an Enemy to Luxury, and free from all Ostentation, who sought the Reward of a good Action in the Action it self, and not in the Applause of the Multitude. He did not (B) profess see the himself a Philosopher, but some of those who did, sell very short of him in the PraProof of all exice of Vertue He shewed an unparallel'd firmness of (C) Mind in a tedious sit of the sin the Sickness, and † at last desired his Friends to ask the Physicians whether it was possible for Remark A him to recover, and declar'd that if they judg'd him incurable, he would kill himself, † Plin but if he might escape by suffering his Pains ever so long, he would resolve to live, this lib i page. he agreed to at the Intreaties of his Wife, the Tears of his Daughter, and the defire m 67 of those to whom he spake. Pluny the Younger who was one of them, made a good (D) Resection upon this, and expresses the Tenderness of his Friendship (E) admirably The Physicians gave pretty good Hopes of his Recovery Some affirm that Ariston attain'd to a (F) very great Age, but the Proof they bring for it is weak enough He was the Author (G) of some Books.

ARISTO-

(a)Vosiius de Histor Græcis lib 2 C4 p 179 (b)Strabo, lıb 17 Pag 544

> fius it w Sociates

epift 2 lib i pm

65,66

this incle

Words of the 14th Letter of the 8th b

Cum fis

peritiflimus & privati ju-lici

peto ut

medearis 1cientia

tua, cui

iuperfuit

cura lic

jum pub-

(H) Some Mistakes of Vossius] He (a) says, that Arifron of Alexandria, a Peripatetick Philosopher in the time of Augustus, is the Author of a Treatise of the River Nile His Reason is, that Strabo (b) observes he had seen two Books in his time concerning that River, one of them composed by Eudores, and the other by Ariston the Peripatetick But, continues Vossius, there being Two Aristons of the Peripatetick Sect, one of Alexandria, and the other of the Island of Cea Why do I maintain that he of Alexandria composed the Treatise of the Nile because it is more probable that an Egyptian should write of that River than an Islander of the Egean Sea He de-Apollonii

Apollonii

Apollonii want of Lantiness in the Reasoning But besides, that Learned Man may be censured for not having known the true Reason, why the Treatise of the (c) Plinius Wile mentioned by Strabo, ought rather to be afcribed to Arifon the Alexandrian, than to Arifon of the Island of Coa which is that strate speaks of a Book that was published in his time. Now Ariston of Ceastourish'd a long time before Strate, as Vossila himself (f) Aal to acknowledges, for he affirms after Diogenes Laurtins, that P nerius and (1) Soficra es ascribed to that Ariwhich Pliny wrote to Aufton that P netius and (1) Sosicra es ascribed to that Ariflon almost all the Books that past under this Name of ar ston the Stoick L'ord and Hosman have copied all this long Passage of Vossia word for word, not forgetting even to putsocrates instead of Sosicrates (1, He was professly shill d in _____ Law, in History, and in Antiquiry] What Pliny says upon this, and on Aisson's Virtue is so fine, that I shall not lose one Word of it (e) Nibil est ido (Tito Aristone) gravius, sanstius, dostius ut mich non unus homo, sed litera ipsa omnissiue bona artes in uno homine sum-115 & pub- fed liter a ipfa omnis jue bona artes in uno homine sum-lici — mum periculum adire videaniur Qu'im peritus ille Gr privati (f) juris & publici? quantum rerum? quantum exemplorum ! quantum antiquitates tenet ? nihil eft, quod exemplorum s quantum antiquitatis tenet ? nihil est, quod dicere velat, quod ille docer non possit. Mihi certe quoticis aliqued abditum e uaro, ille thesawus est. sam quanta sermonicus esus sides avanta authoritas quim pressa & d corre cun lutio? quid est quod non statim se at? Cramen plevung it histat. Dubitat diversi a e ratioprivata, it ramen plevumque presente Dubitat avversa e ratiolica ut ramm quas aeri mugnoque judicio ab origine caussique privata, it primis rep it discernit, expendit Aa hei quam parintiqua ut cossa victuo quam modicus in cultuo? Solco ipsum culticultura, cultura i spsum ine lettum ut imaginem quandam prisfic rita ut ca fruvilititis, aspicere Ornat hac magnitudo animi, ashidua qua nihil ad oscintationem, omnia ad conscientiam refert tractare refere fasti, non c populi sermone merced m, sid ex fa-

(B) H and not profess himself a Philosopher] His Philosophy was put in practice Two ways, for his Manners were like those of a true Philosopher, and he did not spend his Life in the Solitude of a Closer, ne did not ipend his Lite in the Solitude of a closet, or College, but in the Functions of the Bar Let us hear Pl ny (g) In summa, non facile qui quenquement is if is qui sapicitie studium habitu corporu praserunt, hu coiro comparant Non quidem gymnasia setatur, aut port cus, nee disputationibus longu aliorum ocium, summue delectat sed in toga, negocisque versatur multos advocatione, plures consilio juvat Nemini tamen iso-rum castitate, pietate, justitia, fortitudine, etiam pri-

(C) An unparallel d firmness of Mind in a (b) tedious (h) See the Sickness | Ile lay quiet and orderly in the height of Remark E, his I ever, and torbore drinking though he had a (i) Id ib violent Thirst upon him (1) Mirareris, si interesses, pag 67 qua patientia hanc ipsam valitudinem toleret, ut dolori resistat ut sitim disterat, ut incredibilem sibrilem ardorem immotus opertusque transmittat

(D) Pluny ____ maker a good Reflection upon this] He lays, it is a common thing to run upon Death from an imperiority of Spirit, but a great Mind having deliberated either to live or dye, confiders the Motives on both fides exactly, and by the weight of Reason resolves on one or rother (k) 1d ego ar of Reason resolves on one or tother (k) Id ego ar duum in primis, & pracipua laude dignum puto Nam impetu quodam, & instinctu procurrere ad mortem, commune cum muleis deliberare vero, & caussa esus expendere, utque suaseris ratio, vita mortisque consilium susciperere, vel ponere, ingentis cst animi (E) Pliny expressis the Tenderness of his Friendship admirably. He had a possionate delire to go and enjoy some Lase at his Country House, and to study there, but deprived himself of that Pleasure to keep Ariston Company who had been sick a long time, and he suffered a thousand disquiets at the sight of and he fuffer'd a thousand disquiets at the fight of that Object, which deprived him of the Leisure and Power to lettle to his studies Let us hear himself speak (1) Diu jam in urbe hæree, & quiden attonitus Perturbat me longa & pertinax valetudo Titi Aristoni, quem singulariter & miror & diligo This is the begin ning of his Letter He goes on, The Physicians promise his Recovery May God confirm their Promises and deliver me at last from my Disquiets Lt medici quidem secunda nobis pollicentur Superest, ut promiss deus adnuat, tandemque me hac solicitudine exol-vat Qua liberatus Laurentinun meum, hoc est libel-lo: & pugillares, studio sumque otium repetam Nunc enim nih l legere, nihil firiberi, aut affidenti vacat, aut anxio libet Habes, quid timeam, quid optem, quid etiam in post. (m) Sie rum destinem I relate all this Passage as well to: the Bertrand Honour of Ariston as for that of Pliny the Younger, in vitis jufor there appears in it the Character of a good Distriperator polition, and a proof that Virtue has always found lib a pm netiring places in Cities which have been most coi rupted by long Prosperities, followed by a tedious (n) Pomrupted by long Prosperities, followed by a tedious (n) Pomand cruel Civil War, and by the Government of ponius afTyrants, which was the Case of Rome in that Age from it, so

(F) That Airston attain'd to a very great Age, but the William

Proof J That Proof is taken (m) from Ariston in vitis ving assisted at the Pleadings of Cassius, that is to in vitis say, of Casus Cassius Longinus who was Consul unjuriscons der the Empire of Tiberius Now they reckon 60 1 2 c 3 Years between Tiberius and Trajan, and it is cerpag 123 tainly known that Trajan consulted Airson in a point (a) Guilitainly known that Trajan confulted Arifonin a point (0) Guili-of Law This is Bertrands Argument He is con- el Groti-futed by the Reason that Cassius lived (n) till the Emus ib pire of Vespasian, and that between the beginning of (p) Berhis Reign and that of Trajan there are at most but trand, & 28 Years (0)

(G) He was the Author of some Books] The Pan-Crotius dests make mention of this, and you may see the (a) Aulus Titles of them in both the Authors (p) whom I Cellius, quote See also Aulus Gellius who had read in a piece lib it c of Ariston that all manner of Thests were allowed in 18 p m ancient Eyypt, (a) Id stiam memini legere me in libio 302

(k) Id 1b

(g) Id 1b p. 66, 67

Aristotenes contrucidasfet Bacon. de augm fcient 13 Launoi's Book, de Varia Ariftotelis

(b) Bertrand ubi fupra pag 299 (1) Rapin Comparation de Platon & te, pag m

(i) Id 1b

1) Athen] 8 p 3 5 4 (g) Ælian ir hist] 5 C 9 (h) Apul Luleb Præp 1 15 c 2 pag 791 (1) Ariftofen ex ep Fpicur Ælian 1 5 c 9 Athen (k) Fr Patricius, peripat t i p 3 tarch in Alexanmedicam clausit Timeus apud Suidam in Agisori-

ARISTOTLE, Commonly call'd the Prince of Philosophers, or the Philosophers pher by way of Excellence, was the Founder of a Sect which topped and at last regnere fe turn, especially in this XVIIth Century in which it has been violently shaken, shough haud tuto the Catholick Divines on the one fide, and the Protestant on the other, have run (as posse put to the Quenching of a Fire) to its Relief, and strengthen'd themselves so much by the tabat, not secular Arm against the New Philosophers, that it is not like to lose its Dordinion of fratres sound for many good Materials in a Work of Father Rapin, such as a long time of Mr Morers sound so many good Materials in a Work of Father Rapin, that he has given a very large Article of Aristotle, enough to dispence with my setting a Hand to this Matter Accordingly I don't design to enlarge so far upon it as the Subject might allow, and will be content with noting in the Remarks some part of the Errors which I have collected concerning this Philosopher. I fancy I have discover d some in Father (A) Rapin's Account It is not a certain Fact that Aristotle exercis'd Pharmacy in Athens while he was a Disciple of Plato., nor is it yet more certain that he did not Very little Credit ought to be given to a current Tradition, that he learnt (B) fe-

The Parallel of Plato and indegrand fagues, furth omning the principles of the point of the principles of the point of the fore divide it

I Io say that the Aristotle had for saken his Studies (c) out of meer Libertinism, and abus d his Tuter's Induspence for some time, he succeeded nevertheless in Poetry, witness the Poem which he compos'd on the Death of the Heroes who were kill d at the Siege of Troy, is no very just way of Reasoning, for it fustathus and Porphyry who make mention of that Poem, do not expressly fry that Aristotle composed it in phis Youth, we may think that he wrote it after he had iettled again to his Studies, and then this Poem can be no longer alledged for a Proof of the Progress which he made in 1 oetry, notwithstanding his Li-I Io say that the' Aristotle had forfaken hu Studies which he made in a oetry, notwithstanding his Libertine Inclinations

II To lay that, having by his Debaucheries (e) con-fumed part of the Estate which his Father had left him, he lifted himlest in the Troops of the Republick, is an improper, and a very indeterminate Expression If the question were concerning a Man who was born at Athens, or Lacedemon, that Expression might be well understood, but it's concerning a Man who was a Native of Macedonia A heneus (f) knew but one Author who had faid that Aristotle having confumed his Patrimony, Listed himself, and having found that the Profession of Arms was not his Talent, he went and fold Drugs I he only Author of that Story was Lpicurus It is very likely that Elian (g) had it from him Arificeles (h) who rejected it, quotes only Epicurus Be that as it will, none of the Authors whom I ather Rapin quotes, specify in what Iroops Arisotle served, and all of them range Matters in this Older I irst Arisotle spent his Listate, then he went to the Wars, afterwirds he iet up a Shop, and at last addicted himself to Platos Lectures Father Rapin will have him be at the same time a Druggist ind a Disciple of Plato The Authors whom he (1) quotes, tay nothing concerning this Union of Professions But I don't think he ought to be centur'd for this, for it's likethink he ought to be centur'd for this, for it's likely enough, that after Aristotle had spent his Estate, he was forced to drive a small Trade in Sweet Powder and Medicines in Athens, to subsist himself for sometime. This kather Rapin lays concerning the time in which Aristotle studied Philosophy Francis Patricius goes much further, he believes that Aristotle was Platos. Hearer till the Age of 40 Years, and that he had exercis'd Pharmacy all that time for a Livelihood the Serie constant intercorner ad anadragesimum usus en (k) Satis constat inter omnes ad quadragesimum usque e-Alexandro tatis annum Platonis suesse and quadragesimum usque atatis annum Platonis suesse and iteram, quo universo tem(m) To pore pharmacepolis artenec non etiam medica victum qua ritasse sais est or historia or rationi consonum. He adds, suesciovathat formerly Physicians exercised the Apothecaries Trade, and that Three Reasons persuade that Arixoru, qui stolle was a Physician. He was of a Family for such preciosam a Profession. He composed a Book concerning Health preciosam and socknosse and he exercised descendents to the stua Protession He composed abook concerning reason and Sickness, and he excited Alexander to the Study of (1) Physick, in which that Monarch acquir'd much Light, as well in the Theory as in the Practice Lassy, Patricias alledges the Testimony of Timeus That Historian has spoken very ill of Aristotle, and reproach dhim expressly with his shutting up (m) a Shop of most renown'd Remedies I do not know why I may not he permitted to imagine that know why I may not be permitted to imagine that Timeus fooft in making use of the Epithet πελυτίμω.

TOV Without which I don't see that this Passage of Suides can be reconcil'd with what Eusebius cites Suides can be reconcil'd with what Eusebins cites from the same Timeus. He gives us a Fragment in which a Peripatetick answers several Slanders published against Aristotle, and particularly that of the Historian Timeus, who had said that Aristotle in his cles apud old Age shut up his Shop of Medicines, which was Euseb grown into Contempt (n)" H TW'S AV TO SWOODS, a NOSE 115 C 2 Tugat autor iargeis κ) τως τυχκους, ο ι τ τηλικιας, pag 791 κλείζαι This Passage has been very ill Translated, pag 791 RASICAL This Passage has been very ill Translated, for the Latin Translation makes Timeus say, that Aristotle in his old Age was hired to shut up the Shop of an Apothecary of small Reputation Luis Timeum Tauromenisanum audiat dum suis in historiss silum ant affects sam attate, neglectics obscurie cusuldam Medici officina claudendissoribus praficise sold Age A sine (o) P 304 thing to be Porter to an Apothecary or a Physician, (p) Kaeagerare known to his next Neighbours

III I ather Rapin (o) says, that Clemens Alexandrinus affirms that Aistotle had Conferinces at Asteens with a Jew, with design of being instructed in the Religion of the Egyptians Lusebius has said the same, and Indiano, both believe is on the Testimony of Clearchus the Peripasa. Aestifam tiel Great Abatements are to be made from these own Words, for 1st, all that Clemens Alexandrinus affirms. Clearchus

Words, for ift, all that Clemens Alexandrinus affirms Clearchus amounts to this, that Clearchus the Peripatetick(p) find Peripatehe knew a jew who convers d with Ariffule As for ticus dithe Place and Subject of these Conversations, you cit se nose, must enquire of any one else, rather than of Glemens se quemAlexandrinus 2 It is not true that Lusebius affirms dam Judge. any thing upon this Head, he only citrs the Words um qui any thing upon this Head, he only citrs the Words um qui of Clemens Alexandrinus 3 Clearchus, to whom cum Arione directs us as to the first Source, does not iay that stocele Aristote had any Conversation with a Jew at Athens, versatus but on the contrary, that it was (q) in Asia, neither est Cl does he say that they discours d concerning the Re ligion of the Egyptians, or any other particular Submat 1 1 jest, but spake in a general manner I believe if we p 304 had his Book we should find an exact Account of this (q) Tote Matter in it, but we have only a Passage of it which diagricovwas quoted by Islephus in the first Rook against Asia, Town now was quoted by Josephus in the first Book against Api- Town news on, to shew that the Jewish Nation was not unknown with Ato the Greeks If Father Rapin had consulted the man Originals, would be have said, that to avoid the loss of Nobis time which must have been spent in travelling into Egypt, tum in which was then believed nee stary towards attaining to Asia force Learning, 'tis probablashat Aristotle was satisfied with degentibeing instructed in the Mysteries and Religion of the bus It supportants. Was he not actually travelling in Asia Aristotle when he had those Conversations, if we believe speaks in Clear chus? We shali see in the Remark B whether he shis Book of deserves to be believed. Cleardeserves to be believ d

IV It is not true, that Hermias gave (r) his Sifter chus, de Pitnias in Marriage to Aristotle See towards the end somno of the Remark F

of the Remark F

V Father Rapin's other Faults which I have obferv'd are distributed in the following Remarks

(B) That he learnt many things from a Jew] This Apion & Tradition has no other boundation than the before mention'd Passage of Clearchus That Passage would be of no small Authority, did it certainly belong to that Clearchus who was one of Aristotles most famous C 5 p 410 Disciples But according to all Appearances it belongs to another Clearchus For first of all, the Auplose of the Auplo

apud Jose

yeral Things from a few, much less to the Story of his Conversion to Judaism They who pre-tend that he was a Native few (C) are much more grossy deceived The wrong pointing of a costain Passage occasion'd this Mistake They are deceiv'd who say that he had been a Discrete of Socrates for (D) Three Years successively, for Socrates died 12 or 15 Years before systetle was born Aristotle's Behaviour (E) towards his Master Plate is variously related

(b) Cap 14 apud Jonfium 1b p 107 (c) Ammonius actording to some, Philoponus accord-1 mg to 0thers See the Notes of Nunne-L:fe n 44 (d)In proamio n 9

(e) That's to Say of him who had been

(f) Note

12 offers word for mord the ons of Jonfins.without citing

(g) Jonsius ubi fupra, p 98 (b) De Præp 1 15

P 410

(1) Prouldea always

Witness 18

Buxtorfi-

um citan-te Konig Bibl pag orinted at

Herborn

1 1694

that the fincer e (k) Apud б1 (1) This Book was fineft

the Disci-ple of Ari-stotle that Journey, and he might have done it fincerely, for it's well known that Solinus (b) afferts that Arifoile followed Alexander in the Wars against Darius The (c) Anonymous Author of Ariffoile's Life fays the fame thing 2 If it were true that Aristotle had had many Conversations with so able a Jew 2s he who is mention d in the Passage of Clearchus, would he have believ'd what he says concerning the Original of the Jews Would he have faid that the Jews were descended from the Calains, a People of the Indies, and that they took the Name of Jews in Syria, because they possest a Province that was call'd Judas? This is what Aristotle says in the Passage of Clearchus quoted by Josephus Would his Jew have left him in such a Childish Irro? And should we find so faw Footsbase of Judas and the Taw & No. find so few Footseps of Judes, and the Jewish Nation, in all Aristotle sWritings, after so many shining Lights as the Jew might have communicated to him? 3 We read in Diogenes Laertius (d) that the Gymnosophists descended from the Magi, and that there were some who gave the Jews the same Original These are two different Facts As to the first, the Disciple of Aristotle, But no body is quoted for the Second Is it not true that this was the most favourable Occasion in the World, and the most indispensable of quoting Clearchus concerning that indispensable of quoting Clearchus concerning that pretended Indian Original of the Jewish Nation which is mention'd in Josephus? If the Book de somme, in which Aristotle speaks of their Indian Original, had been the same Clearchus's (e) who is quoted by Diogenes Laertius, would be not have been quoted? I pass over Josephus's other Reasons, f) these three are sufficient to pass over Josephus are that the same full pass over find when heient to persuade me that Aristotle never said what the Clearchus of Josephus would make him say I must therefore come a little into the Opinion of those who take it ill that Cuneus has treated Aristotle fo ill for a piece of Folly which he never was guil-(f) Note, that Schoockius apid Clearchum flatuat Judaes ab India fapientibus effe bulæ Hamelensisc (Schore Language " & cum summa inscitia conjunctum quod Aristo" teles apud Clearchum autumavit, Judzos esse ab

" India sapientibus propagatos, sed nomen muta" visse Quippe philosophos illos qui apud Indos
" Callani appellantur, in cava Syria Judzos dici " Pudet me anilitatis adeo hoc nihilest" It may be objected that Clearchus knew the Jew who had socker much desse of that he must have lived as be objected that Clearchus knew the Jew who had spoken with Aristotle, so that he must have lived at the same time with him, but I deny that Clearchus knew him Josephus does not say it, it is Clemens Alexandrinus adds that Clause, it is likely he quotes by Memory, which is the surest way in the World to pervert a Passage even as to the essential Circumstances See the Carelesness of Franslators, he whomansslated Eusebius (b) renders in Evan by visions: And the Translator of Clemens Alexandrinus is content with nosse. content with noffe One would not necessarily con-clude that an Author liv'd at the same time with another Man, for faying that he knew a Man who had done or faid this or that, because his meaning might be, that he knew the Books in which that Perfon fays fo or so; but when it is faid that an Author had seen such or such a one, the consequence then is (1) plain that they must have been Contemporaries This admits of no Difficulty, and consequently the Translator of Eulebius has taken a Liberty, which being added to that of Clemens Alexandrinus does frangely falify the Confequences which may be drawn from that Passage of Clearchus as Josephus quoted it There are Jews who not only assume that Aristotle had copied Solomons Works, but also that he had made himself a Proselyte of Righteous-word godan'ms was not in use to signify a Scholar, a Disciple, or a Student However it be, as this travelling into Ajia cannot agree with Aristotle's History, it is not likely that one of his Disciples should have feign'd a Matter of that kind in a Dialogue, which he himielf and others knew to be false It's therefore a more Modern Clearchus who supposed ness NOT being fatisfied with this, they have produced a Letter which they suppose he writ to Alexander to give him an Account of his Conversion Which Letter you will find in a Work of Rabbi Geis Ben Jachija, and in the (1) Moderns Theologia related born Read also this Passage of Mr Cousin (m) Father (m) Jour Bartologics, pag 471 of the 1st Volume of his Bibliorheca magna Ravbinica "relates a Story void of all "likelihood which the Rabbins tell us of Aristotle

"Some of them pretend that he was born of the July 1692
"Seed of Israel, and descended from the Children of Coba, of the Tribe of Benjamin Others of them say that he was not originally a Jew, but that towards the end of his Life he embraced their Religion They add, that he has borrowed "all his Philosophy siom Solomon's Books which were found in the City of Jerusalem when it was "taken by Alexander, and that he afterwards burnt
"them to have all the Honoui of the Wisdom they "containd They add moreover, that to justify the "changing of his Religion, he writ a Letter to A"lexander, which is injerted entire in that place of lexander, which is inferted entire in that place of the great Bibliotneque, and in which the Rabbins make him fay that Logick is an Iniquity, that Philosophy is Falshood and Deceit, and that Mi-"fery attends those who study t, because that by denus de means of the Disputations which it leads 'em into they go down to Hell" Mr Silden quotes Jewish Authors who have affirm'd, 1st, I hat a little before Aristicle died, he communicated to his Disciples the Doctrine which he had learnt from the Hell is cap brews concerning the Immortality of the Soul, and the Punishments and Rewards of a future State 2d, That as to all the Points in which his Doctrine contradicted the Law, he was converted and became 1695 another Man by the Instructions of the High Priest, chus Peris Simon the Just (n)
(C) That he was

(C) That he was a Native Jew] See here the ground of this Militake The Ancient Translation of Josephus by Georgel rebizond runs thus, atq, ille, inquit, Aristoteles judgus erat, instead of atquirle, inquit Aristoteles, Judgus erat, Illean this is a ludgum quit Arilioteles, Juaeus erat, initead of atqui ill, in- Judxum quit Arilioteles, Judeus erat Upon this Marfilius II- Judxum Karili Via timony of Charchus Arifosle was a Jew Genebrard Christ reforms me. I that not importe S. heading (2) in- like C. 26 (p) is fallen into the same Mistake, as Jonjus (q) informsme, I shall not imitate Schookkus (r) who has adorn'd himself with these Spoils, without giving the Honour where they rightfully belong But if we understand a Jew by Religion, and not by Nation, the Source of that I alshood must be fearch'd for Peripatenge for the same fo

(D) That he had been a Disciple of Socrates for three Tears successively] The Life of Aristoile, ascribed to Ammonius, or to John Philoponus, contains this Fault The Learned Numnessus who made Observations on that Life, fays, that he found no one among the Genebr Ancients except (1) Olympiodorus, who says that A-Chrono rifiotle had been a Disciple of Socrates He adds, ad ann that Cardinal Bestarion (2) has been in the same Liror, 2670 and that Leonard Aresin in the 6th Book of his Letters, and Octavius Ierrarus in his Work de Sermonibus exosericis, have shewed the Anachronism bus exotericis, have shewed the Anachronism

(E) Aristotle s Behaviour towards his Master Plato
(c) Schois variously reported } Diogenes Laertius (f) says, that ock ubs Plato seeing Aristotle had broke with him, said, He kicks against us as Colts do against their Dams Eli(1) Praxi

(1) Praxi

(2) Praxi

(3) Praxi

(4) Praxi

(5) Praxi

(6) Praxi

(6) Praxi

(7) Praxi

(8) Praxi

(9) Praxi

(10) Praxi

(11) Praxi

(12) Praxi

(13) Praxi

(14) Praxi

(15) Praxi

(16) Praxi

(17) Praxi

(18) Praxi

(kicks against us as Colts do against their Dams Elian explains this Thought of Plato amply He says, the Colt kicks the Dam after being fill d with her giam PlaMilk So Aristotle having learnt the first Philosoplucal Rules and Principles of Plato, and finding (2) Lib i himself well fed with the excellent Pasture wherewith his Master had furnished him, kick'd at him lumniawith his Haster and serving a School to rival his (t) with his Heels, and fet up a School to rival his (t) tor Platonist Helladius who alters the Figures a little, for the makes use of the Comparison of a Horse that the bites his Site (v) 'Apisotenns o the relative of the Laert lib in 2 in 11/2 may of 11 νων πω δισσυμαλω η ο ο ιππ & πον εαυ το φιλου τωτε γιτα Arist εσ εξωνικό Αristoceles Peripatetica princeps schola n Plato (1) Ælian ne equius monatus est quod praceptori contradiceret, equo Var hist formething worse still Flian relates in another place (v) Hella(w) that Aristotle offended Place by his too great dus anud (w) that Arifotle offended Plato by his too great Spruceneis in his Drefs, by his Leering way, and by his talking too much, so that Plato settled his Friend-ship on another of his Disciples Aristotle having form da Party made use of an Opportunity which the Absence of Aenocrates, and the Sickness of Speulippus (who as one may say were Plato's Sword and Buckler) offer'd him, when it was no hard Matter to insulthim Accordingly he went with a great Number of Disciples into Plato's School The good Old Man of 80 Years of Age had almost Fish

(n) Sei Sela pag 14, & is edit Lipi ticus feriplit Arifuisse Ju-Chronol 2670 (9) Jons ubi supra tor Pladius apud related Some will have it, that by a prodigious Vanity and Ingratitude he fet up Altar against Altar, that is, set up a School in Ashens during Plato's Lift, and in opposition to him, others say that he did not set up for a Professor till after he Master's Date. We are told things concerning (F) his Amours which are not altogether to his tage. 'Twas alledg'd that there was Idolatry in his Conjugal Passor and that he had not quitted Athens, a Process of Irreligion which the Priess (G) and moved significant his Memory Aiffeile taking the Advantage of his Mafter's Infirmity, ask'd him feveral Captious Queflions, pushing him in every Post of Logick, and proudly ritumphing over him After that Affront, the good Man taught no more in publick, but kept at home with his Disciples Aristote took Possession of the place. But Venolum at his return to Athens knowing place Bur Lenophon at his return to Athens knowing how things had past, reprimanded Spensippus severely for having suffer'd Aristotle to take Possession of the School, and gave the Usurper so much Disturbance that he made have the property of the past of the that he made him leave the place, and settled the sirst Master in it again. If Arisotle acted thus he described to be detested, but I don't believe the Story is true. His Sectaries have maintain d that he wanted neither Respect nor Gratitude to was a sector. His having been the Author of another fort of I'hilosophy, was no Argument that he was wanting in either. The Platonifts would have been very wrong in requiring him to follow Plato in all things. Did Plato add nothing to the Lights which he had receiv'd from Socrater. However it be, it's affirm details to the Conference of the best of the had not been the social to the light of the had not been the social to the social to the had not been the social to the in the Life of Arifotle, that he did not fet up a School in the Lycaum in his Mafter's Life time, and proved by this Reason that Chabriss and Timotheus, who were both of them related to Plate, and at that time very powerful in Athens, would not have suffered it. They add also, that Aristotle confectated an Altar to Plate with an honourable Inscription, and that he did not teach in Athens till after the Death of Speusippus, who succeeded Plate And last-ly it is observed, that he did not take that Employ upon himself of his own Motion, but at the Sollicitations of the Athenians, who fent Deputies to him for that end The old Latin Translation of that Life of Aristotle, is so netimes more ample than the Original As for I sample, in the Place where the Author denies that Antificile fet up a School during Plates Life, the Translation notes that it is a Calumny of Actionus, and Aristocles The Greek has Plate S Life, the Translation notes that it is a Calumny of Airflownus, and Aristicles The Greek has nothing of this See what Eusebius (a) quotes from the 7th Book of that Arisficiles, you'll there find a Pascic) It would fage of Arisfoxenus which feems to contain that Accusation against Arisfotle in general and somewhat software the season of the se ing confuted divers other Accusations, drops the juffifed ing contitled divers other Acculations, drops the him, it must be Aristocles But in that Lusebius (c) vindicates him entirely from that Reproach I can t conceive why that Jesus that Justifier in Apologists, to subject is for the Life of Aristole which he quoted belongs but to one Author, some fly to An monius, and others to Philoponus

(1) Concerning his Amours] Here's a strange complication of Impurities on this Article The Slanderers report that Ariffolle retired to Hermins, who commanded in Alterna a small Town of Mysia, quidem near the H. Helpont, that Hermias (d) was very cri-deliciasac minally complainant to him, that he made him lufus ipfi- marry his Daughter or Niece, that feeing him in I ove with his Concubine he yielded her to him, that Airflotle was so dotingly in Love with that Woman, that having married her, he offer'd a Sacrifice to her, like that which the Athenians offered to ceres, and that he testified his Acknowledgment to Hirmins, by allymn which he composed in his Honour

Without idvertising my Readers, they will easily perceive that all these Slanders did not proceed from one and the same Pen, fome made one Story, and fome another One of Aristotle's (f) Apologists fome another One of Aristolle's (f) Apologists has observed that they did not all agree in chaiging him with one and the same Accusation, but that each Censor came with his particular Satyr. This it may be said too, that it's a sign there was no good Proof of any thing, for when a grave Accusation has been proved, all they write against the Accused reproach him with it eternally. The same Apologist observes that there were so many Crimes to be found from all the particular Accusations that were form of the particular Acculations that were drawn up against Aristotle, that if but one of them had been true, he would have been punished infallibly by the Judges who were then living His Enemies published among other things, that he had betray'd his (ountrey, and that Letters were intercepted which he had written to the prejudice of the Augmentum (g) To return to Ambrele's Wife, some

(b) faid that it was after her Death the her Husband offered the Sacrifices to her which the Athenians of-fer'd to Geres Arifocle's's Answer 1s, 1 That Apellifer'd to Geres Arifocle's's Aniwer is, i That Apellows's Books concerning the Commerce of Hermias Step 'Apicon's Books concerning the Commerce of Hermias Step 'Apicon's Books concerning the Commerce of Hermias Step 'Apicon's That Arifotle had wholly justified himself as to ofar Tele-his Marriage with Pythia in the Letters which he writt to Antipater That Pythia was the Sister of Hermias, and his adopted Daughter Arifotle made Town The That he did not marry her till after the of Hermias, that the was a very honest Wo-Death of Hermiss, that she was a very honest Woman, but reduced to so deplotation, a Condition by the Death of her Brother that the Bought himself obScribit

the Death of her Brother that me unought nimies oblig'd to marry her out of a regard to Hermias

(G) The Process of Religion which the Priess had thageraus) moved against him | The Circumstances of this AristoteMatter are not known Diogenes I service (1) has only told us that Lurymedon the Priess accorded Aristotely told us that Lurymedon the Briess accorded to the Briess acc of Impiety on account of a Hymn he had composed to Hermias, and an Inscription engraved on the quod Cestatue of the same Hermias in the Temple of Delereri ab phos Phavorinus (k) imputed the Acculation to Athenien. Demophilar It cannot be imagin'd by what Querks of Law the Accusers could draw the lest Shadow of a Proof from the Inscription to Hermiss It con- mortus fifts of four Verses which have no Relation to things uxori fa-Sacred, but are only levell d against the Perfidiousness of the King of Persia to that unhappy Friend tum Ariof Aristotle Atheneus informs us (1) that the ground stocles ib of the other Accusation, to wit, the Hymn composed for Hermia, was unjust, seeing it was no Religious Poem, nor facred Piece, as Demophilus preligious Poem, nor facred Piece, as Demophilus pretended Athenaus adds, (m) that to add more weight to the Accufation, Eurymedon had fuborn'd Demophilus ion of Quality and of great Authority in Annual tr may be he did not fee to the bottom of the Sacerdotal Craft, nor apprehend that Eurymedon the Prieft defired his Countenance only to make poor Authorite C. 15 25 defired his Countenance only to make poor Ariforde c 16 pag the more suspected. He expected that People would 696 Reason after this manner. If only the Priests had WHY accused Arifotle, the evil might be born withal, their Ariffotle great Piety makes 'em subject to be alarm'd at the ought to least thing that touches Religion but here s a Debeasiaid of mophilus who is so seandalized at Aristotle's Blasphethe Priests mies, that he opendy demands Justice against him, his Accu-the Evil must needs be very great. The Hymn sers in question is preserved. It is to be found in Athena. (m) See the and in Diogenes Laertius, and there is not the us, and in Diogenes Laertius, and there is not the Notes of least glance of Irreligion in it. But doubtless the Casaubon Accusers alledged that Aristotle prophan'd the Divine on Athense-Hymns, by using them in praise of a Mortal Man.

They maintain deal of that he sungether Hymne deals. They maintain d (n) that he fung that Hymn daily 98 They maintain d (n) that he lung that riymh daily 984 at his Meals Arifoile not willing to rely on (n) Athen the good Conftruction which might be given p 696 B his little Poem, retir'd quietly to Chalis in (o) Id p Fubes, and pleaded his Caule in writing at a di-697 A. stance Athenaus (o) relates from Words of that A-(p) Diog pology, but does not warrant them to be actually Laert ubs Ariftorle s Phavorinus affirms in Diogenes Laertius (p) jupra n 9. Aristorie's Phaverinus amrims in Diegenes Laerrius (p) lupra n of that Aristorie writ a Speech at that time in the Judi- (q) Nunciary Style, and that he was the first who made such ness not Speeches in his own Cause, or that this was the in vit Affirst time he made em for himself Nunness of risk page. affirms that Seneca de vita beata observes that Aristo- 147 affirms that Seneca de vita beata obierves that Aristo-147 the made but that one in all his Life time. However it be, his furest way was to plead at a difference, for the Accusers were Men who would never have given him any Quarter, but have set all Linguises at sum I i Work till they had found one that would have done of I but I was impossible so great a Wiresche. the Business It was impossible so great a Wit as he should not fometimes laugh at the meanness of the publick Worship of the Athenians, and speak his Mind of the Cheats of the Priests All that he ever had said in Conversation would have been summ'd up together, Witnesses would have been heard, in a word, he would have been overwhelmed beyond rethrieve Beiides, who knows whether at iome time or other a real Imprety might not have drop'd from or other a real Imprety might not have drop'd from him, when ipeaking only of the immutable Great-ness of the perfect Sovereign Being Origen (r. iays that the Astron of Imprety which his Accusers would have brought against Aristotle, was grounded on some of his Doctrines, he iays in (f) another place that it is a Tenet of the Peripateticks, that Prayers and Sacrifices are useless It is likely they grounded that Tenet on this false Principle, that an infinite Wet-

SHValo TH DHEM281

Athenien-fibus fiecere folitum Arı-(1) In vita Aristot

WHY

(m) See the aert ube

Sprains Quem alu quidem lufus ipfius fuille tridunt Diogenes I aert in vie Arift n 3 (c) Arıftippus in in primo de antiquis delicus libro apud Laeitium, 1bid (f) Aristo-

cles apud Lufeb

(e) Aristo-

Prap 1

(a) Prx-

guftified.

(d) () 61 1180 9201

recedi s

par Evangel 1 15

him, might have had the same Consequences as that of Socrates Though magnificent * P Pata Elegies might very justly have been given him, yet it is certain that most of the Fallities dies in a letter from and Errors which concern him, are to be found in the extravagant Praises that have been a Peripaheap'd upon him. As for Example, Is it not a Falshood to say, * That if Aristotle spike in testick to bis Natural Philosophy like a Man, be spake in his Meral Philosophy like a God. And † that it's a Cartesian question, whether in his Moral Philosophy he partakes more of the Lawyer than of the Priest, says that more of the Priest than of the Prophet, more of the Prophet than of the God? I shall in the Remarks glance at some Praises given him (H) which are still greater than these. Cardinal Palawieins scruples not in some measure to consess. That is it had not been for (I) Wit, and Arishale the Church would have wanted some of us Arishale the Church would have wanted some of us Arishale the Church would have wanted some of us Arishale the Church would have wanted some of us Arishale the Church would have wanted some of us Arishale the Church would have wanted some of us Arishale the Church would have wanted some of us Arishale the Church would have wanted some of us Arishale to the Church would have wanted some of us Arishale the Church wanted some of us Arishale the Church was a some of us Arishale Aristotle, the Church would have wanted some of its Articles of Faith The Christians Margin, are not the only People who have authorized his Philosophy, the Mahometans * are Cornel a

(a) Æli-an 1 3 c 36 See al fo Ammonium in Vita Aristot Origen 1 t. contra Celfum Diogen ın Arist ng

(b) Diog

Laert in vit Arist n 8 (c) Ammon in (d) Macrob Sat

1 7 c 6 (c) Medi-

Aquin 1

lecundæ quæst 109 art

a apud Nanda.

um Apol

grands hommes p m 327 (f) Part i de universo spir

C 92 153 & 2 part

c 6 apud

Nande-

328 (g) Apud Sibillam um ib p

1 decad

peregrin quæit a da t Justinncula 4 citante

Naudæo

P 319 (1) Alex-

Neccam

J de Nat tetum aander pud la Mla vertu des Parens, oper

t 5 p

in 12

des

pa. in Thom dom knows at all times what it ought to do, and that it does not alter its purpose according to the Desires or Interests of Men, as if the Divinity needed our Prayers as Notices or Hints not to do that which in our Judgment he supon the Point to do Such a Principle, if not rectify'd by the Lights of Religion, is a most real Impiety Aristotle could never have escaped the Athenian Priests if they had held him to that Point What he Priests it they had held him to that Point What he answer'd those who would know the Reason of his retiring, shews that he fear'd they would find good or bad Proofs against him I would not willingly be an occasion of the Athenians being guilty of a Second Injustice against Philosophy The first Injustice had been the death of Secrates (a) 11eis Te had a TO TRAITE THE ASNUAL, attraption on the Center? A Survey, attraption on the Center? A Survey of Sequence. TEN EIS GIACCOCION TO REI ZANDETHU TENOG EIIIPOwhere is φιλοςοςιαν το κει Σακραπην τασος αιιτομους, κ' τ κατ' αυτον κιν θιων Interroganti cur reliquissit Athenas respondit, quoniam noluissic committere ut Athenienses bis peccarent in Philosophiam obscure Socratis mortem innuens, & sum periculum He made use of one of Homer's Verses, to signify that it was not safe living in a City where the Race of Informers never decreased, but one regularly succeeded another It's reasonable to think that he own'd himtelf guilty of having personally offended Eurymedon the Priest (b) of Geres by some Witty Jest, which kindled the Zeal of this Person, who had let the pretended Impiety of the Hymn lie dormant for 20 Years Now it is more dangerous to offend those Gentlemen in their Persons, than in the Persons of their Gods See the Remark Q, where we shall say their Gods See the Remark Q, where we man their Gods what iome Authors have thought concerning the cause of Aristotle's Flight I have said at the end of the Helychius affirms that he was actually the said of th the Article, that Hesychius affirms that he was actually condemn dandexecuted in Athens Iuse no Hyperbole in the Expression of 20 Years, seeing Aristotlehad taught (c) 13 Years at Athens, when the process of Irreligion oblig d him to retire to Chalcu He did not returnto Athens till he had instructed Alexander, whose dom knows at all times what it ought to do, and Praceptor he was not till after the Death of Hermias (H) Greater Praises of U than those] "Averrees" faid, that before A isole was born, Nature was not fully compleat, that in him it received its last Acformplishment, and the Perfection of its Being, that it could go no farther, that here lay the Exformity of its Vigor, and the Limits of the Huform Woderstanding. Another Philosopher has man Understanding Another Philosopher has outdone Averroes, in saying that Ar flotte was a second Nature These are Balzae s Words in the 459th Page of the Discourses that were printed after his Christian Socrates This puts me in mind of the Scruples of an Author, (d who leeing that Nature her felf subscribed to Aristotle's Notions, durst never doubt of what he had said Reste & was Aristover doubt of what he had said Reste & now Aristoteles, at cetera, nec possum nonassentiri viro, cusus inventu nec ipsa natura dissinti A Spanish (e) Divine says, that without the particular assistance of in Angel or Genius, the Wit of Man cannot pene trate so far into the Secrets of Nature as Ar store has done He must believe then that Aristole had a good or an evil Angel which instructed him in a thousand things to which Human Wisdom could not attain William, Bishop of Paris, maintains in (f) several "places of his Works, that that Philosopher had a "Familiar Spirit for the Director of all his Astrons,

"which he caus d to descend from the Sphere of Vide Nat "nm, by facrificing a Strangled Lamb, and fome o ther Ceremonies" Others have faid that he had no need of fuch Assistances It was the "Opinion of the Famous Divine Henry de Allia (a) The of the Famous Divine Henry de Assa. (g) That Aristotle might have acquir'd as perfect a Knowledge in Theology by the Light of Nature, as that which was discover'd to our First Father when he fell asseep in the Terrestrial Paradile, or Vayer,de " to St Paul when he was fnatch'd up into the Third Heaven " A Council which was held in France under Philip Augustus, caus'd Aristotle's Metaphyticks to be hurnt An (1) English Doctor of the Order of St Augustus, ha, lest in Writing, that two a common Opinion in those Times, that none but Antichrist profat in Eccles should be able thoroughly to understand Aristotle's Books, which he would make use of for the convincing all those who should enter into dispute with the Opinion him Let us finish this small Collection, with a Pasfage of Agrippa, (k) who informs us that the Divines of Agrippa, (k) who informs us that the Divines of Cologne maintain'd that Arifocle was the Fore-runater of the Messias in the Mysteries of Nature, as St Jo'in Baptist was in the Mysteries of Crace De nissimus profess hodie Laiinorum gymnasiorum Doctor, Enquem Coloniess mei Theologi etiam divu adnumei archt, I brumque sub pralo evulgatum ederent cui titulum faccrent de (1) salute Aristotelis, sed Er alium versu Or meto de vita Er morte Ar stotelu quem Theologica insuper gloss illustrarunt, in cusus calce considuent, Aristotelim sii fuisse Christi pracursorem in Naturalinus, quemadmo sie fuisse Christi pracursorim in Naturalihus, quemadmo dum Joannes Baptista in Gratuitis - To Ipeak impartiand without any manner of Piejudice, it may (k) De be faid that those extravarant Panegyrists do Aristo-vanit scie's Memory more harm than good. I hese Words ential c of Tacitus may in some respect be apply'd to them. 54 p. m. (m), pessimum inimicorum gonus laudantes. So many 95 Baleus just (n) Praises may be given to Aristoile, that there is has copy d (m), pessimum inimicorum genue laudantes. So many 95 Baleus just (n) Praises may be given to Aristotle, that there is has copy do no room left to excuse those who not being suitify d this, Cent with them, have added others that are hyperbolical

Why were they not contented to fay that he (a) (1) See the dipt his Pen in good Senfe? This is what all Philo-RemarkR fophers ought to do, if the chief of the Stoicks may (m) I seit be believed. (a) (1) This is seen to be believed. be believ'd (p) 'O Zhi wi ελογεν οπ δεξ τ ειλοσορον in Vita Aels w αποθαπλοντο προστεσεκή τλεξιι Jeno ait men gric C 41 te t notum proferre Philosophum fermonem aebere They (n) 20u ll who would fee a Collection of the Praises given to find a Anistoile, would do well to read George (q) Trebizon I, great ma-Pererise in the first Chapter of the 5th Book de Pr n- ny such in cipiu, Justus Lipsius in the Fourth Dissertation of the the speech-first Book Manuductionus ad Philosophiam Scottam The es of Conderus Angelutius in his Answer to Francis Patricins, & ringlus,

(1) That if it had not been for Aristotle, the Church entituled would have wanted The Author of Cardinal Patta- Aristotewould nave manted | I ne Author of Cardinal Pala-Athlotevicinit's New Gospel does not fail to (r) make the lis laudamost of these Words of the 19th Chapter of the 8th tio

Book, n 13 Di cio si doveva in gran partes obligazione (o) Seethad Aristotele, il quale se non si sosse adoperato in d stinword of guer accuratament ei generi delle ragioni, noi mancavamo Suidis di molti articoli di fede This Encomium puts me in dim, Remind of a Passage of Nieus Eryshreus as great a Flat mark Z, terer of Anssorie as any of 'em. He says that 'twas a arthe bevain Attempt in the Subtle and Learned Patricius ginning to oppose the Dostrine of the Lyceum a Dostrine (p) Plut that can never be shaken, and which will always see its Rivals perish Altius (1) Aristotelis auttoritas rat Phociodiccs egit, quam ut cujusquam vim impetumque pertimos- nis p cat viget simperque vigebit, hominis disciplina, tan- 743 tumque quis ex stimabitur scirc, quantum ex doctrina e jujdem fontibus hauftum, intelligentia comprehenjum habuerit, ac nemo, eus cor sapiat, non satsus effe ducet in Platon & nostra hostes, definit ones, argumentorum copiam, & alia coth 1 praclare dicta multa, tanquam amentatas haftas el 119 c. P. 202 tur, quas illa theologicis lacertis at viribus, de calo / ip-Peditatis, torqueat at vibret Fo act according to the Rules of Sincerity, 1 think my felf oblig to fay that (ardinal Pallac cini doe not advance the Maxim alledged as from himself, nor as an Observation Scherno, of which he would inform the World, but only as ehe di es a malicious Jest of Lather Paul. Its true that he is doveva treats this Raillery as impertment, and ias s that the in gran Councils in which Sulfance, Pe sim and Hypeslass partellowers so substituting in the main treatment of the substitution of at it. Father Paul having let down the Decice of O See the Sixth Session, shews what it was that had been P Rapin's centurd in it and among other things tays, that K fl d one they who were vers'd in local inflical History, ob- on Philipatery'd that all the other Councils put together had pry, p are Z 2 1 Det

little Lapide † This is ther great Wt, accoraing to P See P Rapin, de Plar & d Aria ftore p

> Suid is be-Comparat (1) Maquale itoltizia & quello che di cor

4 In the tempted to m vintain Theses publickly against the and forbad all Persons to publish, fell or wend the propositions contain'd ın these Thefes on Pain of cerporal punishment, to teach any Max-12715 COM-

the ancient approv'd Authors

on pain of Death

Mercure

I rancois,

504 See theRemark I at t lop

the end

(v) Fra Paolo l 2 ad ann 1547 Pm is found in the 211th Page of A. melot s Ver from, (a)Rapin, compar de Plat P 413 (b) La Mothe le Vayer, de desPaiens t 5 p (c) Ir thou dhave o en Al-

not Albu-

malar

(d) Le

12 P 245

su shead

Work s

little less preposses'd with it, and we are told, that to this Day (K) they have S riario24 the Parlie ament of Paris ban nift'd out of itt Jurifdiction there Perion
there Perio cusable than the Doctors For whether the Members of Parliament were really perfuaded, as it's very likely, that that Philosophy was the best of any, or whether they were not, the Publick Good might have induced them to prohibit the New Opinions, for fear the Academical Divisions should spread their malignant Insluences on the Tranquility of the State That then which ought most to amaze Wise Men, is, that the Pro-Aristotle, fessors should be so surrously preposses'd in favour of Aristotle's Philosophical Hypotheles. Had that Prevention been limited to his Poetry and Rhetorick, there had been less cause of Wonder, but they have been fond of the weakest (M) of his Works, I mean his Logick, and Natural Philosophy. This (N) Justice though must be done to the blindest of his Followers, that they have quitted him where he classes with Christia-

not decided so many Articles as that Session alone in which Aristotle had had a great share (v) In che ha veva una gran parte Aristoteli, coll haver distinto effattamente tutti i generi di caufe, a che, le egli non si fusse adoperato, noi mancavamo di molti articoli di fide The Remonstrances (a) of the Sorbanne, upon which the Remonstrances (a) of the Sorbame, upon which the Parliament of Paris made an Order against Chymists in the Year 1629 containd, that they could not clash with the Principles of Aristies Philosophy without classing with the Scholastick Theology which was received in the Church

(K) That to this day the Mahometans have.

Schools for that Sett | "The (b) Perspatetick Philo"fophy is so much settl'd every where, that no o"ther is read in all Christian Universities. Even
"these which are forced to receive the Impossure.

those which are forced to receive the Impostures " of Mahomet, teach the Sciences no other way than "according to the Principles of the Lycam, to which they are so bewitch'd, that Averroes, Alfa"rabius, (c) Almubassar, and divers other Arabian "Philosophers have often swerved from the Opinions of their Prophet, that they might not contradicts those of Ariforle, whom the Turks have got trans-"thole of Arifforie, whom the sures have got conse"lated into the Turkish and Arabian Languages, as Belonium (1) relates "The Author from whom I borrow these Words, says in another (d) Volume, that according to Oleanius's Relation, the Persians have all Aristoric's Works explain d by several Arabian Commentators, who commonly call his Philosophy the Goblet or Drinking-Cup of the World Bergeron, fays he, observes in his Treatife of the Tattars, that they had Aristotle's Books translated into their Language, 234 e lit had Aristotle's Books translated into incir Lungungs, 1639 Thu teaching his Dollrine, with as much submission as ean be it found in done here, at Samarcand, an University of the Great Moshe 211th guls, and at present the chief City of the Kingdom of Usbec.

Page of A.

(L) Durst not say translate, I fany Person think sit to contest this I act, I refer him to divers Philosophical Courses, printed in the 16th Century, where the Method set down here is found to have been in use, the Author proves his Thesis first by Authority, and afterwards by Reasons I he Authority Proofs are Passinges out of Aristotle The Aniwer to the Objections comprehends also two parts I irst, Satisfaction given as to the Passages of Aristotle which seem to oppose the I hesis, and which are Authority Proofs for the other Party Afterwards a satisfaction. taken never to fay, I own that Arifosle believed to and fo, nevertheless I deny that my Thesis wherein I muntain another Doctrine is false All Endeavours are made use of to give the objected Passages fuch a Senie as may agree with the Matter in que-fition. The fame Method is still in use among those of the Church of Rome in the Theological Schools, with regard to St Augustin and I homas Aquinas

(M) The Weakest of his Works, I mean his Logick, and Natural Philosophy | To be convined of the Weakneis of his Works, on- need only ice Gassendi in his (c) exercitationes paradoxica adversus Aristoteleos He lays enough in it against Aristote's Philosophy in ge-(e)They are neial, to perswade every unprejudic'd Reader that to be found it is very desective, but he ruins that Philosopher's I ogick particularly He was preparing also to criticide his Natural Philosophy, his Metaphysicks and Moral Philosophy the same way, when alarm d at the formidable Indignation of the Perpaterick Party against him, he choic rather to drop his Work, than expose himself to their vexatious Perfecutions. He was preparing also to cri-

Note that no one pretends to deny but that in Arifistle's Logick and Natural Philosophy there are found many things which discover the Elevation and Profoundness of his Genius This one may agree to, and at the same time judge that there are Hyperboles in the Praises of (e) Casauban, and in this Passage of I ather Rapin, "Nothing appear d regular or fixed in Logick before Aristotle (1) That lar or fix'd in Logick before Ariffolie (1) That Genius fo fraught with Reason and Knowledge, searches so deep into the Abyss of Human Wit that he penetrates all the Secrets of it, by the exact distinction which he has made of its Operations This vast source of the Thoughts of Men had not yet been sounded to the bottom Ariffells was the first who discover'd that new Way to attain to Science, by the Evidence of Demonstration, and "by proceeding geometrically to that Demonstration genere in the way of Syllogism, the most accomplished acripta Work, and the greatest Effort of Human Wit υθλον κ This is in Miniature the whole Art and Method Φλινεφον of Arifotle's Logick, which is so very sure a one, pre Ari-"that there can be no perfect Certainty in reasoning morelis but by this Method, which is a certain Rule for Organo thinking right on what we ought to think of the Theorem That Philosopher's Treatise of Syllogisms may be omnia prais'dto its defert, without uling any such extravagant Expressions I here are several most sublime Que-Lxpressions I here are several most sublime Questions in his Natural Philosophy, which he discusses, and clears like a great Master, but in short, the sense main, the gross of that Work is good for nothing, aut de resistant, the gross of that Work is good for nothing, aut de resistant, the gross of that Way which the most like it is drifted a soft for saking the Way which the most like it is drifted as for saking the Way which the most like it is drifted to saking the which happen in Nature are only a new Disposition longe suppose the Particles of Matter, they admitted no General Perivit which happen in Nature are only a new Disposition of the Particles of Matter, they admitted no Generation, properly speaking. This was the (g) 100 Casaub in Strine which he rejected, and by so doing exposed himself. I or he was now oblig'd to teach that new Beings are produced, and that others are destroyed, he distinguished them from Matter, he stored that new Beings are produced, and that others are destroyed, he distinguished them from Matter, he stored that new Beings are produced that new Beings are produced, and that others are destroyed. gave them unhear dof Names, he affirm'd or tup. Horeles pos d things whereof he had no diffinct Idea Now utriutque it is as impossible to Philotophize well without the Partis di-Evidence of the Ideas, as to ful well without the alectice.

Polar Star, or the Compais To be void of princeps that Perspicuity is to be beside one's felf, it is to Cic I mutite a Travellerin a strange Countrey without Top a Guide, or grope in a strange House by Night with-out a Candle Every one knows the many sterms. Research out a Candle Every one knows the many Forms Reflex and I aculties diffined from Subflance, which with fur la Lite's Sectaries have introduced, he had open'd them Bique n that Maze And if in the 17th Century Natural Philosophy began to appear again with a new Luftre, 'twas by the restoring the Ancient Principles which he had forsaken, and by insisting on further ent Evidence In short, 'twas by excluding the great number of Entities of which our Mind has sto manner of Idea out of the Doctrine of Generation, de generatione & and flicking to the Figure Motion, and the Situal rations & tion of the Particles of Matter Things, of all which correspond we have a clear and distinct Conception

(N) This Justice must be done to the blindest of his Se-Estates.) Not that I intend to enter into a Dispute with Luther in behalf of the Divines of Cologne. He reproaches them and those of Louvain also with de-fending or softning Aristotle's greatest and most in reproaches them and those of Louvain also with defending or softning Aristotle's greatest and most Impious Absurdaties by their forced Interpretations (h) Aristotlem ipsi in summo essential provides the interpretations of distume essential absurdance we alien a nostra religione guantumwis longe petita circumvestiant, quo sus illi essential fer honor atque nominus existimatio. What I a conflet hones etque nominu existimatio iffe (So-CiOs in Logica) no Araflotele & corum lium inper ivit (f) Rapin. fur la Lo-4 p m.

(O) 4s

hity. And this he did in Points of the greatest Consequence; seeing he maintain'd the Eterhity of the World, and did not believe that Providence reach'd to sublunary Beings in the Break to the Immorphism of the Soul (O), it is not certainly known whether he acknowledg'd face to the face no. We take notice in another place of the long Disputes which have reign'd note of the continuity of the Year 1647, the Renown'd Capuchin Valerian Magni Wittisht on the maintain and publish da System of Philosophy, in which he discover'd several Insecons in the profice of the maintain'd the same in his Book de reductione ad Religions. Which was approved at Rome the Investigation of the Investigation of the Investigation in his Book de reductione ad Religions. maintain'd the same in his Book de reductione ad Religionem, which was approv'd at Rome the Invein the Year 1630 It was not long tince maintain'd in Holland in the * Prefaces to some fligatio epistolæ Books, that the Doctrine of that Philosopher did not much differ from Spinozism In the mean time, if some Peripateticks may be believ'd, He was not ignorant (P) of the dument, Mystery of the Trinity. He died the Death (2) of the Righteous, and enjoys (R) of the same Liternal Happiness. He composed abundance of Books, a considerable part of which duthor are come to us. It is true, that some Criticks raise a thousand Doubts about this matter We shall say something of the Fortune of those Books, in the Remarks † on the † Sic above Article Tyrannian. He was extremely honour'd in his (5) Country, and there have been the Re-

(a) It's in tion of his (6) Lib de Lnfal feet 2 c 3 n 19 apudNaud'rum ubi fupra p 3 18 (c) He cites Philopo-Life of Ariftotle. (d) He cites Plurarch & Diog. c 2 num npud Naudæum p 329 Lib 2 de compar Ariftot & Plat apud cundem

(O) As to the Immortality of the Soulit it not certainly the 4 to (O) As to the immortality of of the I di- known whether he believ d is] Pomponatius and Ni-lon this Subject The phus have had a great Quarrel on this Subject The first maintain'd that the Immortality of the Soul could not confift with Ariffotic's Principles, the lat-ter engaged to maintain the contrary See the Difter engaged to maintain the contrary See the Discourse of (a) la Mothe le Faier on the Immortality of the Soul, and Bodin in the 15th Page of the Pretace of the Demonomania

(P) Aristotle was not ignorant of the Mystery of the Trinity | Emanuel do Moura (b) disputing against those who accuse Aristotle of Athersim, says ist That a (c) Woman wheether Oracle of Apollo 2 That he order'd (d) by his last Will, that the Effigues of certain Animals which he had yound for Nicoran's tain Animals which he had vowed for Nicanor's Health, should be dedicated to jupiter and Minerva
3 That he confesses in the first (e) Book of Heaten, and the World, Se cum alis obtuliffe Distrina facrificia in recognitionem trina perfectionis in eis inhe believ'd the Existence of Devils, and was super-ficiens, but that he also conceived a Trinity of Persons Naudaum

(f) Tom

2 tract

23 n

3 pud

Methods, out that he also conceived a Frinity of Persons min the Unity of Substance, as 'almer's would have it, (f) and George Trapezontrus before him (g), who wrove a whole Book about the Conformity of Aristotle's Doctrine

whole Book about the Conformity of Aristotle's Doctrine

whole Book about the Conformity of Aristotle's Doctrine

all this, observes, That I manuel de Moura manifessly fathers a Falshood on Philoponus, who fays no more, ac cording to the Greek Text, and the Old Translation, which are continued to the Greek Text, and the Old Translation, which agrees with that of Nunelius, than that Aristotle having attain'd to the Age of 16 Mort, was advis'd by the Pythian Oracle to addit himself chiefly to Philosophy——Naudaus says, that the Three Sacrifices phy— Naudwus fays, that the Three Sacrifices which he offerd to the Gods, and the knowledge of the Trinity, which many Catholick Doffers afteribe to him, "are meer Chimera's which have taken their Origi-" nal and Foundation from that which he tays in his "first Book of Heaven, speaking of the Ternary "Number; Διο Φρα τουσως είν προτες ώστες τουκες τουκ " ra numero sumpto perinde atque quadam illius lege, & "in Deorum sacrificus celibranais uti solemus From which Passage nothing more can be inferr'd, than "that Aristotle fays that in his Time they made use "of the Number Three in the Sicrifices, which is "also testify d by Theocritur" Afterwards Naudeus differes that Cardinal Bestarion (1) laughs at I 12-personalists for taking so much pains to prove from that I cut that Aristotle had a full knowledge of the Irinity

The Modern Schoolmen will bate nothing of their Pretensions See Piccinardi, Professor in Padua in Pretentions See Piccinardi, Professor in Padua in Degmata Philosophia Peripatetica. The Journal of Industrial Philosophia Peripatetica. The Journal of Industrial Philosophia Peripatetica. The Journal of Industrial Indust Nature of Man, to the end that they might enlighten Human Kind These were Glimpies of the su-ture Incarnation of the Son of God (k) Predictum & illud monumentiseft, quum philosophus hie extrima fi-bi ingruere prasensiffet, dulore ac fpe in lacrymas amplius profusum prima causamiscricordiam intentius amplius Quis & Homers sententiam ex Odisea velicementer ap-probose, qua non este immortalibus aus indecorum pronunciatur kominis inducre naturam, quo ab erroribus sevocen-sur mortales Qua in re CHRISTI prasinsisse adwentum augurantur nounulk efus viri glorie in primis addiffie This we read in Calius Rhedizinus His Hereticks marks of the Authority in Matters of this nature is good for no thing. Others speak very differently of Arifotle's Andronial Last Hours (1) "They say that he dy at ot Vex-" atton that he could not comprehend the cause (1) P. Ra-" of the Flowing and Libbing of the Faringer Upon "ation that he could not comprehend the caule (1) P Raof the Flowing and Libbing of the Furipus Upon which fome Moderns invented a Fable which has who cites been much in vogue, that that Philosopher threw himself into the Euripus with their Words, List

"himself into the Euripus with their Words, List
"Euripus receive me, seeing I cannot conceive the Euripus adm ad
"Euripus receive me, seeing I cannot conceive the Euripus "Diogenes Lacritus (m) quotes an Author Gentes
"pus "Diogenes Lacritus (m) quotes an Author Greg Chalcis poison'd humself there at 70 Years of Age Aoallodorus (n) seems to me more worthy of cre-Apollodorus (n) feems to me more worthy of credit, who fays that this great Man dy d of Sickness Sec also Rhodigin at the Age of 63 Years

(R) And enjoys Eternal Happiness | Sepulveda (0), As to the one of the most Learned Man of the 16th Century, Citations 9

made no scruple to place him among the Blessed, and maintain'd his Opinion publickly in Writing The Jesuit Gresserus (p) rebukes him too his Presumption, but confesses that he's inclin'd to savour Aristotle as much as sepulvidas, whom he diapproves only as to his confident manner of Speaking Add to this what I have quoted from Calius Rhodiginus, and what confiderable Persons have observed corrections the Reason that obliged Aristotle to leave A. (6) Lib Albertus Magnus maintain'd that they expell de anim him thence for his Good Qualities; Propter morum p apud la restitudinem pulfus (q) - thenis Greefer (r) in his Diipute with Sepulveda al out Arifotle's Salvation, does Vaier, t 5. ipute with Sepulveda al out Arifiotle's Daivation, noes put question but he intended by that voluntary B nishment p 114. to avoid the Neeffity to which they would have reduced (p) Apud him, of giving that Worship to Idds which he believed to evind la be due to God alone. Thus we have in his Person an Mothe w Vaier, ib. has favourably (s) interpreted that I light of Aristote, (g) Lib for when he explains the Precept which our Saviour gives his Apostles, to fly when persecuted, from one City to another, he tells Celsus who it coff d at it with pin. 0.21 his usual Prophanencis, That Aristotle's withan awing himfulf as we have mention d, was conformable to the luvangelick Morality, and that being calumniously possess cell Luth tod, he did what JLSUS CHRIST advised his CIR

Disciples to do
I have quoted (w) a Passage of Agripps where mention is made of a Book de Salute Arifforelis foetus who had to vaft a knowledge of Books, had never feen it, but knew pretty near the Time of its Impression he tays in a Theirs maintain d by him the 15th of December, 1638 that it was printed it Oppenheim about 14 Years before, and that Francis Junius had seen a Copy of it (w) He adds, that one Lambertus de Monte, Author of a Commentary on A

10 V - 3 1b riffetle's Natural Philotophy, (where in the Year 14 6 (v) In the he is call d Doctor in Divinity) had writ of that Philosopher's Salvation Quaftionem Magistralem fatis acutam faripfiffe, oftendentem per autoritates ferip una di-Vina, quid juxta fanivem dottorum sententiam probabili-us dici possit de falvacione Anistotelis Stavine (A) You'll find in a Piece of Work de Piet its Anistotelis (x Id ib erga Deum & hominem, which foitun us Luctu dedi-ex Av 2. cated to Innocent the acti, and which was approved at the hy two Conneced Lagrangian by two General Inquistors, divers Reasons by which he enderwours to move that design is not demond. he endeavours to prove that Ariffelle is not damn d

(S) Extremely boson d in his Countre | It had been ruin'd by King Philip, but at Ariffolds Request was rebuilt by Ale ander In acknowledgment of the Great a Benefit (v) the Inhabitan s conficient of the Ariffolds of the Ariffol was rebuilt by ale ander to acknowledgmene of to great a Benefit (y) the Inhabitan's conficent to a leftival to that Philosopher; and when he as a second of the confidence of Colchie, in the Island of Euomea, they transported nis Bones thither, they built an Aleas over his I on hithey call'd the Place Ariffette, and kept their Anemohee tra Jul Citations of P Rapin See theke mark 4 c 1 ap Ra-Mothe la Vaier ib (s) Lib. contra (w) Gilb. Voet difp

(4) Cal Rholig 1 27 C 34

(1) Cap

Lo silver-

lumnur.

* Rapin, compar de Plat & d'Arıstote p particular ruling and diretting Virtue to Hereticks who honour'd (7) his Image in conjunction with that of Jesus Christ, I no where find that the Antinomians bare more Respect to that wise Pagan, than to the uncreased (b) Fines Wisdom, * nor that the Actians were excommunicated, for giving Aristotle's Categories for denique Catechism to their Disciples But I have read somewhere or other, that before the Reformation cuique curque of their Disciples But I have read ionnewhere or other, that before the Reformation curque there were Churches in Germany, where Aristotle's (V) Morals were read every Sinday to Quanam the People, instead of the Gospel. There are but sew Demonstrations of Zeal for Religion, that have not been given to the Peripatetick Philosophy Paul de Foix, samous to terminate for his Embassies and his Learning, would not the Francis Patrician at Ferrara, because he was informed that that Learned Man taught a different Philosophy from the Peripaterick and his Learned Man taught a different Philosophy from the Peripaterick and his Learned Man taught a different Philosophy from the Peripaterick and his Learned Man taught and the Learned Man taught for several Centurities of its no wonder that the Peripatetick Philosophy, as it has been taught for several Centurities, should find (X) so many Protectors, or that the Interests of it are believed to be the rich laurences, inseparable from those of Divinity, for it accustoms the Mind to acquiesce without Evireligences, inseparable from those of Divinity, for it accustoms the Mind to acquiesce without Evivaria Afor the Do- dence This Union of Interests ought to be a Pledge to the Perspateticks of the Immorristotelies tality of their Sect, and an Argument to the New Philosophers for abating their Hopes Considering withal, that there are some Doctrines of Aristotle which the Moderns have lift of their considering with al, that there are some Doctrines of Artistotic winderwhat rejected, and which must, soon or late, be adopted again. The Protestant Divines passages have very much alter'd their Conduct, if it be true, as we are told, that the first (r) (k) Comever, and Reformers clamourd so loudly against the Peripatetick Philosophy. The kind of Death Plat Porthaut a which there Mandeville (a) in his Fabulous Relation of his Travels fays, that all this was in being in his Time, to wit in the 14th Century

(1)There have been Hereticks who honour'd his Image fatisfy the 1s a Passage of Father Rapin "(b) The Carpocratifatisfy the is a Passage of Father Rapin "(b) The Carpocrati"ans (1) were condemn'd for having placed that
"Philosopher's Image next to that of JESUS "CHRIST, and for having ador'd him, from an "extravagant Teal for his Doctrines The Actians
"(2) were excommunicated by the Church, and by "the Arians themselves from whom they sprung,
"for giving Aristotle's Categories to their Disciples (a) Itine"instead of a Catechism And the Antinomians (3) rer c 2
"came to that Excess of Impiety, as to bear more apud "Respect to that wise Passas, than to the uncreated apud "Respect to that wise Pagan, than to the uncreated Hornium "Wisdom." I never was so much convinced as by hist phistophist this Passage, that that agreeable Writer did not give himself the trouble of confulting Originals C 15 P Confess Baronius says under the Year which Father I confess Baronius says under the Year which Father Rapin quotes, that the Carpocrasians had Images, and among others, that of JESUS CHRIST, (which they said was procured by Pilate), that of Pythagoras, that of Plate, and that of Aristele, and that they gave them the same Veneration as the Pagans gave to their Idols But this ought not to have been alledged For besides that Baronius no where says that these Hereticks were condemn'd on that Score, it does not appear that they had more Zeal for Arifietle's Doctrine than for that of the other Philos Aripotes Spottine than for the other Philosophers whose Images they venerated My Edition (c) of Baronius does not contain one Word of what Father Rapin mentions under the Year 208 Nor is it possible that Persons who sprung from the Arians, should be excluded from the Communion of the Church in the beginning of the 3d Century It is under the Year 256 that Baronius speece of Arians who was a speece of Arians and the Communication of the Speece of Arians and the Spe It is under the Year 356, that Baronius speaks of Ac-fius he quotes a long Passage of Suidas, in which we find not that that Heretick gave his Sectaries Aristo-tle's Casegories for a Catechnim, but that he explain-ed things to them according to the Method of Aristotle's Categories Meaning that he was very well versed in the Dialectical Disputes and Subtilities Just as if at present a Spanish Schoolman who undertook to explain a Point of Faith, should follow the Method of the Schools, Might it therefore be faid that he substituted Aristotle's Works in the room of our Books of Religion. To quote Eusebius in the 27th Chapter of his History, is an unwarrantable way of > any thing of the Antinomians (V) Aristotle's Moral Philosophy. the Gospel | I shall quote my Author, it's Mr Span-beim the Father in the (d) Secular Oration deliver'd by him at Geneva in the Year 1635 Quin & Philip pus Melantibon, says he, (e) vir candid ssimus testatur diebus Dominicis variis in locis pro thematibus Dominica-libus, inde a Karoli Matate opera P Guarenfridi seculo o Tavo in Cathedras Ecclefiasticas introductis, Ethica Aristotelis publice populo pralesta, & a se Tubinga in a-gro Wirtenburgico audita If another Witness be de-manded, and Magirus will serve, I shall produce him Tubing a quondam Monachus, iays he, (f) pro concione Arifotelis librum Ethicorum explicavit, ita vulgo dicebat, quemadmodum Johannes Baptista Christi pracurfor suit in Theologicalibus, ita Aristoteles suit pracurfor Christi in Physicalibus (g)

>
> (X) That Veripatetick Philosophy finds so many Proceedings.] If all those who have embraced the Philoquoting I do not think that this Author has faid phy of Mr Descartes had been endued with that sage (1) He Moderation which makes a Man stop when he has speaks of attaind to such a certain Point, if they could have Aristotle. discern'd (b) what was to be utter'd, and what kept (m) How in petto, they would not have raised such a Clamour can be say against the Sect in general. The Method of the An-shat he cient Masters was grounded on good Reasons They had Doctrines for the Commonalty, and Doctrines gainft the for the Disciples initiated into the Mysteries Be Church of that how it will, the applying or endeavouring to Rome in accommodate Mr Defiarter's Principles to the Do- the XVI ctrines of Religion, has done a great Prejudice to Century his Sect, and stops the Progress of it This is an (n) Reflealmost unavoidable Case The Ancient Fathers (1) ctions sur complain'd heavily of Ariffotle's Sect, and it is almost a general Complaint, that Philosophy does informed pury to Religion But on the other side it is certain that Theology wounds Philosophy They are two (1) Tolle Faculties that would feldom agree about their just Thomam Bound, if the Secular or Ecclesiastical Powers which & Ecclearo always in the Interest of the former, did not take siam Ro-

the necessary Precautions (Y) If, as we are told, the first Reformers clamour d fo lubverloudly against the Peripatetick Philosophy | Here's at am Bunother I assage of Father Rapin, "Nothing (k) did cer Le P. "more honour to that (l) great Man's Doctrine in Rapineus the last Century, than the heinous Investives of Luther, Melantihon, Bucer, Calvin, Postel, Paul, (m) de citer le Sarp, and all those who writ against it, and against livre & la the Church of Rome For they complain against page de Aristotle only because the solidity of his Method Bucer gives the Catholicks a great advantage to discover (2) Ex the Subtilties and Artifices of the Falle Reason- Nicolao "the Subtilities and Artifices of the Falle Reason"ings which Herely makes use of to disguise Error, Blesdikio
"and destroy the Truth In another Piece that in histor.
Author does not speak so much at random, nor with so sew Proofs He says, St Thomas (n) made use Georgii of Aristotle's Method with so much success, for explaining the Dostrine of the Chuich of Rome, that Hist Philaming the Dostrine of the Chuich of Rome, that Hist Philaming the Gay, (1) Let St Thomas t Works be suppressed, and I will destroy the Church of Rome. "It was in Arist that Method taken from Aristotle, which made the Dostrine of our Religion so terrible to all the In"novators of these last Centuries, who being una"ble to resist it, endeavour'd to cry it down by exclaiming against the Schoolmen, and chiefly aexclaiming against the Schoolmen, and chiefly a-gainst Aristole, whose Method they had former-ly borrow'd, and which has been adopted in the stultifica-Schools ever fince St. Thomas's Days. The (2) (6) We expended in the file Schools ever fince St. Thomas's Days. The (2) (6) We expended to those of the state of Philosophy in general suspected to those of an iss prother Sect, in all the Northern Parts where they had per place, Authority, and to this end they made use of St. that Me-Paul sWords to the Colossians, to interdict it in their landthon Schools. Luther, 2) declar dum fellowish for much was a Fac-Schools Luther (3) declar d himself with so much heat against Aristo le's Philosophy, that in some vourite of Theses which he maintain'd at Heydelbergh, in Aristotle the Year 2518, he advanc'd that they could not (4) Null argue according to that Pagan's Principles, with lo spud out forfaking the Maxims of the Wildom of J L. Lutera-S U S C H R I S T, and flipt no Occasion in his Noisk of inveighing against that Philosopher In which he was followed by Zuingliui, Peter Martyr, Zanchiui, (6) Melantibon, and all those who have opposed the Doctrine Rollow of Rome Lib 9 Lo-SWhich (1) week Marty Corne Police of Rome Corne Theory of the Corne Theory Which (4) made Milebier Conus, Bishop of the Ca. cor "naries, the most eloquent of all the School-men, say, ol c 3
"I hat the Lutherang had a great Contempt for Philo"sophy,

(4) Nullio spud

each Planet can never

197 (b) Com-par p 392 (1)Baron Ann Eccl ad Ann 120 (2) Ibid ad ann 208 (3) Luseb Hist c (c) C'est celle d Anvers 3597

(d) K's intituled Creneva restituta (c) Pag (f) Mag in Epon (ritico, (g) He istesGreg Michael in not ad Jac Gaffarelli curiosit in-

audit p 100

which in some Respects may make most for the Honour of Aristotle's Memory, is saywhich in some Respects may make most for the rionour of Assignment Memory, is laying that his Version (Z) at not being able to discover the Cause of the Flux and Relive and the Distemper of which he died Some say *, that belies a some say *, that belies 15 ingressed in the Island of Eubaa, to avoid a Process against him on the score no factor of Institute and Inst his Father-in Law, but also that he swallow da Hemlock Draught in execution of that 1605 Sentence If this were true, it would have been mention d by more Authors See the and in that Remarks G and Z

The Number of Ancient and Modern Writers, who have labour'd on Aristotle, either procured by to Comment or Translate him, is endless A List of them is found in some of the William Editions of all his Works, but it is not compleat See also a Treatise of Father Libbe, du Valentitled, Aristotelis & Platonis Gracorum interpretum typis hactenus editorum brevis conspectus, and which printed at Paris in the Year 1657 in 4to. Mr Teissier a names four Authors who have wrote Aristotelas Lise, Ammonius, Guarini of Verona, John James Beurerus, and I conard a In Bibli Aretin. He forget Jerome Gemusaus, Physician and Philosophy Professor at Basil, Au-Biblioth thor of a Book, de vita Aristotelis, & ejus operum censura.

ARISTOTLE, a famous Architect in the 15th Century, was of Bologna, and Albeitus of the Family of the B Alberti. One of the most remarkable things related of him, is, indescrip of the Family of the & Alberts One of the most remarkable things related of him, is, indescrip that he could transport an entire Stone Tower (A) from one place to another John Italia, p . Bushledes, Great Duke of Muscowy, sent for him y, and employ'd him for the building of m 516

" fophy, that was then taught in the Schools Calvin " never mentions Aristotle but with all the Tartness " and Bitterness of Stile, wherewith his Genius, which was naturally Violent and Slanderous, infpir'd him. As did also all those who writ in the " latter Centuries against the Church of Rome

(Z) His Vexasson at not been able to discover] That manner of Death would be a Proof of Aristotle's infatiable Passion to dive into the Secrets of Nature It would denote an extraordinary Ambition in him to teach Mankind the most hidden Mysteries Would not this be dying in the Bed of Hories Would not this be dying in the Bed of Horizon four? Would it not be applying himself to his ldv καλα Function with a firm Resolution to compass his μου ωτοΕρεχον εις on that they who have faid that Ariffeele's Genius way had no other bounds than those of Nature, that he had been admitted into the most intimate Considence, and the (a) very Secretaries place to Nature, ought to admit of no other Tradition concerning his Death, than that we are speaking of A trusty I riend or Servant who finds himself disgraed, and a Secret hid from him in his old Age, ought not to out live the Misfortune To freek teriously, I do not think that Aristotle was be of smough to dye of such a Vexation Is it probable (3) that so considerate not think that Aristotle was tool wirough to dye of such a Vexation Is it probable (b) that so considerate a Man as he, could have resolved to give himself over to Vexation and Despair, on his not being able to comprehend the Flux and Ressux, he who found his Understanding limited with regard to so many other things of which he was ignorant without being disquieted at it?

By the way, Writers often ascribe to Justin Martyr, and Gregory Nazianzen, what they never said concerning the Death of Aristotle They have not said that he threw himself into the Euripus Justin says only that Shame and Vexation at his not having Tays only that Shame and Venation at his not having tays only that shame and vexation at his not having been able to discover the extraordinary effects of Nature broke his Heart (c) Ουδε τος Ένωπο φύσιν της οίθω εν Χαλκιδι γιωιαι δυμηθείς δια τολ ην αδιξείαν κε αιοχύνηι λυπηθείς μετεκή τος δια (um neque Eurip: Chalcidici naturam cognoscere possit, undu proper ingens probrum & pudorem in marorim conjectus morre duram commutavit St Gregory Nazianzen does not in sectity fay io much, he is fatisfied with not not in reality fay to much, he is fatisfied with not contradicting Julian, who had alledg'd Arifotle as an Example of to great a Passion for Knowledge that it the cause of his Death (d) H & T 'Ourse city the cause of his Death (d) H & T 'Ourse city the cause of his Death (d) H & T 'Ourse city the the cause of his Death (d) H & T 'Ourse city the the cause of his Death (d) H & T 'Ourse city the cause of his Death (d) H & T 'Ourse city city the cause of his Death (d) H & T 'Ourse city city the cause of his Death (d) H & T 'Ourse city city the cause of his distinguished his distinguished his following for his his less they ought to have for the I athers of the Church, are apt to tax them with a blind credulity. They are apt to tax them with a blind credulity. They accuse them particularly of having defamed Arisotle in the matter of the Euripus. But there is ground to think that Julian the Apostate confesses the Lact which Justin Mariji speaks of, for it appears by the answer of St Gregory Nazianzen, that that Limpe ror had joyn d Homer with Aristotle to produce two Examples of a Passion for Knowledge which had occasion'd Death Now according to the Fridition which relates to Homer, he died of Grief because he could not understand the Answer which certain his Muscovy thermen made him It may therefore be supposed by Hercuthat Julian had taken up with a like Tradition cerning Aristotle and the Furipus And yet I might own in the that Arifforle studied the I lowing of the I uripus with fournal of so much intenseness of Thought, and meditated so Lipsick, deeply on that Subject, that it destroy'd his Health, 1691 pig and brought that Sickness upon him of which he died This I could believe rather than any thing else. It does not appear that helderly and the source of the source and prought that state of the naturalem reciproco estu agitatus Euboicus Euripus, circa hodicque quem dicunt Aristotelemo cupatuminterisse. See in the sit, orato Margin a long Passage of Mr le Teure where after res sacri having given the Preachers a nip by the way, he si tamen imputes to Justin Martyr, and still more to Gregory tanto no-

Imputes to Justin Martyr, and still more to Gregory tanto noNazianzen what they never said (c) mine illa Giraldi had father'd it upon them before, and pulpitomade a pious Resistion upon the whole I He ium cresays that Justin Martyr affirms that Anisticle died bepitacula, cause he could not discover the Cause of the Lbbing and Flowing of the Euripus 2 That Procopius cula cymhas also said it in the 4th Book of his History bala, co3 That Gregory of Nazianzen having observed that honestari Homer's notknowing how to resolve a question, prov do porteat, fatal to him, immediately despises Anistocle's Philofatal to him, immediately despises Aristotle's Philo-tophy, with regard to the Variation of the Furipus thiribant which was the Cause of his Death 4 That the Aristote-Greek Communitator of that I ather relates how that lem, cum Philosopher cast himself into that Arm of the Sea, illius sepfaying, (f) Let the Euripus receive me, seeing I can't tena in conceive the Euripus 5 That from thence we may dies inconclude, that Fortune has been against the impious, gulos renot only in the true, but also in the false Rehgi- ciprocations (g) (A) Transport -- an entire Stone lower] Jon- 1 im non fius (b) quotes two Witnesses, Beroaldus, and Matthew potuislet Palmerius The first expresses himself thus, (1) Non cognoticut est quot Aristoteles civis noster mechanicus longe om- re, ibitum nium prestantissimus turrim en sche sue movit, motomque mitellum arte mechanica in alium haud longe dissitum locum trans-tele in Luportavit Non est mendacio locus cum adbuc supersint ripum de-qui videre And these are the Words or Palmerius disse pra-(k) Aristoteles Bononiensis Architectura insignis habetur cipitem. qui lapideas turres integras illa/as Jubjectis fundamento & in malapidibus ad alium traduxit locum crucem abiisse Justinus cognomento Martyr,& Gregorius Nazianzenus, qui primi, aut intei primos, haic fibulam olim in icripta fua retulerunt, id vel studio Philosophiæ Christianæ (ita enim isti Graculi Christianismum vocare solert) fecere, dum videlicet infanientem vererum Gincorum fapientiam, obscuran dam & premendam existimarunt, vel fortasic etiam, (quidni edam & premendam existimarunt, vel sortasse etiam, (quidni enim veris locus sit.) prise inflorir ignoratione. Nam exEumolpi, Apollodori, I avoim que serift., qui illa etiam tempe state superius eticimus, ficile didicisse Boni Viri poterius, iem longe se secus hibuisse, quim prodideiunt. Tanay Falerepist part i p 49 5. (f) i reid. Acistions & x et in term. Eugen Expension and morphologism Postquim Aristoteles non prehendit Euripuin, I unipus labeat. Aristotelem. (f) I iliu Gregor Goralaus Di degismo 30 fug. 912 to 2 open edit. 1696 (h) sensita el ripio institutiona el 8. (i) Bevoald in Sucion Vespas c. 13. (k) sinci parison chien ad anni 1455. (B) There feveral 2 See the onis cau-xımam

Il at the cud (b) Le P Rapin, compar pag 310 An Apology for Ju-ftin Martyr, and Gregoi y of Nazianzen

(a) Ac150-

TEANS of

CUTENS year man

1181

Aristote-

Scriba calamum

1mbuens mente Surdas

See above theRomark

les fuit

Natura

(c) Juftin cohort ad Græcos. Pag 34 several Churches There are some Names which 'tis a hard matter to sustain; of which number that of Aristotle is one In the mean time there are above (B) 30 Aristotles to be found. ARIUS, the Head and Founder of the ARIAN Herefy, which denied the

* Hieron ad Cteliphont

Eternal Divinity and the Consubstantiality of the Word, liv'd in the 4th Century. He was born in Lybia near Egypt. Eusebius Bishop of Nicomedia, much beloved by Constantia. Sister of the Emperor Constantine, and Wise of Licinius, contributed * exceedingly to the Growth of this Herefy He was a Man of a ready Wit, a true Court Bishop, in a word, the ablest Man alive to put a new Doctrine in a good way He took Arius into his Protection, and brought him into Constantia's Favour For it has always been believ'd, that if Women do not concern themselves in the Interests of a Sect, it can make no considerable Progress Arius's Party got Strength visibly There were Bishops who embraced it publickly There was nothing but Disputings in the Cities, and sometimes they pass'd from Words to Blows It was absolutely necessary that the Emperor should remedy the Disorder. This he did by convening the Council of Nice, in which the Doctrine of Arius was condemn'd That Heresy was proscrib'd by the Emperor, who likewise ordain'd that all his Books should be burnt, and that whosever should be so bold as to keep them (A), should be punish'd with Death Some say (B), that Arius having abjured his Heresy in the Presence of the Council, escaped the Sentence of Banishment, but others maintain †, that (C) he was exil'd, and that the Emperor (D) did not recal him till Ten Years after They pretend, that some had made that Prince believe, that Arius was Orthodox at the bottom. They add, that Constantine being confirm'd in this Opinion by the Profession of Faith which Arius presented him, writ in his Favour to . the Bishops who were assembled at Jerusalem for the Dedication of the Temple That the Bishops who were still remaining in that City when Arius came thither with the Emperor's Letter, were for the most part concealed Arians, so that they did not fail to declare his Doctrine Orthodox, and to receive him into the Communion of the Church That to compleat the Triumph, they were of Opinion, that Arius ought to be reestablish'd in Alexandria, where he had undergone the first Lashes of the Anathema And that because St. Athanasius, who was Patriarch of it, and Arius's great Enemy, had been exil'd, they believ'd that in his Absence it would be no hard matter to reinstate Arius in the Communion of the Church of Alexandria But that they were deceived, and that (e)Hieroix the People would never readmit him That Constantine being informed of the Continuation Dialotion of the Troubles, summon'd Arius to Constantinople, and got him to subscribe to the go contra Council of Nice without any difficulty That afterwards he fent him back to the Bishops Juciferiawho were then assembled at Constantinople, I say that he sent him back to them, to be (d) Valef received into the Communion of the Church in that Imperial City Thathe who was in Sozo-Bishop of it, would never give his Consent, though they represented to him that menum,

(a) See the caus'd the Ecclesiastick Communion to be administred to his Friend in the great (e) Out of the Trea- Church of Constantinople. That he brought him thither as in a kind of Triumph, mixed of the Trea-

¢wealein

xou tas, xi

30908187-KOV TUCK

zalavana-

Savar () isan gra-zesiua '

ands off של אנשור אנאור במס-

-ח לותורי Illud etiamdenun-tio, quod brum ab Ariocom-occultaile depichen-fustit, nec eum statim oblatum igne combuffe-rit,mortis pa.nam iubibit

Socrat Hi-

stor Eccles

1 See the

Arianism

bourgh, l

of Pet Maim-

ποράβρρείω, ως εί πις σύχυμ , but he found that Knowledge increases with γεμμια Αge I or when he publish'd his Treatise de seriptori σωνταχὰν ρείω σωνταχὰν ρτούμε θε had also fomething to add to what he αμιταχὰν καθείη
κα in the preceding Remark, is one of those Additions

(A) To keep them, should be punish'd with Death] So-crates gives the Letter wherein Constantine order'd that all those who should find a Book composed by Arius, and not burn it, should be punish'd with Death without Mercy, as soon as they should be convicted (b) I do not remember to have read any Author that has observ'd this strange and surprizing Extravagance of Conflatine He is contented with banishing the Arch Heretick, he does not condemn those to Death who should cleave to Arianism, and yet pronounces Sentence of Death against those that should conceal any of Arius's Works Wasthere ever a more enormous disproportion between the Suffering and the Delinquency? May not a Man be very Orthodox, and yet curious enough to see what Hereticks can fay for themselves, and to preserve scarce Books, as those generally are, the Authors of which are condemn d to the Flames' And yet it an Orthodox Person had happen'd to keep a Book of Arian through such a Principle, he would have been immediately hang'd, whilst he who made Profession of Arianism was suffer'd to live What more whimself it is Not to say, that its a Contradiction to let Hereticks live, and to forbid them on pain of Death to keep the Books of their Founder. To this may be added, that when and fome Bishops his Adherents being banish d their Conversation was still more dangerous than the reading of their Books. How came it then, that they who should be needed with those Exiles were not threatned with the Punishment of Death?

(B) Say that Arius ____ escaped the Sentence of Banishment] Baronius affirms on the Credit of St Jerom, that Arius made a shew of Repentance, and that having subscribed to the Council of Nice, he was received into the Peace of the Church by that Council, of the TreaChurch of Constantinople. I nat no decorate the great first of Jonattended by a great Body of his own Party, but that as they drew near the great first of the great flat of the g Opinions had been examin'd and condemn'd, but as to postSy-Opinions had been examin'd and condemn'd, but as to post Syfor what had been done against his Person, and what became of him, they forbear mentioning it, that they might not be thought to insult him on his Disgrace Could they speak thus of a Man in whose Recantatiexilio reon they had acquietced? The leirned Henry (d) Vavocatus mends their Moderation, because they did not strike at Arius & Person by Name with their Anathema's, Mr Valois

but at those in general who taught such and such effectives but at those in general who taught such and such observer, Heresies, and because that instead of soliciting the that ac-Emperor to banish the Hereticks, they expressed a cording to great Concern at their Banishment

(C) Others maintain that he was banish'd] Sozomen the force of the force great Concern at their Banishment they fent to the Bishops, wherein they (g) took notice, that he who was the Principal in these Disputes had been recall'd from his Banishment, and Vales in that it were absurd to say, that after his Reconciliation, they could not make their Innocency appear Thus we have 2 Facts clear'd, one that Arius was bapush'd, the other that he made his Peace with the nish'd, the other that he made his Peace with the c 14 P Bishops, and that he obtained his Recal before Eufe m so bins and Theogras obtain'd Theirs, which hapned according to Philostorgius in 328 And his Opinion amen, 1 2 grees very well with the History of those Times It's c 16 false then, that Arius was not recall'd before 335

(D) And that the Emperor Father Maimbourg has follow'd that false Chrorology The Proof of his Error is feen above (E) Very Piece, Arim being feized with a natural Necessity, retired in haste to a publick House of Office, and died immediately, all his Bowels running from him together with his Liver and Spleen, in the Year 336 * Very Learned Mon reject (E) this Chronology Arm's sect did not die with him, it sublisted a long time with splendor enough in several Parts of the World It cannot be fufficiently admited, that a Minister (F) who paifes for a Learned Man, should be ignorant of so evident a Fact He has also been ignorant ubi fupra

(a) Arius hærefiarches diu ante Svnodum Hierotolymitanam c VIvis excefferat, ut certiffimis argumenti probavi in libio fecundo observationum I celefiaflicarum capite 2 in Socrat 1 x c 33

(b)Socrat Hiftor F celf 1 1 C 33

() It's 1st-Icrted at / ngth in Sozomen, 1 2 C 27

(d) Teg-

Dorles Jein de-A Setov X TEGOUN wrü, icubentes iuscipiendos effe Arium & focios Athanas m libro de mode apud Valc-1 trm 122 Sourat 1 1 16 pm

(c)Jurieu, rai Systeme de l'I glite, P 149

(E) Very Learned Men reject that Chronology] Henry l alors proves, that Arrus (a) was not living in the time of the Synod of Jerujalem, which received Letters from Constantine concerning the Reconciliation of some chief Members of Arianism It was not therefore Arius the Arch-Heietick, who was recommended to that Council by Constantine, and who tound the Bishops affembled at Jerujalem so favourable to him. In the mean time sorates lays plainly that the Council, which was transfer d from Tyre to Jerusalem, for the Dedication of the Temple, received Arius and his Adherents into the Communion of the Church, by virtue of Letters from Confiantine, who testified that he was periuaded of Arius and Euzous's Oithodoxy "Ageior (b) mir it tas meet antor edicarro rois bankens yeaupan nedagχειν λεγουτες, διών δεσικώκει αυτοις, πεπεείδαι περιτίς πίστως Αροικ ή Ευζωίκ Arum quidem una cum socius in communionom ricipiunt, obtemperare se dicentes Imperatoris literis, quibus certiores ipfos fecerat fidem se Arii & Euzoii pinitus perspettam habere (onstanrine fent the (1) Confession of I with that Arius and Euzoius had presented him to the Bishops assembled at Firusalim, and St Athanasius plainly says (d), that the Synod of Jirusalim received Arius and his I avourers into its Communion Mr Valors folves the Difficulty, by faying their were two Arius, one the Arch-Heretick, and the other his Follower, they had both been Lacomunicated by Alexander Bishop of Alexandria He that presented a Contession of Faith with Euzous to Constantine, and was reconciled by the Synod of Jerusalem, was not the Arch-Heietick, but the other Arius Mi Valois proves this not only by Reasons, which shew that the Year 335, but also by the Petition of Eusobius and These two Rishops amplored Pardon These two Bishops implored Pardon protesting their Innocence in the Year 328, and alledging, that the Chief and Author of those Controverties had Leen reconcil d and re cstablish d This could not be faid of that Arius, who was reunited to the Church in the Syriod of Jerisfalem, for the Petition or the Contession of Luth which he and Euzous presented to Conflantine a lit-tle before that Synod, that is to say, about the Year, 35, testifies that they were then in Ixile and Ixcommunicated. That sudden Death of Arius, in which the Orthodox have found fo many Mysteries, happen d then after the Council of f. It follows then, that Arms who died in that manner, was not the Aich Herctick, or that they have transferr d to one time what had hapen d in another Conjuncture It's ftrange there should be to little Order and Exactnets in the I celefiafired History, one cannot ascertain Arius Laile, the time his I aile lasted, and such like things, but by arguing on divers I acts fome whereof are at-tested by this and others by the Analysis tested by this and others by that Author One good Historian might suffice to give the Chierd of the chief Lyents, tho all the rest were lost to

(1) That a Min ser, wwo profit for a larnel Man, should be gnorant of so what a late. See what he says, "I (c) am also pertunded, that Arimson ne"ver made a great Body in the World It's true,
"several Bishops made Profession of it, but that "Hereise did not spread among the People What he says essewhere is much stronger, for he afferts, that Arian in pass d through only like a violent Stream. It cannot be said in his I xcuse, that the is one of those I not such escape by that this is one of those I more which escape by Surprize, and tor want of Attention, for he has Surprize, and for want of Attention, for he has given this Fact as in Lisential and Fundamental Remaik in his System. On the one side his Opinion is, that the Herseles against the Mystery of the Trinity are Lundamental and Mortal, and on the other that God has not permitted the Se's which fell into this fort of Hersele, to continue long, or make a confiderable I igure in the World

"(f) God, fays he, cannot permit great Christian

"Societies to run into mortal I riors, and persist a "long time in them, at least to judge of Matters

by Experience we ought not to believe it possible, fince fuch a thing has never yer happen d Nicolle was the first who read him a Lecture on the Words of the 149th Page This he did without sharpness or insulting in these (g) Terms, "What "Mr furicus says is very true, it understood of the great blaze of Arianism, which passed like a "shash of Lightning But its less exact when applied to the Times which tollowed. I hough "she I have had recovered its former Splendon." the Church had recover d its former Splendon in most Parts of the World, yet there were leveral considerable Bodies as the Vandals in Africa, the Goths in Asia, in Italy, in part of France and in Spain, who openly profest Arianism, and where the Controveine was instituted enough cleared for the People to take part in it. Michigan (b) came next to the Charge in this manner. Nevertheless those As ans give him some trouble as well as the Phanaticks and Socia ans of these Times, and those whom he calls Phot mans of Poland and Transstrans Some remains of Modesty hinder d him from associating himself with them in one and the same Church He found means to be rid of them without entring it to that Discussion or calling in Master Workmer to know whether the Loundation were destroy d in whole or in part. He fays he does not mean to comprehend in that one extensive Church any but those Societies which make a visible Bo-The Arians never made a Body, it least a great Body, (and this against the laith of all History, which every where mentions then Communion, their Assemblies, their Bathlicks or Churches wholly diffine trom those of the Osthodox) The Phanaticks, the Socinians, the Photomans of these times have not as yet any regular Assemblies, or Institution, or Union with each other. They are not to be reckoned as my thing. But by his own Principles, if so the thing But by his own Principles, if for the Punishment of our Sins and miletable Divitions God should permit these common I names to multiply and regulate themselves and form a Body, then they are upon the same foot with others, and there would be no distinctly in suppoing that i Man may be faved among 'em the Author replying to Mi Nicolle conteiles (i), I hat the Arian, made a GRI AT Body, but maintains that they listed but a very little while, and that God fuffer dib ir Commun on to perish, "because they did not preserve the I und mental "Truths" A third Centor has risen up, who maintains like the two tormer, that Arianism his not only been of a great Extent, but also of a detable Continuance, and that it was a Hereic which fipre id among the People See the Book (k) intitul d Janua Calorum reserta. It there appears (1), that Aranism subsisted above three Hundred Years in Splendor, that it was for almost two Ages the predominant Religion in Spain, that it was on the Throne in the I ist and West, and that it reigned in Italy, France, Pannonia and Africa Never was Author to toffed from one vexatious Consequence, to mother more vexations is the Author of the System by the feign'd (m) Crust 1r bonius It has there been made appear, that if God i ever suffered great Christian Societies to run nto mortil Errors, and remain in a long tim, and it God asserted Arianism because it did not preserve the Findamintal Truthe, it necessarily follows first, That the Errors of the Church of Rome are not Mortal 2 That Mahometaninsm has preserved the Fundamental Truths The Author of the Systeme pretends that Mahometism is not a Sect which has gone out of Christianity, and therefore that he can say nothing as to its I stent or Continuance. These are Objections which its impossible the most exalperated Subtilty can aniwer. The Synods cannot pretend any Cause of Ignorance, and yet they never censured this Doctrine of the System, tho' it fully justifies the Church of Rome, and consequently convinces the Reformed of being Schilmannic.

(g) Nicol-le, p 15 & 16 of his Priface nite de 1 Lglife

(1) Reflex fur lesd t la Religion Put 1 4 9,4

(1) Jun t de I Ur s te de I Iglife, p 364

(k) Twas Printed a Amster dam 1602

(/) P 87

(m) 1 PB 13 theranc I' AL I' e Author of Linua Calorum referata

(f, Ibid P 2,6

(6) I .at rant of another which is no less evident, since he advances, that no Part (G) Law enacted against that Sect Another thing which he had advanc'd has a little perplexe him, for an extraordinary Advantage has been made of what he fig concerning (H) the faith of the fathers who preceded Arranism. That Sect has been (1) by turns Perfecuting and Perfecuted, and fell at last by the Way (K) of inchange Authority. I baidly find any Author who does not look on it as a Crime in Arise, the putting his Opinions in Verse to be sung by his Disciples Both the Matter (L) and the form of the (n) I helien cthe firft Edition was of Roan in 1680 there have been others since in Hol

(o) Fdit of the Hague

(a) P 354 of the Su-

(c) Dioits de de 1x Souverams, p -80

(') Cc lum non mumum mut uit qui ti ins mure cuilunt Horat | pi/t

() In t^1 1201 J-In in

(1) Su the Sinh 1 role Ly 16 Bruveic mbin 1 n 10-10,1,6 r Trench Actions

Jinu i Ca lorum releitt, p 119 C J.q

(G) That no Penal Laws more enacted against that Sut i Let's cite a fine Passage of the Preservative against a Change of Religion The Minister of whom I speak publish d this (n) Book whilst he was in France, and opposed at to the Catholick Lypolition of the Bishop of Condon See what he tays (o) at the 11th Page "The Church has suffered Persecutions has never agarcifed and Sha has her She has had cutions, but never exercised any the upper Hand of Paganism, as Paganism has had of her, but never return'd her like tor like She did not make use of the Authority of the Conflantines and the Theodofius's to embrue the Temples of the false Gods with the Blood of their Worthippers, as the Pagans had made use of the Swords of their Nero's, Maximin's, the Decii and Dioclesians to drench the Earth with the Blood of the Christians One must be very ill read in the History of the Church, to be ignorant that in all the Contests she has had with the Arians, Entychians, and other Hereticks, she only "made use of Ixhortations, Reasons, Counsels and other such like Arms' The Author of the Philosophical Commentary had (a) reafon to wonder that a Professor in Divinity, who had pais d in Irane for a Man well vers'd in Leclefiaftical History, should betray so much ignorance in this Point But was still more asto-nish d, that after Father Tomassin had fer this Matter in the clearest Light, another Fr nch Writer addressing himself to the Bishop of Meaux, should fay, "One thing I must tell you, my Lord, "That " in all Auctors and Modern Lighters and Modern Lighters and Modern Lighters and Modern Lighters". in all Ancient and Modern History, all the Vio-ences exercised by Princes on the score of Reli-gion, have ever been look of on as Spectacles of Horror, and that the Names of those Princes are not mention d at this Day without Execution" The Divine who publish d the Pielervative, has studied Leclesiastical Antiquities better it seems since his transplantation in Holland He there has learn d to refute Toleration by the Authority of the confiantine, the Theodofians and the charlemagnes Paganifm, trys he (c), would be full in being, and three pirts of Europe would full have been Ingan, it confiantine and his Successors had no "made use of their Authority to abolish it" In In ance he took it very ill, that the Secular Power should be made use of, and in Holland he takes it very ill, that it should not be imployed And now after this who dire pretend, that by changing of Climite (d), one does not change Opinions I here's i Local Paith, and a Path of I imes, which have not yet been mention d in the Times, which have not yet been mention d in the Division of the Genus into its Species See the Remark H of the Article of St Augustin

(II) The I a th of the Fathers who preceded Arianim | He maintain d, in his Pattoral Letters, that the fe I athers did not believe the Equality of Persons in the Trinity, and that they admitted a temporal Generation of the Word, which had conferr don the second Person his intire and persect Ixistence It's plain that this Opinion differs in nothing from Arianism, and that it overthrows the erernal Trimity of Persons Mr de Meaux (e) has prih d Nu 111 au io home upon this Point, that he has forc'd him to break the filence, to which he had reduced him on fome other Points. But the Reply has done him more harm than filence could have done hew is fored to contradict himself, and disown several I'h nos, and still get nothing by it Mi de Means seturn d to the Charge, thrust his Man into a Coiner, and oblig'd him to thew his Face no So that among the most distinguishing Emore So that among the most distinguishing E-looks that had been given this Prelate, it is not forget (1) that he had stopped the Mouth of the hardiest Caviller of the Age. Mr. Furi u had sence estempt Mr. de Menus Clutches when he fell into those of the Labers of the three first Centuries had had that Opinion of the Trimity, and the Generation of the Wand, which he imposees to be in the world. the Word, which he imputes to 'em, it would necessarily follow, that neither the Heresie of the friens, nor that of the Socimians would be Damnable or Fundamental Great heed must be taken able or Fundamental Great heed must be taken that the Victories obtained against this Minister, concern only his particular Opinions, and in no manner the Doctrine of his Church, of which the History of the Works of the Learned (2) has given notice to the Publick The no foreign Matter, it belongs of right to Fritical Dictionally, for it's false in fact, that the Heresic of Arius was implicitely taught by the Tathers of the thie first Centuries It's pretty strange that Mr Japon ha centuries It's pretty strange that Mr Jurieu having mention'd Arianism by so many views shou'd always be in the wiong Taurum (1) toties non firite difficile est It must not be omitted, that on the Question of Iact, which regards the Penal Laws of Constantine, and the Continuation and Extent of Arianism, the Authors I have already Extent of Arianifm, the Authors I have already quoted have shewed him his Error very civilly, and without having recourse to the Insults and the like Cafe against an Adversary

(1) Has been by turns Perficuting and Perficuted] It cannot be denied that the Oithodox were the Aggressors, for we have seen that Constantine made Aggretiors, for we have feen that Constantine made use of Banishment against the chief Heads of Arianism, and threatned those with Death who si ould not burn all the Writings of that Aich Heietick, but it's certain that his Son Constantius and Valuns, who placed Arianism on the Throne, treated that Orthodox more rigorously than Constantial had treated the Arianis Bating this, it should seem in spirit than those, and it is a Thesis which the Philosophical Commentator has undertaken to prove in the Supplement (k) to his Work Among other Reasons he makes use of this, that in the time when Recaredus extirpated Arianifm in Spain, the Catholick Bishops were much more numerous than the Arian, though the Arian had been the Predominant Religion for near Two Hundred Years before A strong Presumption that the Catholicks were but little disturb d were but little diffurd a

(K) And fell by the way of humane Authority] Mariana (1) flurs over the Rigours which Recaredus must needs have exercised, and excuses them on this, that the Case required Severity, and that the People were not displeased at it. The Author (m) People were not displeased at it. The Author (m) before mentioned observes, that if the Complaints which the Arians made, had been preserved to us, it is likely we should find in 'em a very long d-tail of Violences, and that after all, it was purely by accident that Arians m was run'd without Persecution. For as Marians fave some Branch Perfecution For as Mariana fays feeing Punishments were not made use of but when necessity required, it must be concluded, First, That if they were not often made use of two secause the Arans were not obstinate 2. That had the Difficulties been ever so great, yet they would have been reduced either by fair or foul Means to the Point defigned By the way, that Author is guilty (n) of a very gross Contridiction, into which Wisters who are accustom'd to speak of Convertions, are apt to fall they lay it down as a general Maxim, that Obstinicy is the Character of Herefie, and neverthelets to cover the Violences of the Converters, they fry, that the Convertions are easily mide, and from this ficility, draw a Proof of the Herefie of those Converted. The true of the Heissie of those Converted. The time Church, fry they, is not so easily forsiken, the Resistence the Arians made against King Recased was (a) so weak and short, that this above were enough to shew, that they struggled for I also hood and not for the Truth, which alone is able to governie a some beautiful.

(L) Po I the Matter and the Form of the Poem which to neither Thair] There has been great Region to condemn Herefies, to pitty those who profess l'United them in good earnest, and abominite those who l'Egitation for S. b. Do. teach them without Lcheving them, for fich Do-

Month of May 169 Article 9 301 ana the follow-ING

(1) Su Trebelhus Po!lio in the Lf of Ca licans

(h) The 20. and 2 1 Chapters

(/) Contigit autem Recaredo, quod haud icio an Regum ulli, ut religione pei mutanda, quod propemo-dum neceffe erat. motuscaifterent. ied neque dintuini admodum neque grives, & fever itas anımadvertionis non modo invidiota non ester, quia necessario iuscipieetiam popularis & cumbonis omnibus, tum infimo cuique gratiffima Mar Lans 15 6 14 Consult ti e Supplement of the w que, p 373

(m) Suplement du Comment philos p. 75,

(n) Ib d P 3/7

mrffin, de P 449

* Gardi

i er, & Bull

+ Mi le Morre

Prof ff rat Leyden

+ I/ 1110 1 1

in Fl n Jh Jign fi rold Water and th ne

Il Nane ofArm 11-

 $\frac{t}{L^{1}}$ $\frac{d}{dt}$

1000

(1) Wha

leto of hais to be found it

In a he toft I one of he A-11 milme.

Holland

Edit and ber what helis of mileyoth Prec of his Hiftony of Calviwere the they lung at that time to wards the ruft of the

Pfalter

were let to lunes

and effe

which Bira ad ded itter-Pialms which

n fin T hele

neih

quin

Form which he intituted Thalia is condemned There might indeed be some Proposession in all this. A (M) Modern Author, who was of this Heretick's Opinion, his writ some Works to shew, that the Fathers of the three first Centuries were of the fame Opinion He was at no great trouble to compile Passages, for he found 'em ready Collected to his Hand in the Dogmata Theologica of Father Petav is Two * Fnglish, and one | French Divine have made an Apology for the ancient Fathers against him

ARMINIUS (JAMES) Protessor in Divinity at Leyden, was born at | Oudewater in Holland in the (A) Year 1560 He lost his Father whilst he was but a Child, and he was indebted for his first Instructions to a good Priest who had relished the Opinions of the Reform'd, and who, because he would not be obliged to say Mais, changed his Abode often He was following his Studies at Virecht, when Death bereft him of his Pation Such a Lofs would have put him hard to it, if he had not had the good fortune of being affifted by his Countryman, Rodolphus Snellius, who took him along with him to Marpurgh in 1575 He was scarcely arrived there, when News came that his Country was Ranfack'd by the Spaniards This Newsthrew him into a deep Melancholly, and he could not forbear returning into Holland, to fee himfelf what Condition things were reduc'd to, but finding that his Mother, Sister, Brothers, Relations, and almost all the linkabitants of Oudewater had been put to the Sword, he went back to Marpingh, travelling all the way on Foot Having heard that an Academy was founded at Leyden, he toon neturn'd to Holland, and studied in this new Academy with fo much Application and Success, that he acquir'd a very particular Esteem In 1582, he wis sent to Corera, at the Expence of the Magistrates of Amsterdam, to perfect his Studies in the Colleges there, and he addicted himfelt chiefly to the Lectures of Theodore Beza, who Expounded at that time the Epistle to the Komans He had the missortune to dily le ife some of the Members of the Academy, by publickly maintaining the Philosophy of Kamus, and that

(p) Her. mant Vie de Saint Athanase 1 1 C 13

Stors are Monsters of Ambition and Malice, but I cannot conceive why it ought to be imputed as a Crime peculiar to Heretical Doctors, that they make use of Methods fuited to the Cipacities of the Ignorant, for instructing em according to the falle Lights of their Confciences " After that "(p) Arus had forfaken the Church, it came into his Head to make divers Songs for Seamen, Travellers, and for those who work at the Mill, he had also set Tunes to some others, which he thought proper to move his Followers according to their different Dispositions, endcavouring by " the sweetness of those Songs, to inspire his Impiety into the most ignorant and stupid among the People—But his Ihalia was much more " famous than all his other Works He borrowed the Name and Model of it from an ancient Poet call d So. ades — I his Burlesk Poet had "affected to tota a Style in that Song of his, and the numbers of it were to wanton, that the Pagans themselves treated him with the utmost "Contempt, nor is this at all aggravated in the "words of St Athanasius, teeing the most unchast "Pagans and share who, wester most unchast "Pagans and share who, wester most licentified." " Poets, and they who write most licentiously, blush at the Impurity of the Songs of this infa-mous Poet 'Twas in imitation of this Author, that Arius gave his Work the Name of Ibalia, which properly fignifies a Banquet, and Assembly of young People, or a Song made to be fung in those forts of Leasts." Afterwards Mr iung in those sorts of leasts. Afterwards Mr Hermant cites a very long Passage of (a) St Athanasius, where Arius is called an I know not what Sotades, ridiculous even to the Pagans themselves—and a Heretick, who had no taste for any thing but the ridiculous Discourses of Sotades. In the same Place is also to be seen the beginning of the Thankas and apostbur Riv which constant the large society. lia, and another Bit which contains the Herefie of Arius concerning Jejus Caraft One cannot but con-demn the ridiculous and infufferable Pride which appears in the Exerdium of the Thalia, but once more, let's blame shous for being a Heretick, and nat, this first supposed, for having put a formulary of his Belief into Verse, otherwise we must allow Herericks and Insidels to condemn the Oithodox, not only for professing the true Gospel, but also for singing besides the Psalms of David, divers Hynns and Canticles, whose Verses and Air may happen to resemble the most prophane and wanton Songs of an Opera To speak in general, it s ton Songs of an Opera the Songs of an open be his Religion what it will, should fing Godly Verses, than their that are Laferyious and Satyrical The See faring Men and scivious and Satyrical the Miller, under the Misfortune of being Arians, would do better to fing their Carechize than their Amours I o say that the Pagans themselves mock at Arius s Songs, is alledging a very wrong Reason, for I do not believe that the Gintiles made any great difference between the Aciani and the Orthodox, but hated both alike, the Acian.

were no more favourable to the Worship of the I agan Idols than the Orthodox But I cannot tell whether Mr Hermant has Reason to by, that the Pagins themselves treated \rius with the utmell Con-tempt as a rediculous Man I of the words which he cites i little after, they munifolily, that it w 5 50 tade and not shins, that St stebanafins meant when he faid, that he was indiculous to the Fazin them-felves. I fay it and fiy it over again, one may make pious Verses in the same Metre, and of the tame Measures as the Songs of an Opera, consequently one may make Hymns of the Measure of the Socadick I of a The Evil does not he in this Con-Sociated Left. The Evil does not he in this Conformity, its ruther in the Handle that's given Scoffers to delpife Plalmlinging, I letthe matter of Poetry slide here. And to let the Proteffunts in particular fee what Judgment they ought to ake of the Investives ignish the Thila of Arius, they must be Adverted of what Lather Mainburgh his publish dibout the Plains, put into Metic by Chimen Marot He tays little less of them than of Arises (b) Thalia It is not without Reason that I have alledged the Songs of an Opera for my Example I would make it known, that the imitation of the Airs of a Ballad must be more cuefully avoided in Spiritual Songs, otherwife Religion is too much expos d to Contempt and I aughter, as appears by the Book which the Author of the Court Bifloop Liughs for much at (c) It is a Collection of Spiritual Songs, compos'd by a Jefuit, and by Father Martial de Brive, Capuchin, to the most burlesk Ballad-tunes, as to the Fune of Crivy Chafe, or, At Winchester thre was a Wedang &c I tancy the Italia of Arius might vie with the Impertmency of that Collection, Printed with the Approbition of two Doctors in Divinity

Matter is entitul d Nucleus historie ecclefiastice in 1668, in 8 I he fame Book much inlarged in the Year 1676, in 4 App ndix addendorum confir-mandorum & incendandorum ad Nucleum histo e ccelfirfice cum responsionibus ad Gardinerum, 10 1678, 111

(A) The Tear 1560 Bertius amuses himsen with giving the Year of Arminius Birth two Chambership he undoubtedly thought worthy of Bertius amuses himself ricters, which he undoubtedly thought worthy of Reflection He observes, that Philip Minh on died in that Year, and that the Conference of Possifi was held in the same Year, where the Prote-fiant Deputies pleaded the Ciuse of two I housand one Hundred and Ninety Churches, who humbly lick of the Catholick Church What Varillas Says in his History of Hr fie 1 21 ad ann 1559 p 49 cannot be altogether deny'd, that the Airs were taken from the best Songs of these Times Se de Pours in his second Book of Divine Melody, p 577 (L) Sec / 16,2 Entretien p 86 and the following Edit of Holl 1674 in 12

(M) A Monern Author has wist fome Works] His Name was Sandius What he writes on that minate which has nothing in it of the Devotion and Majesty of the Mufued WHF T111 R we are to condemn Spiritual Hymns Hymns and Canticles which

(a) Ex

contra

Arianos

base the iame Airs as prophane Songs

* Infirme quidam fratres fafrom illud perpetuo in-fectiui, & in circularc Bertius ubi inwith much heat, and even teaching it in private, for this he was for to retired went to Basil, where he was received with Applause He read (Basil) holick Lectures there, and attain'd to such a Consideration that the Faculty of Divinity would have given him a Doctor's Degree without any Expence He excused himself hodestly, and return'd to Geneva, where having found the Adversaries of the Ramife Doctrine somewhat coold, he moderated his heat also He had a great delire to see Italy, and chiefly that he might hear the Philosophical Lectures of the simous James Zabarella at Padua He satisfied that Curiofity, and passed six or seven Months in his Travels, after which he return'd to Geneva, and from thence to Amsterdam, where he found he had been (C) sufficiently census'd about his Travelling into Italy, which had somewhat cool'd the Affection of the Magistrates, his Pations and Mecenas He justified himself easily with Perfons of Understanding, but there were some * weak and suspicious Spirits who could not get over this Stumbling-Block till he had made the whole Church sensible of his sine Talent at Preaching, by the means of which he regain'd the Love and Esteem of all the World His own Colleagues paid Homage to his Understanding, and own'd that his Sermons were useful and instructive even to them Martin Lydius Professor in Divinity at Francker, judg'd him a proper Person to answer a Writing, in which the Dectrine of Theodore Beza on Predestination had been opposed by some Ministers of Delse Arminius condescending to his Desires, undertook to refute that Work, but during the Examination, and whilst he was ballancing the Reasons on both sides, he went over to the Opinion which he should have destroy'd, and even some lengths farther than the Ministers of Deltro He condemned with them the Supralapfarian Beza, and afrewards acknowledged no other Election but that which was grounded on the Obedience of Sinners to the Vocation of God by Jesus Christ He was brought to Trouble for this at Ansterdam, he was iccused of swerving from the common Doctrine, but the Authority of the Magistrates suppress'd that Dissention He was call'd to a Professorship in Divinity at Leyden in the Year 1603, and no Stone was left unturn'd to obtain his Dismis from those of Amsterdam, which at last was granted. After he had dislipated the ill Impressions which had been given of his Doctrine, he was received Doctor 1 of Divinity at I eyden, and installed in the room of the Profesior Francis Junius. He had exercised his Ministry in the Church of Amsterdam fifteen Years. The Disputes about Grace soon after waxed hot in the Academy, and the States of the Province were obliged to appoint Conferences between him and his Adversaries He was summon'd several times to the House and went thither to give an account of his Doctrine This Debate, his gicat Ashdulty

t H was the first on whom this Little was conferr d in the Academy of Leyden Bertius ubi infra

(d) Bertius in Orat funebri Jacobi Arminii

(1) Id 1b

fessor James Grynaus came often to 'em, and praised him much Nor did he scruple in maintaining a I helis, to appeal to him for an Answer to those Objections which seem d frongest, let my Hollander answer for me was his usual saying (e) Solent Basilea feriis vindimialibus dostioris studiosi publice interdam in Academia exercisi gratia aliquid extra ordinem docere Eum laborem Arminius noster haud in-vitus susc pit, laudatus ob id a Reverindo viro D Jacotics cohonestavis of the Reverence wire D face-bo Grynao, qui etiam lectiones ipsus presesentia sua aliquo-tics cohonestavis idem quoque in disputationibus publi-cis, si quid gravius proponeretur, aut dignus vindice no-dus occurreret, non est veritus, honorus caussa Arminium nostrum media in stadiosorum turba sedintum intari, 6 (ut Grynæi candorem agnoscas) divre, Respondeat pro me Hollandus meus Note, that he observ da Spirit in him too much inclined to refine upon things, and that hereupon he gave him very good Advice Bertius is not the Person who informs me of this, but Philip Pareus He tells how Theodore Beza advis d one of his Friends to check the Subtlety of his Genius, as a thing which Satan had made use of in several Instances to delude great Persons Do not ingige your felf continued Bixa, in vain Subtleties, and if ionetimes certain new Thoughts happen to arise in your Mind, approve 'em not, without having first founded em to the bottom, how pleasing soever they may seem at first tight caloin give methis Countel I have followed it, and tound the benefit of it (a) cut magnopue te horto, ut Dei dona in te collata, on ni findio ex olas ita ent al xivota non vulgari donatum effe videan, qua life ed maximos decipendos viros non irrito conatu Sa'a-nas est alusus, velim te ailigenter cavere, u nulis inin lus argutus te ipsum irretias. & quoties novi queof Aimhi et in nutio tibi illa air forunt, exeutere, prinsquam nius, p approles Informalis denique istis prompto & ala ri in26 edit er otbe of esto and rests Feo quidem certe per Dei 184 & atim nen prossu bere de loc isso a magno isto ciro

fued to the King for I iberty of Conscience (d) Let's pass his Calculation, which perhaps is not the most exact, and say he is deceived as to the Year, the Conference of Possii began in the Month of September 1561 Begin the Year either at Easter, or on the first of January, you shall never justifie

(B) He read publick Lectures at Bill] The Pro

beata memoria JOHANNF CALVINO admonitue i a facer, statim ab initio studui, cum ad saci a studia me totum converterem. Neque me hujus consilis unquam pani ni nec, ut spero, panitebit. Phil p. Pareus had the Original of that I etter of theodore Biza, and he adds, that James Grynaus give the same Advice to Angunius (b) In quam fintenian clarifimum of fartisticum JACOBUM AR WINIUM, novi Petitgianism is statistican in Belgio, cum juvinis operam duret S Theologia in Academia Ballicus, granuter quante admention is see cum juvinis operam agree 8 Ibeologia in Academia Ba-lilicnsi, graviter quoque admonitum su sso a venerando Sene D J A C O B O G R Y N E O cujus memoria sit in beneditsione! Insente mili, quando ad pedis ejus in Rauria discintium Synagogia siderem narravit li any Person accuses me of having inserted their nny Person accuses me of having inserted these two Passages at length, only as helps to edge out a large Book, he'll betray his want of Judgment, for they are very sit to suggest useful Resections to several Persons, and very necessary for some Readers. Remember St Paul's Maxim, (c) Knowledge pisses to several Persons, and very necessary for some Readers. Remember St Paul's Maxim, (c) Knowledge pisses to suggest useful Resections to several Persons, and very necessary for some Readers. Remember St Paul's Maxim, (c) Knowledge pisses the supplement of the sanother of the supplementation of th planation or Doctrine of which we are the Inventers. It is for those Inventions that we feel the parenal Love and Tenderness. ledge we have drawn from Books, as of an Exthe force of a paternal Love and Tenderness here we find the most bewatching (haims, 18 this blinds us it's this makes us lofe Ground It's a Rock of which young Perfons, who have a very fubtle Wit, cannot le too much warn'd

(c) That he had been sufficiently consured about his travelling into Italy] Among the several Epidemical Distempers of the humane Mind, I do not know any more blameable, and fruitful in bad Fffects, than the Custom of giving a loofe to Suspicions. It is a very suppery Road. We are soon got a great Way from the Place we set out. We easily pass from one Suspicion to another, we seldom stop at the Probability, to the greatest Likelyhood, and from after, that which pass only for likely, is reported as certain and incontestable, and in a little

(/)Philip us ibid

III VILL Dividis Pues, p m s, alfo a letter of the Lame Beza among thoje

(1) Beza pud Phi-

lippum

Pircuin

of Slanders, and the Health in fich a manner, there is fell into a Difference of which he died the 19. October 169, with great Experious of Picty and Picture 1. Twere to be with that he had made a better infe or 1) had so ledge, for though it's likely his Intention, were good, yet i maybe field, that he individed without my or necessity, and under Circumstances in which the I move than was absorbed to Divoiders in which ended in a Schism. He left seven sons it lioned inches, and is a number of Disciples, who continued the Dispute io warrily, that twis thou the peece my to pare it recourse to a National Synod. They were condemned in it, but did not it built, and horis

(d) Bertius ubi fu-

(e)Bertius s mistakin Prıhere Nate Perafens are admitted . to this Ho-710111

(f) Quum indomiti mili pertinacia ipfi quoque arti (M dicinæ) facerer opprobuus cnim defixi quam ut evelli pof-

let, novi indies cx-1vmptomat i febres, tufpochondriorum extentionem, exfparandi. difficult 1tem, opprefilionem à cibo, laboriolos arthritidem, nul-Irmque ægro paufam vel requiem concede bit icceffere postea dointestinis, 1110. & colo, cum fomnos.1-trophum.

obstru Etione nervi optia finiitri, & full-ition ne Bitus ubi (ifia Sai ++ time, that pretended Certainty is spread all over a whole Town Great Cities are more subject to this Disorder than others It was reported in Am sterdam, that Arminia had kiss d the Pope's Icct, that he had contracted an intimacy with the Jesuits, that he had disover'd himself to Bellarm n, and that he had abjured the Reformed Religion I his was all falle, and yet these Insthoods made an Impression on the Mands of the Magistrates who maintain'd that young Man Let us hear the Author of his I uncril Of ition speak (d) Into damna (itineris Italici ponebat) quod in amplissim Sc natus Amsterdamensis officissimulam ob id sastum tunc temporis incurrisset, sustandentibus frigidam quivujdam, quos omnino prastitisset judi ia in apsus reditum suspendere, Hinc ergo sumpta occisione sparochatus in v l gus illum Pontificis sociam dos darum quem non un in conferta turba, ut r lique spectatores, vidis nec Soleat bellua honorem istum nifi k gibus (c) ac Pr neipibus deferre Jesuites adjueviss quos nunquam audivisset Bellasmino innotusse, quem nunquam conspect kligionem orthodoxam abjus ass, pro qua paratus esset ad Jangumis usque prosusionem decestare

(D) In execution to find his R pu ation tariffed]

There's reason to think that this Vexation contribed more to his untimely Death than my thing.

It was a bad I even that some of the procure It was a bad I ewen that foured the pe cant Huntours, and which complicated his Liftemper (f) and suland ways. Sometimes he was heard to high analogy out as formerly a Liophet did, Hoto me, m) Mother, why hast thou brought m forth a Man of Sisse, &c. Let's let down a long P slinge of Bertius (g) Quid mirum seconmotus sucret same sus, salutis, & lavorum dispendio, quum neque wire bono quiequam sima sue sit antiquius, neque Christiano salute, neque & Phologia doctors p tettis ex scriptura demonstrationals? Oddiesto posture secondo. monstracionibu? Oppiestio, inquit Suracides infinite facit supientem Ladem fin dolorem, ex dolore morhum conciliavit, ex morbo mortem O terium, O vi-Persum, exque imo cartas e excitatum malum! 'L' oties illum ex Prophe a privatim etiani cum gem u exela-mantem audio mus! Væ m hi mater mes quire penuisti me, virum diteordre in universa terri? Nec tanerivi, nec tanerivit mihi quilquim, & tunen omnes maledicunt mihi Revocavit timen Jiple ad rationis & tranquillitaris lepta. This is whit we cannot think on without deploining the Vinity of humane I hings We look upon Stupidity is a great Unhappinels, thole lathers who have I yes clear enough to fee the Blockithnels of their Sons, are very much afflicted. I hey would willingly discover in cm a great Genius, a fublime Understanding, and if they find cm thus gifted, their Joy is almost inexpressible. It is often being ignor int of what one does, and what one defires It had been a hundred times better for Armin ne to have been an errand Dunce, then to have had a great doll of Wit, for the Honour of giving Name a to Sect that makes a liquie in the Warld, and which has produced able Men is but a very Commercal Good, in companion of the real I vils, Vinations, Pains and Bitte ets which he felt in his Life-time, and which thorten d his Divs, and which he had not felt, if he had been but an ordinary Divine in indifferent Wit, i Blochheid, in sho t, one of that Form of Men of whom People are apt to fig Hell broach no Here/ : fri-nal would have brought fuch in I ximple into his tenth Satyr, if their had been Diputes of Religion in those I imes, that had caus d the Death of one of the Supporter

(E) That he had made a bet er use of her knowledge I mean, that he had govern d humself by St Paul's Rule I hat event Apostle inspired of God, and immediate y directed by the Holy Chost in all his Writings it led to himfelf the Objection which natural Lightion is ignust the Doctrine of absolute Predestination, he apprehended all the corce of the Objection, he propose it without westerings with leaft (i) rely an with million Million and million to the distinction which is S. Pints Doctrine, and the here the distinctive which he states upon it (a) I wait for then write me may doth be yet find for the million with the Twenty Pines of the Subtricts Million could add nothing to it. What could they meet the million to make the subtricts of the Subtricts Million with million to million to the subtricts of th from it more than that in Cit is Health is God will have Men to commit S Nov that a fit of Pint I nev could be objected in the Pint I nev could be objected in the Pint I never Loes he dlow it in part only Doc he ent i in to my Particulus Doch tem ve my listo vocation in the Word thin of II do a vocation in the Word thin other thin of II do a vocation in the Word thin ou vocation in the Word thin of Hele conly alledges the Soverign Herrer G. Herrer the Summer Richt which the Centon hear on 161 pole of his Cientures is it feems good to him (d) Ny, but O Mn, who are the the period for it all the form of a not that the period form of any that the holders in Incomprehensibility in the thing of he ought to put a stop to all Dilputes in 1 im idea ... 1, ,, find a definitive Sentence here, a Judoment find and without Appeal, in the Dispute doct to ice. or rather they ought to lean by this Conduct of 5 Peul, never to dispute about Prodesim tran, and at the first motion to oppose it in Barr against all the Subtilities of human Wir, whether they offer of their lelves while they are meditating on that great Subject, or whether mother inggest them The best and shortest Way 1 to oppose this strong Bink betimes, against the Inundation of Arguments, and confider the definitive Sections of Sr Piul, as those immovable Reel sy hote I condition is in the midit of the Sea, mainly buch the proudest Billows cannot prevail, but turn to I touth, daily and break themselves upon em in All the Arrows that against such a Shield will have the lame I ate as that (f) of Pierre Thus ought Men to Lehave themseres when the Dilpute happens between Christian and Christian And if ever it be tate to give the Mind some Excicite on Points of this kind, at leift we ought to found a Retient betimes and retire behind the Bank I have spoke of Had Arminius afted thus as often is his Reidon tuggested to him Disticulties against the Hypothens of the References, or at all times when he round himself call deconsiver any Disput ints, he

Eut, fly they, would not he hive been a Preva riction, and unworthy of the Ministry at he had neglected the Influence of he Auditors, whom I obelieved to be in and in a falle Dottrine? I notwer, I hat two cap til Redon excuted his ipciking our one was, that he did not believe the Hypothesis which he disapproved, prejudicial to Salvation, the other, that his new Method was utilets towards removing the chief Difficulties that he was a large with an the Mattack Production that ue to be met with in the Matter of Prede would have tal on a portectly Wile and Apostolick

Course and made the of the Lights of his Underftanding just as he ought to have done. If he con-dinary Dottime, or it he found himfelf en d in i-dopting a lefs used Method he should have gone what lengths he thought fit for his own puticular by then he flould have been content to have en-135 dethat Conveniency in filence. Time in without diffurbing the Rights of Possession, fince he could the Church His tilence vould have to d him for a point deal of Louble he would have done well to have remember d (#) in old I ible Mill

()111 101/110

() I' w

0100

(1) who tus (cmor, telamane n ibelle fine ittu Conject ויטטרו quod protinu repullem, I t fun mochper ցսուստ 1, 1 pendi 11

() Sel p + 1COLVI butin Plu 1 DIS 113 min i ii vidi .q Hur M

Linitor

ß Joh Wolfgangus Jigei Hu Work es entitul d Hiftoria Eccluliaflica 1x culi XVII The first Decade in 169.

y Agidi-us Af hackerius He took the false Name of Salomo Theodotus See Lal Antie Bubl Bele

n We find n he Galanteries des Rois del rance, Printed in Hollande in 1694 p 189, of the 1 tom that the Family of Arnauld was stripoed of all for the Ston AF CTI

(b) I apedichat quili xgi c lau ciæ que Respubliquiescere quomodocunque ne vulnera curatione ipfa releindetentur Flores lit , . 23

soon form'd a separate Sect, which still Continues, and which by degrees has engaged it felt in several other much more confiderable Eriors The Movers of Aufterd un names fome of the Authors who give an account of this famous Quarrel 1 add to em the Histories of Triolendius and of Boxhornius, and a new Work of a B Profesior of Tubinge I hat great Dispute was very fruitful in Writings of both Sides A Professor y in Divinity at Cologne, disguised under a false Name, gave a List of 'em according to the order of Years, in a Work which he intitul'd Pacificatorium dissetti Belgii I question whether his Catalogue be very compleat It's difficult not to forget something in such a number of Pieces As to the (F) Writings of Arminus, see our last Remark

ARNAULD, a Noble and Ancient Family of Anvergne It's above two Hundied Years ago since a Daughter of this House was married to a Lord de la Fayere, the Grandson of him who was Marshal of France under Charles VI Towards the Year 1480, Hemy ARNAULD married Catherine Bariot, a Kiniwoman of him who was Countellor in the Parliament of Paris, and Master of Requests under Lewis XI Soon after this Mairiage he fettled at Riom, whither he was invited, with (A) several other Persons of Merit, by Peter de Bourbon Count of Beaujeu, who kept his ordinary Reindence there This Prince was married to the I ady Anne of France, Daughter of Lemu XI who had an absolute Power over the Mind of her Brother Charles VIII and was Regent during his Mi joilty Henry Arnauld work'd himter into the Entern of the Count, and Governor of the Town Beauten He was made Mafter of the Horfe to the Count, about eight Leagues distant from Henry Arnauld work'd himself into the Esteem of the Count and Countess of and Castle of Hermant This was the Place of his Birth, about eight Leagues distant from Kiom, on the Frontiers of the March of Limousin near Offel This Government was continued to him by the Constable of Bourbon, Son-in Law to the Count de Bearjea The Office of Maller of the Horse was also continued to him He did giert Service to the Constable, by causing his Horses to be shod backwards in, when Francis I who looked on h m as a Rebel, fent a Guard to take him. They supposing by the Horses tracks, that he had rod quite the contrary Way from the Place where he hid himself, lost their time in fearthing for him where he was not Hemy Arnauld had contracted a very fluct Friendship with Florimond de Robertet, Secretary to the Count de Beauger, and afterwards Secretary of State under Francis I and it was wholly his own fault that he did not procure a very advantageous Match for his Son by the Generolity of this Friend, but he would return one Act (B) of Generolity by another He left two Sons John and Anthony stimation We must confess, absolutely speaking, that the least Truth is worthy to be proposed, and that there's no I altity to inconfiderable, but it's better we should be heal d, than tinctured with it, however, when the Circumstances of Time and Place will not permit any Novelties to be propos d, be they never to true, without cruling a thousand Ditorders in the Universities, in Families, and in the State at sarge, it sinfinitely better to leave Things as they are, than under ake to reform em. I he Remedy s woise than the Disease. Our Condust in this Case ought to resemble that towards (b) certain fick Perions, who can take no Physick without stirring several ill Humours, the agitation of which is more pernicious than the Coagulation I except one Case where the saving of Souls is the Point and the snatching emour of the Jaws of the Devil, for in this case Chairty won t suffer us to stand still, how great foever the Commotions may be which are accidentally occasion d, we must submit all Consequences to the Care of Providence. In this respect Arminus was no way preis d to oppose the common Dostrine, he did not believe that any one run the hazard of Salvation, by following the Hypothesis of Calvin Let us fee another Circumstance by which he render d himielt inexcuiable. In a System full of great Difficulties, helubstituted another System, which, to speak truly, draws after it no less Difficulties than the termer One may say of his Doctrine, what I have said of the Innovations of Saumur It's more vehement and less constrained than the Opinion of Mi Ampraut, but after all, it s no better than a pulliture Remedy, for the Arminians have scarce answer of some Objections, which, is they pretend, cannot be retuted on Calvin's but they find themselves expos'd to other Difficulties which they cannot get clear of but by a tincere acl now ledgement of the Infirmity of the humane Mind, and the confideration of the in-comprehentible Infinity of God And was it worth Ville to contridict Calvin for this ! Ought he to have been to very delicat in the beginning, feeing with end he must have recourse to such an Alysum. Why might not he as well begin with it, in eache was doom d to come to it soon or late? Lie smill il en who imagines, that after having enter d the 1 iffs with a great Disputant, He ll be allow d to triumph only because he had some small ride in specioser him at beginning. A Wrestler who should out run his Adversary three Parts or more of the Race, does not win the Crown, unless he preferves his Advantage to the end of the Courie It is the fame in Controversies, it is not sufficient to party the first 1 hrusts — The Reply's and Rejoynders must all be satisfy d, till every Doubr is perfectly clear d Now this is what neither the Hypothetis of Arminius, not that of the Mol nift, that of the secimans, is able to do (k) System of the Ammians is only sit to obtain some advantages in those Preludes of the Combite in which the forlorn Hope is detach d to skirmish, but when it comes to a general and decesive Battle, it's forcid to lettre as well as the rest behind the

In the total of lettre as well as the rest behind the Intrenchments of the incomprehensible Mystery

(1) As to the Writings of Arminius | These are the Titles of them Disputationes de diversis Christiana Religionis capitibus Orationes, itemque Iractatus insigniores aliquot Examen modestum libelli Guilbelmi Perkinsi, de Pradistinationis modo & ordine, itemque de amplitudine gratiæ divinæ Analylis capitis 12. ad Romanos Dissertatio de vero & genuino sinstitut cap VII I psiolæ ad Romanos Amica collatio cum D

Franc sco junio de Predestinatione, pr litteras habita Epistola ad Lippolytum a Collibus, Oc (A) With several other Persons of Merit In Riom are yet to be seen the Houses of Monthossifier, Montrorin, Chazeron, Florat, Chastiaugay, Moriliac, Bubourg Duorat, Torget, and Robertes, who were all chief Officers and Favourites of the Count and Counters of Beausen, and of their Son-in-I aw the Constable Bourbon, by whom they were all fuccessively. advanced to the chief Dignities of the Sword, and of the (a) Robe Thus you fee by what Accident it happened, that so many Auvergnates appeared Memoir is at the Court of France in the highest Posts, under freed in Charles VIII Lewis XII and Francis 1 tels of Beaujen had drawn them out of their Province, and put the making their I of tune into their own Hands But for her they might all have dy d in obscurity, their great Falents would never have shone beyond their own Country Conclude from hence, that the particular Glory of a Province at certain times, depends wholly on Parionages of this kind. You will find a Supplement of this in the Continuation of the Menagiana, p 304, and 305, of the Edition of Holland

(B) Return that att of Generality by another] This was that Florimond de Robertet who leaving Months Son, his Native Country, tettled himself in Riom, and became

(k) See Mr Jurieu in his Judgment on the rigid and Latitudinarian Meexplaining the Dollrine of Grace

(a) From a Memoir inthe Mercure Galant of Decembre 1693 P 42

The first dy'd thout Children In the Church Register of the City of Riom, in the Year 1542, Registes himself the Title of Commander of Hormant. His younger Brother Anthon Renauld kept up the Family His first Wife was Margaret Mojnier-Dubourg, at Relation of the Chancellor of that Name, Sister of the famous Annas Dubourg, Conficellor in Parliament, and of John Dubourg, Lieutenant Criminal of Riom Usehad but one Son by that Marriage, the John dela Marria Research Brown He had but one Son by that Marriage, viz John de la Moite-ARNAULD, whom Mr de Thon mentions with so much Praise in his History, and who at the Head of a Troop of Horse, of which he was Captain, shut himself up in the Town of Moire, which held for the King against the League, and maintain'd the Siege of it a long time with the Lords of Chabanes and of Chazeron, after which he made a vigorous Sally at the Head of thirty Troopers, and kill'd the Count of Randam with his own Hand, who was Chief of the League in Auvergne, the Death of this Person was the occasion of raising the Siege, and the cause of winning a Battle, which was fought some time after, and which secured all Auvergne to Henry IV the same Day and Year that he obtain'd the Victory in the Battle of Turi. The Father of this John Arnauld had follow'd the Profession of Arms at beginning. He rais'd a Company of Light Horse, and was in several Actions. But Catherine de Medicus knowing him to be an able faithful Person, made him her Attorney General, and the King's Attorney in a Presidual Court of Riom, which at that time extended above forty Leagues He distinguish'd himself very much in those two Ossices. In all the Acts that remain of him, he took the Title of Lord of la Motte, of Chantenegrelle, of Font ainebleau, of Pessac, and of Bonnesilles, all Fiess and Castles not above half a League from Riom His second Wise was Anne Forget, Daughter of the Steward of the Houshold to the Constable of Bourbon He liv'd to the Age of a Hundred and Onc Years, and died at Paris, whither Queen Catherine de Medicis had called him He was buried in the Church of St Sulpicia, and in the first Chappel that had been built in it, of which he himself was Founder. The Title of the Foundation imports, that he which he himself was Founder The Title of the Foundation imports, that he had the Oshle of Auditor of the Accompts (B_{Δ}) and Controller General, and that he was Lord of Corbeville near Paris From his second Marriage proceeded twelve Sons *, one of which was Anthony ARNAULD I shall mention him in a separate Aiticle, I/aac ARNAULD, who was Intendent of the Finances David ARNAULD, Captain, who was kill'd at the Siege of Jerzeau, Lewis ARNAULD Receiver General of the Finances at Riom, another Lewis ARNAULD, the King's Secretary at Paris, and Peter ARNAULD who was the youngest of the twelve Brothers, and who distinguish d himself most in the Profession of Arms He was Marshal of the Camps and Aimies of King Lemis XIII, Governor of Fort Lemis, and Colonel of the Regiment of Champa gree He it is of whom the Sieur de Pontis makes such honourable mention, and fears not to equal him with the most famous Captains that ever were among the Greeks and Romans He says, that he understood the ancient Military Discipline best of any Man, and made it to be best observ'd by the Soldiers, who lov'd him even to Adoration Isaac Arnauld above-mention'd, was the lather of another Isaac ARNAULD, who was Governor of from was Philipsburg, and Master de Camp to the Carabincers, one of the bravest Men, and the He is famed in the Writings of Mr de Voiture His Sister was mint due finest Wits of his Age married to Manasses de Feuquiers, who Commanded the King's Army before Thionville, in to Slanthe Year 1639

ARNAULD(ANTHONY) Advocate in the Parliament of Paris, the Son of another anthony whom I have spoke of in the preceding Article, acquir'd a wonderful Henry IV having a mind to shew the Duke of Savoy Reputation by his Eloquence the Parliament House, made choice of a Day that Arnauld was to plead a * fine Cause He gave that able Man a Brevet for Councellor of State Queen Mary de Medicis made him her Advocate General, and would have made him her Secretary of State, but he retused that Office, and told the Queen, that he could do Her Majesty better Service, gument on by being Advocate, than if he was Secretary of State This Fact is intimated (A) in his Epitaph One Day the Advocate General Marion was fo well fatisfied with hearing to him plead, that he took him home in his Couch to Dinner, and caused his Eldest Daughter Catherine Marion to be placed near him After Dinner he took him aside, and ask'd him what he thought or his Daughter, and being answered, that she seem'd to him a lows "Anthony Arnauld, Sieur de la Mothe, and "Villeneuve, His Majesty's Attorney in the Senef"chal's Jurisdiction of Auvergneat Riom, Sollicitor General to the Parliament in 1568, and 1570, af-Attorney General of Catherine de Medicis, was ennobled in Dicember 1577, by the Title of Auditor of the Accounts He was the Son of Henry Arnauld Bailiff of the Town of Harmant in Auvergn, and of N Colonges He had married Anne Forget, Daughter of John Forget, Sieur of Bido gre the "King's Attorney in Auvergne, and of Jane Godi"Ret, and he died at the Age of a Hundred and One

"Years, about the Year 1591 See the Memoirs
"of Sully, tom 4 f 71" Read also the Continuation of the Menagiana, Page 305 Holland Edition

(A) This Fact is intimated in his Epitaph] Mr le Mattre, Grand-Son and God-Son of nauld the Advocate, is Author of the Fpiraph became the Count Beaugeus Secretary He govern d him absolutely, is he govern'd afterwards the Mind of Charles VIII to whom the Regent had then him, and that of Lewis XII after the Death of the Cardinal of Amio se, and finally, that of Francis I to whom he was Secretary of State. He had such an Astection for Hinry An auld, that when he left Room to secretal himself the Court of Charles VIII he rook all his Children along with him. VIII he took all his Children along with him, except his Eldest Daughter Jane de Robertet, whom he left at Riom with the Wife of Honey Arn ruld, defigning that they should marry her to their Fidest Son John Annaud, when she should come of Age But the Guardians did not think their Son a Match good enough for her, so they marry d her to the richest young Man of Riem, whose Name was Amable de Carrier the Son of one Marriag (h) ble de Cereirs, the Son of one Mariliac (b)

(BA) Of Auditor of the Accounts, and Controller General | Since the first Edition of this Work, I received a small Memoir written by one of the chief Genealogists of Europe, in which I find what to's

* The Hi-Discourse of the Life of Mr Arm nauld Dr tions only which la Motre Arnauld had ly swo Wiver, p 2 Edit of Liege

P Taken 771017 CO277municated thor of th Mercure Decemb 1693

> Konig Mark An thony

* The Que-COMCE 211210 the Punishdireis Su thieu's History of Hen IV tom I p

(b) Taken from the

Brom the Memoir in the Metcure Galant for Decemb

(a) Prx-

Ainaldina, p xevi i Person of great desert, he gave her to him in Marriage * One of the most samous Causes that Arthony Arnauld had ever pleaded, was that of the University against the Jesuits, in the Year 1594. We shall see hereafter what (AA) Reward he had for it. Some say that he published a (B) Book to stop their Appeal, in the Year 1602. But having well foreseen that they would return again and be formidable, he indeavour'd to suppress it. He had been Councellor and Attorney General to Queen Catherine de Medicis. They who have reported that he was of the Reform'd Religion (C) have reported.

They who would read it need look no further for it than this Page, and they who have no mind to read it may pals on had faid in the first Edition of his History of Hen my IV speaking of the Trial which the Jesuits had with the University of Paris in 1564. That An Passant, du grand Arnauld revere la memoire Sis vertus à sa race ont servi d'ornimint, 2a plume a sen pais, sa voix au Parlement, 3on siprit à son secle, & ses faits à l'histoire Contre un second Possippe Ulurpateur des lis e second Demosthène anima sis ecrits, Li contre Emmanuel arma son eloquence Il vit comme un neant les hautes dignitex, Et present l'homeur d'oraile de la Irance Atout le vain illat des sitres empruntez.

Atout le vain celat des titres empruntez

(AD) We shall see hereaster what Reward he had for it I Ile seint back the Present which the Univer ity had order d him, and would have so famous a Caute pleaded Gratis. The University made an Act in the most authentick I orm, by which it ingaged it self to an eternal Acknowledgement as well to himself as to his Posterity. See here the Ferms of the Decree (a) Quapropeer cum Consultorum discress sim is of discreption on Justissimus D ANTONIUS

ARNAI DUS, in Foro Parissens speciatus à multis annis Patronus, pro Discussion DANTONIUS

annis Patronus, pro Discussion jure Academici tantopice desudarit of longa comptaque Oratione, qua

Doctorum manibus tentiur, probarit—Cumque idem pro Desensonis laboribus of Patrolini sure oblatum sibi ab Academia honoi arium remiserit, gratuitamque suam operam est voluerit, ne apud Nos ingrati animi culpa resident, platuit Rectori, quatuor Ficultatibus of singulis

Nationibus, ut perpetua tanti benessii memoria publicis

1 abulis consignata of celata apud posteros exstaret, huse que Saci amento se omies Academie Ordines obstringe rent, se exossii que a bonis clientibus sido Patrono solent deservi, omnia IN II LUM EJUSQUI LI BIROS ai posteros studiose collaturos nec evium un quan honori, commodi, finneque defuturos. You will tind this ali laige in the Preseac of a Book Printed at Ingen 1699, and intitus Causa Arnaldina seu

Annotus Arnaldus Doctor of Socius Sorbonicus a censura

Anno 1656 sub nomine Facultatis Theologica Paristensis vul it vindicatis

(B) that he publish'd a Book to stop their Appeal It's but a small Book intitul d, Le Franc & veritable Discours: Father Richeome refutes him in his Apologetical Complaint, where he retutes the Jesuits (atechism also, which appeal'd at the same time from the Pen of Stephen Pasquier. I have read a thing in the Remarks (b) on the Cutholick Confession of San y, which I shall here transcribe. "The Advocate Armania did not unswer, not that (c) the Book, The Truth desended, had stop his." Mouth, but because he perceived that the Interest of the Jesuits with Henry IV would carry it at long run against all the Reasons that could be alledged for the establishing the Decree of their Banishment. In estect, the poor Main was so much attaid that he had gone too for in his little Book, that I have seen a Copy of it, wherein an able Main of those I imes had made the following Observation with his own Hand. This Book (the free and true Discours) composed by M Anthony Arnauld their good Friend." And a little lower, the Copy supposed by the Austrone

(c) That he was of the Reform'd keligion, have reported a great Fallehood, The Author of the Amphitheatrum honoris, diffusied under the Name of Clasus Bonanfeius, which is the Anagram of Carolus Annanias his true Name, speaks of the Advocate Authory Arnanid as a known Calvin st. The Imago with facult Soc Tesu, does the same. The Author of the Apology of John Char liays, p. 2-5, that the Name of Arnauld comes from as sual, which signifies to den or apostarize, and that it comes near to that of in tehrist, who has the Name of the Bessel. And p. 2062 A worthy Min ster of him, to when a von hieroria, speaking great Things and Blasporem. Lev. 13 (d) Du Pleis had related the same I aliel ood, but retricted it publickly. He

ry IV speaking of the Trial which the Jesuits had with the University of Paris in 1564 " That Anwith the University of Paris in 1564 "That Am"thony Arnauld making Profession of Calumin,
"the choice that the Agents of the University had "made of him was reckon'd highly scandalous
"and very unseemly" But see how he retracts himself "Anthony Arnauld a most eloquent
"Man, was pitch'd upon to plead the (a) Plain"tiffe's Cause I had formerly believed on false
"Informations, that he was a Religionary, but "in truth he never was He left most Virtuous
"Children and most Jealous for the Catholick Re"ligion behind him" It's strange, that an Histrain who was none of the meanest, could be deceiv'd, as to the Religion of samous a Lawyer, ceiv'd, as to the Religion of so famous a Lawyer, who had taken the whole Parliament to be witness of his Catholicism in the same Plea, which gave Dis Pleix occasion to speak of him. Here s what he says of it "If paradventure they, and those who sup"port em, are so impudent as to dire to say, that the Sorbanne wis Heistical in the Year 1554, when it made that Decree against them as they are shameless enough to publish among the Women of their Congregations, that all who prosecute that Cause are Hereticks, sprung either from Gineva or from England That it I my self, who speak, were not known to be infrusted from my Infancy in the Royal College of Navarre, and it my Protession so notorious, and my Reception into such Publick and Honourable Offices in the Year 80, and 85, did "not too manifestly secure me from their Impo"fures, they would certainly seign me, sens from thence also to plead against them." Typerience convinced him, and convinces at this Day, that he was in the wrong to fancy himself shelter d from their Impostures, for besides the Writers I have quoted, there are lately inten up two ters I have quoted, there are lately lifen up two new Accusers, the first is Father Hazart, the se cond, tho the Name he gives himself (b) be a seigned one, produces a Letter from a Gentleman whose Name is Mr d. Heucourt, who affirms, that the lather of Mr Arnauld, Doctor of the Sorbonna, was Born and Dy'da Hugueno: I have resion to say, that lathor Hazart his renewed the Accusation, for these are his Words, "(d) The retraction of Mr du Plux does not move me, nor de"bar the liberty of taking his first Sentiment for bar the liberty of taking his first Sentiment for the Legitimate Issue of his best Intelligence, and the second for that of his Complassance for "the Relations of the Sieur Armauld, who had "Credit enough at that time to gain over, or oblige an Author to any thing of that nature" He was answerd (c), that one must have but a very untoward Understanding to prefer what an "Historian acknowledges he had faid on falle Suggestions, before that which he afferes as fure and indubitable, being better inform'd Should any one indeed be found of so wicked "Should any one indeed be found of 10 wicked a Chrracter, the Lvil that an Historian might do by publishing I aliehoods prejudical to the Homour of his Neighbour on bad Memoirs, would be irreparable, fince his Recantition would be all in vain, for any Man might retrench in Tather Hazaris s Answer "See, by the way, how well Mr du Plex is rewaided for having been fo partial to the Jesuits. They shew how much they love him, while they make him have so little "Conscience, as that having said nothing but the Conscience, as that having sud nothing but the truth, when he affirm'd, that the Advocate who "truth, when he affirm'd, that the Advocate who "pleaded against them was a Hugurnot, he should "notwithstanding retract this afterwards, and e-"stablish a Lye out of meer Complaitance' I do not (f) know of any Answer that has Leen made to the Challenge of him who publish'd Mid Hucourt's Letter Tho it was very pressing, for these were the Ixpressions in it addressed to Mr Armand "This I etter, Morseur, the O"riginal whereof is put into my Hands to be fent to

(a) That to fay the Unit

Gib cl of the 2 B P 535

(c) The Autor of the Remarks had indep 534, a Richcome uter the times of the chemics of the the chemical chemics of the chemical chemics of the chemical chemics of the chemical c

(b) On 11.

im of a lines and times and the lines and more and animored a lines are lines at lines are lines

1 w custrid In verite defendue

(7) fi fien

takt out

o t quefiton cutreute fi

Mt Aimuld eft heretique, p 13

(b) That of Sunte Foi, in the important Advice to nauld on the project of a new qu of Janthore This is a Letter dated from Paris the 281h of Septemb 1691 (d) Seetle ath Factum grand N berry of Infenius.

(e) Had

1 20

(f) The is wrote in 16)4

t 11 11 fromt, fred n cine Gi-

Decemb 169, · Per-Hommes

illufties

P 54 55 edit de Holl

(1) I ikin trong h

I THE ML-

mil Mes-cure G1lant for

Decemb

HISTO-RICAL Littscon-

c nine the Nionatery of

PORT

KORAI

f : | Grana is = In of Juntenius

TEAD A P Hazart

169, lair

ported a very great Falshood. He had twenty two Children by his Marriage (CA) with Catherine Marion *, and died about the Year 1618 Observe, that one of his Daughters reform'd the Abby of (D) Port Royal

He acquitted himself at the Bar, "* with so much Honour, and in so extraordinary a manner, that is Person since him, except his Grand-Son Mi le Maire, has been known to appear there with so much Reputation and Dignity. His House was continually fill'd with Princes and great Lords, who came to confult him about their most important Affairs, and he was every where in such Veneration, that after his Death they were forc'd to expose his Body for some time on a Bed to ittisse the to you, requires that you should without fail "produce the Certificate of your Baptism, for the Jesuits, your Enemies, are not it icems the only Persons who reproach you as being boin a Huguenot." But he who got this Letter Printed was utterly confounded, for the Publick (g) was informed that Mr. a Heucourt disowned it.

The Publick has seen this in the Journal of Mr.

Basinage, and in a Book which has appear'd fince the first Impression of this Article, I mean the A-bridg'd History of the Life and Works of Monfigur Arnauld See in what a strain he who Compos'd it treats of this Matter, in the 17th and 18th Pages "We do not here lose time in confuting the impertinent Author of important Advice to M

"Arnauld, & wherein an Lxtract is produced of a pretended Letter of the Marquis d Heu-"were, to prove, that Mr Arnauld and his I ather were born Calvinsts All this is pure Impofture For not only the Extract of the Baptismal Certificate is forth-coming, which that Adviler desir'd to be produc'd, but also an Instrument in form under that Marquis's Hand dated from Brompton near London the '; of May 1692, where the declares that he knows nothing of it, that the I arrange from him and that the "the Letter never came from him, and that it is "the Letter never came from him, and that it is "a Piece maliciously and falsly Compos'd' I find it very probable, that one of our Advocate

Arnayld's Brothers turn'd Huguener, for a Person who must have known this very well, has not to me, that Madam (1) de Feuquiers and Madam d'Heucourt her Sister, who were that Advocate's Nieces on the Father's side, were of the Retorm'd Religion to their Death The same Person writ to me also, that Isaac ARNAULD Minister of Rockel, and Author of a Book intitul'd Mepris du monde, was of the same Family as Mr Arnauld Work was Printed more than once, for the Ldition of Rouan 1637, imports, that it had been Revisd, Corrected and Augmented with three other Treatises by the same Author, to wit, Vertuous Resolutions, Of the Obedience due to the King Meditations on old Age on old Age

(GA) He had Twenty Two Children by his Marriage—] The Name of the Eldest was Robert,
The same who made himself so famous under the Name of ARNAULD d'ANDILLI See the following Article The second died Bishop of Angers in the Month of June 1692 His Name was Henry ARNAULD, who had made himself much was head and a the Name of Abbot of St. No. much valued under the Name of Abbot of St Ni-cholas, before he attained to the Miter Being at Rome, he fav'd, by his Dexterity and Courage, the Honour and Estates of the Barberini, troin Attempts of the Creatures and Relations of Pope Innocent X In acknowledgement whereof the Prince of Palestrina, and the French Cardinals, Antheny and Charles Barberini, caused not only his Medal to be stampt, and his Picture drawn, wherewith they fill'd all their Houses, but erected also a Statue to him in their Pilace at Rome, with a (k) Verse which Fortunat IX had Compos'd for St Gregory of Tours He died with the Savor of House has been supposed for the savor of House the December 1988. Gregory of Tours He died with the Savor of Holineis in his Diocess at Angers, from whence he never departed for near Forty Four Years that he was Bishop of it Catherine ARNAULD, the Eldest Daughter of Anthon, was married to Mr le Maitre, one of his Majesty's Council, and Master of Accounts at Paris, by whom she had Inthony ie Maitre, the samous Advocate, and Isaa le Maitre of Sacy, known by his Translation of the Bible, by that of the Imitation of JESUS CHRIST, by the Life of Dom Bertholemy of the Martyis, and by the Life of Dom Berthelemy of the Martyis, and by the facred Poesies Angelien ARNAULD.

another Daughter of Anthony, perpetual Abbess of Pert-Royal of the Fields, reform'd that Abby on the same Foot, as that of Clairwans was Reform'd, and made it Elective and Triennial Hive of her Sifters with the Market to the Polymers.

Sisters, with their Mother, took the Religious

Habit upon them in the Convent, and led a very austere I ite there until then Deith (1)

Observe, that in the Abridgment of the I ife of Mr donauld progenities affected, iff I hat he was the other and lift of the Children of during from nauld, and of Catherine Marion. This does not igree with the Memon (m) that I have quoted, and which gives them I wenty I wo . I have the Lather of fo many Children decented, when there were but I en of them alive, I our Sons, and Six Daughters

(D) Peform d the Abby of Poet-Royal | The Name of Port-Royal makes to much noise, and the Arnaulds are to concern d in it, and the Puticulars of all this fo little known, that I may very well suppose the Curious will read with pleasure whitever may be thought particular on this Sub-ject. For this Reason I believ'd I should not dis-pletic my Reader, if I here inscreed what I have read in (n) a Printed Case. Precess of this kind in

feldom known to many en ons

" Port-Royal is Origina's a Monastery of Birnardin Nuns, Six Leagues from Paris One of Mr d Andille's Sifters was made Abbefs of it in the beginning of this Century, when the wish but Lleven Years of Age. This was a common Abuse enough at that time from which God diew great Good. For at the Age of Seventeen Years, God inspired her with so ennest a Desire to resome her Abby, though there were none either of the Men or Women resormed in the whole Order of the Cost gur. That the rein the whole Order of the Cift aux, that she re-folv'd and perform'd it with ease enough, God giving an extraordinary Blessing to her good Designs She banish d all Propriety from it, all her Nuns, after her own Example, bringing all her Nuns, after her own Example, bringing into the common Stock what they had before in their private Possession. She established an exist recluse Life in it, perpetual Abstinence, the Night-Office, Lastings, Labour, Silence according to the Rules of St. Bimiet. And it was this Odoni of Holineis, like the Persume of the Spouse, which drew her Sisters, Nieces, and the new Mothers, which was their time to their allo her Mother, each in their turn to this House The design of so perfect a Reformation to courageously undertaken, and so happily executed, gave her so great an Lsteem with the whole Order, that when he was but I wenty Seven or Twenty Eight Years of Age, the was chosen to reform the famous Abbey of Maubiffon She past Foun on Five Years there, which oblig d her to leave her Sister, who was afterwards call'd Nother Agnes, the Care of her House of Port-Royal as Coadjutrix It was about this time, and while she was at Maubuisson, that she faw St Francis de Sales who was come to Paris, to found a House there of the Visitation She fent to defire him to come to see her, and pur her self under his Conduct, and by that Saint's Letters it appears what an Lsteem he had for his dear Daughter the Abbess of Port-Royal

The Author of the Fallum adds, that the Widdow of Anthony Arnauld, Mother of that Abbess had a strong impulse to become a Nun under the Conduct of her own Daughter, and that as God had given her that Desire about the same time that the Abbess was advis'd to transfer her Monistery of the Lields to Parm, "She bought a very fair and large House and Garden in the Suburbs of "Same which the hestow'd on the Albests. and laige House and Garden in the Suburbs of St James, which she bestow'd on the Abbess, Convent and Nuns of Port-Royal, to make their Settlement there, which they actually did, having put the House of Paris at a very great Charge into the Condition t is in at present, by the Blessing which it pleas'd God to give to their Charity and Disinterestedness. There it was Charity and Difinterestedness that this happy Mother of fo many Pious Children took her own Daughter for a Mother, confetrating her felf to God by a Religious Profei-B b b " " non

(g) In the des Ouvrages des Savans for the Month of Novemb 1692, p 134

(1) The Wife of was beaten before Thi-

(k) Here it u Alpibus Arvernis veniens mons altior ipfis The Barberini alludded to the Arms and Country of naulde This Fami-ly of Au-vergne, and has Arms a Mountain du Merc Galant.

ubi fupra

People who enquir'd instantly after him." Those have been much in the wrong who

+ He ared ın Feb 1600 Memoire du Mercure Galant 1 In the Answer of P Hazart to the Cafe of the Grand-Nephenes of lanfenius 4 Casep B See the Catalogue of 'on at the end of his Elogy 11 the Journal desSavans of Septem y Perrault.Hommes illustres, p 142 edit de Holl & Morrers

P 346

impute to him an (E) Apology for I halaru

ARNAULD D'ANDILLI (ROBERT) Eldest Son of the foregoing, was a Person of great Ment See his Elogy in Morers's Dictionary, and the Hommes illustres of Mi Perrault He married Mademoiscille de la Broderse, the Daughter of him who had been so long Ambassador in England, and Grand Daughter to a Sister of the Chancellor de Sillers This Marriage produced five Daughters, all Nuns at Post Royal, (the Eldest of which, Sister Angelica of St John, past for a Prodigy of Wit, Knowledge and Virtue) and three Sons. The Eldest is the Abbot ARNAULD, Commenand Virtue) and three Sons. The Eldest is the Abbot ARNAULD, Commendatory Abbot of Chomes, who after having carried Arms a long time in the King's Service, in the Regiment of his Coulin Isaac Arnauld, Master de Camp of the Carrabineers, retir'd to his Unkle the Bishop of Angers The second is Henry ARNAULD, Sieur of Luzancy, who pass'd his Life in Solitude The third is Simon ARNAULD, Marquess of Luzancy, who pass'd his Life in Solitude Pompone, formerly Minister and Secretary of State, and still a Minister of State, known by his Ambassies into Holland and Sweden | Mr Arnauld d'Andelle came early into the World He had several Imploys which fix'd him to the Court, and to the deceased King's Attendance, but he never suffer'd himself to be (4) corrupted by the bad Air that's breath'd in such Stations The Difference he had with the President de Gi momond, who had spoke of him in his Latin History, otherwise than he ought to have done, may be seen in the Collection of his Letters. They who forged the Romance of the Club of Bourg-Fontaine designed by the Letters A A one of the pretended Accomplices of the Delign, which 'tis supposed was taken there of introducing Dessm, and when they perceived that these Letters could not belong to Mr Arnauld the Doctor, they apply'd'em to another Person, to wit, Arnauld d'Andilli, as has been at last | very fairly But the Author of the Fattums of Jan/ensus's Grand-Nephews, made it apexplain'd pear by folid Reasons, that the (B) second Application of the two A A was absurd Mr d'Andilli retir'd to the (C) Monastery of Port Royal in 1644, where he past the remainder of his Lif. 1 a continual Application to Works of Piety He Composed ieveral Books there ρ_2 , which the Publick received favourably, and which are fo numerous, that they make eight Volumes in Folio y He died there & the 27th of September 1674, in the Eighty Sixth Year of his Age

" of Jesus Christ, and his Stanza's on the best and "most editying Truths of our Religion (B) That the second Application of the two A. A was absurd I shall not repeat all the Reasons al-ledg d to prove it, I shall only say, that it's observed (e) among other things, that he had been in all the Expeditions which king Lowis XIII made before and after the time (f) of the Chimerical Cabal of Bourg-Iontains, "to quell those of his Submi jects, whom their false Religion had engaged in Rebellion. These were Occasions, continue they, of enslaving more and more his Zeal sor the Catholical Religion, by the Aversion which those forts of Wars inspire against Hereise, but "twas no means of becoming a Divine, having never studied Theology as he must have done to sustain the Fart which they make all the Authors of the Fable of Bourg-Fontaine to act. He knew as much of Religion as a Man of great Parts could learn of it from his Captchism, from pious Books, from the Conversition of very Holy Persons, reading the Word of God, and hearing it preach'd, but the less he knew what was taught in the Schools, the more he was incapable of forming Doubts on the Truth of our Mysteries, by reason he had us'd himself early to captivate his Understanding to the Divine Authority, which is warranted to us by the Church, and sure never any Person was farther from cavilling with God, or endeators farther from cavilling with God, or endeators ing by weak and self-conceited Reasons a comprehend that which we ought to content our selves to believe by an humble Faith

(C) He restr'd to the Monastery of Port-Royal Let us continue to quote the Fourth hashum "He "was at Part-Royal in the Fields that he retur'd set the Year 1644, whither his Nephews, the Ad"vocate, Mr le Mustre, and one of his Brothers "who was a Soldier, had retur'd five or fix Years before, when there were yet no Religious Per"fons there, for it was not till the Year 1648, "that the House of Panis obtain'd leave of the "Archbishop to fend part of their Religious to "their Country House" It's my Reader's Business to choose between the Author of this Fasturn and Mr Richelet, who says, that Mr Arnauld d'Andilli made his own House of Panisme his retreat I am fatisfied with confronting these two Authoristies, and I pals on to cite with pleasure what is new going to be read, because it contains some of those very particular Marters relating to the Lives of great Men, which she many are curious to

"fion to live under her Discipline And ha"ving done so for the space of fourteen or sis"teen Years with a very edisying Fervour and "Humility, she had the Consolation before her "Death to give her Blessing to her six Daugh"ters, and her six Grand-Daughters, who were all in the Monastery, and who were all Nuns
"there, except one, who died young, and hid been only a Pensioner" Finally, it appears by that Fastum, that the Abbess of Poor-Reyal was perpetual, and one of her Sisters Conduction, but that both of em having only the greatest good of their House in view, were willing to part with their Title, and settle a triennial Election there Mr d'Andilly obtain'd the necessary Permission from the King, tho' it depriv'd him of the Means of keeping this Abby always in his own Family Add to this what we shall say in his Article

(E) Those have been much in the wrong who impute to him an Apology for Phalaiis] The Words of Father Abram, which I am going to cite, have a visible relation to our Arnauld (a) Do Phalaidis Agrigentorum Tyranni immani crudelisate supervasancum sucrit dicere, cum & pleni sunt aliorum libri, & iple se nefarium, immanem, & seleratissimum in episolis ape fateatur, unus inventus est Arnaldui qui non ita pridem, orationem dicam an nugas? de equi laude conscriptorit bidelicit ex codem calamo Phalaidis Apuleique laudatio & Societatis nostre criminatio manavit, ut quibus se similem esse mallet, liquidius ostenarut, ut quibus se similem esse mallet, liquidius ostenarut, ut quibus se similem esse mallet, liquidius ostenarut The Mistake is gioss, for he who made the Discourse to Phalais si an Arnauld of Provence See the Remark L of the Article Epicurus the Discourse for Phalaris is an Arnauld of Provence See the Remark L of the Article Epicarus

(A) But he never juffered himself to be corrupted by the bad Air that's breathed in such Stations.] He was "one of the Men of Fiance, who all the time he "lived at the County, Parus and in the Country, had the best established Reputation, and was the most generally talked of for his Piery and Probity, there being no Man who would not willingly subscribe to what a famous Author writ of him above fifty Years ago, that he never blushed for the Gespel Truths, nor made an Offentation of the Prattice of its Precepts." This is found in the fourth Fastum (b) of Famsensia's Grand-Nephews Where we also find this (c) "That better he forsook the World, and while he was at "Court, he would consecrate all his Genius in Poetry to the Honour of his Saviour, and to the Design of giving a relish for the Christian Truths, for he had not as yet retir'd from the World when he made his (d) Poem on the Lase

Ciceron Oration P 803

(a) Ab-

rim in

(i) A tru 12 / pro

() Page 18

(d) See below the Remark C in sheMargin (c) Ibia time was the Year 1621 He loft his Wife in the Year 1647 Balzac's Reflection (D) on that Lofs is worth knowing.

ARNAULD (Anthony) Doctor of Serbonne, Son of Anthony (A) Arnauld the Advocate, was born at Para the fixth of February 1642, the 20th Child of his Father's Marriage with Cacherin Marion. He studied Humane Learning and Philosophy in the College of Calvs, and afterward began to study the Law, but he was soon taken from that Study, and applied to that of Divinity by the Care of his Mother, seconded by the Abbot of St. Cyran. After this determination he set lumself; to study in the College of Sorbonne, and went through a Treatise of Grace under Mr. l'Escot. And as as he did not find that Professor of Sorbonne's Lectures conformable to the Doctrine of St. Paul, he resolved to study this Matter in St. Augustin himself, and preferred this Father's System before that of Mr. Pescot. This he teitised publickly in a Probation Lecture which he maintain'd in the Year 1636, in order to the taking his Degree of Batchelor. He imploy'd an Interval of Two Years, which according to the Laws of the Faculty at Paris, ought to by between the Probation and the Licence, in hard Study, and then began the Acts of his Licence, about the Easter of the Tear 1638, and continued them till Lent 1640. He maintained the Act of Vesperies the 18th of December 1641, and the Day following received the Doctor's Cap. During his Licence, he composed and publickly taught a Course of Philosophy. At the end of this Course of Philosophy, which he taught at Paris, in the College of Mans, he caused Theses to be maintain'd, wherein he gave a remarkable linstance (AD) of his Integrity, Docility and Humility. He was ordain'd Priest in the Ember Weeks of September, of the Year 1641, and celebrated his sirst Mass on All Saints Day of the same Tear, asser a Resirement of Forty Daysen—He had begun his

† In the Year 1633

Thefis was dedicated to the Clere gy of I cance, affembled at that time at Paris

(b) This is contrary to what has been faid above in the Re-mark A mark A (c) The Criticks find a great faults with 11 See the Op nion of Some Diwines of Holland beard Say, that Mr le Moyne mas defir'd by the Friends of Mr d'Andilli to mark the places which he thought

(c) Balzac lettre 19 of 2 B à Chape-lain, dated 14 Aug.

the Trans-

might miftake, and that be excused bin-

self for fear of marking

lators

know "Armseld of Andilli-lerv'd the King "and the State Twenty Years As a Reward of his Services he had a Peninon of Eight Thou"fand Livers given him, which were afterwards "reduced to hix, with this he retir d to Pompone, a "Village Seven or Eight Leagues distant from Paris, where for sking the Vanities of the World, and leading a truly Christian Life, he composed divers Works Fis Letters, the Poem (b) on the Life of JESUS CHRIST—, Josephus of the History of the Jews The Works of St Therefe, "slafe of Davila translated, are the Fruits of his "Solitude—The best of his Translations is that of Josephus (c) Sometime after it had been published, Richeles went one Day to see him at Pompone, after some Discourse, the Conversation tell on the manner of some Authors Composing And knowing that Richeles was particularly unquainted with the famous Ablancours, he ask'd him how many times that excellence Man ictured each Piece of Work before he gave it to the Publick Richeles answer'd fix times, and I, reply'd Mr Armsuld, have revised the History of Tolophus ten times, I have carefully corrected the Stile of it, and polish'd it more than any of my other Works Armsuld d'Andille—in his Retirement after seven or eight Hours Study, every Day us'd to dwert himself with the pleasures of the Country, and above all others with that of pruning his Trees. He had generally so good Fruit, that every Year he sent Presents of it to Queen Arme of Aufria, and that Princess was so well pleas d with it, that every Season she defir'd to have some "This Application to Gardening, and Philosophising profoundly on the Nature of Frees, is attested by Mr Parault in his Hommershluster, p. 143, Edition of the Carlend in his Hommershluster, p. 143, Edition

(D) Balzac's Refettion on that Lofe] What he writ upon it makes much for the Honour of our Robert Arnould and his Family (e) "The News of Madam d'Andilli's Death touch d me fenfibly I concern my felf in all the good and bad Successes of a Family which ought to be dear to Brance, and which is born for the Honour of the French Name But I pitty our Friend particularly, who having never had any unlawful Passion, looies all his Mistresses and Pleasures at once in his Wife. He is nevertheless to well skill'd in the Christian Doctrine, and has so main y Learned Men of his Family about him, that he needs no Stoick Philosophy, noi any foreign Assistance to desend himself against the Attacks of Fortune. All Argue, all Preach, all Persuade in that Fumily, and one Arnauld is worth a Dozen Episterus's

(A) Son of Anthony Arnauld the Advocate That Descent is undoubtedly the Original of the great Hatred of the Jesuits for Mr Arnauld, and of him for the Jesuits The Author of the Question Currense will not absolutely disown this seeing he speaks in this manner (g) Mr Arnauld was Born the

"fixth of February in the Year 1612 His Father was Mi Anthony Arnauld so famous at the Bar, and known in the History of the Jesuits by the famous Plea which he made against them for the University of Paris, in 1594—For the Reason which I have mention'd, Mr Arnauld was born which I have mention'd, Mr Arnauld was born which I have mention'd in the Crime of the Plea having made the Father a Calvinist, and Minister of Antichrist in the Mind of the Jesuits, tho' always a good Catholick and a good Chistian every where else, the Son in their regard could not fail to be born a Child of Wiath, and to be yet worse than a Heretick, before he could be a Christian. One of the Protestant Authors who writ against the Casvinism of Maimbourgh, believed, that Mr Arnauld's Hatted for the Jesuits proceeded tom Education. These are his (1) Words. "I have (k) formerly compared him to Hamibal, too obtinately persecuted by the Romans. I cannot tell whether I may not compare him to the same Hamibal, promising his Lather in his tender. Years, that as soon as he should be of Age to bear Arms, he would make War against those mortal Enemies of his Country. It is well known that Mr Arnauld, Advocate in the Pail amous Anihony Arnauld, Advocate in the Pail ament of Paris, who pleaded so eloquently for the University against the Jesuits, in the Year 1594, and who forgot nothing to persuade the Judges, that they ought not to be tolerated in the Kingdom. That Astion made him as odious to all the Society, as all the Society was to the Jesuits, into his Sons, it is very certain at least, that in this they have not degenerated from the Vertue of their Fathers

(AD) He gave a rmarkable Instance of his Interrey, Docility and Flumility] (1). At the end of the Course of Philosophy which he taught in the College of Mans in the University of Paris, he mide several of his Schollars maintain Theses Among whom was the Sieur Baibey, since a famous Professor of Philosophy in the same University, and M Wallon de Beaupuis, an Ecclesiastick of Beauvais, a Person of great Piety, who is fill alive, and has given this late in Writing This latter maintaining his Thesis the acth of july 1641 M de la Barde a learned Priest of the Olatory, and at that time Canon of the Cathedral Church in Paris disputed there, and uig d his Arguments so home, that the Professor was oblig d to come in to the assistance of his Schollars But, he was even so hard press'd by the famous Disputant, that he found there was no good Answer to be given him. It had been no hard matter for him to have got off by an indisferent distinction as the Professor often do But that did not suit with his Sincerity and Love of Truth. He told him then publickly and without Ceremony, that he believ'd him to be Bbb 2 "in

(1) Nouvelles lettres, p

(k) In the 5th Le ter of th tique Genei ile, Libere mus diuturna cura popu-lum Romanum, quando mortem fents expestare longum censent. Gr T Live 1 39

(1) Hist abregce de Mi Arnauld, p 46

(g) P 12

* He had been admitted there the 31st of October 1636 Præf Caufa Arnald D XXVI

Conf for to Richelieu and aftermards Bi-Jhop of Chartres

Ibe Title of this Confutationis, An Apology for the Holy I 1thers of the Church, Detenders of the (race of lefus Christ

(a) Pixf Cufa.Arnıldına, p xviii

(4) Hist Abiegce, P 47

() Sed illos detendit numerus uner que umbone phalinges วี นาบเห Sa 2

(d) Pixf Lanfu Aimild p vix

Licence without the least design of becoming a Member of the Sorbonne—He'd bave bet , with enjoying the Rights * of Hospitality, which gave him the liberty of lodging in the But the chief Doctors having pres'd him to think seriously of entring into and having pres'd him to think seriously of entring into the hot hat he would be seriously of the loss of mised him, provided that he would Regent a Course of Philosophy, no notice should be taken as to the Circumstance of the Time, he undertook that mata without any regard to the Obstacles that lay in his way, to wit, that while he was perform Alts of his Licence, the Time wherein the Statutes prescribed that the Course of Philosophy for the gone thro' was elapsed. The two Years of this painful Work being ended, he supplicated the that they would admit him to the proof of his Course, and deliberate on the Honour he demanded of being received into that illustrions Body Mr le Escot found an occasion at this time to be revenged on him. He had never taught his Penitent | Cardinal Richelieu to forgive, and he had learned of bis Penitent never to jorgive. He hinder'd (ADA Mr. Arnauld's being admitted into the Society of the Sorbonne He had not the same Credit after the Death of the Cardinal But it he had the mortification to fee this young Doctor enter into that Society in the Year 1643, He did not fail indeavouring to exclude him as foon as an Opportunity offer'd. The Book concerning trequent Communion, publish'd by Mr Arnauld in 1643, displeased the Jesuits extreamly They confuted it both in their Sermons, and in Printed Books, as fraught with the most pernicious Doctrines The Disputes on Grace, which grew hot in those Days in the University of Para, served only to foment the Animosities between the Jesuits and Mr Arnauld I his Doctor detended Jansenim's Cause in Writings of great force, either by refuting the three Sermons of Mr Habert, and the Apology which this Preacher made for them, or by refuting | M1 le Moine Professor of Sorbonne, and others of that side No legal Ground could be found to censure him, till he had publish'd two Letters (B) on an Adventure of the Duke de Liancour, a great Friend of Port-Royal I wo Propolitions were found in the 2d of those Letters, which the Faculty of Theology condemn'd And Mr Arnauld was at the same time declared excluded from the in the Year 1656 in the right, that his Opinion appeared in his Judgment the most true, and that he himself would follow it for the future. He was " as good as his word, for about three Years af" ter, this same Disciple of his being to perform "his probation Lecture in the Sorbonne for his De-gree of Batchelor, he desir'd Mr Arnauld to compose his Thesis for him He did it, and laid down the contrary Opinion to that in his own Thesis of Philosophy. An effential part is wanting in this Narrative. It is not faid what Opinion Mr Arnauld had maintain'd, when he contess d his Error upon a strong Objection of the Opponent Let us supply this, and say, that the Thelis which Mr de la Barde attack'd was this the I nens which Mr de la Bardeattack'd was this

(a) Eni finonymi convenit Dio & creatura. The Author of the Narrative judges right when he says (b), that this Action of Mr Arnauld was great before God, and rare among Men, and that That which proceeds from uprightness of Heart, from a constant and uniform Love of Truth, from a Greatness of Soul, which is above the Desire of Vittory, and the tean of listening a keputation—is always great. But so me it seems that he treats the Solvenness has lear of defening a keputation—is always great But to me it feems that he treats the Solutions that may be given to the Arguments of those who maintain, that the Idea of Being does not agree Univocally to God and the Creatures, with a little too much Disdain. I have tormerly examin'd that Dispute which is very famous in the Schools, and wis of Opinion, that they who deny the univo-cation of Being (c), have the Croud, and Numbers on their fide, but not the most folid Reasons, wherefore I chose the Opinion which they op-pose I shave maintain'd it often in public Disputes, but never found that any puzzling Objection was proposed to me Not but my Adversary presently leap d to the Objection, that God is a Being per excellentiam, and a most necessary Beis a Being per excellentiam, and a most necessary Being, Insinite, Soveraignly Perfect, whereas the Being of the Creatures is only precarious. I sound no manner of difficulty in the Objection, for the Rudiments of the Doctrine of the Universals instruct us, that the Ideas of the Genus separate intirely from the Specifick Properties by an Abstraction of the Mind. But if I had known that Mr Arnald having once been of this Opinion, had remounced it in the shock of the Dispute, I would have suspected that there were some Difficulties in it, which I had not met with in any of the Somith. have suspected that there were some Difficulties in it, which I had not met with in any of the Spanish School-men that I had examin'd Let's remember that it sobserv'd he was not constrain'd to change his Opinion. This imports that he did not find his shift I enet indefensible, but only that the Analogy of Being, seem'd to him a better Dostrine than the Univocation. (d) Erudito discipulo sub vial of some an gumenturum mole fatiscence, suppetias vienit Mig ster. dingue consistatus, non cedendi necessitate. nit Mig fter, dinque conflictatus, non cedendi necefficate ccastu., fed veritate & veritatis amore victus, victum fe ultrò profisse est, & a sintentia sua discessarum publice spopondis Promissis stetit, &c

(ADA) Mr l'Escot hinder'd Mr Arnauld's being admitted into the Society of the Sorbonne] (f) Abregée de Mr Arnauld's Request "They alledged Statutes and "Custom against those who were for him, which" requir'd that the Course should be personally "tore his Licence And as concerning that if ference, which was to be decided by a plurally of "Voices, their Opinion was, that Cardinal Richelieu, Provisor of the Sonbonne ought to be the Judge of what was against the Laws and Liberry Judge of what was against the Laws and Liberty of the House, and it would have been a Crime at that time to refuse such a Judge Monsieur Hardwillers, Archbishop of Bourges, and Mr Habers, Doctor of Divinity of the Church of Paris, were deputed to him—(g) The Cardinal did not judge it proper that the Society should do any thing against their Statutes and Customs But it was not so much a Zeal for the Orders and Rules of the House which made him act in that manner, as the knowledge he had of a strict Union between Mr Arnauld and Mr de Sr Cyran, as Resentment, because Mr Arnauld had not sought his Protection during his Licence; and lastly as the influence which Mr l'Escot had on his Penitent the Cardinal's Mind For the Doctor had been one of the only two Opposers, and, as I have faid, had conceived a great Prejudice against Mr. Arnauld from a meer Spirit of Jealousie and Revenge It was certainly more honourable for Mr Arnauld to be excluded the Society in this manner, than receiv'd into it as most others are However he was receiv'd into it after the "Cardinal's Death, the Sorbenne, as well as other "Societies having then recover'd its Liberty again" Mr l'Escot, "(b) indemnified himself a long time after, by getting him excluded both the House and Faculty, by a Censure of 1656, in which he "was the promoter, together with Mr l'Administration." was the promoter, together with Mr le Moya ceffor of his Chair, and of his Opinions

(B) On an Adventure of the Duke de Limicour }
That Duke fent his Grand-Daughter to be Educated in Port-Royal, and kept the Abbot of Bourzey in his House In the Year 1655, he came to Confession to a Priest of St Sulpice his own Parish, who declar'd, "that he could not absolve him, un-" unless he promised to bresk off all Conversion. unless he promis'd to break off all Conversation with those Gentlemen, to with-draw his Grand-Daughter from Post-Royal, and dismiss that Abbot—This Business having made a great noise in Paris, and all over France, Mr Arnauld was desir'd to get a Leter Printed in justication of this Lord—A great number of Writings having been publish'd against that Letter, Mr Ainauld thought himself oblig'd to refute the Calumnies with which they were fill'd,

(g) Ibid

(b) Ibidi P 33

There were several (C) Irregularities in the Proceedings against him He had not appeared publickly for several Years before, for from the time that he had been cited to Rome on occasion of the Disputes about his Book concerning frequent Communion, the Queen-Mother being with much ado prevailed with to revoke the Orders she had given him to depart in adiately, he passed his Time abscording here and there or as a solutary him to depart in adjately, he passed his Time absconding here and there, or as a solitary at Port-Royal in Country I his retired Lite continued near twenty five Years, till the Pacification Jansenism, concluded in 1668 Mr Arnauld was included in it among the rest; and accordingly went to pay his Duty to the King and the Nuncio, and appear'd as much as he pleas'd in Publick, till 1679, when he voluntarily quitted the Kingdom, being inform'd, that his Enemies rendered him suspected to the King * It is not doubted but he has liv'd in the Low-Countries ever since that time, tho' he has discovered himfelf only to a very small number of trusty Friends He was distuib'd at Leise in the Year (D) 1690 The Reflection made on that Enterprize deserves the Consideration of those who govern He continued his Exploits of the Pen against the Jesuits to his Death, as he did for some time against those of the Reform'd Religion, but a Minister who had been the most exposed to his Attacks, made use of a Stratagem in the Year 1883, which put an end to his Irruptions on the Protestant Party I speak of the Author of the Esprit (E) DE MR ARNAULD We might give a long Lift of Falshoods

" by causing a second Letter to be Printed, which 1

(k) Ib p
69, & 70

answer'd nine of those Writings (1) (() Many Irregularities in the proceedings] "Commissioners were nam d (k) in Mr Arnauld's Caufe, who were his most declared Enemies, against whom he had written on those Matters, and who were known by every Body to have been the most passionate for his Ruin, and all the Rethe most passionate for his Ruin, and all the Representations he could make upon it signified nothing. All the Doctors of the Community of Saint Sulpice, against whom Mr Arnauld's Letter was written, had the hardness and injustice to continue his Judges, notwithstanding his Exceptions, whereas they wanted only a little Honour to make them decline it of themselves. as good Men do in the secular Tribunals." salves, as good Men do in the secular Tribunals"

Salves, as good Men do in the secular Tribunals"

Salves, as good Men do in the secular Tribunals "

Salves, as good Men do in the secular Tribunals "

Salves, as good Men do in the secular Tribunals "

Salves, as good Men do in the secular Tribunals"

Salves, as good Men do in the secular Tribunals "

Salves, as good Men do in the secular Tribunals"

Salves, as good Men do in the secular Tribunals "

Salves, as good Men do in the secular Tribunals"

Salves, as good Men do in the secular Tribunals "

Salves, as good Men do in the secular Tribunals "

Salves, as good Men do in the secular Tribunals"

Salves, as good Men do in the secular Tribunals "

Salves, as good Men do in the secular Tribunals "

Salves, as good Men do in the secular Tribunals"

Salves, as good Men do in the secular Tribunals "

Salves, as good Men do in the secular Tribunals "

Salves, as good Men do in the secular Tribunals"

Salves, as good Men do in the secular Tribunals "

Salves, as good Men do in the secular Tribunals "

Salves, as good Men do in the secular Tribunals"

Salves, as good Men do in the secular Tribunals "

Salves, as good Men do in the secular Tribunals"

Salves, as good Men do in the secular Tribunals "

Salves, as good Men do in the secular Tribunals"

Salves, as good Men do in the secular Tribunals "

Salves, as good Men do in the secular Tribunals"

Salves, as good Men do in the secular Tribunals "

Salves, as good Men do in the secular Tribunals"

Salves, as good Men do in the secular Tribunals "

Salves, as good Men do in the secular Tribunals"

Salves, as good Men do in the secular Tribunals "

Salves, as good Men do in the secular Tribunals"

Salves, as good Men do in the secular Tribunals "

Salves, as good Men do in the secular Tribunals"

Salves, as good Men do in the secular Tribunals "

Salves, as good Men do in the secular Tribunals"

Salves, as good Men do in the secular Tribunals "

Salves, as good Men do in the secular Tribunals"

Salves, as good Men do i and Violations of Natural Equity, will also appear, if the Act (b) of Protestation be read which Mr Ar-nauld mide against the Ficulty

I HL Book that was Printed at Leige in the Year 1699, under the Title of Caula Arnaldina, may serve tor a compleat Instruction concerning the Proceedings of the Divines of Paris, and concoming the Substance of the Dostrines which they centured Several Writings have been collected in that Book which Mr Amount and his Party caused to be Printed in those Times to support the

Justice of his Cause

(D) He was disturbed at Leige in the Year 1690] Six Superiors aftembled for some Canonical plost against him These were the Guardian of the I ranciscans, the Guardian of the White-I ryers, the Sub-Prior, the Vicar of the Augustins, the Restor of the Jesuits, the Vicar of the Dominicans, and the Prior of the facobins They call d him One Arnauld, but with submission to them, this could do no Honour to their Communities, there is an Ignorance in it unpardonable in Men of Letters, or an Affectation of Difdain unbecomming Persons who are confecrated to the Service of the who make Decrees concerning the true Faith There is no Man of Letters who can fay, without expos-ing hanfelf to the Laughter of the Learned, one Scaleger, one Sirmond, one Petavius, one Salmaius, one Carotius, one Salden, and (if the Question is about the Doctor of the Sorbonne) one Arnauld The Disputes wherein this latter found himself The Disputes wherein this many and are remarkable by so many great Exploits on both sides, that all Men of Books who should think themselves that all men of Books who should think themselves that all men of Books who should think themselves that all men of Books who should think themselves that all men of Books who should think themselves that all men of Books who should think themselves that all men of Books who should think themselves that all men of Books who should think themselves the should be s but sufficiently books who inouid think themselves but suspected of being ignorant of em, would have reason to oppose the four following Verses of virgil to suprisons so injurious

Qu s (c) genus Aneadum, quis Trojancfriat urbem, I irtutesque, virosqui, aut tenti incendia belli ? Non obtusu adeo gestamus pectora Pani,

Nec tam aversus equos Tyrio sol jungit ab urbe Be it how it will, I cannot forbeat setting down here the Decree (1) of the Six Regulars of Leige, the Latin of it is to exquisite, that it may serve to unbend my Reader a little Nos infra scripts Supeniores Conventuales Regularium in Civitate Leodienfi, certiorati de Conventiculis, qua habentur apud C I R-TUM ARNOLDUM doctrinam suspectam spargentem, cenfimus D I icarium charitative cirtiorandum ut similia Conventicula dissipare, & prohibere non de-dignetur eti im cum dicto Arnoldo conversationis Datum in Conven u Minorum hac -5 Augusti 169 Ad quem efficium commissmus R P M i udovicum Lanet Priorem Dominicanorum, ad nomine nosti o accedendum D Vicarium, & exponeudumintentionem nosti am The Author of the Question Currente lays indeed (e), that I ather d'Iserin hid bragg d of laving a Commission or Permission from his Hirthurs the Bishop of Linge, to cause Mr Arnauld to be Arrested whereever he shou's find him in the Diocijs, but (f) he looks on it as an egregious Lye

(F) Of the LSPRIT DT MR ARNAULD. A hundred things may be faid of that Work, but as it is likely there may be other occasions of men-tioning it, I shall confine my self to a small num-ber of Observations here. The Author of that Observations here Book had publish'd a Writing which had met with great Success They who had the care of the Impress success. I ney who had the care of the Impression at the Hague intitul'd it, The Politicks of the Chrey of France. They are Dialogues in which there is a great deal of Beauty and Politicness, but little Solidity of Argument, and very little Circumfpection in the vending of several Facts which are notoriously file Monf Annuald (g) refuted that Book with a little too much Scoin, and in a manner fo much the more difobliging, as he manifeftly convinc'd his Adversary of having argued very weakly, and fet forth divers I alfities. He began with another (h) Book of the same Author and feem'd to have a mind to reply to the Apology for the Morality of the Reform d concerning the Inamiffibility of Grace In a word, the Author of the Politicks of the Clergy fore-law very well that he was like to have such an Adversary in Mi Arnauld as would never give him any quiet, never pass over a Contradiction, a talse Reasoning, or false Matter of Fact. This did by no means suite with a Man who was resolved to publish a great many Books, and who fellom give himfelf the trouble of revising what he had once writ He gave himfelf up to his Passions, and to the heat of his Imagination, and these were an unexhaustible Source to him of false Logicks and gross Contradictions He consider'd then what Course he had best take to hinder Mr Arnauld from sticking thus upon his Skirts, and judg'd that none could be more effectual than attacking him Personally, I mean imputing all manner of personal ill Qualities to him. He executed this Design with all the Passion imaginable, and finding himself in a Carreer of Slander, he stuck at nothing, he cast about to the Right and Lest, to find more and more Matter of Saryr, so that the same may be said of him on the Head of Slander, as was said of Mi Vitoure on that of Love, he understood it from the Scepter to the Sheephook, from the Grown to the blue Bonney.

Mr. Armand not thinking it proper to engage net Mr Arnauld not thinking it proper to engage with a Man who fought with fuch Weipons, refolved to be absolutely filent as concerning the Retorm'd, so that what all the Society of the Jefurts could not have compassed, one single Minister contriv'd and executed fuccessfully, I speak of the Secret of silencing that Doctor This is not the only Advantage which the Author of the Esprit de Mr Arnauld has drawn from that Satyr, he struck such a terror into an hundred other Authors who would have attack'd him, and into a World of other Persons, to whom he was not the most agree-

(z) Queltion curicuse, p 18, & 19

(b) At p Question curiente Sec in the Nouvelles de la Rep des letties. for June

1686 ari 3 whit Launoi thought of this censure of the Sorbonne AReflexion on Mr Arnauld's being treated with the flighting Appella tion of (c)Æneid lib y v . (d) This Story is told at the # 28tb Page of ftion cu-

Book Printed in 169c, and entitul d, Question h Mr Arnauld Docteur de Sor bonne est que, or from a took 2d Edition of this much aug mn ed, and pub-list d in 1695 with the Title of Histoire Abieger de la vic & desOu-Viages de Mi Ainauld See Alfo the Pi face to

> t see the BOSSU

Arnal-

dına

(e) Page 198

(f) Page

(g) In the Apol gy for the Ca-Holicks Printed in 1682 tul d. Pieferv itif cottre le changement de Religion

* Sce the Remark C of the Ar. ticle of Anthony Arnauld In Adva-

(e) Tali-

bus insidus perjurique

tæ res, doli-Quos neciptique que I y-dides nec

Lariffæus

Achilles,

Non anni

domuere

non mille

Lugal An

() Huc

delecta

vuum corpora

ca co late-u, penituique

avēi nas

Ingentes, que 1rma-

to milite

complent

(1) This is a (harsu-

, onlewithn 16 0 17

I capues of Paris

() The 41h

11, 41 a

then c, til ofor al n in 11 1 1111-a ke 1 on 1655 50

a 10 11

1 A Part of the 4th Factum of

(1) b Dr and 100 171

Littum jor tle Rerions it Intenius uterum fuitim Includune

decem,

caring

11 195

arte Sinonis CrediFalshoods in point of Fat which concern this Doctor, but we shall content our selves with only mentioning a few of 'em' I was pretended that he was Born a Huguenor *. He has been reckond (F) one of the Cabal of Bourg Fontaine He has been made to go (6) to the Nocturnal Witch-Meetings He has been fent to Command (H) the Troops able, that they durst not draw his Indignation upon them. This ought not to be so insprizing, for in thort there are few Families which may he reproach d with iome Adventure, or who have not Lucinics malicious enough to pelt them with foine scandalous Story, when it may be given to one who knows how to get it Printed without Punishment, The Esprit de Mr Arnauld, seems to promise an Impression to all the little scandalous Stories that might be fent by the Post, whether they concern'd a private Perion as Inther Soulier, or publick Minister as the late Mr Colbert

I'm not ignorant that a young Jansenist considering the effect of that Satyr, compar d Mr Arnauld to the Ancient City of Iroy, which the bravest Warriors and a Thousand Ships could not conquer (k), and which fell by the cunning of a Defertor and a Wooden Horie Its true, added he, this Comparison won thold in all Points, for the Efprit de Mr Ainauld does not resemble the Wooden Horse, which had the (a)(h ef Captains of the Army in its Belly, but rather resembles those Ships which by Hannibal's Advice were provided with Laithen Pots fill d with Vermin and Serpents See Corneliu

Nepos in the Life of that Carthaginian Captain

(1) H has been reckon'd one of the Cabal of Bourg-I ountaine] DuPleix's C illumnies with regard to the lather, are nothing in comparison of the Falshood which Mr Filleau, the King's Advocate in the Prefidial Court of Poistiers, publish d concerning the Son in the Year 1654, for there is no doubt that he reckon d Mr Arnauld in the number of the Seven Doctors of the Assembly of Bourg-Fountaine (b) The Case, in short, was this Mr Fill au publishing a Juridical Relation in the Y at 1654, of what had past at Poiliers, on occasion of the new Do-Ctrine of Jansinus, declaid, that an Ecclesiastick had told him, that in a Conference which Seven Persons had had at Bourg-Fountain, in the Year 1621, they consulted on Means to destroy Christianity, that this Leclesiastick had himself been one of the Seven, that some time after he broke with the other Six, whereof only one was now living, and whole Names were (J, D V D H) (C J) (P C) (P C) (A A) (S V) By certain Circumstances belonging to this Narrative, and by the Character of certain Books, which we are given to understand were published purely for executing the Ingagements enter'd into at Bourg-Fontain, every one believed that the Letters of the first Name design d fohn du Verger de Hauranne, Abbot of St. Cyr. an., that those of the second design d bot of St Cyran, that those of the second design d C reclius Jansenius, Bishop of Tyres, that those of the third design'd Phil p Cospian Doctor of Sorbonne, Bishop of Nantes, and since of Liseux, that those of the fourth design'd Peter (amus Bishop of Belley, that those of the fifth design'd Anthony Arnauld, mention d in this Atticle, and that those of the fixth design d 5 mon 1 gor Councellor in the great Council Mr Fleau ishims, That it was resolved in thir Assembly to annul two sacraments which we the nell transmitted of the are the mell frequented by the Adult, to wit, those of tentimes, and of the Fuchardi and the Means proposed for attaining his one, was by introducing a disuse of em, not ly showing in direct Design of making em less frequented, but by rendering the Practice of em so dis-ficult, and clog d with Circumstances so incompatible with the Condition of the Men of those Times, that they with the Connition of the Men of those Times, that they should ren in in a mann r inaccissible, and that by this dissection, evoluted on so sain appearances, the Use of them would be dread be less. The Publick thought that this was pointed at Mr Arnauld, because of this Book of Inquent Communion, and that therefore Mr Fileau certainly meant him, by the fifth of those dangerous (1) Conspirators against the Christian Religion, mark d (A A).

As it does not concern us in this Place to examine the Truth or Falshood of this Consorrate.

mine the Truth or Falshood of this Conspiracy, I shall content my self with saying, that Mr Arnau'd look d (d) upon this is one of the highest Lxceffe of Calumny that had ever been known and that in particular he clear'd himself invincibly of the Acculation of being found in the Conference of those Diefts. I or he made it appear, that hajunicinus ving been Born in 161., he could be but nine

Years of Age when it was pretended that this Conference was held This Justification is so strong, that not only the filence of the Accuser, but even the formal Contession of one of the Accusers Friends made it appear, that nothing could be answer'd to it On the other side, Father (e) Meynier pretending, that Mr Filleau's Relation concerning the Conference of Boung Fountaine, contain'd nothing but what was very certain, confifs, that Mr Arnauld had given conventing Proofs that he was not of this Af-fembly, but, adds he, he is decoved in believing that Anthony Arnauld is the Person meant by the Letters A A I tell him in behalf of the Author of the Juridical Relati-Itell him in behalf of the Author of the Juridical Relation, that those Letters design another who is yet living, and is too good a Friend of Mr Arnauld's to be unknown to him Mr Pascal, who was then writing the Previncial Letters, press'd the Jesusta home to name the private Betrayer of the Conference, the Six Doctors who had assisted at it, and particularly him who was designed by the Letters A. A. and ly him who was delign d by the Letters A A and who not being Mr Arnauld himself, was too intimate a I riend of his to be unknown to him. But these Challenges were disregarded, and it's but a few Years ago, that (f) a very famous Jesuit of Animorp declar'd to the Publick, that That Friend Arnauld was his own Brother Arnauld d' Andilli This has been already confuted Somark B of the Article Arnauld d'Andilli See the Re-

(G) He has been made to go to the Notturnal Witch-Meeting:] I cannot tell in which of the two Assemblies Mr Arnauld would rather have been, at that of Bourg Fountaine, or that which the late Mi Maupai Bishop of Evreux, has somewhere spoken of It is certain the (g) affirm'd to several Perfons, that he had been inform'd by a conversed Wizard, that he had seen Mr Arnauld, and a (h) certain Princels of the Blood, at the Nocturnal Witch Meetings, and that Mr Arnauld had made a very fine Speech to the Devils" If he must have mide a choice between these two Extremes, and if the Speech might tend only to excite the Demons to some kind of amendment of Life, I make no doubt but the Doctor would much rather have 'peech'd in this Meeting, than have given his Oponion in the Charter house of Bourg-Fountaine, for the abolishing Christianity, and the propagating of Deilm Twere abusing the Patience of my Readers to expose to 'em the ridiculousness of the little Story which this Prelate has told feveral Persons, it's one of those Falshoods which Mr Arnauld does one of those Falshoods which Mr Arnauld does not think that any one ought ever to give himself the trouble of consuting. These are his Words, (1) The interest of Homour may be considered two mays, either with regard to the Calumny in it self, which possibly may be very haineus, or with regard to those who being once prepossist with it, might afterwards have a very ill Opinion of the Person calumniated. It is properly the latter Consideration which obliges a Person to desend himself. So how enormous security by he in themdefend himself, for how enormous soewer they be in them-selves, they may safely enough be slighted, if they are of such a Nature that no sober Person will give credit to them As for Example, what the late Mr de Maupas Bishop of Evreux had formerly said, that he was told by a Converted Wizard, that Mr Arnauld had been at their Notturnal Meetings, and that the Devils has admir dehe Speech he made to em, was in it self a bor rible Calumny, in the mean time if any importance.

Islem had put this in a Libel, would any one have the Doctor trouble himself to confute it, and in diffult of this, would there be any reason to suppose that twas the impellibility of aniwering it which forc'd him to be illent, and that he had in effect confest it

(H) Had been sent to command the Troops of the Vaudois] This I alshood has little more probability than the tormer There have been (k) late Manuscripts which posservely affirm'd, that the Arnauld who is at the Head of the Vandois, is Mr Arnauld the Doctor of Sarbonne, who has at last dictar'd himself, and does Wonders in Savny at the Head of the Troops of that Party It would be a very furprizing Metamorphosis, if at the Age of Seventy Eight Years a Doctor of the Sorbonne, who never did any thing but study, and who has writ so much against the Protestant Manusters should himself be-

(e) In the Book in-ittul d Le Port-Royal & Geneve d'intelligence contre le St Sacrement de Printed as Poitiers т 1656

(f) P Hazart IN his Answer to the Factum for the Relations of Tanfenius See the Hift des Quvr des Sav Fevr 1688 G the 2d part of the Ath Factum of the Re-lations of Jansenius

(g) Fourth I actum

bably the late Dutchefs of Longue Ville

(1) Tome 3 de la Morale Pratique, 257

(k) Question curicule,p 4 of the Vaudois He has had the Office given him (1) of Squite to the Golish Piter "u He has been faid to have been (K) banish'd leance, and that he wroce the Apology for the Catholicks only to recover his (L) Benefice. They have ascribed several

(m) Tro1fieme plainte de Mı Aınauld,p 8 come a Collonel Manistry, and change his Pen for a Sword and a brown Musker, firrying to make the Carrabineers of Arnauld still talk'd the Carrabineers of Arnauld itill talk'd of more than those of one of his Unkles, very well known to the Reschellers under the Reign of Lewis XIII The late Bishop of Leige has been told (m) at his own Table, That Mr Arnauld had abjur at the Catholick Faith at Boisleduc, and that he was married there. The most part of those who are call'd Zea lots fear nothing more than the Orthodoxy of there The most part of those who are called Zea lots, fear nothing more than the Orthodoxy of those whom they accuse They don't imitate God, who desires nor the Death of a Sinner, but that he may be converted and levy They would have him whom they have once accused apostatize in good earnest, and are vext he does not go over to the Enemies Party to make their Accusations good They would much rather have their Brother damn himself, than that they should pass for notorious Calumniators See (n) what a Modern Author Caus when the fays upon this

(n) Critique gene-rale de Maimbourg, p 584 de la 2,edition

(p) They gave him because he was a Natural Son of Phil p IV of

Spann

(1) The Office of Squire to the Goliah Peter Jurieu]
They who plac'd Mr Arnauld at the Head of the Vaudois, did certainly disoblige him less, than they who represented him as Squire to the Goliah Jurieu. This the Bishop of Mulaga did in his Catalogical Completes by applying as well as he could tholick Complaint, by applying as well as he could to these two samous Writers a Thought of St Bernard, about Peter Abelard and Arnauld of Bresse, which gives him an opportunity of making use of this Conclusion Isti qui modo surrexerunt novus Golias, & ejus armiger, PETRUS scilicet & ARNALDUS facili negotio exterminabuntus The Publick his feen the Letter which Mr Arnauld writ to this Prelate, wherein he shews him, that must needs have surprized (p) his Highnets frangely, who made him take the Doctor "Arnaula for the Squire to Mr Jurieu the Golish" of the Protestants against the Catholick Party tor, continues he, it your Highness had known that Arnauld, you could not have been capable of so "Arnauld, you could not have been capable of 10 if great an Error in Judgment, as to make two of the most declar'd Enemies in the World of the same "Party, and to take him who has zealously supported the Cause of the Church against that Minister, for his Associate and Considert in the cruel War which he makes against the Church It is certain, that the two Authors that have been taken, the one for Goliah, and the other for the Goliah's Squire, are both to far from being flich, that it is not more falle that Mr Arnauld affifted at the Conference of Bourg-Fountaine, or at the No-Eturnal Meetings of the Wizards, or at the Irruptions of the Voudois, than that he is the Squire of the Goliah Peter Jurieu Nothing then can be more infined, or more remote from the Truth, than the

Allusions borrow'd from the Passage of St Bernard
This is what the pretended Goliali has no less re-

This is what the pretended Golials has no less reproach'd the Author of the Catholick Complaint with, than the pretended Squire "If that Bi"ship, says he, had a discerning Taste (a), he "would not have made his violent Investives turn on the filly Allusions of the Names of Arnauld of "Bress, and Peter Abaillard, meaning, that Monsieus Annauld is the Successor of Arnauld of Bress, and the Minister Peter Jurieu of Peter Abaillard
"He would not have call'd that Minister the Solials Enemy of the Church, and Arnauld his "Arnauld is of a fitter Age, Size and Strength to be the Golials, than the Squire This he also "pretends to, and no Body will dispute the Honour with him I must here note a small Defect of Memory in

I must here note a small Defect of Memory in (d) There's Comparison of Amauld of Bresse with Arnauld of Paris, and of Peter Abaillard with Peter Jurieu, they made the Bishop of Malaga to say, that this Doctor is the Goliah of the Party, and the Minister his Squire We have seen that he has been made to say quite the contrary

(K) That he had been banish'd France] A Doctor of Sarbonne (c) a Savoyard by Nation, maintain'd in a Book intitul'd Reasonable Prejudices against Jansenism, Printed (d) at Geneva in 1686, that Mr Ara nauld lind been banish d trance by the King's Or-The following Words in the Advertisement to the Reader import this, I did not think I could to the Reader import this, I did not think I could have spoken the whole Iruth, and not blam'd the conduct of this old Puritan, WHO BY THL JUSTICE OI THE MOST CHRISTIAN KING. IS A FUGITIVE in Holland It is nevertheles certain that he voluntarily quitted the kingdom, and no doubt can be mide of it after the Letters which he writ in 1679, to the Chancelloi Mi le Iellier, and to the Archbishop of Paris, Printed in the sinft Volume of the Esprit de Mr Arnauld in the Year 1684. So that its strange enough, that two Years after the Abbot de Ville should be ignorant of a Truth exposed to publick view, in a Satwo Years after the Abbot de Ville should be ignorant of a Truth exposed to publick view, in a Satur that has had such a run. But it is yet more strange, that in the Year 1690, Mr Arnauld should be obliged to get these two Letters Printed, to constitute those who (e) publish devery where the the was a Rebel to his King, and that he had been banish d France as a turbulent sellow. I do not believe that the Author of the Espit has reposited a less halfity, in maintaining, that he was (f) expelled thanders Altho this good Man, continues he, thinks that his Adventures arefolder buried, yet we have learn d from a sure Hand, that he was expelled the Netherlands is a sure Hand, that he was expelled the Netherlands es the Governor's Order The Term of Scouting which the Author of the General Criticism of Calvanija made use of, is somewhat equivocal This lave Spread a Report lays he (g), that Mr Aithauld's Housewas a Rendezvous of discontinted Persons, that (abilling and factious Conferences were held there, that they prepar d Memons thre for the Court of Rome; in a wond, they have obtain'd all that was needful to SCOUT him with the rest of the Cabal This means no more than that they obtain'd, that certain Orders should be sent to Mr Annuald, which were the cause that he made choice of a Retreat in a

ftrange Country

(L) To recover his Benefices Mr Junies was groftly miltaken when he faid, that Mr hnsuld had made the Apology for the Catholicks, in hopes to obtain a Re-admillion into France, that he might obtain a Re-admillion into France, that he might peaceably (b) enjoy his Efface and Eneficer, and that the fear of living his Benefices confif ared, engaged him in some take Steps. This could not be better disproved by a Geometrical Demonstration, than by the publick Declaration which Mr. Arnauld made, that he rever had a Benefice, for it can never enter into the Mind of a reasonable Man, that a Doctor so jealous of his Reputation as he is, and who could not expect to escape the most morrity-ing Confusion in case he fillely deny d that he hid a Benefice, when yet he enjoy'd one, thould venture to publish fuch a Filshood in a Printed Work We need then only look at these Words of Mr Arnauld, to be demonstratively convined of his Adversary's Lyng "The icditious manner," Adverfary's Lying "The icditious manner, " fays he (1), in which they had prefilm d to ipcak of the Affairs of that Country, oblig'd the Ambassador of his Britannick Majosty, to demand of the States a condemnation of the most passionate of their Libels, to which they were pleas d to give the Title of the Esprit de Mr Amauld, tho' perhaps I am the least ill treated in it, of a great number of Persons whom they pull to pieces without their having any relation to me but what is either Ridiculous of Imaginary, having almost nothing to reproach me with but secret Intentions, often grounded on manifest I alfities "Intentions, often grounded on manifest I alsities "As when they say, that it was from no manner of regard to Religion, that I made the Apology of the Catholicks, but from a prospect of Interest for fear of losing my Benefice, I WHO AI I "THE WORLD KNOWS HAVI NON! Thus he speaks in a Letter dated the oth of October 1684. He speaks no less affirmatively in a (k) Work Printed in 1689. "As for the Book fallely initial d Espri de Mr Arnauld, he never "(1) had any thought to answer it, for it having been sent him some time after it appear'd, and been sent him some time the it appear'd, and opening each Volume in several places, he lighted on such things as made him sufficiently acquainted with that Minister's Genius, as that foolish Calumny for one, that they suffer'd (m) their Children of Quality of twolve or thirteen "Years

(i) Queff cur seute. P 212

 $(f)_1$ tom p 38

(g) Let $

(b) Fiprat đe Mi Arnauld, tom r p 34, 36, 44

(1) Seconde iddir i 1 Apolog pour les Cathol P 14 of the Morile prat p 237,2,8

(1) It s of limelf trat Mr Arnauld Lunks

(m) Seetle (onfutation of this Story in nuld s D ff it 1'1o i on the protende ! א מוקיףו 11 of the Plea-Senle Pilna ted 11

(a) Rehgion des Jeiuites, P 59

(b) At the end of the 3d Iome of De Morale pratique, p 773

(c) Ho's "
call a be de Vil le See the Nouv de laRep des Lettres for July 1686 art to be taken of the Istle Page which fays at Cologn by Abraham du Boss.

Books (M) to him which he never compos'd, I shall take notice of some of them, and

Years of Age, who were studying human Learning at Port Voyal to read the Socinian Books "And another" no less ridiculous, the less harnous, that Mr Ar nauld WHO HAS NO BENLIICL, AND WHO NLVER SOUGHT ANY, writ the Apology to: the Catholicks to preserve his Benefices He concludes from hence, that to passionate and He concludes from hence, that to passionate and "unreasonable a Calumniator, being unworthy of Credit, deserved no Aniwer, and from that "time till now he never read a word in the Book before your Desence appeared" So that what the Latins express by the Proverb, Cantherius in porta, has happened to the Author of the Lyprit de Mr Arnauld He has stumbled at the very I hreshold Note, That Mr Arnauld had once (n) a Canon's Place in the Cathedral of Verdan, when he began

Place in the Cathedral of Verdun, when he began his Licence in the Year 1638, but he quirted that Benefice a little before he receiv'd Deacons Orders

in the Year 1641 (0)
(M) They aforth d several Books to him] I shall divide this Remark into four Sections

TUITY of I aith ADifpute between Mrs A -nauld & •laude

(p) Si the Remark () ΔΔ

(n) Præf

Caufa. Arnauld p vii

(o) Ibid

P XIX

I Without observing the Order of Time, for the first I alisty in this Matter about Books, I shall give that which regards the Perpetuity of Faith I of that Book has given occasion for the most tamous Dispute that ever was rais'd between the Roman Catholicks and Protestants Mr Claude who was Advocate for the latter, has gain d the greatest Honour by it, that ever Minister gain'd And Mr Arnauld, who was chief Advocate for the former, perhaps never made use of all the force of his Genius with more Application thin on this Occasi-on All that a vast Wit, Eloquence, Reading and Logick can furnish of the brightest and strongest Kind, has appear'd on both fides in the Course of the Dispute, each Party claims the Victory All the Trouble and Charge that Por -Royal has been at to get a great number of Attestations from the Levant, have been almost of no use against the Persuasions of the Reform d, touching the Taith of the Christians of that Country in the matter of the Lucharist The Ignorance that reigns among those Christians, the ill Reputation of the Greek Nation, Time out of Mind, in the Point of Since-rity, their Mercenariness (p) in subscribing of which they are thought not uncapable, &c en-ervate in the Lyes of Protestants all the Attesta-tions which Port-Royal has produc'd But this does not hinder, the Dispute's being look'd upon (Gerring aside the Profession of Parties) as one of (fetting afide the Profession of Parties) as one of the most memorable and glorious Transactions of Mr Amauld's Life I had reason than to begin this Remark by the first Exploit of this great Conteff

(q) A B R D I D P tlat to fry A-bel Rotolp de la Deveze Pasteur He was tormer 'y Master 15 Caffres, and is it present jo at the Hague

I could wish that the Author (q) who has given us a good I pitomy of the Life of Mr Claude, had with the utmost exactness, noted the Epoch of that War, since Mr Claude has put no Date to the Piesace of his sirft Book. This Defect may deceive the state of the state ieveral Perions, for example, I have Mr Claude's first Answer, Printed at Paris by Stephen Lucas in 167. The Title does not inform me whether it be the first of second Edition, and in the first Line of the Preface, I see that the Dispute had been depending about four Years, and that it was a Year fince the Manufcript that had been communicated at that time to Mr Claude, was Printed Till I have better information, I shall find my felt almost invincibly inclin'd to make this false Judgment, that the Perpetuity of the Faith was Printed the first time in the Year 1671 I do not fry this without having taken notice, that one is often wrong in Conjectures of this kind, when the date that is Requirite is not found to the Prefaces My Ldition of the Perpetuity of the Faith, is the fourth, and 'tis of the Yen 1666, but I am by it inform d of the date of the field, for I find at the bottom of the Abstract of the Licence, that the first Edition of that Book was finish'd the 15th of 7uly 1664. It feems to me that Mr Claude's first Answer is of the The Author of his Life not having thought exact Dates necessary in an Abridgment, his been the cause that the learned Men who write the Journal of Leipsiek, to the great Benefit of the Rejublick of Learning, and with much Honour to their City, which may justly be call d the A-shins of German, have been mistaken about the shift Wittings of this Minister They (b) pretend, that his first Answer to the Perpetuity of Fr th was Printed before he went to fieve the Church of Montaulan, but the truthes, thu the first and tecond were both Printed at the tame time, after the first had been handed about for four or five Years in Manuscript, and after he had left Manuscript.

Years in Manulcipt, and after he had left Mintauban But let's return to the Fift Mi de la Deveze does not affirm, that the Perpetuity of Faith is a Work of Mi Arnauld, but is latisfied with laying, that he is supposed to be the Author of it. The (c) Journalists of Le plick keep within the same Bounds, but in the Supplement of Morer, wherein a very long Article is given of Claude, taken partly from the Abridgment of his Life, it is positively affirm d that Mi Annauld is the Author of the Lerpeturey of Taith. In the mean time, the most common and probable Opinion afcribes that Book to Mi Nicolli, the three great Volumes of the Perpetury of defended to Mi Arnauld. Volumes of the Perpetu sy defended to Mi Arnauld, and the general Answer to the second Book of Mr Claude to Mr Nicoll. The Question can use of the nothing positively of it, because the Catalogue which is found in it of the Writings of the Gentlemen of Port Royal against the Protestints, does not distinguish those of Mr Nicolle, from those of Mi

Observe, that the first Volume of the Perpetuity Defended, was Printed in the Year 1669, and that the Author having heistated (d) for a Year, whether he should answer Mr Claud s Book began upon it in January 1667, and finish d that siist Volume in June 1668 Observe also, that it is sicrib d to Mr Arnauld in some of the Approbations at the Head of the Work This ought to remove al Uncer-

II The Author of the Fsprit d Mr Arnauld 3scribes the second Volume of the Moral Pratique to that Doctor, but gives no manner of reason for it Mr Annuld give him the Lye publickly "(e)" Its certain, Says do, that Mr Annuld is not the "Author of the Moral Pratique I he Jeluits have ascrib d it to him on the Faith of Mi Juneau only, a Person to much cry d down for his Halfities and I yes, and who is the only Min who afcribes that Book to Mr Arnauld as he does many other Pieces, in which every one elle knows he never had the least share. I rom that time the Accuser never endeavourd to justifie what he had said, so that Lquity will judge it a salfe Imputation. The Proofs must needs be very false Impuration difficult, feeing the Bishop of Malaga speaks but doubtfully of it, on the Authority of Mr Juricu, he fays (f), modo sit ARNALDUS, it innuit PETRUS JURIEUS in suo SPIRITU The Author of the Defence of the new Christians, who Author of the Defence of the new Christians, who is thought to be Father le Tellier, one of the best Pens of the Order, was more decisive than the Prelate, tho' he seems to have no other Authority than Mr Juri u I or which Mr (g) Arnauld gives him a smart Reprimand, and accuses him of rash Judging, which wounds Charity and Justice, if the Circumstances of it be well considered. He adds, the only Reason you have to make him the Author of it, is the Tistimeny of a Man, who, you say your less, is unworthy of any Credit, and so notorious for his Falstier, that he is only sit to make the clearest Truths question d when once he advances them

III The Journal of Leipsick ascribes (b) the Pre-

III The Journal of Leopfick ascribes (h) the Prejugez legitimes against the Calvinists to Mi Arnauld Nevertheless, according to the general Opinion of those who are best informed in these Particulars, Mr Nicolle is the Author of it, and the Ab-bot de Ville ascribes it to him by Name, in the Preface of the Book before mention'd, where he retorts on the Gentlemen of Port-Royal the Preju-dices which they had made use of against the Re-form'd The Proof which the Gentlemen of 561 Ann Lasplick make use of is not good, for tho the Bishop of Condom, and he of Grenolle give their Approbation by one and the same Act to the Prejuges. legatimes, and three other Books, whereof one is certainly Mr Arnauld's, yet they do not suppose that the others are so too. They were joyn d in a manner together because they came all sour from Port-Royal at the same time. These four Books are, the Prejugez legitimes, the General Answer to Bir Cliude, the Overthrow of Morality, and the second

Volume of the Perperuity defended erudit Lipf ib But in 1613, р 442 they

> (d) See the Priface

THE Second Tome of the Morale pratique

(1) Lettre d un Theolog fur la Defente des Chret p 2

(f) Catholic Querim P 103

(g) Tom. 3 of the Morale, pratique, P 36

gitimes

(h) Ahm³¹ 1683 p 438, 450 and in the

(V) Acta erudit Liepliens 1687, p 659

I do not question but many others may be shewn His silence has been imputed to a false (N) reason. He has had Spectacles (O) given him, and an unfaithful Servant. The chief Books written by him lince his quitting France, concern the System of Nataure and Graces by Father Mallebranthe, the I hilosophical Sin, the Morale Pratique of the Jesuits, and some Propolicious of Mr Steyaert In this but Book he attacke lather Simon vigorously, exhaun behalf of the New Lestament of Mone, or (OD) upon the point of the

THE Detenfe of the Church

(k) The Title Page Says, a Cologne chez Pierre Marteau

1690 p 68 6 12 the Index, p 611

(m) Hift des Ouvrages des Savans, August 1689, p 514 Sept 1689, p

(n) Petrus Aurelius vero nomine est Arnaldus Papebo elucid hiftor actor in controvir/ia Carmelitana, P 1,5

(a) Printed at Cologn 61 van Buumg 1698 It contains fifty Pages

(1) Refur du livre du P Annnt, 60

IV In the Year 1669, the Book call'd the Defince of the Church, against Mr Claude's Book intituled, the Defence of the Reformation, was Printed (k) at Antwerp The Journalists of (l) Leipsick conjectur'd, that it was a Piece of Mr Arnauld's, but it came from another Hand, (viz) from Peter d Antecourt, a Religious of Sainte Genevieve, and Chancellor of the University of Para, as another excellent (m) Journalist informs us I pass over an Error of the Jesuit Papebroch, which is that of attributing the Books that have appear'd under the Name of Petrus Aurelius, to (n) appear'd under the Name of Petrus Aurelius, to (n) Mr Arnauld I do not know what to say concerning a Fast which I have met with in a stich d Pamphlet (o) intitul'd, A Definse of the Mandate of my Lord the Bishop of Arras, of the 30th of December 1697, against a Libel intitul'd, The Ancient Heresie of the Tesuistrenew'd, &c The Author of the Defence pretends to prove, that the Jansenists have acknowledged the Authority of the Church, as to the determination of the Sense of a Book, and acknowledged the Authority of the Church, as to the determination of the Sense of a Book, and here's what he says at the 24th Page "Among feveral whom I could produce, I shall content my felf with one Person, who may serve instead of all the rest It is Mr Arnauld the Head and Oracle of Jansensm After having outdone in the fourth Part of the Apology for the Nuns of P R all that had ever been said before against the Infallibility of the Church as to the fees of Rooks Finally, in a new Work deagainst the Intallibility of the Church as to the sense of Books Finally, in a new Work defignd to support the Apology, and others of his Writings, being reduc'd to an impossibility of clearing himself otherwise from the Reproach cast upon him, that his Arguments tended to destroy the certainty of I radition, he found himself constrained in spite of his Soul, to make this impostant and decires asknowledge. found himself constrain d in spite of his Soul, to make this important and decisive acknowledgement, which ruin'd in a few Lines all his Labours for so many Years. There are certain Matters of Fast, says that Writer (1), from whence the Truth of a Dostrine must nicessarily be concluded. And these are they which contain the Tradition of the Church. For Example from the Fasthers having unanimously taught, that such a Dostrine is of Fasth, it follows, that this Dostrine is of Fasth, it follows, that the Church being infallible in the Decision of Dostrines, she is likewife so in the Decision of those kinds of Fasts which necessarily sollow from those Dostrines, and which are the necessarily follow from those Dostrines, and which are the necessarily mean by which she actains to the Knowthe necessary mean by which she attains to the Know-ledge of the Truths of Faith All this is Mi Ar-naulds" This is clear and express It is posfitively affirm'd, that the Apology for the Nuns, and the Confutation of one of Father Annai's Books are two of our Doctor's Pieces I do not Books are two of our Doctor's Pieces I do not pretend to deny it, tho' on the other fide, the Stile of the Apology feems to me more correct than his, and on the other hand less lively, and less impetuous. That Apology is a pretty large Quarto divided into four Parts, and Printed in 1665. Observe by the way the Tate of Disputes It scarcely ever happens in supporting an Opinion, that one is at full liberty to make use of Maxims which are purely Universal. He has some on ims which are purely Universal. He has some o-ther Opinions to manage, which oblige him to Restrictions; but it is a very troublesome Circumstance, for the Adversary makes his Advantage of your Exceptions This supplies him with Arguments ad hominim, and gives him Ground to stand upon, and it is generally by this Means that he recovers himself after he had been furly cut down. The Janf nifts are an Example of this in the Apology for the Mandate of the Bishop of Arras I would willingly fee how they can iid them felves, each of the Parties is a Sufferer in this Matter. The Infallibility of the Church cannot be maintain'd as to Facts, and unless this be admitted, one's expos'd to a thousand Inconveniences. As to the Book dest chefs quine men font quinn, I shall speak of it in another Place. It's a Book falsely ascrib'd to Mr Arnauld. As I found in an anonymous Writing Printed in the Year 1688, and supposed to be Father le Tellier's. The Intle of it is An Apologet ik Letter for Mr Arnauld, &c. It would be more reasonable to say that the Doctrine it tell of the two Chief, which real t it one, was maintain'd by the Doctrine of the Sorhonne in the Preface to his Book of frequent Communion, but even that requires being clear d See the abut even that requires being clear d See the abridg'd History (a) of his I ite (N) His Silence has been imputed to a false Reason.]

The Difficulties proposed to Mr Siegrant, make it appear that the Author of the Voxage to the World of Deicartes, had not exactly consulted the Period of Time, as to Quariel between Mr Annuald and Father Mallebranch, when he find, that the first in gaged in it purely to have a Pretence for nor infiwering two Books that had appear d against him, one Compos d by a Minister, and the other by a one Compos d by a Minister, and the other by a Jesust It must be own d that the Publick is hardly yet recover'd from the Aftonishmont which the first Year's Silence of this Doctor give it with it gard to these two Books, but it is certain, whatever the subtil and polite Traveller to the new World may say of it, that he had been engaged with Father Mallebranch, before the Espain de Mr Arnauld (b), and the Observations of Lather 14, 70% for had appeared. I ought not to differ the Arnauld (b), and the Observations of Lather 1. 7.1-lier had appear d I ought not to dissemble, that the Reasons Mr Arnauld gave for his Silence pleas d some; but they are very far from having pleas d all Readers. I have already given a Passage (c) which concerns these keatons, here sanother, "And (d) as for Mr Jurieu, he has made himself "so fo famous over all Europe by his Slander and "Calumnies, that he is no longer able to him those whom he would pull to pieces. I kie sanother than the sanother to him the sanother than the sa those whom he would pull to pieces. I kink that two Perions, both Protestants, have writt about him to Mi Arnauld, as a Min cry d down among his own Party, and whose Passions have made them asham d of him and that they offer'd to send him Memoirs that would discover what he is But it's no wonder that Mi Ar-"maild did not take them at their word, or that he would not lose time in writing against a "Man formidable in Abuses only and Slander." He immediately produces some I acts, which he pretends were nothing but enormous Calumnies publish d by that Minister. The Reasons (e) he gives for his silence as to Father le Tillier, have surficed but tew Persons. tisfied but few Persons

tisfied but few Persons
(O) Spectacles and an unfaithful Servant TheWritings publish'd on the Correspondence by Letters between a salse Arnauld and a Projection of Doway, contain Matters which might be thought propose in a Work of this kind, however I shall only observe the manner in which Mr Anauld constitute the Complaint imputed to him on his having been maked by his Salvane, and on his being scale able. rob'd by his Servant, and on his being scarce able, by renson of his great Age, to lend a small Character (f) How could I complain of a Servant, lays he, who rob'd and betray d me, I who never had any but what were very faithful, and who have had none at all for twelve Tears past since I lest Paris. In a Note on Mr de Ligny's Letter its sa d, that Mi Ainauld n ver maduse of Sp thacker, and that he could read the small site harder well as the largest. I hele are two small Particulars that deserve to be communicated to those who are curious in the History. are two small Particulars that deleve to be communicated to those who are curious in the History of illustrious Persons. As to the Intreague of the fusile Arnauld, it is one of the finest comedies that ever was acted, and had as much Success as the Authors could expect. Perhaps there one example of a Mortality, that in so small a superfersor and the superfersors in an Academic Course away so many Prosessors in an Academic Superfersors. no example of a Mortality, that in fo finall a time fwept away fo many Professors in an Aca-demy, as that Affair did in the University of Doway, perhaps no Discharge ever clear d the Rands to well. This might ferve to put us in Mind of these Words of the Psalmist, Grenovabit faciem

(OA) Or upon the point of the Inspiration of the Saired Witters, and the Translations of the Scripture] I have elsewhere(h)produc'd two Propositions of the Jesuits which were centur'd by the Faculties of Theology of Louvain and Downy These are two Propositions which were centured. These are two Proponitions of Louvain and Downy These are two Proponitions which seem to limit or modifie the Inspiration of the Scriptures Upon this (1) Mr Simon took part C c c against

(a) Page 85, and the follow-

(h) See the Diffict I prop ! ieit in бр 1 701 0 alr

(d)Differtition fix le pretendu bonheur des platins des tens. р 1.

(L)Morale prat t, p

(f) Pic-Plainte,

* Hift abregce de Mr Arnauld, P 279 † Sec the Journal of the 18th of June 1684, and the following | Hift abregée, P 294 What he had faid on this is found in the Priface to bu French on of some Sermons of St Auftin Journal of the 7th of lune 1694 4 Præf (aula Arnild p ix Sce I Hist abregce de fa

(k) Printed at Pa-1695 111 4

p 26

(1) In the new Obfer-VATIONS ON the Text and Perfions of the stament, tromp 465 to p 584

(m' I tle RUMAY L M hem Stilaur m expont I pile Condom

(•)Bibliot Univers to 11 p 445

the Inspiration of the Sacred Writers, and the Translations of the Scribble involved vulgar Tongue, or in favour of the Attestations (Oaa) of the Greeks,

He died the Night between the 8th and 9th of Angust 1694, Aget of the Wytwo Years, fix Months and two Days At that great Age he received two the and altogether rare Favours from Heaven, for the Sickness of which he died later that a Week more or less, and never hindred his saying or hearing Mass, and * rather than the bull the ordinary Flours His Agony was mild, calm and shorts the other Hand he had as much strength of Mind and Memory, and writ as well the last Vear of his last had as much strength of Mind and Memory, and writ as well the fest Year of his life, as he did at forty or fifty Years of Age I hese are two Blessings which rarely attend learned Men Some few Months before his Death he writ four | Letters against Father Mallebranche, and one to his old Friend Mr du Bois, fuil of Reflections | on the Elequence of Preachers The Publick has seen these last Works, and tound no signs in 'em of a declining Judgment Mr du Bow did not long furvive either his Reception in the French Academy, or the reading of these Resections, by which he might have learn'd that he understood nothing * from St. Augustin's Rules concerning the linquence of the Pulpit I question whether the Publick will ever see what Mi Armen writ (P) about the same time to Mr Despreaux, but I don't doubt but his Letter to him is admirable fine. There is another Blessing to be considered in his Life, which surpasses those I have fine observ'd, to wit, his having always been very exact in the Practice of the Exercises of Piety, which his Priesthood required of him, and what is yet more difficult, his ab-staining in his very Youth | from sensual Pleasures, and all along preserving a Purity of Manners, without Taint or Blemish It does not appear, that his Adversaries ever flruck at him in this Part, tho' in regard of Orthodoxy they have endeavour'd to defame against the Censors, and was consuted by Mr Ainsald from p 113, to p 236, of the Difficulties propos'd to Mr Stepaert He defended himself in his new Observations (k) on the Text and Translations of the New Testament from Page 33, to 91 Many Things may be learn d by exactly computing the Reasons of the one, with those of the other It is well known, that of all the Catholick Writers, Mr Arnauld was the Man who most learnedly and solidly supported the Usefulness of the Translations of Scripture What he said as to the Reason of the thing on that Subject, is admirable And what he said as to Fact, I mean, to they seem to the Internation of the Church, the shew, that in the Intention of the Church, the them, that in the Intention of the Church, the Lunks were never excluded from reading the Word of God in the vulgar Tongue, is fine and curious, but if you read (1) Mr Simen's Answer attentively, you will not know what to think as to the Churches Mind in that Matter The Opinions of Doctors, the Judgments of Academies, the Mandates of Prelates, the publick Acts alledged (in a word) on both files form such a strange ged (in a word) on both fides, form fuch a strange Variety, and chiefly when the Motives and Pinciples that are expos'd by those who condemn, and by those who allow of the reading of the Translations, are examind, that it results from the whole, that according to the Churches Mind, the People ought to be torbid, and permitted to the People ought to be torbid, and permitted to read the Holy Scriptures There are few Facts which may be more easily reduced to the Historical Pyrihonism than this Question Has the Church disproved or approved the reading the Scripture in the vulgar longue by the Laity? What a strange thing is it that nothing can be positively decided on fuch a Question either in the Negative or Affirmative! Ought not a Body which bookts of infilbility be more uniform in its proceedings. Mr initial would with the Torrents of I loquence and Learning, have drawn a number of Readers to believe, that the Church of Rome was Calumniated when it was a thousand and a thousand times reproach d with interdicting the Lairy, the reading of the Word of God, I sty, he would have made them believe this, if Mr Simon had not opposed some Banks to those Torrents of his Thus in the same Communions one Doctor deseats the Labours of another The com-The common I nemy makes his Advantage of this, and has reason to cry out, Supe premente Des, fert Deus alter

(OAA) Or in favour of the Attestations Greeks] I have faid before (m) that the Protefleeks I have faid before (m) that the Prote-flants despised them, as things easily obtain d from that mercenary Nation (n) Emmiliaris undique per Legatos Regios, Consulis, Missionarios Graculorum i ac da retessimonis, a quibur nibil non presso extor-quest: "(o) Mr Arnaula produc d divers Attessa-tions from Greek Priests, to shew, that on that "Point they follow'd the Doctrine of the Roman "Catholicky have the payenthelestering that most "Catholicks, but it is nevertheless true that most " of them were obtain'd by Money Mr Wheeler affirms, that in his Travels through Greece, he "Ipoke with divers Papas, whom Mr de Nuntel, "Nephew of Mr Arnauld, endeavourd to corrupt in that manner" Here are two Witnesses of the Fact I had afferted Note, that Mi de Noinor the fact I had afferted Note, that Mi de Noin-tel is not Mr Annauld's Nephew I hey call him to there in all probability, from having read in (p) Mr Claude's Answer, that Mr de Pompone Nephew to Mr Annauld, and at that time Ambassador in Sweden, had procur'd him Materials However it be Mr Simon own d (q), that there were even C tholicks who did not rely on that great number At-testations, and he assigns the ground of their Doubts Mr Arnauld (r) examines all this with an extraoidinary Zeal, and gives the fum of what he had an iwer'd Mr Spanheim in his Apology for the Catho-

(P) What Mr Arnauld write (P) What Mr Arnauld writ to Mr Despreaux I she Criticism on the Fenth (a) Satys of Mr Despreaux being fallen into Mi Arnauld's Hands, gave him the thought "of Witting a Differtation in toght of a Letter, in which he undetook the Desence of the Satyr, with that "force of Wix and Style which never fail'd him "The Party for the Ancients was proud of it," and "was the occasion of Mr. Deserver a William and "was the occasion of Mr. Deserver a William and "was the occasion of Mr. Deserver a William and "was the occasion of Mr. Deserver a William and "was the occasion of Mr. Deserver a William and "was the occasion of Mr. Deserver a William and "was the occasion of Mr. Deserver a William and "was the occasion of Mr. Deserver a William and "was the occasion of Mr. Deserver a William and "was the occasion of Mr. Deserver and "was the occasion of the Mr. Deserver and "was the occasion of the Mr. Deserver and "was the occasion of the occasion The Party for the Ancients was proud of it, and 'twas the occasion of Mr Despreaux's writing those sine Verses on Mr Arnauld, in which he piefers the Apology which that Doctor made for his Satyr—above all the Honours he enjoy d, and even above that of being the King's Historiographer. The rigid fans nists, or the Rigourists were not pleas'd with that last Piece of Mr Annauld What, a Doctor grown Gray and Grive in serious Disputes, to write at above Eighty Years of Age, of Poetry, Women, and Romances! How unbecoming! the Party fretted at it, and whisper'd that their Chief leisen d himself. To hear them speak Poetry was a trivolous Art which ought not to traken up the Thoughts of so great a Gentle for a Moment. This came to Mr Despreaux Ears, upon which he undertook his Poem on the Love. on which he undertook his Poem on the Love of God, to shew that Poetry can reach the most sublime Matters" These Puticulars have been communicated to me by a (b) Person of much Wit and Learning, very well known to Mr Defpicaux Let us set down here a Passage in the Tenth Epistle of that great Poet, where he addresses himself to his own Lines

Mais des heureux regards de mon Aftre etonnant Marqués bien cet effet encor plus surprenant Qui dans mon souvenir aura toujours sa place Que de tant d'Ecrivains de l'Ecole d'Ignace Etant, comme je suis, ami si declaré, Ce Dotteur tout sois si craint, si revir, Qui contre Eux de sa plume epuisa l'energie, Arnaud, le grand Arnaud sit mon apologie Sur mon tombeau futur, mes Vers, pour l'enoncer, Coures en l'tres d'or de ce pas vous placer Alles zusqu'ou l'Aurore en nossant a oid ! Hydaspe,

(p)Claud Reponfeà cuité defendue, 14 c 3 p m 498 (q) in his (ritique > ance du Levant (r) Difficult proposées à Mr Steyaert par 6 P 275, (a) This 25 h's Satyr ag ainst

(6) Mr Marais Advocate in the Parliament of Paris

the manner of ways. If the reading of bad Books (Q) could produce the same I ffect in the Meart of all young Persons as it did in his, it would not be amis to advise them em. The Prot stations he has made of his Adherence to the true Faith, and of his The Productions he has made of his Adherence to the true Faith, and of his Zeal for God, appear in divers parts of his Books, especially in the (R) Spiritual Testament, which he made the 16th of September 1679, wherein he calls God to witness with what Dispositions he ingaged in Writing such and such Books. The Court of Rome (S) did at last acknowledge his Worth, and twas purely his own fault that he was not a Cardinal. It is needless to say that he opposed the relaxation of Morality with all his might, and that he always was a Doctor and Director of Austerity. It is found, that he swerved a little from the streight Path in an Affair that (T) gave occasion for a Fastum of Mr. Deselyans. Block, that the Place in which he dy'd is unknown. It's believ'd to be in a Village in the Country of Leige. It is still less known where he was shried, and this is one of the Conformaties that his Friends have to observe d between his most Destiny and that of Moses He defir'd of that his Heart might be carry'd to Port-Royal This was done accordingly, but Mr Santeul's Verses on that Subject rais'd (1) a furious

Chercher, pour l'y graver, le plus précieux safpe Sur-tout à mes Rivaux scachès bien l'étaler (Q) If the reading of bad Books cou'd produce the same Effects—as sin him, it would be proper to adwise them] Here's what he himself informs us "(d)" I remember to have formerly read (when I was very young) in a Book entitue as I remember "les Muses Ballides, something very wicked on this les Muser Ralliées, something very wicked on this Subject The Poet glories in having obtain'd what he could not have ask d without a Crime And the Reason he gives of obtaining his De-fire, is altogether abominable Twas because, fays he, the Lady had too folid a Judgment not to look on these edd Stories of Honour, which grow up only in the Pates of married Men and Moibers, as meer Chimera's I am certain what is here in Italick was in those Verses For I was so very much shock'd at it, that it has ever since remain'd in my Mind That Poet then must have supposed, what we have supposed, that nothing but the confideration of Honour could have hinder'd that Woman's fatisfying him, and that file got over that Confideration by the strength of her Reason

(R) The Spiritual Testament which he made] I have a Copy of it of the Edition of Leige 1696
There is a Preface put to it, in which the Edition which had appear'd before was dison'd which had appear'd before was disown'd

(S) The Court of Rome did at last asknowledge his Worth] (e) Pope Clement X having read some of Mr Arnauld's Works, prais'd them extreamly, and declar'd, that the Author would do him a pleasure, if he would fend him Copies of them, or deliver them to his Nuncio Cardinal Altiers, who had slaw d the Pope these Books, could not sufficiently praise him, and ended his Elogy with this honourable Testimony (f), Mr Arnauld has done the Church great Service, 'twere to be wish of that Death would never denouse it of such a Man done the Church great Service, 'twere to be wish d that Death wou'd never deprive it of such a Man
The Esteem and Affection of Innocent XI for that Doctor are not unknown to the Publick See the Letter which he caus'd to be writ to him by Cardinal Cibo the 2d of January 1677, Its Printed at the end of the Letter which Mr Arnauld writ to the Bishop of Malaga the 2d of December 1688. There is also a Letter of Mr Favorite that Pope s Secretary, dated from Rome the 3d of April 1680, which contains (g) great Elogies on him, and lively Expressions of that Pope's Grief, on account of the Persecutions of Mr Amauld He had a mind to rasse him to the Purple, and it was wholly the Doctor's fault that it was not done (h) De Arnaldo in purpuratorum Procerum Ordinem adlegindo aliquando Santitiatem, suam cogitasse, etsi ceraum est & pluribus notum, nollim tamen bic commemorare, nist Eminentissimus Cardinalis intimorum Romana Aula consiliorum testis locuples, id nuper Parisus evulgasset, assenus etimentissimus illa dignitate ornaretur. Alexander VIII who had a great Kindneis and Esteem for Mr Anaula before he was Pope, did not alter his Dispositions after he was rais'd to St Peter's Chair. He gianted him some Favours, and would have done him many more if he had liv'd longer, and Mr Arnaula had given him Opportunities for it (i) wholly the Doctor's fault that it was not done it (1) Take notice that the Bishop of Malaga caus'd almost all the Copies of the first Edition of his almost all the Copies of the burnt as foon as he un-with his own Hand, has given a formal Attesta-of Mr Des-Lyons] A Nigee of Mr Des-Lyons Doctor of Sorbonn, and Dean of Senlis, was dexterous enough to ingage Mr Arnaula, in a Conduct which was not altogether to his Honour She fued her Fahler, and he protected her in the Suit as much as he could. This did not become a Casual Behides the was folf-antaffical in her Devornons, and so intoward in all her Ways, that Mr Arnaula had but a small share of that Laculty which is called the differing of Spirits, when he suffer d himself to be deceived by that Hypocrite Mr Jurieu who had heard of the Fastum of Mr Des Lyons, had a passionate Desire to get a Copy of it, and got it asked feveral times of a Person who might have lent it him. He chiefly made use of the Hague in the Xear 1635. He apply d himself to a proper Person, for if any one could have obtained it, twas doublest that Bookseller, but he who had he Fastum in his Hands would never part with it to a Writer, whom he knew slipes of to draw from it all the new Matter she could for Insult and Inxestive. He was not ignorant in what manner that Author posson's every thing, when the business was to pull Mr. Arnaula to pieces Now pray abserve this cunning little I tick of Mr Jurieu, having sail d this way, he would persuade the Publick that he did not value the Advantage which the might nave made of that Fastum, and had even been so moderate as freely to refuse it. These are his Words, " (a) And to make it appear "to the World that we do not look out with an" against him. There are several fastices in Presease which pass for venial Sins, not only at the Bar of the Church, but this can plead that Privelege at neither of these Tribunals. The Jesure did not let the Fastum of Mr Des-Lyons field to the Ground, they weigh'd the Circumstances of it maliciously, and drew Matter of much Restection and Raellery from it. See a Piece which is supposed to come from Father le Tillier, which appeared in the Yeart 1688, entitud d. Am Apploguit and Radlery from it See a Piece which is sup-poied to come from Father le Tellie, which ippoled to come from Father le Tellier, which appeared in the Yeart 1688, entitul d. An Apploguistical Letter for Mr. Arnauld, written to an Abvot a Friend of his, on three of the last Books that were pristen against that Dosser I The Esprit de Mr. Arnaud II Observations on the new Dosser of the French Translation of the New Testament printed at Mons III An Answer of Mr. Des-Lyons Dosor of Sorbonne, Dean and Theology of Service to Mr. Arnauld's Letter.

(T) In an Affair which gave accasion for a Factum of Mr Des-Lyons] A Niece of Mr Des-Lyons Doctor of Sorbonn, and Dean of Scales, was dexterous enough to ingage Mr Arnauld, in a Con-

Answer of Mr Des-Lyons Do Tor of Sorbonne, Dean and Theologal of Senlis, to Mr Arnauld's Letter,

(V) Mr Santeul's Verses on that Subject rais a a furious War] (b) The Ladies of Port-Royal do: Champs receiv'd, Mr Arnauld's Heart, " with all " imaginable Transports of Joy, and plac'd it in " the most honourable Place they could think " of The Heart being thus disposed of, win"ted an I pitaph No Person was thought more "capable of writing one thin Mr Santsus!— As " the Business was somewhat ticklish, the Ni ns " consider destate they ought to take Mr Santeul at " an advantage I or that end they invited him " to come and pass some Days at Port Royal with " one of his Brethren who was superior there, " and during his Abode he compos'd the following Verses there

Ad (c) Sandas red in seless thessus & eve il

Ad (c) Sandas red it fedes eneflus & eveil

(l) He's a-live and perfectly in Health Any one may ask him whether I tell truth mri e

2d of A-

(a)Juricu de la jufissication. de la Morale des Refor-Hague Edition,

(b) Hiftoire des troubles Mi Arniuld mort, ou Santeuil avec les Jeluite p 5 edit 1696

(c) Il id

Virum mors alla nunquam ereptuin •effet, Ikid pı ix. (g) Ibid

(d) Arcinquiénonciatiou du peché philosophique. p 57, 58

(e) Præf Caufæ Anauld, p lix

(f) De Ecclesia

optime meritus

est Arnaldus optandum offet ut talem ac

tantum

(b) Ibid p la

(1) Ibid p. lx1, | lx11

(k) Hold g lkiv

Rucrimenia Catholica to be burnt, as foon as he understood that Mr Arnauld was called a Heretick in it without his confent He who burnt the Copies

tion of at (1)

Hofic un punto, fot sempeffatibus affus

War which has highly diverted feveral Persons There was a great Country the Jesuits on their procuring an Order, that Mr Perraule should be obtained. Ed ag

Hoc portu in placido, hac facra tellure quisseit Arnaldus veri desensor, & arbiter aqui Illius ossa memor sibi vindicet extera tellus, Hûc calestis amor rapidu cor transalit alis, Cor nunquam avulsum, nec amatis fedibus absens Mr de la Fernas (d) gave this French Translation of

(d) Ib id

Enfin après un long voyage, Arnauld revient en ces faints lieux, Il est au Port malgré les espoieux Qui croyoient qu'il ferois naufrage Ce Martir de la verité Fut banni, fut persecuté Et mourut en terre étrangere, Heureuse, de son corps d'être depositaire, Mais son cœur toûjours serme & toûjours snuacent, Fut porte par l'amour à qui tout est possible, Dans cette retraste passible, Dou jamais il ne fut absent As soon as these two Pieces Printed together were dispers d in the World (e), the Jesuits complain'd of

(e) Ibid P 7

(f) En-Santolius vindicatus

(g) Ibid P 9

(b) Ibid D 10

dispers d in the World (e), the Jesuits complain a of Mr Santeuil's Proceedings——But he lens them a deaf Ear, flattering himself that all the Murmurings that were then rais'd would insensibly be quash'd of themselves. But when he found himself attack'd in a Piece, supposed to be (f) sent out of the Country—he bethought him of making satisfaction "(g) He was "firuck with it as with a Thunder-bolt, and "ran immediately to the Jesuits College, to beg "Pardon in the most humble and feeling Terms" in the World, conjuguing all those he met with Pardon in the most humble and feeling Terms in the World, conjuring all those he met with not to undoe him, that he had always been a kriend to the Society, and that the Epitaph in question was not his, but had been given out in his Name by his Enemies, to set him at Variance with the Jesuits The Answer was, that they wish'd what he said were true, but that bare Protestations were not sufficient, and that he must undecrease the Publick by an authentick he must undeceive the Publick by an authentick "he must undeceive the Publick by an authentick "Confession which was requir'd of him, as an "Earnest of his Sincerity He promis'd all they "would have him, but the Disticulty was to per- form his Promise" The (b) imposing and statering Panegyrick which he made on their Company did not serve his turn, they perceiv'd, "the little Wile he had made use of to avoid his Promise, they call'd him a double Dealer and a Knave, in a "moment he found himself over-power'd by Epi- grams that came showering upon him from all "moment he found himself over-power'd by Epigrams that came showering upon him from all Parts, and in which the young Jesuits of the College, whom he calls in one Place puber Jesuitica fagittaria, had no small share On the other hand the Jansinsts were no less offended at his Cowardize, than the Jesuits at his Duplicity, and they gave him full notice of it in a Piece in Burlesk Verse, which they publish'd against him, and which begins

and which bogins " Santouil ce renommé Poete "So that he found himself mightily out in his "Reck ming, and perceiv'd that by endeavouring " to keep fur with all the World, he had diso" blig d all "Having thoroughly consider'd the whole Matter (1), he resolv'd to sacrifice the Jan-lenistro the Jesuits, and made an humble Confession. on of his I ault to these by Letter, but that would not fatisfie them, they would have a Recentation He found himself (k) continually pefter d and prest to this by Epigrams upon Epigrams, which he receiv'd Day after Day He writ a Letter to Father la Chaise, in which he interpreted some Terms of the Epitaph in the softest manner he could The Aniwer he received from that Jeiust (1) increast his Disquiet, he was obliged to think of a second Apology, (m) the tenderest Place, and that on which all the Dissiculty turn'd, was that where he faid of Mr Arnauld, Ictus illo fulmine (Vaticano)

P 17

(m) Ibid p 20

(1) Ibid

() Ibid

(k) Ibid

P 11

P 14

Arnalde saperes Arnalde saperes

"That is to say, if you had been struck with the "Thunder of the Fatican, I should absolutely have disown dyou Now this was saying nothing
"at all The Jesuits would have had him put "Sapier instead of Saperes, (for all was brought to "the Test before the Copies were printed off) To "put Sapies, was to have declar'd Mr Arnauld "Excommunicated and Condemn'd One of his

Trabeate Doctor, 12m mihi non amplius

"Friends with whom have as'd about it, gave him a Hint for finding at a Medium between "Sapere; and Sapere, which was to put Sapere, which might equally a paken in the fente of the other two Warre, but he found that he "could not give up the Saperes without offending the Janfensh: At last, after long Deliberations, he refolv'd to please each Party alike as near as possible. He got two forts of Copies Printed, in some of which was Saperes for the Jesuits, telling them wind wice that he took it in the selfens of the Saperes, and Saperes in the others to "please the Jansensh:" To this he added, the Explanation of some other Places of the Epitaph But he neither satisfied the Jesuits nor the Jansensh: The latter (n) put out a (o) very shapp Piece against him, and the others push'd him no less vigorously. At last Father Commire struck in Price against him, and the others push'd him no less vigorously. At last Father Commire struck in Ho (p) had lass still all she while as a Body of reserve, "but at last appear'd in the Field of Battle, and "to break off a Dispute which there was no end?" of, and to hinder Mr Santeuil from arguing so of- ten Pro and Con, he took him by the Throat and clap'd a Gag into his Mouth, which has ever ince been very troublesome to him. I mean "the Linguarium which all the Learned ascribe to this great Poet." A Poet to the University, and no ways a Friend to the Jesuits, entred the Lists, and wrote a Piece intitul'd Santessius pendens, Santeuil at the Giber. It's one of the best that appear'd during that long Poetical War. I think three Relations have appear'd of this Quarrel. I have not seen the first, that which I have quoted is the second. The third is of the Year 1697, and posterior to the Death of Mr Santeuil. It contains the Letters that were written to that Poet by the Very Jesuits, and differs from the second in some contents. vers Jesuits, and differs from the second in Circumstances

It's certain, that That Quarrel made a great noise, for which reason the Author of the Relation thought himself oblig'd to make use of this Preamble "(q) It is the bate of those who have tion thought himself oblig'd to make use of this Preamble "(q) It is the Fate of those who have occasion'd great Troubles in their Life-time, to occasion others after their Death That of Alexander did not agringuish the War in Asia, on the contrary to broke out again with great erfury, the broke out again with great erfury, the broke out again with the great erfury, the broke out again with great erfury, the broke out again with great erfury, the broke out again with the great erfury, the broke out again with feveral Crowns Something like this shappen'd to Mr Arnauld, if it be proper to compare a Doctor with a Conqueror His Death which seemingly ought to have put an end to all the Troubles he had occasion'd in his Life-time, the Troubles he had occasion'd in his Life-time, did on the contrary raise new ones Every one knows in how unworthy a manner the Jansenster "knows in how unworthy a manner the Jansenster the Abs
"exclaim'd against an Holy (a) Abbot, for ha"ving explain'd himself too clearly on that Occa"fion, by speaking with regard to the great Head "of a Party which fell in the Person of Mr Ar
"nauld, bappy is be who has no other than JESUS Remark "CHRIST This was what the first News of "Mr Arnauld's Death produc'd But his Heart
"having been afterwards carry'd home to France,
"It could not re-enter it without scattering till
"more Seeds of Dissention by the Quantity Lich
"it occasion'd between Mr Santeuil and Je"fuits" Several will here remember a Complaint of Balzac (b) against Tather Peter Goulu's Eplaint of Balzac (b) against Father Peter Gaulu's Epitaph, but if the Jeiuits on the on side market have said, that Mr Arnaula's very Tomb institute, the Jansenstein might have cry'd on the fide, that they did not let that Divine rest even in

Afted in

Il fau encer paier and la du trepas

(X) That Mr Perrault should be oblig d to suppress the Sheet] Here's what we find in a Letter that was publish'd in the Year 1697 "(d) Mr Perrault with a Book call'd, Th. Elogies of the Illustrians

"men of this Reign Mr Arnauld and Monsieur Pascal were justly placed in it Baptiste & Moliere are there in their order as illustrious Perfons of their kind The Book was Printed by Authority, the Portraitures ingraved It was to have been publish'd four Months Fathers Issue. Authority, the Portraitures ingraved It was to have been publish'd four Months ago, but the Fathers Jesuits have so teaz'd the higher Powers, "that

(m) Ibid pænitens. (p) Ibid

(q) Ibid

(a) That u to Say the Abbé Trappe

(b) See the Remark M of the Ar-PereGoulu, General of the Feuillans.

the Opera which was Atted in the Shapeth he had design'd for Mr Arnauld in his Collection of the Description and Elogo the illustrious Men of the French Nation I must not forget the Elem (T) white Doctor of Sorbonne had gain'd with Mi Descartes. I have heard me who were the first into his Familiarity say, that he was a very plain Man in all his Ways, and the formed Question was propos'd to him, or some instructions described, he said nothing the way of (Z) common Conversation, or which might

"that they have order'd the Author and Book"feller to retrench Months and Mon"fieur Pascal's Articles, and the state of the grea"test Men of this Age He day the Church to me fervice in opposing Calvinsia, and defending the Faith of the Eucharist He liv'd and dy'd in the Communion of the Church, and in perfest Obedience to the Holy See, which would certainly have rewarded his great Deserts, if the profound Humility of that Learned Person had not divers times made him refuse one of the not divers times made him refuse one of the most eminent Dignities of the Church liv'd impiously, and died excomunicated like a Reprobate In the mean time Monsieur Arnauld is fruck out of the Number of illustrious Men, " and Moliere keeps his Place among 'em" These Reslections were made all over France, and in so-reign Countries, and what Tacitus said on the Statues of Cassim and Brutm, not appearing at Ju-nia's Funeral, was not forgot on this Occasion, (e) Prafulgebant Cassus arque Brutus eo 1950 quod essigns corum non visebantur This Thought has been applied to Mrs Arnauld and Pascal, the Verses that were made on the Occasion have gone all the World over, for they have been inserted in the Nowvelles inforeques & Politiques, printed every Month at the Hague Let's add, that leveral were of Opinion, that the Jesuits did not act over prudently in this Affair, leeing the true way of drawing the Brass and Attention of the Publick on those two bases Persons, was to cause Mr. Paparata and Grandes Persons. Area and Attention of the Publick on those two harmes Persons, was to cause Mr Perraule to support of the Elogies and Pictures Their Conduct let d only to set a higher value on the Merit which they would efface, it led People directly to that Passage of Tacitus, and could be no other than a quick Spring of Exclamations, and Censures in tayour of the two suppress d Persons, and against the Instruments of their Suppression But against the instruments of their Suppression. But all are not aggreed as to this suppression but dence in the Point Skillful Persons have maintain'd, that the Faction which has all along opposed Mr. Arnauld, did nothing but what favours of the finest and surest Policy What? say they, do you think Tiberius did not foresee the Reflections which would be made on his not exposflections which would be made on his not exposflections which would be made on his not exposing the Statues of Brutus and Cassius among so many others in a Funeral Pomp? He knew the Advantage that Absence might give them, but thought the Inconveniency greater in letting these two Murtherers of Julius Casar appear among the Images of his Family, this would have been in some manner vindicating their Memory, and it was not his interest to make the least step that way. There is no question but the Jesuits did likewise foresee the Advantage of Mr. Perrault's suppressing the Elogies of these two great Men. But all things well consider'd, they thought that this would be a much less Disadvantage, than that this would be a much less Disadvantage, than that this would be a much less Disadvantage, than the giving an opposite Faction ground to make an Addition of Mr Arnauld and Mr Pascal's being place with privilege in the Theater of Illustroius Men. By getting 'em struck out, there is the acception of a new Act which may be useful in the marke of the Process. They are kept under Disacce, a stop is put to the alledging the License clean'd by Mr Perrault, as a Sign of their being restor'd, and what is very considerable, the Publick is hinder'd from imagining that they themselves have not the same Credit as formerly. It is not easily believ'd that the Publick will conclude, that if the believ'd that the Publick will conclude, that if the Characters and Elogies of those two Gentlemen have full liberty to appear in a priviledged Book, it is because the Jesuits have had no mind to make any opposition to it It is more natural to believe that they could not have hinder'd it Now such an Opposition is much to be apprehended, the Effects of it may be of ill Consequence, it must therefore be prevented, for the instrument of Reputation has a great Efficacy, either to advance or retard Events. Who knows not that in Mat-ters of Trade a Merchant who paffes for rich, and is not fo, does his Business better than a Merchant that is really Rich, and passes for a poor

(1) Tacit Annal

lib 3 in fine

Man? All other Conditions of human Life are the same in this respect. It it be Imprudence to ingage in certain things, it is still a greater Imprudence to forsake them, after having once ingaged And to say all, Honour and Glory are both concern'd in the Point This Principle is no less active in the Wars at the Bai, than in those (f) which are properly so call'd Finally it is known by every body, that in all Suits of great importance, each Party provides against all the Proceedings of the other Good Policy then requires, that they should not by their tilence acquiesee in any Proceedings of the Jansinst They must guard against Epitaphs, and against the Authors of Elogies, and multiply Incidents the better to to maintain the grand Process, and keep up the discussion of the Problem, or Question Curicuse, whether Mr Arnauld is a Heretick, a strange Question indeed, and which some Roman Catholicks affirm, and others deny daily with Impunity This shews, that there is a Source of Anarchy in the State of Min which can never be wholly rectified. It tiles place chiefly in Ecclesiastical Bodies, for fince the Church of Rome has not the Secret of fixing the liberty of sying Yea, or No, in legard of the same things, what other Church can ever expect to have it? Other Churches have not, like that, Tribunals which are acknowledg'd infallible. They are not govern'd with such Airs of Authority, and high Reputation as that is. It is therefore less to be wonder'd at, that the Protestant Ministers accuse each other of Heresie in Printed Books, than to see a Doctor of the Sorbonne torn in pieces like a Heretick by the Faction of the Molinists, while three Popes honour'd him with their Friendship, Esteem and Praises, and the most famous Prelates for their solemn Approbations in the front of his Works. It is near fixty Years ' fince this Dispute began, and there is still as much liberty as ever to deny or affirm. The Divisions of Ministers are not of solong a continuance. They are generally settled after a third or south Pamphlet of a side. and the Reputation of Orthodoxy which they and the Reputation of Orthodoxy which they would take from each other is secured to both But even this simells a little of Anarchy, and of that State of Nature in which the Aggressor has hardly any thing else to sear than the resistance of the assaulted, and not the Punishment of a common Judge Bodies Politick are not subject to such Disorders No Man is allow'd to call (g) another either Knave or Rascal, Theis, Traitor, Murderer, Prostitute, or scandalous Liar Reputation is much better six'd here

As to what remains, the Suppression enjoyn'd

As to what remains, the Suppression enjoyn'd Mr Perraule, hinder'd not but that the Copies of his Book which appear d in Holland, contain d the Elogies of Messieurs Arnauld and Pascal There was only some small Confusion occasion d by it in the figuring the Pages, which the Ldition of Holland has Corrected

(1) The Efteen which Mr Arnauld had gain'd with Mr Descartes] He is the Author of the fourth Ob-Mr Descartes] Heisthe Author of the fourth Objections against that Philosopher's Meditations, and they are judg'd by all to be the solidest that have been proposed against that Work Mr Descartes gave that Judgment of 'em, see his History (a) compos'd by Mr Baillet I must observe, that Mr Arnauld had taught the same Philosophy in Paris, as that of Mr Descartes, before ever the latter had publish'd his sirst Essays (b) So that he was as falsely call'd a Cartessam as a Fansins Read what solpublifid hu first Essays (b) So that he was as falsely call'd a Cartessan, as a Tansinst Read what follows "He (c) had drawn his Opinions of Grace from the Source, that is to fay, from St Augustin's Works, before ever the Book of Mr a'Tpres had appeared He had publickly maintain'd them in the piesence of Bishops, tour or five Years before that Prelate's Book was publicated. lish'd He had embrac d them without so much "as knowing (d) that Infinius was writing on "Grace—And scarce knew that there was such a Man as Mr Janlinius in the World (Z) He said nothing that was out of the way of common Conversation] This must be understood with

(f) Maca multa magnis ficut non aggiediiemel aggreffis mittenda esse dicendo, na fame momenta tem fieient, teincepto abiretur Titus Liviis lib 4 decad ,

> * Th s was 1699

(g) This must be un derstood publick Accusati-

(a) Baillet, Vie de Descartes, t 2 P 124, Or See also Perrault, Hommes illustr p m 57 58

(b) Id 1b p 544 See alsop 128

Abregce de Mr Arnauld. P 35

(d) Ibid

B See the Article Ypres y See the Hist Abregée de la vie, P 179 See the Article Althusius • Witte an Diar Biogr ad ann. 1635 † Armi-fæus, Præf libror de jure Majest | Id ib might beget an Opinion of his being a learned Man; but when he was obliged to her fwer those who would put him upon some Point of Learning, he seemed to be quite another Man, he said a hundred fine Things with all the readings imaginable, and had a particular Gift of making himself intelligible to the meanest Changity. I think in part of my 8 Work to insert a Letter which it is supposed the Hing writ to him in the Year 1678. By the way, they who were the occasion of his resolving on a voluntary Exile, lost more than they gain'd by it, for he never writ a word against them in the both of the Conditions of the Peace religionship with some himself to reside Paris, but observed the Conditions of the Peace religiously, till seeing himself torced out of the Kingdom, he published a very great number of Writings, which have done the Jesuits no small harm v. It is also pretended that he beginne the Apolite (AA) of Junsenssm in Holland

ARNGRIMUS, a learned Man and a Native of Ifeland Look for Jonas.
ARNIS AEUS (Henningus) born at Phalberflat, and Professor of Physick in the Academy of Helmstadt, was a Philosopher and Physician, very much esteem'd towards the beginning of the XVIIth Century. His Works of Politicks are much valued, wherein he settled a Tenet (A) directly opposite to that of a Alchustus the was invited into Denmark, and went thither, where he * had the Honort to be the King's (b) A fata-Councellor and Physician The Academy of Helmstade (B) lost much by it it is it hoe & falsely pretended that he was (C) Professor at Jena, and that he less his Library to the pestilential and the second of t College there It might have been fard without a Faishood, that i sie nead Lechuses in the Academy of Frankfors on the Oder, before he read any in that of Helmstadt He had travell'd in France and England . And he died in the Month of November 1 1535. I give the Titles of several of his (D) Works

ARNO-

(e)Ibid.p 287, 288

abidi

fome Restriction, otherwise it cannot be reconcal'd with what is found in the account of his Life, where we find some Hours of Conversa-tion after Meals, "in which (e) much was to be "learn'd of him, because being a Man for Reste"thions, he always made such as were very solid, either on human Events, on the Condust of "Life, on the Rules of Morality, or on Matters of Learning and publick Affairs Thefe Conver- fations were often employ'd in looking over new Books, and he always judged so well of them, that the Judgment which he made (tho' rarely with a decisive Air) was decisive of it self, and without any Appeal His Memory, as things were read or spoke in Company, supply'd him always with something of the best kind, that any Author had said on the same Subject And it was furprizing to hear him re-"peat a great number of Latin and French Verses which he had only read in his Youth, or several Years before He was a Master of the Latin Poets, and applied the finest Passages in them with much Justness, and a great Piesence of Mind, according as occasion presented in Conversation" Let us say then that his Conversation and will be a converse to the same and will see that the beauty versation was plain and vulgar only when he was with Persons who were not us'd to him, or who did not ingage him by their Questions to exert his

Talents
(AA) Tis presented that he became the Apostle of Jinsenism in Holland J. There appeared a small (f) Book in the Year 1698, in which it is affirmed, that Mr. Arnauld "having wandeted tome time in the Catholick Netherlands, came at last to take Refuge in Holland. Mr. Neerkassell "Bishop of Castoria, and Apostolical Vicar in the "United Provinces, received him as a Man of "God and lodged him in his Beguinage of Delsti God and lodg'd him in his Beguinage of Delft Where Mi Arnauld lived fome Years without being known to any, but his intimate Friends In this Place he govern'd the Mind of the Pre-"late absolutely, who took great delight in recommending all the young Divines, in whom he found any parts, to him, to the end that he might form them. His configuration for was Mr de Codde, the present Archbishop of "Schaste and Successor of Mr de Casteria in the A"notches Vision of Mr de Casteria in the A"notches Vision of Mr de Casteria in the A-"postolical Vicaiship Mr van Huffin — So that "the Janfinism in Holland proceeded properly speaking, from the Beguinage of Delft, towards the Year 1689

(A) A Truet directly opposite to that of Althusius] For he maintain d, that the Authority of Princes ought never to be violated by the People See his Book de authoritate principum in populum semper inviolabili, Printed at Frankfort in the Yoai 1612 See also his three Books de jure majestatis, Printed at the same Place 1610, and his relectiones politica, Printed also at Frankfort in the Year 1615 He did not sinish this last Piece, which however appear'd very tair (g) Opus praelarum sed imperfectum

He gave a Catalogue of those who have maintain'd, that the Soveraignity was in the People, which is a most (b) possicious Doctrine in the Judgment of Esecterus, and the Hinge of Rebellion Bosclerus adds, that it is a very deplorable thing, that there are very great Men in that Lift, and notes the different Passions which led them to that side (1) Patronos & pracones nefarne philosophue re-censuit Arnisaus principio libri de auctoritate principum in populum semper inviolabili. Fuffe in illis magnes viros, delcudum quorum aliques aus-mus diregans, elatus, indomitus, ad fingendam & pin-gendam libertatum fleico superciso serce impulerit alios metus oppressionis & tyrannidis eo evibraverit, at poteffatem civilem bene confisutam negarent, nifi populo testatem civilem vene congributam negations, my esta-subjictatur nounulis commentatia septentia species pla-eucrit, ut tali tanquam terriculamento reges, ne in ty-rannidim élaberentur, retentatos cuperent. Is such ca rannidim tlaberentur, retentatos superent "If such a Catalogue were made in this present Year 1699, it would be much longer, for the Tenet of the superiority of the People is grown into Fashan of late Days Grossas (k) praises a Political Piece of Arnifaus very highly

Arnifem very highly
(B) The Academy of Helicaltadt lost much by it.
This is tellified by Conringing, who calls it attenum Julia Academia & incomparibile ernamentum (m) Vir incomparabilis, says he (l), in another Book, a que cionis philiophia in Academia Julia ut alibi nusquam, fuit exculta & simul Imperii quoque ut aliarum Rerumpublicarum veterum recentiunque historia etiamsi soundam accusata tanno satu ali nechezatamsi
soundam accusata tanno satu ali nechezatamsi

sumpablicarum vecerum recentiumque bijioria etiamfi sparsim quidem, accurate tamen satis est inculcata—illius in Daniam discess simul urumque hoc studiorum genus suerit heis quasi consepultum

(C) I' is salsely pretended that he was Prosessor as Jena some satis pretended that he was Prosessor as Jena some accurate and the comparanda prudentia civili. But that Edition was disown'd by Bosiu's Widow See the Advertishment which the inserted at the legion. Advertisement which she inserted at the begining of this Book, when the got it Printed free from the Laults which disfigur'd the preceding

(D) The Title of several of his Works Beside the Poetical Treatiles which I have already (n) mention'd, he wrote a Book de subjectione or exemtione Clericorum Another de potessate tompo als Pontifis in Principes Another de transfacsone Imporis Romani Another de Republica Another de fure communicorum Another de Republica Another de fure communicam (a) The Title of another is doll in a politica in genuinam methodum qua est Aristotelis, redulta & expiobatissimis quibusque Philosophis, Orasoribus, Turisconsultis, Historicis, &c breviter compartata & explicata (b) He writ also on Physick Historicrationes aliquot Anatomica, were Printed at Frankfort in the Year 1610, th 4° His Dispute de sue concrea coguescenda & suranda, was Printed the same Year at Oppenhem, in 4° (c) I do not know the date of the sust Edition of his disquisitions de partuabumani legitimis terminic; nor his Books de praservatione à pesse de hydropum essent de curation, de apotione à peste de hydropum essente de curation de apo- 390 pleura & epilepsia cognoscendie & surandie (d) As for his Writings of Philosophy, we must know, (d) Witte

He A est omnis ılla rebelland: licentia quam va-TIIS VOCAbulishreferibunt Boecterus jure betti & pacis, 3 n 8 _ gr 236

(1) Id 1b

(k) Grot de impemar poteflat circa facra, c 3

(1) Conring de prudentia C 14

(m) Id in Dedicat Exercitat de Rep Imperia German

(n) In the Remark A

(a) Scetbe Diarium Biograph de Witte ad ann 1635

(b) I have Seen this Work of the Edition of Amsterdam 1643, 111 very lear-ned and very folid

Linden ... us renovatus, p that ibid .

(f) Int. tuled Memoire touchant le pro-giés du fanfenitme en Hollande

* Pag 8 & 9

(g) Bosius de comparanda prudentia civili

RN 11 S, Professor in Rhetorick a Sicca in Namidia towards the end of the first century is brought over to the Professor of Christianity by | Dreams | Pe apply d himself a case Bishops for admission into the Church, but they remembring how riolently he mode ways opposed the true Firth, were mistrustfull of him, and before his admitted ways opposed the number of Catechamens, would have him give proofs of his good Intermediate them he writ a Book against the Genetics, wherein he very powers. I futed the Absurdity of their Religion, and the Ridiculcularies of their false Gods thad a laudable Impatience to be admitted into the Body of the Faithful | He made (1) little too much hast in composing his Work, the true Religion why Method and a set Disposition do not appear in it with all the Exactness that could be wished | The work is, that not having a full Knowledge of the Christian Truths, he vented (C) very dangerous Errors | It is not known what he did after-Truths, he vented (C) very dangerous Errors It is not known what he did after-

t - c 10 Rin nl 1

() Dog. mata que d im

Leritate

DINON

NIIIIL

recedit

Sed hec

ıllı qui ex I thni cifmi te-nchus iecens ad

Chuffu-

nam per-venerat

huic au-tonicve-nit, quod us solet, qui ex carcele tenebulucem perducti vilum adhuc dubrum habent Praf

Arnop i 18

edit Lugd

Bat 1651

con lonadum

that he wrote Anabustions on Crellius his Logick Episome Metaphysical Amentem Aristotelis De constituti no & partibus anaphysica Vindicia pro Aristotele de subjecto Metaphysica & natura entis Disputationes VIII Metaphysica Episome doctrina physica (A) And before his admittance—they would have him give Proofs] St Jerom furnishes us with these Particulars Arnobius Rhetor, says he (e), clasus in Africa habetur qui quum in civitate Sicca habet minus(aque ho-10101 (true Faith (1) This is currying the Indulgence much Gentilium tu efarther than was done in (m) the Prefice of the I dition of Leyden 1651, where they are littleful with flying, that Arnolius inverves a little from Orthodoxy Once again let us find Excuf s to bus re-(C) (-Orthodoxy Once again let us min racin s ion that Tather, but not be fo simple as to call the that Tather, but not be for Minne of smill m mi enti Doctrines he jets forth, by the foft Name of imall Errors When they are well examin'd they ill dum(bri ftime fideferve the fame Language as would be given them at this Day, if any Doctor should advance them mentis fatis in-It must be own'd without a Cavil, that a Modein fliu to Author made good I estures to his (enfor on that Subject Let us hear him '(n) Mi 70 en weighs Errors in a false Balance. He judge of the Doctrine by the Persons, and not the Per-sons by the Doctrine. One and the same Li-or afters its Nature according to Place and condonandı funt Cn-1 Innus Hilto Time, it sa monstrous Heretie, according i P 11-

clarus in Africa habetur qui quum in civitate Sicce ad declamandum juvenes erudiret, & adhuc Ethnicus ad credulitatem somniis compelleritur, neque ab Episcopo impetraret fidem quam semper impugnaverat, clucubra-vit adversus pristinam religionem luculentissimos libros, To tandem velut quibusdam obsidibus pietatis sadus inpetrave He was look'd on its an Enemy, who had a mind to make a Trenty of Peace, but beforche Agreement they would have him give se-cerity for his good Behaviour, Hostages were de-rended, and he gave them They were seven they were seven they were seven they against the Pagane He was afterwards lock d upon as a good Brother, and receiv'd into the Peace of the Church the Party is in whom it is found, and according to the Age wherein it reigns. The Proofs of this Unequitablencis of Mi furieu, appear in all his Disputes against the present Sectaries, in whom he pardons nothing while he carries his Indulgence far the Lathers to a prodignous excels—(a) The respective has for Pricous excels—(b) The respective has for Pricous excels—(c) The respective has for Pricous excels (m) Alus in locis à

-(o) The respect we have for Peithe Pence of the Church

(B) He made a little too much hast—the tive

Refer why Method] Let us Comment this by a Property of Baronius (f) Quod verd opus illud, ut inter Fédeles admitteretur, quasifides sue vadem festinus absolvit, hinc plane est quod in eo (ut ait Hieroni)mus) fussifi visus est inequalis & nimius, & absque opiris sui partitioni confusus Rusum verd quod nondum plene ist sciencia rirum Christiana; um imbutus, utpote cum non solum non furrit bastismati illustratus. Id nece

"ous excels——(o) The respect we have for Per"sons, ought not to make us respect then I mois
"when they are capital On all occasions of the "like Nature Scapham ought to be call d Scapham "and Ligouem, Ligitum" Mi Juniou is willing to excuse Origins Priots on the foot of his givent Teil But if any Person of our own Arc should presume to flur the Rayings of the Ancients upon us, Mr Juniou would not think limitest obing d to bear with them "It these Rayings be "Herestes and Impieties, which change Hell into "a Purgatory, and by that nicins destroy the fear

ous excels-

(g) Mr du cum non solum non fuerit baptismate illustratus, sed nec

a Purgatory, and by that means defiroy the fear of Eternal Punishments, and the fear of God, wherefore ought they to be suffer'd in Origen

(p) The foliation with which Mr Junion

"Ipeaks of St Hillary, and it Jerem's I rrors, is certainly unedifying" He excules them by faying they are Millakes and Neglects "But if a Divine of this Age should think fit to munitain the same Opinions, Mr. Jerica would think himself obliged to call them Extravagances and Impieries. What a crying Partiality is this? The same Things that are Intravagances and cum non folum non furrit baptifmati illustratus, sed nee in Ecclesiam inter (g) cattebumenos acceptue, w nea dignus est, si aliquibus nævis visus est tommentarius ille esse specific for specific wery dangerous kapers.] We have seen just before, that Baronius importes the Heterodoxy of the seven Books of Armobius, to the Precipitation wherewith they were written to the Author could not put off writing them, till he had the leasure to be better instructed in all the Points the lessure to be better instructed in all the Points of the Christian Faith, and it is certain that the Inquisition would at this Day condemn all those to be burnt who should publish such Doctrines own there ought to be great Allowances made for Arnobius, but it is no less true, that his Opinions about the Original of the Soul, and the cause of Physical Ivil, together with some other capital Mitters, nie very pernicious. This I have ob-ferv d (b) elsewhere. In regard of our Mysteries, he might have said what Persus consesses as to Po-(1) Confult

"Impleties in our Age, are only excufible Mi"fixes and Neglects in the IVth Century And
"Why?" That Author pretends to justific these double Weights Let us hear him again "a)
"Mr Jurieu forgives them their I riois, is very light and slender Faults, which in Persons of our Century would be infernal Heresies. We endeavour commonly to shew a deep Respect and high Esteem, for those who have had the happine is to live feveral Centuries before us tho' we discover all those Weiknesses and ill Qualities in them which we cannot suffer in the Modern If we cannot esteem the Ancients we think our felves at least oblig d to love them, and by a Judgment of Christian Charty, to give the most favourable Interpretation that is possible to their Words. When on the con-

Contemporaries, we forgive them nothing, but do we lool upon them as our Concurrents

erry, that he ventur'd write in of it before he under from the force labra prolui Caballino Nee in bicipit i somniasse Parnasse Memini, ut repetite su Poeta produrem

Heliconidalque, pallidamque Pyrenen

trary we glory in an inflam'd Zeal against our 681 the Index of this Dithonary at the Und Arnobius (1³⁸YHim

ic nymus

11 hromco Eu-

1 bind

طارع أروع

(f) Baro-

mus ad

ann 302

n 67 p

m 733

Pin is not of this Opinion He composed,

Says he, Biblioth

des Auteurs Ec-

cles to 1

m 203

When he was only a Cate-

chumen

7 Books

ıın, Fxamen de la doffrine de Mr Jurieu, p

() Perfius

(o) Id ib

(F) Da Pin, Biteur Ecclef to i P 204 col 2 edit de Holi

Heliconidalque, pallidamque Pyrenen

Illir remitto, quorum imagines lambunt

Heder a sequacis Ipse semipaganus

"Ad sacra Vitum carmen affero nostrum

See here Mr. Du Pin's Judgment "(!) It's plain
"he was not as yet thoroughly instructed in the "Mysteries of our Religion Ise attacks the Re"ligion of the Pagans more solidly than he de"tends that of the Christians He discovers the I folly of Pagans more happily than he proves
"the I ruth of Christianity But this ought not "to be thought strange, for it is common to all "new (onveits, who I eing yet full of their own "Religion, are better ible to detest the Faults
"and Weaknesses of it, than display the Proofs
"and Fxcellency of that which they embrace" I meet with no Author who speaks so weakly of Armeet with no Author who speaks so weakly of Arnob as's Firois as Dr Care He says, it may be they are Doctrines somewhat different from the

p 68,

(p) Id ib p 684

yet the Interests of Religion being preserv'd, Christy ought rather to be exercis'd towards the Living than towards thole who have been Dend for several Ages past. The Charity we have for these costs is little, because their Merit does not excite our Jealousie and Envy, nor (1) Id 15 But p 683

(a) That's to Say that of Minu-Crus Telix

wards, nor in what time he died. His Works contain Seven Books, and not (1) Light as was believed for some time. They have been Commented by learned Men, and printed (L) leveral times. ARNOLfirst by Sa-bæus from the Manuscript of Rome in 1542 The Second in Germany LyGelenius The 3d ın Holland at Leyden 2N 1552 the 4th at Basil by Erasmus

> (b)DuPin ubi fupra, p 119 col 2

in 1560

(c) Written by JamesOuelius

(d) Fodem fere tempore id ipfuni 1uboluit etiam Hadriano Tunio Jac Ouzelius in Praf Minucis Fels-613

(e) H :drianus Junius, Animadverflib 6 Cap 1

(f) FrancifcusBalduinus ad edicta vcterum principumRom de Chriftianis, p 47 cdit pud Oporinum, 1557

(g) Id 1b

(b) Ludov Car 110.emendation 1 2 C· 18 tol 52

(1) Claudius Joly, Different de verbis Ufuardi P 114 Ibis Book was Printed in (k)Rigaut & Joh

"we must moitisse our Self-Love a little, to judge charitably of an Adversary who speaks and writes against us, and whose Reputation eclipses our Glory, and this is a Sacrifice which we do not easily make As Mr Juricu had no " Quarrel against Origen, and as he has personal

Enemies in the Sociation Party, no wonder if he bears more with the first than the last (D) Seven Books, and not Eight, as was believed] Every one knows that the Title of the little Book of Minutus Felix is Offavius It's found in feveral Ancient Manuscripts joyn'd with Arnobius's Books, which was the reason that it pass'd for one of his, and without death of the state of the and without doubt the word Offavius taken for Offarus, had milead many a Reader Let us quote the following Words of Mr du Pin "That (a) "Book pass'd a long time for the eighth Book of Arnobius, by being found in an ancient Manufeript of the Vatican, with the Seven Books of Arnobius, it was (1) four times Printed under "that Name, without any one's knowing its true Author The learned Civilian Baudouin was the first who discover'd that vulgar Error, and caused that little I reatise with a learned Pre-"face, wherein he returns it to its proper Author, to be separately Printed at Hydelberg in the Year 1560 Now, tho' the Honour of having made the first Discovery be due to that famous " Year 1560 Civilian, yet thirty three Years after, Ursin causing Arnobius's Works to be Printed at Rome, whether he had not feen Baudouin's Edition, or that he would assume the Honour of that Observation to himfelf, separated Minucius's Book from those of Amobius, without any Advertisement, that it had been done before him, giving him felf in that manner the Honour of the Discovery (1). We feel much the Control of the Discovery (2). " ry (b)" We find much the latter than (c) Preface of the Minucium Felix, Printed at Leyden the Year 165. We there likewise find, that We find much the same things in the almost at the same time that Francu Baldouin made amout at the lame time that Francis Balaoun made it appear, that the pretended eighth Book of Arnobias was the Work of Minucius Felix (d), another Critick had fome suspicion of the Matter This is not exact It ought to be said, that Francis Baldouin was not the first who discover'd it, for he does within which hadrons of the said some did not publish what he knew of it, till four Years after another had communicated that Thought to the Publick His Minucius appear'd in the 1560 Now here's what is found upon this Matter, in a Piece that Hadrian Junius caused to be Printed in the Year 1556 (e) Arnobio qui septem duntanat adversum gentes libros edidit, offavus accrevit, quum sit Minucii Felicis Offavius, ab interlocutorum uno ita vocitatus, nova i atione obliterandi autio-ris The following Year Baudoum was not cur'd of the common Error, for he quoted the Treatife of Minucius as the eighth Book of Arnobius (f) sie ille apad Arnobium Cecilius Christianos distitat, cum coeini infantis occisi sanguinen lambere—(g) Horribilis proficto est oratio Gecili illius legulen Romani que apud Annohum libro octavo hac adhuc Christianis of pet I cwis (arrion ascrib'd to Junius the Honour of being the first who had restor'd the Offahe publish'd at Paris in the Year 1583, he speaks thus (/) Illi (Minucio) Oftavum adversus gentes librum lunius noster in Animadversis suis princeps jam olim vindicavit Let us quote these Words of Mi olim vindicavit (1) M nutit Felicis vetuftiffim: Scriptoris Christiani dialogus elegantissimus contra idolorum vanitatem tam diu pro octavo Arnobii adveisus gentes libro habitus est, quia Minutius eum sub nomine Octavii protulerat, donic a Francisco Balduino Jurisconsulto anno 1560 abduttus, & genuino Autori redditus ift, veluti Nicolaus Rigaltius in prafatione ad eundem Minutium obser-varut Here are (k) two learned Men who were ignorant that Junius was before hand with Baude uin in the discovery of the true Author of the O-Clavius However I do not think that Mr Joli his reason to place that Book in the List of the Pseudonymour. He pretends, that in publishing it, the Author disguises himself under the Name of Octavius, I think it were better, to say, that the Title of the Book is Octavius, and not a supposed Name of him who writ it. It could not be properly said that Plato's Dialogues were publish'd under the false Name of the Persons whose Names they bear Minucius Felinamutated Plate, he would have the Title of his Dalogue bear the Name of the chief Interlocutor

the chief Inter locutor

(E) And Printed several times] If I had the necessary Books, I would give an exact account of the Editions of Arnobias, but I must give over that Design, and confine my self to some critical Observations against those who have given us a List of the Editions. He who wrote the Present to of those Editions He who wrote the Preface to Arnobius Printed at I eyden in the Year 1651, says, That the first Edition of that Father is that which Francis Priscianensis a Florentine publish'd at Rome But does not say in what Year, a fault of Omission that cannot be pardon'd 2 That Sigismund Galenius alter'd several things in that Edition, not by the Assistance of Manuscripts, but by trusting to the Conjectures of his Genius Theodorus Centerus in publishing Arnobius with Annotations complain'd of Gelenius's Boldness 4 That Godesialk Stewechus labour'd with success on that Father 5 That Elmenhorst added to his Commentary the virious Readings, collected as well from the Manuscripts, and the Ldition made at Rome in the Year 1542, on an ancient Manuscript of (1) Francis Sabaus, as from the Edition of Fulvius Ursinus 6 Finally, that Desiderius Heraldus publish'd fair Annotations on the seven Books of Arnobius I have three things to offer against this In the first place, the List of the Editions is very imperfect, in the second place the Edition of Rome 1542, does not differ from the first, and in the mean time it is mention'd here as different from it In the third place, it is not true, that the Annotations of Desiderius Heraldus came after the Edition of Elmenhorst The latter is of the Year 1610, and Heraldus s Book had appear'd at Year 1610, and Heraldus's Book had appeared at Geneva in the Year 1597, and at Paris in the Year 1605. Let us now examine (m) Mr du Pin's List I observe in the first place, that the propei Names in it are very much disguised (n) There is Canrerus in it instead of Canterus, Hermenhossius instead of Helmenhorsius, Stevuschius instead of Stewechius Besides I observe that he mentions one Theodorus. Priscianensis as the Printer of the first Edition is a Fault without doubt. We have feen, that the Florentine Franciscus Proscianensis was the first who made the Books of Arnobius publick. Now he was no Printer Le (o) Poccianti does not give him that Title, he only makes him a good Hu-manist, and the Author of some Italian Books I am perfuaded, that Faustus Sabeus, Library Keeper of the Vatican, communicated the Manuscript to him, from which the Edition of Rome was printed in 1542 Therefore in the Preface of the Edition of Leyden, it was wrong to make a distinction between the Edition of Francis Priscianensis, and that which was made on the Manuicript of Sabeus Note, that Lewis Carrion (p) imagines, that the Manuscript of Arnobius, which is in the Library of the King of France, is (g) that which was made use of for the first Ldition He fancies, that becruse is was dedicated to Francis I the Manuscript was also sent him. In the third place I observe, that it is not true that the seven Books of Aribbius have been printed with the Notes of Heraldus in 1583, nor that the Ldition of Hamburgh 1610, ought to be distinguish d from that before-mention'd. I mean from that which was accompanied with the Commentary of Elmenhois Lastly, I observe, that Stewechus did not give an Idition of Armobius at Dougy in the Year 1634, his Edition is of Antwerp in 1686, and he had been dead a long time when his Elista in Arnobium were re printed at Dougy in 1634 Cum paratitlis seu Summariis Leandri de Santto Martino See the Margent (r) Let's say a word of Father Labbe (f), He thinks the Edition of Leyden very fair, but wonders that they who procur dit, did not infert the Arnobianus Criticus of Meursius in it, which was printed at Leyden in the Year 1598, cum Hypocritico Minutiano He would at least have had them mention it They who should retort upon him, that he himself ought to have remember'd the (1) Ecloge ad Arnohium of Julius Cafar Bulenger, would not have the same Reason, Cafar Bulenger, would not nave the family account for that Book is of no use, either for correcting the louse in Text 1612, in &

(I) His Faustus, and not I rancis

(m) It's at the 205th Page,col 1 of the first tome of his Bibliotheque, Edition of Holl

(n) I make use of the Edition of Holl

(o) Pocciantius de Scriptor I lorentinis, p 69

(p)Ludov Carrio cmendat hb r c 9 tol m 18

(q) Mr du Pin ubi fupra, p. 119 affirms

(r) You'll find Such another Fault at the 2d Citation of tlis Page, Du Pin ∫ays , that^a Braimus publish'd Arnobius in 1560 He died in 1536

(() Philippus. Differt de Scriptor Eccles to 1 p 105

(t)Printed at Tou-

ARNORDUS (NICHOLAS) Professor in Divinity at Francker, was born at Iesaa, a City of Poland, the 17th of December 1618 His Mother being left a Widow when he was but three Years of Age, took all imaginable Care in his Education, and dedicated him to Learning He went through his Humanity in the College of Lesaa, and under Comenius although the Regents, who dedicated at that time his fanua Linguarum to his Scholars He was ordain'd & Acolyth, in the Synod of Offrorog, at fifteen Years of Age, and in that Station accompanied y Orminus for two Years in vititing the Churches of Poland, after which he was sent to Dantzick in the Year 1635, and there applied himself to the Study of Floquence and Philosophy He sometimes experienc'd applied himself to the Study of Eloquence and Philosophy He sometimes experienc'd the ill Humour of John Botsac, who was troubled, that a young Min of such Hopes should be a Calvinist It the Year 1638, he return'd into Poland, and studied the Seimonary Theology, under the Direction of Orminius, and a Year after he was fent to Podolia to be Rector of the School of Jablonow Having exercis'd that Office during of orear three Months, he perform'd the Functions of a Minister at a great & Lords House for two Years more successively It being observed that his Talents might be of great use to the Church, 'twas thought fit to give him an opportunity of improving them in the most samous Academies He began his Travels in the Year 1641, and came first to Franker, where he made a great progress under his Countryman Maccovius, and under The Year 1643, he spent in the Universities of Groningen, Leyden and Virechi, and soon after return'd to Francker, and apply'd himself to study French and English The following Year he went over into England, but finding it impossible to get to Oxford the Roads being stop'd by the King's Forces, or by those of the Pailiament, he went on foot to Cambridge, but could hear no Theological Lecture there, the Professors being all confin'd in Trinity College Being return'd to Francker, he applied himself to preach even in Dutch, and his Sermons were so well relish'd, that in hopes of keeping him in Friesland, they distuaded him from going to see Poland again He was judged very capable of the Ministry by the Classical Synod of Francker, who had examin'd him, and the Praises that were given him made a (A) Gentlewoman of that Country cally 1 resolve to accept of him for a Husband He was married to her in the Year 1645, and foon after had a Call from the Church of Beetgum He serv'd it faithfully and constantly, till the Year 1651, without giving ear to the Vocations that were address'd to him from other Churches, but that Year he yielded to the Instances of the States of Friesland, who chose him Successor to Coccessor in the Divinity Protessor's Place at Francker He acquitted himself of that Place with great Capacity until his Death, which happen'd on the 15th of October 1680, after a tedious Sickness, in which he gave several signs of his Plety, and Refignation to the Orders from above | I shall mention some (b) Travels which he undertook after his Promotion to the Professorship in Theology, and shan't forget the Books (C) which he publish'd

ARODON (BENJAMIN d') a German Jew, Author of a Book full of Precepts for Women It was translated from the German into Italian by Rabbi Jacob Alpion Translation was Printed at Venice in the Year 5412, according to 1 the Jewish Calculation, after it had been exactly corrected by Rabbi Isac Levita That Book is very full of Observances,

Text of Arnobius, or the literal Sense of it, it is nothing but a Series of Quotations, explaining some Thoughts of Arnobius. The same Jesuit gives the great Salmasius a Wipe, for having promis d Commentaries on that Author, and not keeping his Word (v) Salmafiani autem illi Commentarii tamdiu expettati, tam sape ejus amicerumque literis premissi atque jattati, in fumum tandem vi ntosque eva-nuerunt. I believe such a Piece of Salmasius would have made finer Discoveries than his learned Commentary on the Treatise of Tertullian de Pallie

(A) Made a Gentlewoman of the Country easily refolve to accept him for her Husband] She was to be commended in preferring a good Reputation and Merit, before Riches I here are other Examples Merit, before Riches There are other Examples of Matches of this Nature, for it is certain, that divers Ministers supported only by the Splendor of their Eloquence or Learning, have marry'd great Fortunes, and made themselves very considerable by the Rank of the Family into which they marry'd The reasonable Hopes that they whey marry'd The reasonable Hopes that they may soon or late be rais'd to distinguish'd Benefices, or confiderable Sallaries might have contributed towards it Be it as it will, the Wife of our Arnoldus is to be commended She died in the our Arnoldus is to be commended She died in the beginning of the Year 1652, and left no Children In the Year 1653, he was married again to the Widdow of an Advocate of Leewserden, whose Name was Anne Pybings, the Daughter of a Burger-Master of Francker, who brought him Nine Children, five Sons and four Daughters, and outlied him. He had but three Sons and one Daught Jiv'd him He had but three Sons and one Daughcer living when he died

(B) Of some Travels which he undertook In the Year 1652, he went to visit his Relations at Lisna, and past a Month pleasantly with his Unkle by the Mother-side, Martin Gertichius, Minister of the Place, and famous for divers Works He travell d again in the Year 1656, in the Retinue of the four Ambassadors Extraoidinary, which the States General ient to the King of Sweden, and to the King of Poland Their Excellencies would have him for their Prencher, and were very well pleas d with the Sermons he made either in Dutch, German, or Polish, as occasion requir'd That Journey lasted two Years In that time Arnoldus got the Esteem of Stephen Corycynsky, Chancellor of Poland, John Oxenstiern, Great Marshal of Sweden, of Douglas, General of the Troops, and of the Elector of Branden-burgh, who offer'd him the Place of publick Preacher In the Year 1666, he was deputed to Heidelberg, to persuade Mr Spanhiem to accept a Divinity Professor s Place in the Academy of France

ker, but return'd without success
(C) The Books which he publish'd I shall not mention the Diligence wherewith he join'd and methodiz d the Works of Maccovius, which he caus d to be put to the Press, nor the Version which he made and publish'd of an (c) English Book of Jennie Diligence and published by the Lorentz Land Control of the Control of the Lorentz Land Control of the Land Control of the Lorentz Land Control of the L remy Dykes, but I shall name his Confutation of the Catechism of the Socinians, his Anti Bidellus, his Anti Echardus, his Book against Brevingius, his A-pology for Amesius against Erbeiman, Defender of Bellarmin, his Theological Disputes on select Subjects, his Commentary on the Epistle to the H his Lux in tenebris, and what he publish d against john Amos Comenius Read this Passage of his Funeral Oration concerning these Works (d) Nis Funeral Oration concerning thele Wolks (d) Quis est qui non—predicet Raccoviane Catchisos, in qua religionis dicam an impietatis Solimiane plenissimum est compendium, curatissimam risutationem, que supra sidem impiis seductoribus molesta, dostis gi ata estr?
Cujus non laudem miretui tum Anti Bidellus quo pn umatomachi surorin, & satuim (e) Comensi lucem extinxit, sum Anti Febardis cujus conquistum & male colligarum ta insulum ita issolvit, ut disolutarum D d d scoparum

y Super-intendant Churches Poland

Johannes de Potok Potocki, Luius terr Halicientis

4 Lecir prulo post rinta omnium laus, ut nobilifima in Frigo Remigia à NIILEN facilis in conjugales ejus rucret amplex-1645 Marchius ubi infia, p 28

* He had a Call from the Acadrily of Levden 1 Tour I Jupposcan-

(c) Dyku translata Fuchariflica Marchius ubi supra, P 35

(d) Id 1b

(e) I cite A Writing of Arnoldus a. gainst Comenius in the Rimarks DI &c of the Article Comeni-

(v) Id 1b

(a) Pre-cetti da

aratı dalle don-esser un-ne Ebree,

cap 70 P 41, 42

(b) Ibid

capitolo

71 P 43

(c) For

1290

(d)Horat Od 1 lib

3 See bus Commen-

this Place

of the Article I ian.

cis d Af

Observances not only for the cleanliness of the Body, but also for the Practice good Works. The Observances of the first kind contain several superstition good Works. The Observances of the first kind contain several superstitions, the seven segmentations, and there is sometimes a great deal of (A) Rigor in the season of the seven and the Brother of Moses. The solid or is easily enough found in the Pentateuch, in Morer's Dictionary, and in that solid or incomplying an Article of it here I shall therefore only that this Weakness in complying with the superstitious Desires of the Israelites in the service of the Golden Calt, has given occasion to (A) many Lyes. Towards the service Century.

Scoparum hactenus retinuerit nomen? Ime quem non in j.oparum nacienus retinuerit nomen; imo quem non en mille detersionum tenebris inesfabiliter delectat delissimarum illa vindiciarum lux, quam publico toties recufam dedit, & cujus ope tuta Ecclesia errorum cuitat devia? Sed ne in hoc quidem labore acquiescere potuit qui in Ecclesia voluit consumi bonum. Brevingii ab eo tempore feliciter demolitus est tribunal, Erbermannum Bellarmino adversus Amesium suppetias ferentem confo-

dit, Or

(A) There is sometimes a great deal of rigor] For Example, the Husband and Wife are torbid to Tpeak a Word in the Act of Conjugal Duty, or to have any but pious Thoughts without any Application to the Pleasure, declaring to them, that if they aft otherwise, their Children will be born deform'd (s) Ogni persona deve effer auvertita tanto l'huomo, come la donna nel tempo che si consumpre austrante descriptiones de la donna nel tempo che si consumpre austrante de l'huomo, come la donna nel tempo che si consumpre austrante de l'huomo. giungono insieme, non devono parlar, nè haver niun cat-tivo pensiere, ne debbono scopricre li luochi occulti e vergognofi, perche quelli che parlano in quel tempo che se congiungono insteme, quella creatura che viene conceputa congiungono infieme, quella creatura ere della madra con in quell istante, riuscisse dal ventre della madra con qualche è coppo, è muto, o guercio, o simili man-camenti, è del tutto distrutto, e mal conditionato non devono haver intentione in quell'istant-

alli piaceri, ma solo per adempir il voler divino

Novemb penjieri janti e pii I nis Morahty is both very ex-cellent and very rigid See what has been faid in the (c) Newes from the Republick of Learning, con-terning a Book of Mr Tuon, a Minister of the La-badists So great a Purity in this kind of Pleasure 1685 p is rather to be wish'd than hop'd for, nevertheless the Cafuifts are to be commended for insisting upon it, and endeavouring to introduce Purity where the Passions of a brutal Lust have but too much sway, had our Rabbi believ'd as the Church of Benedictor about 18 of Rome does, that Marriage is a Sacrament, he could not have required more Holy Dispositions from the married than those he demands He imposes upon them at the same time the Law of the (d) favete linguis, the Observation whereof the Pagans recommended in their great Misseries, and that of Sursum corda, which the ancient Church never forgot to notifie in the Celebration of its most august Ceremonies. In a word, it is certain, that had he received the Dostrine of certain, that had he received the Doctrine of Jefus Christ with a true Faith, and been ammated with the Spirit of Grace, he could not have given Counsel more worthy of the Evangelical Purity This ought to shame the loose Cafuists who are so common among Christians Noce, that the Rules of this Rabbi do not at all agree with the Advice of Physicians, these pretend, that a Child conceiv'd under distractions of Mind, I mean under serious, grave and immaterial Thoughts (e) See the Remark C how excellent and fublime the Morality of that

7. 15, if we remember that it is directly opposite to the Maxims of those Doctors of Impurity who have fill'd their Poems with io much Lascivious-ness These dangerous Poisoners are far from adviling Silence, and it is this that made a Modern find iome Proofs of the Interpretation which he has given to the Words of a Greek Poet, which centain the Description of the Grees of the mean under ferious, grave and immaterial Thoughts (e) is Silly, boolin and Weak, and they give quite other (f) Infructions to those who defire quite other (f) Infructions to those who defire Children; but any one of tolerable Sense will giant, that they lead Mankind into a very bad School of Chaftity, their Precepts are calculated only for those who would limit all Things to an Animal, Larthly, Sensual, and Epicurian Life We must go to that Rabbi's School, if we would learn to demean our selves in that part of Duty like fife (f) See Roderic de Caitro de natura mulierum, lib to demean our selves in that part of Duty like 3 C 5 Creatures endowed with a Spiritual Soul, and not deserve the Censure, (g) O curvain terras anima & calestium inanes! We shall the better comprehend

(g) Persi-1 16

(b) Hexa meron ruftique, 4. 10urnce, p m 112, & fury

Nymphs (b) As the pleasant Murmurings, says he, mension'd by the pleasant Murmurings, says he, mension'd by the part, they are without doubt these obliging Words of the ohi me cor min of the Italians, the land a fine and a fine soul of the Spaniards, which accompany the most favourable Privacies, and which make the most learned of all the Posts in the Art (1) 2 Do of Love to law.

of Love to say,
Accedant (1) questus, accedat amabile murmur, Et dulces gemitus, apraque verba 1000 Hear what he Says in another Place

Et (2) mihi blandițias dixit, dominumq, vocavit, Et quæ præterea publica verba juvant I will not inform you that the Torm | UVATE is altoga-ther erotick, and confectated to the utmost Delights of Love, which these two Verses of the same Author expects again as well as the Murmurs

Me (3) voces audire juvat sua gaudia fassas, Utque morer, me, me, fustineamque roget

The famous Epithalamium of the Emperor Gallienus, which Trebellius Polho prefix before thale of an hundied other Poets, who all exercised themfelves on the same Subject, does wonderfully well repre-fent this soft and obliging Murmur, and the Careffer which are inseparable from it. It is said, that holding the Hands of two of his Brother's Children when he manried them, he pronounced thefe Verfes of his own making

Ite, ite, o pueri, pariter sudate medullis Omnibus inter vos, non Mu, mu, a vestra columbie, Omnibus inter vos, nonvincant ofcula concernia non hedere, non vincant ofcula concernia de aux thing more Pariste Brachia non hedere, non vincant oscula concern, see scertainly very hard to say any thing more Particle or Passionate on this Head. To be Diametric opposite to these false Doctors, those Plasting of Youth, is no small Commendation, it is a just Presumption that the Morality which one advances, is of admirable Purity. Add to all this, the judicious Answer of the famous Mr Drel nears to a Rishop who had made use of an Observation altogether unbecoming. I won't say of a Person of his Character, but with of a Laick who did not highly relish a wantom Stile. These are Mr Drelincourt's Words (1), Instead of washing out with his Tears those ways of speaking, that the Virgin Mary is the Spirit and Life of Christians, he defends them with Rasilveleries, which would better became those who tread the de Belley, Protestant Church, who have your dear Counterparts, not as inseparable Accidents of your Subparts, not as inseparable Accidents of your Sub-stance, so much as Bone of your Bone, and I-less of your Flesh, nay, who are but one Flesh in two Persons, have indeed much more caressing Terms for those Souls of your Souls, those Lives of your Lives, those Lives of your Hearts and Souls, those Souls of your Lives and Hearts, than all the World souls of your Lives and Hearts, than all the World knows of, for you are those Spiritual Persons who judge all the World, nay, the very Angels, and with much more Reason the Romanist, without being subject to be judged by any I do not know how he might have hullnformation, and fair the form what those say who have Wives by steach the manuage and the world with Person who lives in a chast Marriage, decinot fludy such extravagant Rhetorick The Prelate replied in a man-extravagant Rheterick The Prelate replied in a manner fo Burlesque, that nothing could exceed it (k).

(A) Given eccasion to several Lyer] First and solomon believ'd (l), that the Calf which the israbian worshipped, was alive and animated, and that Aaron seeing it go, and eat like other Calves, built an Altar to it. There is something like this in an Altar to it There is something like this in the (m) Alteran 2diy, Divers Rabbi s say, to excuse Aaron, that it was not he made the Golden Calf, that he contributed nothing towards it, only cast the Gold into the Fire to be free from the Importunity of the People, but that certain Magicians who had mixt themselves among the Israelics, at their going out of Egypt, gave the Figure of a Calf to that Gold As the Scripture declares that it was a cast Piece of Work, on which the Graver had used his Tool, we may suppose two Syris Things, either that a Mould was made in the 1 c shape of a Calf, wherein the melted Gold wascast. P m or,

irte am

(2) 3 A-mor el 6

(3) 2. De o ALTO AUR.

> (1) Dielincourt,

(k) Sec b s the Avantcoureur de Mr Drelincourt. P 156

(I) Apud Cornel à Lapide in Lxod p 605 medi enu-rum fudit, corporeum, emirtentem mugitum In Azera Codicis,20 Arabia apud Sildenum de Dus

> 13.2 1

entury, one Monceau or Moncaus, publish'd an Apology & for Aaron, which was condemn'd by the Inquisition at Rome, as the Jesuit Cornelius à I apide y had to rewarned the Author. He supposes in that Apology that Aaron delign'd to represent the same Object that Most did some time after, I mean a Cherubim, and that the Islantes and or'd that Figure gainst his Intention A Doctor of Sorbonne, & Canon of Amiens, confuted these Suppositions solidly in the Year 1609 Some say, that Aaron's criminal Complassance proceeded from his sear of being stoned And that by proposing to the Women to give their Farrange*, he thought to divert the Multiplied trops their Parrange. Women to give their Ear-rings*, he thought to divert the Multitude from their Purpole, hoping that they would rather have no viable Diety, than deprive themselves of Familie their Ornaments, but he found that nothing was too coffly to Minds made drink with Com-Superstition and Idolatry The Holy Scripture does in no manner countenance those who pretend that the Golden Calf (B) was only of gilded Wood

I don't think it ought to be faid, that God suspended the Power of Fire in fivour of Aaron, as he did in favour of the three Mebrew Children, who were cast into the Furnace of Babylon, yet this is the Opinion (C) of some Authors

ARRIA, or ARRIE, the Name of some Roman Ladies, whom I shall mention in the Remarks of the Article Petus

ARRIAGA (RODERICK DE) a Spanish Jesuit, was born at Lucrone the 17th of January 1592 He enter'd into the Society the 17th of September 1606, and taught Philosophy with great Applause at Valladolid, and Divinity at Salamanca, and having been inform'd by Letters from the General of that Society, that it would be more for the Glory of God, that some Spanish Jesuits should go | into Bohemia, to teach the sublimer Sciences there, he offered himself for that Imploy He mired at Prague in the Year 1624 He taught Scholaitick Divinity there for the space of thirteen Years, and was Director General of the Studies twenty Years successively, and Chancellos of the University for twelve Years He receiv'd the Cap of Doctor of Divinity iolemnly, and acquir'd much Reputation The Province of Bohemia deputed him three times to kome, the comto affift there at the || general Congregations of the Order | He was feveral times intheated to return into Spain, but all to no purpose He was very much esteem'd by Orban VIII by Innocent X and by the Emperor Ferdinand III He died at Iraque the theo Or

(n) See Teremy de Pours at the P 829 of bis divine Melody

(o) It's in-divine

Melodie

du Saint and was Printed at Middelbourg in thor calls him Jerede

(a) See Salian, to

2 p 165 Bochart,

Hicroz.

part 112

(b) Exod

chap 32

(c) Ibid

V 4

V 20

1644

The Au-

Pours

Pfalmiste,

or, that after having made a Mass of Gold, the Sculptor converted it-into a Calf III Several have thought that Aaren did not make a whole Calf, but only the Head of one IV It is story'd (n), That the Ashes of the Golden Calf which Moses caused to be burnt, and mix'd with the Water which the Ifralites drank, spilt upon the Beards of these who wor-shipped it, and that they had Golden Beards, which was an infallible Sign to know those who had worshipped the This Story was inferted in the 32d of Exedus, in a French Bible, Printed at Paris in the Year 1538, by Anthony Bonnemere, who fays in his Preface, This Bible in French was Printed the first time at the Request of the most (hristian King of France, Charles VIII of that Name, VIZ in the Tear 1495, and has been Corrected since and Printed The laine Preface fays, that the French Translator put nothing in it but the pure Truth as it is in the Latin Bible, and that nothing was left out of it except things which ought not to be translated. So that what concerns the Golden Beards, is to be taken for a certain Fact, as also another thing of the like Alloy which was inferted in the same 32d Chapter, to wit, That the Children of Israel spit so violently upon Hur, who refus d to make them Gods, that they smother d him The Book (o) from whence I borrow this, was wrote by a Walloon Minister, who does not fail to cry out against the Boldness of these Men in adding certain things while they retiench d others, a doubly wicked Attempt, an Obreptitious and Surreptitious Translation, Childish Traditions inferted Yet nothing but pure Truth promis d in the Preface, where it s declared, that That Translation was not made for the Learned, but for Laicks, and plain Monks and Hermits, who arenot deeply read as they ought to be This makes the Infidelity of the Translator the more blameable. Men of Learning may avoid the Snare, but the Ignoiant cannot Lastly, the Golden Beard is not the only Chimera that the Rabbi's They have farther pretended, that the Waters mix d with the Ashes of the Golden Calf, caus'd almost the same Fsset as the Waters of Jealousie, that is, it made those who were guilty break out in Biles and Ulcers, and did the innocent no harm (a)

(B) That the Golden Calf was only of gilded Wood]
The Scripture fays (b) expressly, that it was a Molten Calt, and it afterwards (c) fays, that Mosts burnt it and reduc'd it to Powder, this is not necessarily to be understood as if that Idol had been made of combustible Matter, it may signifie that Moses melted down the Gold again, and hi'd it to Dust, which being cast into the Water became there imperceptible, like those Sands which its faid the Rivers Tugas and Pattolus roll along their Current So that Francis funius might have been deceiv'd when he faid, (d) Quamvis non tam existimari possit vitulus iste totus ex auro fuiste conflatus. quam auri taminis tantummodo obductus, catera ligneus, ut quem S litera tradunt combustum atque in sine eswerfum He might with more reason have plac'd Aaron at the head of his Catalogue of the ancient Sculprors, Architects, Painteis, Statuaries, &c deserved that Place by right of Antiquity, tho' the Alphabetical Oider should not give it him. This puts me in mind of those who say, that was perfectly well skill'd in Chimiftry, feeing he could turn Powder into Gold, or reduce Gold into Powder Several believe that Aaron only order d Goldsmiths to melt the Golden (alf. and did not put his Hand to it himself, but that having cast it into the Forient, which was the only Place from whence they could drink, there was reason to say, that he made them drink the Idol which they had worshipp d()

(G) Wet this is the Opinion of fome Authors] A Cordelier Doctor of Divinity, of the Iaculty of Paris, pretends, that the Miracle whereby the Bush of Horeb (f) was preserved in the midst of the Flames, was renewed fometime after, when the Fire slew the (g) two Sons of Aaron, without doing their Shirts any dampage, and when American doing their Shirts any dammage, and when Aaron caus'd the Plague to ceale, which swept away great Numbers of the Isralites (h) Sicate fact on oft, quando egressus ignis a Domino Nadab & Abiud ignem alienum & prophanum coram Domino off i entes de-worawit, id est interf cit westibus & tunicis corum li-neis intattis i imanentibus Idem judicium ist de Aarone Summo Sacerdote, qui citissime profett is est ad populam quem ignis egression a facie Domini into sti chat stetitque illasus inter mortuos, ac vivintes, licet ist in me dio flamma fulgentissima, & flagrantissima, secundum Josephum livro 4 Antiq cap 3 Aming other Lamples, he adds that of Shadiach, Mejhad and Abd nego, who came fife and found out of the I unace of Babylon Note, that he does not quote the Scripture but Tofephus for what concerns Aaron, and that the Scripture does not fly (1) that the Plague which Aaron stop d, and which destroy d 14700 Persons, was an extraordinary Fire, nor what else it was The Temish Historian has wholly suppress this Miracle, he mentions only the Eire which consum d the two Hundred and Fifty Men that offer d Incense The Scriptue (k) men-Men that offer d Incense The Scriptue (k) mentions it indeed, but is a Fast which preceded the Plage which turn top d Note, that tof phur is

Dada

B Its in-111 5º a Lipide men ar in Exod p 6 5 d He calls h mfelf Vitorins His Book s intitul d, Dethu-&tio Pieu∗ rubi Moneyi *Id Coin à Lapide, 1bid + To J . try a Prov nc of der,diffin & f om that of Auflin Sotuel ubi infra At the t's icth and a the 1116

> (d) InCatilogo Aitificuin, p i

(e) see River on ch , of Lxod Open ti p 1164

(f) Lxod c 3 v

(g) Leviticus ch 1) V -

(b) Johannes Nodin,Commentar in cip 3 Fxodi, P 142 col 2

> (1) Numbers ch 16 V 46 & furv

٧,٢

farisfied

+ Taken from Sotuel, in Biblioth Scriptor 718,729 17th of June 1667 | He publish'd (A) feveral Books wherein he shew'd inbilition of Wit It appears that he succeeded much better in ruining what he denote than in defending what he affirm'd, and it is pretended that (B) thereby he become favourer of Pyrrhonism, tho' he always declar'd that he was no Pyrrhonist It would tainly be the Pyrrhonism, tho' he always declar'd that he was no Pyrrhonist It was trainly be the highest Injustice to suspect him of the least Prevarication, or of harm there a sale Brown there to the Dogmanists, tor if on one hand he made use of all his Section in for consuming a great number of Opinions, he imploy'd it on the other in maintaining the Opinions which he had imbrac'd It was easily perceiv'd that he acted seriously, and exerted himself to the utmost, and if his Proofs are inseriour to his Objections, the blame must be laid on the nature of the Things The Application wherewith he confuted the Subtilities that have been invented by the Schoolmen, to prove that (C) two con tradictory Propolitions are sometimes true, and sometimes falle, is a sufficient Demon stration, that he was passionately in the Interest of the Dogmanst against the Pyrrhon. He forfook most of the general Opinions of the Schools in Matters of Natura Philosophy, as about the compounding the Continuum, about Rarefaction, wie and there fore undertook the | Defence of the Innovators in Philosophical Matters. Its pitty for clear and penetrating a Genius had not a better view of right Principles, for he migh have push'd them very far A small knowledge in Hydrostaticks would have shew's him the reason of (D) a Phenomenon, for the explaining of which he took a great dea of pains to no purpose His Efforts, his Earnestness, and his fine Turns in this Matter make People bewail his running with fo much force out of the right Way.

Preface to his Courle of Philo-Sophy

1 In the

ARSENIUS,

(1)Joseph Antiq 1 4 C 3 P 107 G fitisfied to observe that the extraordinary Fire which confum'd Corab with the two Hundred and

(a) Nicolas Antonio ubi intra, o/ferves that Inveral of thele to lumes were printed likewije at Lyons

(b) Taken from 50tuel, in Biblioth Script Soc p 729

(c) Nicol Anton Biblioth Script Hilpan t 2 p 209

(d) Petrus de Villemindy in Scepticilmodebellito, C 2 D 13

(e) Id ib C 4 P , 7 Lifty Men who offer'd the Incense, did no harm to Aaron, he does not touch on the Circumstances for which the Cordelier Nodin alleges him Let us fet down his own Words (1) 'Ap & mayres, dire I according to my marker and a constant an ερθας η σαν ως κή τα σώματα αύτων αφανή γεγονέναι περισωζείαι δε μόν Θ- ααιών μηδεν υπό τε πυρος βλαβιίς, τῷ τον θεὸν είναι τὸν ες έδοι καί ειν απιςαλ-κότα Cujus (1gnis) υι ει impetu ducent: illi & quinquaginta una cum Core ita sunt absumpti, ut ne cadaverum quidem reliquiæ comparerent solus Aaron supirsuit illæsus ut manisestum esset divinitus coortum hoc incendium. He acknowledges the Finger of God in it not without Reason, but without specifying whether the I ire touch'd Aaron's Body immediatelive or whether God had only hinder'd it from ly, or whether God had only hinder'd it from coming near him Father Nodin ought not then to have fallen from the Genus to the Species, nor have quoted the Jewish Historian for it Most aults of this Nature which are innumerable in Books, proceed either from not confulting the Originals, or else from the Boldness that is taken in changing them by Paraphrases which may be more favourable to one's Hypothesis

(A) He publish'd several Books] A Course of Philosophy in one Volume, and a Course of Theology in 8 Volumes The Course of Philosophy Printed in Folio at Animery in the Year 1632, has been rein Folio at Animerp in the Year 1632, has been reprinted divers times. The Edition of Lyons is augmented. The first and Second Volume of his Course of Theology were Printed in the Year 1643, the third and fourth in the Year 1644, the fitth in the Year 1649, the fixth in the Year 1650, the seventh and the eighth in the Vear 1655. They are all in I olio, Printed by Balthazar Moret at (a) Animerp. He had the ninth Volume in hand when he died. It was that desure of rushing (b). Don No. Antwerp He had the ninth Volume in hand when he died It was that de jure & justition (b) Don Nitras Antonio (c) made Arriaga the Author of a Book de Oratore, Printed at Cologne in the Year 1637, of the brevis expositio litera Magistri Sententiarum, cum questionibus que circa ipsam moveri possunt, & authorious que de illis disputant, Printed at Lyons in the Year 1636 in 8° after other Editions, but as Father Sociel does not mention these two Books, tho the first was ascribed to that Jesuit by Alegambus, there is reason to believe that Don Nicolas Antonio is mistaken

(B) That thereby he became a favourer of Pyrrho-nilm] This is the Opinion of Mr de Villemandy funt alit, says he (d), qui periculossis adhuc sollicitant (incrations indei dogmata) cuiusmodi Arriaga suis in Thomam disputationibus Theologicis, nihil enim non moliuntur ut aliorum quoruncunque placita reflexio-nibus & objectionibus suis acstruant, ipsi autemnibil sere adstruun:——(c) Celebiis est inter Romanenses Scholaautem fingula queque sic trates Romanenjes scholasinus Rodericus ille Artiaga — Le multis Volum Lol & I bilosophiam & Theologiam est persecutus, jum autem singula queque sic trastat ut aliorum fore omnum opiniones varies rationibus infirmare studeat, suis autem levissime sufficiat. Si ex hac methodo ingenus cond to disudic tur, were Fyrrhonius pocest habers, cum tamen placita sua, quantum potest sirmet, issque constanter inhareat, non potest legitime eo nomine donari It may be affirm d, that it the reading this Jesuit's Writings, inspires the Pirrhoman Character, it is purely by Accident, and against his Intention, tor he is as positive as any one, and as earnest to con-firm his Decisions, but whether through the weakneis of human Understanding, or the Difficulty of the Matters, he found himself in the Case of a great number of Authors, who can discover the weak number of Authors, who can discover the weak fide of a Doctrine admirably, but never where the force of it lies. I hey are like those Generals who put all the Enemies Country to I ire and Switch, without being able to put their own I rontiers in a Posture of Defence. Mr Ancillon (f) found that Jesuit. "fingular enough in his way of writing, and much free than others, who by a base "Saverned data not torsake the Opinions of the Servitude dare not toriake the Opinions of the "Writers of the Society, and who follow them ferupulously as infallible—repeating the Opinion on of Vasquez, he says painly. That in the main he does not depend much on I ather I asquez's Solutions Mr Antillow adds, "In reading Arriage and Oviedo, I have always observed that when one of these two Jesuits maintains the Affirmative of a "Proposition above the experiments of the letter of the experiments of the experiments." Proposition, the other maintains the Negative, which is not very usual among the Doctors of the Roman Religion in general, and which I have feldom observed, except in Cornelius a Lapide, and in Essas. Its no rare thing for the Jesusts to consute each other on a great number of Ouestions, as well in Philosophy as School Division.

Questions, as well in Philosophy as School Divinity Witness Suares and Vasques

(C) To shew that two contraditions Propositions are fometimes true and sometimes fasse. It he has very well distinguished all those Sophisms, see his second Dispute (g' on the Summulæ of Logick I have seen some Professors very much puzzl'd when these Objections were made to them, which in truth ought only to pass for Cavils, invented unluckily by Persons of too much lessure, but who never pretended like Heraclitus, that one and the never pretended like Heraclitus, that one and the fame thing effectually is, and is not. They only defign'd to exercise their Wit. Observe, that Airfietle does not believe, tho' Her aclitus faid this, that he really thought it (b) Advialor γ α e or ταυτό υπολαμεάν ειν ειναι κιμή ειναι, καθασιε τίνες οιονίαι λέγειν 'Ηράκλειίον ακ έςι γας αναγκαζον α τις λέγειν 'Ηράκλειίον ακ έςι γας αναγκαζον α τις λέγει, ταύτα κ πουδαμθαίεν Impossibil namque est quempiam idem putare este & non este, quemadonodum quidam Heraclitum dicere arbitrabantur Non enim necess- est quacunque quis dicat, ea etiam

(D) The reason of a Phenomenon, for the explaining of which he took pains to no purpos] This Phenomenon is that Timber which is lighter than Water, does nevertheless not float on the Water, with regaid to its whole bulk or thickness, A Beam floating in the River, is partly under, and partly above the Water This cannot be explained according to the common Principles of Heaviness and Lightness, and hence proceeds the vanity of the Lf-forts of Arriaga (1) The new Philosophers find

(f) See the Mélange Critique de litterature, to 1 p 208

(g) Sect 5 lublect 3 & 4 p 19 & feq edit Parifinæ 1639

(b) Arıftor Me-taphyf 1 3 c 3 p m 667 G

(1) Arriaga Dispu-tat 4 de generat lect 5 de elementis fublica

Family, but mech more by his great Learning and Piety, was chosen by Pope Damafus to be sent to be Emperor Theodosius, who wanted a Pieceptoi for his Son Arcadius
He came to Confessionale Day both at the Disciple and the Master, because he found the latter standing, and the their sitting at his Lesson Ble order'd that his Son, tho' he had already declar'd him signstus, should stand uncover'd while Arsenius instructed him, and lay aside the Market of the Imperial Dignity during that time Arsenius imploying all his Endeavours to accomplish his Disciple in Learning and Vertue, thought himself at all his Endeavours to accomplish his Disciple in Learning and Vertue, thought himself at • Takin last oblig'd to add Chastisement to Censure Young Arcadius was so incensed at it, that from the he desir'd one of his Officers to rid him of his Preceptor * The Officer advertis'd Arfemius of it, who stole away privately into the Desarts of Egypt, where he past several Baronius Years with the Anchorets of Scetus, in the most fervent and austere Exercises of Devo-He died there at the Age of ninety five (A) Years Theodofins having with grief heard of Arseniu's Retreat, caus'd him to be sought for every where, without being able to discover him † There are some Faults (B) in Moreri's Distionary which concern this Article I have also found some in (C) other Writers

Divers of Arsenus's Actions and Sentences are found among the * Apophihegmata Patrum, which Mr Cotelier has publish'd.

ARSENIUS, Patriarch of Constantinople in the XIIIth Century, was a Native of und the the same City He was educated in a Monastery of Nice, and was also Superior of it But he renounc'd that Dignity to apply himself wholly to a Monastick Life, either in the Monasteries of Apolloniade, or in those of Mount Athor He was taken from this State in the Year 1255, by the Emperor Theodorus Lascaris, who made him Patriaich of Confrantinople Four Years after, the same Emperor before his Death, declai'd him one of the two Tutors of his Son John The other Tutor was George Muzalon, who discover27, 274 ing Intentions very contrary to the true Interest of the Young Prince, gave Adjourns a difgust for his imployment, that was the cause of his returning to a Monastick liste first 10-But in the Year 1261, when the Greeks had regain'd Constantinople under the Conduct of Michael Paleologus, Arsenius was call'd thither again to retake the Pollession of the Patriarchship, and fill that See, out of which the Patriarchs had been excluded for above monufitty Years The next Year the Emperor Michael Paleologus caus'd the Eyes of John menta, printed at for printed pell these Ecclesiastick Storms, assembled a Council, and on salse Accusations, caus'd Arsenius to be deposed, and banish'd him into the Island of Proconnesus He liv'd a long ad ann Metaphrastus May, and Surrus July no Difficulty in it See the Systeme of Mr Ga-

(A) He died there at the Age of ninety five Years] Here how Mr Arnauld d Andily (k) divides this long Life of Arjenius He fays, "That he pass'd forty Years in the Court of the Emperor Theodosius, "40 in Scetts, 10 in Troche, which is above Babylon,
"over against the City of Memphis, three inthe Ca"nopus of Alexandria, and two in the same Town
"of Troché, whither being return'd he finish'd his
"Courie in the Fear of God" This Lxpression, He past forty Tears in the Court if Theodosius, is very improper, for unless one will find a notorious I alsity in it, it must be taken in this sense, he was forty Years old when he quitted the Court of Theodosius In effect to take it in the proper and natural Signification of the Words, Arsenius must have lived to above six Score Years of Age. The Years of his Age at the time when he went to Con-Years of his Age at the time when he went to Confiantinople, where he was chosen Preceptor to Arcadius by Damasus, ought to have been added to the 95 Years. That Pope would not have chosen a young Man of twenty. Besides Theodosius reign d but about stateen Years, andhe did not receive A senius till the fourth Year of the Empire.

(B) There are some Faults in Moreri's Diffionary]

L. Arsemus could not have been sent to Theodosius in the sear 383, to be Preceptor to Arcadius and Monorius, seeing Honorius was not born before the Year 384 Baronius (a) had noted that Fault to those who wrote the Life of Arsemus, and ascribed it to one who know in general that There and it to one who know in general that There ed it to one who knew in general that Theo-dofius had had two Sons, aliquis qued sciret dues fuisse Theodosio silios, adject Honorium That Fault fuffe Theodosio filios, adjects Honorium That Fault remain'd in the Life of (b) Arsenius, written by Mr d'Andilly, who quotes Rufinus (e) for his Author II I confess, that (d) Baronius says on the Credit of the Lives of (e) the Fathers, that Arlemus was Godfather to the two Sons of Theodofius, ness was Godtather to the two Sons of Theodosius, but this does not agree with Russius, who says (f), that they were put into Arsenius Hands presently after their Baptism Besides that, Baronius himself has observed, that it's a missake in the Lise of Arsenius, where it is said, that he was sent by Damaius to be Preceptos to Arcadius and Honorius like latter was not yet born, the other was but about eight Years old And it is not likely that Arfenius continued at the Court of Iheodofius, till fuch time as Honorius had need of a Preceptor III Mr Flechier fays plainly, that Theodofius caus'd Arfenius to be fearched for throughout the whole Linear laws and the second description of the Court till after the Death of Theodofius, in the Year 395 I fay, this is very unlikely, tho' it is advanced as a certain Fact in the first and third Volume of the Dictionary IV He ought not to have surpressed the Circumstances that Mr Flechier had noted expressly, to wit, that the Officer whom According share'd to built belowing some first and the Officer. whom Areadius charg'd to kill Arf nius, gave that Preceptor notice of it. I he Supplement to the Dictionary supposes, that Assemble was divinely forewarn'd of it V Areadius was not associated to the Empire at six Years of Age, but at the Age of seven on eight, as Baronius (g) and Mr Hechier observes VI Socrates needed not to be quoted, for what he said of Assemius has almost no relation to the Article of the Supplement However the twenty third Chapter of the third Book ought to have been quoted have been quoted

(C) Some in other Writers | Matthias in his Hi-ftorical Theater (h), supposes perpetually, that As news was Preceptor to Honoreus, as well as to Arcadius, and that at the same time He does not confider that Honorius was not boin, when Arfenius was sent to Theodefius to instruct Areadius can t imagine that Honorius being nine Years younger than his Brother, was very unfit to affift at the Lessons which were given to Aread us during the Life of Theodosius Mind this Circumstance well, because Marthias was not ignorant that Arsenius absconded before the Death of the Emperor, for he notes, that Theodossus caus d him carefully to be search d for He quotes the 23d Chapter of the 4th Book of Sociates, where nothing of what he says is to be found. He adds, that Arcad us, after the Death of his Father, heard where Aifnius was, and fent to defire his Pardon for what had past, and his Holy Benediction Mr Dongat being carry d away with the Stream, joins (1) Honot us with Areadius Charles Siephens knew A Settias

(p) Trat tunc Arcadius anočtav um. natus mtub confulttu Gratiani quarto & Meiobaudis. tijennjo I heodoin panis imperium Baann 383 21 22

(b) Pag 1668

(1) Arfenius, non dii & Honormpræceptor Doi jaj pran oui 1 449

(k) D'Andıllı ubı ınfra, p 204 ad ann 383 n 22 (b) It s in the Idtom

(a) Baron of the Lives of the Fathers of the Deferte, by d'Andilli, p 188, of al. 8° of 1676

(c) Lib 3 n 37

(d) Ad ann. 105, n 26

(c) Pitt. 2 C 36

(f) Apud d'Andilly, ubi fu+ Taken fromCave, Histor literar Scriptor Eccles P 725

+ SceGuillet.Lacædemon ancinne & nouvelle,p m 527 & Crusius in his Turco-Græ-CIR

* Claude, Reponfe a Mr Ar nauld, 13 C 12 P m 473

(k) Nice-

1 12 C 23

(1) Cave Histor

Literar

1726 Doujat,

Prænot Canon

P 429

(m) Guil Laced anc &

nouv p

m 327

(n) See the

Article

Musurus

phor Histor

time in that Exile, but it does not exactly appear in what Year he died. He was a good

Man, but wholly unfit for Business | He is (A) an Author

ARSENIUS, Archbishop of Monembasia, or Malvasia in the Mores, in the XVIth

Century, past for a learned Humanist He was the particular Friends of Paul III and writ very elegant Letters to him, in one of which he complains of the little Affection (B) of the Church of Rome for the Greek Nation He submitted himself to the Church of Rome, which made him so odious to the Greek Schismaticks, that Pachomus Patriarch of Constantinople excommunicated him, and that the Greeks reported, that Arsenius atter his Death was Broukelokas, that is to fay, that the Devil hover'd about his Corps, and animated him again \(\begin{align*}\) We have some (C) Works of his

ARSENIUS, A Greek Monk, writ a Letter against Cyrillus Lucar, Patitarch of Constantinople, which was publish'd in Greek and Latin, at Paris in the Year 1643, with the Acts of the Council, wherein Parthenius, Patriarch of Constantinople, caus'd the Consession of that Cyrill to be condemn'd in the Year 1642. Every one knows that that Consession of Cyrill was conformable to the Opinions of Geneva. Mr Glaude * main tain'd, that That Condemnation was a suppositions Piece. The Catalogue of the Library of Orders has consessed as formal of the Catalogue of the Library. brary of Oxford has confounded Arsenius, Author of the Nomo-Canon, with our Greek

"ARSENS (FRANCIS) Lord of Somelfdyck and Spyck, &c was one of the grea " test (A) Ministers that the United Provinces have had for Negociations His Father " who was also a considerable Man, was in (B) such a Post, that it was easie for him " to get an Imployment for his Son John of Oldenbarnevelt, who had then the chie " Direction

Arsenius by no other Qualification than that of Patritian, and makes him not forfake the Court, but only his Estate to go into a Monastery, by virtue of a Voice which came out of the Clouds, commanding him to fly and live in Silence and Peace Mr Hofman has added to all this, only the Place of Arcadius's Preceptor Mr Lloyd has suppress the whole Article Observe, that Nicephorus the Son of Callistus (k) affirms, that Theodosius made Arsenius Preceptor to his Sons

(A) He is an Author] He wrote a Nomo-Canon, or a Collection of Canons divided into one Hundred and forty one Titles, to each of which he adds some Articles or Heads of the Imperial Laws It is inserted in Greek and Latin in the Bibliotheque of Canon-Law, publish'd by Messeurs Justel and Voel We have also the Testament of Arsenius publish d in Greek and Latin, by Mr Coselier, in the second Volume of his Monuments of the Greek

Church (1) (B) Of the little Affection of the Church of Rome] See the Words of Mr Guillet "(m) Arsenius has " written fome very elegant Letters to Pope " Paul III which are still extant In one of them "he complains much of the little Affection the "Church of Rome has for the Greek Nation, in " that it hath not raised any of em to the Dignity "of Cardinal, Paul was made Pope in the Year "1535" If a general Lxtent were given to that Complaint, a Falshood might be charged on Arsenius, for it is certain that Cardinal Bisseries was a It must then be believ'd that Arsenius & Reproaches were like those of Musurus The latter complains bitterly, that not one Greek had a share in the (n) numerous Promotions which Lee X had newly made Paul III was elected Pope in the Month of Offober 1534

I have been informed by Mr de la Monnoie,
"That there s not a Letter of Arfenius to that Pope " to be found, but that which ferves the Scholia " of Euripides for a Dedication It is there he complains, that among so many Cardinals of "all Nations there are not at least two or three "Greeks Kaitoi ad moss of his fire in July to the house of t

Notesfary thin going to the Fountain-Head

(C) We have Joine Works of his] A Collection of Apopthigmes printed at Rome in Greek Another Collection of Scholia on feven Fragedies of Euripides, printed at Vinice in 1534 He lays in his Epistle Dedicatory to Pope Paul III that he had compos'd it in the Isle of Candy, in Venice, and in Florence See the Library of Gesner

(A) Was one of the greatest Ministers—for N go-ziation:] His Enemies do dot dispute this Qua-lity with him, for when they say, "I hat he was " (a) the most dangerous Man that the Confede-" 1 ated Provinces ever had, and so much the most to be fear'd, as he hid all the Malice and Deceit of to eign Courts, under the falle and deceitful Appearence of the Holland Franckness and Simplicity, that he was Ardent and Persuasive, that he offer'd plausible Reasons to support the worst Causes, that (b) he was an intreaguing Spirit, who had had Engagements and Intelligences with such Grandees of France, whose Actions were not only suspected by the King, but odious also, and that having Lain'd the French Ambassador's Secretary at the Hague, he knew (c) most of the particular Intentions of the knew (c) most of the particular Intentions of the "Ministers of the Crown", I say, when they give him these Qualities, they make him the inteste Man in the World for the most important Am-Man in the World for the most important Ambassies, and the nicest Negotiations Mr di Man-nier, who gives himself a cruel Liberty with regard to Francu Aarsens, does himself sup-ply his Readers with Reasons not to be prepossed by his Investives, for he informs us, that his I a-ther, and that Ambassador of Holland were al-tipathy to each other in their Natures, and that the great distribution, that was between them, increased great Aversion, that was between them, incr as a daily instead of diminishing. He informs us also, that his Father made a Speech to the States General on the 13th of November (e) 1613, against France Aersens, in which he accused him of having had the Boldness. "to speak irreverently of their Majesties, and their Council, which were the strongest Supports of the liberty of the Contederated Provinces, of Audaciouiness and Light-ness in his common Discourse, and of black In-gratitude, repaying the many Benefits that France had heap d upon him with Insolence Now we are sufficiently provided with an Anti-dote Who doth not know that much is to be abated of the force of Terms, when one Enemy speaks against another

er -was in such a Post] His Name (f) Du Register to the Maurier (B) His Father-(f) was Cornelius Aarsen, and he was Register to the States He had been acquainted with Mr du Plesfis Mornay, who was, as it were, an Linvoy to Prince William of Orange, and entreated him to take his Son into his Retinue It was done, and he continued with him fome Years I hat Son understanding the Prench Tongue, and the Affairs of the Kingdom, succeeded Levin Caluard in the Year rafter of the States Resident, till the Year 1609
But as there was then a Truce concluded for twelve Years, in which Spain treated with the United Provinces as with a free People, he was acknowledg'd Ambassador by H mry IV "(g) During his abode in France, which was fifteen Years, "he receiv'd great Benefits and Honours from the King, for he was ennobled and made Chevaluer and Baron, which was the reason that he was afterwards received into Holland among the Nobility of the Province" Mr Maurier lays, that he afterwards became so odious to that Court, that they desir'd he might be re call'd after the Remark D

P 378

(c) Ibid P 384

(d) Page

(e) Du Maurier, P 381

ıbıdı 377, 378

(g) Id 1b.

(a) Du Maurier, Memoir P 379

See here-

irection of the Affairs of Halland and all the United Provinces, got him fent as Agent into France, there he learn'd to negotiate Publick Affairs from those great Masters, Many V Villeroi, Rom, Silleroi, Jeannin, &q and he succeeded fo well, that they approve this Conduct. He had after wards the Character of Amballador, and was the first the was considered in that Character at the Court of France, when King Henry IV. Lectured, that the Ambassador of the United Provinces should take place immediately after the Ambassador of Venue He was afterwards imploy'd to the Court Court and with divers Princes of Germany and Italy about the Troubles " that (C) Republick, and with divers Princes of Germany and Italy, about the I roubles " of (D) Bohemia. He was sent upon several extraordinary Embassies besides into (E)" France and England, of which he made very exact and most judicious Collections. One may observe from 'em, that the instructions which the States gave him, " and the Credentials that he brought with him in his last Embassies, were all of his own " drawing up, so that we must believe he was the Man of the Country who not only best knew how to negotiate, but also how to give Instructions to an Ambassador, about what he was to Negotiate. And indeed he did Honour to the State in all his Embassies, as also to the Character wherewith his Sovereaigns involted him, tho' neither the nor his Posterity can justly (R) repine at the time which he imployed in the Scrbusiadeur vice of his Country β" He died very Aged, leaving a Son (G) who past for the tom p richest Man in Holland, and has been very well known by the Name of Montieur van Somer s dyck

ARSINOE, there have been several Queens of this Name Mi Moreri has mention'd the chief not without some Mistakes He is a little too short on Arsinee the Sister of Cleopatra. We shall make a mends for this Bievity in the Article of Prolony Auletes.

ARSINOE the Wife of Magas (A), King of Cyrene, dishonour'd herself by her I asciviousness A little before Magas died, he contracted their only Daughter Berenice to the Son of Prolomy King of Egypt Presently after his Decease, An since who was not pleas'd with this Contract, confider'd how she should break it She caus'd Berezice with the Kingdom of Cyrene, to be offer'd to Demetrius, Brother of Antigonus This Offer was accepted Demetrius immediately imbark'd, and had fo favourable a Passage,

(C) To that Republick] It is to that time must apply what Cardinal Pallavicini reproduct Lather Paul with He (h) says, "That he has a Letter from the Sieur Zuilichen, Secretary to the Prince of Orange, wherein he fays, that having been present at an accidental Inter-View in Venice, between the Sieur Van Somerdyck Ambassador from Holland, and Francu Paolo, the "good Father told that Minister, that he re"fented an extraordinary Joy at feeing the Re"prefentative of a Republick, which held the
"Pope for the true Antichrist' The Author of the Cancillaria secreta Aubalting, repeats some Fragments of a Letter, by whach it appears, that Francis Aarsens going to Venica, had Credential Letters to negotiate with the Protestant Cantons, vention

(E) Extraordinary Embaffies in France and in England] He had this Character in England in the Year 1620, and in the Year (m) 1641 The first time he was chief of the three Ambassadors extraordinary, and the last time he was the second In that Ambally he had for his Collegues the Heer of Bred rode, who took place of him, and He mfules who was the last in Commission. The subject of the Ambassy was the Marriago of Prince William Son of the Prince of Orange extraordinary Ambassy to France was in the Year (4) the Ministry, and was ignorant of the dislike which the preceding Ministers had concein d for that Ambassador, be expressed an Esteem for him, and knowing him to be an understanding Man, made use of him to attain his Ends See the Margin (b)

(F) Repine at the time] Du Maurier says (c), that

Francis Aersens died worth an Hundred Thousand Livers a Year

(G) I caving a Son who pass] He was Governor of Nimuegen, and Colonel of a Regiment of Horse He left two Sons, whereof the Lidest whose Name was Francis, Lord of la Plaste, was cast away in passing from Fugland to Holland in the Year 1659, after the Year Travelt in due are parts of Puers. passing from Fngland to Holland in the Year 1059, after nine Years Travels in divers parts of Europe The other, whose Name was Cornelius, but the Name of Sommers dyck, he was a Collonel in the Armies of Holland, afterwards Governor of Sunnam, where he was killed in a Muting of the Cialman, where he was killed in a Muting of the Cialman, where he was killed in a Muting of the Cialman, where of the Marquis of St. Andr. & Mornal Company of the Marquis of St. Andr. & Mornal Company of the Marquis of St. Andr. & Mornal Company of the Marquis of St. Andr. & Mornal Company of the Marquis of St. Andr. & Mornal Company of the Marquis of St. Andr. & Mornal Company of the Marquis of St. Andr. & Mornal Company of the Marquis of St. Andr. & Mornal Company of the Marquis of St. Andr. & Mornal Company of the Marquis of St. Andr. & Mornal Company of the Company of the Marquis of St. Andr. & Mornal Company of the Marquis of St. Andr. & Mornal Company of the Company of Eldest Daughter of the Marquis of St Andr w Nom-brun, by whom he had divers Children, and who orun, by whom he had divers Unidien, and who died at the Hague in the Year 1695, or thereabouts.

Of feven Sifters which he had, three were married to Persons of Quality, the other tour fell with so much Zeid into a superstitutus Devotion, that they followed the Siem Labhadiesa Schilmatick.

Minister and he had been in Anosthe.

Minister, as it he hid been in Apostle * Mauris (A) the Wf of Magas King of Cyrene I In the Lditions of Justin he is called Agas, but good Cri 39

(b) See the Preface to the History of the Council of Trent, translated by Amelot de la Houssaye and that he had receiv d great Honours from them. It was the Year after the Deputation (1) of the

(D) About the Troubles of Bohemia] This was in the Year 1620, and it is to be observed, "That the king of France (k) forbid his three Ambasfactors the Duke of Angeuleme, the Count of Betlune, and the Abbot of Presux, to receive Monfieur Aarsins Visits, who went from the States of the United Provinces to negotiate with some Princes of Germany and Italy about the same Aftair of Bohemia, which was the Subject of the Ambassy of France. The Order that was sent them contain d, that it was not on account of the States, with whom the King would continue to live in good Intelligence, but on Mr

"Aerfen's Account in particular, for having be"hav'd himself ill with regard to his Majesty's "Service and Dignity They who have any "They who have any
"They was beignorant that the Ground of the Displea"tige, was, because Aerfens had put himself at "the Head of those whom in the Year 1619, op-pos d the Business which the King was nego"tiating at the Hague with much earnestness by "his Ambassadors Booffise and du Muarier" Let us add to these Words of Mr Wiegusfort a Passage of Mr du Maurier which clears them He says (1) "In "the Year 1618, Mr de Booffise was commanded by the King to complain in his Name to the States General of a defamatory Libel writ, fign'd and publish'd by Francis Aersens, to the great Scandal and Dishonour of the Gentlemen of his "Majesty's Council, for which he could obtain that the Complaint was grounded on this, that the Council of France had been accused of be-

Swifs Ministers to the Synod of Dors

(1)Gratias fe imprimis egisse quod cıvitates & oppida non Catholica pradican tes luos anno PRAF-RFRLA-PSO ad Synodum Dordracentem dimilerint Cancell Annalt

(k) Wicquef., de t i p 658

p 151

(1) Du Maurier, , p 162

traying the King, by favouring those who were contriving in Holland the return of that Republick under the Yoak of the King of Spain, toi if du Maurier may be credited the great Common Place of Mr Aersens, the continual Theme of all his Books, and his Placarts fix'd up at the corners of the Streets, contain d that Barneveld's Faction were in an Intelligence with Spain, to about the Reform d Religion and I ibersy of the United Provinces all at once It may be faid chiere, So none vero e ben trovato Noth ng could confirm the province of the law of Manual Confirmation of the province of the law of the province of the law of found Ability of Mr Anfini more than this In-

As Cardinal Richelieu was but newly come to from Wiscquefort. Linté de l Amballadeur, 435, &

B Taken

(m) Wicquef de I Amb t 1 p 650, & 750

(a) Dts Maurier. p ,86

(1) Aarlens was fent in 1628. esthe into France or Lngland Not being able to embark by reason of the Ice, he cameback to the Hague, and took is for an IL Omen that Some Dogs had thrown him over Arflemus à canibus cui fantibusin te ram deje-Etus malevolis occationem præbuit finiftra ibli ouri-

(c) Page

res de du Maurier, p. He was King of Macedon | This nay be inferr d from Ju-ftm's Words 4 Taken from Ju-ftin, l 26 c 3 * SeeMatthias Theatr Histor p m 363 He cites no Body, but we find m Josepus Antiq 1 12 C 4 Ptole my Evergetes was call dCleo † Plur in Agide & (leomene, p 820

(d) Seethe tary of Juftin in the Edition of M Græ-Vius at Leiden, 1683

(e) Pau-fanias, li

(f)Justin I 26 c 3 (g)Athen 1 12 p 550

(b) See Calvisius ad ann

3690

(i) See the Index of the Juftin of Mr Gravius, and Note, that Biflehus at the 4th decade ı uınaı um ıllustrıum, p 1534, snp-posit, tlat fustin I peak of one Agas Brotler to Lvergetes

(k) Juftin (?) Athen ubi iupra

ان

that he soon came to the fight of Berenice He was a handsome Man, and valued himself the more upon it, because he soon perceiv'd the Impression that his Beauty had made on the Heart of Arfinoe He neglected the Daughter to make hunself more acceptable to the Mother He treated the Soldiery with Contempt, in short, he render'd himself so odious, that all the People turn'd their I houghts upon the Son of Piolomy It was resolv'd to make away with Demetrius, and the Means to do it were certed with Berenice The Russians design'd for the murther were let loose upon him, I say let loose upon him at the very Time which he had appointed to (B) lie with Arsinoe This Woman having heard her Daughter's Voice, who stood at the Door, and commanded'em to spare her Mother, cover'd her Galant's Body with her own as well as she could, but her Endeavours were all in vain He lost his Life, after which the Mar-ringe of Berenice with the Son of Ptolomy had its full Effect | If I am not mistaken Juringe of Berenice with the Son of Ptolomy had its full Effect fin is the only Historian who informs us of this And I am surpriz'd at it, for an Action of this Nature was richly worth being taken notice of. What's still more strange 15, that no one tells us what became of Arsinoe, or from whence she came, or what became of Berenice, and so far from any one's relating that Ptolomy Evergetes, the Son of Philadelphia, marry'd her, it is on the contrary affirm d that he mairy'd Cleopatra *. Note, that Ptol my Evergetes had a Son call'd Magas, from whence it may be conjectured, that his Wife's Father's Name was Magas, as Justin has it I shall note (C)

Daughter Berenice in Marriage to Ptolomy The Latinfays (a) Beronicem—filiam desponderat Morer's Words hide a Fact from us which is not unravel'd in the Sequel of his Nairation, to wit, that Berenice continu'd with her Father and Mother Quite a different thing is supposed when its read, that she was given in Marriage to the Son of a King of Egypt I hat he might not therefore mislead his Readers, he should have used the word desponders in the strictest sense when the strictest sense were a supposed to the strictest sense when the strictest sense were a supposed to the strictest sense when the strictest sense were supposed to the strictest sense. fervation is little in it felf, but the uses of it may be considerable to those whe have a mind to trans-They can never be too scrupulous in the late They can never be too icrupulous in the observation of this Rule, to wit, that they ought to avoid all equivocal Terms, all that may hinder the Reader from having the Ideas best furted to the Nature of each Subject II It is not true, that fusin says, that our Arsinoe was the Daughter of Antiochus Soter III Nor that her Husband's Name was (b) Magas: IV Nor that this pretended Magas was the (c) Son of Ptolomy Lagus V Nor that she made her Daughter marry Demetrius VI Nor that she had a design to set the Crown on his Nor that she had a design to set the Crown on his Head VII Neither that she was deposed Can so bold a liberty be sufficiently condemn'd? Here is a Narrative at pleasure without a warrant in his Author And then he takes the boldness to quote him I know, that in taking an Historian of so little Judgment as Just n for a Guide, there is a necessity of supplying several Circumstances, but then notice must be given that they are supply d, and not impos'd on us as a Translation of Justin I have often said that this Abbreviator had but lit-I have often faid that this Abbreviator had but little Judgment, and I am certain, that Trogus Pompeius would exclaim a thousand times against him, did he but know what a sad pickle his Work is less in by this Lpitomizer. He would lose himself in the Errors of his Abbreviator. Almost and the Antigonus's appear in his History without their Marks of Distinction. It's uncertain whether he speaks of the Father or the Son, or the Grand-Son, and it must ther, or the Son, or the Grand-Son, and it must be guest at for the most part. He has not taken so much trouble as to say whether that Marriage of Berenice was consummated or no. A fine Question you'll tell me! And I tell you he ought expressly to have find An or No. prefly to have faid Ay, or No, for it is not unlikely that a Man who observed with Joy, that he was beloved by the Mother, should agree, that his Marriage with the Daughter should be deferred You'll answer me perhaps, that Justin gives Arrive the Title of Mother-in-Law to Demetrins, minute observe seems, when I reply that he gives mis placere socrus capirat, but I reply, that he gives Brenice the Title of a Virgin after this qua res suspicion prime virgin, and consequently one of these Phrases overthrows the other, and its a shiewd Suspicion, that he does not make use of Terms in the most exact Sense Justin's India in

Neither the Circumstance of Time, nor that of Place have any thing wonderful in 'em' 'Twas easie to observe when Demetrius went to Arsinoe's Chamber, and it was the most plausible Opportunity that the Conspirators could take

(C) Some of Mr Moreri's Errors] I This way of Expressing himself is unexact, Magas gave his Daughter Berenice in Marriage to Polary of Level (2) Programme to the Constant.

(a)Justin ubi tupra

(b) His Namein ons of Juftin is Agas, bis 25 Magas

(c) He was the Son of one Philip, and of the Mistress of this Ptolomy ticks (d) had observ'd long age, that it must be read Magas, they add, that Paulanias, Poliania and Athenaus call him so Perhaps it may be objected to them, that he whom Paufanias mentions is not the Husband of our Arsinoe, for he was Brother by the Mother's side of Ptolomy Philadelphus, whereas the Husband of Arfinoe was the Brother of Ptolomy Evergetes This is the History of Magas according to Pausanias (e) He was the Son of Berenice, and of a Macedonian nam'd Philip, of a mean Extraction Eruydice, Antipater's Daughter, having been marry d to Prolomy the Son of Lagus, carry'd that Lerenice into Egypt, who lay with Pro-lomy, and among other Children brought him Prolomy, and among other Children brought him Ptolomy Philodelphus, who reign'd after his Father She caus d the Government of Cyrene to be given to her Son Magas, who marry'd Apama, the Daughter of King Antiochus, and had a great Difference with Ptolomy Philodelphus This is the Magas of Pausanas Is it not plain then, may any one say, that this cannot be the Magas of Justin, who was married to Arsinoe, and who died about the time that the Son of Pyrrhus was settled again in the Kingdom of Epirus? (f) The Criticks may answer that Magas King of Cyrene having (n) reign'd fifty that Magas King of Cyrene having (g) reign'd fifty Years, nothing hinders but he might have liv'd till the Re-establishment of the Son of Pyrrbus, which (h) the best Chronologers place in the Year of Rome 493, which was the 25th of the Reign of Ptolomy Philadelphus So that instead of saying, as is (1) commonly said, that Justin speaks of Ptolomy Evergetes in his 26th Book, it must be afferted, that he speaks of Ptolomy Philadelphus, and that it is to him whom he gives Magas King of Cyrens for a Brother That if he calls Arfinos the Wife of Magas, it is no fign that his Magas differs from that of Pausanias, feeing the same King of Cyrens might have been successively marry'd to Apama the Daughter of Antiochus, and to our Arsinoc By the way, the Wars wherein he was ingaged against Ptolomy Philadelphus, according to Pausaniae, agree very well with the Magas mention'd by Justin Rex Cyrenarum Agas dicedit qui ante infirmitatem Beionicen uni-cam filiam ad finienda cum P olemzo fratre certamina, filio ijus disponderat (k) I contess this does not seem to agree with the Magas mention'd by Athinaus, for he was a Man (/) who enjoying Peace, plung'd himself over Head and Ears in Pleasure and Idlenels, and grew fo fat with eating, that his Greafe choak d him But this Objection is not unanswer-Reign be ingaged in some Wars, and live afterwards in a long Repose?

(B) In a Time which he had appointed to lie with Arsince, The Jesus Bissission of Adulteris august the first be adultered as a subject of Adulteris august be adultered and the best of the work.

Admiration in this Circumstance Adulteris au-tem, fays he, duobus illis (m), Berenica filia macha confisa, tenfa per dispositos percusfores ita funt insidia (quod mireris) ut in ipso stagrantis sectoris ardos e depre-bensis supervieniens adultera si'ia, machique conjunx Beienice pro thalami nesaudi soribus subsistens, & c'

(m) Biffelius, Ruinar illustrium decade Justin br fna, Cui (Demetrio) cum in lectum focrus percussores unmittuntur fome of Mr Moreri's Errors, and one of (D) Mr Menage

AR TABANUS, * the Son of Hystaspes (A), and Brother of Darine, the first 1 4 c 8, of that Name, King of Persia, is represented to us by Herodoius as a wise Man, who always dissuaded those splendid Expeditions that were so fatal to the Monarchy of the Persians He was not of the Opinion that Darius | ought to attack the Scythians, | Id lib and much less that Xerxes should ingage in a War with the Greeks Herodotus has pre- 3 c 10 ferv'd to us || the folid (B) Reasons on which he grounded his Advice, and the Judgment I which he past on the prodigious Army both by Sea and Land, wherewith hereis prepard to pass from Asia into Europe The Difficulties which Artabanus represented to him, were the Cause why they chose to send him back ninto Persia to command there nid 1 7 in the King's Absence, rather than take him along with them in the Expedition Event made it appear, that his Counsels had been judicious and faithful He did not always persevere in that Fidelity, for he conspir'd against Xerxes and slew him, and afterwards forced Artaxerxes the Son of Xerxes to make away with his Brother Darius I say he forc'd him to it, by making him believe that Darius was the Murtherer of Aerics But Areaxerxes discover'd the Truth a little after, and kill'd Areabanus while * he was pulling off his Curiasse Diodorus + Siculus relates after a different manner from Justin, how Artabanus was punish'd for his Crime We shall see, in the Remark B, how that Prince reason'd on Dreams and upon the I ength of human Life

ARTABANUS I King of the Parthians, the seventh from Assaces | Founder of the Monarchy, was the Son (Z) of Priapatius, and Brother of Phraates and Mithridates, who had all three reign'd successively over the Parthians He succeeded his Nephew Phrames, and died a little after of a Wound in the Arm, which he receiv'd in the War he made against the Thogarians!

2d Article Berenice (f) Diog

SPON

S A fua

interfici-

tur, 26

3, 7

Laert in Arcefila. 14 n 41

(g) The , Qualificagood Abridger See the Remark A of the Article Domitia

(e) It's in the Editions cum is Cyrenem mavigafet Which 25 false, for the love of Arcelilas did not Succeed the Voyage to Cyrene

(h) See the foregoing Marginal Note

(1) Diodorus Siculus, 1 11 & Justin 1, 2 It Should have bren Justın l 3 c r

(k) InPerfic c 13, 14, 20

(1)Heaod 1 7 c. 05 & ieq

A Refle-Ation of r Atabanus on Dreams, and on the length of Ruman -Life

the Edition of Mr Gravius gives Berenice (d) only the Title of Betrothed However, neither Justin, nor divers other Abbreviators ever consider that an Abridgment ought to resemble the Pigmeys, who have all the Parts of a perfect human Body, tho each proportionably lesser than those of a Man of a full Stature Lessen the parts of a Narrative in an Abridgment as much as you please, but cut off none Let us reckon Mr Moreri's contradicting himself for the eighth Fault. He will have it, that Berenice, the Wise of Prolomy Evergetes, was the Daughter of Morey, and he afterns (a) ellegations. the Daughter of Magus, and he affirms (e) elic-where, that she was this Peolomy's own Sister (D) I shall observe one Error of Mr Menage] It is in his Annotation on these Words of Diogens Laertinus (f) Δημηθεία το πλαύσαν Φ + ς Κυρήνην, απὶ πλουν εραδηναι λεγεβαι (Αρκεσίλα Φ) Demetrium qui (g) Cyrenem navigavit amasse plurimum dicitur (Arcetilaus) I do not wonder, tays Mr Menage, that That Philosopher who was fond of young Boys, should love Demerrius, who seems to have been very beautiful, which also was his Ruin at last, for he was kill'd in his Mother-in-Law's Lmbraces In noverce concubitu casus est Justin Cited by Mr Menage, gives no occasion for taying, that Arsinoe had such an Allyance with the Favourite of Arcesilus It had been much juster to have noted the Fault of the (h) Latin Interpre-

(A) The Son of Hystaspes] I cannot imagine where Mr Morers had read that Artabanus was a where Mr Morers had read that Artabanus was a Native of Hircania The two Authors (1) whom he has quoted, fay nothing like it Cressas (k) makes a Favourite of Cambyses, whom he calls Artasyras, the Father of Artabanus This Artasyras favouad the Usurpation of the Magician at first, and afterwards the Design which the seven great Lords form'd against the Magician

(B) The solid Reasons One would say, that Herodorus studied how to honour Artabanus's Prudence and good Sense He never gives his Imagi-

dence and good Sense He never gives his Imagination a greater liberty, than when he makes that Prince argue (1) Xirxes after he had sufficiently fretted and revil'd him, yeilded to his Reafretted and revil'd him, yeilded to his Reafons, and would think no more on his Expedition, but two Dreams one upon another push d him on He went to find out Artabanus, and told him his Dream, adding withal, I'll try whether you may not have the like, take my Gaiments, sit on my Throne, he down in my Bed Artabanus answered, That he was not worthy of so much Honour, and argues very sensibly upon Dreams, saying, that if there were any thing Divine in those Dreams of Xerxes, his Majesty had reason to think that he should have the like, for where would the Trouble be if a God who had a War at Heart, and came by Night to injoyn it on a Monarch and came by Night to injoyn it on a Monarch who had refolv'd to live in Peace, where would the great Trouble be if he should come to en-join the same on a chief Minister, thereby to confirm that this God is earnest for the Wu? But, continued he, do not imagine, that it is therefore necessary for me to take your Garments, and lie in your Bed, for that same, I know not what to call it, which appear'd to you in a Dicam, is not such a Sot as to missake me for you, because he should find me death in your Robers and if he should find me drest in your Robes, and if he should not vouchsafe to address himself to me, neither your Garments nor mine will oblige him alter his mind in regard of me Xerxes would ausolutely be obey d Ariabanus dream d as his Master had done, and opposed the War no longer, but became the Promoter of it, tho' there remain d (m) in his Mind a fufficient district of the Success If this Story were true, might we not realonably conclude, that it came from that Spirit who was a Lyar and Murtherer from the beginning, for (n) Yerres was threatn'd with a shameful Abatement, if he defisted from that Laterprize? Another time (o) Artabanus argu d, in a very unufual manner on the shortness of human Lite, a thing that had caus'd Xerxes to weep in the fight of his innumerable Army He said, we live but too long, our Life, as short as it is, is of larger extent then is needful to turn our Brain, and make us often wish for Death, as a 10st Refuge against the Miseries that overwhelm us, that if Lite is nevertheless attended with a pleasing Relish, is not this an Argument that God envies humane Nature Where are the Greek Philosophers who might not have faid of this way of Thinking, what (p) Pyrrhus faid when he had been to view the Roman Army, The Order of Battle of those Barbarians, and their Manner of Incamping, have nothing of the Barbarian in 'em It belongs to the Christian alone to rectific this Note, that Herodotus was very well acquainted with the Vanities and Mileries of human Kind, but he affected a little too much to trace the Causes of em in the Jenlousie or Malignity of the Gods Plugan a Dispute with him on this Head Plutarch (q) bs-

(Z) Was the Son of Priapatius] Mr Morers makes him the Son of Phraates I and Uncle of Phraates II but these are two incompatible Relations, for (a) Justine Phraates II was the Son of Mithridates, and he 1 41 c 5 was Brother to Phraates I how then could it be, that a Son of Phraates I was Unckle of Phraates II (b) Id 1 This is the Reason why, tho' Justin gives Pr a, a-tius but two Sons, I have given him a third, to wit, Artahanus I When Authors explain themfelves ill, they give us this liberty over them Justin (a) relates two Things, I That Pirapatius dying in the Fifteenth Year of his Reign, lett. wo Sons, the Eldest of which, whose Name was Phraates, reign'd before his Younger Brother Mithridates 2 That (b) Piraates the Son of Mithridates reign'd after his Father, and that his Paternal Uncle Artabanus was his Successor Here's a great deal of Confusion It mentions Mithridates and Phraates as the only Sons of Priapatius, and Eee yet

1 Ib c 49

θ Diodor

† Ubi fu-

About 240 7 ais JÍSUS CHRIST

4 Justin

(m) Ibid

(n) Ibid

Sec the $R m I \Delta$ of the Art cl Peitclus, to-

(o) Ibid C 46

(p) Plutarch in Pyrrhi,

(q) Sec the Remark 1 of the Article Peri-

42 C I.

Medes, was call'd by the Parthians, that he might reign over them to the Exclusion of ARTABANUS II. King of the Parthians, being jet but King of the (A) &

B Joseph Antiq 1 18 c 3

y Tacit ann 1 2

$ 1b c 4.

Ib c 58

0 Id Ann. 16 c 31

n In the Tear of Rome 788

A Tacit 2b C 32 & leq

8 Tacit 1b c 36

y Dio I 58 fub fin

♪ In Hircanis re pertus est inluvie oblitus, & alımenta arcu expediens Taut ann 16 6 43

Vonones, whom they had sent for to Rome, and whom Tiberius had very freely granted them Artabanus was of the Race of the Arsacide as well as Vonones, and had moreover this Advantage, that a Roman y Education, did not make him unacceptable to those People. The first Battle was fortunate to Vonones, but he was fo roughly handled in the (B) second, that he was forced to fly into Armenia Ine victorious Artabanus would not let him he at quiet there, and as Tiberius had not promis'd Vonones the necessary Protection S, he was forc'd to quit Armenia, and retire to Silanus Governor of Syria. This went a great way towards fixing the Crown on the Head of Artabanus, which he receiv'd about the 769th Year of Rome, and the fixteenth of the First Century However he did not think himself safe during his Rival's Sojourning in Syrian, for the Communication of Intelligence, being quick and easie, kept up the Factions Whereupon before an Einstelligence, being quick and easie, kept up the Factions whereupon before time bassy to Germanicus to renew the Alliance between them, and insisted, fame time, that Vonones should be sent out of Syria The Consequence of that Embassy is not known, but it's certain, that after the Death of Germanicus 0, the King of the Parthsans wax'd very haughty towards the Romans, and cruel to his own People Successes of the War which he had made against divers Neighbouring Nations, had bloated his Presumption, so that without any regard to (C) Tiberins, whose gray Hairs he despis'd, he took possession of Armenia, and bestow'd it (D) on his Eldest Son Arsaces He sent to demand all the Treasures that Vonones had deposited in Syria and Cilicia n, and publish'd in a Redomentade, that it all that Cyrus and Alexander had been possest of were not restor'd to him, he would come and take it by soice discontented Party at Court & sent private Deputies to Tiberius, deliring him to send 'em Phraates the Son of King Phraates, which was readily granted, and when it was known that That Prince, endeavouring in his Journey to live after the manner of the Parthians, which he had not been used to of a long time, had died of Sickness, Tiridates was substituted in his Place, he was of the House of the Arsacida, and nearly related to Phracies, and at the same time another Adversary was stir'd up against Artabanus, to wit Pharasmanes King of Iberia. Artabanus was worsted on this side, for after that his Son Arfaces King of Armenia was poison'd, his other Son Orodes, whom he had fent into Armenia, was defeated there by Pharasmanes Some time after he himself was beaten, and having been oblig'd to advance towards the Provinces, which & Governor of Syria threatn'd, there remain'd no Obstacle y to Mithridates, Brother of Pharsmanes, his becoming King of Armenia This Loss of Ariabanus was soon follow'd by a greater, for Vitellius by his Money and Intrigues, foon oblig'd him to quit that Country, and retire into Hircania I, where he was reduc'd to live upon what he could get by Hunting, while Vitellius put Tiridates in Possession of the Throne But so soimidable a Party was form'd against the new King, that it was no hard matter for Artabanus who yet infinuates that he had another, fince without this Artabanus could not be the Paternal Unckle of Michridates's Son I have in vain fearch'd for a Solution of this Difficulty in divers Commenta-tors of Justin, and also in the Notes of the last French Translator (c)

(A) Being yet but King of the Medes] Moreri and Hofman have both faid, that Tacitus makes him King This is what that Historian never of the Dacians thought of, he only says, that Artabanus had been educated among the Daha, (d) Artabanus Arfacida-rum e sanguine apud Dahas adultus excitur There is a great deal of difference between the Daha and the Dacians, to say no worse, his Thoughts must needs have been much distracted, to imagine that a Parthian Prince had been educated near the Danube

(B) So roughly handled in the second Mr Moreri has set torth two other Falshoods He has made tonones obtain two Victories against the Parthans, who yet had the better of his Competitor but (e) once, and attributes a Defeat of Artabanus's Army to Vitellius, I say, a Deseat, tollow'd with other Losses of Ariabanus, towards the Year 36 But 1 It is false, that Vitellius deseated the Troops of that King of the Parthians, and in the 2d Place, it is certain, that the Mischief that Visellius did him by Intrigues and Money, followed those other Losses Mi Hosman gives Fonones also two Victories, and one to Vitellius, which he says, was the Cause of Artabanus's leaving Armenia A missay, but incomparably more excusable than that into which this Writer is fallen after Mr Lloyd and into which this Writer is railen after Mr Lloyd and Charles Stephens, in faying, that Artabanus, a great knemy of Tiberius, feiz d on Armenia, and was kill d by a Persian Soldier, whose Name was Artakeries, after whom there had been no Kings of the Parthans, but only of Persia A produgious Anachronism! See the Article of Artabanus IV

(() Without any regard to Tiberius] One cannot be more infulted than that Emperor was by Artabanus, who had no sooner perceiv'd that his

Invalion of Armenia was an Injury which Tiberius did not revenge (f), but he attack'd Cappadocia, and what can be iten more terrible than the Letters he writ to him? Let us hear Suctionius, (g)Quin & Artabani Parthorum regis laceracus eft litteris, parricidia & cades & ignaviam & luxuriam obji-cientis, monentisque ut voluntaria morte maximo justi-simoque civium odio quam primum satisfaceret There was some personal Aversion in the case, for Artabanus behav'd himfelf very civilly, and even very humbly towards Tiberius's Successor Let us hear Successive states there is successor. Let us hear Successive again. Artabamis (b) Parthorum rex odium semper contimptumque Tiberis pra se ferens, amilitam Caligula ultro petits, venitque ad colloquium legari consulais, & transgressis Euphratem aquilas & signa Romana Casarumque imagines adoravis. Dian (1) Observes, that Vitellius had obliged Artabam to sacrifice to the Statues of Augustus adoravis. to give his Children for Holtages, after having along reed to the Treaty of Peace which he present a to him. This shews that Josephus was returned when he said (k), that the Interview between the sellius and Areabanus, and all that resulted from it. happen'd under Tiberius According to him it was to Tiberius, that Durius the Son of Arenbanus was sent an Hostage with rich Presents, and a Giant, a Jew by Nation, who was seven Cubits

(D) His Eldest Son Arfaces] Thus Tacitus and Dion call him Josephus (1) calls him Orodes, confounding one of Areabanus & Children with the orong the Confounding one of Areabanus & Children with the orong the Confounding one of Areabanus & Children with the orong the Confounding of the Confounding tounding one of Artabanus's Children with the other. He that was call'd Oredes was not King of Arnems, but was fent thither to revenge the Death of his Elder Brother Arfaces, and he had like to have been kill'd in the Attempt, for having fought Hand to Hand in the Battle with Phuseleman King of the hand in the Battle with Phuseleman King of the hand in the Battle with Phuseleman King of the hand in the Battle with Phuseleman King of the hand in the Battle with Phuseleman King of the hand in the Battle with Phuseleman King of the hand in the Battle with Phuseleman King of the hand in the Battle with Phuseleman King of the hand in the Battle with Phuseleman King of the hand in the Battle with the other hand in the other raimanes King of Iberia, he was wounded, but not kill d, as was then reported (m) to the great Prejudice of the Parthians, and as Josephius has since affirm'd in his (n) Jewish Antiquities.

(f) Dio 58 lub fin

(g) Suet in Tiber c 66

(b) Id in Calig

(1) D10, Ì 59

(k) Josep 1 18 An

(m) Fan Meili fa Weredi caterrui Parthos victori. amque Loncel fere The Ann T 6 35 (nY 1

(E) His

the Title of Monsicur D L M his Translation has been printed at Amsterdam in 1694, from Edition of 1693 (d) Tacit Ann 1 2

(c)Hetakes

C 3

(e)Joseph Antig 1 18 c 3 Tacit ib was recall'd , to force Tiridates, who was but a poor Prince, to retire. This past in the 0 Id ib thirty fixth Year of the First Century But Artabanni's former Pride was now moitified: He himself sought a Caligula's Friendship, and when he found that his Design of carrying the War into Syria a miscarried thro' the Diligence of Vitelline, he agreed to an a Sueton Interview with that Roman, and to a Trerty of Peace, the Conditions whereof were to the Advantage of Caligula. Ten Years after he was deposed, and oblig'd to seek a the Retreat with Izates, King of Advantage, by whom he was receiv'd in a most generous mark c manner, and not with bare Compliments For Izates negotiated in such a manner with the Parthians, that he oblig'd them to place him upon the Throne again, and Cinnamus A Dio himself, whom they had set up in his Place, was the Person who set the Diadem upon his 159 Head again It is likely that Artabanus died a little after, whether by the Crime of (E)

Gotarzes his Son or Brother, or otherwise

ARTABANUS III King of the Parthians, Successor, and perhaps Son of Vologeses whom Successor mentions as a good Friend of Nero and Vespasian, livid in the Time of the Emperor Tiens. This is what Zonaras * informs us after this mainer He * In Tito fays, that an Affasick, whose Name was Terentius Maximus, pretending to be Nero, ad ann prevail'd with some Persons of his own Country, and many more towards the Fuphrates circiter, to believe it, and at last retir'd to Artabanus King of the Parthians, who being then in an all Humour against (A) Titus, receiv'd the Impostor very kindly, and prepar'd to 1e-

inthrone him

ARTABANUS IV was the last King of the Parthans, for Artaneraes, a Perfian by Nation, having depriv'd him of his Crown and Life in the Year 229, took upon him the Title of King of Persia, which his Successors bare as long as that Monarchy continued Artabanus's Reign had been glorious enough, and hid done the Romans some Mischief, who return'd him like for like He had been so imprudent as not to keep upon his Guard while the Emperor Severus ravag'd the Neighbouring Countries, he lay by quietly under the Colour of a Peace, when on a sudden he found the Roman Troops fall into his Dominions All that he could do was to fave himself | with a dian 1 3 fmall Guard, the Town of Ctesiphon, in which he made his Residence was | plunder'd, c 9 all his Treasures and Moveables fell into the Hands of his Enemies But this Slui was nothing in comparison of the perfidious Trick which Caracalla play'd him He sent I In the him Ambassadors with rich Presents 4- to demand his Daughter in Marriage, and al-* · ledg'd an hundred fine Things, which might result from that Alliance for the Good to Calvis-At first Artabanus rejected the Proposal, foreseeing no us and Honour of both Nations Concord or Enjoyment in that Marriage, confidering the Differences of Language and Manners between his Daughter and a Roman Emperor At last Caracalla's new Initances, † Herohis Oaths, his Protestations of Love for his future Spouse, obtain'd the Father's Confent But all this while Carcalla was meditating fuch a Villany as may be look'd on as feq the Pattern, at least as the first Draught of the Saint Bartholomew of Catherine de Medicis He march'd with his Army into the Country of the Parthians, and was every where receiv'd as the King's Son-in-Law, and when he approached the chief City, Artabanus went forth to meet him, accompanied with an infinite Number of The Parthans thought of nothing but of shewing their Joy, in Feating, Singing and Dancing, when Caracalla gave the Signal to his Army to tall on that unarm'd Multitude, they slew 'em as long as they pleas'd, for there were none in a Condition to relist Artabanus with much ado sav'd himself After that Day Caracalla did nothing but plunder and burn, till tired with his Executions, he return'd into Mefopotamia, where he was affasinated Artabanus being eager to revenge the Injury (d) Id

(a) Tillem Hift des Emper ad ann 47 p 367 edir de Brux

(b) Tacit Ann 1 11

(c) Inter pleraque fæva (qui fratri Artabano conjugiqué ac filio ejus propers-Velat. sbers read PI CPATAverat, unde metus cæteros) accivere Bardamem Id 1b

(E) His Son or Broth r Gotarzes] The Manner in which the exact Mr de Tillemont expresses himfelf, is impoling (a) Artabanus, lays he, died foon after by the Crime of Gotarzes his Brother, according to Ta-citus, or rather his Son, as Josephus affirms There is no one who reads these Words, but will imagine Josephus says, that Gotarzes caused his Father Artabanus to be put to Death, tho' he really says no such thing, he speaks of Artabanus as of one who dy'd of Sickness, he makes his Son Varadanus to succeed him, and Artabanus other Son Gotarza to succeed him 'Tis strange that Tacitus and Jo-• fephus should agree so little in the main Circum-frances, of Matters so near their own Time! The latter gives Artabanus a peaceable Death and divers Sons The former makes him perish with his Wife and his Son by the Crime of his Brother, which seems to import that Artabanus had but one Son One cannot tell which fide to take, considering that Tacitus is not wholly free from Contradiction First he sets down that Gotarza was the Brother of Artabanus, a little after he makes the Brother of Artabanus, a little after he makes him the Brother of Bardanes, and intimates very clearly, that Bardanes was the Son of Artabanus, for he represents him very angry at those of Seleucia, as well because they did not submit to him, as because they had been Rebels against this Father (b) In quas use pairis sur quoque disessers, ira magis quam exusu prasente accensus. Who is this Father, if not Artabanus? I should almost be tempted to believe, that the Artabanus most be tempted to believe, that the Artabanus mention d by Tacstus (c), was the Son who had already fucceeded, or who was to fucceed King Artabanus, and that Gotarza, another Son of King Artabanus, murther'd this Brother to make his own way to the Throne, and for the greater Security involv'd the Mother and the Son in the same Destruction with the Father This Conjecture clears all Contradictions But here are other Differences between Jos phus and Tacitus

The latter makes (d) Goturza die a natural Death, and gives him Venones for Successor, and his Son Vologeses after him Josephus () makes Gotarza perish by the Treachery of his Subjects, and gives him his Brother Vologefes for his immediate Suc-

Against Titus] Altho' there has been more (A)than one falle Nero, many will hardly believe, that they must distinguish this Terentius Maximus from the Impostor mention'd by Suetonius And if it be objected, that the latter did not appear rill twenty Years after the Death of Nro, that is to say, till the seventh Year of Domitian, it may be anfwer'd, that Zonaras is not uncapable of confounding two Reigns with each other, and that after all, it would be somewhat strange, that in so little a time two Impostors should have found so great Support in the fame Country, or that having found it there, they should not both have been remembred by the Historian, who mention'd one of them as a fingular Adventure The fingle Impostor mention'd by Su tonius (f), was very stoutly protected by the Parthians

Eee 2

μ Joseph 20 C 2

+ Herodian I

which Annal I

(e)Tofeph Antig 1

(f) Cum post viginti annos adolescente me extitiffet conditionis mcertæ quiteNeronem esse jactaict, tam bile nomeneius apud Parmenter adjutus

Herodan 1 6 pag m. Cap 2. 1 57.

† Herodot 1 7 c 66

†‡ Id 1 8 c 126

† Id 19 c, 65 88

(a) Ho 0dian lib 6 c 2 p m 2 57 (b) He alledges the Testimony of Dion Chrysoftome Orat 3 of Josephus Antiguit 11 66, of Herodotus lib 8 & lib 5 of Zenophon expedit lib 1 of Aristides in

Romæ encomio. of Suidas in ulyas Bankeus Mr du Rondel *nformed me of this Passage of Stanley We might add to these Plato in Gorgia p 321 C Plu-

tarch in vita Ci-

monis p 485 E of Esther chap 16 υ i (ι) Hocrates in panegyr p m 96 See the Article Ageirlaus

Remark G in the Maigin (d) Versa 19, & 28 (,) Dif-

cours d Arıitarque dre fur les fautes de Phyllarque pag

120, 121
(f) Achites à Palemon pour la defense de Phyllarque p 43
(g) He makes use of this Word because he had to do with Javersac, against whom a Satyr had appear'd intit'led, La desaite du Paladin Javersac See bis Article which he had suffered, marched with all possible Speed against the Roman which had elected Macrinus in the room of Caracalla. The Battle having continu two whole Days from Morning till Night was renewed upon the Third, and in all probability would have lasted till one or other Army was quite destroyed, if Macrinus had not found means of fending Artabanus an Account of the tragical End of Caracalla, declaring, that he himself disapprov'd what was past, and was willing to restore to him all the Prisoners and the Booty that remain'd, and live in Peace with him. Artabanus accepted these Offers, and a Peace was concluded between him and the New Emperor in the Year 217 He was the * first (AA) who had the Title of the Great King, and who wore a double Diadem His ill Destiny raised him up a formidable Enemy in the Year 226 I mean that Areaker Kes who maintain'd his Rebellion with so much good Fortune and Courage, that after three Years he put an end to the Parthian Monarchy.

ARTABAZUS, the Son of Pharnaces, † commanded the Anthians and the Chorasmans in the Expedition of Xerxes. It was he who after the Mattle of Salamina † guarded the King his Master with 60000 choice Men as far in the Hellespons. As foon as Xerxes was pass'd into Asia, Artabazm return'd back again, and abought himself oblig'd to punish the City of Potidea, which had cast off the Persian Yoke on the News of their ill Fortune. He besieged it a very long time without being able to take it by reason of the Floods that were caused by continual Rains. He was more fortunate in the Siege of Olinthia. He disapproved the Resolution that was taken to I-leave Mardonius in Europe, and it was wholly against his Advice that Mardonius engaged in the Battle of Platea, which was so fatal to the Persians Artabazus who

(AΔ) He was the first who had the Title of the Great King] I have cited my Author, and it is very true that these Words are found in the Chapter of Herodian which I quote (a) A's deardy το του πρότερον μελυμενου του μέγαν βαζιλέα, κ) δυσί σαι τεχ παρπια ρενικια αρρεθείνει Αταμε Ατέαδαπο, αμι τεχ παρπια primiu appellatus est, duplicique diademate utebatur, necem intuisse I believe he would have said that before Artabanius IV, no King of the Parthians had assumed the Title of Great King, and he'd be much mistaken if he should say absolutely that he was the first Prince who call'd him

"Obedience were given, and therefore it is said,
"the King of Macedonia, and the King of the King of Macedonia, and the King of the King of Interest Artabanius IV and as he bore the little of Grand Seignior, his Subjects
"Court was call'd the Port, his Courtiers οι επίSupais βαζίλεως, they who stood at the King's Gate The Emperor of the Turks hath successed him in the Title of Grand Seignior, assigning the part of his Dominions, and lutely that he was the first Prince who call'd himfelf to, for it is certain that the ancient Kings of Persia had taken that Quality upon them, and that it was appropriated to them See the 24th Verse of Eschyler's Persians and (b) Stanley's Observations upon them Read also the Panegyrick of Iserates, and you will find in it the Complaint of that Orator against the Greeks of his Time, who in their common Discourse gave the pompous Title of Great King to the Monarch of Persia (c) Ou Balinia Tor meyer autor replayer, done anyudholo: Apprilas, Non eum quasi belle capti Regem magnum appillamu? Note, that the Kings of Persia were not the first who gave themselves that Persia were not the first who gave themselves this Title The Kings of Assyria had born it, as may be collected from the (d) 18th Chapter of the 2 Book of Kings, where the Words of the Ambassadors of Sennachirib may be seen I remember the Answer which Father Goulu made when a Passage of his Translation of Socrates s Apology was criticis'd Let us first set down the Words of the Critick (e) I do not know what to accuse him of, unless of a voluntary Ignorance in a Passage of the Apology of Socrates, where he makes Socrates say I'm periwaded, that were he the Grand Seignior and nor a Person of mean Condition, he would preser a Night like that before all the other Nights and Days of his Life, & I would fain know of him whether this Grand Seignior of his be not the Turk , and if it be, how Secrates could "be not the Turk, and if it be, how Secrates could fpeak of him, except by way of Prophecy, seeing transon to be 800. Years since the Turks begun their Tyranny, and that there are above 1300 elapsed from the Age of Socrates to theirs, reckoning from the fourth Year (in which he was born) of the 77th Olimpiad." Here's the Refutation of this Criticism (f) A Man of good Sense would have spar'd me an Answer by not asking me so foolish a Question. But patience, let us answer this ignorant Fellow. Yes (g) Palamin, the Turk is at this time call'd the Grand. din, the Turk is at this time call'd the Grand Seigner But in Secreter's Time the King of the "Persians was call'd so, and by no other Name
"Suidas says, to other Kings the Title of the "Dominions and Countries that are under their

Leyas Balinavs, Mayas, Leyas Balinavs, Mayas, bore the litle of Grand Seignior, his Subjects took upon them the Quality of Slaves, and his Court was call'd the Port, his Courtiers at emission of the Balinavs, they who stood at the King's Gate The Emperor of the Turks hath successful the Title of Grand Seignior, as and the Court of the Turks and the Court of the Turks hath successful the Court of the Court in the best part of his Dominions, and Form of his Government So that might have spoken of the Grand Seignior with the state of th out Revelation or Prophecy, for which the Paladin could not have criticiz'd him without discovering his Impertinence But it would be Loss of Time to me to fend him back to Hebe Lois of Time to me to lend him back to Heredetus, Thueydides, and other good Authors, to learn the Trath of what I say For the poor unhappy Creature confesses that he has no Books, nor the would hardly trust him with have Libraries, would hardly trust him with the Libraries, would hardly trust him with the understands nothing relating to them. I content my felf then with fending him to study the History of the Turks at the lower end of the Pontneuf where the Hawkers retail their Pictures, that without any Charge he may learn from the Prints of the Emperors of the Turks, what time the Ostemans "Emperors of the Turks, what time the Octomans became Grand Seigniors, whether it be 800 Years ago, as the Paladin says, or only within these Three Centuries "I have copy d all this long Passage that the Reader for a small Expence, and without consulting the Pieces of the samous Dispute of the General of the Finikans, may see the course rude Manner of (b) those Times, between Authors at Variance But let us the street of Slur of Father Goulus, who not such this Account in may as Baclinais, supposes said that the Words may as Institute of Father Goulus, who not such that the Words may as Institute of Father Goulus, who not such that the Words may as Institute of Father Goulus, who not such that the Words may be such such as the words may be such as the words were also such as the words were such such as the words were ders, it only ferves to impose on the ignorant and brands him as a Forger with all others the whole, its agreed, that his Grand Seign 19thly criticiz'd

To return, the lofty Title of King of Rings is less proper, it seems, than that of Great King to in Pompates the Pride of the Orientals, for we see that Artabanus IV, to enhance the former Character, caus'd himself to be styled the Great King He had already had that of King of Kings like his Predecessors In Pompey's Time it was commonly given to the King of Parthia, and if Pompey did ann 748 pm 636 from a regard to the other Kings who were come to pay him Homage (1) Phrastes (1) assumed it in a Letter which he writ to Augustus Seutonius in a Letter which he writ to Augustus Seutonius gave it to the King of Parthia who was contemporary with Germanicus, it is in the Place where he mentions the Sorrow that all express d for the Death

(b) That's 1628

brought them back with much Prudence into Asia Mr Mire: shews no Discernment in this Matter See the Remark

'ARTAVASDES I, King of Armenia, Son and Successor of that Tigranes & Plu-

who was conquer'd by Lucullus and Pompey in the War of Mithridates, betrayed the Romans villanously in the Expedition of Crassus, & for after he had waited on that General with 6000 Horse, and promis'd him an Assistance of 40000 Men, he brake his Word, and excus'd himself on the War which he was to maintain in his 2 ld pag own Country against the Parthans Crassis sinding himself trick'd 2 threatned him severely, but he was not in a Condition to punish his I reachery, on the contrary Artavasdes shard in the Rejoycings that were made at the Court of the King of Parthis for the Destruction of the Roman Army He had agreed on a Marriage between his Sister and Pacerus the Son of Oredes King of the Parthians A, and was at the Court of Oredes during the excessive Joy which so great a Victory caus'd there He faw a thousand versions fill'd with Insults on the Romans, he went to the Feasts and Comedica, and heard Europides's Verses applyed to the Disaster of Crassus, whose Head was brought in upon the Stage while the Bacchantes of that Poet was reprefented This gave Plutarch occasion to fay that Orodes understood Greek, and that Artavasdes (A) had composed Tragedies, Speeches and Histories, some of which were preserved to his own Time. I do not think that this Artavasdes (B) ought to be distin

p m 3 r Livius l 45 p m 882 (n) Dio-dor Sicu-() Mark c 55 (p)Strabo lib 15 pag 502 (q) Plut in Lucullop 500

(r) Eze-

chap 26

v 7 (/) Am mian. Marcell,

lib 17

ad ann 357 Biffe-lius ruidec 4 pag 445

Says fasly that Ca-

narum 11-

pitolinus had spoken

(t) Bodin de la republique liv i ch 9 fub fin p m

211 (a) Voff

de Hist

pag 154 (b) Mallincrot,

Paralipo menon de

Millur,

Gr. p 11

ealls him with Vos-fius. Ar-

Mr Ryck
in Taget profession that Plu-tarch calls

tuasdes

Græc

of ths Letter

C 5 p m 163

chiel

n Calı-gula c 5 m) Cicero epift

14 lib 9

of that illustrious Roman Regulos quesdam barbam possisse, & unorum capita rasisse ad indicium maximi luttus REGUM ETIAM REGEM & exercitatione venandi & convictu Megistanum abstinuisse, quod apud Parthes justissi sustar est (1) I do not wonder at Artabanus's Talte, when I consider that the Title of King of Kings has been much more common than that of Great King The Title of King of Kings was given to (m) Aganemnon Diodorus Siculus affirms, that Osmanduas and Sesostris were so styled, the one (n) in his Epitaph, the other (s) in Inscriptions on Pillars that reigned gloriously in Egypt Cynus was qualified so in his Epitaph (p), and the same was (q) given to Tigranes King of Armenia Holy Scripture gives (r) it to Nabuchedonosor Note, that the Kings of Persia who succeeded the Kings of the Parthuant, continued to style them. Kings of the Parthians, continued to flyle them-felves King of Kings See Saper's Letter to Con-fiantius in Ammianus (f) Marcellinus, and the An-notations of Henry Valois on that Place See also Trebellius Pollio in the Life of Amelian, and the Trebellius Pollio in the Life of Aurelian, and the Notes of the Commentators Some Authors will have it that the Emperors of Confantinople have reduplicated that Title (1) They bore Four B in their Coats of Arms I which fland for Calibeug Balibeug Balibeug, that is to iay, King of Kings reigning over Kings Let us note by the By, that the leaving the Title of King to a tributary Prince was pure Pride

(2) Preserved the Forty Thousand Men] Mr Moresi iys, that disabasus gather'd together the bioken Remains of the Army This is not understanding the Author one quotes fhews plainly that Ariahazus kept Forty Thou-fand Men apart as a Body of Reserve, and that when he was going to lead them to Battle, he perceived that Mardonius was routed, and fled another way If Mardonius had survived the Loss of that Battle he would not have fail'd to have for that Battle he would not have fall d to have fad in Vindication of himself that Artabazus had facelified him, that he had only been a Spectator Battle, or a Run-away, that having given his Advice against the Battle, he had contributed what lay in his Power to the Loss of it, that he what lay in his Power to the Lois of it, that he hight raise a Trophy to his Prudence Artabazus and the Opinion which he had given in a Council of War It is a strange Mistake to say as Mr Moreri does that the Greeks lost that Battle And the Siege of Posidan, naked and unfurnish d of all manner of Circumstances, when does in do them? Of what wife is the say what does it do there? Of what use is it to a Reader?

(A) That Artavasdes had composed | Here is a Greek Poet and a Historian who has been forgot by Vossius as a Poer, tho' not (a) as an Historian, not withstanding that Mallineres places him in his Collection of Historians who had escaped all former Inquiries Mallineres observes, that Appear has cited the History of our Artavasdes, but has differ'd a little as to the Author's Name He adds, that he was the first Prince of that Name who reign'd in Armenia (b). That may be true, sltho' the Conjecture of divers Criticks on a Passage of Justin should be good. They pretend that it must be read Areavasides, and not Ortoadist s, in the 2d Chapter of the 42d Book. So that there must have been a King of Armenia call d Arof the Parthans That Mithridates was deposed and his Brother Orodes succeeded him, who obtain'd that memorable Victory over the Romans It is true indeed, that our Ar availes reign d at the same time with Orodes, yet nothing hinders but he might have begun to reign before him, and his Father Tigranes be dead before the depoing of Mithridates the Great, in which Cafe Artavafdes might have been at War with the latter It is true also that to make Justin agree with (c) Plutarch and Dion (d), it must be supposed that his Mithridates the Great is the Phraates whom these make to reign in the Time of Tigranes

(B) That this Arravaides ought to be distinguish d] My Reasons are their, he who trick d Craffus was the Son of Tigranes, as Dion (e) affirms. He who deceived Mark Anthony was the Son of Tigranes, as Josephus tays (f), whole Testimony in cide of Necessity might be confirmed by Strabo (g), who not only affirms, that he whom Mark Anthony pun-ish'd tor his Persidy, had reign'd after lygranes, but also that he was his Son (b) So then he that put a Trick upon the Romans in the Time of Graffus, is the same who deceived them in the Expedition of Mark Anthony Mr Moreri did not understand it so, he would have Two Arravasses acknowledged If he had stop dithere, his Opinion would not have been thought to ffrange, but here's his wonderful Conjecture He will have it, that one of these Artavasdes is he who had composed Histories and Poems, and that the other is he whom Mark Anthony led in Tri-umph to Alexandria in the Year of Rome 720 He lays that the latter left a Son of the Same Name, the Same perhaps whom Plutarch mentions, who had (1) so much Wit, and betrayed Crassus What Blunders and Blindness! Crassus was betray d in 701, he who betray'd him was actually King of Armenia, how then could he be the Son of a King of menis that was dethrond in the Year 720? Mr Morers remarks that this dethroned Prince died fome time after in Prilon. This is forgetting a very effential Circumstance, for he was put to Death (k) He adds, that he left a Son named Arravasdes No such thing, his eldest Son who fucceeded him was call'd Artavias, his other Son's Name was Figranes And as to that other Ariavaldes, who according to Mr Movers quoting Tactes, foon lost Armenia which Tiberia had given him, he was not the Son of the other, and was the Third or Fourth King after him It is moreover falle that Tacitus informs us that Tiberius gave him Armenia What he fays is this (1) Dein juffu Augusti imposisus Aitavaldes, & non sine clade nostra dejectus Tum C. Casar componenda Armenia deligisur Is Ariobarzanem origine Medum ob infignem corporis formamier preclarum animum volentibus Armoniis present Lastly, what Mr Moreri says, that Auprafect Lastly, what Mr Morers says, that Augustus and a Son of Agrippa thither, who was soon

tarch in

J Id pag Epift ad famil 3 in Pom

(d) Di

ÌB 40

(f) Jo-feph lib 15 C 5

(g) Strib lib 11 fub finem

(h) Id lıb 11 pag 365

Trults of Mr Mo-1 erz

(,) Plutarch does not say had much or fo much

(k) Arngeon ourdπ]ον-τ⊕ τε Axlains Rello Actiaco gliscente interfeetus eff Strabo I ii sub Cleopatra according to Dion mas return d to Alexandria after the Battle of Actium when this Murder mitted See Tacitus ann

(1) Tacit ann lib 2 C 3 bim Artazus, but tis certain he calls bim of truer APTROU-

* D10, lib 49 Strabo, 1 11 p 361, & 366 Plutarch. in Anton P 933 † He was call dArtavaldes & Dio, 1 51 See the Remark B an theMargin 2 Cicer ad Artic epift 21 Joseph Antiq 1 15 c 5 6 Dio, 1 49 2 Arfacıdarum vi feque regnumque tutatus est Tacit Ann 1 2 • Dio, 1 54 † Id 1b Nec Ti-granidiuturnum ımperıum fuit, nec liberis cjus Tacif ib 4 Id 1b

(m) Charles Stevens fays

(n) Dio.l 49 circa (o) Catenis, sed ne quid deeffet, aureis Vinxit Paterc 1 2 6 82 (p) Curt l'5 c 12 Vide ibi Fremshemium (q) Ryck, Anımadv ad Tacit Ann 1 2 c 3 P 28, 29 (s) Sce Liplius tus Ann (b) Tacit ibid (c) Clauda virtute Neronis

Armeni-

us cecidit

(d)Joseph

Horat epift 12 gush'd from him who deceiv'd Mark Anthony. He persuaded him * to turn his a sens against the King of the Medes, and by that means ingag'd him in an Enterprize, which had a very bad lisue, and in which he never seconded him. Mark Anthony deserring his Revenge till a more convenient Season dissembled for the present, but two Years after, viz in the 720th Year of Rome, he employ'd so many Artifices and fine Promiles, that at last he drew him to a Conference, and then keeping him Prisoner, loaded him with (C) Silver Chains, and led him in Triumph to Alexandria Artavafdes's Wife and Children were also a part of the Ornaments of Mark Anthony's Triumph. They were all led in Chains of Gold through the midst of the People to Cleopatra, but neither Promises nor Threats could persuade them to fall on their Knees before her, or make Supplications to her, they call'd her only by her Name, which was the Reason that they were more hardly treated. Some time after Artavasdes was put to Death, and his Head sent to the King of the Medes It was Cleopaira & sent him that Present upon her return to Alexandria, after the loss of the Battle of Allium. She fancy'd that That Head would induce the King of the Medes to enter into a stricter Alliance with Mark Anthony against Augustus In the following Article it will appear what became of the Sons of Artavasdes He had y a Daughter married to King Dejotarus

ARTAVASDESII. was established King of Armensa by Augustus Between the Death of Areavasdes I. and this time, he had been preceded by Areavas, by Tigranes, and by the Children of Tigranes. Areavas the Eldest Son of Areavasdes I I had made his Escape when his Father was put in Chains, but not before he had endeavourd to maintain himself on the Throne with the 8 Troops, and Towns which declai'd him King after his Father was taken He had the Misfortune to be beaten by Mark Anthony, and then took Refuge among the Parthians, by whose Assistance he a reign'd at last in Armenia, but upon the Complaint of his Subjects, and at the Request which they made for his Brother Tigranes, who was educated at Rome *, Augustus order'd Tiberius to depose Artaxias, and confer the Kingdom on Tigranes Artaxias was murther'd by his own Subjects before the Approach of (A) Tiberius, so that he had no hard Task to install Tigranes | This happen'd in the Year of Rome 734 Neither Tigranes | nor his Sons injoy'd the Royalty long, but gave place (B) to Arravasdes II who likewise injoy'd it but a short while 4 Augustus who had given it him, understanding the Confusions of Armema dispatch'd his Grandion Cajus Casar thither to set Things in order This young Prince made Arserbarzanes King there, to the satisfaction of all

ARTA-

.(s) Suet in Tiber c 9

fent packing, is very falle, for the fending of Caius Cafar the Son of Agrippa was posterior to the Destruction of the last Artavasdes Caius Casar was not sent into Armenia to command there, but only to fet Matters to rights, he fettled Ariobarzanes on the Throne, and afterwards continued to visit the East with a Pomp worthy the prefumptive Heir of all the Roman Empire If one endeavour'd to make Faults, could he make more than Mr Merers has done, could he make above 7 or 8 in 16 Lines? Mr Hofman makes but Three in this Article He says, 1 That Artavassder assisted (m) Crassus against the Parthians 2 That Tiberius gave Armenia to another Artavasdes 3 That Augustus had before that given it to Artabazus the Son of Agrippa who was soon turn'd our Mr Lloyd has suppress'd all this Article, tho' it was pretty fair in Charles Stephens

tho it was pretty fair in Charles Stephens
(C) With Silver Chains Diem (n) remarks that they made Choice of such, because they would not dishonour Royal Majesty with Iron Chains Paterculus (e) says, that to make them more honourable they would have them of Gold The same Ceremony had been us d (p) to Darius But what shall we say to Mr Ryck, (q) who treats a Fact advanc'd by Lewis d'Orleans to reconcile Paterculus with Diem as a meer Fistion? The Fact is serculus with Dion as a meer Fiction? The Fact is this, that Artavafdes was loaden with Silver Chains in Prison, and with Chains of Gold on the Day of the Triumph Mr Ryck maintains that neither of these two Historians have either mention'd Prison or Triumph, and that therefore they cannot be reconcil d It is nevertheless true, that Dien in the same Page, in which he speaks of Silver Chains, speaks also of Chains of Gold which were put upon Artavaldes, and his Family on the Day of Triumph Let us wonder at the ill Turns which Memory does us

(A) Before the Approach of Tiberius] Dien who informs us of this Circumstance, is mistaken in the Names, for (a) he calls him Artabazas, whom he ought to have call'd Artaxias Tacitus (b) imputes the Death of Artaxias purely to the Treachery of his Relations, eccife Arrania per delum propinquerum, but Horace imputes it to the Valour of (c) Tiberius This out ht to be no Wonder, Poets too well understand hour to be a second to the second hours to the second hours to the second hours to the second hours to the second to the second hours to the second t derstand how to give a good turn to Events; all that comes to their Hands is converted into Matter of Praile, and they find Flowers every where to Crown Princes with Josephus (d) lays no more than that Artaxias was driven out by Archelaus and Tiberius Suctonius (e) without faying a word of Ar-tanias, is fatisfied with observing that Tiberius plac'd Tigranes on the Throne Dutto ad orientem exercitu regnum Armenia Tigrani restituit, at pro Tribunali dia-dema imposuit I do not see that the word Redems imposur I do not see that the word Restoring is well imploy'd here, for Tigranes who was the younger Brother of Areaxias had never been in possession of Arminia, neither ought he to have been during the Life of his Elder Brother Scaliger (f) who had reason to say, that Eusebius ought not to have made use of a (g) word, impossing that Arminia was subdived by Thereis (see porting, that Armenia was subdu'd by Tiberius, seeing the Armenians desir'd no better than to have Tigranes for their King whom he brought them I say, Scaliger, who justly censures this impropriety of Eufebius, would have done well to have avoidof Eufebius, would have done with the five given ed that reflicust of Succonius, and not have given detailed the Title of Usurper (h) There is an-Artanias the Title of Usurper (h) There is another Impropriety or Fassity in Eusebius, and in his Translator St Jerome, which has not been noted by Scaliger They affirm, that Tiberius seiz'd on Armenia, mages nowlo, occupavit Armeniam Now he only gave the Armenians the Master they desir'd Moseover it is certain that he inthron'd him, and put the Diadem upon his Head, and if there had been occasion for it, would have assisted him with his Forces, how comes it then that Scaligir fays, that Armenia was given to Tigranes without the in-terposition of Tiberius? What does he mean when he maintains, that St Jerome who affirms, that Ti-berius seiz'd on Armenia, occupavis, ought to have known that it belong'd before to the Romani? I confess I understand nothing of this Logick But why does he not enter his Action against Paterculus, as well as against those two Fathers of the Church? Paterculus who, tho' an Historian, flatters Tiberius like any Poet, has he not prais'd him on his having (1) reduc'd Armenia under the Power of the People of Rome? This is not his onrower of the People of Rome! This is not his only fault, he has call'd him whom Tiberius crown'd King of Armenia, by the Name of Ariavafdes, when he ought to have call d him Tigranes

(B) But gave place to Artavafdes | Here the Authors of Moreri's Supplement have been no less faulty than Moreri himfelf I pass over what they say, that our Ariavafdes was the Son of Artaxias, and consequently the Nephew of Tigranes, there is nothing of this in the second Book of Tacistis's Annals the Anthy Author whose they have proceed nals, the only Author whom they have quoted

(f)Scalig ın Eufeb

P 170

(g) Hage-SHORTE armisfubjugavit, ad deditionem compulit

(b)He calls him Aitawrongfully in imitation of Dion, Fratre ejus Artabaze, Says ab Armeniis occiſo

(1) Remenina in potestatem populi Romani, regnum tavafdı tradidit Paterc lib 2 6 94

FAULTS (of Moreri's Supplement

TAVASDES, King of Media, was attacked by Mark Antlony, at the Sollicitation of another Arravasdes King of Armenia That Enterprize was very fatal to " Mark Anthony, and as he thought that he who had ingag'd him in it betray'd him, he tuin'd all his Rage on him, and made an Alliance with the King of Media He gave him part of Armenia as soon as he had depriv'd the other Art waldes of it, and would & Dio, cement that Peace by the Marriage of his Son Alexander with Jotape, Daughter to the King of the Medes The Troops wherewith he supply'd him, made him victorious over the Parthians, and over Artaxias, the Son of Artavaldes King of Armenia, but as foon as 2 Id 151 he recall'd them, and detain'd those that his Ally had lent him, this Prince unable to relist his Enemies, sell into their Hands Dion & relates this under the 721st Year of Rome It is probable he was not long a Captive, and that he is the same King of Media p 513 to whom Cleopatra sent the Head of Artavasdes King of Armenia, in the 724th Year of Strab 1 Roine The Supplement of Morers (Z) is full of Faults here

ARTAXATA (A) was the chief City of Armenia, on the River Araxes bal, who at the Request of Artaxias King of Armenia, to whom he retir'd after the Deteat of Antiochus, was the Person A who not only drew the Plan of it, but even directed and did overfee the Building & It's to be supposed that a Situation chosen by so great a Captain, was (B) very advantagious, either in time of War or Peace In the Year of Rome 811*, that City was burnt by Corbulo That great Captain would not have exercis'd fuch Rigour against Inhabitants who brought him the Keys of their City as soon SESUS as CHRIST

But let that pass They add, that the Sons of Tigranes were called Kings by Tiberius, and that Artavasides II their Cousin, succeeded soon after to the Crown by the same Emperor's Order Their only Witness Lacitus confounds them, for he expressly says, that all this was done by Augustus He does not say with them, that the Romans made War with that Artavassdes, and at last destroy'd him, his Words are, non sine clade nostra d jetsus, which may signifie the contrary of what they say, to wit, that he was driven away in soite of the Romans who supported driven away in spite of the Romans who supported him, and by the Defeat of their Succours See the they of Artavasdes King of the Medes Lastly des, me beheaded at Rome under the Emperor Tibe-tius This is an Absurdity, for the Installing of rigranes, Uncle, as they pietend, of Artavasdes II was performed in the 734th Year of Rome, and his Reign lasted but a very short time. The Execution of Tigranes under Tiberius, happen'd in the Year 789 So that according to these Gentlemen, that deposed Prince must have surviv'd his Fall athat depoted Times that have thrown in Fall above fifty Years, and attained to an Age which the Historian would not have omitted, in speaking of the Indignity of his Death. Note, that Times are created King of Armenia in the Year 734, had been taken Priloner with his I ather by Mark Anthony in 7-2, and that he was then (1) at Man's Years Note also, that a little after his Coronation he marry'd his Children (1) to one another, according to the Custom of these Nations But what is more, he whom Tiberius caus'd to be put what is more, he whom Tiberius caused to be put to Death, is Herod's Grandson Josephus (m) tells us that Alexander the Son of Hirod had two Sons by his Wife Glaphyra, the Daughter of Archelaus king of Cappadecia, whereof one whose Name was Tgranes, Reign d in Arminia, and was impeached before the Romans. This is without doubt he of whom Transactives singular this manner. whom Tacitus speaks in this manner (n) Ne Tigranes quidem Armenia quondam potitus, ac tune reus, nomina meso supplicia civium effugit Mr de Tille-man de Cannecture (o), that this Tigranes was King of the lefter Armenia, which Augustus had given to

of the lefter Armenia, which Augustus had given to Archelaus, would be good if it could be reconciled Jesseus, who says, that the Descendants of Armela and Glaphyra reign d in the greater Armela and Glaphyra reign d in the greater Armela (2) The Supplement of Moreri is full of Faults here It's said in it first, "That Arravasses King of the Medes, and Successor of Darius, maintain'd the "War vigorously both against Arravasses King of Armenia, and against Pompey 2 That he was at last descated by the Parisians, and that he took Resuge at Rome with Augustus, who be-66 took Refuge at Rome with dugiffus, who be-"flow d on him the lesser Armenia instead of Me"dia which he had lost" Plutarch is quoted, and Dion in his 49th Book But to consure this by a back Door, is it not mocking People to cite Plusarch at large? Is it not resolving to commit Faults with Impunity? For who would not rather for ever forbear Criticizing, than read over two great Volumes in Folio, to verifie a small I act? It is certain that Dies in the 40th Book, does not fay, that That Areavaldes fled to Rosse, nor t at Augustus made him a Present of the lesser sim ma I know no Author that says so I find indeed in Tacitus, that Augustus order'd Artavasdes to reign in Aimenia after the Son of Tigranes, but not this it was to make him amends for Media. It is likely, that they who wrote the third Volume of Morers, have made use of this Pailage of Tacitus with both Hands, to fet forth on the one fide, that Tiberius gave Armenia to an Artavasdes (a) the Son of Artaxias, and Nephew of Tigranes, and on the other, that Augustus conferr'd it on an Artavasacs an abdicated king of Media Laftly, what a Negligence is it to fay, that they detended themfelves vigorously against the king of Armenia, and against Pempey? That War against the King of Armenia needed not, being vigorously repulsed, considering that the Treachery of that Prince to Mark Anthony, was about thirty Years posterior to the War which Pempey made in that Country I have not observed either in Plutarch of Appian, any Armenia posterior to the proper observed either in Plutarch of Appian, any Armenia needed to the proper observed either in Plutarch of Appian, any Armenia needed to the proper observed either in Plutarch of Appian, any Armenia needed to the proper observed either in Plutarch of Appian, any Armenia needed to the proper observed either the Plutarch of Appian, any Armenia needed to the proper observed to the plutarch of Appian and Armenia needed to the plutarch of the plutarch of Appian and Armenia needed to the plutarch of the plut not observed either in Plutarch or Appian, any Artavasses King of the Medes who was affack d by Pompey, I only find in Appian (b) that Pompey subdued Darius King of Media

(A) Artaxata | Plutarch (c) observes, that this City took its Name from that of King Artaxas, (or Artaxias) to whom Hannibal propos'd the building of it What Messieurs Lloyd and Baudrand note, that Tacitus calls it Artaxias, is not ture, for he calls it constantly Artaxata What they add, that that Tacitus calls it Artaxia, is not ture, for ne calls it constantly Artaxia What they add, that Strabo calls it (d) Artaxiasata, is not exact, for this is plainly infiniating that he calls it nothing else, or at least that it is the chief Name which he gives it. Now it is constant to he calls it chiefly Artaxata and that he sisted in the calls it chiefly Artaxata and that he sisted in the call description of the call of the calls it chiefly Artaxata and that he sisted in the call description of the call of the calls it can be called Artaxia and the call description of the call of the call of the call of the calls it can be called Artaxia and the call description of the call of t oura in Stephanus Byxantinus, who doubtless ipoke no otherwise than Strabe, seeing he quotes him It is certain at least, that he has not call'd that City Artaxia, as Ortelius failely imputes to him, as well The Omilion wherewith Pinedo reas to Tacitus proaches Stephanus is inexcusable, for that Hannibal was Refugee in Armenia, and observing a very advantagious Scituation, advis d the Prince his Host, to cause a City to be built there, and took upon himself the Direction of the Work, is a Circumstance which ought not to have been suppress in a Distinguishing of Cities I would willingly say, that Stephanus Byzantinus having Strabo before his Eyes when he made the Article of Artaxata, did not forget what he found there concerning Hannibal, and that the Neglect which Pinedo justily complains of, must be imputed to his Abbreviator, a Person not so judicious as himself. There is perhaps no Work that requires more Differnment, or a better Taste than the Abbridging a large Book si produte never sail making this Remark, because I am re Conhourly sensible of the Negligence of the Abbreviators. They are the cause of my finding intricate Nouve Observators as a hundred Places, which her likely less de-Obscurities in an hundred Places, which 'tis likely were very intelligible in the Authors whom they abbridged See what Mr Gronovius (f) observes of the Author, of the Synopsis Criticorum (B) Was very advantagious] Strabo informs us, art that Artava a was built in a Place where the 276

11 p 364

Article of Artaxias

It sthe

(a) Su the Remark B tule Artavafdes II

(b) Appian in Mithiid

(c) Plut in Lucul P 513

(d) It' certainly through a fault in be Prefs that me read in Mi Baudrand Arraxia-

(f) Gronovius in tractatu de Iuda proditore Con-Nouvelles de la Rep des lettres. May 1684

(k) Sec 30iephus, 1 15 6 5

(1) Tacit Ann l 2 C 3

(m) Josep I 18 c 7

(n) Tacit Ann I 6 C 40

(e) Hift des Emp. nos. 1 (c. Cur Tiber

(p) Josep de bello Jud 1 2 G. 40

† Xiphil in Neron & Strabo elsop 364 y Plut & Strab ubi infia. & Stepha-`Αλάξα--Ja, gives thu Title so Artaxi-Plut in Lucullo, pap 513 calls him Aclagas See also Strabo, p 364 n Plut in Lucullo, Strabo, J 11 0 Strabo Tays expresty ής-χον έτοι τέ βασί-ALWS ETT-700-larregis permiffu imperaverunt A In Arta-vasde II a D10, 1 49 € Id 1b fub fin Tacitus Ann 1 2 C 3 See mark B of

as he caus'd it to be invested, if the Rules of War (C) had not as it were forc'd him to it. It was a great City which he could not keep without a great Garrison, and he could not spare Men enough at that time without weakening his Army to such a degree, that he would not have been in a Condition to undertake any thing, and there had been neither Profit nor Honour in the Conquest of a Place which must have been left as it was found. He resolv'd then to ruin it, and was incourag'd thereto by a (D) great Miracle, si credere dignum est. All on a sudden the City was cover'd with a thick Cloud, siom whence issued abundance of Lightning, while the Sunshin'd all round it to the very Compass of the Walls. Some time after that City was re-built by Tiridates, who call'd it is Neronea in Honour of Nero, from whom he had receiv'd a thousand Civilities at Rome, whither he went to pay him Homage in the Year of Rome 819.

ARTAXIASI King of Armenia, while he was only one of Antiochus the Great's Generals, made a Partition of Armenia between himself, and another of that King's (A) Generals. This Prince suffer'd a them to exercise the Soveraign Authority there in conjunction They did not fail to improve his Complaisance, and when he was overcome by the Roman Armies they submitted to the Victors, who gave them each the Title of y King; they afterwards inlarg'd their Dominion as much as they could at the Expence of their Neighbours Tigranes, who made himself so famous in the Wars of Mithridates, whose Daughter he had marry'd, was descended from Artaxias. Plutarch relates that Neighbours Hannibal being retir'd to & Artaxias after the Defeat of Antiochus, gave him a great deal of good Advice, and that having found a Place which no account was made of, and was very proper for building a City, he drew the Plan of it, shewing it to Artaxias, and exhorted him to build it Artaxias was very much pleas'd with the Proposition, and desir'd Hamibal to take the Direction of the Work upon himself He was obey'd, and thence arose a large and fair City, which in honour of him was call'd Artaxata. This is all I find in the two a Authors which the Supplement of Morers has quoted But as to his Revolting from his lawful Prince, upon a Confidence in the Friendship of the Romans, I find 6 no Footsteps of it, any more than of his using all manner of Means to maintain himself in his Usurpation, or of his dying in the Prisons of Antiochus Epi-They are meer Chimeras with regard to the Quotation

ARTAXIAS II King of Armenia, Eldest Son of Artavaldes, as we have λ already said, was proclaim'd μ King (Z) by his Father's Army, after the other had been taken. Prisoner with his Wife, and his other Children. The Eldest Son indeavour'd to maintain himself against Mark Anthony, and gave him Battle, but he was beaten, and forc'd to fly into the Country of the Parthians. He return'd some time after into Armenia and reign'd there. This was without doubt after the taking of Artavasses King of Media. For before the Parthians had taken that ξ King, they had been beat by him, and Artaxias had a share in the Disgrace. He disgusted his Subjects in such a manner, that they impeach'd him at Rome, and φ desir'd his younger Brother Tigranes for their King. Augustus having this Tigranes in his Custody, sent him to them, and order'd Tiberius to inthrone him. But Artaxias was murther'd by his Relations before Tiberius arriv'd

ARTAXIAS III. King of Armenia, was the Sou of Polemon King of Pontus, and was call'd Zeno He took such a pleasure from his Infancy in imitating the Customs of the Armenians, that he thereby gain'd the Affections of the Nation, so that Germanicus thought have cast his Eye on a fitter Person, to fill the Place of Vouones whom the Armenians had driven out He went accordingly to Arrawata, and in the presence of all the People gave the Diadem to this Zeno in the Year of Rome 771. At the same instant

(g) Pinedo in Stephan de urbib the Article of Arta-

vasides II

River made a peninsula, fo that the Walls were furrounded with the River, making in a manner a perfect Circle His Translator did not understand the thing, and Pinedo (g) has justly reproach'd him for it If the Version be only consulted, it must be supposed, that the City was without Walls, except in the Places where the River did not surround it, Sintia muri loco summe, niss quasifismus est. The Greek does not say that, To Teiro work a mass scale where the River did not surround it, Sintia muri loco summe, niss quasifismus est.

(C) If the Rules of War had not, as it were, forc'd him to it] I he more the inevitable Confequences of War are consider'd, the more we find our selves inclin'd to detest those who are the Causes of it Here is Corbulo, who reduc'd a great and fine City into Ashes and Rubbish, and made an infinite number of Women, Children and old Men miserible, who never did him any Injury Inquire of those who understand the Trade of War best, whether he did well, they'll tell you yes, and that in case he had not acted so, he d have been reckon d a very weak General, and condemn'd upon the very Reasons which Tacitus alledges (b) Articlar in the immission deletaque & folo aquata sunt, quia nec teneri sine valido prassido ob magnitudinem a anum, necid nobis virium erat quod sumannem, necid nobis virium erat quod sumannem prassido & capissiono bello divideretur, vel si integra & incus in trata est inquirentur, nulla in eo utilitas aut gloria quoi i ipia est no The Insults which a General suffers when he lewes his Conquests without putting them out of a Condition to hurt him, or keeps them to the too great weakening of his Armies, make himself so despicable that to maintain his Reputation one of the greatest Springs of War, he must give no such occasions. So that it is by a fatal and an unhappy Necessity, that the hard Laws of War oblige us to deprive an Enemy of that which can be no great Prosit to our selves.

(D) By a great Miracle | Tacitus with all his Wit, has fallen as freely as any one into that Wonderment with which we love to feed our felves Doubtless the Inhabitants of Ariaxata study'd to comfort themselves on the Destruction of their City among other Reasons by some Miracle which should certifie them that the Gods were not pleas'd with it, and therefore easily believ'd all that was invented on that Head But they have had no Historian to inform us of what they believ'd On the other Hand the Romans did not want those who knew how to give their own Actions a good Turn We know the whole Matter thanks to Tacitus (1)

thanks to Tacitus (1)

(A) And another of that King's Generals] In Strato's Edition he is call'd Onesid'ns in (k) one Place, and Zaciad'es or Zadeiad's in another (a) It was easie for those who had the direction of those Editions, to put the same Words every where, and I wonder Casaubin made no Remarks upon this, for he has made some that are not more material

(2) By his Father's Army] The Continuators of Moners, make Josephus or Tactors fay, that it was Mark Authory that placed Assaurae upon the Throne,

(1) Adj1citur miraculum mine oblatum, nam cuncta extra tectis hactenus fole inlustria fuere, quod mænibus cingebatur ita repente atra nube coopertum fulguribulque discretum est, ut quali ın-feniantıbus deis exitio tradi crede-Id Ib

> (k) Pag 364 edit 1584

(a) Pag 366

FAUDT in Morer's. Supplement

(b) Theit Ann 113 the Convention proclaim'd him Ariaxia, after the Name of the chief City. Tacitus, who informs us of all these * things, mentions his Death in | the Year 788

Ann 1

ARTEMIDORUS, he who writ on Dreams, was a Native of Ephesus, never-ARTEMIDORUS, ne wno writton Dreams, was a mative of Lyncom, to do † Id ib theless in that Book of his he gave himself the Surname of Daldianus, designing to do † Id ib an Honour to (A) his | Mother's Country But in other Books he kept the Surname of 1 6 c, 1 Ephefian. He liv'd under Antoninus Pius, as he informs us himfelt, where he fays |, that | Diddia, ma'l he had known an Athlete, who having dream'd that he had lost his Eye-light, happned to lown n obtain the Prise in the Games which that Emperor order'd to be celebrated No Author Lydia ever took more pains on a useful Subject, than Artemidorus did upon one very unworthy (B) a Man of Judgment He was not contented to buy up all that had been written on mid 1 r the Explication of Dreams, which amounted to several (C) Volumes, but he spent content to several tracks but he spent allow the Years in travelling up and down to get acquainted with Fortune-tellers He had a great 60 hghap * Intimacy with them in the I owns and great Assemblies of Greece, in Italy, and in those of the Jame Islands which were most inhabited, and he pick'd up odd Dreams every where, and the Book Arte-

there is nothing more falle. They add, that Artaxias having been defeated, was banish'd to the Parthians Another Mistake, he went thither himself for Refuge If Mark Anthony had been in a Condition to have banish d him after his Victory, he would not have fent him to the Parthians, but brought him bound Hand and Foot to Alexandria (A) Designing to do an Honour to his Mother's Country | Lphejus, fays he, of which Place I have declard my felt a Native at the Head of divers Books, is sufficiently renown d of it self, and famous by the Praises that divers credible Persons have given it, but the small Town of Daldia has all along remaind in obscurity for want of such all along remaind in oblicarity for want of fuch Panegyrifts. But fince it happens to be my Country on my Mother's Side, I shall testifie my acknowledgement to it. This would be more liable to a Suspicion of Vanity, if it were spoken with more I oimality and Mystery, but the Ingenuity wherewith this Author expresses himself, makes meaden that he tooks according to the way of wherewith this Author expresses himself, makes me sudge that he spake according to the way of those limes, and without having the same Ideas to his Words, as would be tack'd to em at present ib) In: δε επιχειφορίν μη θαυμασης διότι 'Ας ξεμίδως Δαλδιανα κ' κκὶ 'Εφεσία επιχειχειπίαι ώτπες πολλά των ηδη εις αλλας πεσιγμαθείας πποτημενον μοι βιδλίων την μεν γας Έρεσον συμε εδικα κὶ αυτήν δι εαυθήν περιω υμον είναι κὶ πολλών αξιολο γων κηρυκών τε συχεικώ ωλαδία δε, πολισμα λυδιας κὶ ε σφόδες εκλογιμον διά τὸ μὴ τοιετων λυθιας κή ε σφόδες εκλογιμον διά το μη τοιετων ανδιών τε υχηκεναι, αγιων το μεχει εις εμέ μεμνηκε διο θρεπημεία εση μοι παθείδι περς μητερς ταυ α αποδιδωμι αυτή Αι υινο de injeriptione η επιreris quapropter Artemidori Daldiani O non Ephifii in-Scriptum legis, quimadmo lum multos jam alios libros divirsis argumentis a me conscriptos hab re vidisti. Etenım Ephilum contigit ipsam per seipsam celebrem est., insuperque multos præclaros & side dignos præcones nan-Daldia autem Lydia oppidulum non valde clarum, propterea quod cjusmodi viros non ist nactum, us que ad me penitus ignobile permansit. Quapropter ipsi rum, propterea quod ejujmodi vinos non est mactum, uj que ad me penitus ignobile permansit. Quapropter ipsi quod mihi a matre patria existit, hac in nutritoorum vicem repindo. Mr Rigaut ought to hive kept to this Reaton, and not have sought for two others as he has done, (c) the one taken from Apollo's, having inipin'd Arten doius in the City of Daldia, with the design of evidening Drams, the other with the design of explaining Dieams, the other from this, that there having been another Artemidorus of Eph sus, the Interpreter of Dieams ought not to have taken upon himself the Suname of Ephesian, which was already in the possession of another. This last Reason worse indeed than the former, was neverthelets adopted by a (d) Man of

of Ephefin than by that of Daldian

(B) hoft unworthy of a Man of Judgment] Tho' one should not be convinc'd by his own Experience, generally (f) speaking, that there is nothing more confus'd than the Ideas which we call Dreams, he need only consider this Author's own Mixims, to be persuaded that his Art does not deserve the 'pplication of a wife Man There is no Dream that Artemidorus has explain d, that will not hear a given the control of the property of the control of the co not bear a quite different Interpretation, and with the same probability, and with at least as natural resemblances as those on which that Interpreter cibly, seeing he declares that he styld himself Ephesian in a great number of Books So that he did not think then of preventing his being confounded with Artemidorus the Geographer Without doubt he was much better known by the Title

Artemidorus himselt confutes it invingoes, I fay, nothing of the Injury done the Intelligences, to whole Direction we must neces- 15 p -52. farily impute our Dreams, if we expect to find Presages of suturity in them What a way of instructing do we ascube to them! How unworthy of their knowledge and Gravity, and in a word, of what they themielves are! If they know not how to instruct us by a better way, how great is their Ignorance! And it they will instruct us no better, how great their Malice! Might not one complain a thousand times of his good Angel as well as of his bad Genius in these words of 22 cas, (b) Quid natum toties crud lis tu quoque fal, Lut's imaginibus! That which I can't complemend is that Astimudorus should take so much nous to perthat Artemidorus should take so much puns to per-fuade himself of a Dostine which might give him so much Vexation. I or ought he not to be afraid of dreaming what his Art might represent to him as ominous. He had found by his (c) inquiry, that when a Fraveller Dreams that he has lost the key of his House, its a fign that some body has debauch d his Daughter. It Artimidous has dreamt such a Dream while he was abroad, would he not have believed that the Mouse was left in the (heefe it home? Would he have been pleas d with the knowing this? Had it not been better for him that such a Thought never came into his Mind? He tells us, that having dream d that his Wife had infulred him (d), he wis much troubled the next Day, when he perceived a Man coming towards him who was not his I riend by the Vertue of Onirocinie he turn d an imagi-nary I vil into a real one

THL OI jection which I just hinted, and which I v sis Dan ound on the Notions which the Christian Indian ground on the Notions which the Christian Doctors Connings give us of the Angelical Nature, from very frong to turne it me on a Supposition of the truth of these No ions, but if one follows a different System, and which has no repugnancy to the polibility of things, that Objection is much weakened. I ho flill it must suppose that there are Spritual Beings, not only more limited than Min in certain respects, as to the manner of explaining themselves, but even more fickle and capricious. How can we tell whether they do not love to divert themselves at our Cost, and make us run after Lnigmi s, in which they mix on purpose something pueril, and frivolous to make the Scene more indiculous? How do we know but we serve them for a Phything, as Bersts do use And how do we know whether they do not find Obstacles in the motion of our animal Spirits, which they cannot conquer when they would make themselves understood? See the Remark D of the Article Majus. Be it how it will, Reason bids Man bewire of making an Art of it, and confider fuch an Art as the most chimerical and the most vain of all Occupations

(C) Which amounted to divers I o'umis.] I have already shew d my Astonishment at some Persons who have labour'd hard to convince themselves of the pretended Science of Dreams. I should not wonder that several who call themselves Diviners, should boast of being Misters of it, they might minimin themselves by it, and gain by others Dreams without being disquicted at then own, for they may have no Opinion of the Art which they profes Bur I cannot judge thus of Artemidous, nor of feveral other grave Authors who have written on the interpretation of Dreams They were themselves the first deceved. Those whom Mi Rgiut (t) names are as follow, Artemon Miles a Art phon, Applload us I long infinite.

Ann 1 2 1 Arte mid Prit p 3

(/ X irgif Anli V 40 7

(c) Irtem

(d) DiEat STO THE *MAUT tlu per fonnium milii ab MXOLE mea vituperns & peti Ar-53 P 144

() R .galt nor inAitem

apollonius

(c)Rigalt Not in Artemid b 1

(b) Artemid I3

tub fin

P 193

(d) Mr de Tillemont, in the 2d tom of hullist des Emper apart p 731, c-Bruxelles

(e) Lucian in Philopa citis him 'Agleui-Swear 700 EDEG 10V

Learning

(f) W. don't pra tend to say ang thing aga nft the extraordinary

Dreams m ntion'd on Scrip† Id fub fin 1 2

Remark C

♪ In Philopatr

(g) An-dré Schot

ubi infra,

p 161 B Sec the Events which it was faid they had. He flighted the Revilings of those grave and the Persons (CA) who call those that meddle in Predictions, Sharpers, impostors Jugglers, and without minding what the Cato's might say, he practised those Divisions. tions several Years In a word, he imploy'd all his Trme and Study upon Dream and believ'd that all his great Labour had (D) enabled him to warrant his Interpretations by Reason and Experience. He took great care to instruct his Son in the same Science, as appears by the two Books which he dedicated to him. I do not so much wonder at his applying so diligently to this Matter, when I consider that he believ'd he had an impulie to it in some manner from Apollo f. He desires his Readers very seriously neither to add nor diminish from his Book, and he makes a kind of (E) Adjuration to them thereupon, in the Name of that All-seeing Eye of Providence which observes all Things He dedicated his three first Books to one Cassius (F) Maximus, and the rest to his Son. They were Printed in Greek at Venice in the Year 1518 In the Year 1603, Mr Rigant publish'd them at Paris in Greek and in Latin, with Notes The Latin Translation which he made use of, is that which John Cornarius had publish'd at Basil in the Year 1539 Artemidorus had wrote a I reatise of Auguries, and another of Chiromancy But they are (G) not presenv'd to us Tertullian has not quoted him in the Place B where he quotes divers Oncirocritick Authors, but Lucian & does not forget him, tho' he names but two Writers of that kind.

& Jonfius de Script Hist phil p 329 Jay Geminus Pyrıus In Mr Rigaut's Artemidorus, l 2 c 49 115 Temine 18 Tueis

(b) Test I de anima, c 46 See also Fulgentius. 1 r Myth c 13 & 1b1 Muncker

(1) Andr Schottus ın hæc verba SenecæControv 9 Antiphontis libros vocabat, tantum in allis fomniorum eft

(1) Lib 3 init p 164 / 4 ınıt p 197

(1) Lib 2 circa fin p 161

(m) De Medicis

(n) Specim bi-

(p) Phalerus in Socrite ipud Plutnich 1ub tin vire Au-At. 1 9 , , 5

(q)Citull epigi 5

(r)Artem in præfat

Apolionius Attalenfis, Ariftander Telmissensis, Aristar-chus, Alexander Myndius, Cratippus, Demetrius Phachus, Alexander Myndius, Cratippus, Demetrius Phalereus, Dionysius Rhodius, Epicharmus, Geminus (g) Tyrius, Hermippus, Nicostratus Ephesius, Phabus Antiochenus, Philochorus, Panyasis Halicarnasseus, Serapion, Strato Mr Rigaut says, that these had all preceded Artemidorus Tertulian names but part of them when he says (b), Quanti autem commentatores & adsirmatores in hanc rem, Artemon, Antiphon, Strabo, Philochorus, Epicharmus, Serapion, Cratippus, & Dionysius Rhodius, Hermippus tota Saculi literatura
Andrew Schot (1), besides some of the fore-nam d Andrew Schot (1), besides some of the fore-nam d, Andrew Schot (1), belides some of the fore-namd, names Astrampsychus, Cassius Maximus, & Dionysius Heliopolita fie says, that Artemiderus quoted these two last, but as to Cassius Maximus, I do not see that Artemiderus, who dedicated the three first Books of his Works to him, mentions him otherwise than as a Man who had (k) a Curiosity, and who might (1) learn in time And as for Dionisius Heliopolita I have not met with him in Artemiderus Pappus of Alexandria might also be nam'd. miderus Pappus of Alexandria might also be nam'd, for he wiit on the interpretation of Dreams, as Suidas informs us See the Article of Achmet above Among the Moderns there was one Joshua Abrech, who promis'd Mountains and Wonders in the Title of his Book I know nothing Linden, it than this which I had feen in Vander (m) Linden, Thankilus (n) Spitzelius His Work was I know nothing more of and in Theophilus (n) Spizzelius His Work was printed in the Year 1607 We shall mention Junian Majus in his place Just at this moment I call to mind, that Lysimachus, the Son of a Daughtei of Aristides, got his Living by interpreting of Dieams in a Cross-way Poverty had brought him to it He would not have dishonoured the Memory of his Grandfather so much, if instead of that kind of Almanack which he made use of to answer the Consultants, he had hand!'d an Awi that kind of Almanack which he made use of to answer the Consultants, he had handl'd an Awl and Shoemaker's Thread to mend old Shoes withall Municovary Agicaid's Duyaleid's et ward minia Austimaxov, of saurdor ex renaulis tied orseguentias maga to saux door asybusyon nabel ouse of tooks Inter Aristidis nepotes ex files cognosse oppido pauperem Lylmachum que juxta locum, quod lacheum appellatur, sedens vetam interpretandes ex tabula quaapplitative, sealing viriam interpretantis ex tabula qua-aum sommiss tolerares (p) ((\(\triangle \)) He flighted the Revisings of those grave and flern Poss n. I here People are sometimes in the wrong and it is well done of a Man to go on in his own Way in some Cales without minding their Censures. But was this Artenidorus's Case? Was he much less to blame than they who in imitat on of Carullus, laugh wrongfully at the teazing Cenfures of old Dorards?

Vivamus, (q) mea Leibia, atque amemus, Rumorefque Senum severiorum Omnes unius aftimemus affis Sober Readers will eafily judge of all this I leave it to their I houghts, and will content my felf with fetting down Artemidorus's Phrases before his lyes (r) lure de ni opidea diacecante en Tois er an oeg martien, us du neginnus re ni yénsag κ) βωμολογκι χαλέσιν οι σεμισπροσωπέδες, κ) τας δερύς ανεσπακότες, χεπαρρενησας τῆς διαδλής έτεσι πολλείς ωμιλησα Parim verd cum omnas vates ex foro profigate effent, ut pate ques mendicos, praßigiatores, ac scurras appellant, hi qui gravi simu lato vultu supercilia contrahunt, cum eis tamen omn

fpreta calumnia, per multos annos conversatus sum (D) Maintain his Interpretations by Reason and Ex perience] He must be heard himielf 'Aoi τhi πιεριν κ' κανόνα κ' αιάς υρα τῶν ἐμῶν λόγων επ Cοῶιωι 'Εγω μεν κι παίσων πόπ διὰ πειρας εληλυθα Goouas 'Εγω μεν ει παι ων ηδη δια πειρα εληλυσα τῷ μηδεν αλλο προπιον ακ δε κ) νυκίδε κ, μεθ nuteau neòs ovores resolut esvet Semper experienti-am & regulam testes meorum semonum advoco Ego itaque ad omnium experientiam sam perveni, n que enim quiequam aliud sei, verum semper & notiu & interdiu circa sominorum judicationim ac interpretationem

versatus sum (f)

(E) A kind of Adjuration] (t) If any one, says he, thinks he can add new things to my Book, ser him keep them to himself, as properly kind then.

This is fair, if he finds that I have said to contuch he may take only what's fit for his use, and seave This is fair, if he finds that I have intercommentation he may take only what's fit for his use, and search the rest, Ta round you because the rest, Ta round you because the rest, Ta round you because you and the search of custodern omnium reverseus Apollinem lie was afraid religious ex iteris non exemptio Deum inspecterm & cufiedem omnium reveritus Apollinem. He was afraid of your Broker's Tricks, which foinetimes prevail in Libraries, whereby the Work of an Author is turn'd prefetly upfide down, now by Abridgments, who was by Mixtures

(F) To one Castilla Maximus J. Mr. Rigaut can find this Man no where, and he says, it may be, it ought to be read TABIO or TAIIO MAZIMO, for Julius Capitalinus makes mention of one (1969) for Julius Capitolinus makes mention of one Gawas Maximus who was Prefect of the Pretors Pa-lace for twenty Years under the Empire of Ansaninus, and who had Tatius Maximus for Successor minus, and who had Tatius Maximus for Successor However it be, the Hero of Artemidorus's Book was a Phinician by (a) Nation, a great (b) Orator, and of so peircing a Wit, that without reading half what an Author had said, he understood all his Work Andrew Schot (c) calls him Cassinus Maximus, and distingus shes him from Cassinus Maximus. Two Faults for one, without counting that of the Remark C I do not know ther any one had ever guess'd, that Claudy out to be put instead of Cassius Maximus and Antoniaus Pius, there was a Proconsul of Asica whose Name was Claudius Maximus. The charge of Magick, against which Apulcius defendcharge of Magick, against which Apulcius defended himself, was brought before this Proconfelt appears by divers Places of his Plea, Claudius Maximus past for a learned Man, who had been curious about (d) Philosophical Rooks. Rooks and apud to Maximus cayla agitar. Books Bene quod apud to, Maxime, causa agitur, qui pro tha eruditione logisti prosecto Aristotelus med Coon yerrosoc, med Coon arasonic, med icoesae multijuga volumina praterea problemaca imnumera ejusam, tum ex eadem setta caterorum in quibus id genus varia trattantur. Thus he speaks at Page 115 A little after he speaks in this manner, Audisti, Maximi, quorum pliraque scilicet legeras apud antiquos philosophorum. Fliewheie (e) he says to him, Milta fundo, Maxime, audisti, & plura ligendo didicisti, non pauca experiende comperifi, and again, (f) An quod multo presente semperifi, and again, (f) An quod multo presente semperifi, contemam studies impolitus ad bac respondere.

(G) This are not preserva sa u.] (g) Fander Linde de multijuga volumina praterea problimaca innumera

(f) Idem I 2 fub fin p

(t) Id 1b (a) Id 1b (b) Id in Præfat

(c) Andı Schott in Senecam ubi fupra

(d)Erras-fi eum fortunæ ındulgentia non ex philosophiæ cen-iura metiris fivirum tam AUSTERA SECTA du

m

2

Person (B) to the War against the Greeks She was a Woman of a persectly Masculine Courage, and capable of great Matters So that happening to be possess of the Soveraign Authority at the time of Xerxes's Preparations, as well by right of being Widow to the late of Manager and account of the Minority of a her Son, the took that according to figuralize of the Minority of a her Son, the took that according to figuralize of the Minority of a her Son, the took that according to figuralize of the Minority of a her Son, the took that according to figuralize of the Minority of a her Son, the took that according to figuralize of the Minority of a her Son, the took that according to figuralize of the Minority of a her Son, the took that according to figuralize of the Minority of a her Son, the took that according to the figuralize of the Minority of the control of the control of the Minority of the control of the control of the control of the Minority of the control of the King, as on account of the Minority of * her Son, she took that occasion to signalize her self, and of her own Motion sugaged in that famous Expedition. No Person distinguish'd himself more than she, either by Head or Hand The Reasons she offer'd to of support her Advice not to fight the Battle of Salamina, were the justest in the of the Ar-World. She sav'd her self * very cunningly in that Battle, for seeing her self pursu'd ricke Mauby an Athenian Ship, without any hope of escaping, she attack'd a Persian Ship commanded by Damasubymu King of Calynda, with whom she had had a quarrel, and sunk him. This made those who were in chase of her believe that her Vessel was of (C) the Greeks fide, and so leave persuing her By good fortune for her not a Soul was fav'd of Damasithymus's Ship So that she got rid of an Enemy without being suspected for the cause of his Loss She miss'd being taken, and had the honour of having funk a Greek Ship Xerxes was her chief Bubble on that occasion, for he cry dout that his Men had behav'd themselves (CA) like Women, and his Women like Men He trusted her with the Government of his Children, the young Princes of Persia, when iccording to her Advice he quitted Greece to return into Asia. The Athensans were so vex'd that a Woman should make War against them 1, that they promis'd a great Reward to whoever should take Artemisia, and order'd all their Captains of Ships to endeavour it Her Statue was to be feen at Lacedemon | among those of the Persian Generals in the Piazza, which was built with the Spoils of that Nation The Wile which she bethought of to make herself Mistress of Latmus is as just according to the The Wile Principles of Machiavelises, as wicked according to Christianity She & placed her Froops in Ambuscade, and went in a devout Procession, composed of Eunuchs, Wonen, Trumpets and Drums, to celebrate the Feast of the Mother of the Gods in a Wood near that City which was confecrated to her. The Inhabitants being edified by this Zeal, run thither to admire her Piety, in the mean time Ariemisa's Aimy took Possession of the Town These great Qualities did not preserve her from (D) amorous Infirmities. She was palfionately in Love with a Native of Abydos whose Name was Dardamus, and was so enraged at his slighting her, that she put out his Eyes while he slept. The Gods to punish her made her fall more and more in Love with him, insomuch that the Oracle having advised her to go to Leucade s, the Refuge of deliperate Lovers, the went thither, took the Leap, but did not recover it She was buried

(b) Gelin Biblioth fol 96 verfo

(1)Herod 1 7 c 99

(k) Id lib 1 C 61 64 (1) That of

Leyden

(m) In' Ag Tepuoia

(n) 'Hei-Stuor pala Hegowo, Fortiffimè se gessit adverfus Perfas

Harpocr

den affirms wrongfully, even in his Edition of Merklinus, that Aldus has printed them in Greek, this Cornarius translated them into Latin, and that Regaus publish'd them in those two Languages has forgot a very effential Circumitance, without Rigaus publish'd them in those two Languages We must go a little higher to find the Original of this Mistake, nor will the Observation be useles, it may make those who write Abrigdments com-prehend the fruitfullest cause of the Error into which they lead their Readers Gesner had said,
(h) Artemidorus——scripst de somniorum interpretatione libros 4 item de auguriis & manuum inspetsione Suidas Hujus autoris quinque libros Aldus Grace excudit He had observed afterwards, that those sive Books were concerning Dreams only See here how Simler abridges this Text Artemidorus—[cripfit de sommiorum interpretatione lib 4 Item de auguris & manuum inspetione Eos Aldus Grace excudit Is this reducing what a Man has faid into fewer Words, or is it falsifying it? It is rather the latter than the former the latter than the former

the latter than the former

(A) Daughter of Lygdamis] Herodotus does not fay what Morers makes him fay, wie that That Lygdamis (1) was King of Halicarnassus. He only fays, that Artemisa was of Halicarnassus, on the Father's fide, and of Cretia on the Mother's fide If I did not see in (k) the same Historian, that the Lygdamis who assisted Pissistess, and to whom, after Pissistess was re-established in Athens, he gave the Command of the Isle of Nazos, was a Native of that Isle, I should take him for our Artemisa's Father or Grandfather. Mr Blancard in his (l) Edition of Harpocration left the fault of the former there, viz Damis (m) for Lygdamis Mr Valeu's Annotations shew the Correction that ought to be made, and which was done by Mr Gronoto be made, and which was done by Mr Grono-vius, when he publish'd Harpecration in the Year 1696

(B) Follow'd King Xerxes in Person] Suidar says (n), that she took part against the Persians, but this Passage may perhaps have been mangled, for Xerxes his sest, that the Men are become Women, and the Women Men, reported presently after by Suidas, would be no sense, if Artemisia had been in the Greek Army, seeing the Men there sought like Lyons. (a) Maussas supposes, that there is in which his Narrative loofes much of its probabiwhich his Narrative loofes much of its probability. He does not tell us as he ought to have done, and as Polyanus (p) did, that Artemifa caus dher Perfian Colours to be taken down Polyanus makes her follow the Conduct of those Pirates who carry all manner of Colours according as they have occasion. When they give Chase to a Greek Ship, they hoise Barbarian Colours, but if they must run before the Greeks, they show their Colours. He turns the Engagement of this Queen Colours He turns the Engagement of this Queen for many ways, that he multiplies it in three or four different Actions, and he tells us of a Spindle and a Distaff fent by the King of Persia to a Captain of a Ship, wherein there is no manner of Sense seeing that the Ship which Artemisa engaged with, was sunk, and all the Men in her were

drown'd

(CD) That his Men had behaved themselves] Let us see Herodotus's Words

(q) Esgin d' inui heye-lai men i pog i

(D) Did not preserve her from amorous Infirmities] (a) Agrip-All couragious Women are not like Agrippina (a), pini aqui who overcame the Infirmities of her own Sex, by impatiimploying her felt in the Occupations of the other Semiramis who was Ambitious and Warlike to the highest degree, was lascivious to the utmost It is observed that your great Warriours are for the most part of an amorous Complection, for which the mystical Humanists may honour Homer, who has so naturally set forth the Union of Marsand Venus, but I believe this is not so common in regard to Women, and that great Affairs raise them above Love Intrigues Herod.

calld Piiyndelis See the Rimark E folus

0 Id 1 8 c 67

* Ib c 87

Il Paufamas, 1 3

& Polyman

yPtolem Hephast tium, n 190 p 491

& Sec the Article

> Strat 1 b C 53

(q) He. rod 1 8

(r) Justin 1 2 C 12 Polyanus ubi fupra, avida, vi-VITIA CXuerat Ann 16 6

Fff a

(E) Con-

* Strabo

1 14 P 451 Sui-das in' Ap-

Temora & Lib 36 c s y Lib 7 c 3 Sicul 1 16 Z Strabo ubi lupra in that Place. Many confound her (E) wrongfully with the Artemifia whom I am a ARMEMISIA, Opeen of Caria, the Daughter of Hecatownes 4, Sifter and Wife of Mausolus, immortalized her felt by the Honours which the did to the Memory of her Husband She caus'd a very magnificent Tomb to be built for him in Halicarnally, which was call'd Marfoleum, and was one of the feven Wonders of the World, from whence the Title of Marfoleum has ever fince been given to all fumptious structures of this kind Pliny & has left us a particular Description of this stately Monument. It may be seen in French in the History of Mr Chevreau's, and in the Supplement of Moreri.

Artemisa outliv'd her dear Husband's but two Years, who died without Children's, after twenty four Years Reigh, towards the (4) End of the 100th Olympiad. She

(b) Plin 1 25 C 7

(c) Chevreau Hist du monde. tom 4 p 33 of the Holl

(d) In his Thesaurus lingux Litinæ 1 bave remark'd that he has committed faust in bisDictionarium nominum rum, &c Printed in 8 at Cologne 1558

(e) Lib 36 C 5

(f) This Paffage is Harpocration's. but one would give tzes, if one fellow d Hardov-10 s Fxprission to the gor tom 4 p 398

(g) Chil 12 Hift 455.

(b)Scalig Aufonianar, Lection 1 2 Aufonium Follu P 3-9

() Prof Hephast apudPhotium n 198, p 491

(k) Vales notis 40 Harpocr I exicon. P 11.

(E) Confound her wrangfully, It seems that Pliny is guilty of this Fault, for he says (b) that Artemisa the Wife of Mausolus, gave her Name to the Horb which is call d Parthenis Now as Hippecrates makes mention of the Herb Artemisa (which is that which we call Mugwers) and that the Wife of Mausolus was not born till after Hippecrates, it sollows, that one of the two Artemisas was taken for the other in that Passage of Pline. If either of the other in that Paffage of Pliny If either of them communicated their Name to the Herb Mugthem communicated their Name to the Herb Mug-wort, it must be the Daughter of Lygdamis, the in-genious and couragious Artemisa, who followed Xerxes Mr Cheureau (c), of whom I borrow this Observation against Pliny, informs me, that Leo Allassius, of whom he had borrow'd it, did with reason censure Robert Stephens, who had said (d), That Artemisa the Wife of Mansolus signalized herself inxerxes's War against the Grecians Mr Cheureau has observed the same Fault in the Historical Theater of Christian Matthew. and adds. That it was continued Christian Matthew, and adds, That it was not without

Resson thas Phny in the Passage which he alledged, gave Mausolus the Title of rieb I find indeed that Epithet in Da Piner's Translation, but not in the Pliny of Father Hardouin And I find Pliny deferibing in another place (e) the Magnificence of the Magnificence of the Maussiaum, says no more than that Maussiaus was a little King of Caria, Caria regulus Eather Hardouin endeavours to assist his Author by suggesting, that all the Kings of Caria were call'd Maussiaus, as all the Kings of Egypt were call'd Piolomy, and that Artemis the Wise of Maussiaus, to whom Pliny imputes the Ambition of giving her Name to an Herb, is she who liv'd in the time of Xarxes. But he must give me leave to say, that in that Case his Author would be very worthy of censure on another account. He would have characteriz'd a Queen by a Title that would have been common to her with all the other Queens of the Country Father Hardonin grounds his Suspicions on a Passage (f) where the two Artemis's are styl'd Queens of Caria I pass over that Foundation which he goes upon, but find that Izetes's (g) is puzzled a little According to him, one of the Artemis's is is the Wife of Maussials, and the other is the Wife of Hieatenmans, and he makes the first to have follow'd Xarness. Now all Authors agree, that she who caus'd a Maussiaus Tomb eo he buste for her Husband the Mausoleum, says no more than that Mausolus Now all Authors agree, that she who caused a Magnificent Tomb to be built for her Husband, was the Daughter of Hecatomnes, and the Wife of Maufolus, and that the Artemifa who follow'd the Persians against the Greeks, was the Daughter of I ygdamis The great Scalinger won't pass Muster here, he has too visibly (h) taken the one for the The great Scaliger won't pass Muster other, and that in a place where it was not easie to mistake. For it is in the Abstract of a Book, the Author whereof has said (1) in plain Terms, that Author whereof has laid (1) in plain I erms, that he speaks of an Ariemisa the Daughter of Lygaam, who had taken up Arms against the Persons. Scaliger suppressing all these Characters, has substituted that of the Widow of Mansalus Which can only be applied to that Queen of Caria, who so much honour'd the Memory of her Husband Thus great Man has led another great gre This great Man has led another great Man into an Error, feeing he was the cause of Henry Valous affirming (k), that after the Death of Mausolus, Artemsa seeing her self slighted by Dardanus whom she lov'd, put out his Eyes, and that finding her self afterwards still more and more in Love, she went to take the Leap of League, where she lost her Life By comparing this Passage with that of Scaling, it plainly appears that the one is the Transcript of the other This falls Step of Mr. I alor in to fair a Road, and the diversity which he observes between Theopompus, who makes Arre-m sa die with Crief for the Loss of her Husband, and Proton) the Son of Hephestion, who makes her die for Love of another Man, as Mr Volcis pro-tends, are things so much the more amazing, as he had but two Lines before quoted the seventh Book of Protony to prove that Arcomin's Father's Name was not Domni, but Lygdomus Bal-thosor Bonises (4), who, gives the same false ac-count of the Wife of Mansalus, does not depy that he took it from Scaliger Hopeway configurem re-um And it may be properly faid of the propaga-tion of this sort of Faules,

Dedit (m) home quot and lahem Et dabit in plurus ficut greu totus in agris Unius scabie cadit, & porrigine porci Unaque confpecta levorem ducet ab una

Mr Menage (n) having faid divers advantagious things of Artemifia the Wife of Maufolus, and particularly of the Honour that is done her as the is proposed for a Model of conjugal Love, goes on in this manner. In the mean time Prolomy's he Son of Hephestion— fays, that Artemia was farmed at the with one Dardanus, or And, having repeated all the Story he continues. There is have been two Artemisa's both Queens of a Me"have been two Artemisa's both Queens of Maufolius, and another more ancient, and in Maufolius, and another more ancient, and in Mal-Mausolus, and another more ancient, and it fur Mal-Story be true, it is likely it hapn'd to the first herbe, p. Artemis, and that this Prolomy the Son of Hephession, who attributes it to the Wife of Mausolus, was deceived. The Conjecture of this "lie, was deceived," The Conjecture of this Learned Man is very just, but he was in the wrong to say, that this Prolony attributes the Adventure in Question to, the Misse of Manfolia. Surasin introducing Mr. Manton and the Dialogue, whether a young Man should be sure in the Line Artemise, the line Antimise who was so afflicted for the Death of her Husband ("), who drowned here the Tana and who said the Same the mante the said. for the Death of her faustand (*), who drowned her-felf in Tears, and who sold the Stars they might have prevented it, faid all that Rage can make one lay, when it has full policifion of our Senfes, became at last in Love with Dordanus, and that there is no profes-fed Cognesse but would be asham'd of the Passion of that Queen Upon this he quotes what Scalinger says, so that there's one if no two assentious Men decen'd Queen Upon this he quotes what Scaliger fays, so that there's one if not two ingenious Men deceiv'd by Scaliger, viz. Mr. Sarafin and Mr. Menage. The ingenious Author of the new Dialogues of the Dead has supposed, that Arsemiss (a), she that lamented her Husband so much, was in Love with

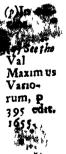

It would be a tedious Buliness to note all those who have confounded the two Artemilia's fint (p) Testor, and the Authors of the The factors bri are of that Number Olivier (q) who commentary on Valence Maximus, is also one of them, tho he knew that Strabo and Herodoins do not agree about the Genealogy of the Astemisia men not agree about the Genealogy of the Astemilia mention'd by them. He imagin'd rightly, that of the two was deceived, and has not comprehent that they spoke of different Persons, and are in the right. It is true, that Mr Hasman gives two Articles of Artemilia, but in the first he has huddled together confusedly what he ought to have said separately, and he does not know whether the Wife of Manselus and the Daughter of Light-mis are one and the same. Person Moreover he quotes Viruous for facts which he does not touch Mr Lloyd had preceded him in that false Quota-Mr Lloyd had preceded him in that falle Quota-tion, which he had not corrected from Charles Stephens, whom he pirates, most surprisingly on another Hand, he takes from him all the Article of the Article who follow'd Zurner Now that Article was very good

(A) Tewards the End of the tooth Olympiad] & Most of Pling's Editions (4) fay, that idealels King' P

(/) Hæc ProlomæusH phæsta tus filius apud Juniorem Scaligerum recenfet Balth Bonifac Hist Lu-

(*)Sarasi's Works, 2.300

(o) See the nouveaux Dialog desmorts. 2 part, p 15 edit Holl

(a) Luh 36 c 5 P 19, 28 (b) Chevreau. Hist du monde 1 7 c 9 (c) Hard. in Plin to 5 P -80 (d) Dion epist de ætat & fcript Demosth of Grief (B) and Melancholy before the | Malifoleum was finished. It is faid See the that the might ferve him for a living Tomb It must not be forgot that sie caus'd excellent Panegyricks to be made on him, I and propos'd a Prize of great Value t Plin for him who should acquit himself best, which Theopompus happen'd to do It is stand (C) that his Master Isocrates was one of the Orators who enter'd the Lists A.G. Theodette. ot Phaselides who did the same, compos'd a Tragedy call'd Maufoln; when had better Success than his Profe. Nor must it be forgot that instead of Lamentations and Tears, in which most Writers drown Artemisia during her Widowhood, Maxim there are those who (D) say she march'd forth at the Head of her Army and 1 4 c 6 made some very vigorous Conquests.

ASCLE- lius bid

(e) Hæc Artemisia in funere mariti agones celebra-Olim.

(f) Apud Harpocrat

P 99

(g) Cicer Tufculan 3 This Paffage u Value Horum The last Period in Roman Chair ters zs without the Particlanon,

Jaargen (b) Strab P 452

mhich

makesit

zmpene-

(1) Plus tarch in vita Ifocrit Aul Gellius 1 10 C 18

Hofman Say Naucrites (d) InVal Maxim Pag 395

1655

of Caria dy'd in the second Year of the rooth Olimpiad, the 302d of Rame But Father Hardown, according to the best Manuscripts, has put into his the 106th Olimpiad, and the 402d Year of Rome Obit Olimpiads, and the 40th Year of Rome Obit Olimpiads emissime ferta anno fecundo Urbis anno 402 Mr Chevresu (b) observes that Ufber judg'd that the Passage of Pliny was corrupted, and that Monfolus died the fourth Year of the 106th Olimpiad, and the Year of the World 3691 This agrees very well with these World of Eather Hardwin (c) Out and so Don World 3691 I his agrees very well with the world words of Father Hardouin. (c) Quid good & Diodorus non ad Olimpiadis 106 annum alterum Maufoli obitum, f.d ad quartum refert lib 16 verf 435 and with the Continuation of the Reigns of those who succeeded Manfolus till Alexander's Expedition See the Remark B of the Article Ada It is certain that Mausolus was already dead, and that Ar-temisia who did not out-live him above Two Years was living when Demosthenes made an Orn-tion for the Liberty of the Rhodians Now he spoke that Oration in the second Year of the 107th Olimpind, as may be collected from Dionysius (d) of Halwannaffus, Maufolus then died in othe last Year of the 10sth, and the anonywed, in placing Mausolus's Funeral Oration formous in the first Year of the 10,d Olim-Mr Valors (e) has commerced the lame Fact. Those who by the Evample of Calegon, Mr 2004, and Mr Hofman, &c would refer us to the 7th Book of Heredotus to learn News there of the Mausoleum, would not well consult the Chro-nological Tables, they must be very false, if the Death of Mausolus was found in them before that of

(B) She dy'd of Grief] We divers eminent Witnesses to this E. Thiogenpus, Cicero and Strabo Theopenpus (1) Expressions are very strong "Ην φησι Θιόπομπ Θ΄ φθιναθι νόσω very strong "Ην φησ Θεόπομπ & φθεναθ νόσω ηφθείσαν θια την λυτην την ετί τε ανθερε το αλλοξ Μαυσώλε, αποθυνείν Quam Thropompus acc table correptam pra animi dolore, quem defiderio defun Eti mariti & fiatris conceperat, obiiste Those of Cicero are no less so Artemista illa, says he, (g) Maufoli Carsa Regis uver, qua nobile illud Halicarnaffi fecit sepulcrum quamdiu vinit, vinit in luctu, codem-que etiam conf.cta contabuit. Huic erat illa opinio quotidie recens, que tum denique non appellabatur recens cum vetustate exaruit. It is almost certain, that Cicero was ignorant that Artemisa survived her Husband but Two Years, for if he had known

(k) Sce

It, he would not have used such Expressions as signific a very long Sorrow But let us see what yes (b) obside d'anodavour Dà mouse lib 10

It is faid that Isocrates I have quoted two 1) good Vouchers, and can add a Third of great Weight, it is Theopenpus: He boasts (k) publickly to have carried the Prize from his inflowed des, without making any mention of secretes the Athenian, speaks of another socrates Disciple and Succession of the former, and born either at Heracles, or at Apollonia on the Enxin Sea, Suidas (1) says, that it was he disputed the Prize of Eloquence with Theodestes, Theopenpus, and Erestoreus. This latter was of Neuerasis in Egypt, a Fault must be found then in Aulus Gellius m) at the Place where we read that Theopenpus, Theodestes and Isosman This latter was of Neueratis in Egypt, a Fault must be found then in Julus Gellius m) at the Place where we read that Theapompus, Theodettes and Nauerites disputed that Pize. Nauerites is not the proper Name of one of those Competitors, it is only his Name derived from the Town where he was born a little alter'd, for it should have been (n) Nuucratites Olivie (s) names them Theopompus, Theodotes, and Naucratits If Aulus Gellius be preferr'd before Suidas as in my Judgement he ought to be, we must say that there is a Fault in the latter at the Place where we read, (p) aua to several van cum English van van er and in Photous favous Aulus Photous favous Aulus Gettins, streng the supposes (4) that Naucrates of Erstins, streng the supposes (4) that Naucrates of Erstines was one of Theopompus Competitors Either way the proper Name is taken for the Name of the Town, Observe that (r) Cicero, (f) Dionisius Halicarnassins, (t) and 2n n ilian speak of a Nautrater a Disciple of speaker. However the Pallages of Research has been been considered. ever the Pailage of Plurarch has been translated quite otherways by Amier than by Wolflus, and by Xylander these find that the Panegyrick of Mausolas by Hocrates was lost, but according to Amier it is quite contrary, he says Hocrates strove for the Prize which Queen Artemisia instituted on the Tomb of her Husband Mansolds, and the Oration which he made in Praise of the decented is yet to be found there. Without doubt the different way of the accenting has produced those different Translations, some have read to de execution a societa, fed ea laudatio non extait, and others have read το δε εγκώμων ε σώζεται, hac autem laudatio thi fervatur See how Fortune plays with Manuferipts, one Point raken away, or added, or altered makes things pals from y s to no

D) Say the march of for h and man. Conquests]
I do not munition (v): Demost her's Oration which has been quoted before, though it is certain, that as that Otator expressed huntest, Archista was not represented in Athens as a desolate Vision wasted with Grief, and who neglected the Affairs of her Kingdom to think on nothing but the Loss of her Husband. The Athenshir considered her as a Woman in a Condition to make her sell feat d. for one of the Realths which D will have feat d, for one of the Reafbus which D moffhines had to oppose was drawn from the Motions that Ar infile might make, if the Arthillett should concern themselves with the Interest of the People of Rhoder But I leave this to pass to something more sold Virturium (w) tells us that after the Death of Manfolus, the Rhodians being displeas'd that a Woman should govern in Caria, attempted to dethrone her. Their Design miscarried miserably by a Stratagem of Arismila, which was speedily followed by another which the executed in Person with so much Vigour and good Success that in a very short time she made her self Mistress of Rhodes She caus'd a Trophy of her Victory to be rais'd there with Two Statues of Brais, whereof one represented the City of Rhodes, and the other Artemifia marking that City Enlion with a hot Iron Vierwoins adds that the Rhodians Rand not never durft remove that Trophy from its place, Helonov-(for that was a thing forbidden by their Religion) but only encompassed it with a Building, uno to which took it from the publick View Is there any Sign in this of a disconsolare Widow that dexite does nothing but lament and sigh, so wasted with xlove, we Sorrow that she made an end of heiself in Two pany, Years? Don't tell me that Vitrusuus speaks of the vo's nother Artemiss I am sensible Mr (x) Chevress Inequisite believed so, but Two invincible Reasons Urbs que consute that Thought For first the Artemiss of nunc est, Vitrusuus was the Wise of Mansolus, in the second Place she possessed her self of a City (y) nesset that was not built until the Peloponnessan War, when Xerxes or Artemiss were no longer in the World. So that Tactaes (x) has not said without trusta est reason that both the Artemissas commanded Arashana about the self of th reason that both the Arremisias commanded Armies, wurd d'reathyetidas, pervaias aupriteas archi-

Remark D

tibi iupra

lius l 10 c 18 Val Maxim

Plutarch in vita

ubi lupra

tius in Biblioth n 176

(r) Cicero de Orit 1 3 & m Oratore

Hilicarn in judicio de llao

(t) Quintil lio 3 c 6 Init

(v) Ibat tite Rho dir um. of his U orbs edit Genev 1607 > truv de Archi telt 1 2 c 8

(x) Chevreau ubi fupia

אלפת עמע (y) "H א ab co ipin ajunt, qui Peircum

S rabo ! 14 P 45 (2) Tretz Chi! 12 verf 966 ædificavit

Phlislius, Diog Laert de vitis Philosoph 1 2 10 Menede-Amftel

y Id 1b ♪ Id ıb pag 159 n 137 ζ Id 1b pag 153 n Id 1b pag 159 n 137 0 Id 1b z Id ıb Ald 1P n 138 μ Συζή-σας τῷ Meredi μφ σφ6-100 2072 100 cand Cum in magnis opibus frugaliter admodum vixiffet cum Menede-»Plutarch de difcrim adulat & amici pag 55 E Spretis legatis & pollicita-tionibus Mithridates regis Plin lib 7 c 37 # Id lib 25 C 2 * Id lib 7 C 37 † Id 1b & lib 26 c 3 pag m 444 || Trahebut praterea mentes artificio murabili, vinum promittendo

agris, tempellive tum

unuam frigidam Id lib

26 C 3 Pag 444 | Inken

BOULD init pag 1692

ASCLEPIADES, a Native of & Phlim in Peloponnessu, held a consideration rank among the ancient Philosophers. He was a Disciple of Sesles y, and brought Menedemus over to the same School, I say Menedemus, with whom he contracted a Menedemus over to the same School, I say Menedemus, with whom he contracted a Friendship I so tender that it might perhaps be compared to that (A) of Orestes and Pylades. After having studied under Sisspe at Megara (, they went together to Elis, where they conferred with the Disciples of Phedon, They were both very poor, and forced to earn their Living (B) with the Sweat of their Brow; however, they did not neglect their Studies, but became good Philosophers. Menedemus was younger than his Friend, when they resolved to marry they did not regulate themselves on the Difference of their Age. Their Design was to live and keep House together after they had quitted the State of Celibacy. To this end they judged it necessary to choose their Wives with a Precaution which might insure them a domessick Concord, and belived they had found their Account in a Family where there flick Concord, and beliv'd they had found their Account in a Family where there was a Mother and her Daughter both in a Condition to be married. Menedemus married the Mother θ , and Asclepiades the Daughter The latter being dead, Menedemus yielded his Wife to his Friend, and afterwards married a rich Maid, but would have Asclepiades's Wife continue the Government of the House It was no hard Matter for him to find a good Match, for he had the a chief Authority in the Town where he liv'd, I mean in Eretria the Place of his Birth Asclepiades a died there very old He had liv'd temperately u amidst the Abundance of his Friend's Table, and bore the Misfortune of (C) loing his Sight very patiently His Death did not extinguish the Friendship (D) that Menedemus had for him When I have said he was a Disciple of Stilpo, it is not necessary I should observe that he flourished a little after the Death of Alexander He had a Son who behaved himself very ill, and whom Menedemus turned out of Doors without daigning to speak a Word to him, which was the Means of reclaiming the young Debauchee, ASCLEPIADES, a Native of Prula in Bithyma, was one of the most famous

Physicians of Antiquity, and contemporary with Mithridates, as appears by his refuling to go to his Court ξ , where they endeavoured to draw him by magnificent Promises. He only sent π his Advice in Writing. He \star was chief of a new Sect, and found out the Method of using Wine in the Cure | of Distempers. This way of Practice and || the use of cold Water which he allowed his Patients, gave him a great Reputation. great Reputation 1. Having cur'd a Person (A) that was going to be buried he

acquu'd

We do not know what to think of Authors, when we see that they have reported such encompatible things of one and the same Queen One Writer

Honour to present them with 200 Drachms They had been punished if they had not declared the Means of their Suhsistence we see that they have reported such ancompatible things of one and the same Queen One Writer touch d with a deed Sense of her Liberalities were enough to persuade all Mankind that her Sorrow for the Loss of her Husband had killed her Because others are ready to take it from hand to hand, not only as a Rarity, but also as a thing sit to be proposed for an Example The most singular Embellishments are traced soon or late to Traditions of this kind

(A) That it might be compar'd to that of Orestes and Pylades] I here are the Words of Diogenes I aerius (a) Φίλι το πο μάλισα (Μενέδημω) ος δηλον εκ της περός Ασκληπιαδην συμπνοίας, εδήν τι διαφερέσης Πυλάδα φιλοτορίας Απιειτίαι pie santieque tuebatur (Menedemus) ut ex ea qua illicum Asclepiade fuit conjuntione constat, qua profetto adeo insignis eras, ut nibil a Pyladis distaret benevo-tentia. Afterwards this Author says that Archepolis being munded to give them a good Sum of Money. being minded to give them a good Sum of Money, his Liberality was of no use to them, for a lau-dable Contest wose between them who should tike first, and as they could not end the Dispute neither of them took a Farthing

(B) That they carned their Living with the Sweat of their Brow] They hired themselves to a Mason, Alclepiades was not so much asham'd of it as Menedemus, he did not care if he were feen carrying Morrar to the Top of the House, but Menedemus hid himself if he saw any one passing by (c)

Athenous who makes no mention of this fays he, caus d Menedemus and Asclepiades, (d) fays he, caus d Menedemus and Asclepiades, Two young Students in Philosophy, and very poor, to be iummon'd before them, and enquir'd of them, what they did to be so fat, you have no I state, you pass all the Day without working, and employ it wholly in but hearing Philosophers. The Two Scholars desired them to be to a Miller who being come declard them lend for a Miller, who being come declar'd that they came every Night into the Mill, where they labour'd, and gain'd Two Drachms ! The Judges admiring their Conduct did them the

Pline ib (a) Diog La rt lib 2 n 137 (c) Diog Laert ubi supra n 1,1 (d) Athen lib 4 c 19 pag 168

(C) The Missortune of losing his Sight] I do not question but these Words of Cicero concern our Asceptades Asceptadem serunt non ignobilem, nec inexercitum Philosophum, quum qu damquareret quid et cacitas attulisses, respondisse us puero uno isse comitation (e) The Loss of my Eyes, said the Philopher, procures me this Advantage that I never go alone, I have always a Boy extraordinary in my Remnue

(D) His Death did not extinguish Menedemus's Friendship Having been inform'd that his Servants flut the Door against the Darling of Asclepiades, he commanded them to let him in, saying,
(f) know that though Asclepiades is in his Grave, he opens my Door for him That Favourite came to dine with Menedemus

(A) Cw'd a Person that was going to be buried] Here's what Pliny informs us of it summa autem (fama est) Asclepiadi Prusiensi relato e sunce komine & servato He observes essewhere that this Refurrection was necessary to settle the Reform that was made in the Practice of Physick, and that it must not be imagin'd that so great an Innovation was introduced without considerable Motives (b) Magna autforitate, nec minore fama, Motives (b) Magna autionitate, nec minore fama, cum occurrisset ignoto funeri relato homine ab rogo atque servato, ne quis lédibus momentis, tantam conversionem fattam existimet. Celsus mentions this admirable Cure only by the By In vicino sape quadam nota posta non bonos sed imperitos medicos decipiunt, quod Asclepiades secuns, funeri obviui inclamavit, eum vivei e qui efferebatur (i). But Apuleius has enlarged on the Circumstances of it, without forgetting that the Heirs were nor well pleased with enlarged on the Circumstances of it, without forgetting that the Heirs were not well pleased with Asclepiades for maintaing that the Man was not dead (k) Asclepiades, says he, inter pracipuos medicorum, si unum Hippocratem excipias, cateris princepi, primus etiam vino opitulari agris repperit sed dando scilice in tempore, cuius rei observationem probe callebat ut qui diligentisseme animadverteret vi naium pulsu inconditas, vel praclares is igitur cum sorte in civitatem sese reciperet, & rure sua suburbano rediret. diret .

(c) Cice-10 Tuf-cul quæst lib 5 circa fin. fol m = 78 C.

(f) Θη Ασκλη-भावंडी ११६ autő 2) zatá 786 ar Tas Bugas avoins Afclepıades etiam iepultus ei januas aperir Diog Laert uba fupra n 138

(g) Plininius, lib 7 C 37 P m 58, 59

(h) Id hb. 26 c 3 Pag 445 (2) Celfus de Medicina lib 2 c 6 p, m 57

(k) Apulejus, in Horidis P m 362

an incredible Reputation, but the Wager which he laid against (B) Fortune fician if ever he should be sick, and won the Wager, for he died of a Fall being wery old He signalized himself at Kome, whether he * came to teach Rhetorick, but feeing that Employ was not gainful enough, he applied himself to the Practice h Bool of Physick, and not knowing the Remedies that were then in use, he took occasion to condemn them, and invent new ones He addicted himself to innocent Prescriptions which any one might use without the Help of Phylick This made them to be taken with Pleasure, all the World ran after him, (C) and look'd upon him as a Gift of God. Among the things which favour'd his getting a great Reputation, we ought not to forget a foolish Ciedulity among the People with regard to the Magick Vertue of certain Herbs, for it being easily demonstrated that the greatest part of those Vertues (D) was Chymerical, it was no haid Matter for Alchepiades to pag ,95 destroy all the Credit of the ancient Prescriptions. He believed that the Soul was not distinct from Matter. He compos'd divers Books, which are all lost them, Celsus, and Galen have quoted some of them He had also divers tamous | Dileiples. Plany's Niceness seems to me too great, he could not bear (1) that a Man who had only studied Physick for his Profit, should become so useful a Legilitor to (1) Id ib Suidas who has confounded our Physician with an Afelepiades a Gram- cip 4 marian of Myrlea has been reproved for it by Mr Morers conformably to the Ob- 145 446 • Servations of Vossius Wherefore I shall not mention it, and will content my self with diret, aspexit in pomeriis civitatis funus ingens locatum, plurimos homines ingenti multitudine qui exequias venerant circumstave, omnis tristissimos & obsoletissimos vestitu Propius accessit, ut etiam incognosceret, more ingenii humani, quisnam isset, quoniam percontanti nemo responderat. At vero ips aliquid in illo ex arte nemo responderat. At wero in aliquid in illo ex arte deprehenderat. Gerte quidem sacenti homini ai prope deposito Fatum abstulit. Jam miseri illius membia amnia aromatis perspersa, sam os institus unguine odoso bibutum, sam eum pollinctum, sam cena paratum, ampenplatus eum diligentissime quibusdam signis ani-

the state of the s mur interes exortum, partim medico cridendum aicere, partim etiam irridere medicinam Postremo propinquis twice carried to be buried will not come in amifs

In this Place She recover'd without the Affistance of Medicines, but her Husband was not overpoyed at it. The Story is thus, (a) "A "Woman in a Village of Poitou had a long Illines, at the end of which she fell into a Lethar-

"country, and caus d her to be carried to the "Country, and caus d her to be carried to the "Grave, as they were going to the Church yard they who carried her paft fo close to a Bush, that the Thorns having prick d her she reconstituted in the died again, at least it was believed so.

came near a Bush, the Husband cryed out two ser three times: Pray don't come fo near the elepiades utilitatem vini equari VK Deorum jot utia pronunciavit

(C) And looks upon him as the Gif of God] Pliny's Words we shall be an Image of the Alca And looks upon him as the Gif of God 1 11 dant that some Physicians gun ever in the c tim (d) Torrents ac medi ata quetid e matione l'inlens omnia (temedia) abdicavit tota njuc m dic nom ad caufam revocando, conjettira ficit, quinque r s maxime communium auxiliorum profissa alstinen iam cib, al as v ni, finationem corporis, ambulationem, g flationes qua cum unufquifque semetipsum sibi prastare post intel-ligeret, faventibus canstis ut essent vera qua facill ma er int, universum prope humanum genus circumig in se, non also modo, quam si calo emissi adven set

(D) That the greatest part of those Vertues were Chymerical. It is not the Property of Min to keep a Medium. Do not forewarn him that a great Number of Fassities are mixt with true Tacks, and he will believe all Undeceive him of pair of the Falities by evider t Demonstrations, and he shall question all Thus the exploded Imperti-nence of the Remedies which were called Migi al help'd Asclepiades to overthrow those very things which might have been well grounded Play will fairly describe to us that Inclination for I xtreams which is observ'd in the human Milid (e) Super omnia adjuvere um Asclepiadem Magice vanitates, in tantum evesta, ut abrogare b rbis sitem cuntis possent Ethiopide herba annes ac stagna sicari conjectu, tactu clausa omnia aperiri Achamenide conjectain aciem hostium, trepidar armina, activga vertere Latacen dari solitam a Pe sarum regelegatis ut quo unque venissent emmum rerum cop a abandarent, U'unam ista fuere, cum (imbri Teu tonique terribili Marte ulular nt, aut cum Lucullus tot reges Magorum paucis legionibus sternes et? Curve Romani duces primum semper in bellis comm reiorum habuer curam? Gur h reule Casaris miles ad Phaisa'i im samem I nst, stabundantia omnis contingere unite hibbe felicitate poterate Non satius suit Æmilianum Scipio-nem Carthaginis portas herba patosacere, qua ni mach-nis claustra per ot annos quatere? Siccin us hodi. A-Wager which he laid against Fortun] I to be believe that the most Romancing Quacks of those times dare lay any such Wager, especially if they were to deposit a Sum of Money However, I am perswaded that the Readers will not be displeased to find Plinys Text here (p) Summa autem Asclepiadi Prussens season frame (f) maxime sponssone fasta cum fortuna, ne medicus crederetur, si unquam invustidus ullo modo sussessinatus est it was a strange Temerity of that Physician, but the good Fortune of not having been bely'd by the Event appears to me yet more singular I observe that in some things he was a meer Mountebank He made use of Wine in some Distempers, and boasted so much of his Remedy that he said the Power of the Gods was hardly equal to that of Wine () Asserting the said that the said the Power of the Gods was hardly equal to that of Wine () Asserting the said that the said the Power of the Gods was hardly equal to that of Wine () Asserting the said that the said the Power of the Gods was hardly equal to that of Wine () Asserting the said that the said the Power of the Gods was hardly equal to that of Wine () Asserting the said that the said the Power of the Gods was hardly equal to that of Wine () Asserting the said that the said the Power of the Gods was hardly equal to that of Wine () nisclaultra per ot annos quatere (Sicen 1) hodi. Athiopidi Pontinæ paludes, tantumque agri. Suburhanæ reddatur Italæ Nam quæ apud eu id n D mocritum invenitur compositio medicamenti, quo pul hi bon que & fortunati gignantur liberi, cu unquam l'erfarum regi tal s dedi? Minum esset preserve, bucusque prowith an end in antiquorum, saluberrimis of arm milis, si in ulla se modum humans inten a novissi a que non hanc ipsam medicinam ab Aslepial repriement (f), suo loco probaturi esse mis evistam ultia Mazis etiam. S d hac est omni in re an morum cond tio, u a net farits orfa primo, cuncta perven rat iti mium

(E) Pliny could not b ar that a Man] His Words are termitable (g) Id sidam p flimes indignari, anum bom mem el v sma gente, suc opibus ullis orsum, welligalis sui causa, repente leges salutis humano ge-neri ded st, qua cam i post a aus gavere m'i gy; her Husband and thole about her believed the was dead, they wrap d her up in Linnen according to the Custom of Poor Folks in that partim ctiam irridere medicinam. Postremo propinquis etiam hominibus invitis, quod ne jam ipsi hæreditatem babebant, an quod adhuc illi sidem non halebant, ægre tamen ac dissiculter Asclepiades impetravit brevem mortuo dislationem. Asque ita visibulonum manibus extosum, velut ab Inseris, postumata domum retulic, consessimque spiritum recriavit i avastamque aumam incerporis latibulis delitescentem quibustam medicamentis provocavit. The Story of the Woman thit was time corried to be buried will not come in amis (a) Mena-giana,

page 117,

î 18 de la 1 edit de Holl

(b)Plinius lıb 7 c 37 p m

(c) Id lib

(r The

* Id ib tullim m de anima

1 See their Names in Remefius to Rupert ءَ6 ر Pab 4tr pointing (f)Fatier 772 72 107 s th 1 10 PI72 1 1 / 21 P_{D} rad 16 gurdtis th ; re-) died on anoth r Mdcne Hincilla, Jasche, ægi os mifera lenrum concertationes nullo idem cenfente ne Videatin accellio alterius Hinc illa infelicis monufaiptio tuba le mlio rum per effe M ititur ar quori interpolis. & ingenioi u n Græcia flitu impeliimui Pilamque quisque inter iff is loquendo pollear, intperatoremillico Vit c noftra necifque

(r) Pl n ibid cip 3 P 415

ASCLEPIADES.

pointing to the Sources I shall only remark the Faults (F) of some other Authors. I hose of Mr Morers are (G) not considerable There has been another Acslepsades a famous

(b) Male Meurius hunc Myileanum & Nicenum t unquam duos di-Amétos receniet Jonhus de script Haft Philot pig 167

(1) Pincdo, in Stephin Byzant prig 479 n 15 & pag 757

(1) Athen Ìib i Pig 456

(1) (1u-1 /11/11/11 A hen P4 769

(m) Plut in vitt Hoci it p 5, 6

(1) It confirms that b took tragadia 1criptor not for one who treats of Tragedy, but for a Writer of Pragedies

(b) Photius n 26c pag 1456, Jp. aksthus AGKANmaisns às Ta Tea-Juda'-MEVE OU-12782-Ibit s to (a) sccording to Andre 15 Scotus, Atclepiades qui traga dias fcripht

TERYINOS ner in

(4) Steph

By zant v

blem of it

(d) Gef-Biblioth tel 97

(a) Pinedo in

By/ant pag 757 (f) Strabo, lib 3 pag 108 (g) Pinedo ubi tupi a pag 479 / Hoquens medicus dicitur Ciceroni l i de Orat pag 28 qui te co medico. & amico ufum esse glo-Hardunus in 1 a ce or Planto 13 99 (1) Cicero lib 1 de Orat fol m vi C

(F) The Faults of some other Authors] Meursius Was reproved (h) for believing that Asileprader of Myrlea, and Alelepiades of Nicas were I wo different Persons Junitus pretends it to be an Error, and that the same Asclepiades that was born at Myrlea, and originally of Nicea, is indifferently sur-named Myrleanus and Nicenus Pin do 1) was in the fame Liror as Meursius. In the Index of the Authors that are quoted by Albenaus, we understand these Words of the 10th Book, of Asclepiades of Myrica, (k) As-kannashe ev tois teaty would view of Delachamp has translated them, Asclepiades libro de 11s quorum nomine id ta fint tragadia Cafaubon (1) censures him to it, and makes it appear to him that the Title of that Work was not of the Masculine Gender Teay wo where, but of the Neuter Gender Teay of Surva, and that Plutarch alio quoted it fo does not tay where that Quotation is to be found, I shill say then to supply that I ault, that it is in the life of Isocrater, as will appear by and by Casauson might have idded that the same Work of Achipiad's is quoted in the Neuter Gender by Stephan is Byzantinus, and by Photius I his we shall the presently I hat Critick believed that Afel prides had explain d in that Treatile the great Actions which had served the Tragick Poets for subject Mitter, I neither doubt of that, nor of Dal champs I rior The Latin Trimilator of Plu-rich his flumbled at the Time Block, for he has render d there Words of Plutarch, (m) 'Aounnaas is o re rear where on reading, by Asserting as to rear enough without having recourse to the (a) Sequel of his Irinstition, that he took Asserting as Authos of Iragedies Andrew Schot does the same in his Fraisflation of (b) Photius It is a Mist le the Aslepsades in Question there is not represented as such an Author Observe by the way that he was a Disciple of Isocrates, from whence you may infer it what time he liv'd Process understood the Sense of the Word Teary was the Control of the Sense of the Word Teary was the Control of the Sense of the Word Teary was the Control of the Sense Sugara, better than the Translator of Plutarch, to in translating this Greek, (c) 'AGRAMMedd'ns o Ta' Teaywood usen you has er et Bichiois, he has faid, Alel piades qui de rebus in tragadia decantatis fex libros scripsis These Greek Words are taken from the Place where Stephanus Byzantinus informs us that the Aclepiades who composed those is Books was of Tragiles a City of Thracia. I wish Casaubon had censured Dalichamp, who fancy'd that Athenam Cites Asclepiades of Myrlea in the Passage above cited Gefner (d) has committed the fame hault stephanus Byzantinus had furnish d the Justification of that Censure You will find Two great Faults in Pinedo I irst he (e) says, that Asclepiades of Myrlea, Disciple of Apollonius was a Giammaiian who taught in Rome under Pompey the Great, and who had liv'd in his Youth in Alixandria under Ptolomy IV In the Second Place he leives us to guess if it is the same Asclepiades that taught Grammar in Turditania a Province of Spain I represent unto him on the first Head, that a Man that had liv'd under Prolony IV, and had taught at Rome in Pompey's Time, would have been a Prodigy, for between the last Year of that Prolomy, and the Death of Mithridates that was vinquished by Pompey, there is no less than 140 Years On the Second Head I shall only

Let us examine in Two Words an Observation of Tather Hardouin He says that Asclepiades of Prusawas a Friend of Cicero, and proves it from a Passage of the Lift Book De Oratore He (b) sets down but a small part of it, but here it is all () N que vero Asclepiad s is, quo nos medico amicoque uli semu, tum quum eloquentia vincebat cateros medico, in co ipso qued ornati dicebat, Medicine facul ate observe that Strabo (f) plainly says that Asclepiades

Sieur Pinedo had observ d it himself (g) in another Place How comes it then that he makes a Proof Applea taught Grammar in Turditania utebatur, non eloquentia It is not Cicero that speaks but the Orator Crassus Aslepiades therefore was but the Orator Crassus Aslepsades therefore was the Friend and Physician of Crassus and not of Cicero Take notice that Cicero supposes that Crassus spake thus (k) in the Year of Rome 662, and don't forget that Aslepsades is mention'd there as being dead This supplies us with an Objection group Rome for the College of the College of College against Pliny who said, (1) that Asclepiades gaining but little by the Profession of Eloquence, turn'd Physician in Pompey's Time It is certain that in 662 Pompey was but a young Lad See the following Remark, Number IV Ing Remark, Number IV

Jonsius supposes that there have been Two Afelepiades s of Myrlea, that (m) the first was a Disciple of Apollomius the Grammarian, and Author of a Book intitl'd pilosopopou bibliogramic, philosophorum librorum emendationes, and at the (n) second wrote some Books concerning Grammar and the Grammarians I cannot erceive what Ground he has to advance this Diits the mate Ground he has to advance this Diits the material of the proof would be to fay, that

Ascerding to Suidas this Dionysius taught at Rome in Pompey's

Time, and had been a Disciple of Anstarchus

You will tell me that the Asceptades who refuted him may be different from the Disciple of Apollolanguage. I want the Conference has been there lonius I grant the Consquence, but I fear there is some Litor in Suidas It seems to me that a Disciple p of Aristarchus would have been too old in (q) Pompey's Time to teach I fay then that Dionysius of Thracia Disciple of Aristarchus did not live till Pompey's Time, its possible then that Afelepiades a Disciple of Apollonius might confute him, for this Apollonia having been r Library-keeper of Alexandria after Eratofthenes who died (f) in the Beginning of the 146th Olimpiad, might yery well have been contemporary with Ariffarchus, and have had Disciples at that time who were contemporary with those of Ariffarchus, conse contemporary with those of Anstarchus, consequently there s no necessity that an Asclepiades the Conturer of Dionysius of Thracia should be younger than an Asclepiades Disciple of Apollonius I cannot tell why Voffius t) acquiefces fo readily to the Affinity which Suidas makes between the Quality of a Disciple of Aristarchus, and that of Profession at Rome in Pompey Time He is justly censur'd on his saying that Asclepiades of Alexandria wrote a Book about the People of Attica, and giving the Scholiast of Aristophanes for a Witness of it (v) Asilepiades Alexandrinus (1) Te's Kata Salov agyov-Tos consignavit, ut autor est Scholiastes Aristophanis in nubes Jonsius & shews him that the Scholiast tays no more than that Asclepiades call'd the Demarks Tue Rada Tor Super dexolas

(G) Mi Moreri's Faults are not considerable to the Ancients do not ascribe the History of Alexander the Great quoted by Arrian, to the Ascelepiades of Myrlea, as he affirms 2 To tay, that Strabo adds that the Ascelepiades of Myrlea had taught Grammar in Spain, is pretending he had trid the other things that Moreri had mention d before. Now this is falle 3. He questions without any Ground whether the Relation of Spain is by nother Aslepiades, for Strabo gives it expirely to him. 4. He ought not to have afferted so boldly that Mithridates was in War with the Paragary, when he endeavous it or gare the Physical Control of the Paragary, when he endeavous it or gare the Physical Control of the Paragary, when he endeavous it to gare the Physical Control of the Paragary, when he endeavous it to gare the Physical Control of the Phy the Romans, when he endervour'd to get the Phyheian Afelepiades to his Court, for we have feen above that Cicero speaks of the Physician as of a Man who was not alive in the Year of Rome 662 a time at which Michidates had not made War with the People of Rome, if Fxactness be followed. This shows that Mr. Morers might well have been mistaken in assuming that Asilepiades was in esteem at Rome in the Time of Pompey the Great that is to say when that great Man was the chief of the Republick Does he not place the Buth of that Pompey on the last Day of September of the rear of Rome 648 How will be reconcile this with the Passage in Ciero, where Asseptioned is mention d? I know very well that he may shelter himself under the Authority of Pliny, and that Jonfins would supply him with a second Witness, but who told him that Pliny is more to be believed than (coro? Who told him that Jonfius is not deceived (2) / 'paa Nidia auidam here is a (k) See Fabricius IB Vita Ciceronis ad ann urbis 662

(1) Plin c 3 hb

(m) Jon-fius, ubi fupra pag 167

(n) Id 1h Pag 205

(o) In ifti opere Dionysia Thracis de partibus Grammatica lententiam refellit, tefte Sev. to Lmpi-LICO Id il

(p) Arı-itarchus flourish d 156th Olimpiad

(q) He ended the War of Mithudates 18 the 17916 Olimpiad

(r) Jonf 1b p 149. () Vof-

Hıfi Gracis p1g 108

(t) Id ib pag 148 (v) Id 1b

pag 507 (1) Popula

(x) Jon-fius ubs fupra P 267

(z)Jonfius de Scriptor Philof P18 287 famous (H) Physician under the Emperor Adrian

ASPASIA of Miletum, Mistress to Pericles We shall give her History in the Remark M, of the Article Pericles

ASPASIA of Phocea, Mystress to the young Cyrus We shall give her History in the Remark C of that Prince's Lite.

ASTYANAX, the (A) only Son of Hector and Andromache, gave the Greeks Disquiets in the midst of their Victories, tho' he was then but an Infant The contrary Winds hindering them from returning home after the Destruction of Troy B, Calchas declar'd that they ought to throw Astyanax headlong from the top of the Walls, because if he liv'd to Man's Estate, he would revenge the Death of his Father, and be even valuanter than he Whereupon Olysses went to search for him, and having found him notwithstanding all the care his Mother took to hide him, he threw him headling from the Walls. Others of fay, that Menelaus was the Executioner And others in impute his Death to Pyrrhus alone, without faying, that the Greeks or Calchus had judged it necessary However it be, the Poets and (B) Romances have known how to raise him up again, or rather how to make him escape the Hands of the Greeks

ATHENAGORAS, an Athenian Philosopher, flourish'd after the middle of n 39,4 the IId Century He was a learned Man, and very zealous for the Gospel All which appear'd by the Apology which he addrest to the Emperors Marcus Aurelius Antoninus, and Lucius Aurelius Commodus This, if we believe * Baronius, happen't in the Year 179, or in the Year 168, if we believe Mr | Dodwell It's no calle mitter to make out by folid Proofs, that the last Opinion is (A) more probable than the first 1 find

in indice

(cc) Sec she following Remark

(aa) Pag

m 390

Autor

(dd) Of Prusa in Bythinia

(ac)Epist Remetu ad Hoffmannum & Rupertum, p

(ff) Ibid P 395

(gg) Ho-mer Il l 6 V 401

(bb) Ib v 403 &1 22 V 507

(a) Set the Rontard beginning of bus Ía Γranciade

(b) Edit 12 60 Antwerp 1552

(c) Du Pleix, Memoires des Crules, I - ch -4

(3)Dictss ent's justos Pook fays, toat Pysthus rock L todamis fr th Sin of Hector & Andromache Pulloner quidam ill imploy'd That Asclepiades is too f mous to deferve in despicable and pithete) Prusiacus in Bithynia Philophysicus cognomine sub Pompeio M wixit tiste Strabone lib x11 I have found in the 12th Book of (as) Strabe nothing more than that . Asclepiades of Prusa was a Physician Father Hardown (bb) attributes the fame thing to Strabo, whom he quotes, 1 12 p 566, as he does to Jon-fius V Asclepiades mention d by Plucarch in the Life of Isocrates, was not (cc) a Tragick Poet, as Mr Morers affirms

(H) Another ASCLEPIADES afamous Phyfician] He was of the fame City (dd) as the former, and flourish'd under Trajan, Adrian and Antoninus he was made free by one Calpurnius, and obtain d the Rights of a Roman Citizen, and divers other Prerogatives An Inscription informs us of all these Things. See the Letters (ee) of Remelius He compos'd divers Books about the compounding of Medicines both Internal and Lxternal (ff)

(A) The only Son] Homer says it positively, for (A) The only Son I Homer lays it politively, for there's no question but they who translated 'exlocid'ny ayann' do (gg) the only son of Hestor, are in the right, so that Scholiait understands it Andromache's Troubles in the twenty second Book of the Iliadi testine clearly that she had but that Son Hestor gave him the Name of Scamandinus, and the Trojans call'd him Assanas (hb), because liestor was the only Det index of the Circ the only Detender of the City

(B) The Poets and Romances] (a), that the same Son of Hector whose Name Was Astyanar, or Scamander, was call d Francion, and that he was the Stem from whence the Kings of France proceeded The Manethon of Annius de Vicerbo 12Vs, that Francus the Son of Hetter was king of the Celta, that is to 12y of the Gaules The Impostor who forg'd that Piece quotes Vincent of Impostor who forg'd that Piece quotes Vincent of Beauvais in his Remarks, who says, that this brancus being retir'd among the Gaulet after the Destruction of 1.03, made himself so well belov'd by the king, that he give him his Daughter in Miringe, and that he succeeded to his Crown I have not found in Manethon (b) what Du Pleix (c) attributes to him, to wit, that Francus succeeded Rh mus King of the Gaules, whose Daughter he had married Neither have I found it in Manethon's Commentator Du Pleix adds, that Trithemius allidzing Hunnibaud for his Author, who lived under (lovis I and he naming Dorac and Waithald, unaer (10vis 1 and re naming Dotac and Watthald, Sythian Historians for his warrant, says, that Hettor had two Sons, whereof one call'd Astyanar or Scamander perish d at the taking of Iroy Ihe other call'd Laodamas (d) or Fiancian, escap d out of the Enemies Hands, and sted with a good Number of Iro-jans into Pronia, which was afterwards call d Pinnonia, and having been kindly received by the King of th Paonians, he fettled in that Country on the Frontiers of Scythia, where he built the Cry of Sicambria, where he and his Posterity reign d till the Days of King Antinor, who was kill d by the Goths Four Hundred and Twenty Years before JESUS CHRIST The Violences of the Goshs oblig'd the Tigians or Sicambrians to lettic into Germany, where they divided themselves into two Branches, one of which to under at lift the French Monarchy in Gallia, the other remaind in Germany, where they tounded Inanconia of Latrance Strange Dieams! Mr. Morei not considering that the Authors of these Legends are charged with Falisties enough, attributes others to them with Fallities enough attributes others to them which they never advinced. He imputes to the false Manethon and to other Authors of the same Strain, the making I rancion or I rancis (c) he son of Hector the fift king of the Gaules But they do not pretend this, feeing they fay, that the King of the Gaules gave him his Daughter Belides what carcleffness is it to male Andromache known only as the Mother of that Francion, when I more real Son might be given her, to wit, Altyanavi five, that Aftyanax was thrown down headlong from the Walls by order of Ulyffs, and quotes together Aneid to it. Now that Poet has faid nothing like it in all his Works

(1) That the last Opinion is more probable than the Thy have said first Many Realons are alledged on both sides for whose Name I liefe are those (f) of Ms Doamel I he Apowas call d Francion, logy of Athenagoras is addiest to two I interest to whom the Author gives the Fitles of Arrenia is, sarmaticis, & quod maximum if, Prilosophis This belongs to Marcus Aurelius, and to his Brother I ucins Airelius, but not to his Son Lucius Aurelius, to he was never call d Philosopher And it (g) appears by the fecond Apology of fusin, that I hat I itle was common to I using Americas, and to his Brother Marcus Junelius Now this Lucius Au relius died towards the end of the Year 169 that the Apology must have been presented before that time I wave the particular Reasons which induced Mr Dodmell to make the ct of the Year 163, for the Epocha of that Work It is objected against him, that the I logy of Sammatius cannot belong to Lucius Aureli is, who died before the Sarmata were attacked, but he answers, that That Elogy slipped in there by the Copiers Lault, instead of that of Parthus which was given to the (b) two Brothers with that of Armeniaes, after that Micro of themselves. He adds that the same that War of Armenia He adds, that the pro-tound Peace () for which Athenageras congratulates the Emperors, cannot agree with the time Ggg

B Service 3 1 459

t Id in An 1 2 v 457

Paulin

* Buon Annal I celet to 2 p m ann 179

4Dodwc1 Duleit Сурила 11 n ,7, 38 p m 261 icq

(1) Doa wel Dilfert () -Pirm 11 11 1/

(e) Hunc titulum co Luci um 1 ciainhicommunem con-Mat c 2 apologia luftin Duamil 16 p 26. LePPagi Differt hypar p 216 makes ul of the lame Realon, and quotes I u-icbius,1 + C 1.

(h) Capitol in v ti Muri Amelia с 9 р т 3-5 (1) Hour-TO DE JOI Revein 7 # um Tesa 00 6561 La Maragela inis Droλαυκσια Univerfus terrarum orbis per vestram providentiam profiuitur pice Athnp 711 14

THENAGORAS.

no one but fur; ofes, that Aiber avoras was deputed by the Christians to the Im to one but fup; oles, that Aires are was us used of the Court, and that (b) he actually presented their Apology, but there is ground that that Marcus Aurelius and his Son reign d together He try snothing in answer to the chief Objection, nevertheless tomething may be faid to it, 179 Mr de Islemont has not well comprehended that (ardinal's Flought, feeing (q) he imputes to him the having infeir d that I hat Apology could not be written but in the Year [176, or 177,] because it denotes that the Empire was then in a profound Peace

These are the chief Reasons of those who pretend that the Apology of Athenagoras was not prefented before the Year 177, which was (r) that of the promotion of Gommodus the Son of Marcus Ausclius to the Dignity of Augustus I hey maintain, that he who is Colleague of Marcus Aurelius in the Inteription of the Apology, was that Emperor's Son, and not his Biother, and prove it by the Words where these two Princes are compared to God the lather and God the Son Ipja (f) qu dem oracio longe validius nobis prabet argumenium Vos quidem, subject Vir disertus, in summa Im-petii Mijestate adeò conjunctis animis orbem regitis, ut inde Calestis etiam Regni contemplationem animo quis complecti queat Ut Vobis enim Pati 1 & filio in potestate sunt omnia, regno in Vos divinitus collocato, (Regis enim Anima, inquit Spiritus Propheticus, in manu Dei est) sic uni Deo & I ilio ejus hoc est Verbo subjecta sunt om-1111 Nullus his oft cavillationibus locus, Imperatores n n tantum alloquiter, fed etiam comparationim infitu t duos inter terrenos Reges, quibus omnia humanitus loquendo parebant, ac summum Cali & Terra Dominum qui fimul cum suo Unigen o Imperii Orbis universi hathe Argument valle. Mr. d. Larroque has made the Argument valle. Mr. d. Tillemont has joyn'd mo her. Prince to it (t) Athenagoras (1) wither those two Princes that the Son may succccd to his lather wa mais ragg raless diads
' na rhi George [He speaks then to a Fa' thei and a Son, whereof one only govern'd the Impire, the' the other might have the little of Imperor, that is to fay, to M Aurelius and "his Son Commodu, and not to two Biothers who reign d together. It is yet more clear in another () place where he fiys, all is submitted to your Myellies to the Lather and the Son ως υμιν παθει κ, υιω πάνθα κεχειρωθαι, from which (3) I other Page could not difintingle huntell by figure, that Ith narrorar makes Incu the Son of Inclus, tho he was his Brother to make the allusion to the two Persons of the Timity, the Tather and the Son more just Tather Page has made use of more just an Lvasion in this place, which is scarce capable of imposing. He had better have defended himfelf ly laying, that Athenagoras was not ignorant that I u ius Au clius was marry d to the Daughter ct harcus Au cliuc, and that itherefore feeing he tpoke to the la her and Son-in Law he might have confidered them as Lather and Son Ir is thus in effect that Lather (w) Page answer d that Of jettion IIc observes too, that this is also Mr 1e in : s Thought The other Passage which Mr de Tillement quotes is not conclusive, it may be understood in this manner (a) We make town for your Empire, and that the Son may receive it from the This Thought is very lather, as Ji stice regu res reasonable, whether we suppose the Apoloy addrest to Marcus Aurelius, and to his Brother, or to Marcus Aurelius, and to his Son It is a Prayer, which in the supposition of Barenius, would regard Commodus lets who was already affociated to the Empire, than his Descendants It is a Wash that Marcus Aurelius's I amily might always possess the Imperial Dignity, according to a rightful Succession in a direct Line Note, that Father Pagialledges this Prayer for a Properties of Marcus Aurelius was not Emperies. I shall in another (b) Place confute what it infected from the other (b) Place confute what is inferred from that which Athenagoras has faid of one Alexander

Ler's conclude two things for all this I rest, That the bottom of the Controverse lies in one Parry's taking the Collegue of Marcus Aurelius for his Brother, and the other's taking him for his Son Secondly, That their Arguments fall very short of being evident, seeing the Dispute is yet undecided Scaliger (c), I ather (d) Labbe, I ather Pagi, Mr Dodwell, Mr (e) Chewreau, &c are for the Brother, Sasfridas (f) Petri, Baronius, Father (p) Petau Mr du (h) Pin, Mr de Larroque, Mr de Manuelle, and de Manuelle, and de Larroque, Mr de Manuelle, and de Manuelle, and de Larroque, Mr de Manuelle, and de M lillemont, and divers others are for the Son

Let us observe by the By an Error of Gretius Floruit, 12ys he(1), circa ann Christi 190, us to some inscriptione apparet. This is not right, for Marcus Paris.

Aurelius being dead in the Year 180, the Title of Book that was dedicated to him does not prove (1) Salts. wards the Year 190

(B) That Athenagoras was deputed --and that he attually prefented their Apo-Court and that he actually prejence their Apology, but that there is ground to doubt | Their is Basonius & Expressions (L) Orienti quoque Lieles as cadem is clade vexatas, LEGAFIO pro illis as Atheniago a Atheniansi tunc ad Imperatores cadem isse clade vexatas, LLGAIIO pro illic au Athenagoia Athinienss — tunc ad Impiratores SUSCEPTA, & Apologia pro iissem tunc scripta ac dietis principibus QBLAIA, manificham certamque sidem sainunt lather Labbe does not expires himielt less clearly in LLGATIONIM SUSCEPTI pro Confisques inter annum 165 — & annum 170 — non assume tamen qui anno duntaxas 177 OBLATUM librum illum Imperatoribus asserant Mi Moreri tianslating this Passage of lather Labbe, makes use of these Words Hi presented an excellent Apology for the Faithful to the ther Labbe, makes use of these Words He pre-fented an excellent Apology for the Faithful to the Emperor Marcus Aurelius Antoninus—He had been sent to Rome in behalf of the Christians, between the Years 165 and 175 He did not well understand his Original, for Fither I abbe s I xpressions do not tignisse that the Ambatty of Athinagoras lasted from 165, to the Year 170, but that it ought to be applied to part of that in-terval of I me They who know the frequent Journies of the Roman Emperors in that Century, do nor venture to expose themselves by saying, that such or such a One was deputed to them at Rome, without being well assu'd of it Try then, that Mr Moreri has swerved a little inadvisedly from his Guides, he has determined the Continuance and Place of the Ambassy, but the Continuance and Place of the Ambassy, but I ather Labbe has not done so Mr Dodwell (m) who conjectures that Athenagoras (n) discharged in Athenagoras (n) discharged in this Deputation in the Emperor Lucius Version method to Rain to a confection of the Tear our small the continuance of the Hyperfells which he follow'd after a laborious study of the Circumstances, but I can hardly believe that he ought to have said, that That Christian Philosophei did really perform the I un-Christian Philosopher did really perform the I un- Hypate ction of an Ambailador

Year 17) (b) Du Pin, Nouv Biblioth p 176, apud Larroquanum ubi supra, chose the T at 178 (1) Grotius de verit Relig Christ p 128 apud Larroquan ib (b) Baronius ad ann 179 ii 39 p m 226 (l) Philippus Labbe, Dissert de Script Ec 1 p 1-3, 124. (m) Dodwel Dissert Cyprian 11 ii 37 (n) Legatum egit pro Christianis Id ib

as will appear by and by Let us not forget that he pretends that Athenagoras intimates, that his Apology was made in the (k) same Olympiade, that Peregrinus burnt himself Messieus Dodwell and de (l) (k) This is was made in the (k) same Olympiade, that Peregrinus burnt himself Messeurs Dodwell and de (l) Tillment say, that That Action of Peregrinus belongs to the Year 165 But Scaliger (m) placed it in the Year 166 He grounds himself on this, that Peregrinus gave that Spectacle at the Celebration of the Olympick Games He believes that Athenageras's Work was presented to the Empecors in the same Olympiade. His Reason is that rors in the same Olympiade His Reason is, that Per grinus threw himself into the lire three Years before the Death of Lucius Verus one of those Em-This Argument is better than the Proof which Mr Dodwell has grounded on Athenagoras's Words, for they note only (n) the Place, and not the Time where that Man burnt hunfelt See M: (0) de Tillement The Proof taken from the profound Peace of the Impire is of fuch a nature, The Proof taken from the that it serves both Parties Cardinal Baronius (p) illedges this Fact as a sign that the Apology could not have been presented under the Reign of Marriar Prope urbem cus Amelius's Brother, nor in no other time but in p m 244 (o) Tille mont ib (p) Buon 179 11 49 pm 226 (q) Tillemont ib p scot (r) 10 de 1 irroque Lufebius his placed this Pro-7713*1071 UN-7 ar Damel I utog timus Muthu de legio ne tulminithice,

the -36

(/) Tille-

Hift des

I mper to p

(m) Scal

Animad

ın Lufeb

n 2181 p m 2.0

(n) 17eer

子 () A U -

Olmy-

A 15:71 1"

pich, id inn derthe

179th filiti

Differt

p 648

prani

mont,

(/)Id ib p 649

(r) Tille mont, uhi fup: 1

(1)Athan 1cj p4> 1

() Pag i, d

() P ...

()Pici in Bu i nd ann

(a) II._ LEV THE Te yours ensche Dec. ild mais HEV Magg ء و م المص श्वीवे को Singiora-S'ESHASE The Ba-Pro imperio vestio oramus. ut & filius a pitre, quifficult est.

guiffic

frum eff.

Imperiuni per manus accipiat benne Sub fin p m 318

> (b) In the Article of

(d) Labbe -10 the ubi infra

> (1) Cheieau. Hift de monde, to p Holland Edition, places the presenting the Apology to the Year 165 Mr de I ar-10que ubi lupra, attributes to him the placingit haps he made ule of another Edition

> (f) Suf-fud Petri. Commen apud Pagi P 116. My close the doubt of these Facts; and we may with a great deal of probability believe concerning that Writing, the same as concerning a vait number of these Petitions of the Protestants of France, which have been (C) printed without ever having been presented to the Dulert Prince I cannot tell on what ground it is faid *, that Athenagoras was a Priest fome Ground of insprize to think that he was unknown to Lusebius, to St Jerome, I celetto

* Pere It's de Script 1 p 65 affinicit, 21/2/0

and

My first Reason is taken from the Silence of all Antiquity Could it be possible that no Writer should have said any thing of such a Deputation, which the Circumstances of Time, the Meiit of the Deputy, and the Force of the Apology presented to the Emperors, ought to have reinder'd memorable? In the second place, I do not find it likely, that when the Christian Name was so odious and opposite secondary should present humans and opposite secondary should present humans. ous and oppress, Askenageras should present him-self at the Imperial Court, as deputed by that Body, and that he could have obtain dAudience there, and presented the Emperors a long Writing, where notwithstanding the respectful Moderation which he uses in it, he sticks not to represent the most ridiculous Infamies of Pages Religion, and that which was most capable of aggravating the Anger of the Persecutors I add, that the Tatle of the piece of Writing, the strongest Proof that can be oppos'd to me is not a Proof. 'Admin of Affirmati ope Leisand meschia med Leisandy Athmagora Atheniensis Philosophi Christiani legatio pro Christianis This is the Title of the Piece But if you please you may observe, I That there are Manuscripts, where after messchaa, we (o) find it ambaya, we applicate, and there are others, where initead of messchia we read amazonia 2 That the word messchia does not only lignific (p) an Ambassy or a Deputation, but also an Address, or a Petition 3 That the little of Ambassy is not given to the Ambassadors Speech, whose section which is made of his Negociation. ations So that it would be very improper to take the word negation, here for Ambasiy Lastly I observe, that Mr de Tillement does not express himself as the other Writers do It appears plainly, says he (q), that the Faith was then perfecuted in the East, seeing Athenagoras was oblig d to compose an Apology there, under the Title of A Legation for the Christians, which he address to both the Augustus Shadest not measured any Journal of Deputition. He does not mention any Journey, or Deputation, or any Apology presented to the Emperors, he speaks only of a Piece compos'd in the Closet of the Author, and address to Marcus Aurelius, &c every body knows the difference between a writing which is actually given into the Hands of a Monarch, and a writing that is simply address to the Monarch I confess Mr de Tillemont's Authority seems very good to me here, for he had made a Law to himself not to extend the Tefrimony of Authors beyond what they clearly import He kept himtelf furupulously within the limits of his Proofs From whence I infer, that he found no manner of ground for that Deputation of Athenagoras, nor for the actual presentation of his Apologetical Writing

To reduce what I judge of this matter into a for reduce what I judge of this matter into a few words, I dare compare Athenagoras to those modern Writers, who without firring out of their Closets have made a Pamplet fly all the World over under the Title of A Petition of the Protestants presented to the King They who shall not read this fort of Pieces 100 Years hence, will not read this fort of Pieces 100 Years hence, will not question but that they were actually presented, but we are very well fatisfied they never were but we are very well satisfied they never were We know that in the Year 1689, there was handed about a printed Piece that had all the Air of a Petrtion (r) actually presented to the King of France by those of the Protestant Religion. A great number of People believ'd it in foreign Countries, and in the Provinces semote from Paria. Neverthelets I have heard say, that it was never presented, and it is certain that the Deputies of the Chuiches who had drawn it up, discown'd the publication of it. There appear'd another Print of the same fort during the Conferences at Rysmick in the Year 1697. A random Piece without Approbation, but which may one Day be without Approbation, but which may one Day be plac'd among Authentick Acts, feeing it no where appears that This Peterson was not always to appears that That Petition was not actually deliver'd into the Hands of Icou XIV And it is not unlikely that the Primitive Christians acted in like manner They composed Writings addrest to the Emperors, and published them, in hopes Moieri that some Copies of them might come to the Hands of those Princes, and incline the Court to put a frop to the Violences, and incline the Court to put a frop to the Violences that were exercised against the latthful. Once again, I am periuaded, that Ath nagorae did in the feecond Century, what Calvin did in the XVIth. Calvin lurking in elected Chamber at Basil, dedicated his Christian Infitutions to France I which neither he not any hold also ever preferred to him. body elie ever pretented to him

I ought not to conceal that the very Day I composed this Remark, I communicated at to Mi (f) Cockburn, who offer'd immediately to conful Mr Dodwell upon it. He did me the tavour to communicate his Answer to me, which is full of excellent Learning, from whence Confequences are drawn in favour of the Sentiment which I have opposed. And these Consequences have some probability. The Letter of that learned Man deter deto be Printed, and I would willingly have inserted it here if I had had his Perinssian, but not having the Length at least to desire my solt to having that, I ought at least to deprive my felt of the Liberty of the Dispute

(') 11 e Scotch min a D for of D m), of lume Book ean/[‡] D Boungnondine

(C) A wast number of Petitions of the Protestan set In me which have been printed will in a singlein professed The Publick is to well apprized orthis, that it were a very needless I ask to go about to prove it But as for what concerns the Perition which was handed about in the Yen 1680, I have reason to believe that my Readers will imagine I have gone too far in denying that it was evel prefented Therefore it is but just that I should give my Reasons. I begin by distinguishing this Petition from several others which were drawn up at diverse times, and I say it is the same which was constituted by a Priest call d Soulier. The Answer which he made to it was printed in his Name That Answer is mention'd in the fixth Page of the last Efforts of oppress Innocence, and in the (a) 305th Page of the History of the Ldists of Pacification, and in the third Volume (b) of the History of the Edist of Nanter In this last Book is alio found a Summary of that Answer, and that, as of a Writing whose Author was unknown That Historian of the I diet of Nantes affirms (c), that the Petition was prefented, and idds, It happen d, Iknow not how, that some time after it was printed and publickly spread abroad. I believe he is miltaken, and that it was printed and dispers'd before it could be presented. Now after it had appear d in publick, to be sure the King never received it. See in the Life of (d) Mr. du Bois how the Council was offended, because the Deputies of those of the Religion had published a Petition which they had presented, but which the king had not yet ansivered. That Prince (e) was so displeased at the printing of that Petition, that he condemned it without seeing it, and ordered two of the Depution. pen d, Iknow not how, that some time after it was printed without feeing it, and older d two of the Deputies to be clap'd in the Bastile. This past about the Year 1671 How probable is it then, that nine Yeus after, that is to fig, at it me when things were grown much worke, the Deputies of Chuiches durft have published a Petition after ha ving presented it to the king, in I before they knew his Antwer. The Author of the History of the Edict of Nantes, might elude this by muntaining, that the Missionaries got the Petition of the Protestants printed These things, the pos-sible, class against all probability But here's a Tact that will clinch the Nail A very little while after that Petition was feen in publick, Mi furieu compos da Book, and mention dit (f) only as a Petition, that was defigned to be prefented. Does he not deferve more Credit in fuch a Point, than the Historians of the I dict of Nances, who did not write till many Years after that Event? When I oldered the Opposition between the Writers, I cau'd thee of the chief Deputes of the Churches to be consulted, and particularly have the profession of the Ambourge of the profession of the profession of the Ambourge of the Profession of the Profes cularly him who palles for the Author of the Pe tition The Anivers that I had from them agree Ggg . perfectly

(a) Of tI. I dition of Holland, 1662 Suur Souher is Antlor of this H flory, and bis pas lus Nimitoit He owil 1) mfelf Anthor of the Amon of the Peti-

(b) L 16 p 474 and the follov-1119

(c) Ibid

(1) 1 1

(f) See toits de l unocence op prime

(o) See the Commentary of Suffridus Athenagor Apolog p 91

(p) The wper Coias nonmodo legationem fed & deprecationem ac Supplication nem apud Græcos fignificare notum est. Adam Rechenberg not in Athemagor p 2

(q) Tillemont, Hist des Lmper to 2 p 756, 757, edit de Brux

(r) See the following Remark

ATHENAGORAS.

† The other s a Treasife Refurrectio-110 and to almost all the other Fathers, for he is only quoted (D) in a Work of St. Epople He was not throughly purg'd from (E) heterodox Opinions, bating this the t Peices that we have of his are considerable The Stile of them is good and Airies nough, but a little too much clog'd with Parentheses and Circumlocutions have been printed a great many times, as may be feen in Mr. du Pin, who has never thele perfectly in this, that they do not remember whether it was presented or no. They excus'd their I orgetfulness by reason of the great number of Affairs which then past through their Hands, and the long and very troublesome time that has e-Inpled fince I have no Reason then to fear that any reasonable Person will accuse me of Rashness on account of my Opinion, the rather because, besides the Proofs I have alledged, I remember that the freshest, and in some manner, Original Tradition, was, that which Mr Juricu sollow'd, to wit, that the Petition was publish d without ever having been presented by the Deputies

(g) Epiphan idverf Haref n 64 P 544

